

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

—The eldest daughter of the late Charles Dickens has written a biography of her father.

—Carlotta Patti is teaching singing in Paris. Her once beautiful voice is said to be entirely worn out.

—Alphonse Daudet says he takes a year for each novel. Each book is written out three times. There is only one man in the world who can read Daudet's manuscript, and that is his private secretary.

—Nat Goodwin, the actor, once received a West Point cadetship from John Morrissey and remained at the institution about five weeks. Four weeks of that time, he says, he spent in the guard-house. Then he left.

—The daughter of King Kalakaua, of the Sandwich Islands, the heiress to the throne of Hawaii, is called by the charming name "Victoria-Kawekini-Kainiani-Lynaillo-Kalaninuihahupala-pa," which being interpreted signifies "The Heaven-sent Babe."

—"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has been translated into the Armenian, Bohemian, Danish, Dutch, Finnish, Flemish, French, German, Hungarian, Italian, Illyrian, Polish, Portuguese, Rumanian, Russian, Servian, Spanish, Swedish, Wallachian and Welsh languages.—Chicago Tribune.

—People read so much in these days of multiplied presses that they are in great danger of losing the literary instinct entirely; the sense of style becomes dulled to a degree which makes it incapable of discerning what is literature and what is mere reading matter, good for the moment perhaps, but good for the moment only.—Christian Union.

—Mr. William Patton, of Ohio, has visited Washington once every year since 1829, and always sought the shelter of a hotel on the site of Willard's. In commenting upon this fact last evening he displayed the board bill presented at the close of his first visit. It was written on a sheet of letter paper and states his indebtedness of $9.50 to the "Mansion Hotel" for five days' board and lodgings, ending March 6, 1829. The extras charged are candles and cigars.—Washington Critic.

—The first money Henry W. Shaw ("Josh Billings") ever earned by literary work was $1.50, which was paid him by a Boston newspaper for his "Essays on the Mueel." After his genius was recognized and his quaint style became celebrated he received from a New York weekly journal $100 a week for a half column of matter and was offered $5,000 a night to lecture in Great Britain and Ireland. Few lives illustrated more fully than his the ease with which a success once won may be indefinitely prolonged.—Boston Journal.

—One evening recently a lady noticed the plain gold ring which ex-President Hayes always wears, and he said, good-naturedly, observing the direction of her glance, though she had not spoken: "Yes, that ring has a history. Mrs. Hayes secured me that. We were bridesmaid and groomsmen together at a wedding, and when the cake was cut that ring was in my slice, and when I found it, of course I gave it to my bridesmaid, Miss Lucy Webb. When, after a time, she promised to marry me, she gave me back the ring, and I have always worn it since."—Cleveland Leader.

HUMOROUS.

—The only real traveling incog is when one goes up in an elevator.—Louell Courier.

—"Take one bashel of green tomatoes," begins a recipe. I ought to continue: "And throw them in the canal."—Danville Breeze.

—"I'll join you presently," as the minister remarked to the young couple just as he started for the key to the church door.—Boston Telegram.

—A famous tenor has injured his voice by having a toothpick lodge in his throat. He probably swallowed the toothpick to give his voice more timbre.

—Spoodle was saying that when he was abroad he was presented at court. "The deuce you were!" exclaimed Fogg. "How did it happen? How much did they fine you?"—Boston Transcript.

—A medical writer says nature never intended women to wear rings in their ears. If this man thinks the fair sex will drop rings and wear codfish balls he is very much mistaken.—Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald.

—"This French cooking is a great art, isn't it?" "How so?" "Why they disguise the dishes so nobody can tell what the ingredients are." "Oh, yes, we have that at our boarding-house—we call it hash."—The Rambler.

—"Dearest Amelia!" "Amelia—" "What is the matter?" "You have your arm around my waist?" "I am aware of it, my dear." "I am surprised, and I ought to call papa, I know. Now, sir, I will give you just thirty minutes to remove your arm."—Philadelphia Call.

