A PROCLAMATION BY THE PRESIDENT.

A "Modus Vivendi" Reached and the Whole Seal Catching Business to be Sübmitted to Arbitration. Vessels go to Alaska.

Washington, June 14.-The president to-day issued the following proclama-

"Whereas, an agreement force modus vivendi between the government of the United States and the government of Her Brittanic Majesty in relation to the fur seal fisheries in Bering sea was concluded June 15, 1891, word for word as follows:

"Agreement between the government of the United States and the government of Her Brittanic Majesty for a modus vivendi in relation to the seal fisheries in Bering sea. For the purpose of avoiding irritating differences and with a view to promote the friendly settlement of the questions pending between the two governments touching their respective rights in Bering sea, and for the preservation many officialls and officers will emerge of the seal species the following agreement is made without prejudice to the rights or claims of either party.

" '(1.)-Her Majesty's government will prohibit until May next seal killing in that part of Bering sea lying eastward of the line of demarcation described in article No. 13 of the treaty of 1867, between the United States and Russia, and will promptly use its best efforts to insure the observance of this prohibition by British subjects and vessels.

" '(2.)-The government of the United States will prohibit seal killing for the same period in the same part of Bering sea and on the shores and islands thereof, the property of the United States (in excess of 7,500 to be taken on the islands for the subsistence and care of the natives) and will promptly use its best efforts to insure the observance of this prohibition by United States citizens and vessels.

" '(3.)-Every person offending against this prohibition in the said waters of Bering sea outside of the ordinary territorial limits may be seized and detained by the haval or other duly commissioned officers of either of the high contracting parties, but they shall be handed over as soon as practicable to the authorities of the nation to which they respectively belong, who shall alone have jurisdiction to try the offense and impose the penalties for the same. The witnesses and proofs necessary to establish the offense shall be sent with them.

" '(4.)-In order to facilitate such proper inquiries as Her Majesty's government may desire to make, with a view to representation of the case of that government before arbitrators and in expectation that an agreement for arbitration may be arrived at, it is agreed that suitable persons designated by Great Britain will be permitted at any time upon application to visit or to remain upon the seal islands during the present sealing season for that purpose.

" 'Signed and sealed in duplicate at Washington, this fifteenth day of June, 1891, on behalf of their respective governments by William F. Wharton, acting secretary of state of the United States and Sir Julian Pauncefote, G. C. M. G., K. & B., Her Majesty's envoy extraordinary and plenipotentiary.

"Now, therefore, be it known, that I Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States of America, have caused the said agreement to be made public to the end that the same and every part thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States of America and the citizens thereof.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

The arrangements indicated in the above proclamation were carried to completion with a degree of speed without precedent in the history of the state department, and the cable has been relied on to an unwonted extent. The agreement was signed this morning by Sir Julian Pauncefote and Mr. Wharton and as quickly as it could be prepared.

The navy department has also been advised of the progress and necessities of the case and orders are now in preparation for the immediate dispatch of probably two naval vessels from San Francisco to Alaska where they will assist the three revenue cutters in the task of driving out the poaching sealing vessels. It will be noticed that the agreement authorizes the United States vessels to seize offending British vessels which, however, are to be turned over to the British authorities for trial. This feature of the agreement is expected to prove of great value in the pressing emergency that is held to exist in clearing out the law-breakers before irreparable damage has been done to the seal fisheries.

students' corps does not penetrate their real meaning. I hope that as long as there are German corps students the spirit which is fostered in their corps and which is steeled by strength and courage will be preserved, and that you will always take delight in the dueling blade. There are many people who do not understand what our duels really mean, but that must not lead us astray. You and I, who have been corps students, know better than that. As in the middle ages manly strength and courage steeled by the practice of jousting or tournaments, so the spirit and habits which are acquired from membership of a corps furnish us with that degree of fortitude which is necessary to us when we go out into the world, and which will last as long as there are German universities. You have been good enough to refer to my son (the crown prince), and I give you my hearty thanks for so doing. I trust that the young man, when he has advanced enough, will matriculate here and join your clubs, and that he will thenmeet with the same kindly sentiments that are extended to me. And now a word to those young freshmen who are but beginning to lead a corps life! Train your courage, your discipline and your obedience, without which we can not as a state continue to live, and I trust that

The Canal Not to be Closed-The Order Withdrawn.

DETROIT, Mich., June 15 .- Gen. Poe, by order of the secretary of war, to-day instructed Assistant Engineer Wheeler at Sault Ste. Marie that the canal will be closed at 10 o'clock p. m., on Thursday, June 25, and remain closed until Sunday morning, June 28, in order that the lock may be pumped and examined by a representative of the department of justice. Gen. Poe, Engineer Wheeler, and Superintendent Lynch were instructed to be present at the examination. Mr. Wheeler is ordered to have the pumping plant in readiness for use as soonwas the guard gates are closed and to see that every preparation is made to the end that the delay is made as short as possible.

