PROBE HALTED OVER ELECTION
(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 31.—The Washington section of the senate committee inquiry into political campaign funds adjourned today until after the election at the close of a session devoted to hearing testimony bearing on the activities of labor organizations in behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler ticket.
Joseph R. Grundy, chairman of the Republican ways and means committee of Pennsylvania, who had been recalled by the committee, also testified concerning contributions in that state and said that he had raised $521,000 out of the Pittsburgh district, bringing the total Republican fund raised in Pennsylvania to $791,000.
Testimony relating to the support of the American Federation of Labor of the LaFollette-Wheeler candidates received the major attention of the committee during the day. Frank Morrison, secretary of the organization told the committee that he had collected $23,736 in voluntary contributions from the membership and had spent $20,000 in the campaign. He declared no contribution had been made to the LaFollette organization from the treasury of the American Federation of Labor.
Sold Buttons.
H. M. Brunson, assistant director of the LaFollette-Wheeler headquarters here, told the committee he had received approximately $124,399 from the sale of one million LaFollette-Wheeler campaign buttons. Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, testified that the organization had collected between $18,000 and $20,000 for the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign. Alexander Khan, attorney who said he was a member of the association publishing the "Daily Forward," a Jewish language newspaper, declared his committee had raised $20,000 in New York for the same fund.
Replying to repeated questions by W. L. Bourland, Republican counsel, as to whether LaFollette campaign funds had been collected from international labor organizations with memberships in Canada, Frank P. Walsh, counsel for LaFollette, asked that it be noted that the only contribution reported to the committee was received from "Russia" on a Republican list submitted by Chicago headquarters, showing that "F. W. B. Coleman, of Riga, Russia," had contributed $250 to the Republican fund. Apparently neither the committee nor counsel recalled that Coleman is the American minister to Latvia at Riga.
Association Aided.
Taking up the list of contributors to the American Federation of Labor non-partisan campaign fund, Bourland said the first one was $50 from the Glass Bottle Blowers' Association of the United States and Canada. He asked Morrison if the contribution came out of the treasury of the association. Morrison replied that the receipt was made out to the organization but declared that instructions had been given not to send out requests for funds to any of the affiliated organizations in Canada and as far as he knew no contributions had been received from Canada.

Bourland charged that government railroad employes in Alaska had been solicited for LaFollette funds and read from an article appearing in Labor, a newspaper published here by several organizations, saying that "Alaska railroads boys give dollars to send Bob to the White House." Morrison said he did not think the American Federation of Labor had an organization in Alaska.
Morrison denied suggestions of the Republican counsel that "coercive methods" had been used to induce members of labor unions to contribute to the LaFollette fund.
William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, the last witness called, testified that the only contributions his association had given LaFollette was in the form of service. In reply to Chairman Caraway, he said the organization ceased to be "international" when it came to a political campaign.

REDEMPTION OF LOAN PLANNED
Won't Cause Disruption of Service at Any One Place, Belief.
(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 31.—The treasury has completed its plans for redemption of the loan of 1925—one of the issues of federal obligations used to secure national bank notes—and thereby is prepared next February to take a big step toward the eventual replacement of national bank notes by currency issued under the federal reserve act.
Announcement of the treasury's program was made tonight by Secretary Mellon as follows:
"The treasury announces that it had called for redemption and payment on February 2, 1925, the United States four per cent bonds of 1925, dated February 1, 1925, and that such bonds will cease to bear interest on that date.
"In order to facilitate redemption, holders are urged to present their bonds well in advance of February 2 so as to insure prompt payment when due. This is particularly important with respect to registered bonds, as payment cannot be made until registration shall have been discharged by the treasury department divisions of loans and currency."
Ends Big Loan.
The call will end the life of $118,459,000 in federal securities. It will also force the retirement of an equal amount of national bank notes, issued against the bonds now scattered widely over the country in perhaps five hundred different national banks. The banks now holding the bonds, however, have an alternative in that they may obtain through purchase other federal bonds bearing the circulation privilege and merely substitute the outstanding securities for those to be retired.
In addition to the $118,000,000 to be paid off, there will remain outstanding bonds bearing the circulation privilege to the amount of almost three quarters of a billion dollars. Six hundred million dollars in these securities—the two per cent consols—will mature in 1930 and the remainder fall due in 1936 and 1938.
As the maturing bonds are believed by treasury officials to be held in every section of the country, the amount of national bank note circulation to be retired in each locality is expected to be relatively small.

Sweden Now Ready To Supply United States With Lumber
(By The Associated Press.)
Stockholm.—A new and important item may soon be added to the export trade from Sweden to America, according to statements in the press by a Swedish lumber expert, the government forester, M. Juhlin-Dannfelt, who has returned here after an extended tour of the United States as an exchange scholar under the auspices of the American Scandinavian Foundation.
The demands on the forest resources of America have already become so great, says Mr. Juhlin-Dannfelt, that a lumber shortage is being increasingly felt, especially in the eastern states. Besides the long hauls from the region of standing timber involve sufficiently heavy freight charges to make imports from overseas advantageous. Consequently a new market for Swedish lumber is opening up and, in fact, a considerable number of shipments have already been made to Atlantic ports. Spruce, fir, and pine lumber, especially dressed materials, such as lath and planks, has been absorbed easily by the American market, and Swedish mills now look for a big trade in this line.

Argentine Takes Great Pride in Home Manufacture
(By The Associated Press.)
Buenos Aires.—An industrial exhibition intended to show the progress attained in manufactures in Argentina, and with the hope of discouraging the practice of putting foreign labels on Argentine made goods, will be held in Buenos Aires in December. It is being organized by the Argentine Industrial Union under the auspices of the government.
The organizers expect to demonstrate the superiority of many Argentine manufactured goods over similar foreign products, and that there is no necessity of pretending they are imported in order to make them saleable. Many manufacturers have complained that they are unable to sell their goods to retailers unless they bear American, English, German, Italian or French labels, and they welcome any propaganda such as this exhibition to show that Argentine wares are as good as or better than the same class of imported ones.
The organizers believe the public will be surprised to see the enormous strides made in Argentine industries since the last industrial exhibition held in Buenos Aires in 1910, and the variety of goods made.

