ROBBERY MOST DARING EVER PERPETRATED IN MICHIGAN, OFFICERS ASSERT; HUNT ON QUINTET GETS AWAY BEFORE ALARM IS GIVEN.

(By The Associated Press.) Springfield, Mich., Oct. 17.—State police and Jackson county officers were scouring the secluded spots and guarding the roads in the vicinity tonight in the hope of picking up some trace of five bandits who this morning held up and robbed the State Savings Bank of Springfield of approximately $75,000 in currency and bonds.

SHENANDOAH IS DELAYED SOME BY HEAD WINDS Big Bag Will Land At Camp Lewis Today

(By The Associated Press.) San Francisco, Oct. 17.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah skirted the northern California coast to day and tonight was over western Oregon. Another day and night lie ahead of it, according to the watches on its bridge, before it can find a haven at Camp Lewis, Washington; western terminus of the great loop from Lakehurst, N. J., flying field.

The Shenandoah was forced to go by San Francisco in the early morning hours with only a word of regret that it would be unable to stop here. Three army airplanes went out to greet it but only one found it. It was scudding through the thick clouds miles to seaward high over the white caps and with a strong off-shore wind quivering it. Eight hours and forty-five minutes later it was sailing off Eureka, 225 miles from San Francisco on an airline, its slow progress indicating the strong winds that beset it.

Stays Over Water. Half way to Eureka, the Shenandoah dipped inland for a few miles but almost immediately put out over the sea again. Passing Fort Bragg in the early afternoon sunshine, it nosed to within 400 feet of the water and the hundreds of watchers along the beach were given a vivid picture of its beauty and immensity. At this point it appeared to be making labored progress although there was little wind noted by the watchers on the shore.

Eighty miles south of Eureka, near the Mendocino-Humboldt line, it was seen that the great ship had risen again to 1,300 feet or more and had added considerably to its speed. A short time before it had sent a wireless message to the steamer Admiral Schley, southward bound, that "all is well."

Trio Is Held For Church Burglary

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Oct. 17.—Norman Anger, German McComsey, and William Colvin pleaded not guilty when arraigned in recorder's court today on a charge of breaking into the church of the Assumption and attempting to rob the collection box. They will be examined October 24. Reverend Joseph Marx appeared as the complaining witness.

Quake is Recorded; Volcano is Blamed

Gas To Be Let Out of Dirigible Today

(By The Associated Press.) Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 17.—The great quantity of hydrogen gas which carried the big dirigible ZR-3 safely to her new home from Germany will be freed to the winds tomorrow.

DAVE LAWRENCE DESCRIBES HOW HE GETS "DOPE"

Avoids Headquarters, Sees Friends of Many Faiths.

(By The Associated Press.) (This is the concluding dispatch of a series of three analyzing political sentiment in the west after a trip of thirty days of actual investigation. Mr. Lawrence now is making a study of the East preparatory to writing a dispatch on the trend in the East.)

Midwest America, Oct. 17.—How, it may be asked, can any correspondent in a quick journey across the continent, stopping a day or two in a state, gauge the political sentiment thereof? What is the value of pre-election polls and analysis made by itinerant reporters?

These are natural questions and are asked in every campaign whenever any correspondent undertakes the risks of political prophecy. Since the writer began his tour, for instance, he has noted one or two comments that he did not visit in a particular state the Democratic or Republican or La Follette headquarters. As a matter of fact this correspondent deliberately avoided most of the campaign managers of all parties.

There are political chiefs, of course, who are honest with their callers and there are others who try purposely to mislead in the hope that the dispatches written will have a certain effect on the local situation. Then there are political leaders who express honest convictions but they are sometimes misled by their own information.

Problem of Contacts. Not always knowing the personal equation of these local managers for as a rule they change with every campaign, it has always been considered better policy by this writer to waste no time with men who merely wish to pump him full of propaganda for their own ends. Out in Nebraska, for instance, where Frank Harison, regional manager for the La Follette forces, was visited, it took about two minutes to discover that he regarded the calls of all correspondents as simply a splendid opportunity to broadcast his own case.

How then does a correspondent operate who enters a campaign with the sole desire of getting the facts and without any desire to affect the outcome or to take sides? It is a problem of acquaintance and friendship over a period of many years with men who will not mislead, who endeavor to appraise a situation honestly. It is, of course, unthinkable that any correspondent can as such state as the people living in it. But there are persons resident in every state who are saturated with their own situation, who know from year to year what is likely to happen in politics, persons of balanced judgement and wide acquaintance, persons who mingle with all classes of people. Their analysis counts for a great deal with this correspondent. It has proved sound in the campaigns of previous years.

Just a Reporting Job. Again and again on the local newspapers are shrewd political reporters who watch the various headquarters from day to day, who can tell you in five minutes whether a campaign manager is whistling to keep up his courage or really convinced his figures are correct. In other cases one finds mutual friends of these same campaign managers to whom at the lunch or dinner table on previous occasion, the inside story has been told. In other words the task of gathering information on politics is the same as it is on anything else—a reporter's job is in finding out who really "is in the know" and piecing together the viewpoints of several people.

In one city, this correspondent has five friends whose views on politics do not agree. One is a (Continued On Page Six.)

CONCRETE ROAD WORK TO GO ON IN 1925, PLAN

Program Hinges On Amount of Cash Available

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Oct. 17.—Although the 1925 highway program is still in its earliest formative stages, the heads of the department and Governor Grosbeck have decided that concrete construction work and the policy of concentrating on the completion of through routes are to continue, it was said today, contingent, of course, on the highway finance measures adopted by the legislature and the outcome of the election.

While no forecast can be made as to whether any one road will be made a solid ribbon of concrete, as M-16, between Detroit and Lansing, was this year, the preliminary plans appear to make it safe to say that M-23, M-11 and M-14 will be given large stretches of pavement. M-1, the West Michigan pike, is the main route from Chicago up the Lake Michigan shore. It is now paved well up into the northern part of the lower peninsula and next season is likely to see it surfaced on up past Traverse City into the Charlevoix, Petoskey resort region.

M-23 stretches across the state from Detroit through Coldwater, Sturgis and White Pigeon down to the Indiana line. M-14 is the central part of the state what M-11 is to the western side. From the Indiana boundary it bee lines up through Jackson, Lansing, St. Johns, Mt. Pleasant, Grayling and on up to Cheboygan, touching Houghton and Higgins Lakes and tapping a much-travelled territory.

Convictions Are Upheld by Court; 52 Are Affected

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Oct. 17.—Fifty-two men and women charged with violating the prohibition law in Lake County, Indiana, were held to have "substituted for prohibition a system of license that protected them from conviction" by the United States circuit court of appeals here today when their case came up. The defendants included Roswell Johnson, former mayor of Gary, Ind., and Louis Barnes, former sheriff in Lake county. They had been sentenced to from ten days in jail to 18 months in a federal penitentiary and fines of $2,000, and these sentences were confirmed by the court today.

Following return of indictments May 25, 1922, 74 arrests were made by prohibition officers in and around Gary. Of these 75 defendants, 52 were convicted but appealed from the sentences imposed by Judge Ferdinand A. A. Geiger of Indianapolis.

Detroit Heads Printers' Union

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Oct. 17.—George K. Hobb, of Detroit, was today elected president of the United Typothetae of America at the close of the organization's thirty-eighth annual convention here. Ernest P. Elliott, of New York, was elected vice president.

The organization passed a resolution adopting Benjamin Franklin as the body's patron saint while another resolution requested that the United States erect and dedicate in Washington a memorial to Franklin to commemorate his patriotic, scientific and literary achievements.

ILLINOIS TEAM IS FAVORED TO BEAT MICHIGAN

Went To Washington To Witness World's Series Games.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Oct. 17.—A wide circle of friends in newspaper and political life mourned the death here today of H. H. Kohlisaat, former Chicago publisher. Stricken with paralysis last Tuesday at the home of Secretary Hoover, where he was visiting, Mr. Kohlisaat had shown improvement until a sudden turn for the worse today was followed by his death shortly before noon. He was 71 years of age.

