THREE HELD ON GRAVE CHARGES

Gladstone Men Arrested, Give Bond To Await Hearing.

Charges of attempted burglary were filed, yesterday, in Judge C. D. McEwen's court, against three Gladstone men—Clarence Erickson, Victor Bergstrom and Theodore Felt—who are alleged by the police to have tried, Tuesday night, to force an entrance through a rear window into the J. P. Nolden clothing store.

All three gave bonds of $200, in each case, demanded by Judge McEwen, and a preliminary examination will be held Tuesday morning. The bonds were furnished by relatives of the men.

According to the police, the three men were observed by an Escanaba man, in the act of attempting to open a rear window of the Nolden store. They fled, it is alleged, when one of their flashlights cast its rays on the observer, who had stopped behind a big sign board to watch the alleged burglarious attempt. The observer, whom police say will appear Tuesday as a witness, is declared to have followed the men to South 16th street where they are alleged to have climbed into an automobile. The number of the car, which the witness took, led to their arrest.

Men Deny It.
The men, when arraigned yesterday, vigorously denied the charges and seemed inclined to treat the matter as a huge joke. They spent the evening socially, they said, and were never in the vicinity of the Nolden establishment.

CARD OF THANKS.
We wish to express our sincere thanks to all the friends and neighbors who assisted us at the time of the death of our husband and father. To those who sent flowers or spiritual offerings we shall ever be grateful.
Signed: Mrs. Amanda Tordeur and daughter, Rose Marie.

TOURIST CAMP POPULAR SPOT

15 To 25 Auto Parties Are Spending Every Night There.

Escanaba's new tourist camp, on the South Shore, is entertaining from 15 to 25 automobile parties nightly and the number has been increasing steadily for the last week. That means that the tourist season is in full swing.

From six to a dozen states are represented nightly. California, Oklahoma, Maryland, Vermont and Texas are some of the farther ones. Cars from all of the central western states are plentiful.

Camping outfits are more numerous than ever this season, observers say. At least half of the cars are carrying all the equipment necessary to a night of comfort in the open air. Some of the outfits are very ingeniously and compactly stowed away. Others are huddled roughly on the rear, side, and even the top of the machines.

Praise for the new tourist camp is heard on every hand. Many of the visitors declare it to be one of the best they have encountered anywhere on their long journeys. One far western party remained there for more than a week.

Traffic Increasing.
Garage men and others who are in touch with the tourist traffic estimate that more than 250 parties are passing through Escanaba daily. This is slightly less than last year's estimates, but it is pointed out that the late season, throughout the country, probably has delayed many vacation jaunts and it is predicted that now the flow of travel really has started. It will proceed at a record-breaking pace for at least two and probably three months.

The Chamber of Commerce camp will be a village of 100 to 150 people nightly, until autumn, it is confidently expected.

Sand Along Bathing Beach Being Graded

The grading of the sand along the Ludington Park shore line the last day or two has greatly improved the appearance of the bathing beach. The sand, which the waves have been piling on the beach has been leveled off, and clean freshly washed sand now covers the beach and shallow water. The bathing beach is proving immensely popular.

AGED WORKER IS FOUND DEAD

Thomas Clancy Dies Suddenly During Thursday Night

Frank Clancy, aged 65, was found dead in his bed in his room at a boarding house, 127 North 7th St., about noon yesterday. Mr. Clancy was employed as a section laborer by the Chicago & Northwestern. He ate his supper as usual Thursday night and then went down town. Although he told others at the boarding house that he had been troubled with heart disease and did not expect to live long, he appeared, otherwise, to be as well as usual.

No one heard him enter his room Thursday night. He did not appear for breakfast yesterday morning. About noon it was decided to see whether he was in his room. His body was found. There were no evidences of any cause other than death from natural causes. It was said.

Search for relatives, and the body was removed to the Anderson Undertaking rooms where it was prepared for burial. No friend of Mr. Clancy could be found who knew whether he has any relatives in this locality.

