'TEX' RICKARD FOUND GUILTY IN FILMS TRIAL

Promoter and 4 Others Convicted on Fight Pictures Plot.

(By The Associated Press.) Trenton, N. J., Mar. 19.—George L. (Tex) Rickard and four of his co-defendants in federal court charged with conspiracy to violate the law to transport prize fight films illegally, were found guilty by a jury at 11:30 tonight.

Others convicted, besides Rickard, were Fred C. Quimby, New York motion picture producer; Teddy Hayes of Los Angeles, former secretary to Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey; Jasper C. (Jap) Muma, Washington and New York newspaper man and Frank B. Flournoy, Madison Square Garden matchmaker. All were continued at liberty on their existing bail pending sentence next Tuesday.

The verdict was handed in after the jurors had been locked up for the night. Faced with the prospect of a night spent on hard court benches, the jurors informed the bailiff after 11 o'clock that they had arrived at a verdict. Judge Bodine gave his consent by telephone for the acceptance of the verdict by the court clerk.

Dempsey-Carpenter Fight. Rickard was held guilty on one count of conspiracy and on two counts charging transportation of films of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight from New Jersey to New York and later to Chicago.

Quimby and his corporation, Quimby, Inc., were held to be guilty of conspiracy in one count and on three counts charging transportation.

Hayes was held guilty on two counts, conspiracy and transportation; Muma on two counts charging illegal transportation and one count alleging conspiracy and Flournoy on one count only, that of conspiracy. Dougherty, a manager of prize fighters, was found not guilty. At the conclusion of the government's case, but one charge, that of illegal transportation, remained against Dougherty.

Wheeler Probe Echo. Two of the defendants, Muma and Flournoy were not in court. They had returned to New York at the time the jury was locked up. Rickard, Quimby, Hayes and Dougherty were found at a local hotel, called from their beds and hurried to the courtroom.

The conspiracy trial was an echo of some of the sensational proceedings brought out by the Wheeler senatorial committee last year, for it was at one of that body's sessions that a former government agent gave testimony which resulted in the indictment found against the six by a federal grand jury at Newark last May. The government produced 50 witnesses at the trial, some of them from as far off as the Pacific coast and many from the middle west. Many of them were motion picture exhibitors who told of negotiations with one or more of the defendants.

Southern Illinois In Mourning For Victims Of Greatest Disaster

Bloody Scenes of Herrin Mine and Klan Wars Outdone By Storm.

(By The Associated Press.) Carbondale, Ill., Mar. 19.—Southern Illinois, scene of numerous tragedies in the past three years, including the Herrin mine riot, and the Glenn Young feud, tonight mourned over the victims of its greatest disaster—yesterday's destructive twister.

The toll of the tornado tonight lay in a score of improvised morgues in as many little towns and villages. With rough boards and boxes as their biers and sheets and blankets as their shrouds, the long rows of still forms lay in mortuaries, churches, clubs and private homes.

Babies In Arms. Between the aisles of bodies, many of them those of school children and a number those of babies in arms, tonight walked an endless stream of men, women and children searching for loved ones.

It was a task for which there had been no time before because of the urgent needs of the seriously injured.

The scenes were made the more pitiful because of the horrible vengeance which the elements had wreaked upon their victims. Of 200 bodies viewed by

SAYS SINCLAIR MADE HIGH BID

Better Offer Than Others, Says Naval Engineer; At Teapot Trial.

(By The Associated Press.) Cheyenne, Mar. 19.—Down the long, long trail of words, between sections of direct examination, cross examination, re-direct and re-cross questioning, attorneys in the Teapot Dome lease annulment suit went today. The deposition of Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, head of the navy bureau of engineering, composed of more than 300 typewritten pages, was finished, after it had held the attention of the court for the greater part of two days.

Favors Sinclair's Terms. On completion of the Robison deposition, the reading of one by Dr. H. Foster Bain, director of the federal bureau of mines in behalf of the Mammoth Oil Company, and Harry F. Sinclair, who are battling the efforts of the government to annul the navy oil reserve lease, was started.

Like Admiral Robison, Dr. Bain set forth his belief that the Sinclair terms for leasing Teapot Dome were far better than any other which could have been obtained by the government.