President Coolidge joined in the expressions of sorrow from official Washington at the passing of a figure who had played an important part in its councils as the friend and adviser of American presidents since the days of the McKinley administration. In a message to Mrs. Kohlisaat, the president expressed his "sincere sympathy which I know is shared by the circle of friends and admirers, which is worldwide."

Besides his widow, Mr. Kohlisaat's two daughters, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Jr., Chicago, and Mrs. Roger Shepard, St. Paul, were with him when he died.

Funeral services today in the ritual of the Episcopal Church, of which Mr. Kohlisaat was a member, will be held at the home of Secretary Hoover tomorrow. President Coolidge was expected to join other government officials in attendance at the service. In accordance with Mr. Kohlisaat's expressed wish, the body will be cremated.

The following will be honorary pall-bearers: Secretary Hoover, Robert Woods Bliss, Edward M. House, Robert Underwood Johnson, Vernon Kellogg, Frank B. Noyes, Richard V. Calahan, and Arthur H. Sulzberger. Mr. Kohlisaat came to Washington about ten days ago to attend the world series baseball games as the guest of Commissioner Landis. In a statement announcing his death, Secretary Hoover said he had seemed tired and had consented to remain at his home for a rest. Severe headaches developing Sunday was followed by a stroke. Mr. Hoover recalled that the deceased had been a "valued friend of every president since McKinley." And although always refusing public office, had "given himself unreservedly to public service."

Herman H. Kohlisaat was well known as a journalist through his many years' connection with Chicago newspapers. He owned and edited at different times the Chicago Inter-Ocean, Chicago Times-Herald, Chicago Record-Herald and Chicago Evening Post.

He was active in the public affairs of Chicago as an editor and private citizen for thirty years. He was a Republican and a close personal friend of the late President McKinley.

Mr. Kohlisaat played a prominent part in the investigations that resulted in the United States Senate declaring vacant the seat of Senator William Lorimer. He furnished the information that resulted in bringing the Lorimer case before the Senate the second time after Lorimer had been vindicated in the first hearing.

Mr. Kohlisaat was born at Albion, Edwards County, O., Mar. 22, 1853, and was brought to Galena, Ill., by his parents when a child. He was educated in Galena. After he came to Chicago he began as newspaper carrier and later was a salesman for a wholesale bakery. A few years later he started a catering business on his own account. He was successful and in a few years owned a string of lunch counters and bakeries. Through his business and sagacious real estate investments, he accumulated a large fortune. In 1893 he disposed of his enterprises and purchased from William Benn Nixon a half interest in the Chicago Inter-Ocean of which he became business manager. In 1895 he sold his interest in the paper and made an unsuccessful attempt to purchase the New York Tribune and New York Times. Later he failed in an attempt to purchase the Chicago Tribune. On the death of James W. Scott, Mr. Kohlisaat purchased the Chicago Times-Herald and the Chicago Evening Post and became editor of both papers. Mr. Kohlisaat was a member of the (Continued On Page Six.)

HUGHES BACKS U. S. METHODS IN GOVERNMENT

Alteration of Constitution Isn't Necessary

(By The Associated Press.) Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Secretary of State Hughes, delivering a convocation of the University of the State of New York, an address which he introduced as non-political, spoke tonight in favor of retaining the original constitutional balances established between the supreme court and congress and between the president and congress. "The constitution of the United States is not a fetish," he said. "Impartial consideration of existing conditions should either heighten our respect for the institutions which proved themselves to be adaptable to unforeseen and unimaginable conditions or should aid us in securing advisable modifications. Mere panegyric or mere impatience with whatever exists are of little value."

Charge "Disproved."

He said in charge of usurpation of power made against the supreme court has been "in the judgment of most persons competent to judge disproved." It was not a question whether the United States subscribed to the doctrine of judicial review, for the constitution provided that. The question said Mr. Hughes, was whether the nation should abandon the doctrine.

The secretary of state declared it "quite clear that the present arrangement" for the election of president, "should be revised." In particular, the provision for election by the house of representatives in case no candidate receives a majority of electoral votes, "is seriously defective."

He also considered "deserving of serious consideration" whether the term of the presidency should not be extended to six years with non-eligibility for election to a second consecutive term. He compared the presidential system, characterized by historians as "built for safety, not speed," with the prime minister parliamentary system, affording "swiftness in decision and vigor in action." He concluded that the American style was most stable and therefore most desirable.

Alteration of Constitution Isn't Necessary

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Oct. 17.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, informed the Senate investigating committee today that it is his "and expectation" of his $3,000,000 for the national campaign, presidential, and congressional.

At the same time, Butler denied charges of Senator La Follette, the independent presidential candidate, that his committee would mobilize a large mass of funds in certain states during the last weeks of the campaign. His denial was in reply to questions by Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota.

Groups of residents tonight stood around gazing at the structure, while inside the president checked over his loss and the girl employee, who was locked in the vault, flicked away composure on a typewriter. She was not much frightened, she said, but admitted feeling "a little scared." According to the others who were locked in with her, she was calm and apparently unafraid. President Crawford stated that the loss would not impair the bank as it was fully insured.

Senator Saraway. "Just tell me about it."

Division "Busted." Under further questioning, Baker said his division was about "busted" and that it expected to spend little additional funds during the campaign.

Replying to further questioning by Senator Borah, Mr. Butler said he was not aware that any other organizations, except the different state organizations are raising and spending money for the election of the Republican ticket.

Senator Caraway wanted to know if it was the witness' judgment that a campaign could not be properly waged for less than $3,000,000.

"I think that is a fair amount," Mr. Butler said. "I think it is very prudent."

Mr. Butler testified that he had eliminated in this campaign items for newspaper advertising and billboard advertising, which he was of the opinion had cost large sums four years ago.

Warships Sunk by Chang's Airplanes

London Oct. 17.—Airplanes belonging to the forces of Chang-Tso-Lin, the Manchurian warlord Thursday, sank two government warships at Chingwangtao, an important port in the province Chihly on the Gulf of Liaoning, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail, from Mukden.

General Wu Pei-Fu, commander of the Chihli forces, had his headquarters aboard a battleship at Chingwangtao and 30 of Chang's planes were sent to attack the battleship in an endeavor to ascertain which ship General Wu was on. The dispatch adds that the ships put to sea, but two were struck with bombs and exploded and sank in flames.

Ten Yale Students Honored in Award

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—Ten students of Yale University have been honored in the award of the James Goodrich memorial scholarships, having achieved the distinction of possessing "not only intellectual ability but marked also by high character and fine personality such as to give promise to their leadership among men."

The scholarships were established in 1923 by a gift of $100,000 from Charles Stillman, Yale 1882 of New York City, in memory of his uncle, James Raymond Goodrich of the class of 1855, Yale College. The fund provides for ten scholarships of $500 each.

During the last fiscal year the International Typographical Union paid out $876,609 in old age pensions.

Recommendation of Warrant Is To Be Made Today, Claim

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Oct. 17.—A warrant specifically charging John McLeod, former chief deputy sheriff, and Samuel Lachman, a special deputy, with attempted extortion of graft money from down-river resort keepers and bootleggers, will be recommended tomorrow morning, Chief Assistant Prosecutor Robert M. Toms said late today.

"I have taken a number of statements from persons who have described demands made upon them and have decided there is ample evidence for a criminal prosecution," Toms said. "A warrant will be recommended in the morning. Both McLeod and Lachman will be named."

The appointment of Arthur Barker, who for the past two years has served under McLeod as a criminal investigator, to the position of chief deputy, was announced late Friday by Sheriff Walters. The sheriff said the appointment was based upon the splendid record Barker has made as an investigator. He has earned promotion, the sheriff said.

Cal Is Satisfied With Progress Of Campaign to Date

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Oct. 17.—Satisfaction over the progress of the political campaign expressed by President Coolidge who told visitors that after allowing for possibilities too optimistic reports felt encouraged over the outlook.

The president was assured this morning at a breakfast party at the White House with about forty members of the theatrical profession that he would receive "almost 100 per cent of the votes of the actors."

The party turned into a fun festival on the White House lawn after the breakfast with Al Tolson and Raymond Hitchcock leading in songs and impromptu speeches. Mr. Coolidge left for the cabinet meeting with the tunes of a newly composed song "Keep Coolidge," and some of the actors' "presidential jokes" ringing in his ears.

