

THE IRON PORT.

TWENTY-SIXTH YEAR.

ESCANABA, MICH., SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 6, 1895.

NUMBER FOURTEEN.

MR. GALLUP GOT THERE.

The Contest Was Republican Against Republican, Though.

The Result of the Election Last Monday Decidedly Mixed—The Non-Partisan Candidate For Mayor Chosen and a Few Others.

Immediately upon the adjournment of the republican city convention it became apparent that its nominee for mayor was likely to be beaten, and no one who had "his ear to the ground" during the two days between that and the election was surprised when the votes were counted. There were recalcitrant republicans in the second ward (for instance) to overturn the republican majority of one hundred and give Mr. Gallup a majority of eighteen, and the same influence turned down D. A. Oliver and re-elected B. D. Winegar for alderman, though Henry Wilke, for clerk, got nearly the full party strength. It was the same in other wards—republicans took the bait offered by the democratic manipulators of the non-partisan movement and did what they could to destroy the republican city organization.

The results will be found below:
For mayor, Greenhoot, 515; Gallup, 516; Gallup's majority, 301. For clerk, Wilke, 515; Stromberg, 451; Wilke's majority, 337. For treasurer, St. Jacques, 727; Morrell, 573; St. Jacques majority, 152. For justice of the peace, Atkins, 720; Roemer, 579; Atkins' majority, 141. For justice of supreme court, Moore, 751; McGrath, 277; Moore's majority, 474.

The total vote for increase of the salaries of state officers was 581, of which 335 were for and 246 against, a majority of 89 in the affirmative.

The resolution to issue bonds to the amount of $5000 to secure a site for a normal school was adopted by a good majority. The total vote was 713, of which 620 were in the affirmative and 93 in the negative—a majority of 527 in favor of the resolution.

Alfred P. Smith received the full vote for county school commissioner, he having no opposition.

The supervisors chosen were: First ward, Carl J. Embs; second ward, Chas. E. Brotherton; third ward, Peter Schlis; fourth ward, D. A. Brotherton; fifth ward, Oscar J. Carlson; sixth ward, John Campbell; seventh ward, Chas. Erickson.

The aldermen chosen were: First ward, Fred Hodges; second ward, Byron D. Winegar; third ward, Peter Olson; fourth ward, Hugh J. Robertson; fifth ward, James McPherson; sixth ward, Peter Holmes; seventh ward, John W. King.

The school inspectors chosen were: First ward, James Robertson; second ward, Hiram A. Barr; third ward, David W. Morgan; fourth ward, A. S. Rowell; fifth ward, Moses LaPlant; sixth ward, William Bacon; seventh ward, Geo. W. Wiltsie.

Public School Notes.
School opened Monday morning with largely increased attendance, especially in the primary rooms. There being insufficient accommodations for all who applied for admission, some had to be sent home. In the fifth ward first primary it has been necessary to change the lower class to half day sessions.

Every room of our public schools sang "America" at 12 o'clock, Wednesday, in memory of the author, Rev. Dr. Smith. This day was set apart as one to honor the distinguished author, by the governors of the New England states and others, and all the public schools in America were requested to unite at that time in singing our national anthem. No other poem by an American author rises in poetic instinct and patriotic fervor to its rank.

Born of an inspiration, as all great national hymns are, its impress on our national life is profoundly devotional and sublimely American. Unique in its inscription of praise to the "Author of Liberty" and its prayer of hope for "Freedom's holy light," it cannot die.

Miss Robbins entered upon her duties in the high school this week. The children all seem highly pleased.

Miss Burton has been quite sick all week; Miss Atkins has been supplying.

Primary teachers' meeting was held on Monday evening, and the regular monthly teachers' meeting on Wednesday evening at Mr. Randall's.

Parents are kindly requested to visit the schools. You will not only get a better idea of the work being done, but you will lend a great encouragement to your children.

George W. Banks Dead.

The father of Fred A. and Harry W. Banks died, at his home in Monroe, Wis., last Saturday. From an obituary in a Monroe paper we clip the following:

"He was born in England sixty two years ago and has been a resident of Monroe for many years. He got his early education in colleges in the east and studied medicine at Chicago, but did not complete his studies on account of the Chicago fire. Up to the time of his death he conducted the city drug store on the south side of the square, and many times during his life he was connected with different business enterprises. For several years he was on the stage, at one time associated with John Dillon. He was a talented elocutionist and was often heard at public entertainments in this city. A few years ago his wife, to whom he was closely attached, preceded him to the land of rest, and the loss was a heavy burden. Three sons and a daughter survive him and during his recent illness were continually present."

Another Plan Proposed.

The amendment to the constitution increasing the pay of the chief officers of the state having been rejected by the people, Representative Farrington, of Detroit, has before the house a joint resolution providing that the fixing of salaries shall be left to the legislature, and this may be pushed, on the argument that the legislature would give officers decent pay. Senator Chittenden also has a resolution providing for a reduction of the pay of deputies and raising the pay of the heads of departments, with which something may be done. It is hoped that before the next election the people can be educated up to the point where they will see that it would be to the interest of the state to pay good wages to the men at the heads of the most important departments.

Clerks and Churches.

Very often of late in connection with our American churches we hear of the organization of what they are pleased to designate as "The Men's Club," as if they were beginning to realize that laymen had something to do in the church besides raising money. Looking at the part the men take in the majority of our churches, one would be justified in thinking that their chief work is to pay the pew-rent and contribute their mite to the support of the ministry; to gather up the sheaves of true religion in the prayer and class meeting is left to the women, and as they arise to take up their work in earnest as church members, some of these clubs go about in a manner which is not only ludicrous but inimical to the religion of Christ; they exercise themselves in worldly and temporal things when they should be endeavoring after things which are spiritual and eternal, and study politics when they should be studying their bibles. Perhaps in a religious sense, there is nothing the average American church member lacks so much as a knowledge of the contents of the holy book, to say nothing of his dense ignorance of its eternal principles further than a vague opinion that the bible demands of him to be a good man, believe in Christ for eternal life, without knowing hardly anything that is meant by these things. The first duty of a man's club should be to study the bible; there are sufficient opportunities to dabble in politics outside of the church. What is wanted to-day is more religion in our politics, and less of politics in our religion.

The duty of the pulpit is to preach against sin and proclaim Christ as a Savior abundantly able to save all who call upon him. When a Christian (2) church in order to interest its members has to fall back upon such a resource as a men's club, where young men meet to pass the time in a profitless and often sinful manner, there must be something wrong in that church; surely it has left its first love, and is no longer a living branch of the true vine. It has been our misfortune to see more than one of such clubs and, in every instance, it was our firm and honest conviction that such things in connection with the church of Him who said: "Sanctify them through thy truth, thy word is truth," could not be accounted for only by the lack of spirituality in its members, and we have had no occasion to change our opinion.

The club has nothing in common with the kingdom of God, and while its avowed object is to interest young men in the work of the church, it does more to secularize and alienate the soul from the living church than any other agency the world, flesh or the devil has ever invented. We say the living church, and by that we mean a church made alive by the indwelling of the Holy Spirit, and awake to its duties as a part of the plan of God to redeem the world. Such a church has no room or place for a men's club.

