Wilbur Is Summoned To Washington By President

NAVAL BUDGET OF NEXT YEAR WILL COME UP

DEPARTMENT HOLDS EXPENSES TO 70 PER CENT NOW.

(By The Associated Press.) San Diego, Cal., Sept. 15.—Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the navy, summoned suddenly back to Washington by a message from President Coolidge, left for Riverside at 4 p. m., today in an airplane by which he planned to make connections with a fast train going east.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has been requested to return to Washington as soon as possible, it was indicated at the White House today, to confer with the president on departmental matters, particularly in regard to the next budget allowance for the navy.

Secretary Wilbur is expected to reach Washington in time for Friday's cabinet meeting, and in view of his return, it is assumed that the financial straits of the navy will be considered at that session, preceded possibly by a conference on the subject between the president and the department head.

Repairs Limited. The navy already is operating under general orders limiting repairs to 70 per cent of recommended programs, and it has been estimated that, partly as a result of the curtailment, an expenditure of $15,000,000 will be required to bring the ships up to satisfactory rating at this time. It was also announced recently that the battleship Florida would be placed in "reserve," presumably because of the need of the repairs, and that the navy might have to abandon a proposed winter cruise to Australia.

Despite these conditions, as outlined with concern by navy experts the budget bureau is understood to have made sharp cuts in department estimates in preparing its recommendations for appropriations for the next fiscal year. According to one report, but brings the total the budget has been willing to recommend for the navy 17 to 20 per cent under minimum estimates; submitted to it by Secretary Wilbur and strongly urged by his advisers. The total, it is said has been pared to less than $300,000,000, an amount held by naval experts to be far below requirements.

McArthur May Be Pushed by K. K. K. for Secretaryship

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 15.—Former State Senator G. E. McArthur, who made an unsuccessful run for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in last week's primary, may be put forward in the Republican state convention in Detroit September 24, as a candidate for secretary of state with the backing of the Ku Klux Klan. According to a report received here today the Klan may use McArthur to test its strength in the convention, and upon its success with this candidate may base other activities in the meeting. He would oppose Secretary of State Charles J. Deland, and State Senator John W. Smith, of Post Huron, who are seeking the nomination.

In the counties in which the Klan vote showed strength in the primary an effort will be made, it is understood, in the county conventions to be held Wednesday of this week to select favorable delegates to the state convention. Party leaders, in this connection, are watching Calhoun, Genesee, Ingham, Gratiot, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Oakland and other counties where the vote for Hamilton or Perry for governor, or McArthur for lieutenant governor, was heavy.

TRIBUTE PAID TO WILSON BY LEGIONNAIRES

Sixth Annual Convention of Organization Under Way.

(By The Associated Press.) St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—Marked by a simple, stirring tribute to the late Woodrow Wilson and a pledging anew of the union of the north and the south, the sixth annual convention of the American Legion opened its five day convention here today.

It was a solemn memorial service to the late wartime president that concluded the initial session, hushing the thousands of Legionnaires who had been thrilled into prolonged cheering as representatives of the Blue and the Gray of Civil War days renewed allegiance to the union.

Onto the speakers platform two veterans of Virginia bore a large framed portrait of the man whose pronouncement had sent them to foreign battlefields. "He was Virginia's finest contribution to the welfare of all mankind," said John Wicker, past commander of the department of Virginia, in presenting the portrait to the Legion's national headquarters.

A Garland of roses then was draped over the portrait by two members of the Virginia auxiliary, and after a minute of silent prayer, a bugler sounded "taps." Torrance Is Speaker. Judge Eli Torrance, of Minneapolis, past commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, had praised the "courage and fighting qualities" of the Confederate soldiers. All bitterness of the Civil War now was gone, he said. Then, as General W. B. Haldeman, of Louisville, was presented as commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans, bands took up the stirring strains of "Dixie," and the Legionnaires turned loose an ovation.

When General Haldeman had concluded, pointing to the complete union of the north and south, former Governor S. R. Vansant of Minnesota, past commander of the G. A. R., evoked further cheers by a tribute to the Confederate soldiers. National Commander John R. Quinn, in an address, pointed to achievements of the past year as a fitting climax of five years of endeavor and said the accomplishments had doubled the prestige of the Legion.

Hardly more than a half hour after the convention adjourned at 1:30 p. m., until 9 a. m., tomorrow, the annual convention of the American Legion auxiliary and the 40 and 8 society got under way in separate convention halls.

Government Files Brief With Court Opposing Appeal

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Sept. 15.—The government has filed a brief with the supreme court opposing the appeal sought by R. H. Clements and other former employees of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, convicted of obstructing the passage of the mail and interfering with interstate commerce during the shop crafts strike in 1922. Clements and others were indicted and convicted on the charge of having abandoned trains in the deserts of Southern California and Arizona, with the result that mails were obstructed and interstate commerce impeded. The government, in opposing the granting of an appeal, argued that the case, which has attracted wide attention in labor circles, presented no question warranting a review.

FARRELL LEADS PRO QUALIFIERS AT FRENCH LICK Is Closely Followed By Five Others With 141

(By The Associated Press.) French Lick, Ind., Sept. 15.—John Farrell, of New York, today proved to be the best golfer in the elimination rounds of the national professional championship, not only leading the 32 survivors with a score of 140 for the 36 holes, but setting a course record of 68 in the morning round and a record of 33 for the first nine holes of the 6,471 yard links, whose par is 36-36-72. In spite of the spectacular performance his total was only one stroke better than that of five other players, one of them, Mike Brady, of New York, equalled the course record in the afternoon. Tying Brady for second place at 141 were Walter Hagen, British open champion, who scored a 33 for the second nine in the morning for a 70, Bobby Cruikshank, who scored one of the three 69's, Frances Gallet whose rounds of 71 and 70 and Harry Hampton of Canton, O., who was the only man west of New York City to get into the first six places.

Sarazen Is Seventh. Gene Sarazen, of New York, defending his title, shot a 69 in the morning but slipped off four strokes in the afternoon to win seventh place with 142. This was one stroke better than the total returned by Charles Hoffer of Philadelphia, who scored the third 69 of the day on his second circuit of the links. It required a score of 150 or better to survive the medal rounds.

