

ITALIAN OPPOSITION HAS DEVELOPED

Dawes' Platform Speeches Are Well Received

LAFOLLETTE'S INDEPENDENT CANDIDACY IS CONTINUALLY PLAYED IN HIS ADDRESSES

WILL REST UP IN CHICAGO FOR FOUR DAYS.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Sept. 20.—Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential nominee, thundered his way across Iowa and Illinois today with the LaFollette independent candidacy ever the object of his invective.

Arriving here this evening to spend a four day interim before again taking up the campaign with speeches in Minnesota, associates of the nominee remarked that "the general now has hit his stride," and Mr. Dawes himself, recalled that he had predicted a month ago, that it would be nearly October before he would get "warmed up."

Using a special train for the first time since he began his speaking campaign, Mr. Dawes appeared on the rear platform at every stop and as the train resumed its journey there was left behind with those who heard the nominee, a collection of Dawes-coinced phrases such as "political pee-wits," and "issue-straddling demagogues."

Reception Satisfy. The reception given his rear platform speeches both today and while enroute to Sioux Falls, S. D., where he made his principal speech of the trip last night, was declared by Mr. Dawes to have been satisfactory—so satisfactory he said, that he plans to make as many rear platform talks as possible on his trip to the far west, starting about October 5.

Principal speeches were made today at Dubuque, Ia., and Galea, Ill., and at both points Mr. Dawes devoted his attention as he did in part last night at Sioux Falls and also as he did enroute to South Dakota, "to the greatest issue of this campaign—the issue of the constitution of the United States."

"When I started out in this campaign," he told those who greeted him at Dubuque, "I thought I was going to talk a deal about the budget. I had something to do with it and I knew something about the subject. But this is about the first time I have mentioned the budget in the whole campaign.

MASSACHUSETTS GOPS BACK CAL

Brief Klan Plank Added to Platform by Convention.

(By The Associated Press.) Worcester, Mass., Sept. 20.—The Massachusetts state Republican convention today took Calvin Coolidge, "his principles, his policies and his conduct in office" for their platform, adding among a few brief planks one that touched the Klan issue but did not mention it by name.

Request Voted Down. A request that State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook and his brother, Washington Cook, Republican nominee in the second council or district be read out of the party on charges of unfitness, was voted down by the resolutions committee.

Predicts Plurality. Chairman Frank H. Foss of the Republican committee predicted a 400,000 plurality for Coolidge in his home state.

Speaker Frederick S. Gillett of the national house of representatives, speaking as the party nominee to succeed United States Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, added to his prepared remarks an attack on those who he said were trying to make the public believe that the Republican party was corrupt and that the president himself was involved, "we must admit with shame," he said, "that a few Republicans, high in office, have apparently violated their trust."

CHEKIANG ARMY ENDEAVORS TO HOLD SHANGHAI

Revolt in Enemy's Line Lends Courage to Defenders.

The Chekiang army on Saturday was making another determined effort to hold back the forces of the Tsuchun of Kiangsu, which supported by Honanez troops ordered into the fighting by the Peking governments, and encouraged by reports of a revolt in the enemy's lines, were making another drive for Shanghai.

In the north Chang Tso Lin was reported to have gained initial successes along the Manchurian-Chihli border between Chinchow on the Peking-Mukden railway and Chaoyang, across the Chihli frontier and near Jehol, northeast of Peking. According to news from Peking, however, Wu Pei-fu has not yet reached his stride. He is sending an army of 200,000 against the Manchurian leader and intends to use the feet in the Gulf of Laotung where it can menace the railway which Chang must use on his advance toward Shanhaikwan and the latter's chief port, Yinkow. Wu declares it to be the intention of the Peking government to regain control of Manchuria, which Chang has governed since his defeat two years ago.

TRAINMEN GIVE ESCANABA PLAN THEIR BACKING

Carter, the Escanaba plan for distributing the state primary school interest fund has been endorsed by the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen for the state of Michigan. The meeting of the trainmen's legislative board was held at Lansing on Sept. 12 and 13, with each of the 25 locals of the order in the state represented. As the result of the excellent presentation of the Escanaba plan before the board by Mr. Carter, assisted by Samuel H. Rhoads, of Lansing, secretary of the board, the plan was unanimously endorsed and each of the delegates was instructed to return to his home local and not only secure the endorsements of the individual locals, but to interview the representatives and senators in each district, urging support for the bill when it is presented at the next session of the legislature.

Republican Record For Past Four Years Is Again "Razed"

(By The Associated Press.) South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—John W. Davis carried his Democratic presidential campaign to South Bend today where he began the second day of his Indiana offensive. The Davis party arrived shortly after 11 o'clock and was driven through thronged thoroughfares to the Oliver Hotel where the Democratic nominee delivered a luncheon address before a group of business men from all northern Indiana. A rousing welcome greeted the Davis special and cheers resounded at intervals during the parade to the hotel.