The club is a necessary adjunct of a dead church. Its existence recognizes the fact that there is a void in man which continually craves for something to fill it, it proves also that the ministry of the pulpit has failed to satisfy that craving, but in place of praying earnestly to God to descend in His Holy Spirit and fill the temple with His glory, it substitutes cigars, billiards, soft drinks, light literature and comic operas. Sanctifying agencies in every truth!

Again we say the ministers of Christ have no right to throw aside their commission—to sell their birthright for a mess of pottage. Preaching the gospel has given way to social discourses and political vituperations, and the Holy Ghost may rest a little while the Civic Federation takes a hand in helping "the Ethiopian to change his skin, and the leopard his spots."

Gladstone Cleanings.

The Soo railway has secured several large contracts for hauling lumber and in order to transfer it to boats here has decided to erect a large lumber dock on the north shore, near the ore dock. Work at the furnace location will be resumed next week. Three hundred men will be employed there this summer. The city treasury has cash—$6,082.90. It has been definitely settled that Davis & Mason's saw mill start up this season on April 4th and run night and day from the start. A "display station" of the weather bureau will be established. The signals will be shown from the top of the elevator. While fooling with an "unloaded" revolver last night Fred Thompson was shot in the upper third of the thigh, the bullet lodging under the knee cap. The shooting was entirely accidental. Escanaba capital goes to Rapid River to meet the boys as they come out of the woods and precious little of their currency has been in circulation here this spring. Contractors and builders have the plans and specifications and are preparing bids for Austin Farrell's $3,000 residence.—Delta.

Township Supervisors.

The townships have chosen supervisors as follows: Ford River T. V. Ward, Bark River Ole Rood, Escanaba Wm. Dausey, Wells Geo. T. Burns, Baldwin Herman Wmke, Maple Ridge John B. Kleiber, Masonville George Grandchamp, Nahma George J. Farnsworth, Garden Fred. Olmsted, Fairbanks Jos. Mercier, Sack Bay Henry B. Hazen, Bay de Noc Arthur Leighton.

Chicago Republicans in Line.

The result of the election in Chicago last Tuesday was the success of the whole republican ticket by forty thousand majority. Swift is mayor and has a clean board of aldermen behind him. The Inter Ocean says it up thus: "Generally throughout Chicago, the people snore the gong."

TERSE TOWN TOPICS.

Many Minor Municipal Matters Briefly Mentioned.

Paragraphs Especially Designed to Interest The Iron Port's Multitude of Readers.—The Suburbs Are Also Given Attention.

Prof. A. Zenier is too well known to our music lovers to need our commendation, but as recorders of current events it is our duty to say that his piano recital at Mrs. Talbot's room was a pronounced success. Miss James vocal numbers were well rendered, too, and on the whole the affair was pleasant.

Sam. Collins, the quiet young man who had long been in charge of the mechanical department in the office of the Mirror, was attacked yesterday afternoon by another employee. Quiet as he was, Sam, was good at defence, and his assailant has to day a very sore head by which to remember him.

The beauty of the blanket ballot was exemplified in the 5th ward by the throwing out of thirty-five of them which had upon them no "cross mark" whatever. In the same ward eleven city tickets were rejected for informality which, had they gone through would have changed the result as to alderman.

The Mirror finds in Mr. Commissioner Smith's notice of a teachers' institute occasion to attack him, Supt. Beggs and the teachers in our schools, and recommends that the teachers of the county refrain from attending the institute, advice which they will hardly act upon.

A communication from Rapid River—concerning a "grand ball"—we can make nothing of; no date is given, nor has the communication any signature. The "ball" is to be "on my house," and we are told "If you want to come you can go; you see anybody, tole it."

The woods are full of aspirants for Charlie Elmer's place at the head of the police force, all "greenhorns," that is to say without experience as policemen. As to who will get it we have no idea nor any choice. The city would be safe without such an officer.

Alderman King comes back to the council; seven of the "colonists" were "stood off," but if they had voted he would still have been returned. On the whole, we don't know that it is a matter of regret; he is a sort of an irritant that perhaps the council needs.

Our friend Hiller sends us the program of the Santa Barbara Flower Festival which comes off on the 17th, 18th and 19th inst. It is the second of such festivals and, the first having been a success, this one is expected to surpass its predecessor.

Mr. Bolce, janitor of the court-house, underwent an operation—the excision of the lower lip—for epithelioma last Monday, Dr. Long operating. When the wound was dressed, yesterday, every symptom was favorable.

The voters who rejected Mr. Greenhoot because of his connection with the Lighting Co. may be pleased to know that the man they supported is interested even more heavily in that concern, as a holder of its bonds.

Mr. Fogarty is pushing the work upon the grounds of the Agricultural society and they will be ready for race meetings and an agricultural exposition by the time the weather is propitious for such affairs.

The communication in another column—"Clubs and Churches"—was held over a week lest its author and this paper should be accused of a political purpose. It is now given without comment.

The vote last Monday was about four hundred less than that at the fall election; a portion of the falling off was the result of the new law concerning aliens and a portion of republican apathy.

A "non partisan" challenged Mayor Erickson's vote last Monday. It was a bit of work entirely in line with the character and instincts of the man who did it, and deserves no further remark.

One Boyle attempted a criminal assault upon the person of Mrs. Greenberg last Monday but was repulsed and fled. Up to Thursday he has escaped arrest.

The Iron Trade Review of the 4th announces sales of ore amounting to over three millions of tons at a substantial advance over last year's prices.

Every county in the state (except Manistowick) is not yet heard from gave Judge Moore a majority and the total is nearly 60,000.

The Catholic Foresters and the Trimmers' Union turned out en masse to the funeral of their brother George Miller, on Wednesday.

For the best five-cent smoke possible, call at Mead's and ask for a Van Twiller. We have tried them and speak "by the card."

Kemp & Williams have just put in steam and are ready for all orders in their line. Give them a call.

Jacob Soper is also spoken of for chief of police. File your applications, gentlemen; it's free for all.

Mr. & Mrs. C. McMunagle are the proud parents of a daughter, born last Monday.

Mrs. C. E. Brotherton has twin babies—a boy and a girl.

Savage Work With a Knife.

Last Tuesday evening, in a saloon at 320 Ludington street, a quarrel sprang up between a couple of Finns and an hour or so later Dr. Phillips, at the Tracy hospital, was busy sewing up cuts a foot long upon the person of one of them, John Hildea. He put in forty stitches, his patient enduring the work without a whimper. At the time we write the name of his assailant is not known nor his whereabouts. It is a point in favor of Finnish knife-wielders that they do not stab. Hildea's slashes will heal and he be none the worse for having received them, while the same energy, if it had taken the form of thrusts would no doubt have killed him by penetrating his lungs.

Doing Good Work.

The Excelsior furnace at Ishpeming is doing remarkably big work these days. During the twelve days prior to Saturday last the output was sixty and a half tons daily. The largest cast in one day was sixty-six tons. This is by far the best work the furnace has ever done. When it was in blast a few years ago from thirty to forty tons daily was considered good work.

In Memoriam, Beth D. Perry.