New Cow Testing Association Is Formed in Delta
Organization of a new cow testing association in the northern part of the county has been completed and Delta now is the only county in the upper peninsula with two such organizations.
Members of the new association live, for the most part, in the Ontonagon and Rock sections. Twenty-five farmers have joined and Paul Vanderstar of Rudyard has been engaged as official tester.
Mr. Vanderstar already has started work.

Pumper Returned to Down Town Station
The last trace of fire in the water front district which was struck on Thursday of last week, by a $1,500,000 fire, has been driven out and the big motor pumper which had been on the job for more than a week has been returned to the No. 1 fire station. The Reiss Coal Company's anthracite coal pile has been moved and the fire stamped out. Things, as a consequence have returned to normal at the fire department, following one of the most strenuously extended periods in the city's fire protection annals.

WHERE TO MARKET

Menus for Family

Breakfast—Baked apples, rolled oats, thin cream, creamed dried beef on toast, buttered toast, honey, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Eggs in nests, creamed carrots, bran bread, grapes, milk, tea. Dinner—Stuffed pork chops, candied sweet potatoes, apple sauce, creamed turnips, pimiento salad, prune pudding, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

gether with the fruit and vegetable round out the menu, making it well balanced and easily digested. Eggs in Nests. Two cups hot mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons butter, 1-3 cup milk, 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons grated cheese, salt and pepper. The potatoes should be put through a ricer or very carefully and thoroughly mashed with a potato masher. When smooth add butter, salt and pepper and beat well. Beat in milk, keeping potatoes hot by the side of the fire. Beat in cheese. The mixture should be light and moist. More or less milk may be needed, depending on the potatoes. Butter individual baking dishes and half fill with mixture. Make a depression in the center of each dish and "break" an egg into each cavity. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake until the whites are set.

Creamed carrots are particularly good with this dish as the cream sauce counteracts the somewhat dry nature of the potatoes. Any creamed vegetable can be used. Pimiento Salad. Six canned or fresh pimientos, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup chopped nuts, mayonnaise, lettuce. Drain canned pimientos or parboil fresh ones. Cut slice from top of fresh pimientos and remove seeds. Chill. Shred cabbage and lettuce. Let stand in very cold water for an hour. Drain. Combine cabbage, celery and nuts with mayonnaise. Fill pimientos with mixture and serve on a bed of shredded or hearts of head lettuce. One tablespoon of the cabbage, celery and nut mixture without the pimiento can be served to the junior member. Plain lemon juice and olive oil is the ideal dressing for salads for small people.

SMART CHOKERS. Chokers of gold or silver ball beads combined with pearls are worn by very discriminating women. EFFECTIVE TRIMMING. Very fine machine stitching done with a gold or silver thread is one effective form of trimming. GEORGETTE PROCKS. A white georgette frock is made very rich looking by rows of handrun tracks and trimmings of ermine tails about the collar and belt. COAT ANY LENGTH. The suit coat this season worn with the dress may be any length from hip to full length. Most of them are three quarters or more. BUTTER IN JELLY. Jelly is not so apt to boil over if you put butter around the edge of the kettle in which it is cooked. SALT DISPELS ODOUR. When burning potato skins or any garbage in your stove put in a handful of salt so as to prevent any disagreeable odor. ADD SUGAR. Add sugar to the jelly when the boiling is about half done. Be sure to skim the jelly before putting in the sugar. FOR CHILDREN'S CLOTHES. Hand-run tucks make very pretty trimmings for children's clothes, and may be let out as the child's increased height necessitates a longer frock. The cotton bolt weevil did relatively little damage in the south during 1934.

inches thick. Sear quickly on both sides in a slightly oiled spider. Turn often and have the spider very hot. Spread with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, add 1/2 cup boiling water and cover. Cook in a hot oven for half an hour. If round steak is used 45 minutes or an hour should be allowed at this stage of the cooking. Peel onions and slice very thin. Cover steak with onions and cook 45 minutes longer. Add tomatoes, pared and sliced and cook 15 or 20 minutes or until tender. Cover with grated cheese and cook, uncovered, till the cheese is melted and an appetizing brown. Remove to hot platter and serve with gravy made from liquor in the pan, or pour the unthickened gravy over the meat. Lemon Pie. Two cups boiling water, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 large lemon, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 baked pie shell. Put boiling water in smooth saucepan. Add sugar, grated rind of lemon and cornstarch dissolved in a little cold water. Cook stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Add salt and lemon juice and the unbeaten yolk of egg. Stir mixture well and pour into pie shell. Beat white of egg until stiff and dry with 1 tablespoon cold water. Beat in 2 tablespoons sugar and spread over lemon mixture. Put in a hot oven to color the meringue.

Breakfast—Fresh pears, honey, thin cream, scrambled eggs, whole wheat toast, grape jelly, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Broiled fish, potatoes baked in cream, rolled oats bread, stewed tomatoes, oatmeal cookies, milk, tea. Dinner—Spanish steak, mashed potatoes, health salad, every day lemon pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee. Men seldom like fish for dinner at home so Spanish steak is planned especially for father and the juniors are taken care of at luncheon. If at all possible, a child's hearty meal should be served at noon. Then his dinner at the family table can be regulated comfortably and without worry on the mother's part. A vegetable, bread and milk and fruit or the family dessert if reasonable make a hearty enough supper for a child under six years of age provided he has had meat or its equivalent for his noon meal. An apple during the morning and another one in the afternoon will be welcome and healthful for children or adults. Or oranges can be used in place of apples for the mid-morning and afternoon fruit. Spanish Steak. Three pounds sirloin steak (round steak can be used), four onions, four large tomatoes or 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1/2 pound cheese, salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons butter. The steak should be cut 2 1/2

FASHIONS. Beaded and embroidered dresses are making a bid for popularity and they appear in very new and striking color effects. Fur lined cape in short lengths, reminiscent of those worn by our grandmothers, are being worn in Paris. Fur lined capes in short new gowns are silt regularly every five or six inches to a length of about six inches, giving the effect of square collars. It gives an interesting, graceful line and is particularly good for dancing. There is a new material called "tigrlette" that it is a very good copy of tiger skin and is very successful for coats and trimmings. Hudson seal is one of the most popular furs this season both for coats and for trimmings. It has a richness and thickness that few other close furs have. Straight frocks of black satin are distinctive with white collars and cuffs and many small white pearl buttons. FOR TARNISHED NICKEL. Wash tarnished nickel with a paste of alcohol and whitening applied with a flannel cloth.

and still fresh. It's a common experience of home cooks to have to throw away their cookies after the third day—they age so fast. But Quality Cookies are different; they are made with exactly the right proportions of wheat, butter, lard, milk, eggs, etc., and are baked to a delicious crispness. They have all the softness of fresh baked cookies, long after home cookies have become stale and unpalatable. QUALITY BISCUIT CO.