—"Ethel—" "Papa, I am getting up a subscription to buy a lovely doll I saw in a window yesterday." "Papa—" "Well, my child, is your subscription nearly made up?" "Ethel—" "Oh, yes, papa! Almost. All I need from you is a bare ninety-eight cents."—Tid-Bits.

—"We have just learned that the Post-office Department at Washington has over $2,000,000 taken from registered letters, and we desire to apologize to our delinquent subscribers for any uncomplimentary remarks we may have made concerning them. We thought it was a little strange that the money hadn't been received, that was all."—Merchant Traveler.

—"Partial Loss: All the children had eaten their supper, a good plain meal of bread and milk. All except Johnny, who was shut up in the closet. He had been a very bad boy. So after the rest were in bed his mother tacked him in. She was too full to say a word, and so was her naughty little son. When she went and the other boys said: 'Johnny lost his supper to-night,' he could restrain himself no longer and exclaimed: 'Yes, but the slide in the pantry was open and I ate a whole cranberry pie.' And the other boys can not understand the prosperity of the wicked."—Boston Post.

SERVIA.

Fact and Present History and Condition of the Kingdom.

The Slavonic race which now plays so important a role in the drama of the nineteenth century first appeared on the stage of Europe in the sixth century, when they made their first incursion into the Roman Empire, and after besieging Byzantium made a league with the Emperors of the East. The new enemy which thus menaced the Empire came from Scythia, and, following the Byzantine policy, the strangers were conciliated rather than fought, and the Kingdom of Servia conceded to them. The Servians were and are a fighting race. They spread themselves over the south and east of Europe, and they number at the present day fully a hundred million souls. Curiously enough, there is but one purely Slavonic reigning family, that of Mecklenburg, for the Romanoffs are German and the family of King Milan may or not be anything, for he is but three generations from a Danubian swineherd. Ancient Servia comprised Slavonia, Croatia, Servia, Bosnia and Dalmatia, Bulgaria and Macedonia. It was erected under Stephen into an Empire, the imperial double eagle was blazoned upon its banners and a strong feudal nobility grew up in the land. At the fatal battle of Kassa-va the Sultan Amurath destroyed the Servian power in 1389, and his successor, Bajazet, overran the country, making it subject to the Porte. In 1804, under the lead of Kara George, or Black George, a bandit and marauder, the Servians made a desperate struggle for liberty, only to be crushed finally in 1813. Milosch Oberonovitch took up the fight and in 1829 he was recognized by the Sultan as Prince of Servia. The present King is a grandson of the brother of Milosch. He was born in Jassy in 1854. He was educated in Paris and called to the throne upon the assassination of his cousin, Prince Michael, in Belgrade, in 1868. Milan married in 1876 the daughter of a Russian Colonel named Keshko. Milan is by no means firmly planted upon the Servian throne. There is a strong pretender in the person of Karageorgevitch, the grandson of Kara George, who has a strong following in the state.

The Servian Legislature consists of two houses, the Senate, for whom members are named by the King, and the Skoupschina, which contains one member for every two thousand voters. Its powers are the same as those of the House of Representatives.

The necessities of the case have forced Servia to pay special attention to its army, and there is probably not a better armed and disciplined force of its size in Europe. The military school at Belgrade has a continental reputation, and the forces of the kingdom are made up of good slavie stock, ably officered.

Servia has few large towns. Belgrade is the largest and the most famous, not by reason of its commerce or beauty, but because of the tremendous fighting of which it has been the scene for four centuries past. The best blood of Europe washed the ramparts of "high Belgrade" during the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. It was for years the high water mark of the Turkish flood. Few cities in the civilized world have undergone so many sieges, or can point to so many heroic defenses. A singular feature of the social state of Servia is seen in the character of their villages, which are always stretched over a large tract, and never nestled close together as in other countries. Villages consisting of forty houses occupy a territory ten miles square. Agriculture is in a very primitive condition, and society is based upon the patriarchal idea. The people build their own houses, make their own furniture and weave their own clothes. The great majority of the population are members of the Greek Church, although they acknowledge leadership neither in the Patriarch of Constantinople nor in the Russian Church. They follow the ancient rites, and the ceremonies resemble closely those of the Jewish Church. In the cathedral at Belgrade this similarity is noticed more closely than elsewhere. Hebrew music is used, and a scarlet veil covers the holy of holies, while the priests affect the costumes and beards of the Oriental Church.—St. Louis Republican.

