THE ARMY MOBILIZES.
Mobilization has started. Within a few days the army will have been fully assembled. Then will come a preparatory barrage laid upon what we devoutly hope will be a friendly enemy. The Chamber of Commerce is now organizing its forces for the "carry on" campaign and it is fervently hoped that it will be a bigger success than has even been anticipated by reason of the optimism shown by so many individuals and so many organizations in this city.

Escanaba never needed her Chamber of Commerce more than she needs it now. It has started a great work—state-wide in scope—which is attracting the attention of the entire state to this one city. Can we afford to lose that attention? The big work is not half completed and without the Chamber of Commerce to back it up, there is grave doubt whether it will be successfully completed.

Specific reference is made to that is known throughout the state as the "Escanaba Plan" for distribution of primary school interest funds, so that Escanaba and Delta county will receive a much larger share than they have ever been given under any previous law, and which at the same time so apportions the whole distribution that no single county is injured and many are benefited.

But the big, penetrating feature of the Escanaba bill is that it gives every child in the state, even in the most remote and isolated district, that fair and decent chance for an education which is enjoyed by children of the urban localities.

If Escanaba never accomplishes another thing in her life, it will be well worth while to have gone down in history as the home of that "equal school opportunity" bill. And there is every real reason for feeling that with the backing of a united city operating through a strong and vigorous Chamber of Commerce, the bill will become a law this fall when the state legislature again meets.

ALEX AT IT AGAIN.
Let's all knock off work for a few days. We are due for a terrific shock. Something big and beefy and catastrophic impends.

Alex Groesbeck is going to make some sort of an announcement!

We don't know from this position in the tall timber just what Alex is going to say, but he has already said with considerable regularity and much vehemence that he's going to say something. So, beware! Just to make the thing safe, maybe you better beware a couple of times. Nothing like being sure.

Alex was scheduled to make a speech here to all the legion boys from the upper peninsula on the Fourth of July but he was so busy keeping from saying anything, that he couldn't find it convenient to even honor the city of Escanaba or the legion posts of 15 counties in the upper peninsula, with a reply to their request for definite information as to whether or not he was coming. He didn't come.

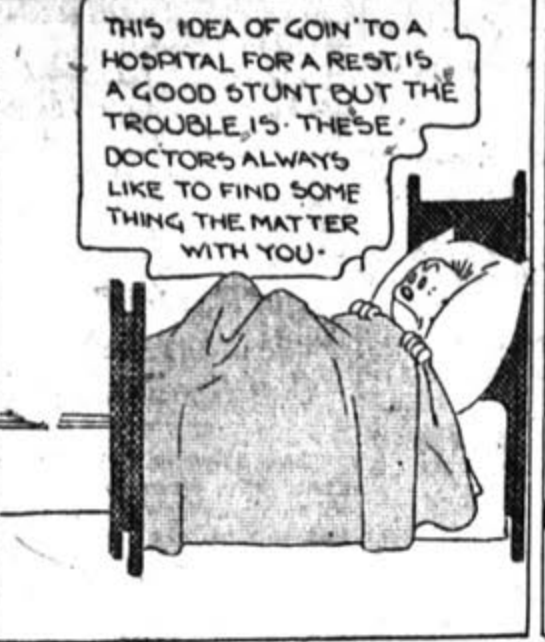

Well, maybe it's just as well. They were having small-pox in the lower peninsula and particularly in Lansing. So Alex didn't want to expose us. And he didn't. What he did do, however, was to expose his rank discourtesy to an organization that was entitled to a reply to letters and telegrams.

However, it is possible that being so far removed from Wayne county, and way above the straits, we speak a foreign language and there was no interpreter handy when the Escanaba word reached the governor.

anyhow, we didn't get any small-pox and if the governor is responsible for that, naturally we are deeply grateful to him. We don't believe, frankly, that one of his specialties would be quite worth a case of small-pox anyhow.

But look out, fellow citizens, because just as sure as Alex Groesbeck goes to Wayne county, he's going to say whether he's going to run for or from something. And he's going to say it soon. He has said so. And saying so is one of the best things Alex does.