It becomes our sad duty to record the death of S. D. Perry. Mr. Perry was born at Concord, Jackson county, Mich., April 23d, 1848, and died at Brampton, Delta county, Mich., March 30, 1895. Mr. Perry's educational opportunities were limited, but, being very bright, and an untiring student, he began teaching school at sixteen, and taught a number of terms, during which he pushed his studies through many of the higher branches. He studied law three years with Oscar Bean at Three Rivers, Mich., and was admitted to the bar October 2, 1872. January 1, 1874, he married Miss Alice Cross at Prairie Ronde, Kalamazoo county, Mich. For two years he was editor of the Marcellus Messenger at Marcellus, Mich., also practicing law while performing his editorial duties. Poor health obliged him to give up office work and to seek an active out-of-door life, so he came to the upper peninsula and began farming at Brampton. His genial disposition soon made him hosts of friends here; his unusual attainments and splendid business abilities were also soon discovered and brought him the burden of many public duties; he served two terms as supervisor from his township and while he was active in politics everyone who knew Seth D. Perry could grasp his hand at that of a personal friend. Mr. Perry was typically American in his patriotism, his breadth of view, his benevolence, his splendid education acquired wholly by his own efforts, and, above all, in a happy home life. He leaves a wife, one son and two daughters; also an aged father, three sisters and four brothers. He was at one time a member of the F. & A. M.

Mr. Perry has for a long time been suffering with Bright's disease, which resulted in heart failure. The funeral services were conducted at his residence in Brampton, April 2d, by Rev. Mr. Johns, of Gladstone, and the remains were interred at Gladstone in the afternoon of that day. The very large number of people who attended the funeral services, from all parts of the county, evinces not only Mr. Perry's great worth as a citizen, but also most profound sympathy for the bereaved family.

An Echo of the Election.
It having been alleged that D. N. Harvey had endeavored to procure the discharge of Hugh Campbell (a brother of Archie Campbell) he wrote to the foreman of the camp where both had been employed during the winter and elicited the following reply:
OONRO, Wis., April 1, 1895.—D. N. Harvey, Esq., Escanaba, Mich. Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter, but I am sorry I was not in the city when your letter came in. However, I will say I never was more astonished than when I looked your letter over. Mr. Harvey, I am not in the habit of taking such men as Campbell into my confidence, and those assertions that you say Campbell made in Escanaba are without foundation, made to serve political ends. I have heard Campbell say several times during the winter if you attempted to run for office he would do all he could to cause your defeat. Mr. Campbell can do as he pleases but he wants to leave me out. Hoping that you may be successful, I am
Respectfully yours,
W. C. DUNCAN.

The charges were pressed, and backed by threats and clenched fists, on the Saturday preceding the election with the evident purpose of provoking a breach of the peace, and the letter is published to make the record complete.

We Can Make Beet Sugar.

Michigan has the soil and climate necessary for the cultivation of the sugar beet and there is no question that the state could not only make sugar enough for home consumption but a surplus for exportation as well; all that is needed is that the facts should be understood and the necessary capital invested. Across the state, in a general direction northwest and southeast, is a belt of country over one hundred miles in width which is suitable for the growth of the beets and it is only necessary that a home market for the crop be assured (it does not bear transportation to a distance) to start the production. As to the profit of the manufacturer, one who has studied it abroad, both in the United States and Germany, says that the German factories make $2.20 on each ton of beets, and asks "do Michigan capitalists want anything better?" The industry is already established in California, Utah and Nebraska, and Michigan is in some respects more favorably situated than either of those states.

For Chief of Police.

Every alderman, hold-over or elect, has a dozen applicants after him supplicating for his support for the position of chief of police. Of the lot three are, or appear to be more prominent than the others, namely Hill, Stephenson and English, but as to the chances of success of either we have no intimation whatever. It would just about kill our Dousman street neighbor if the council should decide to make no change and so leave Elmer in the place, but it may chance to do so and, to give Phil an opportunity to open with his heavy guns, one could almost wish it would.

Duluth Blockaded.

Unless the conditions existing in the Duluth harbor are changed in a very short time the boats coming in first this spring are likely to be tied up outside the bay for some time, as they were four years ago. The heavy wind which has prevailed for a week has driven the ice in and has packed it into a solid mass, through which no boat made could plow her way. This ice extends out for probably one mile or more, and then there is clear water, which will not be frozen over again until next winter.

For Illegal Voting.

Thomas Ward, to whose arrest on charge of illegal voting at Garden we alluded last week, was again before the court yesterday. As we write the case is not decided but one well qualified to forecast the event tells us that it must be an acquittal. Another tells us that our information, last week, was erroneous; that the young man is technically guilty but that he does not deserve more than a reprimand or the lightest sentence the court can give him. The result was an acquittal.

The Ice Breaking Up.

A dispatch from Cross Village last Saturday said: "A high northeast wind last night took all the ice at this end of Lake Michigan as far down as Waugoshance light. The first brisk westerly wind will now drive the remaining ice through the straits from Mackinac to Lake Huron." Green Bay is practically clear of ice from Peninsula Point to Chambers Island and well up into Big Bay de Noquette, and the opening may come sooner than was hoped for a week ago.

Sales and Prices of Ore.

More than 100,000 tons of standard Bessemer ores have been sold at the prices agreed upon last winter, which is an advance of fifteen cents over the opening price last year. Some more big contracts will likely be made the coming week. The feeling is an improvement over that of a year ago, as the furnace men feel safe in contracting for a large block of ore, knowing that no reduction will be made in the price later.

Literary Notices.
The April number of the North American Review presents to its readers a varied and interesting table of contents. In "A Last Tribute," Ex-Speaker Reed criticises the workings of the late fifty-third congress from a republican point of view; Admiral P. H. Colomb, of the royal navy, predicts "The Future of the Torpedo in War"; J. Zangwill describes "The Position of Judaism"; and in "Nagging Women—A Reply," Dr. Cyrus Edson says a few last words on a topic which, originally started by him in the Review, has attracted wide notice. An important paper is furnished on "The Growing Greatness of the Pacific," by the Hawaiian Minister at Washington, Hon. Lorin A. Thurston, who throws a strong light upon the commercial development at present going on among the nations bordering on the Pacific. "The Physician and the Social Question" is treated by Paul Gibier, M. D., and George U. Crocker asks "Does Fire Insurance Cost Too Much?" Hon. Hannis Taylor, United States minister to Spain, writes upon "The Outlook for Parliamentary Government," while the fourth installment of the "Personal History of the Second Empire," by Albert D. ABOUT DINNER-GIVING.

Some Hints for Ladies Who Like the Form of Hospitality.

Dinner-giving should not be a great tax on any good housekeeper; her domestic affairs should be so arranged and in such good running order that the mere fact of having a few extra persons to entertain is of very little moment.

Candles are used for lighting dinner tables, chiefly because the light is supposed to be softer and more becoming.

Flowers should be odorless, if possible, when used for a dinner-table decoration, as strong-scented blossoms are apt to make some persons feel faint.

Besides the flowers and the candles there are also placed on the table quaint silver bonbon-dishes containing candies, cake, etc.