SPECIAL NOTICE

To The Public and to Whom It May Concern

It was my intention to address you personally with reference to the Oil-O-Matic Heat machine, but for the reason of lack of time I trust to get your attention herewith.

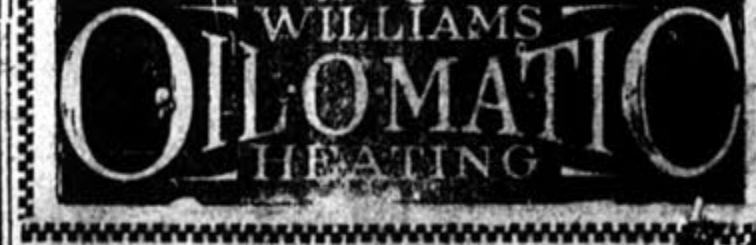

When you get to-morrow's Chicago Tribune, you will find one entire page devoted exclusively to that wonderfully successful oil burner,—the Oil-O-Matic. It is one of the most interesting pages to home owners that was ever run in an American newspaper, but yet it does not half tell the story,—if you will send for the booklet you will get the rest of it.

The fact that this burner is entirely perfected by a firm with the business integrity of the Williams OIL-O-MATIC Company, has made it an epoch making success.

Eventually, this burner would have been in every home, but in order that you might immediately know more about it, and have one installed in your home this year, it was decided to flash the story of this wonderful burner from coast to coast. For a long time we have worked for a perfected oil burner,—now we have found it,—OIL-O-MATIC. We are so enthusiastic over this burner that we would thoroughly enjoy explaining and talking over its many advantages with you.

EDITORIAL

LET'S "CARRY ON."

The thrill and inspiration experienced by the various organizations and individuals who have heard Dr. Frank Emerson Jaynes discuss civic topics here during the educational week of the Chamber of Commerce "Carry On" campaign, have fired hundreds of sturdy spirits with a new ambition to increase the strength and greatness of the Chamber of Commerce, to the end that Escanaba may continue to be a better and better city every day.

The long list of achievements directly traceable to the influence of the Chamber of Commerce is one continual cause for congratulation. Citizens who have, because of their non-association with the Chamber of Commerce, had only a passive interest in its accomplishments, really are amazed when presented with the array of things this body has done. Twenty-nine outstanding achievements are listed briefly in a circular which went out yesterday, and they were only the larger achievements.

Of course the one thing that bulks largest in the public eye is the devising of the "Escanaba Plan" of apportioning the state primary school interest funds so that every child in the state of Michigan will have an equal opportunity for securing an education. The "Escanaba Plan" means that Escanaba itself will receive $50,000; Delta county will get $229,960; the Upper Peninsula $500,000 and the poor school districts in the lower peninsula will receive $1,800,000 additional primary school interest money.

Those are facts that proclaim themselves with hurricane force, and yet it is doubtful if the people right here at home generally realize what the Chamber of Commerce did when it sold that plan to the bulk of the people of this state against an opposition that for many long months looked most formidable. As it stands today, every candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, thus far announced, has publicly endorsed the plan, while legislative candidates all over the state have given their approval and such promises of support that it is virtually certain to be adopted at the coming session of the legislature.

This one thing has attracted the attention of the entire state to the fact that up here in the upper peninsula is a wonderfully functioning organization capable of devising a plan which strikes a popular chord in all parts of the state, gives children that equality of educational opportunity to which they are entitled, and it necessarily follows that it must be a good town filled with alert, forward-looking, thinking men and women. And that's a pretty good town in which to make your home always.

That is just one thing this Chamber of Commerce has done. It is a big, outstanding business and economic achievement. It is the Chamber of Commerce of Escanaba as a "going concern" which is ever going in the right direction and while it is always working for the betterment of its own city it is big enough and broad enough to devise a way by which the entire state is benefited.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By Stanley

"Proud Of His Wife"

BY JANE PHILIPS.