Tells of Conference. Dr. Bain declared that in the latter part of October, 1921, a conference was held.

LORD CURZON, STATESMAN OF ENGLAND, DEAD

President of Council Was Active in British Government Affairs.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Mar. 20.—Marquis Curzon of Kedleston, Lord president of the council, died this morning. Death came at 5:35 o'clock. His physicians had been with him throughout the night. They were convinced that the signs they saw late Thursday evening portended death. The indications of his passing then were so marked that they did not conceal the opinion from the public and announced in their bulletin that the patient's condition was extremely grave.

SKETCH OF LIFE. The Marquess Curzon (George Nathaniel Curzon) from the cradle to the tomb, exemplified to perfection in every detail the type of superior personality known as the ruling aristocrat. He was bred for public life and followed the career of politics and government with such success that he held almost every great office under the crown except the highest of all—the post of prime minister. Ironically enough, it was the honors he accumulated while working his way toward the premiership, more than anything else, militated against his ambition for the post and, when it seemed almost sure, he kept it from him. Had he been born 30 years earlier he undoubtedly would have become prime minister. When he came to the threshold of that office, it was in 1923, the day of noble lords occupying No. 10 Downing Street had set. Prime ministers no longer were nominated from the aristocracy, but from the Commons.

Trained at Eton. Like many other young men who came to be statesmen of the British Empire and peers of the realm, Lord Curzon was trained at Eton and Balliol College, Oxford. At the latter he was president of the Union, the all-embracing students' organization, many of whose leaders in after life became prominent. Upon quitting the cloisters of Oxford with high honors, young Curzon polished off his university education with travel, having become familiar with Paris, Rome, Vienna and the Rhine during his vacations at Oxford. He passed these places by for more extensive tours and went into Central Asia, to Persia, Siam, Korea, Indo-China and the Pamirs. He had the leisure and the purse and the purpose of a gentleman and traveled with thoroughness, reading volumes beforehand and then recording his own discoveries and impressions for future books.

Entered Politics 1885. Returning home in 1885 he entered politics as one of the private secretaries of Marquess Salisbury, then the prime minister. He stood for parliament immediately in South Derbyshire, but was defeated. Then turning to the constituency of the Southport division of Lancashire he was elected and continued to represent that division until 1898, when he was made a baron. In his sixth year in the House of Commons Curzon received a post in the government, being made under-secretary of state for India. At that time he was only 32 years old. His political achievements brought him promotion to under-secretary of state for foreign affairs and a few months after he was made baron in 1898 he was sent to India as viceroy and governor.

Dawes Plans To Take Stump To Revise Rules Of Senate

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Mar. 19.—Vice President Dawes plans to go into the states of senators who have expressed open opposition to his proposal to revise the senate rules to prevent the one-man filibuster, and in public addresses attempt to build up sentiment there in support of his views.

Before the senate adjourned, Mr. Dawes conferred with most of the senators, and quite a number of them were reported to have pledged their support in the effort to facilitate senate procedure.

Summer Speeches. With this block of senators as a nucleus, he now hopes to draw recruits among the others by taking the issue to their constituents, and during the summer he plans to deliver a series of speeches at a number of points throughout the country in an effort to arouse public sentiment to such an extent that opponents of the plan will have to yield.

Claim Dignity Outraged. The vice president opened his fight against the senate rules in his inaugural address in which he denounced the power of one senator to obstruct legislation. Immediately after its delivery a cry of protest went up from numerous senators, and it was complained that the dignity of the senate had been outraged. Mr. Dawes, however, expects a different sentiment to prevail when the next session of congress begins.

Wayne County Solons Oppose; Vote 25 To 3

Gives Poorer Districts 5 Per Cent; Similar to Escanaba Plan.

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 19.—Though opposed by the Wayne county delegation whose school districts would contribute larger sums to outstate districts, the Bohm-Farrier primary school interest fund bill was approved by the senate Thursday.

Vote 25 to 3. The vote was 25 to 3. Senators Joseph Bahorski, and Roy Herald, of Detroit, who opposed the measure, being absent from the session. The outstate senators voted solidly for the measure. The bill would provide for the setting aside each year of 5 per cent of the school funds to be redistributed to the poorer school districts in the state under a system based on a proportion of the total school population and assessed valuation of the district.