Manitoba may be knocking at the door of the American union before long. A dispatch from Ottawa contained this:

"The dominion government has done two things—it has ordered the provincial authorities to re-establish the separate schools abolished in 1890; and falling compliance by the province, the dominion has stated in so many words that a federal act will be passed, for the purpose of attaining this object. And it is at this point that the danger of the situation appears. The provinces have always been jealous of their rights of self-government, and an attempt to encroach on these rights by the passage of a federal law to accomplish a provincial object will evoke a vigorous protest in every member of the confederation outside of Quebec. This outcry will be especially vigorous in Manitoba and Ontario, because a federal law once passed for the purpose of re-establishing separate schools in a province can not be repealed by any power short of that of the imperial parliament in England. Not only this. If the separate schools are re-established by federal legislation in Manitoba the precedent will be established which will permit of the dominion interfering to prevent the Ontario legislature from divesting the separate schools in that province of privileges conferred by the latter body. It is because of the far-reaching consequences involved that there is such hostility to the idea of once entering the wedge of federal interference. It is probable that re-establishing separate schools will be done by a federal enactment relieving Roman Catholic rate payers in Manitoba from local taxation for public schools and giving Roman Catholic school boards power to levy rates on their own people for the maintenance of their own schools. Further than this, it is likely that the dominion government will retain a portion of the subsidy payable by the dominion to the province under the terms of union and apply this as a supplement to the funds raised by local taxation for separate school purposes. Unless the present dominion government is defeated before remedial legislation and another party is placed in power that will respect provincial rights, there will be an upheaval that will strain the bonds of confederation."

One ground of attack upon the McKinley tariff was the use of shoddy in our woolen mills. It was true that every center of woolen manufacture in Great Britain, except one in Yorkshire, had become the home of the shoddy industry. True, also, that shoddy and elcity were the two articles which the protective tariff laid under a prohibitory duty. Yet Mr. David A. Wells gravely ascribes the prevalence of consumption and similar diseases in America to the use of shoddy by our woolen manufacturers, and to the exclusion of foreign wool and of the honest woolen goods of Yorkshire and other English districts by our protective duties. Yet, now that we have free wool and all the conditions which were said to be necessary to an honest woolen manufacture, we are told that shoddy is to abound among us more than ever. The leading journal of the trade declares that this spring "is distinctly a shoddy goods season, when real merit seems for the moment to be displaced by cheapness." A leading free-trade journal denounces the manufacturers for this, and exhorts the people not to stand in their own light by buying such goods. But how can the people help themselves? With cotton at four cents a pound, and wheat at fifty cents a bushel—and the crop short at that—how can they pay for the honest wools, such as they bought in past years, when cotton was worth three times as much and wheat brought a dollar a bushel at every railroad station? And how are the manufacturers to help themselves? "The demands from import-out clothing centers," the trade journal says, "run almost exclusively to cheap fabrics." It traces this to the low prices of "wheat, cotton and other farm products," and very justly. But even if these prices were good, how could Americans manufacture and sell honest wools in the face of the deluge of shoddy goods from the north of England, which the Wilson-Gorman tariff permits and encourages? In America, as everywhere else, the era of free trade is the reign of shoddy. "Cheap and nasty" is the maxim of British manufacturers, whether loaded cottons or shoddy woolsens be the article concerned.—American.

In the debate on Senator Martin's bill to abolish the office of commissioner of mineral statistics that gentleman produced figures to show that the upper peninsula is asking more in the way of appropriations than it pays in taxes, but the arguments and influence of the northern statesmen were too much for the measure and all after the enacting clause was stricken out by a vote of 17 to 9.

Our examination of the foreign clay works now being shown in competition with domestic has resulted in convincing us more thoroughly than ever of the superiority in every respect of the domestic fabric; that, at the prices at which our own clays are offered, the buyer will find better value in every respect for the money than can be obtained in the imported fabrics. We were shown this week a line of 18 oz. Clays manufactured in Bradford, selling here at $1.07 1/2 in competition with a Weybosset 18-oz Clay at $1.05. Taking up the foreign worsted and stretching it over the perch, its lack of firmness became at once evident. It drew apart not unlike a knitted fabric, and while handsomely finished and exceedingly slightly gave every evidence, upon careful analysis, of a clever attempt to cheapen in order to compete with domestic goods. This want of firmness in texture is becoming daily more evident to those who inspect many of the new lines of foreign fabrics now on the market, but it will become more painfully so to the wearer some ten or twelve months hence, when he has been afforded an opportunity of testing the lasting qualities of the goods.—The American Wool Reporter.

Prices of all kinds of meats will be higher this summer than they have been for ten years past. Even the high prices which were made by some dealers during the world's fair period will be exceeded by the figures asked for roasts, steaks and chops from now on. It is not probable that much relief will come before next fall. Prices have already advanced about 25 per cent, and an additional advance of about the same proportion is almost certain.

The cause of this is the short supply of cattle, followed by the necessary increase in value which forced dealers to raised prices to consumers. While the prime cause of the advance is the scarcity of choice beef cattle, all kinds of meat have gone up partly through the sentiments of the speculative market and partly on account of the increased demand.

All kinds of beef from porterhouse to hash meat are being sold now for from 2 to 5 cents a pound higher than a month ago and pork products of all qualities, from pigs' feet to headcheese, are worth considerably more than they could be bought for March 1. There is little likelihood that a reaction will come because the conditions which produce the enhanced values will not change for several months.

The story that the Ann Arbor company proposes to build at Gladstone and run its car ferries to that place is thus commented on by the Leader of Menominee: "News is rather scarce, and to this fact is perhaps due the erection of the various air castles. The construction of a slip at Gladstone would be of no advantage to the company. The Soo road and the Soo road only touches Gladstone. This road does not touch at a single iron mine, and the only ore shipped to Gladstone is that switched from the St. Paul line onto the Soo line at Pembine, to be loaded on boats on the Gladstone ore docks. The St. Paul company will not ship any more ore to Gladstone than they have to, as they thus let much revenue go with it. It is not reasonable to think that the company would thus transfer its revenue to the Soo people, when it can keep it by shipping down its line to Menominee and there load right onto the car ferries. It is no further by rail from the iron country to Menominee than it is to Gladstone. A study of a map of the upper peninsula railroads will convince any one of the foolishness of running the ferry boats to Gladstone for the iron ore shipment."

Signs of improvement are all the more satisfactory because neither accompanied nor apparently produced by a speculative craze. Dealings in stocks, cotton and wheat are not diverting all the interest and capital from productive industry and legitimate trade, though these products are all a shade stronger. But railroad earnings, bank clearings and industrial indications are more encouraging this week. It is a remarkable feature that the lifting this year begins at the bottom, so to speak; raw materials are raised before there is any larger demand for their finished products, a thing not often done with success. Hides rose, then leather, and then shoes; cotton rose, and afterwards some cotton goods; coke was advanced and afterwards Bessemer pig. In all these cases it is reasoned that the larger demand for consumption, though yet wanting, must come when it is seen that prices are going up.—Dun's Review, 30th.