John Farrell, New York, 68-72-140. M. J. Brady, New York, 73-68-141. Walter Hagen, New York, 70-71-141. Robert Cruikshank, New York, 71: Francis Gallet, New York, 71: Harry Hampton, Canton, Ohio, 71: Gene Sarazen, New York, 72: Charles Hoffer, Philadelphia, 143; William MacFarlane, New York, 145; Henry Clud, New York, 146; Ray Derr, Philadelphia, 146; Jack Hutchinson, Chicago, 147; Al Espinosa, Chicago, 147; Art Ham, Detroit, 147; Leo Diegel, Washington, D. Lowden To Speak to Detroit GOPS

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Sept. 15.—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, presidential candidate four years ago and who refused the Republican nomination as vice president this year, will address the Republicans of Michigan here Tuesday, September 23, as a part of the preliminary to the Michigan state Republican convention. Mr. Lowden also is in the public eye at the present time as the probable chairman of the Coolidge committee investigating farm conditions.

Couzens Had Lead of 90,606 in Wayne

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Sept. 15.—Wayne county gave Senator James Couzens a plurality of 90,606 votes over Judge Arthur J. Tuttle, the official canvass here today disclosed. Governor Groesbeck had a plurality in the county of 118,000, and George Welsh of 38,000, the canvass disclosed.

Chekiang-Kiangau Armies Fight Bitter Battle Following Rest

(By The Associated Press.) Shanghai, Sept. 15.—The armies of Chekiang and Kiangsu, battling west and southwest of this city, which held their fire during a few days of rain, were fighting with renewed intensity today. As a result the streams of wounded returning from the front increased. Reports as to the result do not agree, but the best information was there was little change in the situation.

Shanghai was calmer, although the naval forces landed to protect foreigners and their interests have not relaxed their vigilance. One reason for the lessening of anxiety was a report that the Kiangsu leaders had abandoned their attempt to reach this city through Luho and Woung, the outer part of Shanghai, and had sent reinforcements to Hwangtu on the Shanghai-Nantung railway where the fighting has been the hardest. Both sides are using machine guns, which accounts for the increased casualties. There has also been heavy fighting south of the railway, where the Chekiang headquarters claims that advances were made despite the fact that its men were caught by

THREE PLANES MAKE CHICAGO ON WAY WEST

TRIP FROM DAYTON PASSES WITHOUT INCIDENT.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 15.—Chicago today greeted her winged messengers, and took Lieutenant Lowell Smith and his lieutenant encircling fliers to her bosom, stood with bared head while the planes figuratively unraveled more of the Red, White and Blue thread they have spun around the globe, gave them great ovations and tonight tendered them food and drink at a public banquet.

From the moment Lieutenant Smith and his flag plane, Chicago, completed the hop from Dayton to Maywood Air Field at 12:55 daylight saving time, he, with his companion pilots, Lieutenant Erik Nelson in the New Orleans, and Lieutenant Leigh Wade in his Boston II, received all that the city could give them. Tomorrow at 8 a. m., central time, they are scheduled to be on their way again to Omaha, an air distance of 440 miles.

The flight of 294 miles from Dayton was without incident. After a parade about the field, to permit all to get a glimpse of the fliers, they were placed in motor cars and whisked away to an adjoining suburb, where they had luncheon "in peace." At every turn it was necessary to protect them with a squad of policemen or a corps of motorcycle officers. During the two and a half-hour absence from the field, the throngs lingered, waiting for another peek when the officers returned.

Eight Plane Escort. An official army escort of eight airplanes from Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill., which arrived early at the air mail field, took off for the east when the world gliders were reported about 75 miles from Chicago. Meeting them in northern Indiana, they trailed the visiting ships until they landed at Maywood.

The birdmen have 3,540 air miles ahead of them before they reach Seattle, Wash., the terminus of their long air flight, is reached. The only deviation from the airway course tomorrow will be made at Davenport, Iowa, where, at the request of Ralph W. Cram, managing editor of the Davenport Democrat, speaking for the citizens of the tri-city of Davenport, Moline and Rock Island, Ill., the fliers will circle, and by their circling, pay signal honor to those below. They plan to fly over the air mail field at Iowa City also. Lieutenant Smith said, then pass on over Des Moines and into the regular air mail lane into Omaha.

Ill Nearly Year.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago American baseball club, who died in Los Angeles tonight, had never assumed personal charge of the team of which he was named pilot last fall. Ill health compelled his return to his California home a few days after he came here this spring to join the club after it completed its spring training. His duties had been performed by Johnny Evers, agent.

Ill Nearly Year.

Chance's career in baseball began when he left the University of Washington, Irvington, Calif., to join the Cubs, which was the only professional club with which he had played. He was used as a catcher at first, but later developed into a first baseman under Manager Sale.

Davis May Invade Northern States

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 15.—Plans for the Democratic invasion of Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and probably Michigan and Ohio for John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee, were to the fore today in western headquarters as final preparations were made for Mr. Davis' first campaign address in Chicago, scheduled for next Thursday evening. Michigan, another state placed on Mr. Davis' visiting list by the western managers, probably will be on the itinerary for Sunday and Monday, September 21 and 22, although definite plans await approval of the nominee after his Indiana engagements the end of this week. From Michigan, under tentative plans ready for presentation to Mr. Davis Thursday, the present tour would be turned into Ohio for three days.

NOTED BASEBALL LEADER IS DEAD AT LOS ANGELES Did Not Pilot White Sox This Year Due To Health

(By The Associated Press.) Los Angeles, Sept. 15.—Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago White Sox, died here tonight after a long illness. For several months Chance had been recuperating in southern California from a breakdown suffered in Chicago last spring in an attempt to resume active management of the team. He was at his apartment here early tonight when another sudden attack caused his removal to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where he died within half an hour. Funeral arrangements will be completed tomorrow, relatives announced.

The White Sox manager contracted influenza in Chicago last year, later developing asthma and other complications. He came to California and after a few months felt so far recovered that he accepted the offer of Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago team, to return to Chicago.

His stay in Chicago was tragically brief, however, and within a few weeks he was again at Palm Springs, a health resort nearby, fighting to win back his strength. Later he alternated this time between Palm Springs, his ranch at Glendora, Calif., and his apartment here.

Gangsters Fail in Attempted Murder

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Sept. 15.—The "other side" of New York City, bound by its own peculiar laws, today applied the usual penalty to Michael DeFalco, and though many persons witnessed the gang shooting at noon on a busy street, none knew quite enough to aid the police.

DeFalco was accused on two counts—holding up a dice game being played by his associates, and stealing the drug supply of a brother gangster. When he stepped from a doorway four men fired at him simultaneously. He fell, as did Louis Antol, a waiter, who was hit by a stray bullet. Both are in a critical condition in a hospital. Antol does not know who shot him and DeFalco won't tell. "I'll get 'em when I get out," he said.

