BALLOTS THROWN OUT BY JUDGES MAY WIN SENATE SEAT FOR DANIEL STECK

MISUNDERSTANDING OF NEW LAWS IS CAUSE GIVEN.

(By The Associated Press.) Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 15.—Ballots thrown out by election judges in numerous Iowa counties and estimated to number thousands may decide who shall be Iowa's junior senator—Smith W. Brookhart or Daniel F. Steck.

These ballots, missing from the official tabulations completed in all counties today, will form the basis of a contest of the recent senatorial election, which Steck, the Democratic candidate for Senator Brookhart's seat, announced today would be made when the new congress convenes next March 4.

Steck pointed out in his announcement of the contest that approximately 950,000 votes were cast for presidential candidates on November 4, while the tabulations show less than 900,000 votes for the senatorial candidates. While many voters undoubtedly refrained from expressing their choice for senator, Steck declared he had been advised that "a great many ballots in which the voter attempted to exercise his choice, were not counted by local election boards."

This statement, it was indicated, referred to the numerous ballots discarded under the state election law because they bore arrows pointing to the "X" before Steck's name and which the Democratic candidate believes the senate would accept on a recount as ballots bearing merely an emphasis of the voters' intention. Under the state law, the arrows constitute identification marks.

Another class of votes which Steck feels would aid in overcoming the Brookhart majority, were not counted, he said, because of a misunderstanding of the election laws by precinct judges. These were straight Republican ballots except for a scratch for Steck which were not counted. It is said, because of a misunderstanding of a recent change in the law relating to the marking of ballots. Many of these ballots, it is said, were not counted in Polk county (Des Moines).

HOME COMING AT MADISON ISN'T A BIG SUCCESS

Hawkeyes Prove Too Good For Badgers; Win, 21 to 7

(By The Associated Press.) Madison, Wis., Nov. 15.—Iowa ruined Wisconsin's home coming here today 21 to 7. The chief kill-joys for the Cardinals were Captain Parkin, Scantlebury, Hancock and Graham.

Parkin led the attack of the Hawkeyes, a beautiful 63 yard run in the second period which paved the way for Iowa's first touchdown. Doyle Harmon overtook the speeding Iowa captain, downing him on the one yard line. Scantlebury went over on the second try and Hancock added a point afterward with a place kick.

Iowa scored again in the second half when Parkin returned a Wisconsin punt 34 yards to Wisconsin's 37 yard line. The Cardinal line faltered and a smashing attack ended with a 24 yard run by Parkin for a touchdown. Hancock again kicked goal. Again in the last minute of play Parkin raced 17 yards for a touchdown and Hancock added the point.

Doyle Harmon, McAndrews and Captain Harris and Leo Harmon were Wisconsin's bright stars. Wisconsin outplayed Iowa in the first period and threatened to score. Once with the ball on Iowa's 17 yard line held for three minutes. Again McAndrews, McGivern, Doyle and Leo Harmon worked the ball to Iowa's four yard line with the goal to go in four minutes. Iowa's line showed its worth by holding.

In the fourth period Wisconsin scored its touchdown, but was matched by the swash buckling Parkin who clicked a broken field run for six points. Wisconsin made 15 first downs to Iowa's 12.

SPLIT SWITCH WAS CAUSE OF WRECK, BELIEF

Fireman Is Dead; Four of Train Crew Are Injured Some.

(By The Associated Press.) Baltimore, Md., Nov. 15.—One man was killed and another badly injured when the Capitol Limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was derailed at Weverton, Md. Two postal clerks were slightly injured.

G. W. Griffen, of Washington, fireman of the train, was fatally injured and A. J. Ross, engineer, of Baltimore, was badly hurt. In a report issued tonight, the railroad company placed the blame on the engineer, who "disregarded speed restrictions through the cross-over, as indicated by the signals and as fixed by standard instructions."

Washington, Nov. 14.—The Capitol Limited, the Baltimore and Ohio crack flier to Chicago from Baltimore and Washington, was wrecked late today at Weverton, Maryland and the fireman was killed while others of the train crew were injured, according to advices received here.

It was reported from Weverton that no passengers were injured but at Brunswick, where several were taken, it was said several complained of injuries. The wreck occurred, it was stated, when the train was crossing a trestle over a freight car being derailed there a short time before. While officials declined to give an opinion, there were indications that a split switch may have been a contributing cause.

The engine and two mail cars turned over while passenger cars were in an inclined position when the train came to a stop. Harry Glavin, fireman of Brunswick, Maryland, was killed and "Al" Ross, the engineer, was reported seriously injured.

Two mail clerks and two porters were also said to be injured. They were taken to Marlinsburg. It was expected that the wreck would be cleared up by 7 o'clock tonight.

A medical examiner said it was possible Mrs. Hays had suffered a heart attack.

Terrific Hammering of Michigan Backfield is Big Factor in Victory

Ohio State Leads Until First of Last Quarter

(By The Associated Press.) Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—Infuriated Wolverine, lashed into ferocity by his Ohio State keeper who had whipped and subdued it into submission for three periods, faced a 6 to 0 defeat as the last period began, when with all its characteristic cunning and fighting inheritance, it snarled, scratched, passed, escaped and finally outran its keeper and early master, piling up 16 points. Tonight it rests in its far northern retreat, nursing with malice the bruises it sustained in its 16 to 6 victory over Ohio State's eleven here today.

The classic contest was waged before a throng of 68,754 spectators, including 15,000 Michigan fans that all but filled the huge Ohio Stadium to capacity. It was the largest crowd that saw a football game anywhere today and came within 5,000 of setting a new western conference attendance record.

Ohio State, the early master, caught the Michigan eleven in an unaccustomed state at the very opening of the game, scoring a touchdown within one minute after the first kickoff. A line play, a 22-yard end run by Hunt and a forward pass, one of those that always make a Coach Wiley team feared, was good for 62 yards during which Cunningham outspurred the agile northernmen.

There was no more scoring in this half although the Wolverines ever anxious to knot the score tried ten passes within Ohio State's 35-yard line, all of them failing. Six times the receiver with a clear field ahead of him dropped the oval.

Finally Break Through. Itching to outsmart its keeper, the Wolverine tore at the Ohio State line and had the ball on the six-yard line when the third period ended. Two more plays and Coach Little's machine had the upper hand, never to be headed. Marion plunged through for the counter and Rockwell kicked goal. Within a few more minutes, the early master weakening under the Wolverine's continuous clawing, had three more points piled up against him, Rockwell's beautiful place kick traveling true from the forty-yard line. Still unsatisfied, the Wolverine further clawed the gridiron and passed, ran and plunged for another touchdown, Rockwell making it from the four-yard line but failing to add the extra point. This last counter was not made, however, until after Hunt had stirred the visitors into anxiousness by ripping and tearing his way 56 yards through its defense, being forced out of bounds within 20 yards of his goal line. An Ohio State pass was intercepted and Michigan smothered the remainder of the Buckeye attack.

CHAMBER VOTE OF CONFIDENCE GIVEN PREMIER

(By The Associated Press.) Rome, Nov. 15.—The foreign policy of the Mussolini government was sustained in the chamber of deputies by a vote of 315 to 6. Naturally the government expected a vote of confidence with a large majority, owing to the absence of the opposition members. Nevertheless, the anti-governmental press had so emphasized Gioletti's opposition and Orlando's uncertainty that the majority received greatly surpassed expectations. Those who voted for the government included the Fascist conservatives led by Signor Salandra, who, however, made one of the conditions of their adherence a program tending to pacification. The six who voted against the government included former Premier Gioletti and a few of his followers. Twenty-six members abstained, and they may also be considered against the government. Former Premier Orlando was among the latter.

Reports Unfounded. Alarmist reports concerning the situation in Italy coming from abroad have caused surprise in government circles and among the people at large, for the reason that, with the exception of small incidents between the Fascisti and anti-fascisti, similar in many cases to the old local feuds, there has been no serious agitation or unrest in any part of the country. In some quarters the opinion is expressed that financial speculation, having as an object lowering the value of the Italian lire, is at the bottom of it all.

The Fascisti government, it is admitted, is confronted with graver difficulties than during the first year and a half of its regime, but those well acquainted with the feelings of the people do not consider any serious occurrences at all likely.