Measure Renamed. Senator Howard Baxter of Grand Rapids, whose district in Kent county would suffer under the bill, spoke briefly in favor of the measure. He declared though Kent county would lose some school money, it would benefit by the better class of citizenship coming into the city, trained in school districts benefitted by an increase in their school funds.

Upon the motion of Senator William Pearson the measure was named the Bohm-Farrier bill.

RAIL MERGER IS DISCUSSED

Lease of Pere Marquette By Van Sweringen Near At Hand.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Mar. 19.—Final details of the lease of the Pere Marquette Railway to the "Nickel Plate" system under the Van Sweringens' projected merger plan, were discussed today by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen with the Pere Marquette officials. The conference was called preliminary to a meeting of Pere Marquette stockholders at Detroit on Saturday when ratification of lease and merger terms is expected.

Pere Marquette officials, who left for Detroit tonight, said that sufficient proxies had been obtained to assure approval of the plan. Stockholders of the other constituent companies, the Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio and Hocking Valley Railroads, are scheduled to act on the proposal before the end of the month and final arrangements will be completed at a meeting of "Nickel Plate" stockholders early in April.

The only organized opposition to the consolidation has come from Chesapeake and Ohio minority stockholders, who applied for a court order at Richmond, Va., today to restrain the stockholders' meeting, scheduled for March 30. Members of a protective committee will meet in New York tomorrow to formulate further plans for opposing the merger.

RELIEF FORCES OF RED CROSS NOW ORGANIZED

Money, Clothing and Medical Aid Given to Storm Victims.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Mar. 19.—National headquarters of the American Red Cross, with its chief, President Coolidge, taking the initiative set in motion today its entire machinery of mercy to take material relief to the thousands of injured and homeless in the tornado wrecked section of the middle west. At the same time, it sped orders of aid to other thousands of sufferers far away, victims of fire at Tokio, and of flood at Trujillo, Peru.

James Louis Flosser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, at St. Louis today took supreme command of Red Cross relief work in the tornado area, with Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief, in immediate charge of operations.

Send Princeton Aid. A party of trained disaster relief workers left here late today for Princeton, Ind., to aid in rehabilitating the homeless and rendering other aid. Officials characterized the disaster as the greatest since the Ohio Valley flood of 1913, when $500,000,000 of property was laid waste. Mr. Flosser also directed the relief work at that time.

Red Cross Commended. Telegrams expressing appreciation for the promptness of the American Red Cross in organizing relief for the tornado sufferers were received at headquarters tonight from Governor Small of Illinois and Governor Jackson of Indiana.

Governor Small added in his message that he had designated William Baxter of the St. Louis branch of the Red Cross, to receive contributions and disburse funds for the storm victims.

Carbondale, Ill., Mar. 19.—Tonight, 24 hours after the catastrophe, the federal government, state, Red Cross and private institutions and individuals, combined in the great task of caring for the injured, giving shelter to the homeless and hunting for bodies yet concealed in the tangled debris, left by yesterday's tornado.

Further relief on a wholesale scale was in immediate prospect. In addition to a company of troops at Murphysboro and one at West Frankfort, Company I and Company K of Salem and Cairo, respectively, were ordered to West Frankfort.

Chicago Sends Relief. From Chicago a medical regiment of 300 men, eleven carloads of supplies, eight carloads of rations and sixty pullman cars were dispatched to the stricken district, while extra nurses and doctors hurried here late today from Chicago, St. Louis and other nearby cities.

The disaster apparently fell most heavily upon women and

PATENT OFFICE IN NEW DEPT.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover To Protect U. S. Patentees.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Mar. 19.—Jurisdiction over the patent office, heretofore a part of the interior department, was transferred to the commerce department under Secretary Hoover today by an executive order of President Coolidge.

Secretary Hoover, in a statement, explaining the step, which also was approved by Secretary Work of the interior department, said one of the principal reasons for it lay in discriminations against American interests in administration of patent laws in some foreign countries.

