HOW TO THRIVE.
 In attempting to answer in part this interesting question I have presented three simple rules, viz: work, make haste slowly, take a common sense view of things. In giving these to the public in the TRIBUNE, of two weeks ago, I have no doubt, Mr. Editor, your intentions were all right, but your type seemed to get slightly "mixed," and some of the words as printed would scarcely chime in with my third rule. But, to err is human and mistakes will sometimes happen in the best of families. And so, following a rule relating to a much more important matter, I will forget the things which are behind, and proceed with my subject, and say to my young friends, that while the above rules seem to me essential to success, they will not of themselves necessarily secure it.

In performing a journey of a hundred miles, it is essential to travel one mile, but neither one, nor ninety-nine miles will bring a man to the end of that journey, he must go the whole distance. "Partial" success is better than none, but entire success is still better. And so, while you observe and practice the rules already suggested, allow me to give you a 4th, viz: "Honesty is the best policy." This is a wise motto, as well as an old one, and whoever may have been its author, he showed himself a true philosopher, and a person having a thorough knowledge of men and things. It is frequently said that there are exceptions to all general rules, but I very much doubt whether it can be said of this. It is a rule of universal application. It may be safely adopted by all classes of persons, and by persons of all ages, in every profession, business and calling. "Honesty is the best policy." It may sometimes seem to be only a seeming. A merchant may flatter himself that he has done a fine thing because, by taking advantage of a man's ignorance or necessity, he had made a large profit. But, when the opportunity of his conscience, he may be sure his customers will find him out and do their trading somewhere else next time. A merchant may put in bad stock, and cover up many little defects in the construction of an article, another may manage to "kill time," and thus get in two days of time than to do one honest day's work. The lawyer who assures his client that he will win his case, but who will not be trusted with a second case. An ancient philosopher was once asked by a pupil what advantage a man gained by lying? Just this, answered the philosopher, "the advantage of not being believed when he speaks the truth." To deal dishonestly is the worst form of lying. It is like a two edged sword, cuts both ways, though aimed at another; it is sure to do double execution upon him who wields it. And hence, if direct appeal to the principle of honest dealing be not sufficient to insure one to walk in that direction, appeal may be made to the lower motive of policy. A man's interest demands honesty; ultimate success depends upon it. The various subterfuges which are sometimes resorted to and behind which men so often seek to conceal their dishonest dealings, are only gossamer coverings, seen through, or blown away by a slight wind. Small peculations may seem to add to a man's income, but they are sure to "burn holes in the bag." So, many have found to their cost, in all the past, and so will it be found in the future by any who shall ignore the rule; "Honesty the best policy."

5th. Steady Perseverance, is another important rule to be observed by those who would thrive. This is so obvious, that the bare mention of it, would seem sufficient. And yet the failure to practice it, has proved the failure of very many men. It is no doubt true, that some persons sometimes embark in a business, or engage in an occupation without due consideration. They have not sufficient capital, or tact for the business, taste or skill for the occupation. In all such cases of course, perseverance in that particular direction, would be folly. To thrive, a change is necessary. The adoption of the rule of steady perseverance implies that the selection of some useful and honest business has been wisely made. And when so made, perseverance will ordinarily insure success, while the want of it, is almost sure to end in defeat. "Rolling stones do not gather moss." Change of place, may sometimes be for the better. Change of occupation is not always disastrous. But as a rule, "stick-to-itiveness" will succeed in the end.

6th. To thrive, your expenditures must be less than your earnings. Nothing can be plainer than this. Dr. Franklin said it did not depend upon what a man made whether he became wealthy, but upon what he saved. And wise as the saying is, it does not require his wisdom to see the force of it. Any school-boy who understands the single rules of arithmetic, can tell a man, that though he earn three dollars per day, if he spends it all at night, he will not get far ahead. A man may seem to do a thriving business, and drop into his till, a few dollars here and there, but if he spends it all at night, he will not get far ahead. A man may seem to do a thriving business, and drop into his till, a few dollars here and there, but if he spends it all at night, he will not get far ahead. A man may seem to do a thriving business, and drop into his till, a few dollars here and there, but if he spends it all at night, he will not get far ahead.