Outbuildings of Farm Destroyed

Fire which broke out at 10 o'clock last night on the Ed Jogue farm just on the outskirts of Garden, destroyed all buildings except the house. In the buildings destroyed were 25 tons of old hay, 30 tons of new hay, 300 bushels of threshed oats and 10 loads of oats not threshed. John Seldhusen, who is renting the farm, is the owner of the destroyed crops. He is said to have a small amount of insurance. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have started the conflagration.

Mrs. Franks Didn't Want Boys Hanged

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Jacob Franks, mother of the slain Robert Franks, did not want Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, sentenced to hang and is satisfied with the sentence of life imprisonment, her husband said today. "I am satisfied with it also, but partly because it satisfies my wife," he said.

FAIR TO OPEN TODAY; MAJOR EXHIBITS SET

HARNESS RACING IS TO COMMENCE ON WEDNESDAY.

The Northern Michigan Fair will be opened, officially, today. Virtually all of the major exhibits, in all departments, were in their places last night. The rest will arrive early this morning, and the great autumn exposition will be in full swing by mid-day. Live stock barns, pens and coops were well filled last night; display tables in the agricultural and domestic arts departments were rapidly filling up, and the midway was a scene of spirited activity.

Vaudeville Show. Today's entertainment program will include a vaudeville show, at 2 o'clock on the free attraction stage. Eli Rice, singer, who has been loaned to the fair by the management of Terrace Gardens, will sing any song asked for by his audience; Adair and Adair, horizontal bar artists, will "do their stuff" and Lepinsky's dogs will be sent through their repertoire.

On the race track, the Wooster Attractions, will make their initial bow here, presenting Miss Salina, the lone runner who races an automobile; a Roman standing race, with two teams of thoroughbreds, and a relay race in which three girls will ride three miles, each rider changing horses at the end of each mile. The harness racing program and the horseshoe pitching tournaments will not begin until Wednesday afternoon. There are a large number of entries in each of these pastimes.

To Break Record.

Programs, beginning Wednesday, will start promptly at 2:00 o'clock. The Wooster horses will be offered between heats of the harness races. This will make an exceptionally long program and it will be necessary to start Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons' programs promptly on time.

Indications yesterday were that the fair would be the largest in its history. There will be a record number of exhibits in all departments, record-breaking competition in the races, and mammoth crowds.

Fair weather is promised for today and tomorrow.

Four Sought in Connection With Slaying of Girl

(By The Associated Press.) New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 15.—Police tonight declared four young men being sought for information regarding the disappearance August 12 of 15 year old Elizabeth Johnson a farmer's daughter, whose lifeless body was found yesterday on the shores of Lake Carnegie. The search, however, centers on a farm hand whose attention to the girl are known to have been opposed by her parents. This man was at the Johnson home the day the girl disappeared, according to the police.

Six Persons Dead in Auto Collision

(By The Associated Press.) St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 15.—Six persons were killed tonight when two automobiles collided at Donovan's station seven miles from here. The machines carried passengers returning from British warships stationed here. Included in the list of dead, it was reported, was Lieutenant Callahan and another officer of the British warship Constance.

BODY OF MAN FOUND HANGING TO SMALL TREE

Efforts of Menominee County Officials to Identify Fail.

Menominee, Sept. 15 (Special)—Efforts to identify the body of a man, found hanging to a tree near the Power water tank Sunday afternoon, failed yesterday and local authorities were making every effort to get in touch with relatives of every person listed as missing in this region during the last year.

Hope of Escanaba relatives of Joseph Gibeau, of Escanaba, who disappeared several weeks ago, that the body was that of the missing Delta county building contractor, were shattered last night when it was declared, positively, that the body was not that of Mr. Gibeau. Sheriff Peters and Prosecutor Doyle, of Menominee county, are engaged in following up other clues which may lead to identification. The body was found, suspended by a rope from a small ash tree. The rope was tied about seven feet from the ground, and the body was in a kneeling position. The flesh was entirely gone from the face but bits of blond hair were still attached to the scalp. The right upper jaw contained several gold crowned teeth. The clothing consisted of a light overcoat, a new pair of overalls over a brown suit. A pipe, a box of matches and a tin can of tobacco were all that the pockets contained. The heavy underwear and the weight of other garments, together with the condition of the body, lead authorities to believe that the man committed suicide sometime early last spring.

The body was taken to Menominee, where it will be held until the investigation is completed.

Not An Alliance.

The draft pact does not partake of the nature of a Franco-British alliance in any sense, but is entirely a protocol of mutual assistance affecting all the members of the league. Nevertheless the fact that Great Britain and France have reached an accord is expected to go a long way to securing the general approval of the powers. The most tense day Geneva has seen since the opening of the present assembly ended with a brilliant reception and dance given by the Rumanian delegations to the representatives of all countries. The events of the day were discussed amid considerable excitement and with a general expression of opinion that the most difficult stage of the negotiations had been passed. This is probably so, because France has expressed satisfaction that the guarantees offered for her security is deemed sufficient if the present draft protocol can be accepted by the other powers.

Emil Zupke Pleads Guilty; Remanded to Jail by Judge

(By The Associated Press.) St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 15.—Emil Zupke, Benton Harbor factory worker, pleaded guilty in circuit court late today to the murder early in August of Cora May Raber, Gladstone township girl and mother of his unborn child. He was remanded to jail for sentence by Judge Charles E. White. Zupke was arraigned shortly after Florence McKinley, 19, had entered a plea of not guilty to second degree murder in connection with the same crime. Zupke is a confession to the sheriff that led to the discovery of the Raber girl's body near an abandoned railroad track August 10, named Miss McKinney as having plotted with him to kill Miss Raber. She drove his roadster while he pushed the girl to death, he said. A trial will be held during the present term of court.

State To Benefit from Prize Fight

(By The Associated Press.) Trenton, N. J., Sept. 15.—The state comptroller's office today estimated that the state treasury would be enriched to the extent of between $60,000 and $45,000 as a result of the Wills-Firpo boxing contest at Boyle's Thirty Acres last Thursday night. Under the law governing prize fights in New Jersey a tax of 10 per cent of the gate receipts is imposed.

Warrant Issued by Judge Keidan

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Sept. 15.—Judge E. B. Keidan today signed a warrant against Mrs. Euphemie Keidan, alleged to have killed the four husbands. The warrant was issued last week, when the police dug a hole in the floor of her home and found bits of clothing from the bodies of her four husbands.