WILL NOT CLOSE. It seems that the acting secretary was asked by the officials of the department of justice to have the lock closed in order that the valves used might be examined. The United States is defendant in a suit pending before the court of claims for alleged infringement on a patent valve. which the patentee asserts, has been introduced in the "Soo" locks without his consent and without compensation. He claims something like $500,000 for the use of his ideas, and the department of justice people labored under the impression that a personal examination of the locks must be had before they could properly defend the suit. $Ss soon as the secretary was advised by the chief of engineers of the probable effect of his desire to oblige the people over in the justice department he acquiesced in a proposition to countermand the order and by 1 o'clock this afternoon Gen. Casey had sent a telegram to Gen. Poe recalling his order of yesterday and instructing him to keep the lock as it is until the first week in December, when the examination can be made if the department of justice can not get all the information needed from war department. A Perfect Horse-

From time immemorial the horse has been known as man's constant companion. From Homer to Byron this noblest of all animals has been immortalized in verse and even in holy writ. He has been described in language of the most sublime inspiration. He occupies a position in both our admiration, necessities, and affections above all other domestic animals. The Ringling Bro's World's Greatest Shows which exhibit at Gladstone on July 6th possesses three-hundred of the finest horses and ponies ever bred. Among them scores of educated performing equines, including "Spider," the great leaping horse, "Captain," the lightning calculator, and "Sultan" the dancing stallion. Be sure and see the fine stock in their free street parade?

The June Crop Report.

The report of the condition of Michigan crops issued from the office of the secre tary of state shows wheat to be about 89 per cent, of a crop, drouth and the fly having injured it; corn backward and injured by the cut worm; Oats about 81 per cent.; grass about 75 per cent.; apples not more than 50 percent, and small fruits not much more. Rainfall, taking the whole state, was 2.05 inches less than the average of 15 years in May. The atmospheric pressure was high, the average being 30.06 inches, and the temperature lower than normal by 1.7 degrees.

Unfounded Rumors Again. The rumor that connected the name of

M. J. Sullivan with the principalship of the public school having been disposed of (by his authority) in the Mirror, another took its place, that P. H. Tormey was an applicant for the place. As to that, Mr. Tormey said to an Iron Port represent ative "There's nothing in it. I could not get a certificate;" so that guess is disposed of as well.

Escanaba, Mich., June 17, 1891. The editor of Iron Port, though in th afternoon of life, was born two years after the event referred to in the foregoing, in Erie county, and accustomed to hear frequent reference thereto in the phrases "since the Thayers were hung" and "before the Thayers were hung," lies west of the Metropolitan branch just as now the war of the rebellion is referred to as a chronological point of ref erence. To him Mr. Collins' "reminiscence" sounds like an echo from the days of his childhood; when west of Buffalo was the wilderness and the tide of immigration flowed into it by way of the lakes only, or chiefly.

To Beat the Homestead Law. Mr. Commissioner Carter has devised a method of evading the homestead law. or rather of so enforcing it as to amount to the same thing in the case of valuable lands in this region. He can not put the lands up for sale to the highest bidder, they must be acquired by occupation, but he proposes to sell to the highest bidder "the right of entry," which amounts to the same thing. The plan was devised to meet the exigency in the case of the pine lands to be disposed of by the Ashland office, concerning which there was danger of a fight at the windows of the office a few weeks ago, but if it can be applied to them it can also be applied to lands valuable for mining-to any lands, in fact, except such as have no other than agricultural value if not to all. It will hardly be "a go." Congress did not so intend, when it passed the home stead acts. A home at no cost but that of labor upon it was its idea and the land office ruling that defeats that idea will not stand.

He was standing upon the ore in a partially filled pocket, with his arms over the rail, when the train above him was started. He must, it seems to us, have been asleep (it was at 3.30 a. m.), for he was caught by the wheels and his right arm cut off above the elbow and his left hand between the wrist and knuckles. He is married and has a family.

The "Lowanda" Show,

The People's was comfortably full on Wednesday evening, the crowd drawn out by the double inducement of a good show and a present, and every one went home satisfied. Those who got no present had their money's worth of amusement and those who did get one were just so much ahead. The show is a good one, and the management liberal, is the verdict of its patrons. The show will be at Rapid River to-night.

A PENNSYLVANIA farmer has a hen which habitually lays unusually large eggs. Inside of each of these eggs is another good-sized egg, perfectly formed. Both the inside and outside egg have a yolk and white part.