To guard against any misapprehension, perhaps I ought to say before I close, that poverty, if one comes honestly by it is no disgrace to any man, young or old. There are many greater evils than poverty, and a higher good than riches. I am no advocate for a low lived, and mean parsimony. "There is that which scattereth and yet increaseth, and there is a withholding of more than is mete, but it tendeth to poverty." I like to see generosity, and am gratified with the many instances I witness, who would not have any one feel that they must save and hoard up at the expense of being liberal towards a worthy object. Such liberality is no hindrance to thrift. I only plead against waste, and a reckless expenditure of all one makes, for mere show, or self-gratification and indulgence.

In conclusion, allow me to say, that in presenting these six rules and the brief words that accompany them, I have made no attempt at any thing more than a plain statement of such ideas or things as experience and observation have led me to believe would be of some little service to my fellow men, whose true interests I seek to promote.

At last one of our seceding patrons has seen fit to come out and give his reasons therefor. These reasons are unanswerable, and we take the liberty of publishing the letter without further comment. A sturdy old farmer, down in New Hampshire, who had voted the Democratic ticket, ever since the good old days of General Jackson, once remarked that he thought "that blamed Nasby was doin the party more harm than good, by his writin."

EDITOR TRIBUNE:—
 Be good enough sir, to discontinue your paper heretofore sent to my address, and also my advertisement.—
 Your course during the three short months of your existence has, I think, fully demonstrated the fact that you are in direct conflict with the best interests of the political party of which I am a member, and I refuse to support your paper for some of the following reasons:
 1st. You have shown a readiness which surprises us, to prosecute two of our prominent men, one of them high in position, for the small matter of attempting to play an innocent joke on the County, by making believe they were going to get the money on a certain county order. Your course in this matter alone evinces a desire on your part to persecute us. You should learn to take a joke of this kind without getting your back up.
 2nd. As you drink nothing but water, and are a member of the I. O. G. T. and are in favor of prosecuting our citizens for selling whiskey to Indians, we believe you to be a dangerous man, and that our several bases of supplies, may suffer at your hands, if we fail to kick in the traces and show our ears. I admit that you have as yet given no proof that your intentions towards said supply departments are not honorable, but we can't trust you after knowing you to be guilty as above and below mentioned.

You further disgusted us by consenting in consideration of a little filthy lucre, to print for our opponents at the late municipal election, some tickets, and that without even letting us see them before they left your hands, or informing us in the least what they were up to. Your assertion that you were requested by the persons ordering them, to show them to no one, is no excuse and will not be accepted. We had a committee whose duty it was to watch such things and one of that committee was at your printing office most of the time, and he says he tried to see those tickets but was unsuccessful.

Again we don't know how you voted, but from the fact that you remained in your office attending to business all day, and were not seen to "smile," only when some of our partisans challenged some of our voters, thus depriving us of their votes and losing us the victory, we judge you went back on us, and we therefore refuse to take your paper. We shall also hereafter get our tickets from a more congenial quarter. You are not the only one we have determined to visit our vengeance upon. That little dutch Barber, who was so ready to discover that duplicate county orders were presented to him for payment and who had not discretion enough to keep the matter quiet, and who also voted against us—will receive that punishment he so richly merits, viz, the withdrawal of our custom. A number of us have pledged ourselves not to shave at his shop, in the future. His assertion that most of our number are owing him, I don't believe is true. I suppose you will say that we will have to patronize the darkey then, and that the Democratic Party don't love them but we don't care.

We have now succeeded in inducing seven men to stop their papers, and think you must see by this time that we are bound to speedily crush your paper out of existence.

We mean to control the elections hereafter, and then if we wish to play a joke occasionally, we expect to have some one in the Treasurer's and other offices who will mind their own business and let ours alone.

We warn Dr. Bellows that he had better go slow. At our indignation meetings, held the three succeeding nights after our late defeat, resolutions were introduced to cut loose from him and no longer pay him our dollar a week, and was urged by all who were in arrears to the Dr. (a large number) and if the resolutions had passed, he would have lost handsomely. As the majority of us however, not only owed him, but also had sickness in our families, we decided we could injure him most by keeping our names on his paper for the present, and so voted down the resolutions. But the Dr. had better go slow.