PACT ADOPTED WILL AFFECT EVERY NATION

IS BY NO MEANS FRANCO-BRITISH ALLIANCE.

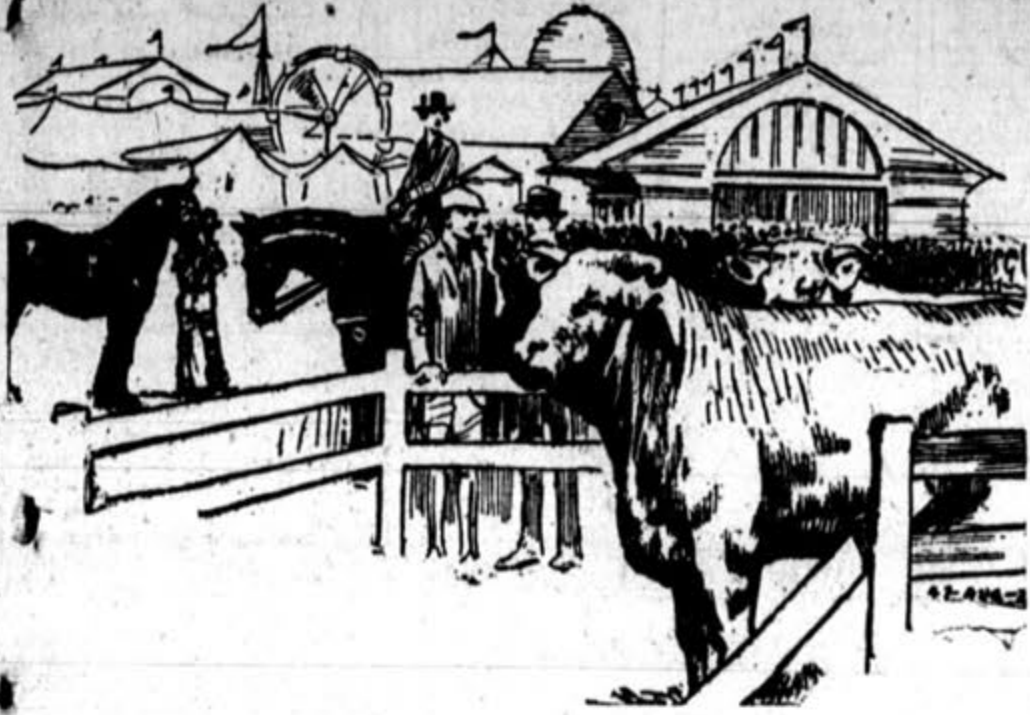

(By The Associated Press.) Geneva, Sept. 15.—A dramatic moment marked the negotiations today between Great Britain and France over the problem of the sanctions which are the basis of an agreement to outlaw war. The agreement was finally drafted in preliminary form and will be submitted tomorrow to the delegates of the other powers. On two occasions negotiations threatened disruption, but owing to the patience of both the British and French delegates they were resumed after temporary interruption and accord was finally attained.

"Assistance" Contended. The difficulty was over the question of how to insert in the agreement some definite clause whereby military, navy and economic assistance could be definitely assured, and more particularly the naval and economic assistance of England. The final draft does not mention Great Britain or any other power, but is in the nature of a pact of general and mutual assistance and makes clear that each member of the league will contribute the force at its disposition, either economic or military, for the general maintenance of peace.

It is understood that the day was saved by assurances received by the French delegation that Great Britain would interpret the pact to mean that she would stand ready to contribute both naval and aerial forces to the service of the league in time of need.

Not An Alliance. The draft pact does not partake of the nature of a Franco-British alliance in any sense, but is entirely a protocol of mutual assistance affecting all the members of the league. Nevertheless the fact that Great Britain and France have reached an accord is expected to go a long way to securing the general approval of the powers.

The most tense day Geneva has seen since the opening of the present assembly ended with a brilliant reception and dance given by the Rumanian delegations to the representatives of all countries. New Arrival in City.
A new arrival in the city yesterday who came to attend the Northern State Fair and to take in the exhibit of the Bird's Eye Veneer Co. was the new born son of Mr. and Mrs. Juel Lee who registered at St. Francis hospital early Monday. The mother who was formerly Miss Naomi Petersen and babe are doing nicely; and as for Juel Lee—well, he is all smiles and then some.

THE LABEL OF THE HIGHWAYS.
 Wisconsin has builded a wonderful highway system, and it has endeavored to erect signs along those highways to make them useful and safe for the public in the country and in the towns and cities. Such signs include the state and county trunk markers, arterial highway stops, railroad warnings, signs calling attention to detours, parking and no-parking directions, safety zone standards, stop and go signals. These are the signs of traffic control.

"Manifestly such signs will be useful only when they can be picked up quickly and surely by the motorist's eye," says the Milwaukee Journal. "Approaching an intersection or any point where there is interference of traffic, he glances to the right to get his directions. He is, to all intents and purposes, an engineer moving under orders—orders directed to handle the traffic.

"What happens in many cases? He sees a multiplicity of signs, all of which do not have the message he wants at that moment. 'Stop—Get Your Lunch Here,' says one. 'Danger Ahead—Unless You Buy Our Tires,' says another. 'Safety Always—When You See Our Oil.' Finally, from among these signs he picks out the one that gives him directions as to what to do at the wheel of his car.

"Now, do you suppose any railroad would permit the erections of signs along its right of way that interfered with the vital signals which the man leaning out of his cab must observe? Assuredly not. Those signals must be the only ones that come into his vision at that particular moment. On that fact depends safety.