SOME OPEN LETTERS.
DEAR MR. BURGLAR:
This is a note of warning and advice. Don't try it at my house. My wife is apt to think it's me sneaking in at 3 o'clock in the morning and a worse rate than that I could not wish even for my worst enemy.

So in order to save your life, if you feel that your work here won't be complete without an informal burgle at our place, I'll hang my trousers on the clothes line in the back yard. The pockets contain all I possess, including the current telephone service bill. If you'll be kind enough to drop in at the phone company's offices and pay it for me, you'll save the girls the trouble of calling me up the latter part of the month and telling me it hasn't been paid.

Very Cordially Yours,
(Signed) —

MR. J. GREENFIELD:
Deep down in the bottom of your music library I know there's an old-time march. It has been tum-tummy-tummy through my head for a week. I can't get more than three bars of it and I can't get rid of those. It was entitled "Happy Heine." Won't you please put it on one of your programs, real soon, and help me complete the fragment that haunts my tricky memory?
Thanks, etc.
—H. K. R.

MR. J. DEMPSEY:
I've arrange to be at ringside when you box Signor Luis A. Firpo at the Delft tomorrow night. Bill Reynard will be with me. When you do your justly famed acrobatic tumble out of the ring, won't you please fall on Bill's lap. It's roomier. Don't, I beg of you, fall on mine.
Sincerely,
—H. K. R.

MR. BASEBALL FAN:
Mr. Leo T. Young has taken over your ball club. You are to be congratulated. So is the club. Let's go.
Peptully,
—H. K. R.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By Stanley

Helen Lorimore's Legacy

BY JANE PHELPS.

HELEN IS INTRIGUED BY A STRANGER.
Chapter II.

The stranger stood against the dull background of the window. He appeared sad, depressed, and Helen's pulse fluttered with interest. For a little she forgot her own discomfort in watching him. It was as if he were looking out upon a dreary world, through the windows of a soul begrimed and gray as the glass against which he leaned.

Helen could not turn her eyes away. Not dejection, but the absolute hopelessness evidenced in the man's face compelled her attention. He was young, little older than she. What could have been his life to bring that look in his eyes, on his face?

Forgetful, Helen stared for a long moment. Suddenly the man looked around, caught her staring at him, and the gloom in his eyes suddenly gave place to a look of acute pain. This was replaced almost instantly by something personal, almost wistful as he returned her gaze.

Helen dropped her eyes, ashamed of showing her interest in a stranger. Why should her regard bring that look of a wounded animal to his eyes?

The whole thing had been a mere coincidence and Helen blushed hotly as she wondered what he must think of her. She had been unforgettably rude. With downcast eyes she fell to speculating as to whether he was question why she had come, why she had left friends, a luxurious home, for a life of which she knew absolutely nothing? This served her right for acting so impulsively, she thought.

In her abstraction, her fear he would think her rude, she had kept her eyes determinedly away from the stranger. Now she glanced cautiously in his direction. He was gone. Vaguely regretful, she looked about the room, hoping to discover him, but the tall, lean man with the stricken look in his eyes had disappeared. Had her intent regard, her unparadoxable stare, driven him out into the rain?

Helen shrugged her slim shoulders. It wasn't like her to be so interested in a stranger—in any man. He had served to take her thoughts from herself, her discomfort, for a time and she felt grateful for that.

What kind of a place would she find? Traveled in other countries, Helen, like so many Americans, knew little of her own west of Chicago, having seen it only once on a visit to California some years before.

She was becoming anxious too. She knew the ranch was several miles from the railroad; the train being so late, would they fail to meet her? She had telegraphed the hour of her arrival, nothing more. All her interest in her journey, in her legacy, was gone. The tenderly nurtured girl was ill-fitted to cope with the discomforts she was encountering.

The whistle of an incoming train startled her and caused a buzz of excited preparation among the waiting crowd.

"All aboard for train No. 6," screeched the boy who had so uncavalierly replied to all questions. Tomorrow—No! Wheelock Meets Helen.

AMUSEMENTS

ST. JOSEPH'S AUDITORIUM.
The following is a brief synopsis of the story of "Lights Out" the picture which will be shown today at 2:30 and 7:30 at St. Joseph's Auditorium where every one is welcome.