IN FORCE AT ONCE

But the French insisted that the protocol should enter into force immediately sufficient ratifications by the powers were registered with the league secretary. Thus France can enter the disarmament conference with her security assured beforehand, and the protocol will be suspended only in case the disarmament conference should fail or the league council should be forced to recognize that the disarmament conference's final convention was not being lived up to.

Wig-wearing was at its height about 150 years back, when even boys four or five years of age had their heads shaved in readiness to wear a wig.

SPEED IS SOUGHT BY DELEGATES OF FRANCE.

(By The Associated Press.) Geneva, Sept. 20.—Eleventh hour Italian opposition to the detailed program set up for the league's control commissions, which under the Benes pact are for the purpose of investigating the conditions of both disputing states during arbitral proceedings in order to assure that they are not preparing for war, considerably slowed up the work of the two subcommittees today engaged in perfecting the draft pact of arbitration and security.

The French desired to threaten the most point before nightfall and were even willing to let the formation of commissions go over to the Italians in view of the fact that the commissions in principle. However, Dr. Benes, taking into account that the judicial commissions subcommittee still had several minor points to iron out—such as the definition of an aggressor, what constitutes a menace of aggression and what would constitute passive resistance to an arbitral award—decided to await the completion of its work before ending that of his own committee.

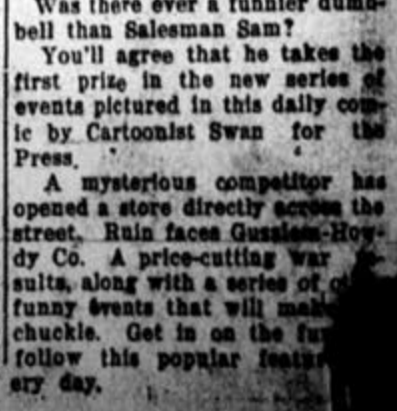

Consequently, M. Loucheur, of France, is working late tonight on the aggression text which he hopes to have ready for the subcommittee's decision tomorrow. In any case it is not considered that the Italian opposition will materially retard definite accord on the Benes pact.

It is felt that if the arbitration and security projects now being elaborated are adopted by the assembly there can be no more legal aggression arising from political conflicts. Everybody, furthermore, is agreed on the date, June 13, 1925, for the convocation of the disarmament conference, if enough ratifications are received by May 1. The number of ratifications needed is still undecided but it is thought that probably 15 will suffice, with the inclusion of three or four of the great powers.

On the whole French spokesmen consider the week's crisis extremely favorable to their thesis, particularly as they are assured that the arbitration and security protocol is a certainty before the disarmament conference is called. The British, they say, first proposed that the protocol should not be binding until disarmament was in effect, following upon the conference.

The French tonight were ready to praise "the great republic" the British delegates had shown in meeting their viewpoint.

According to information from German sources in Geneva, the German cabinet is likely to decide next week of applying for admission into the league although it may not apply at the present session of the assembly. The idea is to convolve an extraordinary session some time before January 1.

COOLIDGE WILL WIN MICHIGAN, SAYS LAWRENCE

COUZENS ALSO SURE TO SWEEP THE STATE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
 (Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press.)
 Detroit, Mich., Sept. 20.—Maybe Messrs. Coolidge, LaFollette and Davis are running for the presidency, but so far as Michigan is concerned they are mere incidents in an upheaval which carries with it a significance that will last beyond election day.
 For the election of Senator James Couzens after an extraordinary primary battle is assured and at least one man who refused to follow the leadership of President Coolidge has been approved at the polls and will continue to act independently in the next Congress.
 Did the Republican party in Michigan uphold Couzens and will that same party next month give Coolidge by an overwhelming ballot the electoral vote of Michigan? And if it does, isn't that inconsistent of the Republicans? The answer is that there is no inconsistency and that next election day Mr. Coolidge will carry Michigan by 200,000 or more and Mr. Couzens will be elected Senator by an even larger vote.

Not Inconsistent.
 The reason why no inconsistency is involved is that Senator Couzens was not triumphant in a strictly Republican primary. Had it been left to the "regulars" he would have been beaten. What happened was that in a race of four candidates, Senator Couzens had a plurality of 50,000 and that if the regular Republicans could have eliminated the other candidates and thrown their strength behind Judge Tuttle, Mr. Couzens would have surely lost.

But it is not easy to beat a man like James Couzens in any primary whether it is Republican or Democrat. Next to Henry Ford he is probably the most flexible political proposition in Michigan in a long time. The people are for Couzens not because he is a Republican but because he is Couzens. He was a popular mayor. He is worth so many millions that the hand of the financial interests cannot touch him and he is regarded by the community as fundamentally honest and public spirited. Unquestionably thousands of Democrats and many thousands of LaFollette supporters entered the Republican primary and vote for Couzens. His five per cent beer proposal alone won him thousands of supporters. He was beaten in the rural districts but the city of Detroit pushed him over the top in great style.

Is He "Irregular"?