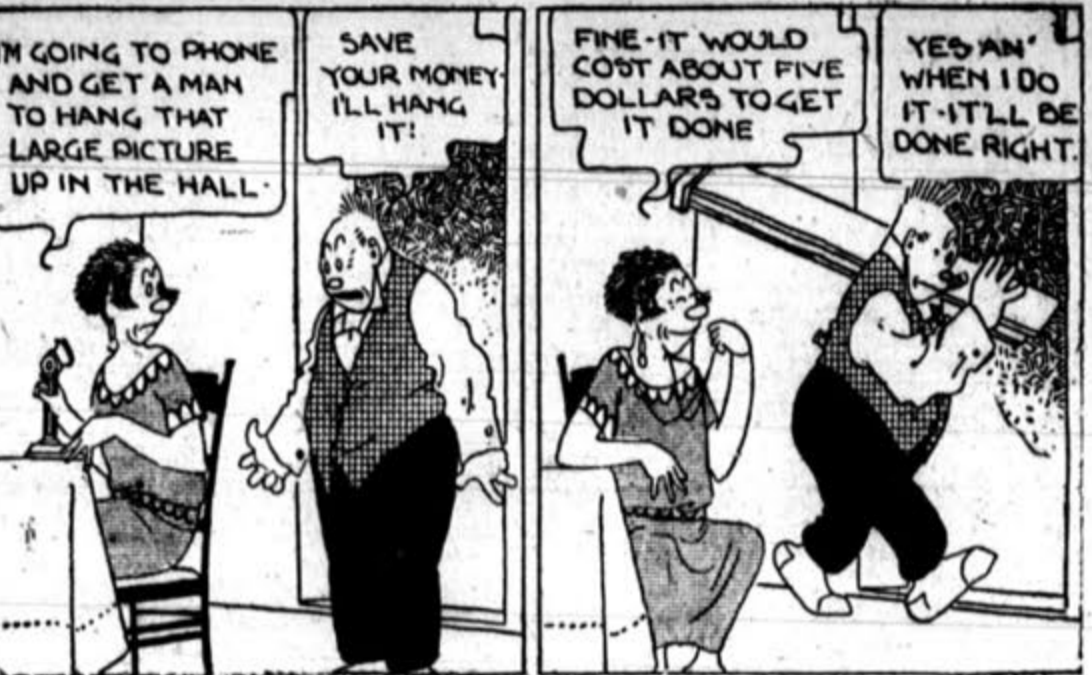

"Let's take a hint from the engineer and get busy on the job of removing unnecessary signs from our streets and highways—signs, especially, that get attention by masquerading behind a wording that makes them look like traffic signals. They are unhelpful and they are dangerous."

AN ALLOPATHIC DOSE.
 A man in Roanoke, Virginia, claimed exemption from tax on $35,000 which he said was given to him by a coal company as a gratuity, and as a gift was not taxable. The new U. S. Board of Tax Appeals looked into the matter a little further and found that the company had been making distributions of this sort to its officers, and had deducted them as salary. So the Roanoke man had to pay the tax. The transaction occurred prior to the law which made gifts taxable. The Roanoke man will no doubt be a little ruffled at the Board's decision, yet it seems to have been just. Perhaps he will fall in line with others who are clamoring for tax reduction, which President Coolidge has made the dominant issue of the campaign.

BOLIVIAN TIN.
 American interests have secured some splendid tin properties in Bolivia. American interests developed the possibilities in Bolivia during the World War because British-controlled tin from the Straits Settlements was being held at exceedingly high prices. Bolivia broke the British monopoly. We can do better by buying our tin from Bolivia than from the Straits. It increases our trade with Bolivia, and our sales to that country. The more raw products we buy from the Latin America, the more fabricated goods they will take from us.

Increases in the burden of public expenditures and the effect of such measures as have been devised to prevent unwise by the agencies of government will be considered at a conference of the National Association, which begins today at St. Louis.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

The Piffle Hook

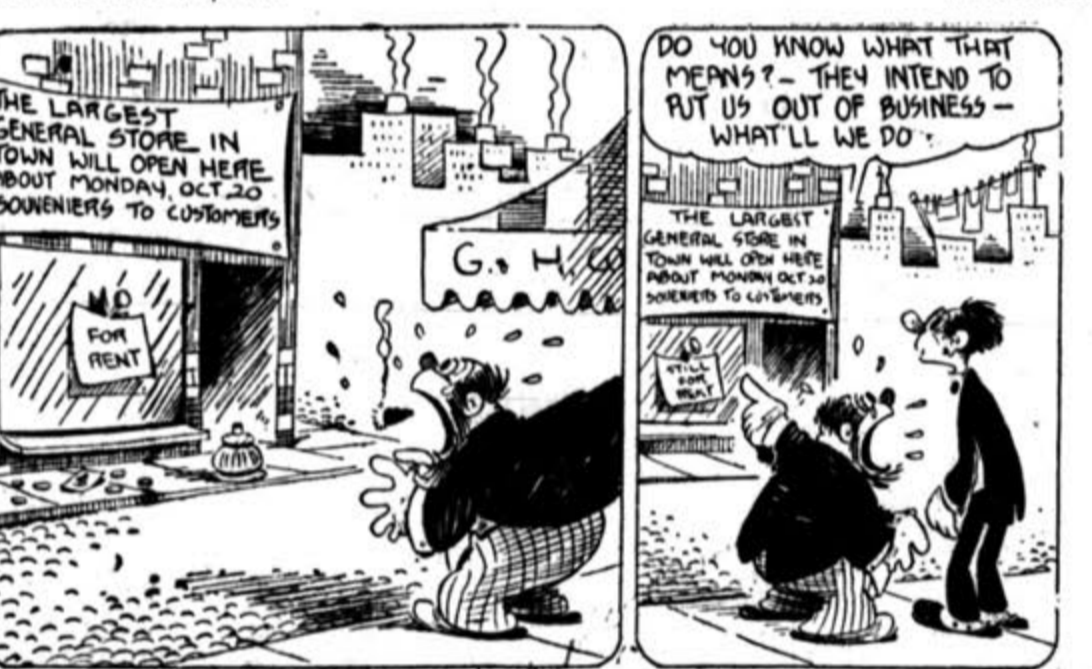

It is the wont of patriachs of the major political parties to sit, sadly in retrospect, conjuring up the images of other generations and wailing that the American people no longer are interested in their government. This slump, they ascribe to a variety of causes, all of them, in our ex-halted opinion, wide of the mark. The parade, with its flaming torches, its transparent signs, its hoarse yelling, its paper hats of hilarious tenor, was the spinal column of the old-time campaign. It generated the enthusiasm for the campaign, and, at the same time, provided a safety valve. Such demonstrations are gone, like the one-horse phanton and the car-muff, the bustle and pie for breakfast. Upon the tenet of absence we can agree with the sages. Upon the causes for the absence, there must needs be a divergence of opinion.

Prohibition, we hold, is to blame. Can you picture a staid, prosperous business man of today donning a cardboard plug hat, a paper collar and a linen duster, shouldering a flickering kerosine torch or an illuminated box sign, and trudging down the street behind a fife and drum corps?

Not, you say, if he were sober. That is our contention. He did it in the old days but he didn't do it—we are still generalizing—sober.

"And there," as Julius Caesar said to Jesse James, "you are."