Later in the day the president conferred with Charles A. Littlefield, of Lynn, Mass., Republican candidate for the house, on conditions in the shoe and textile industry. Mr. Littlefield, who is a guest at the White House, reported conditions in these industries were improving and that a greater improvement could be expected.

STEVE MADAJA IN "SOLITARY" AT MARQUETTE

(By The Associated Press.) Marquette, Mich., Oct. 17.—Steve Madaja, in prison again. Not in the cell he occupied before his thrilling escape April 21, 1923, when he, with Russell Smith, crawled through a ventilator in the roof of the prison cell block and jumped off the roof to the ground, but in a solitary confinement cell—the same kind which for many long months has held Arthur "Gypsy Bob" Harper, murderer of T. B. Catlin, former warden, and F. C. Mennhennalt, former deputy warden.

And, in all probability, Madaja, killer and bank bandit, will remain in solitary confinement a long time. He arrived at the prison this afternoon, handcuffed, guarded by two members of the state police. He entered the prison doors without a word and although his face was pale and somewhat drawn, there was something about his actions that indicated a feeling of relief.

Fence Must Come Down, Court Says

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Oct. 17.—Milk bottle bombardment, notwithstanding the fence of John Mac and Nicholas Herman must be lowered to within the legal height of six feet. This was the edict issued by Judge John Faust in recorder's court today.

E. H. Flaherty, holding inspector, said that Herman once started to lower the fence, but a fusillade of milk bottles from Mrs. Mac caused the desist. He went for a policeman, but the officer, likewise, was beaten off, even though he had a washtub over his head.

Judge Faust promised a detachment of police if necessary to guard the operations but declared that the fence must be lowered or torn down by October 24.

Chelaborers Row Subsides, Report

(By The Associated Press.) Canton, Oct. 17.—With conditions approaching normal after the fighting between the merchant volunteer corps and the so-called "red army" of Chelaborers, martial law has been partially lifted, a majority of the troops have been withdrawn from the city and the remainder are carrying on a shop to shop search dismantling the merchants.

It is estimated that the value of the property destroyed by the street fighting is $7,000,000. Many looted soldiers and civilians have been shot by order of the police.

ACTIVE BACKING OF LAFOLLETTE COSTS MAN JOB

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Oct. 17.—LaFollette-Wheeler campaign headquarters announced receipt from Greensboro, N. C., today of a telegram from C. P. Barringer, LaFollette-Wheeler campaign state chairman for North Carolina, asserting that "the Reverend Tom P. Jimison, prominent minister and member of the western North Carolina conference Methodist Episcopal Church South and elector-at-large on the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket, was forced to give up his pastorate and membership in the conference here today by his conference in session x x x because of his activities in politics."

"After a conference with the bishop," the telegram added, "Mr. Jimison issued a statement declaring it was not his activities in politics but the fact that he had bolted the Democratic party and was supporting LaFollette. Working people at Spencer where he was pastor are much incensed at the action of ecclesiastical authority."

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 17.—Bishop Collins Denny, presiding over the western North Carolina Methodist conference, tonight declined to see newspapermen in regard to the withdrawal from the conference of Reverend Tom P. Jimison, of Spencer, elector-at-large for the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket who this morning withdrew from the conference. After withdrawing Reverend Jimison issued a statement in which he said pressure had been brought to bear to make him leave the conference on account of political activities and convictions.

Members of the conference cabinet, which is composed of the eleven presiding elders in the conference, declined to discuss the matter in any way.

Negotiations on Funding Near End

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Oct. 17.—Negotiations for funding the Polish and Lithuanian debts to the United States are approaching a conclusion. It is understood the agreements will follow generally the terms of the settlements already made with other countries.

DISBANDING OF CHEKIANG ARMY BEING PLANNED

(By The Associated Press.) Shanghai, Oct. 18.—Plans for disarming and dispersing the more than 15,000 soldiers of the defeated Chekiang province army, now encamped in and about Shanghai, were discussed at an all night conference between leading Chinese merchants of the city and Chekiang army representatives, without any agreement having been reached.

In the meantime the Chinese merchants, fearing the disgruntled losers in the recent war for possession of Shanghai may cause trouble, are furnishing food for the thousands of surly troops.

More former Chekiang fighters arrived today from Woosung, at the entrance to Shanghai's outer harbor. They are moody and fully armed, dodging the foreign settlements, on their way to the west side of the city and joined the big Chekiang camp at the railway junction.

Chi Shieh-Yuan, military governor of Kiangsu province, and nominal victor in the recent fighting, was still at Quinsan, his field headquarters, today.

He issued a formal statement in which he said he did not wish further fighting, but that the Chapei district must be cleared of all rebellious troops.

General Chi added that he hoped the Chekiang leaders would accept the surrender terms already offered: Ten dollars cash for each soldier, a month's pay for each officer and repatriation or re-enlistment.

College Education Is Worth $72,000, Says Boston School Official

(By The Associated Press.)
Boston, Oct. 17.—The cash value of a college education to its possessor is $72,000, according to a report made public today by Dean Everett W. Lord, of the Boston University College of Business Administration. The report is based on a long study of the earning capacity of college graduates. The cash value of a high school education is placed by the report at $33,000.
The report gives the average income of the untrained man as $1,200; that of the high school graduate as $2,200, and of the college graduate as $6,000. The total earnings of each of the three types, up to the age of 60, are placed at $15,000, $78,000 and $150,000 respectively. Dean Lord in his computation estimated also that while the untrained man at the age of 50 begins to drop toward dependence, the college man reaches his maximum earning capacity at 60.

Hits Maximum at 30.
"The untrained man goes to work as a boy of 14 and reaches his maximum income at the age of 30," the report said. "His maximum is, on the average, less than $1,200 a year. In view of the fact that this income is earned through manual labor dependent on physical strength, it begins to fall off at the age of 50 or even earlier, and soon reaches a level below self-support. The figures show that more than sixty out of every 100 untrained workers are dependent upon others for support at the age of sixty. The total earnings for the untrained man from 14 to 60 are about $45,000. Between the ages of 14 and 18, the four years which might have been spent in high school, the young man usually earns not more than $2,000.
"The high school graduate goes to work at 18, having lost the opportunity to earn $2,000 which the untrained man earns during this period. However, starting at 18, the high school graduate passes the maximum income of the untrained man in seven years, rises steadily to his own maximum of $2,200 at 40 and continues at that level for the rest of his life. He averages a total earning of $78,000 from 18 to 60. The $33,000 excess over the life earnings of the untrained man represents the cash value of a four year high school course.
College Man Has Edge.
"Now, consider the college or technical school graduate. His permanent earnings begin at 22, although a considerable amount may have been earned during the college course. By the time he is 28 his income equals that of the high school graduate at 30 and it continues to rise practically without a break. Since his income is dependent upon his mental ability and training constantly improved by practice, it increases with the years. The college or technical school graduate's average income of $6,000 at 60 years is often surpassed.
"His total earnings from 22 to 60, not including anything earned during the college period, are $150,000. The $72,000 more than is earned by the high school graduate represents the cash value of college or technical school training."

OBITUARY

THOMAS O'BRIEN.

The body of Thomas O'Brien was returned from the Allo Funeral Home to the home at 29 Highland avenue, Wells, yesterday and funeral services will be conducted today at 2:30 at the Wells church with the Rev. Mr. Williams officiating.

WILLIAM C. CASE.

William C. Case, four and half months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Case, 604 Stephenson avenue, died yesterday morning. The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home this afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Mr. Hubbard of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

HERE'S FOOD PROBLEM

Peterborough, England.—A commissary wagon rumbles through the streets of Peterborough—carrying provisions to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Boon. The problem of feeding 12 sons and 6 daughters has led Boon to buy a truck and hire a driver to make the rounds of the grocery stores and butcher shops each day and return with food for his hungry family.

METAL FROCKS

London.—Metal frocks and frocks woven with fine threads of gold and silver are among the novelties of the winter season in London. To lighten their effect of gleaming splendor, the gowns are treated by a new frosting process.