The second annual report of the work of the commissioner of labor under the law directing inspection of manufacturing establishments is now ready for issue or nearly so. It is a good work and has been well done, and the report will be one of much value. It gives a statistical table of the 2,688 factories inspected during the year 1894, each factory being known by its inspection number and all references through the book refer to that number. The table gives the location and names of factories, whether running or idle; if running whether full or part time, whether full or part capacity, number of employes (with sex) when running full capacity, number employes now, average monthly pay roll, goods manufactured, hours of labor, child labor, increase or decrease in wages and other matters pertaining to the welfare of employes.

As to Gov. McKinley's position with regard to silver, when shown a paper which quoted him as saying that if the republican party declared for free silver he would not accept the nomination for president, the governor shrugged his shoulders and smilingly said: "Why, that's absurd." Nothing more need be said.

Speaker Crisp does not expect to wield the gavel again. He knows, of course, that a republican will be the speaker of the 54th congress, and he says: "I do not expect the precedents of history to be broken for my especial benefit. Do you know that no man was ever elected speaker of the house during more than two congresses? Well, it is a fact. It is somewhat remarkable that while eleven men have served through two congresses not one of them was ever elected to a third. I don't know that there is any anti-third term prejudice in the country so far as the speakership is concerned, as there is about the presidency, but I scarcely expect to be lucky enough to break the record."

Marinette republicans have to face the same condition of things that exists here—an "independent" ticket supported by democrats and sore-heads—and this is how the North Star regards it:

"The so-called Independent ticket this spring, while not essentially a democratic ticket, is by no means a republican ticket. The election of this ticket would be calamitous, because it would lose to the republican party the prestige it now holds. Defeat of the republican ticket this spring would be more than temporary in its effect to the party; it would lose to it vantage ground which it is essential for it to hold for future elections."

The truth is there is not in the modern democratic party a man who can be called a broad statesman. Most of the leaders are charlatans, quacks and men of such small mental caliber that they cannot look at the two sides of any question, and therefore they are dead and disgraceful failures in whatever they undertake in the administrative offices of the country. The people of the United States must grow richer before they can buy liberally of foreign products, and therefore the impoverishment of our people caused by the misguided democratic policy at Washington injures not only our country but other countries also.—Wisconsin.

Governor Morton loves fine horses and keeps a splendid stable, but he is not asking the state of New York to take care of his horses for him. He induced the republican members of the legislature to cut out the appropriation of $33,000 for a stable in connection with the executive mansion at Albany, that there might be no misunderstanding regarding his motives. Had the bill passed and been signed by him there would have been charges that it was for his own horses. Had he vetoed it he would have been charged with posing as an economist to make a record.

A large bed of almost pure sulphur lies beneath a bed of quicksand in Louisiana. A Belgian engineer endeavored to mine it by freezing the quicksand and boring it, but the quicksand would not stay frozen. Recently the Standard Oil company tried the opposite plan successfully. Superheated water is forced through ten-inch pipes to the sulphur, melting it, and the liquid sulphur water is then pumped up. Exposure to the air evaporates the water, leaving almost pure sulphur. At the first experiment several tons of sulphur were obtained.

By the death of Anton G. Hesing, which occurred Sunday last, Chicago loses a man of mark and the Germans of Illinois a wise adviser. He had been for the years since '62 editor of the Staats Zeitung, the most influential German paper in the north west and his last work was an article in that paper protesting against the corruption in the Chicago city government. He was seventy-two years old on the 6th of last January and his death was caused by paralysis.

The Republican party is the only party from which the friends of silver have anything to hope. It is pledged to the restoration of silver as a money metal, and the Republican party never fails to fulfill its pledges. Free coinage of both silver and gold is bound to come as soon as the Republican party again assumes control of the government, but it can not come as long as a Democrat president, whose every utterance is against free silver, stands in the way. The revenue of the Western Union Telegraph company for furnishing the time of day footed up about $1,500,000 last year. The company has a telegraph desk in the Naval Observatory at Washington. Four minutes before noon the wires of the system all over the United States are cleared of business, and the instant the sun passes the 75th meridian electricity carries the news to every city.

Teachers' Institute.

GLADSTONE, MICH., April 4, 1895.—To the Teachers of Delta County: The State Teachers' Institute for Delta county will be held at Gladstone instead of Escanaba as previously announced.

As the schools in Escanaba will not close during the institute and as the course of instruction to be given will be especially adapted to the needs of those not having professional training, I have deemed it best with the consent of the superintendent of public instruction, to make the above change.

Teachers and others expecting to attend the institute should notify the commissioner in proper time so that suitable accommodations can be provided.

Institute commences at 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, April 15, and closes at 4 p. m., Friday, April 19. A. P. SMITH, School Commissioner.

Teachers' Institute.

GLADSTONE, MICH., April 4, 1895.—To the Teachers of Delta County: The State Teachers' Institute for Delta county will be held at Gladstone instead of Escanaba as previously announced.

As the schools in Escanaba will not close during the institute and as the course of instruction to be given will be especially adapted to the needs of those not having professional training, I have deemed it best with the consent of the superintendent of public instruction, to make the above change.

Teachers and others expecting to attend the institute should notify the commissioner in proper time so that suitable accommodations can be provided.

Institute commences at 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, April 15, and closes at 4 p. m., Friday, April 19. A. P. SMITH, School Commissioner.

Impending Borrowing Money For School Building—Republican Victories at All Points—Man Killed at Bessemer—Other News.

The warm weather preceding the late heavy easterly and westerly gales so weakened the ice that the winds have broken it up. As a result, yesterday's east wind drove the ice upon the city front, and it is now many layers deep if not actually grounded at the outer ends of the docks.

Last night the Ste. Marie had great difficulty in getting into her dock. Succeeding at length, the south bound passenger train was run aboard and the big boat backed out 300 feet, and there remained all night, unable to go forward or backward.

The pressure of the ice driven by the gale was tremendous.—Republican, St. Ignace.

The vote on the proposition to bond the school district for $25,000 for the building of a new school house, was voted favorably upon on Saturday the result being 109 for and nine against.

The expression in favor of the improvement was a substantial one and pleasing to our educational interests.—Iron Ore.

The entire republican ticket in Negaunee was elected by a handsome majority, as follows: Mayor, James F. Foley; recorder, James Johnson; treasurer, Benjamin Richards; justice of the peace, J. H. Primeau; school inspector, T. J. Flynn.

The board of aldermen is unanimously republican.

The negotiations of the Penn Iron Mining Co., looking towards the operation by that company of a Mesaba property, have not reached a favorable termination, and the Penn people will confine their operations to the Menominee range for a while longer.

Louier Tokia, a miner at the Tilden mine, was killed Thursday while coming up a shaft in the cage. In some way his head got caught in the timber on the side of the shaft, his head being cut off. His body dropped down the shaft, about 300 feet.

Manager Fitch announces a general reduction of salaries on the South Shore road. Those employees receiving the lowest rate of pay are cut three per cent, and the cut increases with the rate, employes receiving over $3,000 per year being cut twenty per cent.

The Menominee election went the right way—the Herald says "the democrats didn't get even a constable." The city council will be thirteen republicans to one democratic hold-over. The majority for the republican state ticket was 375.

