C-C PREPARES FOR ELECTION

Ballots To Be Mailed Out To Membership Saturday.

Chamber of Commerce primary election ballots will be mailed from the secretary's office not later than Saturday, to persons whose names are on the organization's roster at that time. It was announced late yesterday.

At the same time, questionnaires seeking the opinion of members on the next year's program will be sent out. The program of work of the Chamber is made up every year from the suggestions of the membership, recorded in this manner.

About sixty "prospective member" cards were issued at the city hall yesterday morning to members of the "follow-up" squad who will make final report on the names in the list before the end of the present week. The sixty men listed are those who were put on the city during last week's intensive campaign, or could not, for some other reason, be interviewed.

STATE HUNTERS TO BE HELPED BY WOLF DOGS

Game Equipment To Be Issued Soon

All state hunters will be furnished with dogs within a short time to be used in den hunting and trailing animals that escape with traps and drags, according to an announcement in the Michigan Hunters' news bulletin.

Already two cold trail dogs have been delivered to Samuel Bennett, state hunter. Mr. Bennett was selected because of his previous success in training dogs for this work. Evidence of the valuable assistance that the hunters will receive as the result of the new plan is seen in the experience of one hunter, who, aided by a dog, cold trailed and shot a large timber wolf. The wolf was located after he straightened out a hook drag and escaped, leaving little or no sign by which he could be tracked.

Special mention is given in the bulletin to the work of Michael Loshaw, Ontonagon state trapper who in May took 14 true predatory animals, including five timber wolves, four coyotes and five foxes. His record was further enhanced by the capture of a large wolf, weighing 125 pounds, which made a track twice the size of an ordinary wolf and which was known among Ontonagon county hunters and trappers as "king of them all."

For May, according to the bulletin, the incomplete records of hunters and deputy game wardens show that 123 of the larger predatory animals were taken, consisting of nine adult timber wolves, 24 coyotes, two bobcats, and 88 foxes; of the rodents there were taken 666 porcupines and 164 woodchucks; one cub bear, five badgers, 21 skunks, 17 weasels, 421 crows, 591 hawks and 10 owls. Of this number, the deputy game wardens took 16 foxes, 154 porcupines, 78 woodchucks, 15 weasels, two skunks, 388 crows, 150 hawks and seven owls.

DOLLARS AND MINUTES!

How would you like to earn $1 a minute? It would give you an income of about $150,000 a year. Great many Americans make at much and more. The system that permits them to pile up much wealth is countenanced by the public because every one knows that, as long as the system exists, there is always a chance for him to get into the $50,000-a-year class. We are all millionaires at heart.

The millionaire merely represents the common goal. Take almost any man with an income of $1 a minute. Let him by accident drop $1 through a sidewalk grating. What will he do? You know. He'll stop, no matter how rushed he is, and try to recover the lost dollar. He'll spend at least $10 worth of time trying to get back that vanishing $1 that has slipped away from him.

Many millionaires attend directors' meetings just to get the $5 gold piece that is paid for attendance. We smile at the man who wastes $10 of time trying to recover a lost $1. And yet we all do the same thing in principle. We continue to use worn-out devices long after they become more expensive than new devices. For instance, many a farmer—rather than buy a new faucet for his oil barrel—uses the leaking old faucet. He collects the dripping in a tin can, but by evaporation loses every few weeks more than the cost of a new faucet.

Supposed economy oftentimes is extravagance. No matter how much or how little money we have, our greatest wealth is time. Nature gives us just so many minutes to spend between birth and death. The precious minutes are ticking away fast. But how many squander their most valuable minutes? It's foolish to overwork. Man needs to spend minutes as well as dollars for recreation to keep him balanced and efficient mentally and physically. Few of us, though, spend our spare time as shrewdly as we spend our spare money. Money fortune depends on not being a spendthrift with time, quite as much as on saving money.

OUR FACES.

The human face is gradually becoming longer, claims the British scientist, Sir Arthur Keith. Long, narrow heads with sharp jaws, that's the tendency. It's a result of more intense thinking. When a person thinks deeply, mouth tends to purse, cheeks to be pulled in and chin jags downward. Taking life too seriously does the same—"wearing a long face."

NEW BUILDING.