LOIS' SONS REMARK THE CHANGE IN HER. Chapter VIII. If Lois had had no other reward for her endeavors, the delight of the boys when they were with her on their long vacation would have been reward enough. "It's great to have you ride with us," they told her. "You look a darn sight better on a horse than that silly Mrs. Shannon does," Hunter declared, unable to overcome his old dislike of the woman. "You look too young to be my mother," Allison told her one day when she took them in to town to a matinee. "If the fellows see us they'll think I've got a girl!" "Where did you learn all that?" he asked on another occasion when Alan, uncertain about a bit of architectural design, started to look it up and Lois saved him the trouble by telling him what he wanted to know. "You are awfully clever, Mother. I guess I was too young to realize it before." Lois noticed the look on Alan's face as Allison spoke. His son's praise, his prideful voice, hadn't gone unnoticed. "I have to keep up," Lois said laughingly. "I shall soon have two college students to trip me if I do not. And I should hate to have you ashamed of your mother."

right! I told him you were, the best ever." "I hope you may always be able to say that," Lois smiled at him, her eyes misty. She danced with both boys, to their unbounded delight; gave small parties for them, and at times talked seriously with them. "We have money now to educate you and start you in life, but money isn't everything," she told them. "It doesn't bring happiness unless you know how to use it. I want my boys to be real men, like their father. You never may have to struggle as he had to. I hope you won't; but I want to feel you would have the strength, the character, to win if you should have to." "Dad's famous, isn't he?" Hunter asked. "When I tell my name they ask if Reed, the famous architect, is any relation. I tell them not much, that he's only my dad. It's great fun to dash them that way." "I want you to be famous, too, in the same way. To do what you have to do just the very best way you know how. That's the way your father did. He worked day and night to accomplish what he believed was in him to do." She missed them terribly when they returned to school. The big house seemed strangely lonely, vacant. But she felt nearer to them than ever before, and they had brought Alan closer, too. Day by day she realized that what she longed for was gradually coming nearer—that Alan was changing, his manner growing more loving, less eagerness for other society, especially for Ellen Shannon's, insisting that Lois go along whenever Ellen was with him. "I don't propose to give people a chance to gossip," he said once. And Lois turned away that he might not see her smile. He had ceased to be so intensely interested in Ellen—he thought of the gossip!

OUT OUR WAY

TOM SIMS SAYS

This weather makes people so lazy they take short-cuts when they go out walking. The screen drawing the biggest crowds now is the fly screen. Most of the June college graduates are still just doing something until something turns up. Every now and then you see an auto so old it must be almost paid for. The honeymoon is over when the learns salads are not food. A girl who thinks a man comes to hear her instead of to see her is liable to die an old maid. Women will not be men's equals until you can slap one on the back and borrow a dollar. An ideal husband is the man every wife could have married but didn't. Trying to stop something usually starts more. It doesn't matter in the least, but maybe potatoes have specks because their eyes are bad. Bowlegged girls swim best because they stay in the water most. A race between a couple of fat men on a hot picnic is almost as funny as the human race. Save up all your old allies. They are valuable. You can sell them to the presidential candidates. When a little man starts an argument with a big man it usually ends by the big man calling the little man a big liar. What the farmers need is weed-eating tools. There would be a good...

MILLARD WILL GO TO MOUND AGAINST ESKY

Millard, one of the Gladstone pitching staff, will start mound duties this afternoon, when the Gervais crew will be put to the test of trimming the Esky ramped personnel in the second meeting of the two hostile factions this season.

Not underestimating the strength of the County seaters, since Hank Schulz, and several other stellar performers have been added to the lineup, field Manager Gervais, has not let up on his surveillance of his proteges, and during the week when weather permitted, put his men through strenuous workouts.