Oil Suit Will Be in Hands of Judge Tuesday, Is Claim

(By The Associated Press.) Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—Completion of the government suit to cancel leases and contracts held by the Pan American Petroleum & Transport Company in the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserves, on the ground of conspiracy and fraud, was sighted today with the agreement of counsel to place the case in the hands of Judge Paul McCormick not later than Tuesday evening.

The short session today was taken up with continuance of arguments by Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for the defendant company, whose address was not completed when court adjourned until Monday.

Continuing his attack on the plaintiff's charge of conspiracy, Hogan said: "The facts show beyond the peradventure of a doubt that there never was and there was no thought of any conspiracy in this matter until politicians gave birth to it."

Hogan dwelt on a defense for Albert B. Fall, the former secretary of the interior, who, it is charged, received a bribe of $100,000 from E. L. Doheny, head of the Pan-American interests.

GRANGE HALTED BY DETERMINED GOPHER ELEVEN

(By The Associated Press.) Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—Harold "Red" Grange, the Illinois backfield star, suffered injuries in today's game with Minnesota that probably will disable him for the rest of the season, attending physicians said tonight.

Physicians at the University of Minnesota health service tightly taped Grange's right arm, and he departed for Urbana, with his teammates. Grange was quick to resent any intimation that unnecessary roughness on the part of the Gophers caused the mishap.

"I am unaware of any dirty playing on the part of any Minnesota player," Grange said. "It's all in the game and should be looked at in that light."

The shoulder injury was the culmination of a bad day for the Illinois star, for the Minnesota team terminated his brilliant record of the season by nullifying all his attempts in carrying the ball.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 15.—Minnesota stopped "Red" Grange today, and Illinois' Big Ten conference championship aspirations went tumbling as a rejuvenated Gopher eleven pounded its way to a 20 to 7 victory over Zappke's men.

Out of the realm of improbability and rated even more remote by many, the Gophers snatched a victory through the brilliant attack of a backfield whose pace was set by Clarence Schutte, left half an all around defense that was superb. Only in the first period did things look dark for Minnesota, for in that session the much-feared Grange made a ten-yard dash around his left end for Illinois' only touchdown. After that he was only a menace that did not materialize.

Grange Forced Out. Near the close of the third period, an injury when he was tackled forced Grange out of the game, but long before that Minnesota had established its superiority by two touchdowns in the second period and another in the third, and in the final period the Gopher threatened.

In every department it was a new Gopher team that brought about the downfall of Grange and the Illinois, and the 39,000 Maroon and Gold rosters went frantic with joy as their cohorts fought the Zappke men off their feet.

CONFESION CAL AFTER LENGTHY GRUELING.

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Nov. 15.—Ollie W. Worley confessed, Detroit police say today, that he shot and killed brother Guy, during a quarrel their home Monday, November 10. The body was found eight days later, partially clad, in a wood near the Redford-Livonia road. Ollie's confession came 10 miles after a formal charge of murder had been placed against him by homicide squad.

"I want to tell the truth about this thing," he said. "I believe fellows will give me a square killed Guy."

In these words the brother Guy Worley broke under the sure of circumstantial evidence has been crowding him for the 24 hours. With this admission discarded the role of informant in the search for his brother slayer and assumed full responsibility for the crime himself.

Following his statement he had fired the shot which took brother's life. Ollie sketched briefly the circumstances surrounding the crime.

He said the killing was the come of a quarrel between him and his brother Monday morning, November 3. Guy was killed at 9 o'clock in the forenoon.

Ollie told the officers that at the exchange of heated words the division of their work Guy had his pistol and threatened brother. Ollie wrested the weapon from Guy and shot him through the head, he said.

Guy fell across his bed, said he felt his heart and in still beating obtained some and tried to revive him, but faint pumping finally stopped. Realizing that his brother was dead, Ollie said, he hid the body in a closet and covered the floor with a rug. He went to the garage below room where the killing took place and with a hatchet and a shovel scooped out a shallow hole barely deep enough to hold the body.

Set Hole in Hole. Into this hole he dragged body and packed the sand about it. His next move, Ollie told the officers, was to dispose of blood-stained bedding and mattress. These he bundled together into brother's trunk and loaded Guy's truck.

Mr. Coolidge has shown a liking for the river trips, and the sudden change in the weather made no change in his plans for the cruise. Despite the storm he intended to remain out until Monday morning.

DESERTS WILL FEED MILLIONS

Stefansson, Noted Explorer, Sums Up Results of Trip.

The following article, by A. H. Frederick, NEA Service writer, will be of particular interest here because Mr. Stefansson is to lecture, Thursday night, at the high school, under auspices of the Community Educational Bureau.

San Francisco—Land now considered desert and arctic waste will support millions. The world need not worry about over-population so long as most of the world's surface still awaits the pioneer.

So declares Volhjalur Stefansson, explorer. He said today he would devote the rest of his life to demonstrating the usefulness of the arctic, of the interior of Australia, Africa and parts of America now considered worthless.

In March he sails for Africa for a four-month trip across the desert.

Room for Expansion. "I want to demonstrate the practicability of living in new lands," he says, "then try to educate our people out of their almost superstitious errors concerning those parts of the world they never have seen."

"We must find places for expansion if we would escape serious internal complications. It is necessary to keep alive the virile pioneer spirit by providing new lands for pioneers to conquer."

Seven out of 10 of the "desert dangers" one reads about are not met, Stefansson insists. "If you had been a schoolboy or girl in 1800," he explains, "you would have recited glibly to your teacher, 'All our nation west of the Mississippi river is a desert.'"

"So it is with our 'deserts' today. Most folks think the arctic is an unbroken range of ice and snow, with atmosphere too freezing for comfortable life. Popular conception, yes, but far from the truth!"

"The winters in the Dakotas, Montana and Manitoba, while shorter, are almost as cold. 750 Arctic Flowers. The wheat belt of Siberia contains many portions colder than most of the arctic. The minimum temperature at the north pole is 60 degrees below zero, while in some habitable regions of Siberia we find relative temperatures of around 85 degrees below.

"There are 750 varieties of flowering plants in the polar region, engendered by the moderate and warm temperatures. In some localities the thermometer often shows 90 to 100 degrees in the shade.

"Flies and mosquitoes abound through these regions. Butterflies the bumblebees are found on the northern coast.

"The only snow in the summer is in the mountains. At Point Barrow, the most northerly tip of Alaska, you'd have to travel 300 miles south and climb a mountainside before you found any."

Similar superstitions surround the Australian dry deserts, the explorer asserts.

"Australia," he points out, "is generally pictured as a vast desert surrounded by a narrow sea-board strip of fertile country. That's another misconception. There is no part of the continent where there is not food for stock, though drinking water often does present quite a problem.

"But even the dryness is exaggerated. It usually can be found if one will just go to the trouble of digging for it."

Stefansson dreams of an Australia with a population of from 75,000,000 to 100,000,000, instead of the 5,000,000 it has today. And the Alaskan desert has the same possibilities, he contends.

Death of Dr. Plantz Is Regretted Here

News of the death of Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence College and a widely known educator, author and clergyman, at Sturgeon Bay early Friday, was received in Escanaba with expressions of deep regret. FARMER FOUND HURT IN ROAD

Gregory Meliski Pinned Under Wagon Box All Night.

Gregory Meliski, a farmer living at Section 13, was found in an unconscious condition Saturday morning lying on the roadside pinned under the box of a wagon which had turned completely over at the side of the road.

Just how the accident happened is not known. Mr. Meliski left his home about six o'clock Friday evening and was found Saturday morning by Rev. Fr. T. Drogacz and another man who were driving along that road. They lifted the wagon box and gave him first aid. An ambulance was called from this city and he was rushed to St. Francis hospital where he lies in a critical condition.

He sustained three fractured ribs and possibly internal injuries. He had been exposed to the cold all night and it is feared complications may set in as the result of the exposure.

Up to a late hour yesterday he had been unable to tell how the accident occurred but as the horse was nowhere to be found it was supposed that the horse may have run away or that the wagon had been hit by a passing automobile whose occupants failed to stop to see if the mah was injured.