One industry that hasn't slipped is building. For May the 17 leading cities report new building permits 10 per cent more than in May, 1923. Possibly increased prices represent the 10 per cent gain, but the actual physical volume of building is about the same as a year ago, and that means it couldn't be much more. The nation is spending three and a half million dollars a year for new buildings, including homes. This pace, continued, will eventually lower rents.

NEW TREND.

Twenty-seven railroads now insure their employees under the group plan of life insurance. We are gradually evolving toward a system of industrial socialism with out realizing it.

NEW SHADES.

Terra cotta, rose, dull reds and browns are featured at the French fashion openings.

WIDE WASH.

A very wide sash of white moire silk, tied in a large bow in front is worn with a black velvet sleeveless frock. Several houses in Lisbon, England, collapsed during violent rain storms recently.

HELEN SENDS OUT INVITATIONS. Chapter XIV.

Helen waited for a time, but as the light did not again appear her thoughts reverted to the stranger, and the queer ghostly light was forgotten. Where did he live? Who was he? Why did he want her to keep her meeting secret? Helen was no sentimental, romantic girl, but a girl who from a multitude of conventional lovers and fortune hunters had come away free. Yet as she thought of this man who had stirred her so deeply, her blood coursed a bit warmer through her veins, her pulses beat a little faster.

It was only when she felt the chill of the hour before dawn that she sought her bed, her last waking thought of the stranger with the sad face, the hopeless eyes, the grave voice. She felt the answer to the riddle was very near her, almost within her grasp, yet strangely elusive. But in the morning some extra work after her weariness completely put all these matters out of her mind; as was—or, rather, as had become her way, she concentrated on the task before her. As Helen grew familiar with the work of the ranch, her interest increased. At last she was doing something, something worth while. No longer was she bored—not for a minute. Every grain of the work became not only a pleasure, but a perfect joy. Even Wheelock was amazed at her quick, acquired knowledge. She often surprised him by her practical suggestions. She had effected many economies, stopped leakages—little ones, most of

OUT OUR WAY

By Williams

Except when she was riding or shooting or walking over the ranch, Helen was as daintily dressed as when in New York. To be sure, she had little use for elaborate evening gowns, but invariably she changed for dinner, wearing the simple things in her wardrobe.

She explained none of this, however, wanting to add to their queries by telling them to bring anything they wished, not forgetting their riding tops. She was excited over the idea of entertaining her old friends. It would be a break, and would keep her in touch with the outside world. Her nearest neighbors were ten miles away; they were elderly people, whom she consulted occasionally, but who were not in any sense companions for her. The little railroad town she visited seldom, only when she needed something the general store could furnish. One would think hers a lonely life, but never had she felt less lonely. Busy all day, much in the open air, she slept soundly, was perfectly well and looked five years younger than when she left the city.

No longer did she need rouge to redden her cheeks and lips; the outdoor life did it for her. She was more slender, but her muscles were hard, she could endure long days in the saddle without tiring, walk miles and still be fresh. "I would live on a ranch, now that I know what it means, if I had to do menial work to do so," she said to Martha. "There ain't any other fit place to live," the old servant answered. Tomorrow—Wheelock Craftily Lays His Plans. WINTER FABRIC. Fabrics for winter are, thick and soft and corded effects are to be very prominent. Reversible materials in silks are very good. AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT. Mae Murray, famous for the luxurious gowns she wears before the camera, designs all of her own costumes. Then she enlists the aid of leading couturiers in Paris and New York to execute her designs in dainty materials. In her latest Metro picture, "Mademoiselle Midnight," which closes its stay at the Delft today, she appears in the prologue, wearing the hoop skirts and dainty furbelows and laces of the period of Napoleon III in France, and, in the main story, as a modern Mexican girl, wearing a wide variety of gowns of Spanish and French design, the latest word in new fashions.

CRITICAL OBSERVERS assert that they can distinguish a sailor or a plainman by his walk, a veteran ring fighter by his ears, a lawyer by his caution, or a former clergyman by the manner in which he folds his hands. Maybe they can, but members of the cast in "Soft Boiled," the new William Fox comedy attraction starring Tom Mix, defy them to identify in the lady-like shoe clerk anything that savors of the rough-riding cow puncher whom Mix usually portrays. "Soft Boiled," presenting Mix in his most unique role, will open at the Strand theatre today for two days.