The Piffle Hook

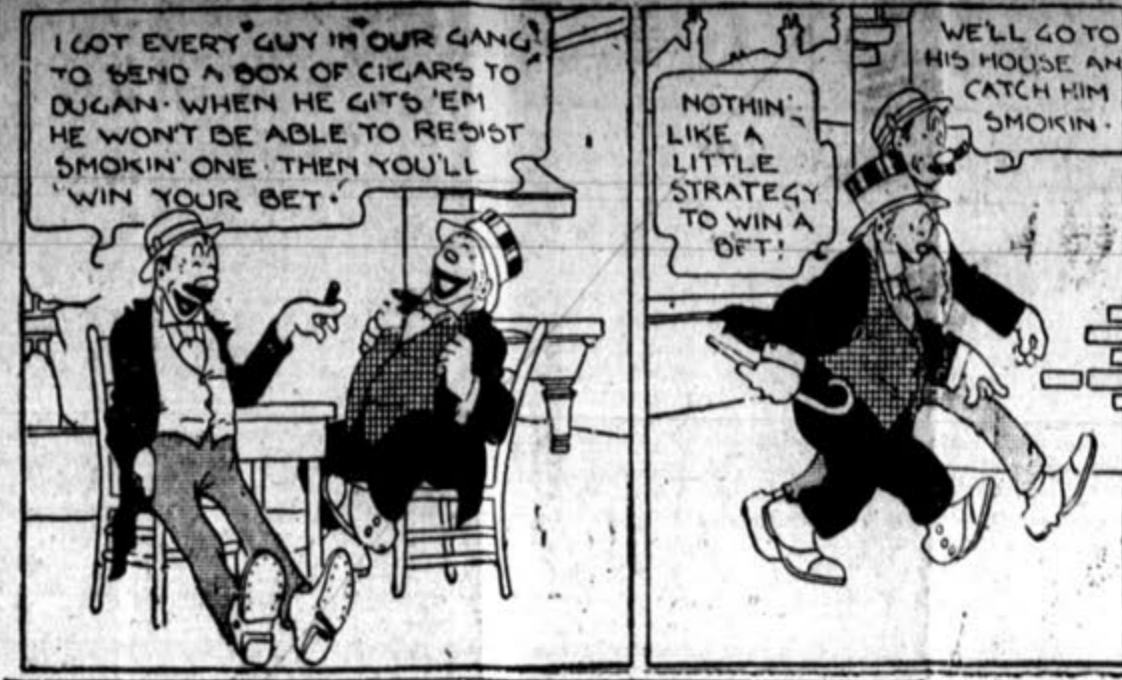

THE interior decorator (spish-tum pigmentum) is a colorful creature which in rare instances has been partially domesticated, and taught to do useful labor about the houses and homes of men. It is, however, difficult to procure his services. He makes it known he will arrive tomorrow. Father is aroused from slumber at 4 a. m. and spends his pre-breakfast hours moving the sideboard into the living room, the beds into the kitchen and the kitchen range into the sun parlor so that the Decorator may decorate the living room. The Decorator arrives three weeks from the following Thursday. During the interval, Father has slept in the bath tub, Mother has prepared the meals in the cellar stairway and served them on the roof and even Big Sister, who isn't home much, has been put to considerable inconvenience about which she complains vociferously. But of course it was her complaining that induced Father to engage the services of the Decorator so her wall doesn't count. The Decorator brings two pallets of kalsomine, one for the walls and the other for the windows and his clothing. On Friday he thinks he can have the job completed by Tuesday but when Tuesday arrives he announces it will be necessary to give the chandeliers a few more coats which will take until Thursday. When he finishes that job on Friday morning, Mother decides she will have the home-brewing room done over in a mottled blue or a moon-beam yellow, and Father makes up his mind to have the furnace room—the only place in the house where he can do as he likes part of the time—touched up a bit. A week later the furniture is moved back where it belongs, the Decorator departs with his pallets and brushes, and Sister begins to razz the place all over again. All of them agree—strange as it may seem—that if they had permitted the Decorator to have his way they would have liked the results much better. But the Decorator isn't bothered. While he was stalling along, waiting for the family to cast a plurality in favor of almost anything, some other family was moving the furniture around and preparing to wait a week and suffer two or three. Interior Decorators are among the stimulating inconveniences of our modern alleged civilization. Without them human existences would become too complacent and placid. And after all, the discomforts arising from their presence in a domicile are trivial compared with those of a motor camping tour—and cost much less. All hail the Interior Decorator! He wipes away the drabness from our environment and splatters our surroundings with color. Long may he wave! —H. K. R.

ASBESTOS MARKET Asbestos producers owe their fortunes in large part to automobiles. Autos take 50 per cent of asbestos products annually. Annual consumption of asbestos brake linings is estimated at 70,000,000 feet.

TO GET OUT OF HOLE Setting the emergency brakes, in an effort to get out of a mud hole, acts as a drag on the wheels. This causes the wheels to pull hard but slowly, so they will not spin or slip.

TRAFFIC ENGINEERS Traffic engineers are being trained at the University of Michigan. The course covers studies in traffic, causes of delays and accidents, parking, city and regional planning and other related topics.

VOTE "NO."