It was a republican day in Menominee yesterday, and everything went that way from mayor down to constable in the seventh ward. A very light vote was polled, but little more than 1,700 votes being cast in the entire seven wards.—Leader.

Last Monday morning the Mackinac Island mail was lost through the ice, the horse was drowned and the driver and two passengers, County Clerk Hoban and a lady, narrowly escaped with their lives.—News St. Ignace.

Copper, ready for the market, is now accumulating at the Hancock and Dollar Bay smelting works, ready for shipment when navigation opens. Very little, if any, of the product will be shipped by rail from now on.

A local telephone company starts in with the assurance of nearly one hundred subscribers in Iron Mountain and twenty five at Norway, and will no doubt soon crowd the Bell company out of the field entirely.

It was a close thing at Manistique. O. C. Bowen, democrat, was chosen supervisor over W. H. Hill, republican, by one majority, the vote standing 215 and 214. The county went republican on the state ticket by 150.

The result from Bessemer is this: "Every thing went republican at the city election here yesterday. There were only two tickets in the field—republican and independent citizens. There was no room for democrats."

St. Ignace chose for mayor, James Connors (rep.); treasurer, E. B. Chamberlain (rep.); clerk, A. J. Genell (dem.). Council, five democrats and three republicans. State ticket republican by small plurality.

John H. Jacobs was elected mayor of Marquette by 976 votes over W. H. Green, who received 575. The election was not on political lines in any sense. The republican state ticket had a large majority.

The athletic association of the Michigan Mining School has issued invitations to a charity ball, to be given at the armory opera house, Houghton, on the evening of Thursday, the 18th of April.

The Sturgeon Bay stages will not be apt to make any more trips this season. In some places the ice is spread apart so badly that it is almost impossible to cross in safety.—Herald, Menominee.

The Ann Arbor car-ferry will resume trips to Menominee—or has resumed them—this week. The No. 1 was "bucking ice" in Green Bay last Tuesday and finding lots of it to "buck."

The, Soo went republican by 100 on the state ticket. Democrats elected the mayor and two aldermen and the republicans the city treasurer, two aldermen and the school commissioner.

"Jim" Crozer was candidate for alderman at Menominee, and "got there," of course. His opponent was as good a man as the democrats could put up but "Jim" is a winner, always.

One hundred thousand acres of land in this, Alger, and Schoolcraft counties, was sold this week to the Lac la Belle Co. Consideration $130,000.

The Eureka mine near Bessemer is worked out and was abandoned last Thursday. A hundred men are thrown out of work.

At Ishpeming the republican city ticket, headed by W. H. Johnston for mayor, was elected with a couple of exceptions.

Ironwood turned down Mayor Anderson and chose W. S. Winslow for mayor.

Dickinson county gave the republican state ticket a majority of 700.

The K-C mills at Menominee will begin sawing next Monday.

The Unwisdom of It.

It may be that no nominee of the republican city convention for mayor could have been successful—the nominee of the opposition was also a republican—but to force the candidacy upon ex-Mayor Greenhut against his protest and against the wishes of a minority in the convention as strong in numbers as that which supported Dr. Cotton was not wise, as the result shows. Those who formed and carried out the place see it now, when it is too late, and their loss of prestige is the penalty they pay.

A Few Pertinent Questions.

Do you advertise on the backs of restaurant bills of fare? Do you put a card in the book "For the benefit of the fire department?" Do you subscribe to the "Industrial Progress" book and have your picture in it as a prominent business man? Does the "Society" program catch you? Are you susceptible to the blandishments of the gentleman who puts beautiful charts in all the railway stations? Do you "take a space—the only one left!" in the thousand and one schemes that come around every year? Do you suppose you ever get a cent's worth of benefit out of any ten dollars you spent that way? If all the dollars that are diverted from the newspapers into these and similar channels, were used in buying space in the best papers in town, there would be fewer merchants who say that advertising is a doubtful undertaking.

'I got up then and went to the door, and there stood Green. 'Well,' said Green, 'come on.' 'Come on where?' 'Anywhere,' he said, 'don't you belong to me?' 'And then I commenced thinking about betting my life in that poker game...'

THE COLONEL'S RUSE.

He Very Cleverly Gets Rid of an Obnoxious Theater Hat. 'Did you ever see a bird like that alive?' demanded the colonel of the young man who sat next to him. He was staring at the strange specimen on the hat in front, which cut off his view of the stage.

'There's a whole lot of sentiment wasted over the slaughter of song birds for millinery purposes,' continued the colonel. 'Very few song birds or any other kind are killed. They are not wanted. Nature could not supply birds with such bills and tails and colors as these women want...'

'I like to see a pretty hat,' he went on, 'but when I see an impossible bird like that on one it loses all interest for me. It's like seeing a well-dressed man wearing a celluloid collar. It looks cheap.' The woman in front turned slightly and glared at the colonel, but he apparently didn't see her, and continued just as the curtain was going down on the first act.

'You see, natural birds are expensive. They cost three times as much as these inventions of the milliners, made up of rubber wire, glass and dyed goose feathers. That hat is a beauty, and I should say it cost a good price if it did not have that artificial bird on it. That makes me suspect that it's all show and probably cheap...'

SWEPT OUT THE TERROR.

Yaphank is not a lively Long Island village, but it has a building that has made things lively for the villagers. 'Bull' is a sort of necessary part of the furnishings of the one store in the place. He has acquired the reputation of being a terror to everybody, including his most intimate friends.

'Bad-looking dog over there,' said the lean man, with a glance at the 'Bull,' who appeared to be dozing. 'Yes,' said Doc Winchell, 'he's the worst beast of his kind in these parts.' 'Let it put him out of the store inside of ten minutes,' was the strange man's reply.

'You'd be foolish to tackle that job, mister,' responded Doc, 'cause you'd not only lose your coin, but you'd get hurt into the bargain. Take my advice, mister, and not make the try.' 'I'm willing to try. I've heard of the critter before, and I came down here all the way from Ronkonkoma to win some money. I'll bet twenty dollars I can do the trick. Can you fellows raise the dust?'

THE HORSE-MARKET IN WINTER.

In the winter the horse-market languishes. Auction sales are slimly attended, and the bidders are chiefly suburban and country dealers looking for bargains. The moral as well as the physical atmosphere is depressing. The auctioneer knows that eloquence would be wasted; the cold eyes and thin lips of the jocks who stand about him in a ring chill his fervor; the damp, piercing air of the salestable chokes his voice; the apple-woman shivers behind her basket; coat-collars are turned up; gusts of wind sweep in through big, open doors; and even the red faces of the whisky-drinking dealers assume a purplish tinge.

A TRAIL IN THE JUNGLE.

Mowgli and the Black Panther Hunt for a Stolen Treasure. Here is a characteristic description of a hunt through the jungle by Mowgli, the boy who was reared by the Wolf-pack, and the black panther Bagheera.

'At least I will look at the thing again,' he said, and slid down a creeper to the earth; but Bagheera was before him. Mowgli could hear the panther snuffing in the half light. 'Where is the thorn-pointed thing?' cried Mowgli.