During the campaign the regulars who had persuaded a distinguished person as a federal judge to make the race for them accused Couzens of being irregular. With characteristic frankness, Couzens asked what was a "regular" nowadays in Republican politics. He wondered if Senator Henry Cabot Lodge who refused to support the President when he vetoed the bonus or who is against Mr. Coolidge's world court proposal could be called a "regular." And he cited a number of other cases in which Republican senators had refused to follow Mr. Coolidge's leadership. Senator Couzens argued that he would support the President whenever he thought he was right and would decline to support him when he was wrong and that if the people of Michigan wanted a Senator who would support Mr. Coolidge whether he was right or wrong they didn't need a United States Senator but a rubber stamp.

Coolidge to Get Majority.
 As for LaFollette, kind words came from the Wisconsin Senator for the Michigan Senator. And Mr. Couzens in return said nice things about Senator LaFollette but said he couldn't follow him on his attitude toward the courts and other things. So there is an entente at least between LaFollette and Couzens and a large number of voters who will ballot for Couzens will mark their votes for the Wisconsin leader for the presidency.

LaFollette is strong in Michigan. He may even run second to Coolidge leaving Davis a close third. It is conservatively estimated, however, that President Coolidge will poll sixty per cent of the vote. Things are not as they were when Roosevelt carried Michigan in 1912 over both Taft and Wilson. LaFollette is strong in the railroad centers and will have an impressive total but he has hardly won many of the regular Republicans of today so many of whom were Bull Moosers twelve years ago.

Ordinarily a primary fight such as that in which Couzens engaged leaves disaffection. But, as a rule, this happens only when a regular or "stand patter" beats out a progressive for then the independent vote swings to another party. While the regulars in Michigan do not like Couzens they prefer him to voting for a Democrat. The Republican organization, moreover, is pledged to support Couzens. Before the primary fight, all candidates seeking a Republican nomination were asked to state in advance that they would support the national ticket and platform and so on. Mr. Couzens' letter was not wholly satisfactory but on the other hand it was hard to construe it as a refusal to support Coolidge especially since Couzens said he himself would vote for Coolidge. Now with Couzens nominated, all the party machinery is by the same token pledged to support him for he is a regularly selected Republican nominee and entitled to the support of all factions in his party. And he will get the same plus many thousands of votes from the ranks of the independents.

Seek Exoneration For Three Women Named by Pastor

(By The Associated Press.)
 St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 20.—At temple of Reverend C. B. Stroh, presiding elder of this district of the Evangelical church, to secure today from Reverend L. B. Anderson a statement accused of being the instigators of the pastor's troubles was given tonight as the reason for the postponement until some time next week of the board of trustees meeting of the First Evangelical church here. The meeting was called to either dismiss or reinstate the pastor.
 Reverend Mr. Stroh is said to be attempting to bridge over the troubles between two factions of the church, desiring to hold the church together until such a time as either Mr. Anderson has regained his leadership or a new man has been selected.
 Members of the board of trustees, who pledged the pastor their material and moral support while he was in a church hospital are less enthusiastic in his support since his return, individual members of the board now declaring he must leave for the welfare of the congregation. Members of the congregation openly are demanding the resignation of Mr. Anderson, basing their demands upon remarks the pastor has made since returning here.

OIL BURNER QUESTION SETTLED AT LAST

Five years ago Williams' engineers found out four new things about oil burning. They made possible the kind of oil burner you have been waiting for. The kind we wanted to offer our friends. We have it now—a burner that requires even less care than an electric washing machine. A burner with no more upkeep than a phonograph. It will interest you to see it working. This amazing oil burner is past the experimental stage. It has proved itself for five years. We know it is right. We guarantee it. Come in and see Oil-O-Matic. Let us show you how simple it is. It burns cheap fuel oil. It's absolutely automatic. It's safe. It has no pilot light. No part of it goes in the furnace. Quiet, odorless, clean. Better get your order in now if you want an Oil-O-Matic this year.

"The Home I Love Belongs to Somebody Else"