Three amendments to the constitution of Michigan will be submitted to the voters of this state next Tuesday. The first amendment on the ballot is that requiring all children of school age in Michigan to attend the public schools. Its effect would be to abolish every parochial and private school in the state. It is intended to be an American, founded upon extreme bigotry and deserves a decisive vote of "No" from every fair minded voter in the state. The second amendment on the ballot is that providing for the enactment of an income tax law in the state, in addition to other taxes already levied. The result of the adoption of the amendment would be to saddle upon the people of Michigan an additional tax. In its operation, such a law would unquestionably and undeniably reduce the amount of taxes now paid by public service corporations of Michigan into the primary school fund and because of the likelihood of litigation following the enactment of such a law, might entirely abolish the primary school fund for at least a few years. Every school authority in the state of Michigan and every sound economist in the state of Michigan strongly advises a vote of "No" on this amendment. The third amendment on the ballot provides for the reorganization of the senatorial and legislative districts of the state, which in effect would give to Wayne county, in which the city of Detroit is located, one third of the representation in the state of legislature. The effect of such an act would give to Wayne county the balance of power and the power to pass or defeat every piece of legislation submitted to the legislature.

MISS—OR MRS.

BY JANE PHELPS.

ALVIRA DREAMS PROSPECT OF LONELY OLD AGE. Chapter XXXIX. "Alvira, I never dared to tell you. You were so shy, so distant, but I have always loved you," Homer Dwight, the bass singer, said as he walked home with her after choir practice. "I used to try to pluck up the courage to tell you but didn't dare. Can you care for me?" "Oh, Homer! I am so sorry. I never dreamed you thought of me in that way—or in any way." "I have loved you for years, Alvira. I'm only a poor man, but I own my farm free and clear, and I would be good to you." "Of course you would, Homer. You couldn't be anything but kind to anyone. But I shall not marry. I don't care for you in that way." Yet as she made the statement Alvira wondered—as she had when John Brooks proposed—if Dwight had asked her before she went away what her answer would have been. "Couldn't you learn to, Alvira?" Homer pleaded wistfully. "You are different now, and you are all alone in the world. Won't you think about it? Take your time. I have waited since you were a slip of a girl. I will be patient, not bother you." Without giving Alvira time to answer, Homer said goodnight and walked away. In the little sitting room where she had so often sat with her aunt, Alvira thought of what Dwight had said. Shyness had been all that had kept him from letting her know he loved her in the days when she so craved notice—her shyness and her seeming aloofness. Alvira knew she didn't love either Homer Dwight or John Brooks, but she respected them both thoroughly. It was true that she was alone in the world, and when she was old— Aunt Drucilla had had her, she never had been alone, as she (Alvira) would be. And when she could no longer teach—how would she live? She would have her home, but could she keep it? Unanswerable questions. With a shrug Alvira closed the house for the night and sought her room. She opened her bureau drawer and took out a little box from under a pile of clothing. Two cards sent with roses, a glove Deering had forgotten when he called, one short note (telling her he would have to ask her to wait half an hour later than he had thought before he called for her, unexpected business being the cause. Not much that was romantic; but it was all Alvira had of Deering save the love she held in her heart. "I couldn't marry them. I couldn't let them wiss me after." A swift blush covered Alvira's face and neck, crept up to her hair. Deering's kiss had meant so much to her, her first, her only kiss. Putting the box back in the drawer, Alvira went to bed. But she could not sleep. And after midnight when it began to rain and she heard the pattering patter on the roof, it seemed to say to her: "You'll be lonely and alone."

When it is too late you will regret. He is out of your life. You'll never see him again." And the drip-drip on the roof seemed to symbolize the loneliness of the life that would be hers when she was old. Only sounds from without, nothing within the house to warm and cheer her! Finally Alvira slept but only to dream that Deering came to her, that he asked her for a kiss, a kiss of farewell. She awoke trembling, her dream had been so vivid. "I cannot—I cannot!" she said. "I never could forget him, never!" It wouldn't be fair. The morning broke bright and sunny. Alvira smiled to think how she had worried. Had thought she would be so alone and lonely when old. She was but little past 37, and Aunt Drucilla had been 60 when she died. Thirty-seven years older than she was now. Surely she could find a way to make those years happy ones even though she didn't marry, find a way to save enough so that she wouldn't be dependent. And there was no hurry. Homer had told her to take all the time she wanted; John had practically told her the same by his actions. Alvira would carry on as best she could, not decide until she was sure she was acting for the best. "Am I a silly, old maid to feel that I can't love either of them?" Alvira asked herself. "Wouldn't their love for me make me happy?" Tomorrow—Disturbing Thoughts. WE DRIVE IN HEARSE'S Hearsees are what Europeans call our autos, since most of them are painted black and look so somber. FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE?

If Robert M. LaFollette is the "friend of the people" he claims himself to be, why is he seeking to throw the selection of a president of the United States into congress and take from the people the right of selecting their own president? Neither Robert M. LaFollette or any of his supporters have the slightest hope that he can be elected as president at the election next Tuesday. Their only hope is to throw the selection of a president into congress where under the constitution, a group of politicians will determine who shall be president for the next four years. Such a program is directly in line with the policy of obstruction pursued by LaFollette throughout the World War when he accomplished everything within his power to hinder the government and the people in the prosecution of that war. Such a policy is in direct line with some of the leading characters who are in this campaign his most vigorous supporters. Who are some of those who are lending every ounce of their support to his candidacy. The following are some of them: William H. Johnson, Rhode Island, a leading Socialist who presided at a meeting given a few years ago in honor of Big Bill Haywood, the I. W. W. who escaped to Russia and as yet does not dare return. Johnson is Chairman of the Committee managing LaFollette's campaign. Morris Hillquit, New York, leading Socialist, who is advocating the policy that "there can be no absolute private title to land." Dewey C. Dorman, leading Socialist, a candidate on their ticket for office in North Dakota and who is also a member of the I. W. W. Sidney Hillman, Socialist, who is in close connection with the Russian Soviet. James H. Maurer, active Socialist of Pennsylvania and member of National Committee of their party. R. Charney Vlodeck, manager of a Socialist paper in New York City. Algernon Lee, open advocate of Bolshevik revolution and movement in Russia. Norman Thomas, candidate for Governor, New York Socialist ticket in the present campaign. Joseph W. Sharts, leader of the Socialist party in Ohio. Bertha Hale White, Secretary National Socialist Party. Kindly bear in mind that these men were selected by this candidate to manage his campaign for the sole purpose of gathering in every element of radical from the prior Socialists to the Third Internationalists, the latter's policy being the adoption of Socialism by violence. Returning nearer home we find Victor Berger of Milwaukee supporting this candidate, who states that "Senator LaFollette has been a Socialist in everything but name for the last twenty years." If the cause of LaFollette is so uplifting, so inspiring, then why would this great doctrine of internationalism, this great doctrine of industrial uplift, be placed in the hands of those whose only policy is to destroy by the force of violence? Why is it necessary for any American citizen, in order to improve his condition, whether financial or otherwise, to espouse the cause of savagery, the savagery of Russia. The awakening Wisconsin, LaFollette's own state, has become so dangerous to the cause of this candidate that his advocates in that state had wandered out into other states, preaching the doctrine of discontent, they have been called upon upon the defensive, attempted to explain the unexplainable. The candidate's campaign committee, heretofore mentioned, are the slender forms of Radicals who are in this country?

