

FARM AND FRESIDE.

Crops of thirty-five to forty bushels of wheat per acre are common in Western New York this year.

Lemons may be kept fresh for a long time by putting them in cold water and placing them in a cool place.

An Iowa man writes to the New York Tribune that he has found the best cayenne pepper, put on with an ordinary pepper-box, a sovereign remedy for cabbage-worms, after years of trial.

The Rural New Yorker says: The best advice we can give in fitting fields for wheat is to prepare the land thoroughly, and after it has been harrowed for the last time—harrow it again.

The London Gardener's Chronicle recommends raising a high, dry mound in every poultry-yard, no matter whether the yard be square in extent or only a few yards square.

When potatoes are ripe and the tops become dry they should be at once dug and put into a cool cellar. It is best to put them in small bins. Great care should be used in digging not to cut or bruise the tubers, which hastens decay.

The Scientific American gives the following recipe for the benefit of those who prefer to make their own baking powder: Pure cream of tartar, two pounds; bicarbonate of soda, one pound; corn starch, one ounce.

The way, says a very positive friend of mine, "and the only way to make a peach pie, is to put whole peaches in the crust." Remove the skin, of course, and scatter sugar over the peaches just as if you were making the pie in the usual way.

Fig candy is not at all difficult to make. Take one cup of sugar, one-third of a cup of water and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar; let the sugar and water boil until it is a pale brown color; shake the basin in which it is boiling gently, to prevent its burning.

Failures in the management of poultry arise chiefly from one of two causes—too much care or too little care.

It is not generally known, says the Philadelphia Press, that Mr. Joseph Saller, who has recently retired from the financial editorship of the Philadelphia Ledger, was not only the oldest editor in that position in this country, but the first to write a regular money article for any daily paper.

There are thousands of people in America to-day who believe they are the victims of consumption and destined to an early grave and who are trying to save themselves by the use of consumption cures but are growing sicker each hour.

Another velvet season is one of the certainties announced thus early by the merchants. The best service given by the close, short pile velvets, such as the Nonpareil Velvet, which is not easily marred or crushed.

One of Chicago's Best Institutions.

The trust index of a city's progress is to be found, not in the amount of its banking capital, but in the institutions for the general good which it has raised.

Chicago is not, as many are inclined to assert, entirely given to striving after the "almighty dollar." Her benevolent institutions, already numerous, are generously supported, and her schools, well-filled, are doing excellent work.

The shop-boy, the clerk, the mechanic, the needle-woman—youth or adult—those who have scarcely mastered the multiplication-table; or the would-be engineer who is ready to take up geometry or trigonometry; the young man of business who desires to learn book-keeping, or short-hand; or the lady or gentleman who wishes to study French or German, and the foreman of a machine shop, who desires a complete knowledge of mechanical drawing—all these and others can go to the Athenaeum and find their wants well met, and this, too, for a very moderate tuition.

Above the class-rooms of the Athenaeum, seven in number, besides the library and reading-room, is the largest and best furnished gymnasium in the entire West, ninety by seventy feet, and two stories in height.

In a little red cottage on the shore of a lake called the Bowl, near Lenox, Mass., Hawthorne wrote "The House of the Seven Gables." Mr. J. T. Fields used to tell of carrying out to him there one hundred dollars in advance of work, but after accepting Hawthorne's sensitiveness found the obligation irksome, and he handed it back.

A FATAL MISTAKE.

How a Blundering Judgment May Be Responsible for the Most Serious Results.

Mr. Edwin Booth said recently that he supposed his lungs were affected, having a persistent cough, until he saw Dr. McKeckie, of London, who found that the symptoms arose from a disturbance of the liver.

The above item, which has been going the rounds of the press, is of no special significance other than to the personal friends of Mr. Booth, except that it brings to light a truth of the greatest importance to the world. Few people pass through life without the affliction of a cough at some point in their career.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of diseases that most all other remedies could be dispensed with, many were skeptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and today the discoverer of that great medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.—Democrat.