The local plebeians are out this afternoon to annex another victory, to maintain their present clench on the batting. Escanaba on the other hand, is out to retrieve past honors, to remove the stain from their present stand, and incidentally, to assume a place among the leaders.

With weather permitting, one of the largest crowds of the season ought to surge the park gates, when hostilities commence. Escanaba will be accompanied by a delegation, while the game ought to attract a large con course from surrounding communities.

With the resignation of Umpire Frank Gravelle, Jake Bink of Escanaba, will appear in an arbitrator's costume for Gladstone in this afternoon's matinee.

Two Bubblers Placed Here

Two standard bubbling drinking fountains thirty six inches in height, and the gifts of the Civic League to the city, are now being installed by the city administration.

Work on the installation of a bubbler, was begun Thursday afternoon at the corner of Ninth and Delta streets, and was completed at a late hour yesterday afternoon. The other fountain will be installed in the immediate vicinity of the postoffice, and the work will be begun this morning.

The installing of both fountains fill a long felt want here, and members of the Civic Club are to be commended for their attitude in the purchase of the bubblers.

Local Hotel To Be Sold

Joseph Srook, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, announces that he is now contemplating the disposal of his property, the Hotel and its entire equipment.

In the event of the disposal of the hostelry, Mr. Srook is undetermined as to his future course of action; but he will probably remain here for a short time after, in the interests of his local holdings.

STELLAR ROLE IN THRILLING PLAY TONIGHT

Titanic, tempestuous, thrilling and thrilling is the feature play, "The Man Life Passed By," which appears at the Community Theater this evening for one performance.

It's a thrilling drama by Victor Schertzinger, the man who produced Jackie Coogan's "Long Live the King," and all of Charley Ray's earlier successes. It is superbly played by a great cast, including Percy Marmont, the Mark Sabre in "When Winter Comes"; Hobart Bosworth, star of the "Sea Wolf"; and a score of other notable pictures; George Seligman, the great Danton of

A THOUGHT

"Scaramouche," Ralph Bushman, the son of Francis X. Bushman, and many other screen favorites.

"At the door of Life There are worse things Than Death."

Around these lines of the poet, Swinburne, the producer has built a prologue, and it plays a big part in this cinema spectacle.

It is a story that will begin anew the round of discussion and criticism. It is pounding with passion, peppered with peril and punch.

POCKETS IN BELT.

Soft suede belts in bright colors have pockets in which brilliantly colored silk handkerchiefs may be stowed away.

GLOVES LARGER. It is now the fad to wear gloves that are a bit too large and may be wrinkled very casually over the hand, particularly in suede.

BANDS. Browns and white gingham bands are used to trim a white crêpe de chine dress that has long sleeves and an accordion pleated skirt.

THE ESCANABA DAILY PRESS CAMPAIGN GUIDE

VOL. I SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1924. NO. 3

BIG "SECOND VOTE PERIOD" ENDS
One week from tonight---Get Your Winning Votes Now

CANDIDATES ARE SPURRED TO GREATEST EFFORTS YET

Best Remaining Vote Offer Ends Just One Week From Tonight—Campaign Ends For Good in Three Weeks;—Those Who Are In To Win Will Have To Get Busy And Do Their Best Work During the Short Remaining Period of the Campaign—Honor Roll Candidates Are Announced Again Today.

THE HONOR ROLL. The following candidates having turned in the greatest amount of campaign collections up to 4 p. m. yesterday, have the distinction of holding the place of honor today:
DISTRICT NO. 1
ROCKFORD IRVING
Escanaba, Mich.
DISTRICT NO. 2
J. H. McLELLAN
Manistique, Mich.

The candidate that is in to win must get the winning votes before that time. The present vote schedule offers the last chance to turn in subscriptions and get the big vote. Anybody's Race Up to This Time. It's truly anybody's race up to this time in the campaign for the Buick "6" Sport Touring Car and all the other prizes. No candidate in the list has a lead that cannot be easily overcome by just a little ambitious effort.
During the present "SECOND PERIOD" subscriptions count BIG in vote value; the long-term subscriptions count the greatest number of votes, of course, but all subscriptions secured count in on the "25 clubs," and every "club" means 100,000 extra votes over and above all the regular votes.