LEAGUE IS DESTRUCTIVE

One of the most interesting and profitable meetings held in the city was the comment of the League of Michigan Municipalities...

Coolidge to Have Plurality of 100 in Electoral College, Literary Digest Poll Shows

President Coolidge seems certain to receive more than enough electoral votes to retain his office for another term on the basis of the final returns of The Literary Digest's non-partisan national poll...

Of the grand total of 2,386,052 ballots recorded, Coolidge receives 1,348,033 votes, LaFollette, 508,516, and Davis, 505,410. The balance of 24,093 votes are scattered among the other five regular candidates.

Wisconsin, casting 13 electoral votes, is the only State which records Senator LaFollette a plurality in The Digest poll. The States credited to Mr. Davis include Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas...

Seven Doubtful States. But according to The Digest's figures Senator LaFollette has evidenced considerable strength in California, Nevada, North Dakota, and South Dakota, which if he gains on Election Day would increase his electoral votes to a total of 39.

The Digest states that in pursuing this policy of giving the benefit of doubtful States to a vigorous contender for leadership in the State, Mr. Davis might be credited with Oklahoma, West Virginia and Maryland, which would increase his electoral poll 25 votes, making him a total of 165.

Granting the Democratic and Progressive candidates these States, where President Coolidge is leading by a narrow plurality, it would leave the President 327 electoral votes, with 265 required for election to the executive chair.

On a special map which The Digest has prepared from the final figures of its record-breaking poll, 28 states are marked Republican, 12 Democratic, 1 Progressive, and 7 doubtful. A special table showing the official returns by States in the Harding-Cox election of 1920 is also presented.

Non-Partisan Effort. "There are the final figures," states The Digest, in summation of its poll, "presented in that spirit of non-partisanship, of honest desire to get at all sides of a complex question, which The Digest among other American periodicals, has made peculiarly its own."

"Briefly, Mr. Coolidge receives more votes than all his opponents put together, and Mr. LaFollette receives a slightly larger popular vote than goes to Mr. Davis."

"The Digest does not predict the election of Mr. Coolidge. It presents its findings, vouchers for the honesty and general accuracy of its poll, and leaves its readers to draw their own conclusions."

"On the basis of the present Digest poll, even allowing the critics their claim for a considerable margin of error, which may or may not be proved, it will be seen that the totals seem to point to the probability that Mr. Coolidge lar vote, he may pass the Democratic candidate. Wisconsin casts 13 electoral votes.

"The States credited to Mr. Davis—Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas—cast a total of 139 electoral votes."

"Granting Mr. Davis the doubtful States of Oklahoma, West Virginia and Maryland, the Davis total would be 165 votes."

"Granting Mr. LaFollette the State of Wisconsin together with the other States in which his strength is considerable—North Dakota, South Dakota, Nevada and California—his total electoral vote would amount to 39."

"The electoral vote of Mr. Coolidge, according to these calculations, would represent the difference between the total Davis-LaFollette vote, and 531, the total vote of the Electoral College."

"Mr. Davis's vote of 165, plus that of Mr. LaFollette's vote of 39, a total of 204 votes, subtracted from the total electoral votes of 531, would leave Mr. Coolidge with an electoral vote of 327. The number of electoral votes necessary to elect is 265."

"Split" is About Even. "It must be emphasized, as has frequently been pointed out, that The Digest did not ask about the politics of its poll voters, but only how they voted in 1920."

"Hundreds of thousands of Democrats voted the Republican ticket in that year. Therefore, it can not be said that, on the basis of The Digest's figures, so many votes went to Republicans, so many to Democrats, but only that the distribution was between those who voted the Democratic and the Republican tickets in 1920, whatever their essential politics."

"It appears, also, that, in the important matter of drift, as between Republican and Democrats since 1920, there has not been a great deal of change."

"That is to say, the growth of Mr. LaFollette's strength, which may give him a larger popular vote than Mr. Davis in the coming election, has been drawn with a fair amount of equality from the two old parties, and has not greatly disturbed their proportionate standing as of four years ago."

Record-Breaking Poll. "The final figures, presented this week, show a total larger by more than a quarter of a million votes than the next largest poll. The Digest's 'straw-vote' on the Melon Plan, taken early this year."

"The proportionate return in the present poll was more than 15 per cent. on the total number of ballots sent out, as against an average return of about 12 per cent for national polls."

Sunlight acting on the skin has a very stimulating effect.

DANGER! Vote No-or Pay STOP LOOK LISTEN TAX AMENDMENT local rates—the system which Pingree changed through his Equal Taxation fight, after these corporations had, for many years, escaped paying their share of taxation. By this backward step, the Michigan Primary School Fund, into which such corporations today pay yearly the huge sum of almost $15,000,000, would surely be seriously depleted. In great part, the grade schools of Michigan are supported through this fund. It Robs Your Church Heavy, too, would be the penalty enacted by this amendment from Michigan Churches, fraternal societies and Charities. They are not in any way exempted from this tax. Therefore, for every dollar you contribute to them, from five to ten cents would go to the politicians to spend, if this amendment passes. And remember, this is a Constitutional Amendment! It becomes, if passed, part of Michigan's FUNDAMENTAL LAW, and almost impossible to change in any way. Defeat It! Let nobody delude you regarding the actual facts. Place no trust whatever in the loose phrasing of the Amendment itself. And don't confuse it, for one moment, with any other amendment presented for your vote. AMENDMENT IS CONDEMNED BY ESCANABA MEN

Bigotry and Intolerance Scored by Prominent Men of City.