Peyton, president of a bank, is under suspicion of helping to rob his own bank. A fake burglar alarm is the cause of the suspicion. He is taking a trip with his daughter Barbara and her fiancé Keith. A mysterious man arrives on board with a suitcase that he never for a moment allows out of his sight.

"Hair Pin" Annie and Sea Bass, a crook, are after the suitcase, which they believe contains valuables. They make an attempt to open it when its owner, Egbert Winslow, comes in. They flash a gun on him and he tells them that all the case contains is scenario.

Egbert reads the crook's somersault script and the crook sees a chance to get even with "High Shine" Joe, who tricked him in the bank robbery. He promises to give Egbert a real sensational story. He gives him the inside dope on the real bank robbery.

Keith and Peyton come with the police to arrest Egbert. They capture the real crook and Sea Bass escapes. Egbert becomes engaged to Barbara.

FIRPO-DEMPSEY FIGHT.
The Dempsey-Firpo fight was "the battle of the age." There never was a championship battle like it in all the history of the ring. It is likely that there never will be. The battle itself had one of the largest audiences on record, but that audience was small compared with the number of people who have seen the pictures on the screen. The movies are said to carry all the thrills, accurately and completely. The picture will be shown at the Delft Thursday, Friday and Saturday, in addition to the regular program.

AT THE DELFT TODAY.
It is doubtful if D. W. Griffith ever labored more diligently in his career on any work than he did in the case of his latest United Artists production, "The White Rose," which closes its stay at the Delft today. Here is something so distinctly different, so reverently tender and depending so much upon vastly superior characterization that the famous producer found it necessary to take scenes time after time in order that each might be perfect in its cameo-like delicacy and beauty.

AT THE STRAND.
Cowboys don't ride like cavalrymen. This is the discovery made on the Mexican border when Hoot Gibson and his rough riders joined the Eleventh Cavalry at Camp Hearn to film "Blinky." Universal comedy of army life adapted from Gene Markey's story. Intensive training, supervised by army officers, was necessary to transform the spectacular style of the range rider to the matter-of-fact horsemanship of the soldier. "Blinky" will be seen at the Strand today and Thursday. Esther Ralston and a large cast support the cowboy star in the new play.

Women can keep secrets. A man seldom knows he is going to be married until it is time for him to know.

Fish statistics show every fish weighing over 20,000 pounds has escaped nine times this summer.

Pre-Nuptial Party.

Charming in all its appointments was the six o'clock dinner which Miss Alice McMartin gave Thursday evening at her home, 614 So. 13th street, complimentary to Miss Anna Anderson, 1114 First Ave. So. who is to be married in the near future.

A five course dinner was served to the bride-elect and 15 friends, the table was decorated in miniature electric light bulbs which were covered in colored roses, made of crepe paper. Suspended to the chandelier in the center of the room and directly over the table was a parasol in colored paper and from which streamers were strung which were fastened to a kewpie doll which formed the center piece and which was dressed as a bride. The arch door leading from the dining room to the living room of the McMartin home was a lattice work of colored crepe paper, with paper festoons forming drapes, which were fastened back with bows of paper. The artistic decorations brought forth many pleasing comments from the gathered guests who voted Miss McMartin a very charming hostess.

Miss Anderson was presented with cut glass table ware and a social session followed the elaborate dinner. The wedding will take place the latter part of this month.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The young women are afflicted to gain and irregularities, mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness.

Everybody Worked But Father

"Father's stomach trouble seemed to be getting worse all the time and finally he had to quit work altogether. Two brothers and myself gave up school and went to work to support the family. Father had lost sixty pounds in weight and was yellow as saffron and no medicine helped him. Telling a friend about it six months ago, she advised taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I got a bottle and it helped father at once. He was able to go back to work a month later, has regained his weight and strength and eats like a wood chopper."

Detroit Comes From Rear To Win

TRIM MACKMEN BY FAST WORK

Cobb Ends Game With An Unassisted Double.

(By The Associated Press.) Philadelphia, July 15.—Detroit came from behind and beat Philadelphia today, 11 to 9, in a hard fought game. Seven pitchers were used during the battle. In the third inning the Athletics had seven straight hits off Collins and Hollaway.