COMING THURSDAY. The number of specially built properties used in "Rostin," Mary Pickford's latest United Artists production, which will be shown at the Delft Thursday under auspices of the W. R. C., would require too much space, should an attempt be made to list them. Perhaps one of the most interesting "props" is the King's coach which is an exact replica of the coach presented by Napoleon to Charles V of Spain. The original is in a Spanish museum today. The harness for the original coach was made in London by the royal coachmaker and cost $550 for each horse. The first pair, a drag team used to haul the big coaches over hills, was driven by a postilion riding on the rear of left horse. The next two pairs of horses were driven by a coachman on the box. There were two footmen on the carriage and usually six or more outriders.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST YOUTH

Charges Against Paul Siverson Dismissed by Judge McEwen.

Police officers who caused the arrest of Paul Siverson, 19, two weeks ago on a charge of statutory burglary, failed to produce any evidence whatever to substantiate the charge, when Siverson's preliminary examination was called up in Judge C. D. McEwen's court yesterday morning, and the youth was released from the bonds, in which he had been held since his arraignment.

No witnesses were examined by Prosecuting Attorney George W. Carr, or by Torval E. Strom, counsel for the defendant. The state frankly admitted that it had no case and Mr. Strom moved for a dismissal. Judge C. D. McEwen immediately granted the motion and ordered Siverson released from bonds.

Siverson was prepared to present an impenetrable alibi, Mr. Strom said later. A half-dozen witnesses were ready to testify that the youth was not in the vicinity of a residence which burglars attempted to enter the night police took Siverson into custody.

The admission of the officers that they could show no reason for holding Siverson for trial, however, made it unnecessary for those persons to tell their stories.

Fraternal Column

Young Ladies' Sodality. The members of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Joseph's parish held a most enthusiastic meeting at the club rooms Monday evening when Rev. Fr. Bertrand addressed them on some very important subjects. Rev. Bertrand particularly laid stress on the registration of all electors of the city and urged the young ladies to do their utmost to get the voters out. The young ladies were assigned various streets on which to work to get the voters out to register before August 18th, 1924.

The districts were divided as follows: Lake Shore Drive to 7th street inclusive, Mary and Ethel Barth; 8th, 9th and 10th streets, Helen Dupple and Mary Loeffler; 11th and 12th streets, Helen Blake, Margaret Lacapelle and May LeClaire; 13th and 14th streets, Caroline Hamacher and Elizabeth O'Neil; 15th and 16th streets, Josephine and Veronica Larson; 18th, 19th and 20th streets, Alice O'Dess; Hartnett avenue, Gertrude Lacomb, Margaret Chandenet; Stephenson avenue, Mildred Smokavich, Sophia Soman, Aloysis Urlich; Washington avenue, Harriet Burge, Evelyn Moran. After the business session cards and music were enjoyed, and refreshments were served. Twelve new members were enrolled and plans made for the needlework sale which is held every fall in the club rooms. The girls are getting an early start so as to out-do any previous affair of its kind. There are now almost 200 members in the Sodality. The meetings are held the last Monday of each month and every one is greatly interested in the good work carried on by the organization.

By The Campaign Manager. Just three more days after today. Next Saturday night at 10:00 o'clock will tell the tale.

Candidates take notice of this—Extensions count big during the final days of the campaign. Extensions on subscriptions taken for a short term during the first period, still earn "first period" regular votes—also second period earn "second period" regular votes.

Remember, the campaign ends at 10:00 o'clock next Saturday night and all subscriptions and votes MUST either be in the sealed ballot box or in the mail at that hour to count for votes.

The names of the Judges will be announced very soon. They will be well known local business men.

There are FOUR Automobiles and an unlimited number of cash awards and commissions to be awarded. Do your very best during these last few days and earn one of the Autos.

Remember all subscriptions will be verified before votes are issued—A subscription that was NEW early in the campaign and extended now is still counted as NEW. In other words, once New—Always New.

Get the NEW subscriptions and the long term SECOND PAYMENTS if you can, because that is where you get the BIG votes.

HURRY!—HURRY!—HURRY! After 10:00 o'clock next Saturday night will be too late! Get your winning votes NOW.

The last count of votes by the campaign department will be made at noon today and will appear in tomorrow's issue of The Press. After this list appears the standings will not be changed. Get enough votes in before noon today to put your name well up in the list.

TAKE 11-INNING BATTLE 4 TO 3

Mackmen Break American League Record for Infield Assists.