FRENCH-CANADIANS.

The Deeply Credulous Creatures to Be Found Among the Lower Classes.

There is no more deeply credulous being than the French-Canadian of the lower classes. Whatever mental life he has is still the life of a little child standing in the morning of the world. The age of faith has not ceased with him. That there should be places made holy by beatific visions, that relics should work miracles, that all sorts of local saints should have power to bless and all sorts of local devils power to curse, are to him among the deepest facts of life. Such beliefs are so wrought into his thoughts that he never can get outside their grasp. These come to him naturally from his religion, but he is full of superstitions besides. His churchyard is alive with ghosts. He easily credits any supernatural story. And Pierre was no framer from such ideas than were others. One of his most lasting memories was of a little sister of his who for a long time had always been dressed in blue, in fulfillment of a vow to the Virgin. She had been very ill, and his mother—the dear old maman who was now dead—had vowed to the Holy Mother, if she would but ease the child to recover, to dress her in this her favorite color for three years. There were many other instances of the same kind among the neighbors; indeed, it would not be too much to say that there was hardly one of them but could tell some tale which was not of this world.—B. Macray, in Atlantic.

—Prisoner (desirous of flattering the Court)—I think there is a fine expression in Your Honor's face. Judge (urbanely)—So there is, and the fine is ten dollars and costs.—Boston Courier.

The State.

Sarah Hughes, of Battle Creek, was 93 when she died last week.

The city council of Kalamazoo will not allow the Brush electric light company to erect poles and string wires in the streets.

Mrs. J. D. Stewart, of Grand Rapids, attempted an abortion on herself with a fatal result.

Judge Albion W. Tougee is to lecture at Ann Arbor. His subject is announced thus: "What shall we do with him." If it is the Ann Arbor student he refers to we give it up.

A big bear wandered through the streets of Cadillac Monday evening, going back to the woods unharmed.

Congressman Fisher's new postmasters at Gagetown and Unionville are unacceptable.

County agents of the board of corrections and charities conferred at Big Rapids last week.

The Barum wire-works, Detroit, was burned on the 3d inst. Loss $300,000—insurance $171,000.

Cameron, proprietor of a "sporting-goods" establishment at Manistee, set a trap for a thief, forgot it and walked into it himself. The doctor picked the buckshot out of him and he will live.

Rev. Mr. Wood, of Leroy, Calhoun county, has "put away" his wife on account of a criminal intimacy with a schoolmaster named Stillson.

Wm. Stevens was to have married Bertha Duckwitz, but cut her throat instead. The murder was committed at Detroit Dec. 3. Stevens is missing and opinion is divided between flight and suicide.

McEnally, for killing Langan, got eight years only.

Birdsall & Barker's "Jumbo" saw-mill, the largest one in the Saginaw valley, was burned last week. Loss $150,000—insurance $100,000. The mill will not be rebuilt.

Solomon Conrad, a well-to-do Eaton county farmer, turned his old father away from his door and the neighbors had to care for him. Pass him around—Solomon Conrad, the stingiest man in Michigan.

Hiram Hanneck, mildly insane, hanged himself near Grand Rapids. Had his insanity not been mild he would perhaps have hanged his mother man.

The horticulturists had "a jolly good time" at Benton Harbor, and perhaps advanced the interests of their crops. We'll see if apples are bigger or better flavored next year.

W. M. Daly was appointed steamboat inspector at Detroit on Saturday last.

An incendiary fire did twenty thousand dollars' worth of damage to Fort Gratiot village on Saturday.

Two feet of snow at Port Huron and roads blocked in all directions. Foley who killed his twin babies as soon as they were born, at St. John's, was sentenced to state prison for life.

John Lake, farmer, living near Vermontville, got too full to sit in his wagon when he attempted to go home, fell out and was killed.

The Jackson wagon company is building wagons for the Russian government. The order is a large one.