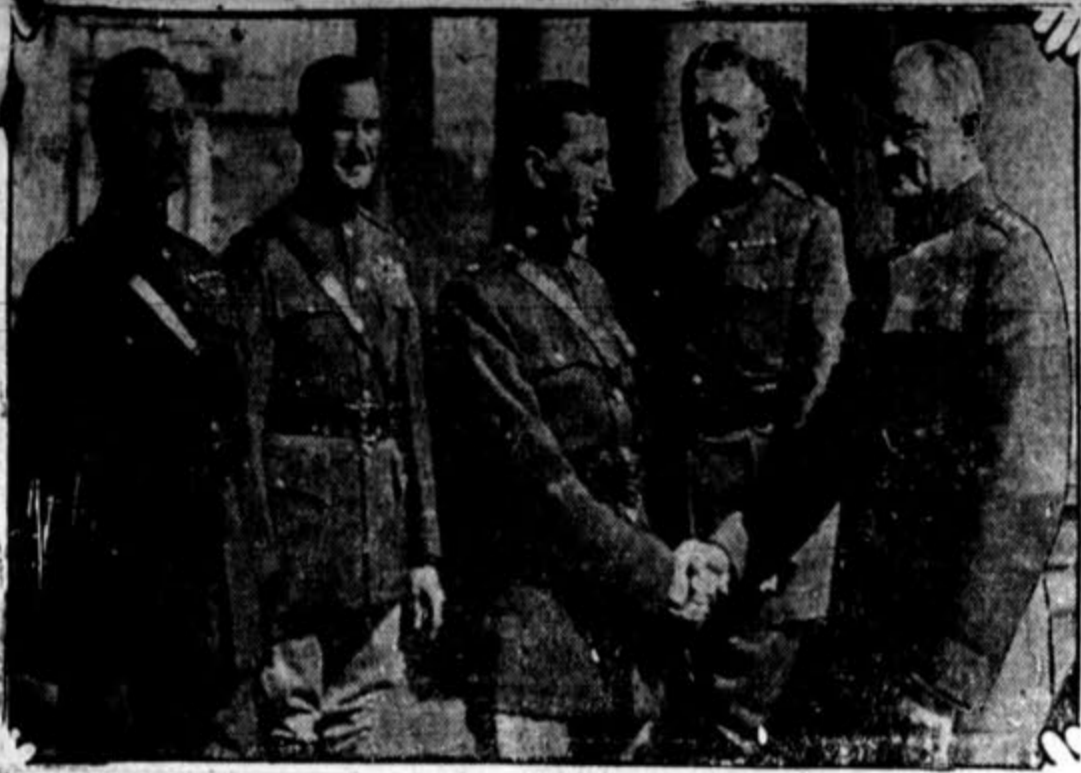

SOME people—who haven't saved money—might very easily paraphrase the popular song to read like that. They are always 'in love' with some other man's home. They are always WISHING they had it.

If, instead of envying and wishing, they would SAVE THEIR MONEY they could quickly have a home just like it themselves. Why not start saving for YOUR HOME today? It will take you less than five minutes to open a Savings Account in this bank.

FORMS OWN TRIMMING—Materials this season are easily manipulated to form their own trimming. Notice how in this frock of black crepe-back satin the skirt is made of reversed blocks of the material to form a deep border. A narrow band of fur trims the collar and cuffs and a few buttons and tailored bows are added at advantageous positions.

OBREGON'S DAUGHTER—This young lady is a daughter of President Obregon of Mexico. Her name is Refugio. She's 18. Her mother was the general's first wife.

FLYER HARDING'S GOAL—Ida Rousenzohn, clerk for the U. S. Air Service at Dayton, O., is to be married to Lieutenant Jack Harding, 'round-the-world flyer, after his trip. So says Mrs. Rumor.