Walter P. Chrysler Announces

25 Miles to the Gallon

58 Miles per Hour

5 to 25 Miles in 8 Seconds

With a full sense of the seriousness of the statement—carefully weighing the meaning of every word—Chrysler-Maxwell engineers, without reservation, promise you, in this new Maxwell, performance surpassing in every essential any four-cylinder car in the world today.

To make that sweeping assurance more definite and specific—we promise you in speed, in power, in pliability of power, in swift response, and even more particularly in riding steadiness and comfort, results no four-cylinder car has yet been able to attain.

To go still further into details, the new Maxwell has speed capacities far beyond any car of its type and class, and in the rare instances in which they may have to be used, will register them with an absence of vibration without precedent in four-cylinder construction.

Chrysler-Maxwell engineers have been actuated by the conviction that in addition to its inherent and natural economies, the four-cylinder principle possessed possibilities of power and speed capable of being translated into ease and steadiness which have never been fully developed.

They set out to overcome what have all too readily been accepted in the past as limitations in the four-cylinder engine and to convert these limitations into positive advantages.

No one can doubt that success has crowned their efforts, after even so short an experience as a half hour's driving demonstration of the car.

Judged by the unusual and extraordinary character of its performance, this Maxwell is literally a new and immeasurably better type of four-cylinder motor car.

Books Permitted To Tell Their Own Life Stories

This being Children's Book Week the Survey suggests these as the best new children's books to reach them:

Number Two Joy Street (a collection of stories). Friends of Diggledy Dan, Edwin P. Norwood. America, by George Philip Krapp.

Tales from Nature's Wonderland, William Hornaday. Doctor Doolittle's Circus, Hugh Lofting. Island of the Mighty, Padraic Colum. Hari the Jungle Lad, Dhan Mukerji.

By THE NEA BOOK SURVEY D. H. Lawrence, the distinguished Englishman who adopted Taos, N. M., has stepped out of his role as psycho-analyst to write a really distinguished novel in which the complex clinics play second fiddle.

It is "The Boy in the Bush" (Seltzer) in which Lawrence collaborates with M. I. Skinner and it is a far departure from the Lawrence of "The Lost Girl," "The Sea and Sardinia" and "The Rainbow." It is the same Lawrence who wrote "Sons and Lovers," but become more assured and settled.

The book has all the elements of a good swashbuckler, fast-moving story: fights, feuds, loves, lusts, etc., and yet because of the incessant swing from the objective story to a subjective one it escapes being the commonplace literary tale or a mere piece of adventurist job work.

Briefly the situation is this: an English boy of "wild" tendencies is sent by his family to an Australian cattle station where he becomes part of a pioneer Australian family and shares the primitive wild life. Conquest of rough virgin country leads to steeper communal life and then the inevitable restrictions upon individual freedom. In this device is rounded the cycle of most race development.

This is not a book for the sentimental or unsophisticated reader. The passions become as primitive as the country and its background and there are elemental scenes and events given in all their blunt and primal dress.

In drawing the Ellis family and "the boy" Lawrence has done a distinguished piece of writing. This Surveyor places the volume at the top of the Lawrence list.

The habits of the "mollusker" and the "bunko steerer" alike are intimately pictured in "Keys to Crookdom" (Appleton), by George C. Henderson, probably one of the most elaborate and complete volumes on crooks to be written. It differs from ordinary crookology in that here each type of criminal is shown in action and actual scenes from life are fitted into the chapters.

Henderson, for some years a reporter in Oakland, Cal., has had the aid of August Vollmer, famous "scientific chief of police" and his data has been contributed by a dozen police authorities. It is absolutely authoritative and besides its value to writers, policemen, newspapermen and criminologists presents to the layman a clear picture of the types of crook and the habits. There is, in an appendix, a dictionary of crook slang which is quite the most complete this Surveyor has ever seen.

Quite a different volume of the "crime school" is the maiden volume of Richard E. Enright, New York's commissioner of police and a noted crime expert. It is "Vultures of the Dark" (Brentano), and is an authentic mystery story dealing with the run-down of a great crime organization preying upon fashionable New Yorkers. It is a real thriller.

Still another type of crime tale is contained in "D. C. I." (Doubleday, Page), written by Major C. E. Russell who was provost marshal at Bordeaux during the war and who tells real life thrillers from the chapters of the Department of Criminal Investigation.

"Why, oh why doesn't someone revive The Chatterbox?" demands one surveyor in running over the new children's books—this being children's book week. The nearest approach is a second edition of "Joy Street" (D. Appleton), a fine collection from such excellent writers as Walter de la Mare, A. A. Milne, G. K. Chesterton and Hugh Walpole. The illustrations are varied and many quite good. This should be a popular Christmas book.

BRAN FOR SOAP. Bran may be used in place of soap for washing cottons and colored fabrics, and will have a tendency to starch, as well as cleanse the fabric.

USE HEAVY BRUSH. Water leaves a dark spot on a waxed floor and oil makes it sticky. The best way to keep it clean is with a heavy polishing brush heavily weighted.

MASCULINE HATS. Felt or hatter's push are both liked for the modified masculine type of hat with the square or derby crown and the self trimming.

Into The Discard Go Wasteful Designs

If you analyzed the public's unbounded enthusiasm for the Chrysler Six you'd find that it included a decided feeling of relief.

They are overjoyed to find that at last brilliant performance—more brilliant than they have ever before experienced—can be had without penalties and annoyances. That's why the Chrysler Six has invaded so many price fields.

It is not a question solely of economy, although the Chrysler Six gets its results with an economy of means that makes one marvel. It is not solely the car's power, speed and agility, although they give even the most experienced a genuine thrill.

It is the idea that here at last are all these things plus riding qualities and ease of handling and parking that make all conventional designs seem absurdly cumbersome, unwieldy and wasteful. Once you experience it, you will be as great a Chrysler enthusiast as anyone.

BUTLER TO BE SPOKESMAN OF WHITE HOUSE?

NO PRECEDENT BY WHICH TO GAUGE FUTURE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press.
Washington, Nov. 14.—What will William M. Butler's position be in the United States Senate? Will he be the administration spokesman, the man to whom those seeking a point of political contact with President Coolidge will flock?

Certainly no other manager has gone to the senate in recent years immediately after a successful campaign. Nor has any chairman of the republican national committee been sitting in the upper house of congress though, to be sure, Cordell Hull has been in the house of representatives during his terms of office as chairman of the democratic national committee.

There is no precedent by which to gauge the future. But certain things may be taken for granted. In the first place, the appointment of Mr. Butler by the governor of Massachusetts is no mere fulfillment of presidential wishes. Mr. Butler has for some time been anxious to go to the senate. He might have been the administration candidate in the republican primaries this year when Speaker Gillett was chosen to oppose the reelection of Senator Walsh. Mr. Butler, however, had taken hold of the pre-convention campaign of President Coolidge and gave up senatorial ambitions to stick with his chief. Whatever sacrifice was involved then has by the hand of fate been offset now by his appointment to office as the successor to the late Senator Lodge.

Mr. Butler's vote-getting capacity is the subject of some differences of opinion in New England as it is not the spectacular type. It may be that before the next election is held to choose a successor to Senator Lodge in the regular way Mr. Butler may be found in the cabinet.

Weeks May Get In.
Just now with the secretary of war, John W. Weeks coming from Massachusetts the president did not feel like violating custom by having two men in the cabinet from his own state. Mr. Weeks himself may determine to enter the senatorial race some day or to retire to private life in which event Mr. Butler's entry into the cabinet might occur.

The whole thing will depend to some extent on Mr. Butler's experience in the senate in the next year. His opportunities to rise to a position of commanding influence and power are just as great if not greater in the senate than in the cabinet. At the republican national convention in Cleveland last June Mr. Butler came into violent collision with the "old guard" by issuing orders and instructions which however well-intentioned went against the grain of the veteran politicians. That experience may have discouraged him from essaying the role of political leader. For the sensitiveness of a few political chieftains in a national convention is a mere incident compared to the attitude of the modern senator toward anyone who plays the part of leader. Individualism has developed to such a point that it is doubtful whether an Aldrich of yesterday could manage the present day senators.