'The toes are spread apart.' They went on over some wet ground. 'Now why does he turn aside here?' 'Wait!' said Bagheera, and flung himself forward with one superb bound as far as ever he could. The first thing to do when a trail ceases to explain itself is to cast forward without leaving your own foot-marks on the ground. Bagheera turned as he landed, and faced Mowgli, crying, 'Here comes another trail to meet him. It is a smaller foot, this second trail, and the toes turn inward.'

'It is the foot of a Gond hunter,' he said. 'Look!' Here he dragged his bow on the grass. 'That is why the first trail turned aside so quickly. Big Foot hid from Little Foot.'

'That is true,' said Bagheera. 'Now, lest by crossing each other's tracks we foul the signs, let each take one trail. I am Big Foot, Little Brother, and thou art Little Foot the Gond.'

'I also,' said Bagheera, hidden behind the rock. 'I wait, resting the end of the thorn-pointed thing upon a stone. It slips, for here is a scratch upon the stone. Cry thy trail, Little Brother.'

'One, two twigs and a big branch are broken here,' said Mowgli, in an undertone. 'Now how shall I cry that? Ah! It is plain now. I, Little Foot, go away making noises and trampling that Big Foot may hear me.' The boy moved away from the rock pace by pace among the trees, his voice rising in the distance as he approached a little cascade. 'I—go—far—away—to—where—the—noise—of—falling—water—covers—my—noise; and—here—I—wait; Cry thy trail, Bagheera, Big Foot!'

The panther had been casting in every direction to see how Big Foot's trail led away from behind the rock. Then he gave tongue. 'I come from behind the rock upon my knees dragging the thorn-pointed thing. Seeing no one, I run. I, Big Foot, run swiftly. The trail is clear. Let each follow his own. I run!'

Bagheera swept on along the clearly marked trail, and Mowgli followed the steps of the Gond. For sometime there was silence in the jungle. 'Where art thou, Little Foot?' cried Bagheera. Mowgli's voice answered him not fifty yards to the right. 'Um!' said the panther, with a deep cough. 'The two run side by side, drawing nearer!'

IT WAS NOT A SEALSKIN.

That's Why There Was Trouble in the Topstyle Family. Mr. Topstyle came home from his office one evening with the glow of an approving conscience on his face. As he greeted his wife he said: 'I've bought you a present, dear; you will find it on one of the hall chairs. I knew it was something that you really needed at once, otherwise I would not have selected—'

'George!' cried his wife, joyously. 'How did you ever find it out? I only decided this morning to go to the theater with the Browns, and I didn't realize myself until I looked at all my hats that I hadn't a thing large enough to wear on my head.' 'On your head—is the woman crazy? You'd have a hard time getting into any theater with your head adorned with—'

'O, George, how stupid of me! I know now—it's that diamond ring I've needed so long. Never mind, dear, I'd rather have it than the hat, and I can wear it to-night anyhow. I—' 'But it isn't—' 'Yes; I might pretend that my glove hurt me and take it off—or better yet, I might rub a hole through it with the stone and then complain about it to Laura Brownsmith. I would be a great day when her husband brought her home a diamond ring without—'

'My dear, is your mind quite right? I said nothing about a diamond ring. I merely informed you that I had brought you something you really needed and that the package—' 'George! George! Can it be that it is a sealskin jacket? O, how happy I am! You are the best husband in the whole world, George, and I only wish that I hadn't told mamma yesterday that you were cross—I really did not mean it at all, you know. But you shall just see what a good wife I shall be in future.'

AFRICAN BUTTERFLIES.

Stanley Brought Some from the Dark Continent to a New York Man.

Berthold Neumogen, who died in New York the other day, was noted as an amateur entomologist and spent over twenty years in forming a remarkable collection of over one hundred thousand rare and beautiful butterflies. This was his hobby and all his leisure was devoted to improving the collection. There are but two known collections in the world that excel in variety and number the one gathered by Mr. Neumogen. One is in the possession of the British museum, London, and the other is in Paris, says the Newark 'Times.' This work was a labor of love with Mr. Neumogen, and he would spend hours in a room on the top floor of his residence which contains the collection arranging and rearranging the beautiful specimens of the insect world in which he took so much pride. He generally kept in stock an immense number of butterflies for the purpose of exchange, and these he kept apart from his collection, not one of which would he dispose of unless he felt certain of being able to replace it.

Butterfly collectors are continually exchanging specimens, and Mr. Neumogen kept two men employed in receiving and shipping specimens. The largest shipment made by him was eight years ago, when he shipped twenty thousand butterflies to Europe. Livingstone, the great African explorer, furnished Mr. Neumogen with some of his rarest specimens. Others were furnished by Henry M. Stanley, Lieut. Schwatka and members of the Greely relief expedition. Among them were butterflies from Franklin bay, from the shores of Greenland, from lakes Tanganyika and Victoria Nyanza, from the headquarters of the Amazon, and from Labrador, Tibet, Alaska, China, Siberia, Turkestan and Kamchatka, and from the Himalayas, the Rocky mountains and the Alps.—N. Rabbing It In.

Rhodes—Do you think, Faith, dear, that your father will consent to our marriage? Faith—Of course papa will be very sorry to lose me, but I suppose he will give his consent. Rhodes—But I will tell him that instead of losing a daughter he will gain a son. Faith—I wouldn't do that dear, if you really want me. Papa has three such sons living at home now and he's a little touchy on that point.—Truth.

AMERICAN MOSAICS.

California Three Thousand Years Ago Were Killed in a Beautiful Art. An interesting feature of California, especially in the southern portion, are the evidences of a vast ancient population that once thronged its shores, bays and inlets.

These people were supposed to be savages, and compare favorably with the people who are identified in Europe with the so-called stone age; in other words, all their articles of use were of bone, stone or wood.

When southern California first attracted the attention of archaeologists, almost every excavation resulted in the discovery of vessels of a gray or greenish stone, known as steatite.

One of the finest shapes was found in a canyon near the Indian reservation of Pachanga, San Diego county. The vessel was about two feet in height and perfectly modeled.

It was noticed that in the excavation along shore steatite was found than inland, and finally steatite objects were found in great numbers on the island of Santa Catalina.

The old ledge still shows the marks of the tools, which were knives and gouges of flint and slate, and among the debris are seen the flakes, broken tools, and half-finished vessels.

These olla-makers had ideas far in advance of many of the native tribes of to-day. Some of the mortars of hard stone were of artistic shape; but the most esthetic feature is the mosaic work observed in their decoration.

Mosaic work was undoubtedly used in ornamentation of various objects. A disk-shaped stone was discovered at one of the village sites made of infusorial earth, one side of which was covered with asphaltum; that in turn, held bits of red, blue and green abalone mosaic.

Everybody saw the accident and smiled. "Huh," observed the fat man in a voice heard in all parts of the car.

"You know that you all now, don't you?" "Me? Lord, no. I'm married." Syracuse Post.

Fashion's Fads.

An entirely new design of capes is made to reach to the elbow and flare straight from the collar. Its foundation is changeable taffeta silk, and it is finished at the edge with a thick rose ruching, the edges of the ruching being pinked out. Over this silken foundation a cape of perforated cloth is set. It fits closely to the silk, and its edge sets snugly down under the silk ruche. The effect is entirely new and very jaunty.