The statement that your friends have subscribed for more than double the number of papers we have stopped, and will give them to the poor of Escanaba, is unlikely, because all who are too poor to take your paper belong to our party and can't read, and wouldn't read your dirty paper if they could.

VILLAGE LOTS FOR SALE.
 The sure, steady and rapid growth of the village of ESCANABA, is the best guarantee for its advancement, and we feel assured that its increase in the future will be even greater than it has been in the past, believing that a small beginning has yet been made. The extension of the U. S. N. W. R. R. Westward in Marquette county, the establishment of Furnaces, Foundries, &c., the early building of a Railroad Westward to the Mesquimie Iron Range, and the erection of ore and other docks, Grist Mills, Planing Mills, &c., all point with unerring finger to an increase of business and population in the village.
 We have still on hand business and building lots, scattered by few, if any that have been sold, and we are prepared to dispose of those at fair prices and on the most liberal terms, to parties buying for the purpose of improving.
 The village has recently been incorporated by the Board of Supervisors, and contains about 1,100 inhabitants, with five General Stores, one Hardware store, one Jewelry store, two Wholesale Liquor stores, one Drug store, one Tailor shop, one Meat market, three first-class (one of which is the finest on the Upper Peninsula) and five second-class hotels, one Livery Stable, one Harness shop, two Cabinet and Carpenter shops, two Barber shops, one Bakery, one Photograph Gallery, one Printing Office, and several Saloons; besides the U. S. Co's Board-house, Methodist Church, &c. There are also Presbyterian and Catholic Churches, a good School, and a considerable amount of literary culture for a place so young. In this and many other respects it challenges comparison, and it can be claimed for it also, that there are few places if any that have grown up so rapidly to which a gentleman can go with his family, and have the advantages of education and social intercourse that he can find here.
 To all therefore who are in search of a good business point, a rapidly growing village, and one that is certain to continue so, we say come on, and we will welcome you with open hands to hospitable homes.

BURNING OF THE TUG "ESCANABA."

Our Citizens were awakened from their slumbers, on Tuesday Morning last, between two and three o'clock, by the fire whistle. To persons residing at some distance, it seemed as if the flames were issuing from the R. R. Company's Sheds, but upon examination, it was found to be the Tug Escanaba, lying near the beach and within some 40 or 50 feet of the ore dock. The Engineer had been engaged in making some repairs and in order to thaw out some portions of the machinery, had built a fire upon some sheet iron, and it is supposed that it must have originated from that. Men were provided with shovels, and by throwing snow upon the flames succeeded in keeping them in subjection until hose could be attached to the pumping engine standing near, when a flood of water was poured into her that speedily extinguished the fire. The Tug was built in 1864 and has been doing duty on the Bay the majority of the time since then. She is owned by the Northwestern Company, and it is believed was not insured. She is but little injured below the line, and it is estimated that $5,000 will put her in thorough running order again. The machinery can be repaired here, but ship carpenters will have to be imported for the wood work.

F. O. CLARK Esq., delivers the next lecture before the Lyceum, on next Friday evening. The subject is not announced, but we have no doubt that it will be a good one and well treated. All are invited.

SWINEFORD, says that "the Tilden is the most commodious and best kept Hotel in the Upper Peninsula, except the Douglass House at Houghton, which is closed." The fact is the Tilden will accommodate more guests and do it in better style, than any other open or closed.

We would call the attention of the newly elected village officers, to the trap door in front of KILLIAN'S Store. It is a nuisance of the worst kind, endangering the life and limbs of any one, who has occasion to pass along that side of the street after nightfall.

F. WOLTZ, has purchased the Saxton House, at Menominee, and will keep a first class hotel. Mr. Woltz, still continues his business in this village, at his old stand.

Dr. BELLOWS, delivered his lecture before the Lyceum on last Friday Eve, and was listened to with pleasure by quite respectable audience. His subject was "Wisdom," and it was handled with wit and wisdom too. We understand that arrangements are being made to have Mr. HUSTON, of the Cleveland Mine read his poem before the Society. This poem treats of the tragic fate of Charlotte Corday, and is highly spoken of by those who have heard it.

The Marquette Plaindealer, is to be reinstated at Negaunee.

The Mite Society, of Thursday last was held at the Mr. SELDON'S, and was a very pleasant affair. The next will be at H. B. SMITH'S, on Thursday evening, the 31st inst.