It is a mistake to suppose that such delicate tissues as the lungs can remain in a healthy condition when they are being constantly agitated by coughing. Such a theory would be absurd. Consumption, which was feared at first, is certain to take place unless something is done to check the inflammation.

We are persuaded that the apient Hermes with all the subtle art and natural resources of the Alchemists was a very poor doctor compared with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass. Her medicine has been after all only a clever practitioner of the Black Art; but we know there is no humbug in the pharmaceutical chemistry of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

GENTLEMEN on the car takes an excellent cigar from his pocket and just as he is about to light it recollects that his fellow-traveler may object to tobacco-smoke. Accordingly, he turns to his vis-a-vis and says politely: "If you please, sir, but perhaps—" "Oh, thank you with pleasure!" And the other traveler takes the cigar and smokes it. (P. R.—Of course it was the polite man's last weed.)

Honored and Blest. THE IRON PORT.
ESCANABA, MICHIGAN, OCT. 7, 1882.

Personals.

—S. R. Andrus went north, on Monday.
—Mrs. Asch returned from Chicago this week.
—Pool returned from a trip northward on Monday.
—Harlow Brainard returned from the south on Tuesday.
—Geo. English went to Chicago on Sunday last, to buy horses.
—Tim Conolly is up on the Felch district. Business, of course.
—Frank Snyder and family have moved to Green Bay to live.
—Sam Rathfon and Frank Draper went hunting on Thursday.
—Wallace has been in Chicago all the week, buying hardware.
—Miss Laura Oliver, of Marinette, Wis., is visiting relatives in this city.
—L. E. Gates and wife, of Florence, were in the city on Wednesday.
—Matt Serwe returned on Sunday and that Fond du Lac girl is verloren.
—John D. Ross visited this region last week and was in town on Saturday.
—Mrs. B. F. Ryder, of Hudson, N. Y., sister of Mrs. Geo. English, is visiting that lady.
—Mr. Mann, of Mann Brothers, Milwaukee and Two Rivers, was in town on Monday.
—Mr. A. C. Brown, of the Menominee mining company, was in town on Sunday last.
—Mrs. G. M. West departed on Wednesday for a somewhat extended visit in Wisconsin.
—John McNaughtan and family left, on Wednesday, for a two-weeks' visit in Wisconsin.
—Stone, the laundryman, has returned, and looks as smiling and as happy as a young school-girl.
—Mr. Torrence, for Corning & Co., talked business to most of our liquor-dealers on Friday and Saturday of last week.
—"Danny" McGillis is selling hardware in Wallace's store. The girls will compel Wallace to keep hair-pins, now.
—Lange, of the Fond du Lac Commonwealth, visited Escanaba on Monday and Tuesday of this week, and favored us with a call.
—Miss Emma Challis, who has visited her sisters Madames Parkhurst and Rogers, during the summer, returned to Racine on Wednesday.
—J. K. Stack did not yield us much information on his return from the range. Said he was not after news but attending strictly to business.
—Major Clarke, of the Pioneer, was in town on Monday last, en route to Mackinac to cast the vote of Schoolcraft for the man of his choice, Mr. Colwell.
—Mrs. John Hart left on the Oconto, on Monday, for Missouri, where she will spend the winter for the benefit of her health. John meanwhile, is left under our watchful care.

—The cave-in at the Chapin made a hole "very nearly circular, about seventy-five feet across and fifty feet deep," but will not interfere with the working of the mine or materially reduce its output for the season. If it is called for the Menominee range mines can next year double the output of this. A new find at the East Vulcan—large one.—Iron Chronicle.

—The parties holding the lease of the "Cornell" mine property have determined to surrender the lease and deliver the property on the first of November. We get the information from one who had it from the parties themselves (as we understand them) and who added that other parties were ready and even anxious to take the property and thoroughly develop it a thing never yet done. It is scarcely probable that the worked-out lens is the whole of the "Cornell" and these new parties will try to find the rest of it.