MOUSE ON BUSS

London.—A motor omnibus was brought to a sudden stop in Tottenham Courtroad. Shrieking women rushed down the staircase into the road. The cause of the commotion was not a fire or other catastrophe, but a small mouse. The rodent had made a dash for liberty out of the coat pocket of a little boy.

SAILOR'S BODY IS IDENTIFIED

Writt Funeral Will Be Held at His Home in Sturgeon Bay.

Positive identification of the body, taken to Sault Ste. Marie Thursday by the steamer W. G. Pollock, as that of Roland Writt, of Escanaba, was made yesterday and the body was sent to Writt's old home at Sturgeon Bay for burial. Mrs. Writt, his mother, and Roland, Jr., 11-months old son of the unfortunate mariner, went to Sturgeon Bay yesterday to be present at the funeral.

The body was the first so far as known, to be picked up from the whaleback Clifton which floundered with all of the 28 members of its crew in Lake Huron on the Goodrich-DeTour channel on Sept. 22. It was found by the Pollock in the vicinity of Thunder Bay.

When recovered, the body had on but little clothing—a union suit, stockings, a light pair of low shoes and a pair of overalls. Strapped about the body was a new life preserver on which was the name, "Clifton." Identification was made, it was said, through a wreath tattooed on the right hand, a cross and an emblem ring of the Catholic Order of Foresters. These articles provided sufficient data to make it unnecessary for relatives to go to the South.

Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed when Mrs. Writt left yesterday for Sturgeon Bay.

A THOUGHT

If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.—1 Cor. 15:19.

Happy are we if on the body of the resurrection we can hear the face with which victorious Christians leave the earth.—Samuel Duffield.

NEW MOTOR VICTORY

Canton, China.—Sedan chairs, once China's sole means of transportation, are disappearing before the popularity of the automobile. It is estimated that there are now 200 passenger cars and 125 trucks in operation in Canton alone, once the stronghold of the sedan chairs.

SPOIL GUARDS' HORSES

London.—So many sweet foods have been given to the horses of the sentries on duty in Whitehall that the horses perform poorly in training maneuvers. The guards are forbidden to speak to the public, and thus are able to prevent their horses from being fed with "dainties."

HUYBRECHT TO ADDRESS MASS MEET TONIGHT

Paul Huybrecht, of Green Bay, who last night addressed the regular meeting of the Independent Progressive Voters of Escanaba will tonight address a mass meeting at the Eagles' hall, at Gladstone. Mr. Huybrecht is an able speaker and it is expected that a large number of LaFollette-Wheeler sympathizers will attend tonight's meeting.

"Beg Pardon"

The Press was in error yesterday when it stated that the household goods of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Hanley, 520 South 8th street were crated and were not damaged in the fire at that address Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Hanley had been expecting to move into another house in the same part of the city but their effects were not crated and were considerably damaged by the fire and water. The item, as it was printed yesterday, was an injustice to the Hanley family which the Press regrets deeply.

SECRET OF HAPPINESS

Rome.—Two young married people of Rome have found the secret of matrimonial happiness. Whenever they start a quarrel, they pick up two telephones that are only a few feet apart and do their talking over the wires. In this way the absurdity of their quarrel appeals to them, and they are soon laughing where once they were fighting.

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS ARE GUESTS HERE

Delta Lodge Formally Inspected Last Night

Grand Master Henderson and Grand Lecturer Frank O. Gilbert, of the Grand Lodge F. & A. M. of Michigan, last night were the guests of honor of Delta Lodge, when the grand lodge officers formally inspected the local lodge. A feature of last night's presentation to the lodge of a gavel made from the marble from which the stone for King Solomon's temple was mined in Jerusalem. The gavel was secured in Jerusalem, this summer by Frederick Erickson, son of Edward Erickson and last night was formally presented to the lodge by F. A. F. Snyder who delivered a most excellent presentation address.

Lodge is Complimented.
Following the exemplification of the work of the order both of the grand lodge officers highly complimented the officers of Delta Lodge upon the excellence of the work, asserting that the standard of the work here would compare with that in any Masonic lodge in Michigan.

At 6:30 o'clock the grand lodge officers were the guests of honor at a dinner served at the temple and during the serving of an excellent menu, a most delightful musical program was presented by the Masonic orchestra. Following the dinner a brief address was made by John P. Norton.

Rally Day Program at Baptist Church

Sunday is rally day at the First Baptist church and Sunday school. Sunday school will convene at 9:45 as usual, then at 10:45, without intermission, the rally day service and program will begin in the church auditorium. A larger goal for the attendance mark then ever before has been set and all the church and Sunday school members are striving toward this mark.

The program for the morning service is to be "The Pageant of the Parables" and will be presented by groups of Sunday school scholars and a chorus of young people. The parables to be presented are as follows:

- First parable—The Good Shepherd.
 - Second parable—The Lost Coin.
 - Third parable—The Prodigal Son.
 - Fourth parable—The Sower.
 - Fifth parable—The Good Samaritan.
 - Sixth parable—The Builder of the Tower.
 - Seventh parable—The Talents.
- A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend both the Sunday school service and the program following.

The First Glimpse of Winter Modes

OUR BUYER, just returned from the market this week, has made quite a change in the appearance of our Millinery Section, and it is taking on a new and delightful tone. Satins in tailored models and combined with metal are most popular.

The bright hat with the up-turned brims are replacing the cloche of the past seasons. Lovely metals and silks with bright flowers and motifs are taking a leading part in the new early Winter fashions. A beautiful assortment will now be found on display.

We invite your special attention at this time to our Millinery Section and are sure your time there will be very pleasantly and profitably spent.

WHERE TO MARKET

Menus for Family

SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Grape juice, hominy cooked with figs, thin cream, toast, bran bread, scrambled eggs, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Lima beans in lemon sauce, peanut butter sandwiches, apple tapioca pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered beets, tomato and endive salad, oatmeal bread and butter, pear and pineapple conserve, Mother's pumpkin pie, milk, coffee.

The pumpkin pie is a concession to father but junior may have a small piece without the crust.

Home-made grape juice makes an excellent breakfast "fruit" and the housekeeper who has a grape vine over her back fence may be glad of a simple rule for making this "home brew."

Grape Juice.
Pick over grapes and remove from stems. Wash thoroughly. Put in preserving kettle and heat stirring to prevent burning. No water is needed in the kettle as some clings to the grapes. When broken pour into jelly bag and let drip. Measure and add 1 cup of sugar to every 4 cups of juice. Return to preserving kettle, bring to the boiling point and pour into hot sterilized bottles or cans. Seal. Be sure the juice is boiling when put into the bottles and that the bottles are full to overflowing.

Lima Beans in Lemon Sauce.
One pint lima beans, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 2 tablespoons butter, salt and pepper.

Cook beans in boiling water to cover until tender. Use as little water as possible. Drain if necessary but the water should be cooked away. Season with salt and pepper and keep hot. Beat egg with water until light. Beat in lemon juice and butter and cook over hot water until thick. Season with salt and pepper and pour over beans.

Pear and Pineapple Conserve.
Pare and core pears and weigh. One pound pears, 1/2 lemon, grated rind and juice, 1 orange, grated rind and juice, 1/2 pineapple, 3/4 as much sugar as fruit.

Cut pears into cubes. Cook until tender. Cut pineapple into cubes and cook until tender. Use just enough water to prevent burning for both the pears and pineapple. Combine fruit, add grated rind and juice of lemon and orange and measure. Use 3/4 as much sugar as fruit. Put fruit into preserving kettle, bring to the boiling point and slowly sift in sugar which has been heated in the oven. Cook until mixture is transparent. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Breakfast—Baked apples, rolled oats, thin cream, creamed dried beef on toast, potato and spinach timbales, corn muffins, orange marmalade, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cauliflower au gratin, broiled lamb chop, brown bread and butter sandwiches, grapes, milk, tea.

Dinner—Noodle soup, roast joint of pork, candied sweet potatoes, creamed carrots, stuffed carrots, stuffed tomato salad, whole wheat bread and butter, sliced peaches, plain sponge cake, milk, coffee.

A child under six years of age should not be given the dried beef for breakfast. He may have a bit of the jelly part of the marmalade on his toast, but none of the rind.