Mov Draft New Code. The commerce department has conducted negotiations in this matter through its representative abroad in the same connection. Mr. Hoover said he might have occasion to urge congress to draft a new code of patent laws.

In incorporating the patent office in the department of commerce, he stated that he should undertake a vigorous campaign for the removal of injustices toward American patentees and American manufacturers which exist by virtue of the character of patent laws in many other countries, he asserted.

Protects Americans. "At the present time an American patentee is required in many foreign countries to continuously manufacture in that country under his patent or lose his patent rights. We make no such requirement in the United States. The consequence is that our inventors and manufacturers in order to protect their inventions have been driven to the establishment of a large number of factories abroad, where as foreign patentees have been able to use their patents in the United States to actually prevent manufacture here. In fact, a foreign patentee by registering his patent in the United States, can hold it for 17 years and prevent manufacture of the article in the United States."

Whether a new hotel will be built on the site of the Brookers is that hotel succeeded the old Palm Beach Hotel, burned two decades ago, was not determined.

RESORT BLAZE LOSS GREATER

New Check at Palm Beach Shows $7,000,000 Damage Done.

(By The Associated Press.) Palm Beach, Fla., Mar. 19.—A check today of guest lists of the Brookers Hotel and the Palm Beach Hotel, destroyed by fire last night, while incomplete, show no loss of life in either hotel. The early estimates of $4,000,000 were declared too low by Fire Chief Schultz today when he gave it as his opinion that the total loss, including thousands of dollars in jewelry lost by hotel guests, will reach $7,000,000.

Deny Postoffice Robbery. Although the Palm Beach postmaster continued to deny rumors that the postoffice was robbed of $200,000 during the fire, authorities were said to be searching for clues that would suggest existence of a plot by which thieves might have started the fire that a harvest in loot might be reaped from wealthy guests. More than a score of prisoners are held by Palm Beach police under charges of looting after the fire.

100 Infants Dead. From the Associated Press tonight, it appears that more than 100 children in infant were victims. Every available dwelling was a morgue in zone of the visitation. Sordid operations are performed virtually outdoors. Columns of 100s three and four deep, seven blocks long, still waited in darkness tonight to claim their kind and friends.

Apparently arising in Missouri Ozark Hills, the tornado jumped and zig-zagged, path was about a mile wide some localities; in others it crept by its start, prefer to unload its fury in Illinois Indiana. It swept into Kentucky and Tennessee more fancifully appeared.

Brakeman's Description. A brakeman on an Illinois central train, who witnessed the Desoto tragedy, succinctly described the tornado as "a creature of thunder preceded by blinding flashes of lightning, or which there was nothing to see. A former war chaplain said could be likened to the war in France, there was no of comparison. Human bodies in most forms of cremation and butchery or crushed were being removed from the debris. Only a comparative few have been found fact, identification being made by rines on detached arms some instances. Bodies placed

IMPOSSIBLE TO FIX AMOUNT OF PROPERTY DAMAGE; WHOLE BLOCKS IN CITIES LEVELLED

Casualties in Sections Unreported Before Keep Up Toll Where Deductions Are Made for Exaggerated Reports

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Mar. 19.—Timely systematic checking in the town which were struck by Wednesday's tornado, tonight indicated that the list of dead would not far exceed eight hundred and might be somewhat lower when duplications have been eliminated. The total reported in the five states swayed by the storm stood at 823 tonight, with 2,990 listed as injured or a total of 3,813 casualties.

Reports at midnight gave the following totals by state: Illinois, 645 dead and 1,945 injured; Indiana, 109 dead and 515 injured; Tennessee, 33 dead and 50 injured; Missouri, 27 dead and 319 injured; Kentucky, 18 dead and 131 injured.

Chicago, Mar. 19.—After the light of a fell day had cleared its searching rays into the debris left by Wednesday's tornado, and relief work had been organized to gather the dead and the hurt and the homeless, the toll of destruction to life and property tonight still remained the greatest ever recorded in similar catastrophes, with 823 reported killed and 2,990 injured in the five states affected.