The companion garment is from accordion pleated dark blue cloth divided at regular intervals by bands of embroidered cloth through which dark blue satin ribbon is drawn to end in bows at the hem. The cape is sewed to a round velvet yoke and the seam is concealed by ribbon and pleated chiffon or crepe tulle, a ruching of the latter forming the finish for the neck. It ties with blue satin ribbon and is lined with pale blue silk. The toque accompanying is made of gold lace trimmed with a fancy bird and a few orchids.

The "Tribby" craze has invaded fabrics. "Silk wrap Tribby" is the name of a material brought out for street and traveling wear in the spring. It is of Jacquard weave and effect, it is pretty enough to sustain the reputation of its sponsor, and is not expensive.

Scotch plaids are having a big revival. Light blue, with gold and contrasting colors—the plaid of the Gordon clan, if I mistake not—is a great favorite. I am told that all the fashionable women of Paris are wearing black crepon skirts and crepe Scotch plaid waists in the house and for shopping.

A new color is announced called "Pharaoh." It is a yellowish shade of red and will be much used in spring millinery. It probably derived its cognomen from the brick-making propensities of the ancient king of Egypt.

Editorial Comment.

Elmer Clapsaddle, better known as the "Hermit of Six Mile Creek," is the name of a unique character who lives alone in the woods in Niagara County, N. Y. Over his cabin he has posted the notice: "People Not Wanted Here." He is about twenty-five years old, and has written a strange book called, "Key to the Bible the Voice of the Seventh Angel; the Mysteries of God Finished or Revealed; the Millennium End of the World."

There is an old saying to the effect that nothing was created in vain, everything being destined for some purpose of utility in the economy of nature. The Citizens' Industrial Association, of Au Sable, is trying to see if the jack pine cannot be put to some use. They have a German chemist on the hook who claims that he can make a fine quality of paper from the jack pines so abundant in that section.

The quarrel in Manitoba. The threatened civil war in the province of Manitoba is over the following order of the Dominion government. It requests the provincial government to give to the Catholics of the province:

- 1. The right to build, maintain, equip, manage, conduct and support Roman Catholic schools in the manner provided for by the statutes which were repealed by the act of 1890.
2. The right to share proportionately in any grant made out of the public funds for the purposes of education.
3. The right of exemption of such Roman Catholic schools from all payment or contribution to the support of any other schools.

The provincial government refuses to heed the request—which is really an order—and the outcome is likely to be a fight. The Orangemen are on top in Manitoba, as the Catholics are in Quebec.

Strom and John Champ justices of the peace. Hans C. Jacobson drain commissioner, and the rest of the ticket follows, the figures being about the same as on the supervisorship.

A Successful Defence.

The two women, Burns and Gaston, accused of keeping a house of ill-fame near Garth, were again arraigned before Justice Moore last Wednesday. They were defended by George Gallup and, though the characters of the women and that of their house are matters of public notoriety, there appears to have been a lack of evidence for, after an examination occupying all the day, they were discharged. Comment is unnecessary, it is not easy, in such cases, to prove what every one knows.

CYCLING IN EUROPE.

Growing in Favor with the Royalty and Nobility.

King Leopold Determined to Conquer a Wheel—Ancient Inns Are One of the Charms of Winter Riding in Old England.

Cycle riding is growing in favor with the royalty and nobility of Europe. Almost every royal family is represented, inclusive of England and Russia. The most enthusiastic king over there is Leopold of Belgium. He is a great patron of cycle racing and "the king's purse" is the most coveted prize, both in point of glory and profit, at the annual race meet in Brussels. King Leopold has determined not to be discouraged in his attempts to master the wheel and has evidently concluded to forget the disaster that attended his efforts in that direction some months ago, when he first bestrode his wheel. Since the day that he made an intimate acquaintance with a thorny shrub in the gardens of his palace at Laeken, into which he flew head foremost from his saddle, the bicycle had stood in quiet and disuse in the carriage house. Yielding to the entreaties of his nephew, young Prince Albert, who besought him to try again, the king has been practicing in the large ballroom, and when spring clears away the snow and the air is again balmy his Belgian majesty will be seen scorching around the beautiful gardens and through the park surrounding his country seat near Brussels. The king's wheel is geared to 56 1/4, has 30-inch wheels, the frame being inches and inches higher than any American bicycle, which is due to the fact that his majesty is blessed with probably the longest pair of legs in Belgium. His nephew, Prince Albert, who is at the same time the heir to his throne, is an enthusiastic wheelman.

Cycling in England has many advantages not enjoyed by those who follow the pastime in this country. In the first place, the climate there permits of riding throughout the whole year. The winters are mild compared with ours. In the second place, the roads give infinitely better footing and the winter scenery is delightful. But perhaps the most fascinating feature of cycling in England is to be found in those rare old country inns which have been bequeathed to the modern cyclist by the dead and gone passenger traffic.

"THE BELL," AT BERKELEY HEATH.

of the picturesque coach. When the railroad came in the coach went out, and for many years the cozy inns with their glittering bars and comfortable larders were in desuetude. Many of them were deserted or changed into houses of cheap "pales." But most of them were continued as inns by the descendants of the original proprietors, with less profit, however. A few years ago, when cycling waxed in popular favor, there sprang up a new demand for the country inn, and the face of the host or hostess brightened with the improvement in trade.

"The Angel" at Ditton has enriched its proprietors during the last ten years, and to feed 500 tourists of a Sunday is now no uncommon affair for the "miasma" and her daughters.

One of the most interesting of the old coaching—no, cycling—inns is "The Bell" at Berkeley Heath on the road between Gloucester and Bristol. "The Bell" is of special concern to lovers of Dickens, for it was here that Bob Sawyer prevailed, in hurricane fashion, on Mr. Pickwick to pay the score. Here is the passage:

"You may say that," rejoined Ben Allen; "in proof of Bob Sawyer being one of the funniest fellows alive, he proceeded to entertain Mr. Pickwick with a long and circumstantial account, how that gentleman once drank himself into a fever and got his head shaved; the relation of which pleasant and agreeable history was only stopped by the stoppage of the chaise at 'The Bell,' of Berkeley Heath, to change horses. 'I say! we're going to dine here, aren't we?' said Bob, looking in at the window. 'Dine!' said Mr. Pickwick, 'why, we have only come nineteen miles, and have eighty-seven and one-half to go! 'Just the reason why we should take something to enable us to bear up against the fatigue!' remonstrated Bob Sawyer. 'Oh! it's quite impossible to dine at half-past eleven o'clock in the day,' replied Mr. Pickwick, looking at his watch. 'So it is,' rejoined Bob. 'Lunch is the very thing. Hallo, you, sir! Lunch for three directly, and keep the horses back for a quarter of an hour. Tell them to put everything they have cold upon the table, and some bottled ale, and let us taste your very best Madeira.' 'Issuing these orders with monstrous importance and bustle, Bob Sawyer at once hurried into the house to superintend the arrangements; in less than five minutes he returned and declared them to be excellent. 'The Bell' to-day has many a cycling Bob Sawyer on its list.