New in Congress.
Senator Butler could not very well become a legislative leader as he is new in congress itself and like most newcomers must have to go to school most of the time in congressional practice. His speeches probably will be few for the same reason. Nevertheless like Will Hays and Harry Daugherty, the new senators from Massachusetts will be in constant touch with the White House on questions of appointment. No one knows as intimately the obligations incurred during the campaign manager. Other senators will find it convenient to consult Mr. Butler and to seek his co-operation. Were he disposed to play politics in the old-fashioned way dispensing of favors to the constituents of those senators and members of the house who "played ball" and co-operated with the administration on legislation he could build up a position of personal power which in time would give him leadership without the title—a man behind the throne.

Depends On Tact.
It all depends on his own tact and discretion. And no one envies him the job of being the confidante of the administration, a senator and a former campaign manager all at the same time.

The ginkgo tree, although related to the pines, has leaf-venation like a fern.

SOCIAL

St. Patrick's Bazaar.
All plans are set for the big bazaar which will be held at St. Patrick's hall, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 18th, 19th and 20th, under the auspices of the ladies of the parish.

A cafeteria will be operated during the three days with an excellent menu and at reasonable prices. There will be a number of attractive booths containing fancy and domestic handwork, aprons and hand-made articles of all descriptions.

NEW GOWN APPEARS.

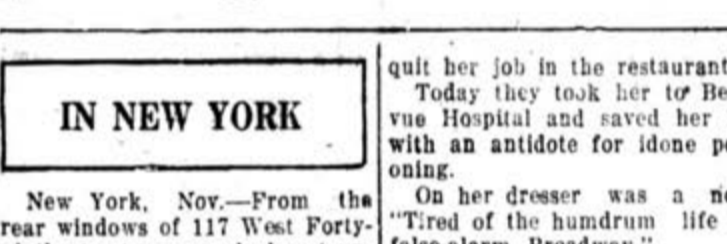

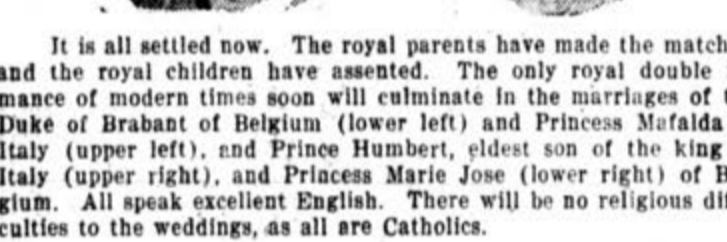

London.—Guests at a dinner dance here were startled by the appearance of a young society woman wearing a bizarre creation which she called "the North-cra Lights gown." On a background of white silk, beads were embroidered in "aurora arches" of bright blue, deep red, vivid yellow and green. Now several similar models are being worn at fashionable gatherings.

PET PARROT CRAZE.

London.—A craze for pet parrots has succeeded the pet dog fad in London. Green and gold parrots riding in high-powered automobiles are becoming a common sight on the fashionable thoroughfares of London. People are seen walking in the parks with parrots on their shoulders.

In Morocco, as in most Mohammedan countries, the native girls are married at an extremely early age, often before they are fourteen, and it is not uncommon for them to be divorced at sixteen.

A ROYAL DOUBLE ROMANCE

It is all settled now. The royal parents have made the matches, and the royal children have assented. The only royal double romance of modern times soon will culminate in the marriages of the Duke of Brabant of Belgium (lower left) and Princess Matilda of Italy (upper left), and Prince Humbert, eldest son of the king of Italy (upper right), and Princess Marie Jose (lower right) of Belgium. All speak excellent English. There will be no religious difficulties to the weddings, as all are Catholics.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov.—From the rear windows of 117 West Forty-ninth street one can look out upon the twin spires of St. Patrick's Cathedral. They stand there like bright sentinels of God on the fringe of the devil's stamping ground.

A block or two up Fifth avenue stands St. Thomas's. And there are several other churchly edifices in the neighborhood.

Of a Sunday morning one can lie in bed at 117 West Forty-ninth street and hear the chimes. There is at times something exalting, soul-lifting in the peeling of those bells, at times something disquieting, melancholy, "Te Deum!" "Hosannah!"

And on Saturday night one may look out upon the fiery lights of Broadway that blot out the heavens like a blast from Hades. In that scene there is something insidiously depressing, something symbolic of lost souls shuffling about aimlessly, restlessly under the incandescent canopy above.

Madeline Heath, 20, has lived at 117 West Forty-ninth street for five months. She came from Toronto, aspiring to be a singer. She worked in a cloak room of a restaurant on upper Broadway and used part of her meager wage for singing lessons.

Last Sunday she heard the ring of the chimes. She looked out upon the crosses that reach toward heaven, symbols of man's spiritual yearning. That day she quit her job in the restaurant.

Today they took her to Bellevue Hospital and saved her life with an antidote for idone poisoning.

On her dresser was a note. "Tired of the humdrum life of false-alarm Broadway."

There are thousands of young girls and young men who come to New York as Madeline came, hope beating high, sure of the strength that is within them.

They envisage themselves in fine clothes, magnificent homes and clever society. They count their nickles for lunch. They do their own mending and pressing. They brew tea over the gas jet. They live from hand-to-mouth.

Some plod along, never getting out of the rut, becoming just another infinitesimal cog in this gigantic machine, grinding on to the end. Some few climb to greater heights than they would have reached in their home towns. And some end it all in the gesture of despair that almost concluded Madeline's troubles.

This town is full of rooming house tragedies, tragedies of thwarted ambitions, of heart-eating loneliness.

You cannot quite explain this loneliness of being isolated in a city of six million souls. You cannot feel it unless you have lived as Madeline lived in West Forty-ninth street. Just off "False-Alarm Broadway."

—JAMES W. DEAN.

Winter Will Soon Be Here!

The short days of winter call for much artificial illumination, and as a result many men and women tax their eyes rather severely.

Most artificial light is poor. The best is none too good, so forestall serious future eye trouble by having your eyes examined now. If you feel the slightest strain when using them.

Caring for your eyes in time is a wise precaution—economical, too. Prevention of eye trouble is comparatively inexpensive. Remedies and eye treatments are often very costly.

WHAT GOOD ARE RING SECONDS?

Descamps Most Overrated One in Game, Says Joe Williams.

BY JOE WILLIAMS
New York, Nov. 14.—They call him the second. He sits outside the ropes and coaches some fighter in whom he is emotionally and financially interested. He is the harassed soul who implores the batter to get up after the forty-second knockdown, shouting, "He can't hurt US, Bill. Tear into him."

Just how essential is a second to a prizefighter's success? Undoubtedly there are times when a capable second can be of infinite service.

Frequently a non-combatant will detect a flaw in the opposition's style quicker than the man in the ring.

He can tell why the left isn't reaching the right spot, or why it would be better to counter with the right, etc.

Lame Brain Specialist.
Slow thinkers and beginners, let their seconds fight their whole fights for them, Doc Bagley is making somewhat of a reputation here as a master mind of the ham-and-eggers.

For a cash consideration Bagley will go in the corner behind a kick fighter and do his thinking for him. As there are plenty of kicks in the preliminary and semi-windup classes, Bagley is making more than his cake.

Not all the so-called great seconds however, measure up when the pinch comes. Francois Descamps, who handles Carpentier, is supposed to be a miracle worker. In the matter of capturing the hard American dollar, he is undoubtedly is. But in all other respects he is just a missed swing.

I saw him handle the Frenchman in three fights, first against Dempsey, then Gibbons and finally Tunney.

Descamps a Lost Ball.
Now there aren't three fighters in the ring with more widely different styles. No smart battler would attempt to fight the savage Dempsey, for instance the cautious Tunney. It was evident Carpentier placed implicit faith in the voluble Francois.

At every opportunity Georges would look to his corner for advice and always Descamps would wrinkle up his features, bare his gleaming teeth, and hold up the right hand.

Now everyone knows the right is Carpentier's best blow. But there must have been times during his American bouts when an occasional use of the left for strategic purposes, we'll say, might have helped his cause.

It certainly required no great amount of ring wisdom to keep on suggesting that he swing with the right.

And, as Carpentier was getting nowhere at all the way he was fighting, it indicated a tremendous lack of resourcefulness in a man, meaning Descamps, who was supposedly hot stuff in his line.