Fire Causes Destruction. While the casualty lists had been reduced from first estimates in some instances, word came from hitherto unreported places to keep the total casualties almost as high as indicated in first messages from devastated towns and hamlets. After a night of terror, dawn revealed that some small towns had been virtually obliterated, while whole blocks of larger places had been levelled and fire had added to the horrors of the wind.

The fires for the most part were kept from buildings that escaped the fury of the twister. Outside help arrived from many places during the day and by noon relief was well organized.

Storm Is Freakish. Where there had been happiness, prosperity and future, the tornado blasted all in a few cities. To others it showed a blinding eccentricity by leveling and blackening portions of sparsely settled.

Nearly half of Princeton, Ill., was scattered. A sister city, Geneseo, Ill., with 500 people, its existence. A neighbor, Galesburg, 300 population, was cut out. Murphysboro, Ill., a nearly three square miles of business and residential section. Darkness hampered rescue operations in a few towns. Fighting systems have not been repaired. Auto lights, gas cans and flashlights are substitutes for power plants. Pullman cars have arrived to house refugees in one or two sections, villages are being used elsewhere.

Those in charge speak in riddles when asked to estimate material losses. The brief estimates read: $100,000 in southern Kentucky; $2,000,000 in Princeton; $25,000,000 in southern Illinois; $100,000 in Missouri.

Financial Aid Sent. The tornado took its toll of a territory of 500 miles in hours and within the same period of time outside aid was coming that distance to carry 100 and comfort to survivors. Red Cross rushed supplies to St. Louis, Chicago offered $500,000. The Illinois legislature appropriated a like amount. Missouri legislature $25,000, the southern Illinois American Legion $6,000. Other contributions are expected to reach $100,000.

100 Infants Dead. From the Associated Press tonight, it appears that more than 100 children in infant were victims. Every available dwelling was a morgue in zone of the visitation. Sordid operations are performed virtually outdoors. Columns of 100s three and four deep, seven blocks long, still waited in darkness tonight to claim their kind and friends.

Introduce Measure To Change The Election Laws

WOULD CHECK NEW PARTIES

Bill Seeks To Stop Repetition of 'Hiram Johnston' Case.

(By The Associated Press.)
Lansing, Mar. 19.—A bill proposing a complete reorganization of the election laws to eliminate many of the alleged faults of the present structure was introduced in the house today by Representative Armstrong of Wayne. The proposed amendments would prohibit a repetition of the famous 'Hiram Johnston' episode and would regulate more stringently the activities of new parties.

Some of Changes.

Some of the changes suggested were:

A candidate for president in the April preferential presidential primary must have nominating petitions bearing 5,000 signatures. The present requirement, under which Zilwaukee Hiram qualified, is 100.

A candidate for president in the primary could be a candidate on only one ballot.

Candidates for United States senator, lieutenant governor and governor on a new party ticket would need 5,000 names on their petitions instead of 100.

New parties would be required to file a certificate of organization and a facsimile of their vignettes with the secretary of state at least six months prior to election.

Uniform Petitions.

Nominating petitions would be made uniform for all state offices, resulting in a minimum of one and a maximum of four per cent of the last vote cast on the party ticket for secretary of state.

Registration by affidavit would be abolished except in the case of absent voters.

Election officials could not aid voters because of their inability to speak English. Every elector except those physically disabled would be required to mark his own ballot.

Spring Primary Date.

The spring primary would be held the first Tuesday instead of the first Wednesday in March.

Provisions would be required for voting a split ticket where voting machines were used.

Nothing was said about party enrollment or pre-primary conventions. They are proposed in other measures before the assembly.

children.

In the West Frankfort list were the names of a dozen babies, and in that of DeSoto appeared the names of thirty school children.

Murphysboro, West Frankfort, DeSoto and Gorham, all within a radius of 25 miles of Carbondale in the southern Illinois soft coal fields, bore the brunt of the disaster.

4,000 Homeless.

Murphysboro, a town of 13,000 covering approximately five and one-half square miles, had two-fifths of its area in charred ruins tonight. 100 business houses were wrecked or seriously damaged and 1,000 homes destroyed, with about 4,000 persons homeless.

The city was without gas and light, although desperate efforts were being made by public service company officials to repair broken cables and wrecked power plants.

Martial law had not been declared, but state guardsmen patrolled the streets and visitors and sightseers were excluded.