Hard slugging on both sides characterized the game but the Tigers were able to cut off more runs than Philadelphia. Four double plays helped to cut off the local runners. Four singles and Heimann's tumble in the third inning accounted for the first four Detroit runs. The Tigers then repeated in the fifth inning with four hits, one a triple by Rigney, coupled with a hard throw and a walk.

YALE CREW IS THE WINNER Easily Takes Olympic Elimination Match.

(By The Associated Press.) Paris, July 15.—The Americans are strongly entrenched tonight on the various fronts of the Olympic battle after notable victories today in four outstanding branches of competition. The famous Yale crew, the magnet for the greatest crowd that has yet witnessed a rowing competition, easily won in the elimination heat for eight-oared shells over the two thousand meter course on the Seine river.

Bob Kelly and Paul Costello, the Philadelphia stars, qualified with plenty to spare in the double sculls, in which they held the championship. In the swimming contests, the American girls outdid the men and shared the laurels with the Australian swimmers, who led the Americans at the end of the day's three events, 24 points to 23. Sixteen American boxers in the opening skirmish of the battle for ring honors came off with a big share for the first day while the American tennis stars continued their victorious march through the field. Miss Helen Wills, American champion, won decisively against Mrs. Satterthwaite, of England, though Vincent Richards was compelled to go five sets to conquer the Indian Slim.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, July 15.—Chicago cleaned up the three game series with Boston by winning today, 3 to 6. Fuhr was hit and so was Leverette, but the hitting of Moell and Eddie Collins helped to make up the winning margin for the victors. The score: R. H. E. CINCINNATI 7; BOSTON 6. Cincinnati, July 15.—The Cincinnati Reds made it two out of three from Boston by shutting out the Braves for the second consecutive time and winning the last game of the series today, 7 to 0. Escanaba Team in Second Place in U. P. League Table. (By The Associated Press.) Iron Mountain, July 15.—The Escanaba team made it four out of five from St. Louis today winning the last game of the series by a score of 5 to 4. The game was held up for fifteen minutes in the eighth inning by a protracted argument. With Dugan on third, Ruth on first and none out, Meusel hit a low liner to left, which Bennett scooped in on a low bounce. Dugan scored and Ruth reached third. The St. Louis club claimed Bennett caught the ball and Ruth was doubled off first. The claim was sustained by Evans, who ruled both Meusel and Ruth out. New York took the protest to Owens, the base umpire, who stuck to his original decision that the ball had not been caught, and Meusel and Ruth were returned to the bases. St. Louis refused to take the field for seven more minutes. The decision cost St. Louis the game, as Ruth scored the winning run after play was resumed. Williams of St. Louis turned his right ankle and gave way to Bennett.

The Escanaba baseball club had one of the snappiest workouts it has engaged in this season yesterday afternoon, the new manager, Leo Young, taking charge of the session. The workout included all branches of the game, and there was a decided improvement in several departments where lack of cooperation has been lacking all season. There is every reason to believe that the fans will see a remarkable improvement in the club when Manistique comes here next Sunday. Manager Young is searching for a new infielder to take the place of Ohlin, who has returned to Wisconsin. It is probable that an interesting announcement along this line will be made before the end of the week.

Pitchers Look Good. Hank Schultz, who pitched his first game for the club Sunday, and his pitching squad mate, Hank Beyers, had a splendid workout. Association with the veteran Schultz is certain to do the younger Beyers a world of good. The team will have at least two, and perhaps three, more workouts before the end of the week. Hank Schultz, who pitched his first game for the club Sunday, and his pitching squad mate, Hank Beyers, had a splendid workout.

'STEAK TRIMS TAN TRAVELERS IN SWIMMING Australia First With One Point Ahead Of Yanks. (By The Associated Press.) Paris, July 15.—Upon the completion of two days of the Olympic swimming program this evening, the United States stood second in the list of 23 nations entered. Australia was first with 24 points while the United States was one point behind. America's unrivaled woman swimmer piled up 19 points in the 400 meter swim free style, finishing one, two, three and were mainly responsible for their country's showing while the men swimmers failed to earn a single point in the 1,500 meter event, the plain high divers placing fourth and sixth to add four points to the feminine score. The United States placed two men out of three in the semi-finals of the 200 meter breast stroke, John Farley, Illinois A. C., alone failing to qualify in the elimination trials. Robert D. Skelton, Illinois A. C., and W. T. Kirschbaum, Hawaii, who finished first and second in their respective heats, and who have an opportunity to meet the United States in the semi-finals Wednesday. Skelton turned in the best time for the distance with 2 minutes 56 seconds while Kirschbaum was next best with three minutes one second.