Another group of prominent Escanaba men yesterday added their expressions of condemnation for the so-called parochial school amendment, to be submitted to the electors of Michigan at the polls on Tuesday.

"I shall vote 'NO' on the amendment to compel all children to attend public schools, just as I should vote 'NO' on an amendment to compel all children to attend private or church schools.

"I was educated in the public schools myself. The Protestant denomination in which I was brought up has no church schools.

T. M. JUDSON, Sec'y Escanaba Veneer Co. Harks back to Barbarity. "The School Amendment is the kind of legislation we should expect in a country without a Constitution, without elections, and without representative Government."

"These States would deny that parents have any rights over their children. The children are the slaves of the State. 'Children are not the slaves of the State, in America. But they will be, and we all shall be, if we have legislation of this kind.'

roundings, it is only another step to destroy all other parental rights. "I am a Protestant with children in the public schools. I prefer the public schools, from every point of view. And I exercise my preference, but if I don't let my Lutheran neighbor exercise his preference by sending children to a parish school, or another neighbor exercise his preference by choosing a private school, it will be bad for both of us."

Proposal Unconstitutional. "I am opposed to the anti-private school amendment. I feel, of course, that we should not carry out any policy of restricting education. And I am convinced that even if anyone wished to carry out such a policy it could not be done."

"We can and we should compel parents to send their children to school—to some school. We require also that parents shall give their children food, but we do not try to require them to buy certain brands of breakfast cereal. We require that children shall be clothed and kept clean, but we do not order that certain stores shall be patronized or certain drug firms must supply medicine. Yet these things are no more preposterous, and would be no more outrageous, than the enforcement of the proposed school amendment."

"Even if there should be enough voters in Michigan to pass this amendment, one cannot imagine a legislature of sane men seriously setting out to frame a law to enforce it any more than one can imagine them seriously planning to try and burn old women for witchcraft. And even if this were done, one cannot imagine officials and citizens, most of whom are parents, actually enforcing this preposterous law against other parents. Then why should anyone vote to make the law and law-enforcement absurd?"

Condemns Intolerance. "I voted against the Anti-Private and Church School amendment four years ago, as did a majority of my fellow-Protestants in Michigan."

"It was clear to me then why Protestants should vote against this amendment. It is much clearer now."

"At that time the proponents of the Amendment stoutly protested that his was not directed against any religion or against people belonging to any special religion."

"But since that time we have seen grow up in this State as in other States a fantastic organization which is avowedly opposed to Catholics and Jews because of their religion, as well as being opposed to Negroes because of their race."

"And this organization, in Michigan as in Oregon, has found the Anti-Private and Church School amendment marvellously acceptable. They have adopted it and made it their own, so much that some people scarcely realize that it was not originated by this organization."

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 31.—There are several dance halls in the neighborhood of Third avenue and Thirty-fourth street patronized exclusively by Oriental men and white women. The men are Filipinos, Japs and a few Hawaiians.

Around midnight you see them leaving, the white girls on the arms of yellow men. The men as a rule are dressed in the latest cake-eater styles. Many of them wear sideburns, in the Valentino manner.

No one is admitted to these dance halls except the Orientals who are members of an operating club and the white women who are employed as dancing partners. There are 30 such dance halls in Greater New York and they are known as "closed" halls. Several in Brooklyn are operated exclusively by Chinese.

In all there are 238 dance halls in the city. The paid admissions in 1923 totalled more than 6,100,000.

Some of the Broadway dance halls which accommodate hundreds of couples have scores of "hostesses." Men who attend without girls pay ten cents a dance when they dance with a hostess. She receives four cents of that.

In one of the ballrooms of a higher order men pay 35 cents to dance with a hostess. She receives 25 cents of that sum. Tips are not nearly so frequent and liberal as they are generally expected to be.

Much of the dancing patronage in mid-town comes from lone-some visitors, hotel transients who know nobody here and in their loneliness turn to the dance hall.

No matter how well a professional dancing partner might like a casual acquaintance, her association with him is limited to the dancing floor. She would lose her job if she were found making appointments with patrons outside the dance hall.

There are two haberdasheries in the Times Square district which keep open all night. The only barber shop that remains open 24 hours a day, insofar as organization.

"This serves to strip the pretense away from the Anti-Private and Church School amendment campaign. Organized bigotry has endorsed and espoused it, and any Protestant worthy of his religion must hate and oppose bigotry and should vote to destroy this last manifestation of it."

B. J. MacKILICAN.

PENNSYLVANIA WILL ROLL UP RECORD TOTAL

Coolidge Managers Busily Engaged in Getting Out the Votes.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press.) Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—Pennsylvania and Delaware show every sign of giving Calvin Coolidge substantial majorities notwithstanding the effort of the LaFollette people to win the labor vote in both states. The republican managers are talking of a record majority, the largest of any republican state in the Union but they admit their difficulty in arousing interest in a one-sided campaign. The get-out-the-vote movement is proceeding so well that the chances for Pennsylvania will poll an unusually large total. The new voters will more than overcome the losses to LaFollette for it appears that the regular republicans have been the stay-at-homes in Pennsylvania. It takes time and money and organization to get out the vote and the republicans have all three in Pennsylvania.

