The Nishnawbe News

The Nishnawbe News invites you to review this complimentary copy of our most recent issue.

As you may be aware, the Nishnawbe News is a non-profit newspaper published by the Organization of North American Indian Students at Northern Michigan University. Our paper, which has been in existence for almost ten years now, is the only full-size Indian newspaper published in Michigan.

The Nishnawbe News strives to accomplish the goals of a) bringing the news concerning Indian people to Indian people, and b) increasing Indian awareness among non-Indians. In order to achieve these goals we supply coverage of Michigan, Great Lakes, and national news pertinent to Indian people. We also offer features, legends, poetry, and short stories.

The News welcomes and encourages input from readers, such as letters to the editor, editorial opinions and ideas for news stories. We also have established rates of pay for publishable articles submitted.

At the present time, the Nishnawbe News is circulated throughout the Nation, with the largest concentration of subscribers being in Michigan and the Great Lakes Region. Within Michigan, the majority of our subscribers are Title IV Indian Education Programs, who find our paper a valuable educational resource.

Individuals may subscribe to the Nishnawbe News on an individual or multiple basis. Individual subscription rates are by donation only, the usual donation being around $5.00 per year. You will find the multiple subscription rates attached.