Detroit, July 29.—After trying the score in the ninth inning, Detroit won from Philadelphia here today in the 11th, 4 to 3. Pratt hitting in both the tying and winning runs.

One behind in the last of the ninth, Blue started the hitting for the Tigers with a single. He was sacrificed to second and scored on Pratt's single. A similar play in the eleventh won the game, Hellman making a single, going to second on a sacrifice and scoring on a single by Pratt.

By winning today, Detroit remained in second place. Philadelphia broke the American League record for infield assists in the first nine innings of today's game, making 21. This number also ties the National League record by the New York Giants, June 13, 1919.

THURSTON LOSES AFTER 10 WINS

New York Defeats Chicago 9 To 4 In Series Final.

Chicago, July 29.—The winning streak of Pitcher Hollis Thurston, which had run to 10 consecutive games, was broken today when New York defeated Chicago, 9 to 4, in the final game of the series. Thurston's record was saved last Sunday when the Yankees drove him off the mound, but lost the game because of a ninth inning Sox rally.

Babe Ruth's home run, his thirty-second of the season, with two men on base in the fifth inning, sewed up the game for the Yankees. The four batters of Ruth's was his thirteenth this month and ties his best previous record established in June, 1921, the year he set his home run record of 59 circuit drives.

The White Sox could not do much with Pennock and enjoyed only one big inning when four hits, including a homer by Barrett gave the locals three of their four runs. It was announced that the series drew an estimated crowd of 110,000 for the five games played since last Saturday which is thought to be a record.

MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS. (Last Sales)

Table listing various stocks and their prices, including American Chemical & Dye, American Car & Foundry, American International, etc.

PRICES MOVE UP STRONGLY

New York, July 29.—Stock prices moved upward today in impressive fashion until just before the close of the market when heavy profit taking, apparently based on the fear that the extra dividend of fifty cents on United States Steel common might be maintained, caused a rather general recession from the high levels.

Some irregularity developed at the opening but within 15 minutes, rails, public utilities and industrials were moving upward almost in unison. Increased public interest in the market is indicated by the fact that brokers' loans have increased about $5,000,000 in the last two weeks, bringing the total to around $1,330,000,000.

Call money continued to hold steady at 2 per cent. The volume of time funds being placed showed a decided gain, rates ranging from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent, depending upon maturity. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were slightly firmer, although trading was restricted pending further developments at the London repatriation conference. Demand sterling ruled about one-half higher at $4.40 and French francs sold around 5.03 cents.

21 Detroit Players In The Qualifying Rounds of Tourney. Detroit, July 29.—Qualifying rounds in the state golf tournament were completed today and when the 21 Detroit players will occupy positions in the championship flight of 32 players.

WINS MEDAL HONORS. Lewis L. Bredin, country club of Detroit, won medal honors by leading the qualifiers for a 36 hole total of 147. He followed up his 74 of Monday on the difficult north course with a 73 on the south course. His closest rival, Harry Allen of Grand Rapids, trailed him by six strokes with 153.

MANISTIQUEURS HERE THURSDAY

Local Fans To Be Treated To High Class Mid-Week Program.

Escanaba and Manistique will "go to it" again next Thursday afternoon. The game, to be played at South Park, is certain to generate widespread interest throughout the peninsula.

Still smarting from the memory of the overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Schoolcrafters last Sunday, the Escanaba management is making plans which it is hoped, will eliminate the weaknesses which are blamed for the disaster. On the other hand, Manistique has won only one of its four games with Escanaba this season, and is anxious to even up the score.

ROCKNE SIGNS 10 YEAR CONTRACT

Will Coach Notre Dame Eleven For Next Ten Years.

Chicago.—When Knute K. Rockne entered the University of Notre Dame 15 years ago as a poor working student, doing all kinds of odd jobs to pay for his tuition and board, he little dreamed that he would step into a position that was to pay him $100,000 in ten years as coach of that famous eleven. Rockne is to do just that, when his new contract becomes effective in 1925.

Rockne, by signing a contract to remain at Notre Dame for the next ten years at an annual salary reported to be $10,000 a year becomes one of the highest paid teachers of football in America. Of the terms of his salary, Rockne himself has nothing to say, but those close to him declare he was offered $10,000 a year last fall to become head football coach at the University of Iowa, succeeding Howard Jones, and that Notre Dame would not part with him.