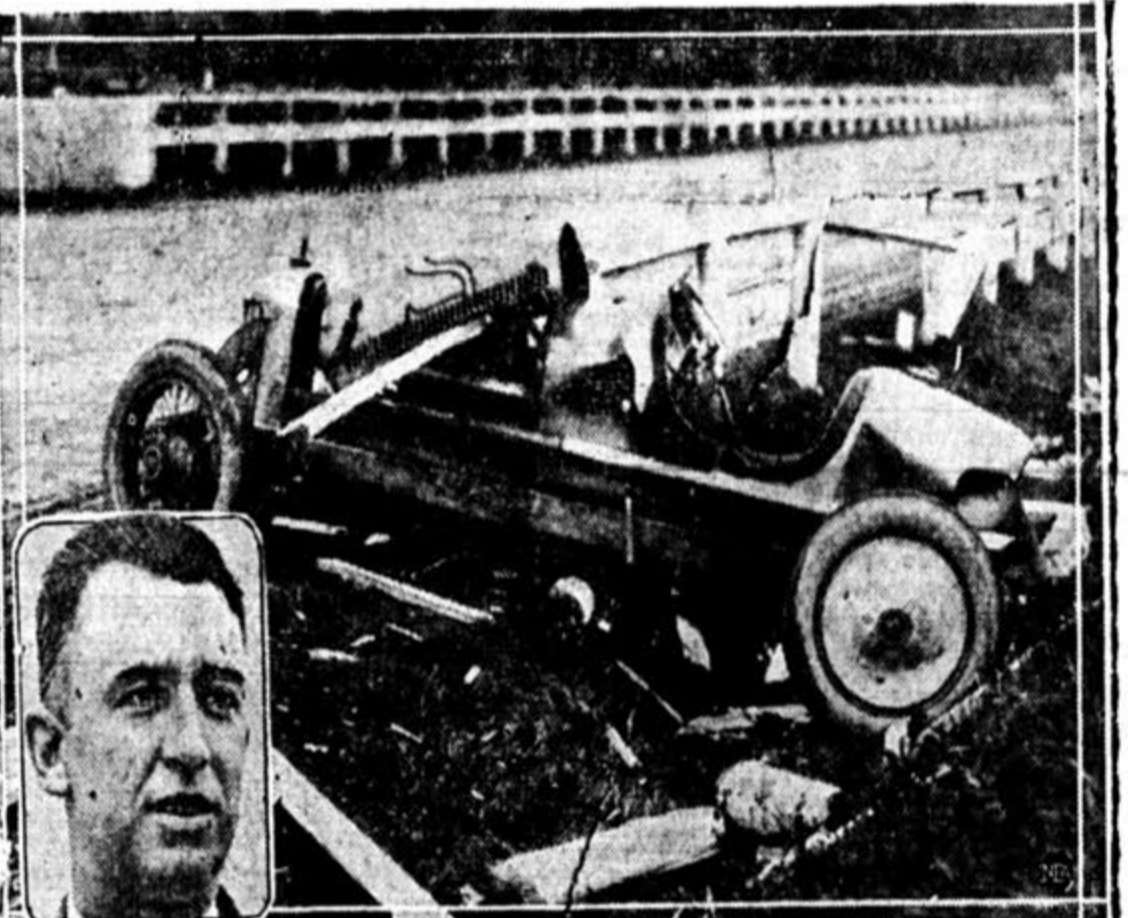

WHERE LEOPOLD STUDIES NOW—Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loe, "super-intellectuals," are back at their studies again—but not in university classrooms and law libraries. This is the kind of a classroom they have now. They are learning trades. Here is the chair factory at Joliet penitentiary. Leopold is working there. Loe has been assigned to a different sort of work. They were separated soon after their arrival at the prison.

A QUEEN—Eva Platt, a niece of former Senator Tom Platt of New York, has been elected queen of the September Fiestas in Sonora, Mex. She's just 18.

IN CHINA—Rear Admiral Thomas Washington, U. S. N., in charge of the Asiatic Fleet, is commanding the American forces in the Shanghai war zone.

JIMMY MURPHY AUTO RACING STAR, KILLED—When the car driven by Jimmy Murphy, 1922 International racing champion and most consistent race winner of the present generation of drivers, dived through a fence in a 150-mile race at Syracuse, N. Y., travelling only 80 miles an hour, he was so badly injured that he died a few moments later. Murphy had driven as rapidly as 154 miles an hour in safety. He also was an aviator.

CHINA'S GETTING THE HABIT—They're tearing down billboards in the United States—but in China they're just beginning to put them up. Some of the signs are printed in English, but most of them in Chinese.

EARS IN STYLE—Miss Mildred Ball of New York, showing what a woman's ear looks like, now that ears are to be in style.

YOUNG, BUT OH MY!—Beatrice Helm, 5, of Washington, is shown here with the cake she baked all by herself for President Coolidge. Beatrice has been cooking since a tot—which is all she is now, one might say.

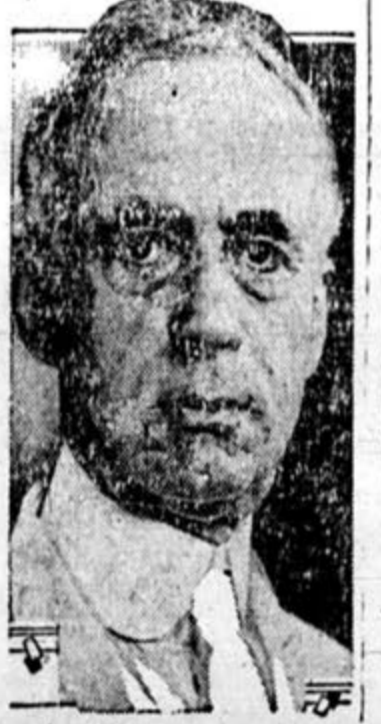

SMART SUIT FOR STREET—Novelty pockets, as illustrated in this smart street suit, have been approved by Dame Fashion for fall. This costume is of gabardine and is worn by Agnes Ayres, moving picture star.

FAIREST OF THEM ALL—Angeline Dorothy Grimes, four years old, was proclaimed a perfect child at a baby show held in conjunction with the Chicago Industrial Exposition. She won first prize and the title "Queen of the Nursery."

EVER SEE A WHITE ROBIN?—White robins are few and far between. Only about one out of every 10,000 robins turns out to be this color, say ornithologists. And here is one. Lillian Jones of Circleville, O., has sent it to the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens.

JOB FOR MARS—Herbert Loses Jewels—The life of Janvyn Browne, Washington a hostess certainly is filled with scientist, declares that all weath-worry. Take Mrs. Joshua S. er is made by the sun. Owing to Couden of Sands Point, L. I., for instance. Burglars got away lack of oceans and atmospheric with jewelry worth $250,000 he- density on Mars, it has the same longing to her guest. Her give long-distance weather fore-personal loss may reach $88,000, csists, detectives say.

WHY SHE CLOSERS HER EYES—It's always an affectionate kiss that makes a girl close her eyes. And here's the reason. When the lips are drawn together, the pressure effected by contract produces sufficient heat and sensation to cause the cells in the optic nerves to vibrate with sufficient oscillation to occasion the nervous system to command the optic nerves surrounding the eyelids to make a sympathetic and responsive interlocking. At least, that's what government scientists say. But mo et folks think that she closes eyes because she likes it best that way!