Drive for Congress. All this effort, however, is not directed merely at getting a large vote for the sake of making a record. It has back of it a distinct drive for congressional seats. There are six democratic districts which the republicans hope to capture. Their chances depend entirely on what the LaFollette voters do for here as elsewhere in congressional campaigns, the democratic nominees have openly sought LaFollette support and in many cases endorsements have not been difficult to get. To pick up six seats in Pennsylvania would be a material gain for the republican administration as Pennsylvania republicans are usually conservatives who vote with the administration. The outcome is not easy to forecast however because the labor vote in many districts is uncertain. The miners particularly have everybody guessing for while most of their leaders have endorsed LaFollette, John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers is supporting President Coolidge and here and there are some who are following the leadership of former Secretary William B. Wilson of the Department of Labor, the champion of the Davis cause. Pinchot Wants Legislature. Governor Pinchot has concerned himself for the most part with his own situation hoping to get by legislature that will assist him in carrying out his program. He came out unequivocally for the republican national ticket at the meeting for Davis held recently and he has since been working with the national organization in the hope of securing the election of republicans throughout the state.

Just across the line in Delaware is another interesting situation for while Delaware's electoral vote seems certain to be cast for Coolidge, the senatorial race is by no means a certainty for the republicans. Coleman Dupont, who won the republican nomination after a hard struggle in the primaries has not succeeded in erasing all the friction inside the party, in fact that democratic hopes of electing James Tunnell are based largely on the factional quarrels provoked by the primary contest of Dupont. The LaFollette groups are also out of tune with each other, the socialists, the single-taxers, and the out-and-out LaFollette men being agreed on the presidential race but not in unison on the senatorial contest.

Dupont Family Divided. As usual the traditional troubles of the Dupont family are mixed up in the situation. One wing is backing General Dupont while some of the cousins are said to be the main support of Tunnell. It would not be surprising to see a democratic United States senator from Delaware though this will not occur if the Coolidge majority takes on the

FARMER LAUDS LOCAL MARKET

Offers Some Suggestions About the Demands of the Future.

The Escanaba municipal produce market should be under shelter and better facilities provided for the display of goods, if it is to attain a maximum of popularity and success, in the view of one farmer who has been a regular patron here this summer. In a letter received this week, the farmer, who resides near Harris, praises the market idea and expresses the belief that it will continue to be an ideal solution for some of the problems of the farmer and the city housewife. He also pays tribute to the executive qualities and personality of Joseph Greenfield, the market master.

The city council already has discussed, in an informal way, the matter of placing the market under shelter. The institution was only an experiment this year, and the council has taken no action, tentative nor otherwise, on its next year's market plans. Here's the Letter. The producer's letter, however, is interesting and contains some food for thought. It follows: "We have been coming to the market this summer as often as we had something to dispose of and this fall we have been there with meat. We think this market is going to be an ideal solution for both the farmers and the city folks, but not under the present conditions. It is not very pleasant in rainy weather nor when it is as cold as last Tuesday. People don't care about getting wet, and standing around in the rain, wind and cold, even if the farmers do, so it appears as if it is absolutely necessary to provide a shelter if the market is to be a success. "And an ice box would be greatly appreciated, for the purpose of storing things over to the next market when it can be disposed, instead of forcing the farmer to haul it home again and most likely have it spoil, as 99 per cent of the farmers have no ice.

Need Better Display. "Another thing, if stalls were provided, it would be possible for the farmer to make a better display of their goods and the produce would be more easily handled and more readily disposed of. "Escanaba is large enough to handle a good market and we think the city owes it to its people to give them every opportunity to buy fresh goods at low prices and incidentally help the farmer along. "Next year we plan on being regular visitors and intend to put in a big crop. We did this year, also, but the weather conditions were not favorable. We are not alone in the statements we have made as we have talked to quite a few and they all take the same view. I think by next year the market should be a great success. Praises Greenfield. "And we would like to say a few words in regard to the market manager, Mr. Greenfield. He is the ideal man for the place and I am sure he deserves a large portion of the credit for the success the market has attained. You couldn't have chosen a better man. "We hope you can see your way clear to build an enclosed market place. I am sure it would be appreciated and welcomed by all."

Five Townships In Delta Still to Be Given T. B. Cow Test

Cattle in five townships still remain to be tested for tuberculosis, under the federal-state county plan inaugurated early last summer. They are Bay de Noc, Brampton, Baldwin, Maple Ridge and part of Escanaba. Escanaba township, where the testers now are working, will be completed by the end of the week. "Reactors" from Cornell township will be shipped out of the county next Tuesday. Two cars of infected animals were sent out of Masonville and Wells townships last week. The work is progressing as rapidly as possible, and the percentage of "reactors" still remains low, it was said.

Fire in Stump Gets Firemen Up Early

Fire in a pine stump and a clump of brush near the Webster school early yesterday morning resulted in a call to both fire companies. The blaze was extinguished before it had a chance to spread to any nearby buildings. It has been estimated that there are always 1,000 thunderstorms in progress all over the world.

October Term of Circuit Court Over

The October term of circuit court came to a formal close Thursday night and Circuit Judge Richard C. Finnigan returned to his home in Norway. The term was an unusual one, in that a jury was kept busy more than a week on criminal cases, and discharged without a civil case being tried. Thirty-eight persons were sentenced by the court Wednesday on charges ranging from armed robbery to possession of liquor.

Eat Again Like a Hungry Boy

You can remember when you were a boy how eagerly you waited for meal time to come and how you enjoyed the good things your mother set before you. You were young and strong then and your digestive organs were functioning properly. But since then you have overworked your digestive organs and now you may be on the highroad to becoming a confirmed dyspeptic. You can quickly eliminate your trouble, tone up the digestive and eliminative organs, and bring back the lost good boyhood.

How "Maxwell House" Became The Biggest-Selling High Grade Coffee!

Not because of unlimited capital---not because of a selling "splurge", but because of a "taste" and a far-sighted policy of selling and manufacturing.

When the first plant was erected at Nashville, Tenn., fifty years ago by the Cheek-Neal Coffee Co., "national selling" seemed a long way off—but suddenly the Nashville plant was working to full capacity and couldn't supply the demand.

Then the Houston plant was erected—for the Texas folks had found out that "MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee" was "Good to the Last Drop."

When the news reached Florida and the Southeastern States, another plant became necessary, so it was built at Jacksonville.

We found that New York needed a plant to care for the Northeastern demand. So, now there's a Cheek-Neal Coffee plant in New York.

The West Coast has demanded the best. In response to this demand the sixth and latest MAXWELL HOUSE plant is being built in Los Angeles.