Changed Carp's Style.
I was talking recently about Descamps to Willie Lewis, the old welterweight, and present manager of Abe Goldstein, bantamweight champion. Lewis taught Carpentier how to box.

"Five or six years back George-was a really great fighter," assured Lewis. "His left was almost as good as his right. At least it was very dangerous."

"Then Descamps made a strictly right-handed swinger out of him, for no reason at all. Georges promptly lost 50 per cent of his effectiveness."

"Except in a business way, Descamps was never of any real value to Carpentier. Whatever progress Georges made in the ring he made in spite of Descamps, not because of him."

Escanaba High Defeats Saint Joseph's, 26 To 0

HILLTOPS COP CITY HONORS

Big Crowd Sees Lads Slide Around Muddy South Park Field.

Coach Glenn C. Thompson's Escanaba high school football team, by defeating St. Joseph's yesterday afternoon, established a record of two consecutive seasons without losing a game.

The closing battle of the year was witnessed by a big crowd, which saw a hard-fought contest, and one exceptionally well played, considering the condition of the field.

Just how much money the fame netted the athletic stadium fund will not be known until Monday when executives of the two schools complete their check-up of advance sales by the students.

Gridiron Slippery.

The weather is never exactly right for the South Park angled gridiron. In previous games it had been a Sahara of drifting, blowing sand. Last Tuesday it was a mud-hole. Yesterday it was a slippery, frozen expanse, covered with an inch of slippery mud. This made the ball slippy and footing precarious. Fumbles were numerous and both centers had difficulty in passing with accuracy.

It was the smashing defensive play of "Long John" Vandenberg and "Cotton" Dumphy at ends, and Jack Berrigan at center which paved the way for the Hilltoppers' victory. They stopped Bud Wurlley so effectively that St. Joseph's principal ground gaining cog was useless.

Miethe Continues Record.

Captain Miethe, of the Hilltoppers, carried the oval 37 times for a total yardage of 204. He scored two of Escanaba's four touchdowns, credit for the others going to Folio and Hugh Brotherton.

Escanaba made 18 first downs in the contest; St. Joseph made 7.

Escanaba lost a total of 55 yards in penalties, while St. Joseph lost 61.

The Saints had only one real scoring chance. That was near the close of the second period when a touchdown would have tied the score. Bobby Deslites, who had relieved Andrews a moment before, grabbed a Saint Joe punt on his 20 yard line, ran it back 10 yards and then fumbled, the parochials recovering. A moment later a 15-yard penalty against Escanaba for unnecessary roughness gave the Carmens a first down within the shadow of the posts.

Mickey O'Brien, who had been held in reserve was rushed into the skirmish. He got 6 yards through guard. Wurlley on two plays, added 5 more, and it was first down and the goal to make.

Two line plunges failed to advance the ball and O'Brien passed, Dumphy intercepting it. Then the half whistle sounded.

It was the last game of football this year for both teams.

Here are the details:

FIRST PERIOD.

Captain Miethe won the toss and chose to kick. Captain Vallind elected to defend the east goal. The rival pilots shook hands and wished each other luck and the battle was on.

Jack Berrigan kicked off to Wurlley who slipped in the mud after a short run and was downed on his own 21-yard line. Brotherton was called back in a punt formation, on which Blomstrom smashed through for 2 yards. Brotherton then punted to Andrews who splashed 9 yards to his own 40-yard line.

Miethe dashed 5 yards off right tackle and on the next play he fumbled. Paquette recovering the ball for the parochials.

The Hilltopps ends stopped Wurlley on the next two plays and Brotherton punted to midfield but St. Joseph's was off side and the ball was brought back. Vandenberg spilled Wurlley for a 2-yard loss and Brotherton punted to Miethe who returned the ball to his 45-yard line. Johnson kicked to Blomstrom who returned to midfield.

Bink lost a yard. So did Wurlley. Wurlley failed to gain off end. Brotherton punted to Andrews who was downed, after a 12-yard run, on his own 40-yard line. Johnson punted to Wurlley who ran 3 yards to his 30-yard stripe. Wurlley lost a yard and then shot off end for a 2-yard gain. Brotherton kicked to Andrews who returned the ball to his 35-yard line.

Miethe got 6 yards off right tackle and Johnson punted to Wurlley who returned the ball 18 yards to his 42-yard mark. Bink failed to gain off end and St. Joe's took a 6-yard penalty for off side. Miethe caught Brotherton's punt and returned to midfield.

Miethe got 6 yards over the goal and Johnson punted over the goal. Saint Joe's ball in their 20-yard line. Wurlley gained a yard off side and then lost one in the same place. Brotherton punted but the Escanaba line was through and buried him and the ball rolled out of bounds on the Escanaba 20-yard line.

Nolden threw Miethe for a 1-yard loss. Miethe smashed off right tackle for 3 yards and then failed to gain off end. Nolden making a nice tackle. Vandenberg was called back to block. The Saints' line broke through and Miethe who was naba was penalized 15 for roughing it and the ball was Saint Joe's.

Two line plunges were stopped by Jack Berrigan and the quarter was over. St. Joe's ball, first down on their 35-yard mark.

SECOND PERIOD.

St. Joseph lost 5 yards for off-side. Wurlley was tossed by Dumphy for a 3-yard loss. Jack Berrigan crashed through and spilled Wurlley for a 2-yard loss, diving over two men to do it. Time out for Wurlley.

Nolden passed wide to Brotherton who grabbed up the ball and ran 2 yards, but the play cost the Saints 3 yards and the ball which was Escanaba's on the Saints' 20-yard stripe. Hugh Brotherton went in for Folio. Miethe plunged 4 yards, added 2 and then dashed 5 off end. First down. Miethe plunged 6 yards, added 2 and then plunged over the goal line. The try for point failed.

Escanaba 6; St. Joseph 0.

Jack Berrigan kicked off to Blomstrom and then made the tackle on the 30-yard line. A fumble cost the Saints 2 yards. Both teams were off side. Bink got a yard off end and Wurlley got 2. Johnston went in for Johnson. Deslites substituted for Andrews. Brotherton punted out of bounds on Escanaba's 40-yard line.

Miethe raced 15 yards off end. First down. Miethe lost a yard and then ran off end for a 17-yard gain. First down. Hugh Brotherton raced 6 yards off tackle. A bad pass from center cost Escanaba 10 yards. Another cost 5. The slippy ball wouldn't behave. Miethe punted to St. Joseph's 40-yard mark.

Carrah dropped Bink for a 6-yard loss. Bink got the 6 back on the next play, driving off-tackle. Brotherton punted to Deslites who ran 10 yards and fumbled on his 30-yard line. St. Joseph recovering. It was a favorable break for the Saints. Bink failed to gain. Wurlley tied it twice without success. St. Joseph's was penalized 5 yards for off-side. O'Brien went in for Bink. Escanaba was penalized 15 yards for piling. First down. O'Brien climbed over for a 6-yard gain. Wurlley plunged 2 yards and repeated with 3. First down, and the goal to go. O'Brien was stopped by Lemke. Wurlley lost a yard off left end. O'Brien shot a forward pass which Dumphy intercepted on his own 5-yard line as the whistle blew for the half. Score: Escanaba 6; St. Joseph's 0.

THIRD PERIOD.

Both coaches sent back the players who began the first half. Brotherton kicked off to Vandenberg who ran 15 yards to his own 45-yard line. Johnson on punt formation fumbled but recovered for a 5-yard loss. Johnson punted to Wurlley who was unable to pick up the slippy ball and was thrown on his 15-yard line. Brotherton punted to midfield.

Kalamazoo College

Beaten by Fumble

(By The Associated Press.)

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 15.—Contly fumbling by Kalamazoo College coupled with poor team work enabled Alma College to take the measure of the locals here this afternoon, 21 to 0. Five times the locals were within the ten-yard line of the visitors but could make no farther headway.

Hilltoppers Undefeated in Upper Peninsula This Season.

Officially, there is no Upper Peninsula football championship. Officially, there is no Big Ten championship, either. That doesn't prevent dogeaters from acquiring headaches by mulling over the records.

Eleven teams in the peninsula won at least half of their games. They are listed below, on a percentage scale. The table, of course, does not take into account the severity of their schedules.