A good rat story comes to us from Michigan. A straw held in the mouths of three rats drew the attention of citiizens of Nashville to a strange sight. They were traveling along the road, three abreast, when it was discovered that the two outside rats were thus leading the center one, which was old and blind

Ratiroad Lands in Southern Illinois, The Illinois Central Railroad Company is offering lands at so low a price that it seems absurd to tell what they are capable of profucing, yet it is a fact that the crops from apple orchards are yielding from $300 to $500 per, acre. There are many farmers, fruit growers, who are realizing each year from $150 to $500 per acre for their fruit and early vegetables, and some who are realizing $1000 per acre. These of course are successful men of business, who study how to do it. Do you want the same chance to make money? You can have it by going into this country and buying some of the same lands from the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and by applying the ability you have in a business manner to their improvement and cultivation, you can have in a short time as valuable land as that of a successful fruit grower, on the line of this railroad, who said the other day, "I have brought my land to such a high state of cultivation that no one can buy it from me for $500 per acre, as I can net $100 per acre off

Most of the lands offered for sale by the Illinois Central Rathroad Company can be made to produce the same results. They lie along the line of this railroad at a distance of from 3 to 15 miles, and the country is traversed by many other railroads, thus affording every facility for transportation of early fruits and vegetables to any market that may be selected, fruit express trains being run daily to Chicago, St. Louis, and other points.

TO THE QUEEN'S TASTE.

THE queen's daughters are not only good needlewomen, but good cooks. QUEEN VICTORIA has presented a richly caparisoned Indian elephant to the emperor of Morocco.

THE queen of England firmly believes that objects made by blind people bring luck, and she has had the cradle for the young princess of Battenberg entirely made by blind men and women.

WHEN Queen Victoria dines at the palace, whether in public or private, the name of every dish put on the table bears name of the cook who is responsible for it. This sounds as if her majesty was afraid of being poisoned, but the cause is not fear, but usage. The usage dates back to old times and is of German origin.

QUEEN VICTORIA always takes her own mattresses with her when she goes traveling. These mattresses cost ninety guineas each and the queen is as sensi-tive about them as the princess of crumbled rose-leaf fame. Not long ago one of them was made about half an inch thinner than usual, and her majesty detected the difference at once and had it altered.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S table linen is all made by hand. Her tablecloths have the star of the garter in the center, with the royal arms. On the large rays of the star are woven the names of the greater dependencies of the crown, and the lesser names are on the lesser rays. A beautiful wreath of rose, shamrock and thistle intertwined about the crown imperial is woven in each of the corners.

GENERAL BUTLER's luncheon, which he eats at two o'clock, does not vary from day to day. It comprises one small ham sandwich, one small chicken sandwich and a few swallows of brandy and water.

P. T. BARNUM, after making his will in 1882, summoned several prominent physicians to examine his mental condition and to make affidavits to his sanity, which they did. This was to guard against any possible contest upon the plea of incapacity.

P. T. BARNUM's last marriage was about as original as anything he ever did. He saw the girl in the street she was a governess-and followed her home: He then introduced himself to the mistress and said he would like to marry the girl. The mistress consulted the girl, and the whole affair was arranged inside of twenty-four hours.

- EDITOR. J. C. VAN DUZER, LEW. A. CATES,

Barkworth, representative from the first district of Jackson county, is a democrat but, to borrow Mayor Salomon's phrase, "not that sort of a democrat."

From a Lansing letter in the Detroit Journal we clip a paragraph or two showing his character. When the correspondent, Graves, had been sat upon the Committee having the investigation of the Munthe-Doyle business in hand proposed to drop the matter. That is six out of It ought to be. seven did, but Barkworth was the seventh man.

"You will do nothing of the sort," he said indignantly to the skulkers. "I shall insist on the fullest and most searching investigation of these charges. I will give you notice right now that if you won't consent I will go upon the floor of the house and force you to."

He does not confine himself to the committee or the house, either. He had introduced and got through the house a couple of bills, but they fell asleep in the senate judicial committee room, so he went for the chairman of that committee Senator Wisner.

"Pve had a couple of bills before your committee for two months," he explained. "Why is it that they are not reported out?"

"What are they?" demanded the sage of Saginaw.

Barkworth explained.

"You come with me," commanded Wisner, and stalked into his committee room.

"Here, you," he said to the committee clerk, "report out Barkworth's bills right away," The clerk began a long and complicated search for the bills. At length he recollected where they were. "Why those bills were ordered pigeon holed," he explained, as he brought them out from a cobwebbed corner.

"Who by?" asked Wisner.