Two or three flowerettes of cauliflower should be put aside for a four-year-old child before the vegetable is prepared "au gratin." It's so easy to broil a lamb chop for his luncheon that it's really the only thing to do when the dinner meat is planned to please the man of the house. Meat once a day is the rule for a child under six, and noontime is the ideal meal for it.

Potato and Spinach Timbales.
Two cups hot rice potatoes, 2 finely chopped spinach, 1/2 teaspoon butter, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup spoon salt, 4 tablespoons hot milk.

Add milk, butter and salt to potatoes, and beat well. Beat in yolks of eggs with spinach. Add whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Half fill buttered timbales or custard cups and bake 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Cauliflower au Gratin.
One medium sized head cauliflower, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup dried bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Remove outer leaves and stalks from cauliflower. Place in cold water, head down, for half an hour. Drain and put in boiling water, head up. Cover with boiling water, add 1 teaspoon salt and boil gently until tender, about 40 minutes. Drain and separate into flowerettes. Put in a buttered baking dish and cover with the sauce, made as follows: Melt butter, stir in flour, slowly add milk, stirring constantly. When thick and smooth add salt and cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Pour over cauliflower and cover with crumbs well covered with melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven until nicely browned and serve at once.

Candied Sweet Potatoes.
Three or four sweet potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons sugar, salt.

Pare potatoes and cut in halves lengthwise if they are "fat." Cook in boiling water until tender, but not broken. Add salt when potatoes are about half cooked. Melt butter in a shallow pan with a cover. Add potatoes and sprinkle with sugar. Cover and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes. Turn pieces of potatoes at the end of 10 minutes to be sure their whole surface is well coated with the butter and sugar mixture.

Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit, soft boiled eggs, buttered whole wheat toast, fried green tomatoes with cream gravy, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cream of lettuce soup, croutons, stewed tomatoes, plain bread, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled mutton, plain boiled potatoes, creamed turnips, hearts of lettuce, fruit dessert, milk, coffee, brown bread and butter.

Two tablespoons grapefruit juice slightly sweetened should be served to a four-year-old child about half an hour before he eats his breakfast. He will not eat the fried green tomatoes and sauce.

Serve one or two tablespoons of the fruit dessert without the whipped cream to a child under six.

Fried Green Tomatoes.
Wash green tomatoes and cut a slice from stem end. Cut tomatoes in slices about 3-8 inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and let stand with a weight over for half an hour. Drain. Dip in fine cracker crumbs, egg slightly beaten and again in crumbs and fry in butter. Brown first on one side and then on the other. Stir one or two tablespoons flour into butter left in pan, slowly add one to two cups of milk, stirring constantly and serve sauce with tomatoes.

The tomatoes should be very green, not even half ripe.

Cream of Lettuce Soup.
Two heads lettuce, 1/2 cup coarse celery, 2 sprigs parsley, 1 small onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 cups water, 2 cups milk.

Use outer leaves of lettuce and the solid stalk, saving the tender leaves for the dinner salad. Wash lettuce through several waters.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in kettle, add lettuce and simmer 10 minutes. Add onion peeled and sliced, celery cut in dice and water and cook for 20 minutes. Add salt and cook 10 minutes longer. Rub through a puree strainer. Melt remaining butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly, and bring to the boiling point but do not let boil. Add vegetable stock and reheated. Serve with a spoonful of whipped cream topping each plate.

Combine diced peaches, apples, pears and white grapes with sugar and serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream. The fruit should be mixed and chilled for an hour before serving. This is an excellent quick dessert, using bits of fruit that might otherwise go begging. The hearts of lettuce should be dressed with oil and lemon juice, seasoned with salt and pepper and a bit of sugar. Lemonjuice is preferable to vinegar. Vinegar retards digestion and has no food value, while lemon juice is rich in vitamins and has a tonic effect.

Breakfast—Fresh pears, scrambled eggs with rice, whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Vegetable soup, toast, crackers, fig custard, milk, tea.

Dinner—Roast beef, potatoes baked, with meat, baked squash, stuffed tomato salad, grape pudding, milk, coffee, whole wheat bread and butter.

The scrambled eggs with rice is a sort of two-in-one dish in that it provides the cereal and protein food in one dish.

The tomatoes are stuffed with a celery and cabbage combination. Nuts can be added but are not necessary since a hearty meat is served.

Scrambled Eggs With Rice.
Six eggs, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 1/2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter.

Mix milk and rice thoroughly. Melt butter in frying pan, add rice and milk and bring to the boiling point. Add eggs, unbeat, season with salt and pepper and cook over a low fire, lifting and stirring with a fork until eggs are set and the whole is of creamy consistency.

Vegetable Soup.
Two carrots, 1 small turnip, 1 medium-sized onion, 1 small sweet green pepper, 2 coarse blades celery, 6 large ripe tomatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour.

Wash and pare carrots, turnip and onion. Cut in thin slices. Remove seeds from pepper and cut in shreds. Cut celery in thin slices. Put these vegetables into a large sauce pan and cover with boiling water. Simmer until tender but not broken. Peel tomatoes and cut in small pieces. Add to vegetables, season with salt, parsley and pepper, and simmer half an hour, stirring often. One or two cups of water may be added with the tomatoes. Melt butter, rub in flour and slowly add to soup, stirring to make smooth. The soup will need frequent stirring after the tomatoes are added to prevent sticking and burning. The vegetables are sometimes mashed slightly with a perforated potato masher before the soup is thickened.

Grape Pudding.
Two cups grape juice, 1-3 cup cornstarch, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 eggs, 1/4 cup sugar.

Add sugar to grape juice and bring to the boiling point. Stir in cornstarch diluted with enough cold grape juice to pour easily. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture is clear. Add butter and a few grains salt. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold into grape juice mixture. Turn into individual molds and chill before serving. Serve with custard sauce made with the yolks of the eggs. (Copyright, 1924, NEA Service, Inc.)

REMOVES RUST.
When the blades of steel knives have become rusty, wipe them with sweet oil and polish with fine emery cloth.

COOK SOON AS POSSIBLE
Cook green corn as soon as possible after it comes from the market as it is injured by keeping.

BRUSH MATTRESSES.
Mattresses that are in daily use should be brushed and beaten at least once a month.

FREE FROM DUST.
Do not keep fruit in the dining room between meals. Keep it cool and out of the dust.

STAND IN SUGAR.
Sliced oranges, bananas, or pineapples should stand in sugar for half an hour before serving.

REMOVING FINGERMARKS.
Fingermarks on white or painted furniture may be removed by rubbing them with a clean cloth dipped in kerosene then wiped with a cloth wrung out of hot water.

BEATING EGGS.
Never use your silver spoon for beating up an egg or a dish of batter. Wooden, tin and iron are much cheaper.

HANGING STARCHED CLOTHES
Never hang starched clothes in the wind, as the wind blows out the starch.

SOFTENING WATER.
If water is very hard it should be softened for laundry purposes with a mild alkali—borax being the best for this purpose.

DUST WITH FLOUR.
Dust the pan in which you are to bake a pie with flour and the pie will not stick to the pan.

ACIDS AND MILK.
Avoid taking milk or cream at the same time with such acid fruits as cherries or oranges, as the effect of the acids on milk is not good.

USE LEMON JUICE.
If the glazed tiles in your bathroom become spotted, wash them with lemon juice, leave for a quarter of an hour and finally rub with a soft cloth.

CLEANING MAHOGANY.
You can clean a mahogany table very nicely by rubbing with a rag dipped in vinegar and then rubbing with a cloth dampened in paraffin.

HOME MADE PASTE
A good paste for sticking labels to glass is made of one part of powdered gum arabic, one part starch and four parts of sugar.

COTTON FOR IRON
If you will wind cotton around the handle of your iron, your hands will not feel dry and uncomfortable when you finish the week's laundry.

GOOD FURNITURE POLISH
A very effective furniture polish is made by combining equal parts of turpentine and linseed oil.

RINSE REFRIGERATOR
After you wash your refrigerator with soap suds rinse with hot water and ammonia.

Keep a card file of all the recipes that your family like best, subdivided according to the seasons. Consulting this from time to time you can get ideas when your inspiration is low.

