DELTA COUNTY AHEAD.

We have always insisted and have maintained that our county was the best agricultural county in the Upper Peninsula, and we have gathered a few statistics to substantiate the statement. Our farming operations are quite limited and consequently we cannot present as large an array of facts as we could wish, but the old saying is "straws show which way the wind blows," our readers will acknowledge that the figures presented are hard to beat.

Last year John Barrow raised three bushels of wheat, from one quart of seed. From one bushel of peas, he raised twenty bushels. From four and one-half bushels of oats, he raised one hundred and ten bushels. On one acre and a quarter of ground he raised three hundred bushels of potatoes.

In 1874, Owen Jones raised one hundred bushels of wheat, on three and one-half acres of land. In 1875 he raised forty bushels of wheat from one acre. From three-quarters of an acre, received from the Journal of Agriculture, he raised one hundred and one-half bushels of wheat, on three and one-half acres, and harvested from it three hundred and fifty bushels. Amos Trudo raised sixty-five bushels of barley, from two and one-half acres of land.

We would like to see any land in the State that could beat these few figures. If they can, we will make a further and increased effort to sustain our reputation.

For the growth of grasses, cereals and vegetables this county is particularly adapted. We can raise almost everything successfully, but corn. This can be raised if the season is favorable, but it cannot be depended on for a sure crop. In addition to a large yield, farmers are almost certain of a good home market and ready sale for everything they raise. This is emphatically the country for a poor man, who has good health, plenty of bone and sinew and who is not afraid of work. To such an one we would say come to Delta Co. Here you can have a healthy climate, good water, and cheap lands. There is plenty of government domain left, and if you do not find any of that to suit you, the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company will sell you land at almost your own price, and on very liberal terms.

Freeholder Church Festival.
 Time—Fourth of July, afternoon and evening. Entertainments—boat races, croquet, etc. Tables plentifully supplied with Strawberries, Ice Cream, Cake, and articles for sale. Place—Tilden House grounds. Continued in our next.

Cut worms are going through the gardens in town with a vengeance. Sixty-two were captured around one stalk of homestead. They probably intended to finish their dinner with a quarter of beef.

Mead's Night Lamp for 35 cents, is the biggest thing out. It will burn all night and consume only one cent's worth of kerosene oil in 24 hours. Just the thing for economical fathers to provide their prospective son-in-laws, to do their courting with.

The great and good Moralist of the Marquette Mining Journal, heard one of our exclamation points dropping around in the office, on the occasion of the non-arrival of his paper last week and he immediately caused cards to be struck off, on which were printed the ten commandments and had them posted where the wicked office hands could read them; which was all eminently right and proper.

Last Wednesday during the heavy gale blowing from the north, Escanaba was enclosed in a circle of fire, and it seemed at one time, as though our beautiful city, would meet with the fate of the ill-fated Peshtigo. Happily the terrible demon of flame which covered us with smoke like a funeral pall, passed about half a mile to the westward, leaving us unscathed and thankful.

A Card of Thanks.
 H. VanAllen, of Fayette, being about to leave this northern country for a few days, resigned his office as Secretary of Fayette Mutual Benefit Society, of which he is the founder. He has also made the Society a success by the energetic manner in which he conducted himself during his term of office. The Society now numbers seventy. The members of the Society pay him many thanks for his services. Van is a "jolly good fellow," and well liked in every respect. May he live long and prosper.

False Impression.
 It is generally supposed by a certain class of citizens, who are not practical or experienced, that Dyspepsia can not invariably be cured, but we are pleased to say that Green's August Flower has never, to our knowledge, failed to cure Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint in all its forms such as Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Sick Headache, palpitation of the Heart, low spirits, etc. Out of 30,000 dozen bottles sold last year, not a single failure was reported, but thousands of complimentary letters received from Druggists, of wonderful cures. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sample Bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. For sale by COVILL & ROYCE.

Dissolution Notice.
 Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Israel Epstein and John Conolly under the name of I. Epstein & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All debts due the firm are to be paid to Israel Epstein, and said Epstein shall pay all debts of said firm.

A Georgia negro twisted a mule's tail to urge it over a fence. The small attendance at the funeral next day showed that the people didn't care if he did twist the mule's tail.

There would have been a larger attendance if I. Epstein had been keeping his store in that neighborhood, for every family would have purchased their shoes, as also Prints and Domestic, in order to have looked respectable at the funeral. Just drop into his place of business, and you will find this fact to be verified.

False Cassandras.
 The pretenses came down like votes on the gold. Their jewelry composed of Millonias gold. With white bogus bodice and paste diamonds.

And faithful the make of their next-door deal.

That is how the Rothschild Bros. came here and seized the goods of Mr. George Ramspeck, for debt. The case came to trial, and on last Tuesday was decided in favor of the defendant, he showing receipts for every article that he had purchased from the plaintiff. The goods were seized under attachment; George has received them back, and will hereafter continue his business as usual. His wholesale business is conducted in the basement. We hope that Mr. Ramspeck will try to recover damages from the firm, as in the face of the facts, it seems to be a case of pure unadulterated cussedness.

The Green House.
 On Saturday afternoon we adjourned to the Green House owned by Mr. Pool, in order to regale ourselves with examining the various kinds of rare and curious plants he has on hand.

Among the most prominent was a Century Plant, 97 years old. This unique specimen of vegetation blossoms only once in a hundred years, and then dies.

A night blooming Cereus has some six or eight buds up, and when they blossom will be a curiosity to those who have never seen it, as it opens out to perfection at 12 o'clock, midnight, and when they appear, it is withered and dead.