The candidates, with the corrected standings for each, in the race for the four automobiles and many other prizes offered by The Daily Press for increased circulation will be published again tomorrow.
Added interest is being given the campaign in the closing days of the big "SECOND PERIOD" vote offer. This offer ends one week from tonight and is the biggest and best remaining vote inducement of the campaign. After this vote offer closes the THIRD and last vote schedule will be in effect, and LESS votes will be given on all subscriptions turned in.
The Press Campaign ends for good on Saturday, August 2nd, and

READ THIS! IMPORTANT!

The attention of all club members is again called to the importance of EXTENSION SUBSCRIPTIONS. This means an extension of any subscription you secured earlier in the campaign. The importance of these EXTENSIONS cannot be stated too plainly and every candidate is strongly urged to get in every EXTENSION POSSIBLE these last few days of the exciting race—just ONE subscription now is liable to turn the tide and register the difference between a wonderful motor car or a smaller prize.

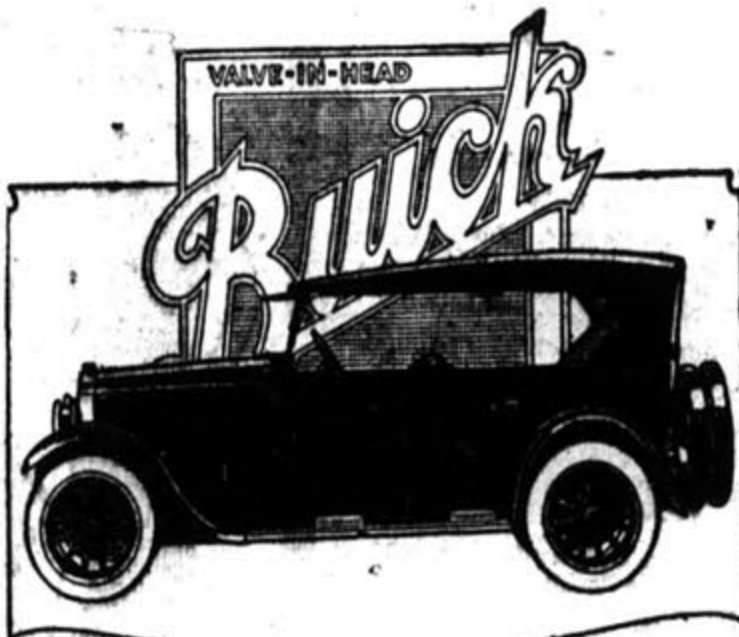

EXTENSIONS COUNT BIG NOW and in putting them on your report sheets be sure to mark plainly "2nd payment" also stating for how long the first subscription was paid for and when it was turned in, 1st or 2nd period. A subscription given on the 1st period will earn first period votes on an extension. The same applies on those given on the 2nd period. A subscription given on the 1st period will earn first period votes on an extension. The same applies on those given on the 2nd period. A subscription given during the first period and extended now for another year would give you 18,000 votes—making the full 30,000 given on a subscription for 2 years.

A subscription given during the first period for one year and now extended for 2 years more, making a 3-year subscription in all, would earn 48,000 votes, plus the "Club" Votes.

But—Be Sure to mark these subscriptions 2nd payment—extension from 1 to 2 years—or whatever the extension may be for. These will then be looked up on the original report and when found correct, the extension votes will be allowed. Fill out the votes on your report sheet and run up the total yourself.

Explain this feature to your friends who have given you a subscription before—explain the tremendous voting power of EXTENSIONS to them and have them extend their subscriptions for at least another year or two. Work EXTENSIONS strongly—it will pay you handsome dividends.