More trouble has been experienced on the Line, during the present week, on account of the snow. Trains have been delayed both north and south.

We will have the pleasure next week of laying before our readers an original story from the pen of a new contributor.

Among the improvements to be made when the building season commences, is the erection of a good-sized building for a bakery, by Mr. CHRYSLER.

The Wisconsin Division has been stocked with snow for several days.

Mrs. O'Brien's Henny, was entered on Saturday night last, and nine of the occupants removed therefrom. Search was made but no traces were discovered.

A couple of Frenchmen, incited by "foul oil," had a fight in the streets a few days ago. A night in the lock-up, and a smart fine, will bring such fellows to their senses.

We recommend all who are in need of a neat, clean shave, to call on Mr. GLAZIER. He shaves everything but County Orders.

The past few days have been as pleasant as any one could wish, and we verily believe that summer is coming.

The lumbermen in this vicinity are making desperate efforts to get their quota of logs out before the driving season commences. The deep snows have impeded their labors to a considerable extent, but the amount of log cut, will probably be about as estimated by us, some weeks ago. Mr. LANOLEY, has a gang of men engaged in blasting rock from the bed of the Escanaba River.

Mr. CLEMENTS, while standing on the side walk one day this week, saw a large bird come flying wearily along and alight on the snow in the street. He approached it, and seeing that it did not appear frightened, picked it up. It proved to be one of a species of duck known as "butter balls." Any person doubting this statement can call on Mr. C., and see the little messenger of spring for himself.

ON THE JURY.—Don't get in a passion Mr. TRENNE, about serving on a jury. Relief is coming for you from the west. Chief Justice Howe, of Wyoming Territory, has decided that women can perform this duty, and you may hope that some one of the Chief Justices of Michigan may soon come to the same conclusion, and then you will be relieved from such "nine hours hard work."

O glorious day for you! Just think of it! When you go home from your days work to find that your "other half has gone to serve on a jury; and you must get your own supper. You and the little TRENNE can retire at ten o'clock, and as the clock strikes midnight, think the little lawyer is pleading with that jury, (the one "without hair on the top of his head") is bashful and would not dare say anything to such a jury, besides they wouldn't mind if he did,) and then, as the clock strikes one, you can think the "curly-headed chap has got the jury in a Baber shop, and intends to keep them there until they agree upon some kind of verdict. Then they will give the little lawyer, whose hair stands up on the top of his head, a good little verdict; and then, of course, he will have to escort the Jury home. All you will have to do is, about 2 o'clock in the morning, to let your share of the jury into the house, and you will be relieved from jury duty. A good time is coming; let it hasten along, so that the TRENNE may be relieved.

FIRE BRICK.—Mr. MATTHEWS, the proprietor of the Negaunee Fire Brick Manufacturing, was in town during the week making arrangements for a probable removal of that institution to this place. They find it necessary to use wood in their business, and the cost of transportation on that article, makes a change advisable.

Marinette, March 10th, 1870.

EDITOR TRIBUNE:—The article in your issue of the 5th inst., from "Ladies of Menominee," was read with great interest by us of the "sterner sex." We detect the feminine flavor throughout and only miss the P. S., at the close.—We are all in readiness to be called upon at any moment to go, and we fold our arms, tip back in our chairs, while the following beautiful lines of the poet, dawns before our vision.

Come calm content, serene and sweet,
Oh! gently guide our manly feet,
Where they may find a safe retreat,
On those warm bricks!

The poet in this case failed to make mention of umbrellas and water proofs, but we suppose such things were not fashionable at the time he wrote.—We agree with the ladies on the sugar question, as we have been to Cedar River with them since their article was written.

MANY GENTLEMEN OF MARINETTE.

He has a good supply of Book, Uddon, Sugar, Syrup, and all kind of Fried and Canned Fruits, together with any amount of other Groceries which he will be pleased to sell you.

The said Farm, has raised annually from 2,000 to 4,000 bush of potatoes, together with a large amount of Oats, Hay, and other grain and vegetables. For further particulars, enquire at the Tribune Office or of the owner on the Premises.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

"An eminently the best established work of the kind in the world."