Three teams of the peninsula failed to win a game, also. They were Menominee, Manistique and Marquette. Menominee, however, played scoreless ties with two strong teams—Iron River and Sault Ste. Marie.

The table records, also, only the games played with upper peninsula teams.

Let it speak for itself.

YALE BULL DOG TRIUMPHS OVER TIGERS, 10 TO 0

(By The Associated Press.)

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 15.—The Bull Dog clipped the Tiger's claws and blasted his dream of a "Big Three" championship this afternoon in Palmer Stadium.

Before a colorful crowd of close to 60,000 and under drab skies, from which a bitterly cold wind whipped through the big stadium, Yale unleashed a mighty machine that smashed its way to victory by a score of 10 to 0, and toppled Princeton from the heights of greatness it had scaled only a week ago by crushing Harvard.

Yale's triumph by a margin even more one-sided and complete than the score indicates, came as an upset almost as startling as Princeton's transformation against the Crimson, for the Tiger had entered the fray a favorite. As a result the Blue, now apparently at the top of its stride, will be favored to conquer Harvard next Saturday in the deciding game of the title series and complete a second undefeated season.

Yale concentrated all her scoring today in the third period, when Harry Scott booted a remarkable dropkick for a field goal from the 44-yard line and Jess, giant lineman, scored a touchdown on a forward pass from Kline after Phil Bunnell had put the pigskin within scoring distance with a brilliant 45-yard run in every other period and Black in every other period and within three yards of another touchdown, ripping the Tiger to pieces when the final whistle blew and stopped the drive.

UNION COLLEGE CHAMPIONS IN CROSS COUNTRY

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 15.—Union College won the middle Atlantic states collegiate athletic championship and the American A. U. junior title in cross-country runs over the six and one-quarter mile course at Van Cortlandt Park today.

Burdette Evans, the only entrant from Swarthmore College, finished first in the college run in 32:34. Gunnar Nilson covered the distance in 31:50 in the A. U. event.

Union's triumph was a surprise as Rutgers, Lehigh and Lafayette had been favored to win. Union scored 46 points. Rutgers was second with 49, Lafayette third with 98, Lehigh fourth with 99, Muhlenberg fifth with 100 and New York University sixth with 103. Swarthmore and Dickinson had individual but no team entries.

The Finnish-Americans tallied 41 points and were followed by the Shabahan A. C. of Philadelphia, with 46, the Glencoe A. C. of New York, with 55 and the Mohawk A. C. of New York, with 68. Niles's place was not counted in the final score because he had been a member of a winning junior team previous to this year.

Harvard Is Beaten Third Time in Row by Brown Gridders

(By The Associated Press.)

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 15.—Harvard's varsity eleven, torn by the Tiger of Princeton a week ago, was beaten back for a third successive year by the Bear of Brown today, 7 to 0. The Brownies stopped the Crimson rushing attempts, frustrated forward passes and generally held Harvard safe in a manner that left little signs of improvement in the Harvard team.

Brown, beaten in its last three games, rose to scoring power in the closing moments of the second period for the touchdown and point that won the game. A fumble by Stafford, one of several that marred the game, gave the ball to Brown with Captain Sheldon's recovery. From Harvard's 20-yard line to the 6-yard mark, Brown moved ahead in four passes in which Koefer was the principal factor. Then he went out and Klump came in. Klump bowled through for five yards.

With the ball on the one-yard line, Harvard stiffened its defense. There was holding by Harvard on the next play, and an 18-inch penalty was imposed. Klump drove against the Crimson wall again and went over, although there was doubt in the minds of many, so close was the margin, it was Klump who scored the points after touchdown, although his kick came only after being touched by

CORNELL LOSES TO DARTMOUTH; SCORE IS 27-14

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 15.—Dartmouth's powerful football eleven, which conquered Harvard and tied Yale, humbled a fighting Cornell team at the Polo Grounds this afternoon by resorting to the air and scoring two touchdowns in the final period. The score was 27 to 14.

At the end of the third, the teams were deadlocked 14 to 14, the Hanover margin in the early part of the contest having been equalled by two of the greatest marches down the field ever witnessed in college football.

In the second period the desperate men of Ithaca, two touchdowns behind, pummeled their way to Dartmouth's goal posts from their own 32 yard line. Mollnet driving over the opposing line for the score.

Then as the third period opened the big Red Tornado once more was loosed upon the gridiron. From his 20-yard line he had Dolbow's machine crushed and Dolbow passed its advance until Western's substitute quarterback and Cornell's bright star in attack outran the Green ends for another touchdown.

Such was the situation when the fourth period found the clever Dooley of Dartmouth pouncing from between his goal posts. Shortly after Captain Bjorkman of the Hanover eleven leaped into the air and clutched a forward pass from the hands of Paterson, on Dartmouth's 30-yard line. Dooley lurled a fifty yard pass into the arms of the speeding Sage and the stands roared when he fumbled. Horton, who had replaced Lavitt, cut through the Cornell right side for a dodging sprint to the enemy's 33-yard line, where Dooley's speeding hand and the line, captured Hall's pass and ran 25 yards to the goal.

A few minutes later the throng of more than 55,000 was astonished when Bjorkman caught an other pass from the hands of Dooley which bounded off the shoulder of a Cornell man. An Ithaca tackler was at the Dartmouth leader's heels, but Montgomery plunged between the racing men, tumbling the enemy from Cornell and Bjorkman continued to the goal, his last contribution to Dartmouth football. He left the game with cheers from both sides of the field ringing in his ears.

Notre Dame, which crushed the Army, Princeton, Georgia Tech and Wisconsin, probably will go through the season undefeated.

Pola Negri In "Men" Will Open Delft Visit on Monday

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.
At the Delft—John Marlowe, Beverly Bayne and John Roche in "The Tenth Woman," a screen version of Harriet Comstock's celebrated novel.
At the Strand—"The Lightning Rider," a western drama in which Harry Carey is the featured player.
At St. Joseph's—Johnny Hines in a comedy drama, "Luck." Mr. Hines is supported by a cast of screen notables.

Pola Negri in the Paramount Picture "Men"

"Men" Pola Negri's newest production for Paramount, will open a three day's run at Delft theatre Monday. It is claimed that in this picture the popular continental star absolutely returns to the kind of role she had in "Passion" and her other European productions.

The picture, directed by the man who made "Peter the Great," Dimitri Buchowetzki, is a powerful story of France, lavishly produced. Pola has the role of a hot-blooded young woman whom we first see as a waitress in Marseilles. As the picture progresses, the star becomes one of the most sought-after women in the French capital.

"Men" is just that type of production the public of today wants. And the supporting cast. Robert Fraser has the leading man's role. Then there's Robert Edson and Joseph Swickard, both well known on stage and screen, in important parts. Among others are Monte Collins, Gino Corrado and Edgar Norton.

Last-Half Delft Program.
"A Self-Made Failure," the J. K. McDonald production for First National, which is to be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Delft theatre, has been pronounced by many of the film critics as the best farce comedy of the year.

The picture includes every ingredient which has made motion pictures a popular entertainment. The director, William Beaudine, has not missed a chance. Most of the tears in it come from convulsive laughter but some will come from sorrow and deepest tragedy that have been intermixed with a plot that is largely in the nature of a farce.

The cast includes: Lloyd Hamilton, Matt Moore, Patsy Ruth Miller, Mary Carr, Sam DeGrasse, "Shuck" Riesner, Victor Potel, Dan Mason, Harry Todd, Alta Allen, Priscilla Moran, Joe McCray and "Capeo," the "Penrod and Sam" dog.

Strand Programs.
"The Empty Cradle," starring Mary Alden and Harry T. Morey, will be featured at the Strand Monday and Tuesday. This picture is described as a domestic drama and Miss Alden, who will be remembered for her phenom-nal success in "The Old Nest" essays a mother, driven to desperation by poverty and want. She is tempted to sell her new-born babe so that it may live. The choice is given her of sacrificing her own mother heart or seeing the little one grow up under extremely adverse conditions, if it survives the days of poverty and want.

"His Children's Children," an intense drama featuring Bebe Daniels and George Fawcett, Hale Hamilton and other first-magnitude stars, will be shown at the Strand Wednesday and Thursday. The production is on an elaborate scale and the story is unusual and intensely interesting.