Helen Lorimore's Legacy

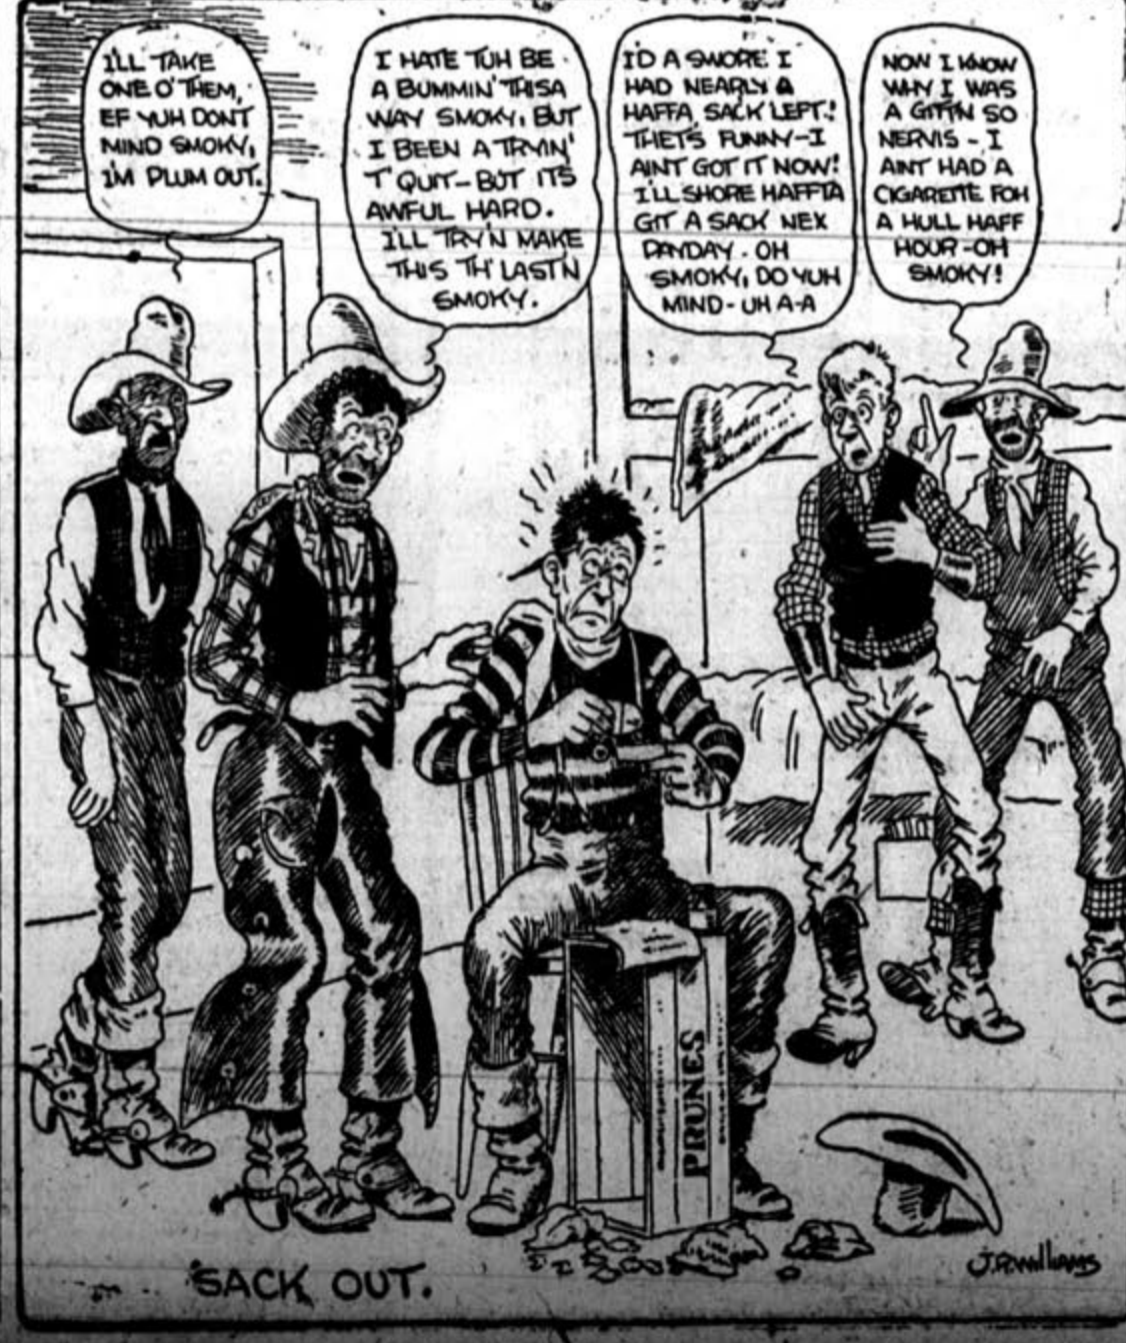

BY JANE PHELPS.

THE FULFILLMENT OF LIFE.
 Chapter LIV.

Helen's face, flooded with happiness, turned to Roy. "What do I—we care for what people say, Roy? I have only kept the ranch for you." Helen told him of the will she had made so long before, when everyone declared him guilty. "We love each other, and—we aren't children any more, but man and woman."
 "I know, dear, and you deserve the best—not a man whose life has been clouded, who is unworthy because of that and other things."
 "Roy Drayton, are you going to make me propose to you, ask you to marry me? I shall in another moment," Helen declared, laughing and crying at once.
 "Darling—" In Roy's arms Helen confessed her love, her longing for him, her loneliness. "I had almost made up my mind to offer you Wheelock's place," she told him. "But you see how much better this is—I have a husband and manager both! Oh, Roy, how could you think me such a weakling as to put what people might say before our love?"
 Two days afterward they were quietly married in the big living room of the ranch, only the Downings, the servants and all the men on the ranch as witnesses. Helen made it a holiday for the men, saying she wouldn't feel happy unless they shared the day with her.
 A honeymoon on horseback, camping in the mountains beside some stream, waking to the twilight time. Walter says he has a feeling you'd rather be alone than have us with you."