Now Escanaba can have "MAXWELL HOUSE" Coffee at any good grocery store. Such is the power of public demand—such is the influence of a quality-product. If your dealer can't supply you, telephone the National Grocer Co., who will immediately supply your grocer.

Stewart-Greene.
A very pretty wedding ceremony took place Monday, Oct. 27, at 8:00 p. m., at York, N. Y., when Miss Ruth Pauline Stewart, daughter of Mrs. A. Blanche Stewart, was united in marriage to Mr. Harold Raymond Greene of Chicago, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Greene, of this city.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother and was performed by Rev. Geo. F. Dudley, of Washington, D. C., assisted by Rev. Watson of York, N. Y.

The drawing room at the home where the ceremony was performed was banked with palms and ferns at the ends of the room, long strips of smilax hung from the ceiling to the floor with wall baskets of orchid shade of chrysanthemum. Two seven-branched candelabras stood in front of the palms, also wall baskets of the same shade of flowers. Boxes of chrysanthemums adorned the mantel and windows. The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her cousin, Nell S. Caldwell, who gave her away, and was met by the bridegroom and best man at a prie-dieu placed in front of the palms which were from white satin ribbons leading to the stairs through which the bridal party passed.

The same color flowers were also used in the hall in tall iron standard vases, wall baskets adorned the side lights and were placed about the living room. The dining room where a buffet supper was served, was in the same color scheme, flowers being used in profusion.

The sun parlor seats were placed at the bridal table for fourteen guests was decorated with a fountain in the center, butterfly roses and maiden hair ferns, peach color tulle being arranged around the fountain in garden effect.

The maid of honor was Miss Jane E. Stewart, sister of the bride, the bridesmaids were the Misses Dorothy Smith of Cambridge, Mass.; Margaret Bow, of Romulus, N. Y., and Thelma Evans of Boston, Mass. The flower girl was little Helen Craig Nunda, cousin of the bride.

The groom was attended by Thomas B. McMartin, of Chicago, Ill., as best man, while the ushers were T. Carder Turner, of Milwaukee, Wis.; William R. Loutit, of Chicago, Ill., and John H. Sloan of Jersey City, N. J.

The color effect of the costumes was marvelous. The bride wore a beautiful gown of embroidered opalescent over silver cloth. Her shower bouquet was of white orchids and white Bonardia with shower of white ribbon.

The maid of honor wore pink brocade velvet and the bridesmaids, Miss Smith, wore a peach georgette with ostrich trimming. Miss Bow, madonna blue georgette with ostrich trimming. Miss Evans, pink georgette with ostrich trimming. The flower girl wore white. The bridesmaids carried shower bouquets of butterfly roses with peach color ribbons, while the maid of honor's bouquet was of Coolidge roses with shower of pink ribbon. The bride's mother was charming in a gown of brown cut velvet with a corsage of Coolidge roses.

When the couple left for their wedding journey to Chicago, the bride wore a going away suit of coral duvetya trimmed with seal. The gifts from the bride to her attendants were silver bracelets while the groom's gifts to his attendants were gold watches.

Mr. Greene is well and favorably known here and his many friends join in wishing the couple a long and happy wedded life.

Lucky Matinee Today.
The Lucky Party given at the Coliseum Roller Rink Thursday night proved so successful that the management decided to repeat it for the children's matinee this afternoon.

The prize winners Thursday were Miss Margaret Kild, Edgar Johnson, Hilda Boniface and Walter Jensen.

It is expected that a large number will be present at the rink this afternoon.

THREE UTILITY HEARINGS HELD

Sherman T. Handy Has Busy Day at City Hall.

The new rate schedule of the Escanaba Power & Traction Co., announced recently, was attacked by the city of Gladstone and upheld by representatives of the corporation, in hearings held yesterday at the city hall before Sherman T. Handy, chairman of the state utilities commission.

The rate is of the sliding variety. Escanaba, being the company's largest consumer, is given a lower rate than Gladstone. It was contended by the Gladstone representatives that the difference was large enough to make the schedule discriminatory and that the charges should be equalized by an adjustment which would put the two cities more nearly on a level.

The company defended its schedule by showing that its profits are less than five per cent of the value of its properties, and qualified the scale on the ground that Escanaba uses more than three times as much electricity as Gladstone.

A. H. Ryall appeared for the company, while Glenn Jackson, city attorney, presented Gladstone's case.

Two Other Cases.
The petition of Spalding city, asking an order returning the Chicago & North-Western depot to service in that village, was heard by Mr. Handy yesterday morning.

William Needham appeared before the commission with a request for a permit to organize the Delta Public Service Company, a permanent corporation, to furnish electrical energy to Brampton, Perkins and contiguous territory. The company desires to sell $25,000 worth of stock.

Decisions in all of the cases were withheld until a later date.

Farmers Offered War Department's New Explosive

Orders for pyratol, the new war salvage explosive, are being taken by A. A. Lundgaard of Cornell and the Rock Cooperative Association at Rock. It is expected that the farmers of Delta county will use more than two car loads of the land-clearing explosive this year.

The price is nine cents a pound, delivered at the case and with each 200 pounds goes a box of caps.

Pyratol is equal in power to 40 per cent dynamite, and its cost is about one-third of the cost of dynamite of equal power and the caps are free in addition, if 200 pounds is ordered.

The Rock agents have orders at present for about 7,000 pounds and hope to complete the sale of a car load this fall.

Sell it the Cheapest Way.

REMARKABLE RECOVERY

MRS. SPINK

Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Full Credit

Minnesota Junction, Wis.—"I was under treatment, but nothing seemed to help me, and I was run-down and so weak that I had to remain in bed much of the time, and I was in a terrible condition. I had pains in my stomach and in my female organs, and my stomach bothered me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised, thought it must be good, and brought it home to me and advised me to try it. After taking one bottle I was able to eat, and after six bottles I was doing my own work, which I hadn't been able to do for years. I have a new baby who is doing nicely, and I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and feeling better than I have for four years. The medicine is surely wonderful and a good thing to have in the house."—Mrs. GEORGE SPINK, Minnesota Junction, Wisconsin.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of the Compound reports 90 per cent benefited.