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.—The most popular monthly in the world.—New York Tribune: "We cannot read them of any other high-toned and varied excellence of HARPER'S MAGAZINE—its journal with a monthly circulation of about 120,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of the work as an evidence of the culture of the American people; and the popularity it has acquired is ascribed to the fact that it is a quarterly, devoted to the interests of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—Tribune's Guide to American Literature, London.

It is one of the wonders of journalism—the editorial management of HARPER'S MAGAZINE is all the more remarkable, as the Harper's journals are almost ideally well edited.—The Nation, N. Y. We can account for its success only by the simple fact that it meets precisely the popular taste, furnishing a variety of pleasing and instructive reading for all.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

Subscriptions—1870. TERMS: HARPER'S MAGAZINE, ONE YEAR, $4.00. An Extra Copy of either the MAGAZINE, WEEKLY, or BAZAR will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five Subscribers at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, six copies for $20.00, without extra copy.

The postage on Harper's Magazine is 24 cents a year, which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office. Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

"A Complete Pictorial History of the Times."

"The best, cheapest, and most successful Family paper in the Union."

Harper's Weekly. SPLENDIDLY ILLUSTRATED.

In November will be commenced "Man and Wife," a new serial story, splendidly illustrated, by WILKIE COLLINS (Author of "The Woman in White," "No Name," "Armadale" and the "Moonstone"). New subscribers will be supplied with HARPER'S WEEKLY from the commencement of the story to the end of 1870 for four dollars.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.—The Model Newspaper of our country. Complete in all the departments of an American Family Paper. Harper's Weekly has earned for itself a right to the title "A Journal of Civilization."—New York Evening Post.

Harper's Weekly will be unreservedly declared the best newspaper in America.—N. Y. Independent.

The articles upon public questions which appear in Harper's Weekly from week to week form a remarkable series of brief political essays. They are distinguished by clear and pointed statements, by good common-sense, by independence and breadth of view. They are the expression of mature conviction, high principle, and strong feeling, and take their place among the best newspaper writing of the time.—North America Review, Boston, Massachusetts.

Subscriptions—1870. TERMS: HARPER'S WEEKLY, ONE YEAR, $4.00. An Extra Copy of either the Magazine, Weekly, or Bazar will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five Subscribers at $4.00 each, in one remittance; or, six copies for $20.00, without extra copy.

Subscriptions to Harper's Magazine, Weekly, and Bazar, to one address for one year, $10.00; or, two of Harper's Periodicals, to one address for one year, $10.00. Back numbers can be supplied at any time.

The Annual Volume of Harper's Weekly, in neat cloth binding, will be sent by express, freight at expense of purchaser, for $25.00 per volume. Single volumes, by mail, postage $2.00. Cloth cases, for binding, $2.00 each, by mail, postage.

The postage on Harper's Weekly is 24 cents a year, which must be paid at the subscriber's post-office. Address HARPER & BROTHERS, New York.

"A Repository of Fashion, Pleasure, and Instruction."

Harper's Bazar. A supplement containing numerous full-sized pictures of useful articles accompanies the paper every fortnight, and occasionally an elegant Colored Fashion Plate.

Harper's Bazar contains 16 folio pages of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superlative colored paper, and is published weekly.

CRITICAL NOTICES OF THE PRESS.—Harper's Bazar contains, besides pictures, patterns, etc., a variety of matter of special interest and use to the family: articles on health, dress, and house-keeping in all its branches; its editorial matter is especially adapted to the circle it is intended to interest and instruct; all its contents, good stories and literary matter of merit. It is not surprising that the journal, with these advantages, achieved in a short time an unusual success; for wherever it is distributed it has thousands of subscribers, and its circulation has increased.

The young lady who buys a single number of Harper's Bazar is made a subscriber for life.—New York Evening Post.

The Bazar is excellent. Like all the periodicals which the Harpers publish it is almost ideally well edited, and the class of readers for whom it is intended—the mother and daughter in average families—cannot but profit by its good sense and good taste, which we have no doubt any day making very many homes happier than they were before the women began taking lessons in personal and household and social management from this good-natured mentor.—The Nation.

It has the merit of being sensible, of conveying instruction, of giving excellent patterns in every department, and of being well stocked with good reading matter.—Watchman and Reflector.