"Senator Doran," said the cleek. D-n Doran," exclaimed Wisner, explosively. "You report out these two bills immediately."

Edward Atkinson addressed the members of the International Typographical Union, upon the occasion of the annual meeting of that body last week and, among other things, said:

"No law's actions should in any way restrict the liberty of the individual in learning any trade or disposing of his time. As a student of social science who works 14 hours a day, I view with distrust the disposition of large bodies of workingmen to rely more and more upon the state and sumptuary legislation instead of relying upon their own individual exertions.

What they understood was that they had no right to prevent a boy from learning the trade if he wished to do so, or to interfere to prevent a man from working for such wages as pleased himself or for as many hours in a day as he chose, and they hissed the speaker. That was not the doctrine they wanted to hear or desired to have taught. They wanted their trade to become again a close guild, as in the middle ages, themselves as governors with all power. Too late, boys; can't be done. Indivividual liberty, not class domination, is the American idea.

"For the last few years," says the Utica Observer, "we have been reading glowing accounts of the abundance of ore our tin mines would produce some time or other. Our republican contemporaries have attempted to justify the tin-plate or prediction." Protectionists justify the tariff on tin plate on grounds entirely independent of American tin. Whether American tin mines can produce a single pound of tin or not, we want a tariff on produced in Wales. We have the steel and iron which constitute 97 per cent. of the material used in their manufacture, Roger Q. Mills is an outspoken man, a and we can get the other 3 per cent.-the metallic tin-just where England gets it declare them, usually; but just now he and just as cheaply. For it is only a very small part of the metallic tin used on the tin plates imported by us from Wales which comes from British mines-Am. Economist.

We did not kick at the governor's veto of the bill appropriating money for the G. A. R. encampment but many democrats in the legislature did, and called the governor pet names anything but complimentary. Nevertheless, when a republican member showed him up, by the record, as a copperhead and a "fire in the rear" man, every democrat in the house rallied to his support; the old tie held them.

Perhaps the best abused man in the republican party is Senator Quay who, we are sorry to learn, will not remain at the head of the national committee and conduct the coming presidential campaign. The party will be fortunate if another as energetic, as patient and as effective is found to succeed him.

There are going to be chances for boodle down in Ohio that would make a Michigan squawbuck wiggle with delight. The Columbus World, (dem.) announces that John R. McLean intends to spend $100,000 to make himself the next United States senator .- Detroit Tribune.

Not a voice is raised in criticism of President Harrison's selection of judges for

The Herr Cahensly, author of the soand the purpose of the movement. He

"It is a well known fact that the Irish in America try to obtain all the bishonries possible for themselves, as they did in the case of the Archbishop of Milwankee when, with the oxception of Archbishop Corrigan, they all tried to defeat the election of a German. We do not wish to interfere with the conduct of the Catholic church in America, nor do we wish to interfere in American politics. All we desire is to have the German, the Slav, the Italian, and the Frenchman under the care of a priest of his own nationality wherever this is possible"

"We acknowledge the good work done by the Irish in the service of the church in America, but we also wish to protect the interests of German and other Catholic emigrants."

In short, he says Pat has been getting all the good things and having his own way, and so the "Luzerne" kick.

There seems to have been a reason for the support of the Wilsons, against Gordon-Cumming, by the Prince of Wales. It is found in this paragraph, which appeared in the Scottish Leader of last Saturday:

"At the time of the financial crisis known as the Argentine or Baring Brothers crisis, several financiers who had loaned large sums of money to the Prince of Wales were obliged to ask for the return of the money they had advanced. These sudden demands put the Prince of Wales in a serious fix for a time until Mr. Arthur Wilson, at whose house the now world-famous games of baccarat were played, came to the assistance of the heir apparent and lent him the sum of $1,000,000, with which the Prince paid back some of the money loaned him by other financiers."

Perhaps the knowledge of the reason will serve the Prince but little, but it repunderstandable.

If the men who are holding "secret conferences" like one said to have been held at Indianapolis last week, and who it is said propose an "organization" of the friends of Mr. Blaine in support of his nomination for the presidency, are spared by the fool-killer they will probably succeed in rendering his nomination impossible and, at the same time, in creating such a condition of feeling in the republican party that whoever may be the candidate will have enemies within as well as without. If they are not enemies of Mr. Blaine they are worse, fool friends, from whom he may well pray to be saved.

A new rule-a wise one-has just been promulgated by the commissioner of patents; that no person shall be recognized taxation largely on this feeble possibility as attorney or agent for an applicant for a patent who has, while an examiner in the patent office, ruled against or rejected such application. The rule is in the line of protection of applicants, it being charged that examiners "hang up" aptin plates, for we know that we can pro- plications to the end that when they beduce those just as well as they can be come patent solicitors (the natural line of development) they shall have cases waiting for them.