A complete report on the sale of the Minnesota avenue bonds will be made by City Manager F. R. Buechner Monday night at the regular meeting of the Gladstone commission. Of this amount $3,400 has been taken by the Minnesota avenue property owners, who were given first opportunity to buy the bonds by the administration, and the remainder is distributed among other local applicants. DRAMA OF MARRIAGE IS COMING

"The Marriage Market," a Columbia Pictures production boasting one of the finest all-star casts in filmdom and penetrating to the very core of the marriage problem, is the photoplay coming to the Community theatre Monday for a two days' run.

Headed by Jack Mulhall, that sterling actor and Pauline Garon, a comparative newcomer to the screen who won her laurels in a recent de Mille production, the all-star cast embraces such able actors and actresses as Alice Lake, Shanno Day, Jean Debric, Mayme Kelso, Vera Lewis, Willard Louis, Kate Lester and Marie Robbins.

For Once Villain Thrashes Hero

Once in a while a motion picture villain, or "heavy" as he is called in screen parlance, has an opportunity to thrash the hero. That's one of the things that makes life worth while for him, because many are the bruises and lacerations he sustains at the hands of the latter.

For the first time in his career, Bruce Gordon, who plays one of the heavy roles in "Western Luck," today's attraction at the Lyric Theatre, in which Charles Jones, the William Fox star appears, enjoyed the experience of punishing the hero for a few feet of film. This occurs in a remarkable fight between Jones and Gordon, in which the latter wins—temporarily. Beatrice Burnham is the little lady about whom the big fellows fight. Others in the cast are J. Farrell McDonald, Tom Lingham and Pat Hardigan. George Beranger was the director.

SOCIAL

Peterson's orchestra has played engagements in the largest amusement pavilions as well as cabarets, throughout the country and have always received a generous reception.

"Terrace Gardens is one of the finest outdoor pavilions we have played, and Escanaba people can consider themselves fortunate in having such a delightful place of entertainment," stated Mr. Peterson. "We hope to return again some day."

Willys-Knight Scores Again

Men and women who drive cars rightly demand the most of them. They render a verdict of enthusiasm for the Willys-Knight. The test of everyday driving proves to them the completeness with which its latest refinement, the Lanchester Balancer, prevents engine vibration at any speed.

demand for the elimination of engine vibration has grown imperative

Willys-Knight supplies this demand—the Lanchester Balancer conquers vibration. The Balancer makes a better engine of the world's best engine—the famous sleeve-valve motor that improves with use. It registers another achievement for Willys-Knight—the car that literally outruns its field.

Car owners, who object to vibration in open cars, find it amounts to a continually renewed irritation in closed cars. With closed cars coming more widely into use each year,

The Willys-Knight with Lanchester Balancer is on view now. Inspect it. Try it out. Then render your verdict.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IN MICHIGAN.

According to downstate political writers, the Franks case has again revived the question of capital punishment in Michigan, and the next legislature probably will find it necessary to consider the question and make a decision thereon.

Michigan has long been without a capital punishment law. It was abolished in the early eighties and although repeated efforts have been made to restore it, every attempt has failed. The most recent effort was two years ago when the lower branch of the legislature defeated the proposal by a vote of 51 to 47, two members not voting.

It seems doubtful if such a law can be passed in Michigan. After some gruesome flares up, but generally there is satisfaction with the present system of punishing murders.

The Franks case is one reason why Michigan or any other state should not have capital punishment. The fact cannot be refuted that money has saved many criminals from the gallows. Until this situation is changed, capital punishment is a travesty on justice.

Right now there is a concerted movement on foot in Illinois to save two boys 19 years old from the gallows. They were sentenced to hang long before the Franks case came up.

This same condition must be given due consideration in the passage of a capital punishment law. A minor person should not be hanged. Neither should a person be hanged on circumstantial evidence alone.

But, it is evident that with these restrictions in pronouncing the death penalty, capital punishment will lose much of the effect that is desired. State legislators realize that sentiment in Michigan is not favorable to a capital punishment law such as is enforced in Illinois.

SPARE THE PHEASANT NOW. The State Department of Conservation will advocate an open season on Chinese pheasant when the legislature meets in 1937, it is announced at Lansing, simultaneously with the announcement that the attempt to propagate prairie chicken and grouse at the State Game Farm at Mason has met with utter failure.

been so successful that there are now thousands of coveys of wild birds in practically every county of the Muskegon-Bay City line as well as a scattering of them in the more northerly counties.

Eight months ago, however, in response to protests to the effect that the pheasants killed rabbits and invaded chicken coops, the conservation department abandoned the pheasant raising and made all attempt to raise prairie chicken and grouse. This failed, as the latter birds will not mate and thrive in captivity.