CAMPBOW GUM.
A little camphor gum in the drawer where you keep your linen is said to be excellent for keeping it white.

TEACHER DIES FROM BEATING; MAN IS SOUGHT

Suicide of Assailant Is Believed Probability

(By The Associated Press.) Conklin, Mich., Oct. 17.—Attacked in the woodshed of her school house, Miss Molly Fleming, 23, years old, teacher at the Big Spring School, one mile southwest of here, was injured. Officers of Ottawa and Kent counties are searching for a garage employe of Marne, in connection with the attack.

According to the children, school had been dismissed and a number of the pupils had left for their homes. Miss Fleming was closing the building and had gone into the woodshed. There, a few minutes later, several children accidentally stumbled over her unconscious body. A large gash had been cut in her scalp and a bloodstained axe was nearby. One of the children ran to the home of Ed Umloir, a farmer, to reach a telephone to notify the officers.

Second Victim of Clifton Wreck Is Found by Steamer

(By The Associated Press.) Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Oct. 17.—The body of Robert Stedman, victim of the steamer Clifton, which was lost in a gale on September 22, in Lake Huron was found early today by the steamer Colby near Thunder Bay. The body was taken to Port Huron where it was identified by Latham B. Smith, head of the Smith Dock Company here, as the son of H. E. Stedman, president of the Door County State Bank.

This is the second body to be found since the lake tragedy. Another body, believed to be that of Roland Witt, was found near the same spot last Monday and is being sent here from Port Huron for positive identification. Witt was formerly a resident of Sturgeon Bay, but recently moved to Escanaba, Mich., where his wife and one child survive.

During the first nine months of last year, 20,509 skilled workers in the building trades left Great Britain for new lands.

lawyer, another a banker, and one is a labor leader, a fourth is a settlement house worker and a fifth is prominent in fraternal circles. Before visiting that city, letters were written appraising each of the date the writer would arrive. They had always kept their ears to the ground. In that state the writer has never made a prediction that proved an election day to be wrong. In some states, as for instance, Nebraska, the correspondent consulted twenty two different sources of information in Lincoln and Omaha.

Buils Up Friendship. Nobody can of course hope to predict with accuracy the outcome of the situation in every state. The most that can be done is to appraise the general sentiment and give the underlying psychology of it. Political managers dislike to see stories published which give anything but a rosy picture of their situations. Perhaps it disheartens their workers. One may sympathize with a campaign manager but his is a poor case which rests solely on what is published in the last few weeks of a campaign. It is the writer's experience that candidates are elected in spite of the extravagant praise given them in the last weeks of a campaign, and even President Coolidge may survive the meaningless pun that has been pushed as a slogan—"Keep cool with Coolidge." Much more effective have been the billboard advertisements in so many states with the two words "Why change?" in large letters addressed to the voter as an appeal to retain Coolidge.

Traveling the same ground year after year, a writer builds up his acquaintance everywhere with men-of-judgment rather than partisans, representative men who mingle with the people not a few days or a few weeks but all the year around. From them and the constant contact which a Washington correspondent keeps through Congress with local situations, an appraisal can be made of what is going on.

Straws of Value. As to polls and straw votes, they are of distinct value. The Literary Digest polls is one of the best ever taken. With some few exceptions it corresponds with the trend of sentiment in many states. The inaccuracies are not due to the Digest staff but to the disinclination of many people to mail back their ballots. The writer talked with scores of persons who throw their ballots away rather than take the time to fill them out. For this reason one cannot always tell the exact percentage of the probable vote. But all the various polls put together mean something. They are after all straws which show the way the wind is blowing.

Woman Is Forced To Give Up Roll

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Oct. 17.—Two armed men followed Mrs. Louis Asher into her grocery store as she was opening for business this morning, forced her to the rear of the store, took a handbag containing $450 and $15 from the cash register and escaped.

WIFE ADVISED SURRENDER OF ROBBER-SLAYER

(By The Associated Press.) Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 17.—A set of New York state automobile license plates led to the identification of Philip A. Hartman, of Ansville, Pa., who confessed early today to death of Francis L. Haley, state policeman, after robbing the Abbotstown State Bank Tuesday. Hartman was brought here from Reading, and accompanied by police officials, helped this afternoon to trace his movements on the day of the crime.

Credits Is Topic of Discussion at Association Meet

(By The Associated Press.) Cleveland, O., Oct. 17.—The Motor and Accessory Manufacturers Association convention discussed the details of handling credits in both manufacturing and jobbing fields. Addresses were delivered by J. L. Thompson, New York City, and J. K. Williams, Baltimore. Arthur H. Fagan, of New York, manager of the association's credit department, announced recent and contemplated improvements in the co-operative credit service of the association, covering the automotive manufacturer and the automotive jobbing fields.

Former Chief of College Is Dead

saat continued as editor and owner of both papers until 1901 when he took over the Chicago Record, owned by Victor F. Lawson and consolidated it with the Times-Herald. He called the merged papers the Chicago Record-Herald. At the same time he sold the Chicago Evening Post to John C. Shaffer.

Mr. Kohlmaat remained at the helm of the Chicago Record-Herald until 1902 when he turned the property over to Frank B. Noyes, publisher and one of the owners of the Washington Star. He devoted himself to his real estate interests until 1910 when Mr. Noyes returned to Washington, D. C., and Mr. Kohlmaat again took charge of the Record-Herald.

In 1913 he purchased the Chicago Inter-Ocean from George W. Hinman and became its editor, a position he held for a year when the paper changed hands and Mr. Kohlmaat retired from active journalism.

In 1886 Mr. Kohlmaat married Mabel E. Blake, of Chicago, and two daughters were the result of the union. He presented a statue of General U. S. Grant to the city of Galena and gave liberally to charity.

Two Students Die When Autos Crash; Another Hurt Bad

(By The Associated Press.)

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—The death toll in today's auto crash in which a party of University of Michigan students on their way to Urbana, collided head-on with another car, was increased to two late today, when Sam Miller, whose home is in Buffalo, N. Y., died at Mercy hospital.

Miller had been unconscious ever since the accident. He suffered concussion of the brain. The other victim was Edward McGrath, 24 years old, of Marion, Ohio.

He died shortly after the accident. Israel Saretsky, of this city, another of the University party, remains unconscious, but physicians held out hope for his recovery.

The student car, totally demolished, together with the other one, was viewed by hundreds of University students as they passed the wreck today on their way to Urbana. The wrecked machine, a battered old machine gaily painted in maize and blue colors, was streaked with blood of the seven victims of the crash. The others are less seriously hurt.

Coroner Slaughter is making an investigation to determine the cause for the head-on crash.

Movie Actor Given Lambs Club Office

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 17.—Thomas Melchan, motion picture actor, today was elected shoppier of the Lambs Club. He was said to be the first motion picture actor to have been elected head of the exclusive actors' organization.

It was developed during today's meetings that the parts and accessory industry's sales to the motor vehicle manufacturing fields aggregates approximately a billion and a half dollars a year. The approximate value of complete motor vehicles for the year, of 1924, based on a production now estimated at three and a half million cars and trucks, will be about two million eight hundred million dollars, with an average unit value per vehicle of eight hundred dollars.

SUFFERED SINCE YOUNG GIRL

Words failed to express benefit received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Greenville, Texas. "Words can not express how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Every month I would have cramps and headache, and I felt like I was freezing to death. I suffered in this way from the time I was a young girl, and all the doctors said was 'operation.' For months I had a tired, sleepy feeling all day, and when night would come I would be so nervous I couldn't stay in bed. Our druggist recommended the Vegetable Compound to my husband and he bought four bottles. I have taken every one and I think I have a right to praise your medicine." Mrs. J. E. HOLLMAN, 224 E. Marshall St., Greenville, Texas.

For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been used by women from girlhood through middle age.