> man of convictions and of the courage to seems to be just a bit "rattled" and won't talk. He wants to be speaker of the 52d congress and is at the capital to see about it, but the newspaper fellows can not work him" for so much as "a stickfull." He will say nothing as to the speakership except that he wants it, and not a word as to whom the party should nominate for president. Has he lost faith in Grover? It looks so.

Connors and Lambert, two of the democratic members, having refused to serve on the Munthe-Doyle investigation committee, a resolution was passed discharging the committee and authorizing the speaker to appoint a new one. Theresolution was introduced by Jackson, counsel for the accused, and is generally considered a mistake, as having prejudiced their case. The business was considered in democratic caucus Tuesday night.

"The Mirror (to put it mildly) prevariates."-Mining Journal.

The M. J. will have to put it less mildly to be understood. The above sentence was understood as complimentary at the Mirror office.

The red flag seems to be losing its popularity in Chicago. The crowd in atendance on the "Martyr's day" picnic was only 800 strong and the flag of anarchism was not flaunted.

The selection of a candidate for president is not the business which republicans should be engaged in now. The convention will be competent to do that a year hence. The thing to be done this called "Luzerne plan," explains himself | year is to get the party into fighting trim, to put it on solid ground with reference to the questions raised by the new organizations and to reiterate the former declaration of faith as to protection and honest elections. With the issues clearly defined and a completed organization it is not a matter of vital importance who is selected to succeed President Harrison, whether it shall be himself or another. The party has no lack of good timber; from Maine to California each state in the column can furnish a candidate, and any one of them would be a good president, but the united efforts of all republicans are necessary to the success of any.

> Republicans of Ohio are wide awake and full of enthusiasm. The convention at Columbus was in spirit like those which nominated John Brough, but we shall be content with a smaller majority for Major McKinley than was given Brough. He will be elected, easily, but Brough's 101,-000 was "high water mark." He had to beat only one man and that man a recognized traitor-the Major will have to beat a democrat, an alliance man and a prohibitionist, but he'll get there, just the on Wednesday. Mechanical Science and Social Progress.

We are living in a series of transformations. Old conditions are being rapidly replaced by the new and the better. The lever of Archimides was a scientific dream, but the revolution in the means and methods of modern life is not a vision, but a fact.

Mechanical science is displacing manual labor. The brute of the nineteenth century we hitch to a wagon or put in a prize ring. Intelligence is now a necessity, where once the less a man had above his eyebrows and the more in his shirt sleeves was an industrial requisite. This is in itself an educative force, that if it fails to save man from being a sinner certainly gives him a chance to escape from being a fool. We have, in coincidence with this new condition, a change for the better in the surroundings, of every-day life. Electricity is lighting our streets, digging coal, running sewing machines, and as a means of rapid transit, is giving the humblest toiler a cheap ride to a quiet home and rural surroundings. The electric spark is the wizard of the age, and the outlook for the future transcends any sideration of the fun they had enjoyed, past or present realization. In the tele- contributed $5 and $2.20, fine and costs, one and the telegraph it already anni hilates distance, and as a motive power in machinery will probably wipe away the smoke smudge from the skies of our cities. The pneumatic tube will solve the package transportation problem, and in after the publication of this notice. the delivery of mail matter will economize time and shoe leather. In fact, there is no department in industry or social convenience in which we may not expect to see more magical changes than are yet on the list of modern transformations,-Age of Steel.

> The Bay View Season-COMMUNICATED)

The Assembly Herald, published at Flint is out with the attractive Bay View announcements. What a delightful time they are going to have up there! Bay View is par excellence the most interesting resort in the country. If nature has left anything out, the Assembly and University have more than made it up. Every year the attractions improve. In the University, opening July 14, besides schools in science, literature and languages, this year a famous teacher from Swedengoes to instruct in Sloyd, a new hand craft work in wood for the schools, and the Young Women's Christian Association opens a Bible school. With thirty-five instructors and such specialists as Miss Lockwood in primer school work, Dr. Terry in the Bible, Profs. Case, Pease and Seyler in Music, Mills and Bond in Art, and Miss Biggart in Elocution the University privileges are the best. On July 24 the Assembly opens, and for three weeks three or four times a day will be heard such illustrious people as Dr. J. M. Buckley, Col. Russell H. Conwell, Lydia Mountford, Swedish Quartette, Fisk Jubilee Singers, celebrated soloists and entertainty. ers. No wonder everybody wants to visit such a place. Round trip tickets from Escanaba are only $8.10. It don't take a fortune to go to Bay View, since living expenses are only $5 to $7 a week.