Myriads of roses, geraniums, plinks, and countless other flowers are constantly in bloom, shedding their sweet fragrance around the room, while their variegated foliage adds to the beauty of the house.

Mr. Pool is engaged in propagating some hybrid plinks, and with that love for the beautiful, which makes him so enthusiastic in his profession, names them after the most beautiful young ladies of this village.

We have not the room to particularize all the various plants he has as we saw some that were entirely new to us, and the names of which we have forgotten (if we ever knew).

One flower is immortalized by naming it after us, and we feel proud of the honor he has conferred upon our humble selves. We cannot exactly remember the English of it, but the botanical name is "Atkinsoniana-Toriumium-Umfravilliana," which is eminently proper.

A rare and valuable plant, rare for the reason that there is only one in the country, and that is at Mr. Pool's garden, bearing the botanical name of Georgiopsis Prestonium Rootibus. Mr. Pool is going to try to raise some slips from it, and we are promised one of them.

Fish Stock Items.
 Considerable excitement was created here last Saturday afternoon by the report that Mr. Reno's little girl was lost. Search had been made among the neighbors but no one had seen her. Mr. Reno returned to his residence and made a thorough search, and found the little girl in an out of the way corner wrapped up in a quilt sound asleep. It appears that she had been playing hide-and-seek with some other children, and being tired fell asleep.

We had quite a shower last Saturday morning which had the effect to stop the forest fires that had been raging in the woods hereabouts for ten days past. We have very warm and pleasant weather for this season of the year. But rain is needed very much. John Barrow, Sr. has a fine field of wheat, of which he may be justly proud.

Some of our farmers who have owned wheat quite extensively, are making numerous inquiries as to the whereabouts of that gentleman, who was going to build a mill. The farmers of Delta Co. question. If we get a mill, we must do something to create a necessity for a mill. We must talk the matter over, being careful not to spend too much time in mere talk. Go to work, clear land, sow wheat, clear land all summer if we can, and sow fall wheat. Fall wheat does well here, and as soon as we can demonstrate satisfactorily the necessity of a mill, some man with money in his pocket and an eye to business, will supply the want, as soon as created.

There is a general impression among the farmers here that the prices next fall, for farm produce, will be sufficient to buy a small margin for profit, and as a result are doing their best to produce large crops. Success to them.

A well known and able writer says: "You might nearly as well forget your churches, your academies and your school houses, as to forget your local paper." It speaks to the times the audience that your local minister does. If you don't copy each day and each week by the end, it reaches you all, and if it has a lower spirit and less wisdom than a sermon, it has a thousand times better chance at you. Lying is as bad as every table in almost every house, you owe it to yourselves to rally liberally to its support, and exact from it as able, dignified a character as you do from Delays are Dangerous.

 If this axiom is true respecting the ordinary affairs of life still more obviously so regards the exigencies of approaching disease. Unquestionably! Yet how many neglect to practically recognize this plain truth when health is in the balance. Of the many premonitory symptoms of disease a head-ache is the most prophetic of peril. Arrest it at the onset with Dr. WILSON'S PINK TABLETS, and you avoid Consumption, Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Coughs, Colds, and, indeed, all affections of the Respiratory Organs are entirely cured by this sovereign remedy, which also eradicates Dyspepsia, Gravel, Piles, Nervous Debility, Torpidity of the Liver, Urinary Difficulties, Constipation, Palpitation of the Heart, Sciatica, Rheumatism, and the infirmities peculiar to the gentler sex. This Cordial derives its virtues from the vegetable kingdom, and is infinitely to be preferred, both on account of its superior efficacy and freedom from noxious and injurious properties to the official drugs so often administered with no other effect than to offend the palate and disorganize the stomach. Late Prof. T. C. BRIDGES can always be relied on to do what is claimed for it. Sold by all Druggists. Principal depot No. 916 Filbert St. Philadelphia Pa.

FITZ GREENE HALLECK.

At the dedication of the Halleck statue in New York, May 15, Mr. Whitford contributed the following poem:

Curious Scottish Custom.

In a large fishing community in the northeast of Scotland a marriage custom prevails as follows: Bride and bridegroom are met at the church by a large procession of friends and neighbors, march out of the village to a farmhouse at some distance, where they are married. Thereafter, bride and bridegroom separate, and followed by their friends, proceed to their respective homes. From the moment of their marriage they are strictly kept apart, the bride entertaining her friends and the bridegroom his. At a certain hour a party of young men from the bridegroom's house proceed to the bride's house and bring her home to her husband. They come by way of the farm of the bridegroom, and carry off the bride by her relations by superior force.

THE STATUE OF THE POET HALLECK.

The New York Tribune says the first proposal for a statue of Fitz Greene Halleck makes upon the spectators is not agreeable. The sculptor, although we believe he has done some commendable work, is not very well known; the subject, like almost every other belonging to modern monumental art, is in a sense a failure. The statue is to be a full-length figure, standing on a high pedestal, and holding a sword in his right hand. The figure is to be of heroic size, which is always an advantage for a statue of a man of letters. The statue is to be placed in a park, and will be a fine landmark in the city.

Provided, that if for any cause any person liable to so work on the streets, shall be omitted from such list, it shall be proper and lawful for the said commissioner to add his name thereto at any time.

SECTION 17. Every person liable to work on the streets may commute for the same, by paying to the street commissioner one dollar, and all such commutation money shall be paid into the treasury and shall belong to the general highway fund.