Plucky Fight Against Odds. From a "handy boy," determined to obtain an education, Rockne's career is a vivid story of a plucky fight against odds. The man who today is acknowledged as one of the foremost coaches in the country did not even know the principles of football when he entered Notre Dame in 1909. But under the direction of Jesse Harper, the Notre Dame coach, he began to learn quickly. He did what he was told. He practiced and trained hard and within three years was elected captain of the team that was hailed throughout the country as one of the greatest exponents of the forward pass ever developed.

Without Funds. When Rockne enrolled at Notre Dame, he was without funds and no work was too menial for him to earn a few dollars. Gradually he became so proficient in the country that during his last year in school he acted as an assistant professor. It was in this same year that his name became famous in football, when Notre Dame met the Army for the first time and triumphed, 35 to 13. It was Rockne, on the receiving end of forward passes hurled by Gus Dorais, that swept the cadets off their feet.

After graduation, Coach Harper asked to retain Rockne as a football assistant. The dean of the chemistry department made a similar request. Rockne was wanted in two places. The officials arranged his work, so he could work both jobs. A year later Harper retired to his west-coast ranch and Rockne stepped into his shoes, holding the position as director of athletics, head football coach and track coach ever since.

AMERICA ALONE CAN BRING PEACE

Responsibility For World Peace Rests With U. S., Says Morel.

BY MILTON BRONNER

London. — America alone can bring about world peace.

And it can do it only by calling a conference of all nations for disarmament on land, on sea and in the air.

So believes E. D. Morel, "fighting pacifist," who has won many a cause over here.

"The naval disarmament conference in Washington in 1921," Morel declares, "merely was a start in the right direction."

"But we need complete disarmament, not only on the seas, but on land and in the air."

"Europe today resembles a drunken man smoking a cigar on a barrel of dynamite. The president of the United States can avert the danger that threatens us all."

"And he can do it without involving his country either in the League of Nations or the World Court of Justice."

"All the cards are in America's hands. The president could put the case so clearly that no responsible government would dare refuse the call and face its own people."

It was largely through Morel's speeches and books that oppression of the natives in the rubber regions of the Belgian Congo was done away with.

During the war he went to jail for six months for the technical offense of trying to send some of his books to the celebrated French pacifist, Romain Rolland, in Switzerland. Had he been an American, that might have finished his career.

But in the last parliamentary election, the canny Scotchmen of Dundee elected him by over 10,000 majority over Winston Churchill, one of the most noted of all British statesmen of the present generation.

"Many foolishly dreamed," says Morel, "that out of all the war's hell would come a Utopian condition in which racial, religious and national rivalries and bitterness would be ended."

"Yet today there is more hatred in the world than ever. And the powerful armament interests are taking advantage of this."

"We hear a great deal about Germany arming and drilling, but so is France. And the most vital threat to peace right now is the manner in which the Balkans are being supplied with the implements for man-killing."

"America is entitled to demand this wicked arming of them shall cease."

Mrs. John Hall has been called to Marquette by the serious injury of her daughter, Mrs. P. A. Gustafson, who was the victim of an automobile accident.

Recently displayed at a trade exhibition in England was a boot measuring thirty-five inches from heel to toe, which is claimed to be the largest ever made.

Patrons of Terrace Gardens have been given an unusually fine program of music the entire season, such as no other city north of Milwaukee can boast of, and with the engagement of Prof. Heyns' orchestra, more laurels will be added to the musical festivity enjoyed at this popular summer garden.

BROTHERTON HAS SPLENDID SCORE IN STATE SHOOT

Shooting in a field of the best shotgun talent ever assembled in a Michigan state match, Hugh Brotherton, local crack, recorded the excellent score of 194 out of 200 birds—five behind the winning score of Ross Miller who was forced to break 199 birds to come out in front. Miller dropped only one target, his 188th, in his remarkable performance against 130 of the state's finest marksmen.

Claude Parmelee, of Iron Mountain, and Howard Benson, of Lansing, set out one of the greatest Michigan Professional races ever staged, ending the program in a tie with ten dozen each. When Benson hung up a 97, in his last 100, Parmelee was forced to break his last 69 targets straight to tie the score.

Parmelee tightened up and came through, pulverizing every remaining target in whirlwind style.