Begins to be Lively. Now that the furnaces are in blast and want ore, the labor troubles at Ashtabula and Cleveland settled and ore moving at those points, business here begins to look up. The railway takes on some of the men who have been waiting for work since the ice went out and puts on more trains, the ships come and go and there is prospect of all we can do between now and the close of navigation. POEMS OF THE SUNUN.

Aunt Mary.
There's a time at the close of day,
When the tea things are put away, en Aunt Mary thinks and winks and

And what does she think of, pray? Does she think of the days gone by, And is every breath a sigh For the hours she spent in merriment, When quick were foot and eye?

Do those nights, long gone, return, And love's old passion burnt faraway June does memory croos, And makes poor heart yearn? Or is it of other things

Her memory busily sings—
Of troublesome mice and boys not nice,
Of the cupboard door that swings?

If her thoughts are of this or that,
For the gift of a brand new hat,
She would not tell, I know right well—
Aunt Mary's the household cat.
—William S. Lord, in Good Housekeeping.

What Is the Reason? I told Hesekiah to tell Widow Gray To tell Mother Brown, next door, So tell Dicky Dwight, who goes that way, To tell Deacon Barnes, at the store, To tell the old stage driver, Timothy Bean, To come for me, sure, and in season; But I've waited all day, and no stage have I

Now what do you think is the reason? ama C. Dowd, in Ladies' Home Journal.

A Dead Grief. All is over! Come away; Buried is my grief to-day; See! it lieth deep and low, With a name upon its breast. Hush! In quiet let it rest.

Open is it to the sky! But the grief so still doth lie In its coffined peaceful sleep, Ne'er again to throb with pain: Listen! on it falls the rain.

Shielded well by sorrow's pall, What though other griefs may fall? Shall I—can I fear them more Than that coffined grief can fear Clods which fall upon its bier?

-M. C. Salmon, in Chambers' Journal.

In the Night. The proud will o'er our thoughts no longer holds its.sway,

They come and go unbid,
The happy thoughts of a more happy day,
Unboly thoughts half hid. The child's dim fancles long ago forgot; They mingle strangely and we wonder no While out of doors upon the roof the rain is beating down,

And dreams pass by-they blend and fade away and change, Myriads in one short night, Things do so strangely, yet it seems not strange Nor other than aright; Our babies talk like sages while they're fed, We sing in give beside that first deathbed,

And out of doors upon the roof the rain is pour ing down. Half-conscious moments, lying thus 'twixt sleep and wake, Which shall it be? we say. Their wonted looks the forms around us take.

We feel the light of day, But specter hands still beckon to remain The dream of now will ne'er be ours again, And out of doors upon the roof the rain is dripping down.

-Elizabeth M. Chapin, in Springfield Republican.

The Mirror of a Life. "The sun is up," he gayly cried;
"I think it meet that I Should get my spade and rake, and haste

And so he tolled until he saw Where he was digging squirn A corpulently beautiful, Enticing fishing worm.

My garden luck to try."

"I will a-fishing go," said he, And toward the stream he went; But presently a toothsome duck Its course near by him bent.

My gun," he thought, "I should have brought; I'll go and get it straight;" And so he homeward took his way, Although the hour was late.

"The traveling I have done," he vowed, "Has used me most severe; I'll take the opportunity To rest while I am here."

And so he laid him down and slept, And ere his sleep was done The lake beside the western hill Gleamed with the setting sun.

Alas! to see so poor a day With good intent so rife! Alas! how oft it may be found The mirror of a life. -Washington Post.

A Battle. I saw a battle yesterday; And would you have me tell The story of this fearful fray, And how it all befell?

Against the mists the sun made war; The foggy mists, you know, That in the morn by sea and shore

Their ghostly forces show. The sun shot down his shafts of light

And pierced their ranks, and made Them scatter into shreds of white And flying bits of shade.

It was an utter rout, I ween;
The mists were vanquished fees,
No bugle called, no blood was seen.
I heard no clash of blows,

Yet in an hour the day was clear, The sky triumphant shone; While, from a bush that budded near. The wind a flower had blown

Till at my very feet it lay, All white within the sun;

It was a flag of truce, to say
The fight was fought and won.

RAILROAD RACKET.

THE Pennsylvania railroad system employs 7,671 engineers.

THE longest single line of railroad in the world is the new trans-Cancasian built by Russia.

THE highest inhabited place in the world is Galera, a railway village in Peru, 15,635 feet above the sea. To secure uniformity in the painting

CHARLES WATTS, superintendent of the Chicago division of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago road, claims that the fastest time ever made on an American railway was on that road lately. His official report showed that this special train ran fifty-three miles in forty-five minutes, eleven miles of which were covered in seven minutes, or at an average of ninety-four miles an

NOTES FOR THE WOMEN.