Mrs. Moran, who lived alone at Manchester, was found dead in her bed last Saturday. She had been dead several days when found.

Hastings is becoming a rival of Kalamazoo in the production of celery.

A Grass Lake liquor dealer who had a great deal of trouble with his temperance neighbors is accused of setting their barns on fire in retaliation.

George Hurst, who rode on a crowded excursion train on the Lake Shore railroad, was thrown from it and crippled, sues for damages, $25,000.

The State Grange of Patrons of Husbandry is in session this week at Grand Rapids.

Four car-loads of patients left the Kalamazoo asylum on Monday for the new one at Traverse City.

Ann Arbor has accepted the new water works of the contractors.

"Little Jake" Sellman, of East Saginaw, finds time, besides selling cheap clothing, to run a big cattle ranch or two and a lumber business. Sellman, Norton & Co. have just bought ninety-five million feet of pine on waters tributary to Cheboygan. Consideration $275,000, cash.

A Port Huron man is training a cow in "circus" tricks.

Farms For Sale.

The following list of lands is now offered for sale to farmers very low for cash or on easy terms and long credit:

Table with columns: DESCRIPTION, SEC., TOWN, RANGE, ACRES. Lists various land parcels with their respective details.

These lands are situated on the state road north of this city and near it, none of them being more than eight miles distant, in a rapidly improving farming district, are well timbered with hard wood and are the most fertile and well-watered lands in the country.

PEARL FISHERIES.

Description of a Peculiar Industry and the Perils That Attend It.

The overfishing of the last fifteen or twenty years is doing for pearls what it did long ago for oysters. Fashion also bears its part in raising prices, and a good set of three black pearl shirt studs can not be got wholesale much under £40.

There are numerous bivalves which give pearls, but indifferent or better; but the true pearl-oyster—if oyster it can be called, for it is exactly like an exaggerated cockle—is the Mytilus Margaritifera, or Pinadmaem, which measures from four to six inches in diameter and an inch and a half in thickness.

The diver of the Persian Gulf or of Ceylon attaches a weight of some twenty pounds to his feet to aid in his descent, and carries seven or eight pounds more of ballast in a belt. He protects both eyes and ears with oiled cotton, bandages his mouth, and goes down forty feet with a rope.

Like his edible relative, the pearl-oyster also has his enemies and parasites. A flat fish called heretica by the natives of this Polynesian archipelago makes great ravages among the young fry; it resembles the eagle ray, which is so destructive in European oyster-beds.

tion the most of them are—are not uncommon just now. They were first invented in 1656 by one Jaquin, a French enameleur on glass.

SHORT-HAIRED GIRLS.

Young Women Who Have Their Tresses Clipped for Fashion's Sake. Poets, artists and such impractical fellows have insisted that a woman's crowning glory is her tresses, particularly red, and the extent to which the switch and false puff trade once obtained gave color to their assumed knowledge; but it was reserved to the Chicago girls to knock skywards the prejudice of ages and with one snip of the shears depilate herself and confound the sticklers for precedent.

"We have all kinds," said Dollard, the hair-dresser. "Some have their bangs cut clear across, some slanting, some have them long and some short, but nearly all have them, all save the 'dudines'—the awfully English girls—who promenade with the silms who wear imported clothes. They are the girls who wear ugly tailor-made tweed suits, with tight fitting sleeves, swing an umbrella, sway the body at the waist, locomote in gentlemen's shoes and drag the hair back from the middle of the forehead and let it go frowny over the temples.

NORWEGIAN FARM HOUSES.

The first impression of an ordinary Norwegian farm-steading is not very favorable. A cluster of houses, small and aged, crowd around a larger dwelling-house, which generally looks somewhat dilapidated. But this appearance is deceptive; for the walls being of wood, they look old in a few years, and become blotched and scarred by the weather.

Sweet Remembrance.

They were enjoying their parting yum-yum at the door. She stood folded in his arms stroking his parted-in-the-middle-English, you-know beard, while he looked into her orbs of blue with a smile on his countenance that would have caused a blush on the cheeks of the Statue of Liberty.