—The "Stack" property near Florence is a mine; enough has been done to settle that point. How the ore is to get to market is now the question; whether to await the completion of the W. & M. road and then ship, the Lord knows where, or build a three-mile branch to connect with the Northwestern and reach market here, must be decided soon. The PORT, having some knowledge of the parties in interest and a fair opinion of their business capacity, is inclined to the belief that a connection will be decided upon.

—Capt. Paul Ducharme informs us that the South Chicago mining company's operations on section 26, 43-34 are looking well. He sank one shaft fifty feet in banded ore and then drifted thirty-six feet in a northern direction, going the last twenty-six feet in clear ore. The ore varies somewhat in appearance and quality in different portions of the property. One pit which was sunk twelve feet deep developed a vein of hard hematite eight feet wide. In another place a vein of brown ore has been uncovered thirty-five feet wide. This deposit has been stripped for 250 feet in length.—Florence News.

—Oysters in every style except a bad one by Jo. Embs. 42f

—The happiest women on the continent use "Old Country Soap." A. & McN. 46

—Goods designed especially for winter wear, for men, women and children, at Erickson's.

—Ed. Donovan, in Fogarty's old stand, keeps everything in the line of flour and feed, hay and grain.

—Mead also keeps revolvers and pocket cutlery, of the best makes, and sells as cheap as the cheapest.

—Leave orders for fish at the market and Capt. George will deliver them on time; you can rely on that.

—Easels, Panel Pictures, Engravings and photo frames, a large assortment and real cheap, at Mead's.

—All the late goods at Erickson's. Feast your eyes once on a stock that is a stock and that will compare with any.

—First quality goods and a living profit—no goods sold for cost—is my motto. ED. ERICKSON.

—Of course it's so, for the boys say it: "Mead keeps the best 5 and 10 cent cigars in town." Buyum, smokum and be convinced.

—A new corset, Madame Duval's, and the first of the kind ever brought to the place, is kept by Mrs. Asch only. Ladies, call and see it.

—The largest stock and the finest goods in town can be found at the old established house of Bittner, Wickert & Co., flour and feed dealers.

—Bittner, Wickert & Co. will sell you flour, feed, hay, grain, or anything in their line in any quantity, from a pound to a car-load, at the lowest market rates.

—Hard coal, stove or nut, now on railroad dock, for sale at $7.50 per ton, delivered. R. MASON. Office with F. D. Mead, Atty.

—A. G. Purdy, the grocer, has in stock a large quantity of Wisconsin apples to be sold by the barrel, and fresh arrivals coming every day. Parties wishing to lay in a winter supply of this fruit had better call now as the demand is large. All goods delivered.

—Cardozo is getting in his work. The goods are coming and so are the purchasers. By dropping some lines of goods heretofore kept and concentrating his energies upon dry and dress goods only, he places the Boss store at the head of the dry-goods trade and the discriminating public finds it out at once.

—At the Eureka the work of exploration is vigorously pushed. Capt. Rutter, in charge, has no doubt that a mine will be developed.
—The Iron Chronicle for Sept. 23 reached us on the 29th only, but it was spick and span new when it did come—enough better in appearance to pay for the waiting.
—Capt Taylor has taken the Wendel house at Norway. John Nelson, a young Swede, paid $30 for demolishing a livery rig. The Menominee and Norway ball club played at Norway on Monday last with the following result: Norway, 9, Menominee, 19.
—A friend who visited the Felch district early this week, and one well qualified to judge, says that the Calumet is "worth as much as the Ludington," and when we glanced at him to see if he meant it, continued "Oh, I know that sounds large, but you should see the mine."
—The new mine belonging to the Stack mining company, on section 27, 49-17, is, as depth progresses, turning more into a hematite character and the vein gradually increases diametrically. As the gangue walls have not been found it can only be a matter of supposition in regard to its extent. The management feel better satisfied than before with the quality of the ore taken out and as soon as the railroad is extended to the property will work the mine vigorously with a largely increased force.—Florence News.