It is a dependable medicine for troubles common to women. Such as irregular menstruation, etc. It is cured by correcting the cause of the trouble. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Enforcement of Dry Law Goes on, Haynes Assures Churchmen

(By The Associated Press.)
 Dayton.—Over 65,000 bootleggers and moonshiners arrested by federal agents last year can testify that prohibition is being enforced," said Federal Prohibition Commissioner R. A. Haynes, speaking before the convention of the Dayton Council of Churches here tonight. "This number does not, of course, include the many thousands of arrests made by state, county and other local officials. That number will no doubt greatly exceed the arrests made by federal agents, since there are about a quarter of a million such officers, as compared with about 1500 federal men. The prohibition law is no respecter of persons. The wealthy bootlegger, Remus, of Ohio, the socially prominent LaMontagne of New York, and the politically influential of Gary, Indiana, and Pittsburgh violators—landed in cells just as did their poor bootlegging brothers.

"We have made it more difficult for the illicit trade to get supplies today. The four principal sources of supply have been cut off. Withdrawals of whiskey on permits are only about one per cent of the consumption prior to prohibition, and very little is escaping into illicit channels. During the last fiscal year about 1,500,000 gallons of whiskey were released for medicinal purposes.

In 1921, the first full fiscal dry year, there were released 8,671,360 gallons. The augmentation and increased efficiency of the coast guard is stopping the tide of smuggled liquors. While legislation to the bootleg trade are denatured alcohol than ever, diversions to the bootleg trade are decreasing. In Philadelphia and New York, two of the most difficult centers, withdrawals of specially denatured alcohol have been cut one-third in the last six months. Much of that diverted has been seized and destroyed. The practice in some sections at first prevalent, of making illicit liquor in the home, has been practically discontinued. The results were not worth the trouble. 'Moonshining' as an illicit trade was struck some harsh blows during the last year.

"In the 1923 fiscal year 158,132 stills and parts of stills and 14,346,649 gallons of distilled spirits, malt liquors, wine, cider, etc., were seized. In 1924 over 5,000 automobiles and more than 230 boats illegally transporting liquor were seized. In 1923, 3,977 automobiles and 124 boats were seized.

"The above figures do not, of course, include seizures by state and other local officials. Where the states have strong prohibition laws, our problem is fairly easy. States like New York, Maryland and Massachusetts, which have a state code, practically invite the liquor criminals. The federal force was never intended to police the United States. Where given cooperation by local officials and supported by state laws, we have every reason to be proud of the record made in such short time. Ohio is one of these states. Reports show that Ohio is right in the front ranks with reference to enforcement. This is due to the splendid support which Director Russell receives from the local officials. In Dayton especially, Director Russell tells me, is this true. The vice squad and the police department are always at the service of the federal department. Since Mr. Russell has been director over three years, about 125 persons from Dayton and Montgomery counties have been prosecuted in the federal court at Dayton and sentenced to the federal penitentiary, jail and workhouse, and to pay fines totalling about $25,000. Included in these cases was the Szakal and Kender whiskey rings, prosecution for conspiracy. In the state courts, with the assistance of local authorities, 70 persons were prosecuted during the same period, resulting in fines of over $31,000.

"Prohibition has not been a drain on the public purse. The appropriation for enforcement of the prohibition law last fiscal year was $8,350,000. Fines imposed on convicted violators were over $7,000,000, more than $5,000,000 of which has already been collected and turned into the United States Treasury. Brewers paid into the treasury half of one percent of alcohol. The amount of whiskey withdrawn under permit has been reduced to the approximate medicinal need, and very little is escaping into illicit channels. The home manufacture of liquor has been practically eliminated, and with the augmentation of the coast guard for patrolling the coasts, the smuggling problem soon will be solved. The greatest remaining problem, the curtailment of the diversion of industrial alcohol to beverage use, is being successfully met.

"There is no 100 per cent enforcement of any law, and it is not denied that there are violations of the prohibition law, but granting that it is difficult in some sections to enforce this law, and that bootlegging has become a natural consequence, it is easy to demonstrate that prohibition is showing itself as a means of pronounced public betterment, and unquestioned economic value to the nation.

"Much has been accomplished, much remains to be accomplished, but when it is recalled that as a nation we have been dealing with this problem for only four years, whereas the legalized liquor industry flourished for the preceding 143 years of the nation's life, the progress already registered is certainly noteworthy, and if the successes could only be stressed as generally as the instances of partial failure, the progress would be immeasurably speeded up."

LUMBER MARKET HOLDS STEADY

The lumber market, though lacking activity, remains steady. Reports from various sections state that urban demand continues its downward trend, but that country trade as a whole holds up well to its recent levels, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Most buying is of small lots for immediate delivery, making it appear that dealers are running on very low stocks and are purchasing only what is urgently required. This is in part due to the speed with which lumber is obtainable from the mills, making it unnecessary for retailers and consumers to carry extensive stocks; but political conditions are also responsible to a large extent. Manufacturers and distributors feel that most of the business from now on until the first of the year will not be in excess of actual consumption. The size of this consumption will depend largely on weather conditions and their effect on outdoor work. Industrial demand is becoming spotted, and will probably remain so until after the presidential election and inventories.

Mill stocks, however, are low in nearly all manufacturing sections, and it is not believed that a period of light demand will have any marked effect on prices, but that these will remain on about the present level. The mills meanwhile will doubtless pay greater attention to rebuilding stocks than to obtaining new business that would involve sacrifices they do not feel justified in making.

The icelanders will not burn ash for firewood, because they believe that those who sit about such a fire will become enemies.

Requiring all children residing in the State of Michigan, between the ages of seven and sixteen years, to attend a public school until they have graduated from the eighth grade.

Amendment to Article XI of the constitution relative to compulsory attendance at public schools of all children between the ages of seven and sixteen years until they have graduated from the eighth grade.

Section 16. From and after August 1st, 1925, all children residing in the State of Michigan, between the ages of seven years and sixteen years, shall attend a public school until they have graduated from the eighth grade.

Section 17. The Legislature shall enact all necessary legislation to render said section 16 effective.

Authorizing the enactment of an income tax law.

Amendment to Article X of the constitution authorizing the enactment of an income tax law.

SECTION 3. The legislature shall provide by law a uniform rule of taxation, except on property paying specific taxes, and taxes shall be levied on such property as shall be prescribed by law. The legislature shall provide by law a scheme of taxes upon the net gains, profits and incomes of all citizens and inhabitants of this state, from whatever source said gains, profits and incomes are derived, which tax shall be graduated and progressive as follows:

There shall be an exemption of $4,000 per annum of all incomes.

All incomes of from $4,000 to $20,000 per annum shall be taxed at the rate of 5 per centum.

All incomes above $20,000 up to and including $40,000, shall be taxed at the rate of 6 per centum.

All incomes above $40,000 up to and including $60,000, shall be taxed at the rate of 8 per centum.

All incomes above $60,000 up to and including $80,000, shall be taxed at the rate of 10 per centum.

All incomes above $80,000 up to and including $100,000, shall be taxed at the rate of 12 per centum.

All incomes above $100,000 shall be taxed at the rate of 15 per centum.

The income tax law, herein authorized, shall be administered by a board of state tax commissioners.

All moneys paid to a board of state tax commissioners under the provisions of this amendment shall be paid into the state treasury and shall then be credited to the general fund of the state, and shall be used for defraying the general expenses of the state government and for the payment of principal and interest on state bonds.

On or before the first day of September of each year, the auditor general shall deduct from the total amount directed by the legislature to be included in the state tax, for that year, the amount of money received under the provisions of this amendment and credited to the general fund of the state for the current year and the balance if any shall be deemed to constitute the state tax to be apportioned among the various counties of the state in accordance with the provisions of the general tax law.

NOT A FAT PART.

Weeks passed without news from the local beauty who had left town to make her fortune in the movies. Then one day she returned and took her old job. "But what about acting for the pictures?" she was asked. "Didn't they give you a part?" "Yes, they gave me a part," she answered bitterly. "They told me I could be the hand that held the bottle marked 'Poison' in the villain's nightmare!"—TIT-BITS.