 "Tell Walter not to be foolish. We enjoy our friends more because we enjoy each other."
 Roy had slipped back into the old environment so quietly, so efficiently, that his coming had not disturbed the routine of the ranch in the least. Some of the older men had been with his uncle, and had known and loved him as a boy. The others—those that had come later, after he had been banished—were delighted that he had been proved innocent, and never by word or look failed in respect toward him.
 Martha was growing almost useless as a servant, but she never would want for a home, never leave them. A year after their marriage a baby son came to Helen, and Martha scarcely left his side. Helen had named him Henry Drayton, 2nd, after her uncle.
 The long expected visit East had not yet materialized.
 "By the time I get ready to go no one will remember me," she said to Roy. "I believe I'll give up the idea, I know I should be like a cat in a strange garret in New York and would probably want to take the next train back."
 "I should miss you, but go if you like, dear."
 "No, a rancher's life is the life for me!" Helen sang merrily as she hurried to answer the call of the young babe whom they declared should have a ranch worthy of his name when he grew up—The L.M. Ranch, enlarged, improved by their hard work and devotion.
 "Work and Love,—what more could anyone ask?" Helen said as she bent over her young son's cradle.

Confidentially, I'm positive "Hindu Mike's" down-town club is just a branch of the Klux. Even though the bow-legged member wears blinders, I caught him "burning across" a glance at a certain person the other night, which immediately stamped him, in my mind, as a Ku.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
 Preceded by a chorus of praise such as few pictures can boast, "Cythera," Goddess of Love, a First National picture, is coming to the Delft theatre today for a two day engagement. This picture of Joseph Hergesheimer's renowned novel has been characterized as the most notable contribution to the cinematic art because of the unique touches which have been injected into it by George Fitzmaurice, who produced and personally directed it for Samuel Goldwyn.

Among these unusual features is a color scheme that is used to emphasize the emotional efforts of the players. Three different hues are employed to bring out the moods of the episodes, vitalizing them to a degree heretofore unknown.

Then there is the story. So unusual was the plot, and so difficult to visualize did it appear to the ordinary director, that Mr. Fitzmaurice was the only one with courage enough to attempt the task. The result is that there are innovations of acting and direction that will make the picture talked of for years. Delft theatre situations have been handled with an uncanny skill. "Cythera" proves that the motion picture possesses a scope of delineation that hitherto had been unexplored.

In the cast are such popular favorites as Lewis S. Stone, Alma Rubens, Norman Kerry, Irene Rich, Constance Bennett, Betty Bouton, Charles Wellesley and Lydia Yeaman Titus.

AT THE STRAND.
 Dick Hatton in "The Golden Flame," pleased Strand audiences yesterday and will be shown at that theatre again today. It is a Western with lots of color and action. Colleen Moore comes to the Strand tomorrow in "Through the Dark," one of the famous Boston Blackie stories, made from Jack Boyle's yarns in the Cosmopolitan magazine.

KLAN ISSUE TO FRONT-HARVEY

Political Analyst Thinks Klux Will Enter Into Election.

BY HARRY B. HUNT NEA Service Writer

Washington.—George Harvey, astute political analyst, who after helping put Woodrow Wilson into national politics and getting him elected president, switched over to the G. O. P. and got appointed ambassador to Great Britain, believes the Ku Klux Klan may yet become one of the major issues in the presidential campaign this year.

According to Harvey's study of the situation, all the utterances to date about the klan have been "fluff."

Mention of the klan by Democratic Candidate Davis, in his New Jersey speech, George says, was only decided on after Davis had arrived in Jersey and conferred with Governor Sizer and Frank Hague, state boss. To him it looks as though somebody had said: "The klan is strongest in the south and you'll win there anyhow. Go ahead, name the klan and put Coolidge in a hole."

No Denunciation. Anyway, according to George, no principle was involved in what Davis said about the klan. There was no amplification of what already had been said, no denunciation of the klan for anything it has done. But he named the klan, which seemed to be the important thing, by saying: "Whenever any organization, no matter what it chooses to be called, Ku Klux Klan or by any other name, raises the standard of racial and religious belief as a test of fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American institutions," etc., etc.

"Notice that 'whenever,' cautions Harvey. It isn't said that the klan does these things. Simply that if or whenever any organization did do them, then they should be condemned.