Jack Dempsey, the actor, comes to the Strand Friday and Saturday in "Winning His Way," the first of a series of ten pictures in which the heavyweight champion boxer has an opportunity to display dramatic as well as fistie ability. Dempsey is supported by a number of well-known stars of the screen, including Chuck Reisner, Hayden Stevenson and Esther Ralston. "Into the Net," a seven-part serial, written by Richard E. Enright, police commissioner of New York City, will start at the Strand Friday and Saturday. The same program also will have Constantine Talmadge in a comedy, "The Goldfish." This triple-feature combination should prove mighty attractive to Strand patrons.

ST. JOSEPH'S AUDITORIUM.
One of the best pictures ever filmed which will be presented here today at St. Joseph's Auditorium is "Luck" featuring Johnny Hines with an all star cast and coming here highly recommended by those who saw it in the large cities. There will be two shows, 3:00 and 7:30 and every one is heartily welcome. Sunday, Nov.

The local highway board was notified that following the recommendation of the Menominee board the state department had awarded to W. E. Burdeau, of Green Bay for $159,524 the new highway construction job of 10.2 miles from Spaulding to the Dickenson county line. The contractor will start grading at once and make preparations for rapid work as soon as possible in the spring.

If good weather continues for the next ten days all highway jobs in the county now under construction will be completed and there will be no hang-over work to be cleaned up next spring. The county highway department will be able in the spring to start out with a clean slate on its road program. Among the jobs contemplated next year is a 7-mile improvement on highway 91 south of Cedar River. The county has already provided for its 17 1/2 per cent share of the cost of this construction work and is awaiting action of the state administrative board and the state highway department.

DESERVE NO FAVORS.

Even Victor Berger, Socialist member of congress from the Milwaukee district, has announced his support of the convention of Republican party leaders so-called Progressives.

"This decision, of course," admits Mr. Berger who, by the way, was returned to his seat in Congress by a majority of less than 1,000 votes.

"Any fair-minded man will admit, however, that the view taken by the Republican leaders is absolutely just.

"A Progressive is either a Progressive and then he is not a Republican—or, he is a Republican and then he is not a Progressive.

"Most of these Progressives have been sailing under false colors for years. They have been elected under a false label—especially so in Wisconsin.

"If the Republicans now tell them: 'Fish or cut bait'—as the Republicans told Congressman La Guardia in New York—the Republicans are doing simply what is fair and just."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON PETER'S GREAT CONFESSION

When Jesus came into the courts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I, the Son of man, am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist; some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter; and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.

And whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth, shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth, shall be loosed in heaven.

Then charged he his disciples, that they should tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

It is this heartfelt confession that constitutes the true recognition of Jesus. He cares little for the acknowledgment that is only from the lips.

It is in Jesus of Nazareth that God and man met. Peter had discovered this. Perhaps Peter did not understand all the greatness of this confession that he made, but at any rate it meant all that it could mean to him.

THE NEA PLAY JURY'S TEN BEST PLAYS

- The Guardsman. The Show-Off. Expressing Willie. Cobra. The Miracle. The Rain. What Price Glory. Minick. Dancing Mothers. The Best People.

BY THE NEA PLAY JURY

It is a curious commentary on the state of the American theater that the plays of its foremost dramatist should find no producers.

This quotation from a note in the program of the Provincetown Playhouse concerning Eugene O'Neill! Four of that author's one-act plays grouped under the title of "S. S. Glencairn," now are being presented in the tiny theater on Maedougal street.

Producers may have hesitated at O'Neill in past years—notwithstanding the 25 of his plays which have been seen on one stage or another—but the present season promises to make amends for that neglect.

"S. S. Glencairn" carries out the author's ambition for the group production of his "The Moon of the Caribbees," "The Long Voyage Home," "In the Zone" and "Bound East for Cardiff."

"Dixie to Broadway," featuring Florence Mills and with the blood of all its actors at least diluted with African, is one of the best entertainments in New York.

It wouldn't be accurate to accuse the "Follies" of putting on its "heavies," much less its red flannel, but the idea is to get over is that the "Follies" has donned its winter dress.

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

"When will you marry me, Vira?" Deering asked the next day. "Not until my school closes. I must remain until then."

"It wouldn't be right, Duane," Alvira flushed charmingly as she spoke his name. "In a place like Mentone it is difficult to get a substitute, and they gave me a position when I needed it badly."

"You must have wondered why I said nothing to you? Why I went away without speaking?" "I wasn't quite sure you cared, yet I felt you did."

"Bless you, dear!" Deering's voice husky. "Not many women would have waited, not knowing if they would ever see me again."

"Te! him at once and get it over, Vira. Write him a note," Deering said with all a happy man's lack of consideration of the "other fellow."

"Oh, I couldn't do that! Homer has been very patient, very kind. I must tell him, make it easy for him if I can. He deserves that consideration although I dread it terribly."

"Have it your own way, but you belong to me; and the sooner your friends know it the better."

"You see, Duane, I have thought of it as more than a home. It has been a refuge for me—I—might never have found me had I not come back to it, had I gone to some obscure place in another state as I planned to do."

"You can't know how I used to hate the thought of having the same inscription on my headstone," Alvira said laughing, as Deering stooped to read: "Drucilla Anderson, spinster."

"Oh, Duane! Someone may see us, and how shocked Aunt Drucilla would be if she could!" "Tomorrow—Homer Dwight Comes For His Answer."

Africa To Lead In Copper Production

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 15, 1924.—Roger W. Babson's statement regarding the present trend and future development of the copper industry, issued today, is of unusual interest not only to investors in copper stocks but to all investors, since the factors he discusses may soon affect other industries.

It seems that John Hayes Hammond, believed by many to be the world's greatest mining engineer, has a beautiful summer home at Gloucester. It also happens that Roger W. Babson, a native of that port, is in the habit of spending his holidays there.

"He told me about Katanga," says Mr. Babson, referring to a recent talk with the man who was partner of Cecil Rhodes in the development of the South African mines. "We always get into this same sort of situation. I cannot mention anything in the way of American resources but that Mr. Hammond is ready to match them or exceed them with statistics on Africa. We were talking about copper when he told me of the developments now under way in Congo. The operation is being carried by Belgians and the Union Miniere Katanga. This company in 1912 was producing about 5,000,000 pounds of copper a year. This production has steadily increased until, based on last month's output, it is producing at the rate of 225,000,000 pounds a year. This brings its volume to practically the same as that of the Chile Copper Company, now generally known as the world's largest producer. It is understood, however, that these Katanga mines are now building for an output of over 2,000,000 pounds of copper a day or over 700,000,000 pounds annually. As this development is completed the center of the world's copper production will be shifted from the western to the eastern hemisphere.

"These African mines are located in the southeastern corner of the province of Katanga, which in turn is located in the southeastern part of Belgian Congo. The headquarters of the company, at Elizabethville, are 1600 miles by rail from the nearest port, Beira. The two are connected by a narrow gauge railroad. The company has a concession on over 8,000 square miles and is adding to producing copper is also mining tin and radium. In the copper operation the ore is worked with a steam shovel, it contains from 7 to 8 per cent of copper, and is refined near the mines. Black copper is shipped for treatment, either to the company's finishing facilities in Belgium or to the Nichols Copper Company, Laurel Hill, New York. The rail haul from mine to port is somewhat of a handicap, but since it is mostly down grade this cost is not prohibitive. Labor on the other hand, is unbelievably cheap and this African copper is now being delivered in Europe at a cost of 8 cents or less per pound.

tion at so low a cost must have its effect and it will not be surprising if the price of copper does not rise far beyond its present figure. The point in the copper situation is that low cost companies can make a very good profit in our present market. Even at 13 cents it will be seen that the low cost producers like Chili, Katanga and Kennecott are making a gross profit of 50 per cent. This, of course, is figured before depreciation is charged, and depreciation is a very important item in connection with mining operations. It is certain, however, that this great development in Africa is an exceedingly bullish factor as it must affect the high cost copper producers the world over.