Call Meeting Of Class of '23 For Wednesday Night

A meeting of the Class of '23 of the Escanaba High school has been called to be held at the Carnegie Public Library Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, at 7:30 o'clock. First Rehearsal Of Comic Opera Opens With Bang

The first rehearsal of "The Blue Bandits," the new light comic opera the Cleveland Post of the American Legion is giving with home talent at the Delta, Oct. 25th and 30th, opened with a bang Thursday night at the Legion headquarters. While the chorus only went over the music and songs, every member was enthusiastic and went to the work with a vim. Only a few of the cast have been picked as Mr. McDonough, the director, with the aid of the talent committed, are exercising the greatest care and caution in doing this. Everyone is being chosen as to type and ability to sing and act. Suffice to say, that when the final decisions are made "The Blue Bandits" will contain the greatest aggregation of home talent stars ever gotten together here. The names will be announced in the course of a few days.

The rehearsals will be held at the Legion headquarters until Sunday, and thereafter beginning Monday they will take place at the Arcade.

APPLES MADE INTO "SHINE"

Still Confiscated, Two Held as Result of Raids Yesterday.

Two gallons of moonshine whiskey in a red five-gallon gasoline can, and a two-gallon jug of "moon" were taken yesterday by the police from the automobile of Fred Cress of North 18th street. A few minutes later a raid on the residence of Harry Beauchamp, 1206 North 20th street, located a still, a gasoline stove and three barrels of mash made from ripe apples and sugar. All were confiscated. Cress has been charged with possession of liquor and Beauchamp with sale and manufacture.

Police allege that the booze in the Cress car came from the Beauchamp still, but said the raid on the Beauchamp place was made on evidence other than that seized from Cress.

The raid was the work of the city police and sheriff's department. Arraignments yesterday were in state court, but the cases will be transferred to federal court today, it was announced.

There have been numerous complaints about the alleged moonshining activities of Beauchamp. It was said yesterday.

The still, which occupied a room on the second floor, was of the small wash-bottle type. The mash, except for samples from each of the barrels, was destroyed.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct.—Chinatown has lost its color, even in war. The only difference between the ill-humored, lazy killer of Chinatown and his neighbor of the Bowery is in the slant of his eyes.

In every particular the killer in the desultory warfare now being waged between the Hip Sing and On Leong gangs are like the typical cake-eating gunman of America.

Gone are the hatchmen. Gone are the Chinese of another generation who made Mott, Pell and Doyer streets run red with blood. Gone are the long-queued battlers who stood toe to toe in the underground tunnels and fought with steel until one was dead.

Leaders of the gangs no longer marshal their forces for combat. They telegraph to Philadelphia, Chicago or Cleveland for gunmen. They designate the man they want killed and pay the killer $200, or less.

These gunmen are Chinese youths whose ages run from 16 to 20. They wear spotty overcoats, yellow caps, patent leather shoes, bell-bottomed trousers and plastered hair, a la Valentino.

Not one of them would do an honest day's toll. They are the lazy sons of industries fathers. Like the second generations of Jewish, Italian, German and Russian immigrants, these Chinese youths have been spoiled by indulgent parents who never knew anything but ambition and work when they came over here.

The Chinese gunman is not an expert shot.

"They shoot like girls," says Detective Arthur Lavery. "They always use automatics. They hold them out at the side, their arms stiff, close their eyes and pull the trigger. They move the gun in an arc and thus get a sweeping fire, depending on luck to get their man."

Lavery knows all about that. Tom Fong shot at Lavery that way the other day, emptying his pistol but failing to hit Lavery. Lavery shot Fong through the lung with one shot.

In one skirmish 30 shots were fired from behind drawn curtains. Windows were broken, but nobody was shot.

Expert revolver shots have been assigned to Chinatown by the police to stop the inept Chinese pistol users.

And white sightseers have temporarily been barred from the district.

THE WAY OF IT.

First Office Boy—A fellow called just now; wanted to see you.
Second Office Boy—What was he like, tall or short?
"Oh, both."
"Both? How do you make that out?"
"Why, he was tall, and wanted to borrow ten dollars."—Tit-Bits.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

EXTRA! AN UNKNOWN STUMP SPEAKER COMES TO TOWN AND MAKES ASTIRING SPEECH FOR CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF ED WURGLER.

Beaver Increasing in Peninsula Due to Closed Season

The closed season on beaver in the upper peninsula has resulted in an almost unbelievable increase in their numbers, according to game wardens.

There are dozens of thriving colonies of beavers in the woods within a comparatively few miles of this district and the same situation exists in every other county in the upper peninsula, according to reports.

Some complaint has been made by lumbermen that beavers are interfering with logging activities. Dammed streams have caused inconvenience in the building of logging roads and it also has been reported that valuable timber has been destroyed by the beavers. The complaints of the lumbermen are made light of by conversation commission, the wardens say.

"As we tell lumbermen who talked about the beavers," one warden declared, "all the beavers in the upper peninsula would not destroy in 100 years as much timber as is destroyed every year by fires. The lumbermen should prevent fires and then they will cut down their big losses. It is true that the beavers will destroy now and then, but it is so very little that it never would be noticed."

"We have been trying to help the lumberman as best we can. If they will let us know in time, of dams that are likely to cause trouble, we will help them. We cannot come around, however, when the beavers are all set for the winter and tear out a dam because a lumberman wants to build a logging road and runs into a dammed creek."

Delta Men Enter Pleas at Marquette

Martin Witte and Charles Barju, of Delta county, pleaded guilty Thursday in United States court at Marquette, to violating the prohibition laws. Two other Delta county men, Martin Young and Peter Weber, pleaded not guilty. A half-dozen Delta county men, sentenced earlier in the week, were among the 26 taken yesterday on a special car for the Detroit house of correction to begin serving sentences.

HUNDRED CASES ON COURT CARD

Prohibition Violators Take Leading Position, As Usual.

The calendar for the October term of circuit court, which opens at the court house Monday, Judge R. C. Flannigan presiding, contains 101 cases. Of these 31 are criminal, 46 are law, 19 are chancery and 5 are listed as having made no progress within a year.

Prohibition violations, as usual, top the list. There are 20 of them on the calendar. Please of guilty are expected in most of them. There are four robber cases, three for burglary and receiving stolen property, two for husbandry and one for resisting an officer.

Of the 19 chancery cases, eight are actions for divorce. Indications are that the criminal calendar will be disposed of quickly through pleas of guilty, and that the term will not be a lengthy one.

Party That Gets "Silent Vote" Will Win Election

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer
Washington.—Will "Silent Cal" get the "silent vote?" If he does, then Davis and LaFollette may as well waive the formality of counting the ballots and concede the election of the G. O. P. ticket.

For it is the "silent vote" the men and women who take no active part in the rallies, demonstrations and general hubbub of a campaign, who listen and think but do not lose either sleep or their tempers over the claims of the campaigners, who really decide who is to be who the day after election.

This year the usual "silent" vote is expected to be increased by some millions of normally stay-at-home voters. Non-partisan civic and patriotic organizations, as well as all the party outfits, are uniting in a drive to get to the polls at last 75 per cent of the eligible voters.

What this may mean in the way of changed results can be sensed when it is known that if 75 per cent of the folks who are entitled to vote Nov. 4 cast their votes the total will be more than 50 per cent above the total vote in the 1920 presidential election. In that year only a fraction more than 49 per cent of eligible voters were cast.

Just what is it that appeals most to this "silent vote" on the part of the candidates? How should one go about catching it? Probably there isn't any formula. Put in the main it is held that the large part of this vote is the thinking as well as the silent vote.

The man who doesn't say much is apt to do a good-bit of thinking.

He threshes things out in his own mind rather than arguing them out with another.

Sometimes, of course, he may be simple and silent instead of simply silent, just as it is suggested by his critics that while Coolidge sometimes sits and thinks there are times when he just sits!

Coolidge's silence during the campaign—he has made but two speeches that could be considered campaign utterances—is declared by his backers to be proper technique.

The candidate's apparent indifference and nonchalance, it is held, creates a sense of his absolute confidence. This self-assurance is supposed to react psychologically on doubtful voters, making all those who gauge their votes by the desire to mark a winner incline to the man who seems surest of victory.

Also, while an outsider, trying to get in, may indulge in a hammer-and-tongs campaign, a similarly strenuous battle by one already in would be interpreted as meaning that he was badly scared. And that would be an unfortunate impression, causing all faithless followers to abandon his cause.

Coolidge's viewpoint is that for a candidate who is already in office to indulge in much speech-