In Lapland dress fashions have not changed for one thousand years.

QUEEN ELIZABETH started the style of wearing silk stockings and Marie Antoinette instituted the custom of wearing feathers in the hair.

MME. HENRI GREVILLE, who has seen more of this country than most French women, says the American woman makes too many acquaintances and too few friends.

WHEN it is desired to have the gloves cover the entire arm, as may occur with evening dress, they are secured to the shoulders by straps of satin ribbon that buckle on the gown.

Nobody wears veils adorned with beauty spots now unless the dots of court-plaster are arranged with a clever eye to detail and effect-in other words, every girl is her own veil maker, and she places the small black disk in such a place as will call attention to her most beautiful feature.

A wedding costume worn by a Lon-don bride had a rich white silk royals train, bordered with white ostrich feathers, and opened over a beautiful white velvet skirt richly embroidered with pearls. One-half of the bodice front was of white silk; the other of velvet draped with crepe de Chine. The tulle veil was held in place by three diamond stars.

PERKINS, PRACTICAL JOKER

Perkins is tall, angular and a practical joker of the severest type. One of his peculiar pleasantries is to suddenly halt a strange, pompous individual on the street, buttonhole him and remark, with cool assemblian. remark, with cool assumption:

"I beg your pardon, sir, but I think you have made a mistake." "What is that, sir?" the victim is likely to ask. "Well," Perkins will reply, with the utmost audacity, "his city does not belong to any one man or set of men. You may think you own it but you don't. See?" and Perkins will hurry away, leaving the pompous man to his own reflection.

Sometimes he varies this interesting performance in this highly original fashion: Stepping up to a total stran-ger he will beg for a light for his cigar-ette. This trifling favor having been extended, he will engage his victim in conversation for a moment. When another stranger appears Perkins hails him. As he approaches Perkins introduces him to the first man.

"Ah, Mr. Smith, permit me to present you to my friend, Mr. Brown. Mr. Brown, Mr. Smith."

Of course the men shake hands and Perkins takes his departure, leaving the strangers to extricate themselves from their embarrassment as best they

One day Perkins entered a small east side dry goods store with a friend. Ranged in front of the counter were a row of stools. Upon these the men seated themselves. In a moment a dapper young clerk came up and asked Perkins what he desired. For an instant he seemed puzzled for a reply. but soon his eyes rested upon the familiar sign, "If you don't see what you want ask for it." That furnished him

"Well," he said, in measured tones, 'you can bring me a plate of corned beef hash, nicely browned, with two poached eggs on top; also a cup of hot coffee. What's yours, George?" he added, turning to his friend.

"Gimme the same," he responded. All the girls in the store stared hard at the impudent fellows and the clerk's eyes began to bulge.

"Gentlemen," he replied, with a show of calmness, "you have made a slight mistake. This is a dry goods store and not a restaurant. Do I look like a Pathelie "Personals." Some of the "personals" in French newspapers are very pathetic. Here is one: "I send you, my love, the most ardent protestations of an unalterable affection. May you be as happy as your Boston woman. She goes weekly to all silence makes me miserable." Another, evidently from a husband to his wife reads: "Come back, Maria, and bring sunshine to our household and sieep to our child. All shall be forgiven." Considerable sentiment is condensed in this advertisement: "How I wish you would keep your promise made to me in the country. I will be so faithful. Ah, if you only knew!"-here follow several words in cipher. How practical are the two following: "To make a wealthy marriage quickly apply to Madame Bouvice, aged 19 years." "A gentleman, good health, well-to-do, would marry a young lady or widow with fortune." Rather a mixture of metaphor is given in the following: "Come back, Charles; all is explained, dear; and your boots, brightly polished, are standing in the hall, wasting their sweetness on the desert air."--Irish Times.

A Glance at London Society. Take the vast London society. It is a stiff-necked dress parade in which one meets one's best friend once a fortnight and strangers in proportion. People never know each other well and are almost suspicious of those they do know. Invitations are sent out from one to two months ahead and people come and go without making a visible impression, and there is none of that merry familiarity that makes Ameriset affair, with no general conversation and a total absence of what the French call esprit; in fact most of the Englishman's pleasures are of the mackintosh and umbrella kind. The Londoffer is always guarded and suspicious of the stranger, and I don't wonder, considering some of the Americans he has had shoved upon him. But, after all, there are too many people in London; it is impossible to expect freedom, familiarity and hospitality among such a multitude.-Chicago News.