"Many people are suggesting that a tariff be put on copper ore from other countries but I seriously doubt whether the American people would stand for such a tariff. They are willing to put a tariff on foreign manufactured goods and they are also willing to consider a tariff on farm products but the 'protection' of natural resources by a tariff is really not a protection at all. We are better off to hold our own copper and buy copper from other countries than to deplete our own supply now by placing a tariff on imported copper. This so-called protection would really amount to destruction of our natural resources, while lack of protection really means that we buy some copper from the outside and conserve our own supply.

"Hand in hand with this prospect for plentiful and low cost copper during the next few years, we find a parallel development well under way. We are expanding the use of this important and valuable metal. Lower costs tempt larger markets as is invariably the case. As a result of Katanga we shall probably enjoy many uses of copper which have not been considered practical heretofore. Copper shingles, for instance, are a relatively new development and the electrical industry, progressing by leaps and bounds, is providing a hundred new and useful appliances — and mechanisms, all of them more or less made of copper.

"Africa has entered the copper producing field," concluded Mr. Babson. "This is immediately important to the copper industry, but it is also significant to the general business world and to investors who may not now hold copper shares. As Mr. Hammond so clearly pointed out to me, Africa can match or exceed practically all of our American natural resources. That continent is only awaiting the developing influence of our Christian civilization. It is destined to become an increasingly important factor in our industrial world. It is vital that every banker, manufacturer, and merchant should carefully consider the probable course of this development and how the entrance of Africa into the world market will affect his own industry. Instead of going to Europe and spending one's time in London and Paris, might it not be wise to go to Africa for the next

"Do you really think it's becoming?" she asked me. I told her the truth—that she was a dream in it. Ann has red-gold hair and big brown eyes.

"Well, then," she said, "I think this is the time for me to go up to see Jimmie in his new office. I'll vamp a check from him and take you to lunch."

"You see, Duane, I have thought of it as more than a home. It has been a refuge for me—I—might never have found me had I not come back to it, had I gone to some obscure place in another state as I planned to do."

"You can't know how I used to hate the thought of having the same inscription on my headstone," Alvira said laughing, as Deering stooped to read: "Drucilla Anderson, spinster."

"Oh, Duane! Someone may see us, and how shocked Aunt Drucilla would be if she could!" "Tomorrow—Homer Dwight Comes For His Answer."

"He told me about Katanga," says Mr. Babson, referring to a recent talk with the man who was partner of Cecil Rhodes in the development of the South African mines.

"These African mines are located in the southeastern corner of the province of Katanga, which in turn is located in the southeastern part of Belgian Congo.

"Hand in hand with this prospect for plentiful and low cost copper during the next few years, we find a parallel development well under way.

"Africa has entered the copper producing field," concluded Mr. Babson. "This is immediately important to the copper industry, but it is also significant to the general business world and to investors who may not now hold copper shares.

both her him," she said, making a funny little face. "But really he's thrilled to death. Aren't you, Jimmie?"

"I couldn't believe my own ears. Ann jealous! Ann cheapening herself and making herself miserable by spying in her perfectly nice husband's office. For Jim Mitchell is nice. I've known him since we were children—long before Ann even saw him."

"What did you think of this one?" I asked. "Perfectly harmless," Ann gave herself away. "Pretty, but so quiet that no man would ever see she's pretty. And polite and nice, too. She's the least attractive girl who's ever worked for Jim."

"She'd seen all that in the instant she asked, 'Is Mr. Mitchell in?' And in that instant she had made up her mind that this girl could keep her job!"

"What name shall I tell him?" she asked the girl most politely. "I am Mrs. Mitchell!" Ann answered rudely and swept past her and me into Jim's private office.

Good books were encouraged to plead their own cases in the Escanaba public schools during Children's Book Week, which closed last night at the Carnegie Library.

Children were requested to write brief "Autobiographies" of books. Here are some of the results:

MY NEW FRIEND. I had been in the library four days and a little boy came in. He was a nice clean boy and I wished he would take me with him.

He looked at me and picked me up. He thought I was a very good book so he took me home with him.

Before he read me he washed his hands and was very careful with me. When he took me back to the library Mrs. Thomas smiled at him because he had taken good care of me.

MY HAPPY DAYS. I was once an old, old book. I was copied by a monk in Rome. My name was Homer's "Iliad".

When the monk had finished me he brought me to the library and the slaves copied me over and over again. The people thought I was very interesting. They had been reading me for years. Now I am happy because I am published as an American book. I am happy in my new home which is a museum.

MYSELF AS A BOOK. I can remember so well when I was in a drug store. One day a man came into the store. He was just on his way home and he stopped in the store. Of course, I was a true story book and many people like true stories.

HOW I BECAME FAMOUS. One day a young boy came to my owner and asked to borrow a book. I was given and he took me to a poor cabin. The boy at night took me to a fireplace and read by the light of the fire. After a while he stuck me between the big logs which formed the wall. That night it rained and wet my pages.

When the boy found me he felt very sorry and went to tell my owner who said, if Abe, which was the boy's name, would do some work for him he could have me. Abe did the work and received me.

books to a place where we live a happy life.

MY ADVENTURES AS A BOOK. My home is on a table in a school-room. Every day I am handled by dirty careless children who don't care what they do to a poor book like me.

One day a man came to our room where we lived. He looked at all the books. When he came to me, and saw my dirty face, and torn covering, he took me up. He asked the teacher if he might borrow me for a few days. He wrapped me up carefully and took me to a large building.

At this building they mended my torn covering and took the dirty spots off me. When I came to school the next day I was entirely a new book. The children were ashamed that they had gotten me so dirty. They vowed they would never dirty me again. So now I live a happy life in peace and contentment.

I was very beautiful sitting on a shelf. I was wrapped up in paper and a string was tied around me. I thought I was very much better than any other book. A little girl took me home and I was the only book she would read. At this I became very proud.

One day I was left on the beach. The tide came up and carried me off. A diver found me while he was swimming. I lay on the beach for several days, and finally I was burned in a pile of rubbish. My pride was gone and now I am in Book Heaven.

SIGNATURES TO PETITIONS NOW ARE URGED

Proposed Bills Would Greatly Increase Primary School Fund.

North Dakota and South Dakota. The following states have as higher inheritance taxes on estates of $50,000 or over: Georgia, Kansas, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Virginia, Washington and West Virginia. All of the states with one exception have inheritance tax laws. It will help to equalize school costs by placing a tax on individual resources, which the individual receives without his having contributed his money or time to accumulate. It will be a financial aid to every school district. The poorer sections of the state are very much in need of financial assistance. It is for the interest of the people for it will increase the funds for the employment of better prepared teachers. It has for its purpose the relieving of local taxation for school purposes for it taxes estates only after allowing liberal exemptions for wives and children. Tax Outside Companies. Reasons given by the department of public instruction for instituting the bill to increase the tax on the business of foreign insurance companies follow: It will add at the present time about $500,000 to the primary school interest fund. This fund will increase from year to year with the normal increase of the insurance business. It will be a financial aid to rural education in Michigan. It will help to equalize school costs by placing a tax on business that is state-wide in its operation. It does not tax insurance companies organized in Michigan. It places a tax on business organized outside of Michigan as a privilege for doing business in Michigan. This business is taxed at the present time at three per cent on marine, fire and automobile insurance and two per cent on the other insurance named in this bill. This bill therefore, only proposes to place a tax of three per cent on all this business not now paying three per cent. It has for its purpose the relieving of local taxation for school purposes for it taxes the premiums of a business organized outside the state and doing business in this state by permission of the legislature. Many other states now charge three per cent on foreign insurance companies and each of such states charge larger extra fees than does Michigan.

ADD LARGE SUM. It will add at the present time from inheritance taxes in Michigan about $2,500,000 to the primary school interest fund. This will be materially increased by the settlement of estates which take effect. The inheritance tax rates in Michigan at the present time and proposed rates are as follows: $10,000 to $50,000, rates in force, 1 per cent; rates proposed, 2 per cent. $50,000 to $250,000, rates in force, 2 per cent; rates proposed, 4 per cent. $250,000 to $500,000, rates in force, 4 per cent; rates proposed, 8 per cent. $500,000 to $750,000, rates in force, 6 per cent; rates proposed, 12 per cent. $750,000, rates now in force, 15 per cent; rates proposed 15 per cent.

The following states have as inheritance tax rates as those proposed in this petition: California, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin.