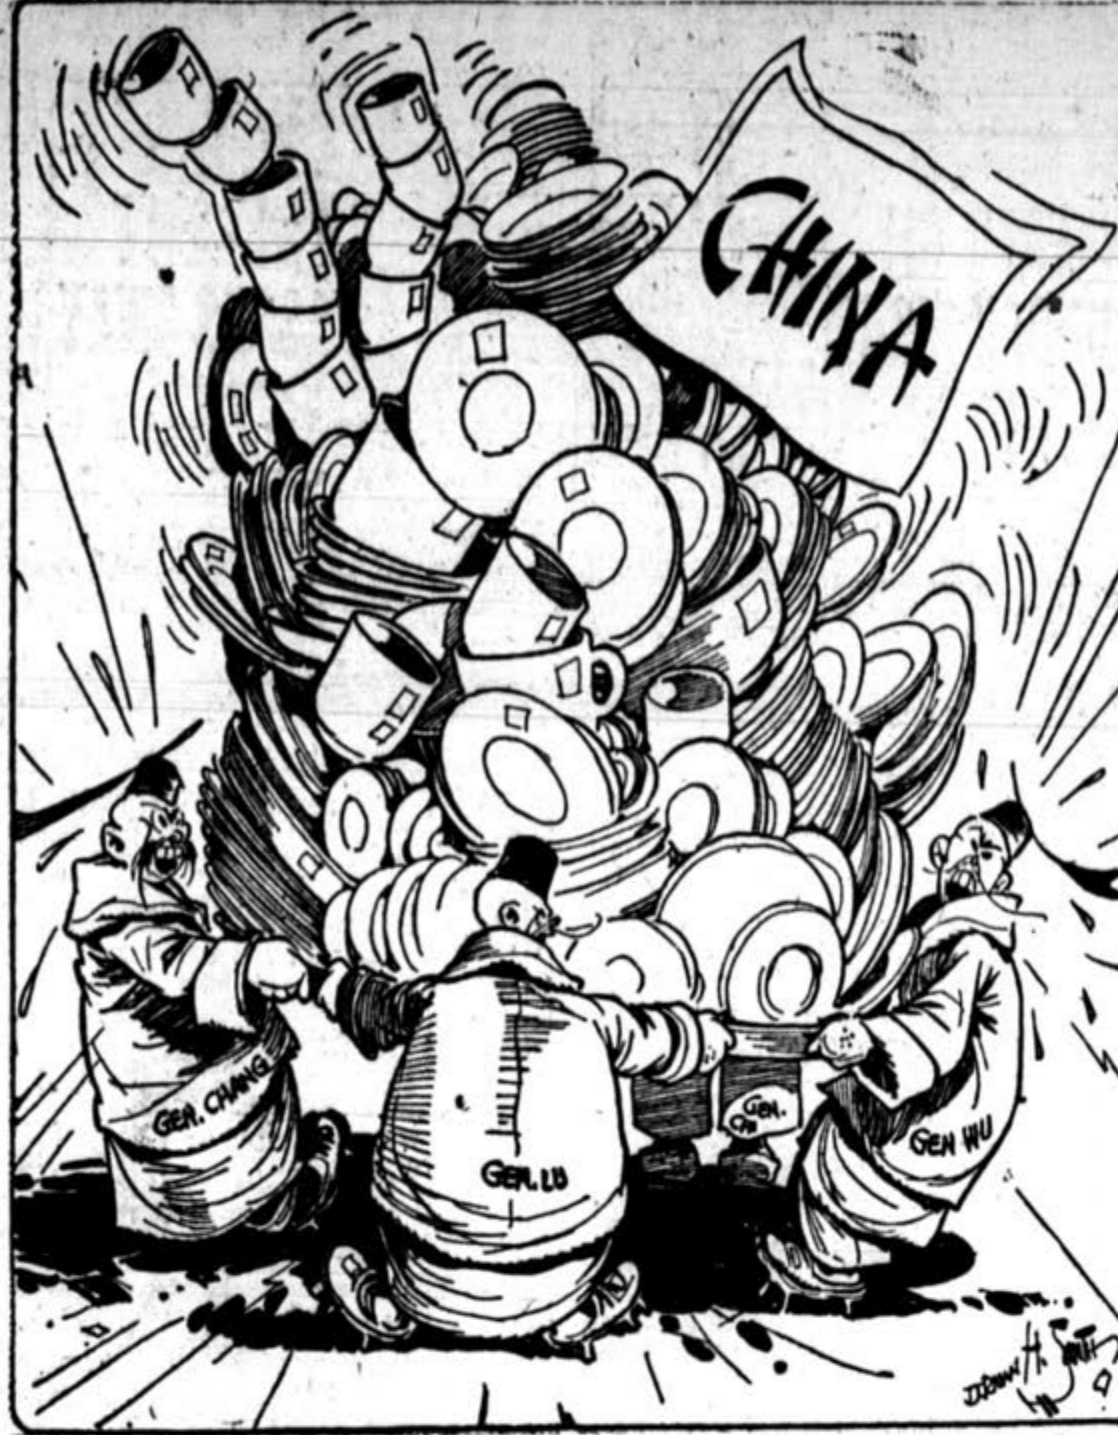

"It was like a prosecuting attorney declaring, 'if or whenever a man, be he called John Smith or What Not, commits a crime, he is a criminal,'" Harvey declares. Then the Davis "denunciation" concluded by an invitation to President Coolidge to "join me by some explicit declaration in entirely removing this topic from the field of political debate."

Coolidge Still Silent. While Coolidge has so far remained silent, his running mate, General Dawes, seemed to take up the challenge. In a subsequent speech he also "named" the klan. "Our constitution stands for religious tolerance," he declared. "To inject religious and racial issues into politics is contrary to the welfare of all the people."

"That," says Harvey in commenting on the Dawes reply, "was all according to Hoyle. Everybody has said it in one form or another. But the general did not stop there.

"The Ku Klux Klan is many localities and among many people, he went on, 'represents only an instinctive groping for leadership, moving in the interest of law enforcement, which they do not find in many cowardly politicians and officeholders.'

THERE'LL BE ONE GRAND SMASH UP IF SOMEONE ISN'T CAREFUL

localities and among many people, he went on, 'represents only an instinctive groping for leadership, moving in the interest of law enforcement, which they do not find in many cowardly politicians and officeholders.'

Both Parties Silent. "There is no getting away from the fact," says Harvey, "that these remarks convey the impression that, to his mind, there may be valid excuse for such performances." That was unfortunate, to say the least.

"Mr Coolidge, after refraining from discussion with Mr. Dawes, conferred with Mr. Slemm at some length and then went to church—probably to pray."

As Harvey sees it—and he knows how to read the English language and detect the evasions of politicians: "Neither of the major parties has declared either for or against the klan. Nor has anybody authorized to speak for either of those parties assumed a definite attitude concerning it, contrary to the understanding of thousands, who have been misled."

Molasses candy in your wife's false teeth stops the conversation.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Tells of Mrs. Vogel's Terrible Suffering and how she was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Detroit, Michigan.—"My troubles were severe pains in my back and terrible bearing-down pains in my right side, also headaches and sleepless nights. I first began having troubles when I was 15, and they have increased as I grew older. A little booklet was left at my door, and I read what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women and decided to try it. After the first week I could go to sleep every night and I stopped having that nervous feeling and got a better appetite. The doctor had always said that an operation was the only thing that would help me, but I never had any faith in an operation. Since the Vegetable Compound has started helping me I do not suffer the severe pains, feel stronger, and am able to do my own work. I am more than glad to tell my friends that it helps where other medicines have failed."

—Mrs. Gus Vogel, 6808 Palouze St., Detroit, Michigan. A record of fifty years service must convince women of the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

BRIDGES PLANT IS BEING MOVED FROM THE CITY. New Tennis Court in Ludington Park Put Down

The new tennis court in Ludington Park, the gift to the city of the Bridges Asphalt Paving Company, through the efforts of the Kiwanis Club, is nearing completion. The asphalt has been laid, but will be given a "secoese" surface by the city before players are permitted to use it.

The Bridges Company has completed the 65,000 square yards of paving in a half-dozen Escanaba streets, laid during the summer, and is moving its plant to Cleveland, O., to start work on several large contracts. The men are being assigned to jobs in Ohio, Missouri and Kentucky.

The condition of Harry McGuire, plant superintendent, who was operated upon several days ago at a local hospital for removal of appendix, is improved, but he will not be able to leave the institution for several days. Others, including inspectors for the city's consulting engineers, and of the Warrentie Company, left last night, or will leave today.

Children's Aid of Michigan Caring for 11 Escanabans

Twenty-one Delta county children—11 of them from the city of Escanaba—have been given homes in the Marquette branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society during the last year, according to Mrs. Ida M. Curl, field solicitor for the organization in the upper peninsula, who arrived in the city yesterday to interview supporters of the society.

The society is non-sectarian and stands ready to answer calls for aid from any part of the state, to aid worthy parents in the care of their children in their own home, to provide homes in receiving and boarding homes, and to find places, when possible, for the little ones in private families, granting adoption after a satisfactory trial period of not less than one year.

Thousands of children, throughout the state, are helped every year. Mrs. Curl will remain in Escanaba for several days.