-: 'We often have queer experiences," said a physician. "Let me tell you one. I once knew a man and wife. They were perfectly polite, and to all appearances were highly respectable. One day in conversation with the lady I happened to speak of children, when she spoke up and said: "I had a little baby once, but it died. I also had a little poodle, and it died, too. It nearly killed me. Oh, if I had only known you, doctor."-N. Y. Tribune.

-Patrick Doyle-"Yez be afther foindin' a ring wid a letter on it? It's moine." The Advertiser-"But the letter's neither P. nor D.; it's M." Patrick "Sure I towld yez it be moine. Me mither's maiden name wor Molly Mulligan."-Jewelers' Weekly.

-Student-"Would you perhaps buy this Greek dictionary?" Antiquary—
"I am sorry, but I buy only whole libraries." Student—"Just so. This book is the whole of my library."

-Ferritt-"He made money at every-thing he went into." Merritt-"Yes; he once got into an excavation and recovered heavy damages from the city."-

.—Set Back.—"It's a wonder the hands of a clock do their work as well as they do." "Why?" "Just consider the set-backs they meet with."—Demorest's Monthly.

THE MARRIAGEABLE AGE.

According to Roumanian laws the res are eighteen for males and fifteen

In Arabia, British India, Persia, Siam and Burmah, girls are allowed to wed at the age of ten or even nine years.

In chilly Finland if a couple desire to be married before the man has reached twenty-one and the woman fifteen they must obtain an imperial decree.

Swedish youths aged twenty-one may take as life partners maidens of fifteen, and in the Netherlands they must be eighteen and sixteen respectively.

In Italy, where children come to maturity very rapidly, the legal marriageable age, strange to say, is above the usual standard, being eighteen for men and sixteen for women.

Danes must be respectively twenty and sixteen before they can become man and wife, while in France the minimum age for the former is eighteen and fourteen for the latter.

STATE laws regulate marriages in the United States and nearly all of them require the consent of the parent when the man is less than twenty-one and the women under eighteen years of age.

THE laws of Baden allow a male to marry at eighteen and a female at fifteen, but up to the time the former becomes twenty-five and the latter twentyone the consent of the parents or guardians is required.

In Spain, Portugal and Greece the limits are the same-fourteen and twelve-and in Switzerland cantonal laws are such that the ages vary from fourteen to twenty for males and twelve to eighteen for the gentle sex.

Russia has a law making eighteen and sixteen the legal ages at which the sexes may be joined in wedlock, and in some special cases the bishop of the dio-cese in which the couple reside may permit their marriage six months prior to the limits quoted.

SCIENTIFIC CALCULATIONS.

MUSHROOMS generally consist of 90 per cent. of water; but in spite of this, the balance of 10 per cent. is said to be more nutritious than bread.

Scientific men say that the earth's age is about half a million years for the nebular and stellar period, and about 25,000,000-of which 15,000,000 are past -for the period of organic beings.

Among the latest disinfectants is "lysol," which appears to be very much like carbolic acid; the emulsifying agent is resin or fat soap, tar acid being incorporated with the soap at the moment of saponification. SIR WILLIAM THOMSON calculates that the number of molecules in a cubic inch of any gas is 100,000,000,000,000,-000,000,000; in each of these molecules there are several atoms moving among themselves at the rate of 70 miles a

Oxygen is the most abundant of all the elements; it composes at least onethird of the earth, one-fifth of the atmosphere and eight-ninths by weight of all the water on the globe: it is also a very important constituent of all miner | plon was drowned.-Washington Star. als, animals and vegetables

ARTIFICIAL eyes are supplied to all the world from Thurings, Germany. Nearly all the grown inhabitants of some of the villages are engaged in their manufacture.

Domestic servants are so scarce in Montreal that the women in want of help are said to visit the jail with a view to engaging young women to work for them at the close of their term of imprisonment.

THE only only polishing works in this country, located at Rutland, Vt., will be removed to Missouri, and engage in preparing for market the vast quantities of onyx mined in Crawford and Pulaski counties.

An Asiatic Fable.

and filthy poison, undertook a journey. Coming to the bank of a wide river he stopped in great perplexity, unable to cross over, yet unwilling to return. A Tortoise, seeing his situation and smoved with compassion, took him on his back as a passenger, and was swimming toward the opposite shore when he heard a noise upon his shell as if something striking him. He called out to know what it was and the ungrateful Scorpion answered: "It is only the motion of my sting. 'I know it can not injure you, but it is a habit which I can not relinquish." "Indeed!" replied the Tortoise. "Then I can not do better than free so bad a creature from his evil disposition and secure the good from his malevolence." Saying which, he dived under the water and the ScorMONEY TO LOAN.