It is probable that the raising of pheasants will be resumed and with proper conservation measures it will become an abundant Michigan game bird.

Thanks to the fact that some Delta county farmers and sportsmen have received pheasant eggs from the department and raised the birds here there are now in this county a few coveys. One covey of 15 birds has been located for several seasons at the Semer farm at South Ford River, as well as several smaller ones.

The Piffle Hook

ARNER REVIEWS THE FAIR. Misery Bay, Sept. 20 (To the Piffle Hook Editor)—I have come to the fair, I have went home. Life to me has been a pancreatic typhoon every since.

I made the mistake of taking my wife into the machinery building. I did so with innocence and without the investigative qualities which needs must be. She spent two hours looking over the washing machines, and the ironing machines, and the potato peeling machines, and the dish washing machines, and the wood splitting machines, and the other devices until now she is demoralized that I will come to town and mortgage my silo so she can sit on the front piazza reading "Untruthful Stories" and do all the housework by showing a push-button.

Fairs now days are not men's fairs. They are women's fairs. Where one plow that plowed three furrows in two directions at one operative movement, there is now two kinds of labor saving apparatuses for the kitchen. The celluloid silo and the asbestos chicken cups has been replaced by the felt lined ice box and the automatic cucumber dewaterer.

I appeal to you to use your influence with the fair optimates to see what can be done to remedy the urbanity.

P. S.—The school teacher that boards at my place says this is the age of women. I'm glad we've found out what their age really is.

MISS—OR MRS.

BY JANE PHELPS.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

At 16 Alvira was no longer awkward and lanky but had blossomed forth into one of the prettiest girls in Mentone. True, her face lacked vivacity, but there was something infinitely appealing in the big, wistful brown eyes, in the serious face. She was intelligent, bright in her studies, a good musician. Already she sang in the church choir, and played the piano remarkably well considering the sort of teachers she had had.

Alvira's shyness had not worn off with the years, although now it seemed not so much bashfulness as an unusual reticence. She never obtruded, never forced herself upon the other girls, but stood aside, waiting to be approached. But when with them she was quietly congenial, talking little, but listening interestedly to all the other girls.

Alvira was the more easily consoled because she knew she would not be allowed to dance with the boys, even if she knew how, that she would not be allowed to attend mixed parties.

Aunt Drucilla always accompanied her to choir rehearsal, never allowed her out after dark unless she went with her. "I will always do my duty by Alvira," she told one of the village matrons who had remonstrated with her for sitting in the cold church when she had rheumatism just to walk the few blocks home with Alvira.

Although 16 Alvira was still dressed with the same simplicity, the same absence of frills and gewgaws. Her dresses were made by the village seamstress under Drucilla's direction, her underclothes they made themselves out of good serviceable cotton, hand-crocheted lace their sole trimming.

One of the girls showed Alvira some underwear she was making for herself of dainty handkerchief linen, trimmed with lace and pale pink ribbons. Alvira told Drucilla, asked if she might not make herself some.

"They were so dainty and pretty," she said wistfully. "Vanity!" her aunt sniffed. "To wear neat, plain underwear is a necessity. To spend one's time in making such things as you describe is foolishness, if not downright wickedness. Nice women and girls don't wear such thin, sleazy things.

"But Jennie is a nice girl," Alvira protested. "She won't be if she allows her mind to dwell on such foolishness."

But for a long time Alvira wore her ugly undergarments with rebellion, picturing the difference between her own and Jennie's.

At 17 Alvira was tall, graceful, and by frequent pleadings had persuaded her aunt to allow her to do up her hair. She now wore it parted in the middle and drawn down into a large knot in her neck. The years of braiding had not succeeded in destroying the natural wave, and she was envied by girls who had to use curling tongs. Well Alvira knew she never would have been allowed these artificial aids, had not nature endowed her, and her hair was her one pride—one she was very careful to keep to herself, however.

Alvira was absolutely truthful. Drucilla had early instilled in her the enormous sin of lying. "To act a lie is as bad as to tell one," her aunt often said, "and a deceitful person is a wicked person."

So while reticent, Alvira was absolutely truthful. Her aunt often questioned her about her young friends, would fairly force some disparaging fact (to Drucilla) from her, then forbid her niece to be anything but polite to them.

"One never has to quarrel with undesirable people, simply keep away from them," Drucilla said. "We have each other."

Often Alvira wanted to cry out that that wasn't enough, that she wanted to be like other girls, go about, have good times, but she never did—not when her aunt could hear her.

Kiwanians Observe Constitution Week at Monday Meeting

In co-operation with over 1300 Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States, the Kiwanis Club of Escanaba will celebrate the signing of the Constitution of the United States at the luncheon on Monday at the Ludington hotel. A special program has been provided devoted to the study of the fundamental principles of the constitution and the application of these principles to the responsibilities of citizenship. Local Kiwanis have explained the interest of Kiwanis in "Constitution Week" on the grounds that the organization composed of some 86,000 business and professional men throughout the country is vitally interested in the future of constitutional representative government. Because of the nation's dependence upon the interest and activity of the individual citizen, Kiwanis clubs throughout the nation are actively engaged in educating all citizens, regardless of political affiliation, to register and vote.