MARKET NEWS PRICES AGAIN ARE IRREGULAR

(By The Associated Press.) New York, July 15.—Further irregularity developed in today's active stock market which was featured by an impressive demonstration of strength in railroad shares and the marked heaviness of the oil issues. Heavy selling of the oil shares reflected the spread of gasoline price reduction. There was no special news to account for the brisk demand for the carrier stocks, recent accumulation of which has been based, in part, on speculative expectation of large earnings during the latter part of the year. Heavy selling of Stewart Warner, which closed 3 points lower at 57, was based on the expectation that the $10 annual dividend would be substantially reduced at this week's meeting of the board of directors. Call money continued to rule at 2 percent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged with tendency of time funds to apparently unwilling to reduce rates in order to find employment for surplus money. The foreign exchange market showed a complete reversal of form from Monday when trading in European currencies was active and strong. The reactionary tendencies which developed today were attributed to nervousness over the impending conference on reparations. Demand sterling declined 1 1/2 cents to $4.36 1/2 and French and Belgian francs reacted about 10 points each to 5 1/2 and 4 6/8 cents, respectively.

GLADSTONE MEN REFUTE CHARGE

Clarence Erickson, Victor Bergstrom and Theodor Felt, of Gladstone, produced such an overwhelming array of testimony to show that it would have been utterly impossible for them to have been anywhere in the vicinity of the J. P. Nolden Store at 12:30 on the night of July 8, that it seems extremely unlikely that the case will proceed further. Following the examination of all the witnesses available yesterday morning in Judge C. D. McEwen's court yesterday, an adjournment was taken to await the return to the city of Chief of Police John J. Tolan, who caused the arrest of the three young men on charges of attempted burglary. This proceeding undoubtedly amounts to a dismissal of the case and complete exoneration of Erickson, Bergstrom and Felt.

The only testimony offered by the state, in support of the charge, was that of Elmer Shore, who asserted that he saw three men at the rear of the Nolden store, attempting to gain entrance. When they saw him, he said, they ran. He followed, taking the number of an automobile into which he believed they had jumped. This car number was the only connection between the three defendants and the alleged incident at the rear of the store.

Convincing Refutation.
On the other hand, more than a dozen defense witnesses presented an array of convincing evidence that the men were blocks away from the Nolden store at the hour in question.

Prosecuting Attorney George W. Carr asked that a continuance be taken until the return of Chief Tolan, to determine whether there were other reasons for asking for a warrant for the men.

FOLK LORE OF GARTH SECTION IS RECALLED

There is an old and interesting tradition, near the Garth Camp site where Girl Scouts are having their annual outing, which concerns twins and the celebrations of twins' birthdays. This was recalled and fittingly observed at the camp last Friday when the birthday of the Misses Evelyn and Louise Harder, Wells twins, was celebrated by the campers. There was a parade, with all the girls teamed and costumed as twins, and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Harder, parents of the young ladies, provided refreshments.

Nature study work at the camp has been under the leadership of Mrs. E. C. Voght of Escanaba and Miss Olive McClintock of Nahma. Miss Edith McNaughton of St. Paul will leave that city today to spend a day in the camp, teaching map making. Miss Esther Baldwin will give a number of readings at the camp Wednesday.

Girls who expect to attend the second section of the camp, which opens July 21, are urged to make their reservations as soon as possible. The camp is proving so popular that several girls now in camp are planning to attend the second section also.

Steals Auto From Editor; Thought To Be Demented

John Pudvin, of Garden, is under observation at the county jail and will be given an examination for mental disorders in probate court, as a result of his arrest Monday by Motor Cop Henry Breault. Pudvin was charged with having stolen an automobile from L. R. Messenger of Rapid River, newspaper man. Breault traced the car and Pudvin to Garden where the machine was recovered and Pudvin taken into custody. Later it was decided to give Pudvin a sanity hearing rather than arraigning him on a warrant charging auto theft.