H. S. Doolittle, principal of No-ganuee high school, and a speaker of unusual ability, will be the speaker of the day.

CITY'S ANNUAL REPORT READY

Printed in Booklet Form, for Free Distribution to Citizens.

"Creating a new and better spirit in Escanaba, exemplified by a complete confidence in our government and a greater appreciation of the advantages which we who live in Escanaba are permitted to enjoy," in the annual report of City Manager Fred R. Harris is listed as the greatest accomplishment of the city administration during the last two years.

Mr. Harris' report, interestingly illustrated by pictures of various phases of the administration's activities, and including many figures which tell a story of efficiency and progress, has been printed in booklet form. It is the hope of the administration that every tax payer will procure a copy of the book and study it carefully. The books may be had, free of charge, at the city hall or at any of the banks of Escanaba.

Mr. Harris, discusses in detail, the receipts, expenditures, extensions, curtailments, improvements and progress of all the city departments during the fiscal year which closed May 1, 1924. The information concerning municipal taxes is particularly interesting.

In submitting the report to the city council and to citizens in general, the manager says:

Has Been Busy Year.

"The past year has been an extremely busy one for those con-ected with your city administration. When it is realized that more than one hundred and forty thousand dollars was spent last year under city supervision in public improvements and public utility extensions and betterments, this statement will be more fully appreciated. The fact that this was done with a lowered tax rate and lower public utility rates cannot help but show the citizens of the city the possibilities of our form of government.

"As has been often stated, the real measure of governmental efficiency is not a low tax rate. The tax rate should be commensurate with the services rendered and the services rendered should be controlled by ability to pay. If your tax money is being profitably and wisely spent for your benefit, your government is doing its duty regardless of the tax rate.

was $8,386,036.00, therefore our tax rate was $15.64 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

"While these figures show the money raised by taxation and are the important figures in the eyes of the taxpayer, they do not show the actual money spent by each department because there was a surplus balance left from the 1922 budget at the beginning of the year which was transferred forward into 1923 and because there are sources of revenue other than direct taxation. The following tabulation sets up these figures.

Outstanding Accomplishment.

"Briefly, the outstanding features of last year's municipal operations were as follows:

"A slight reduction of the tax rate.

"The installation of two hundred and fifty modern post and bracket type street lighting units which were completely paid for.

"The paving of Tenth Street South from Ludington Street to Lake Shore Drive, the paving of Ninth Street South from Third to Sixth Avenue, and the paving of Sixth Avenue South from Tenth Street to Eighth Street.

"A reduction of approximately twenty per cent in the rates charged by the municipally-owned electric, gas and water utilities.

"The addition of two hundred and eighty-five new gas users to the mains of the municipal gas plant.

"The institution of a full-time health department and extension of activities of that department.

"The retirement of thirty thousand dollars in bonds and notes.

"Last and by far the greatest, I believe the city administration last year materially helped in creating a new and better civic spirit in Escanaba exemplified by a complete confidence in our government and a greater appreciation of those advantages which we who live in Escanaba are privileged to enjoy. Today, I doubt to say that Escanaba is his if there is one who is not proud home."

Peculiar Condition.

"Our city's tax rate is not the result of an expenditure of money even equal to the average for cities of our size, but is due to the fact that the assessed valuation of the city is extremely low and that we are located in a county whose total assessed valuation is less than that of an ordinary city of our size.

"Our assessed valuation per capita is less than half the average of all like cities in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Our county, it will be noted, has an assessed valuation of $550,000 per capita, whereas the average for the counties is $1,315.00 per capita.

"There was raised by taxation last year (1923) for city purposes a total of $131,174.00. Our population being 13,103 according to the 1920 federal census, and making no allowance for increased population although our school census has increased twenty per cent, the number of telephone subscribers has increased eighteen per cent, and the number of electric light users, twelve per cent, our tax rate per capita for city purposes was ten dollars ($10.00). Even aside from the sensational new DUPLEX BODY—the Studebaker Special Six has no superior in value in any car yet built. PRESBYTERIANS CALL MINISTER

Rev. John B. Hubbard of Iron River Accepts.

The Rev. John B. Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Iron River, has been called to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church in this city. He succeeds the Rev. Harry W. Staver, whose resignation recently was accepted by the local congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Hubbard visited Escanaba a short time ago, officiating at two services at the church and at a funeral and addressing the Kiwanis club at one of its regular weekly luncheons. He made a highly favorable impression and a call to the local pastorate was extended by unanimous vote.

The new pastor was graduated from the College of Literature at the University of Michigan and from the theological school at Princeton University. He has been enthusiastically recommended by prominent clergymen of the Lake Superior presbytery.

The Rev. Mr. Hubbard will not be able to come to Escanaba until about Oct. 5. There will be no preaching services at the Presbyterian church today.