Looters Arrested.

Fifty square blocks, including two square miles of the residence section, were a mass of tangled debris, while firemen still fought smoldering fires in a dozen places.

Half a dozen arrests were made for looting and troopers pressed sightseers into service with axes and shovels and also as stretcher bearers.

West Frankfort was struck almost as hard as Murphysboro. All traffic into the town has been halted. Military passes have been issued to those whose business necessitates their presence in the city and troops tonight patrolled the devastated area.

SEND GRIFFIN AID.

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 19.—A special train, bearing American Red Cross doctors and nurses from Evansville for Griffin, Ind., tonight to lend aid to that tornado swept town.

Indianapolis Red Cross doctors and nurses on the train, originally headed for Princeton decided to go to Griffin when informed of the condition here. The mayor of Princeton said everything was in order in his city and that assistance was needed badly in Griffin.

The train is in charge of Dr. Robert L. Browning and Dr. Grant P. Hartzell and on orders from Washington, D. C., was placed at the disposal of the Indiana chapter this afternoon.

Improvements For U. of M. Discussed

(By The Associated Press.)

Lansing, Mar. 19.—President Emeritus Harry B. Hutchins, and Shirley Smith, secretary of the University of Michigan met with the home university committee today to discuss the requests for buildings and improvements at the college. No changes in the measure, which calls for $3,124,700, were suggested, and it is likely will be reported soon.

MICHIGAN ALSO HIT BY STORM

Heavy Damage Done To Phone Lines; Repairs About Completed.

(By The Associated Press.)
Detroit, Mar. 19.—Michigan was well on the road to recovery tonight from the effect of the storm which last night swept over the lower peninsula, centering in the west-central and southwestern sections of the state. No fatalities were reported today, although thousands of dollars of damage was done to telephone and telegraph lines and electric railways.

Wires Damaged.

Telephone communication between Detroit and Grand Rapids was re-established after having been broken the greater part of the day, during which Grand Rapids and surrounding cities could be reached only by way of Chicago. The Detroit-Chicago line was re-established at 7:00 a. m., after having gone down at midnight. Wire communication in southeastern Michigan escaped the brunt of the storm, although the Michigan Bell Telephone Company reported approximately 2,000 lines damaged in Detroit.

Highways Blocked.

Highways in many sections were blocked today by fallen telephone poles, two miles of poles being down between Lansing and Howell. Forty poles were blown over between Kalamazoo and Jackson and a dozen or more were reported down between Owosso and Holly.

Train service was not severely hampered. Three fishing tugs, the Three Brothers, Helen M. and Indian, were caught in the ice floes off Muskegon harbor but were rescued by the Peninsula and Northern Steamship United States.

War Cabinet Member.

Lord Curzon was named one of the imperial war cabinet members in the Lloyd-George coalition government and was made leader of the House of Lords in 1916. He continued in that position throughout the war and the reconstruction period. He became secretary of state for foreign affairs in 1919 and continued in that office in the Bonar Law government after the Lloyd-George rule had been smashed by the Tories. Meanwhile he had risen two more steps in the peerage—to an earldom and then to a marquessate. There remained only a dukedom to be obtained and Lord Curzon generally was credited with a burning ambition to achieve this highest of titles for those outside of royal blood.

It was at this time that his accumulation of honors operated against Lord Curzon in his ambition to become the British prime minister. When Bonar Law retired in 1923 because of ill-health there was besides Lord Curzon only one other man regarded as likely for the post—Stanley Baldwin. In Curzon's favor there was his long and notable record in politics and the government service, while Baldwin virtually was a novice in politics, but had proved a strong chancellor of the exchequer who had settled the American debt question with honor and satisfaction. Weighing in opposition to Curzon was the new twentieth century tradition against appointing as premier a peer who could not meet attacks on the government in the House of Commons. Hence, Mr. Baldwin, being a commoner, received the place.

Treaty With Turks.

Lord Curzon consented to remain in the foreign office in the Baldwin government. He went to Lausanne to lead the Allies in making their peace treaty with the Turks, who had re-entered Europe and avenged against the Greeks the expulsion of the crescent from Europe in the World War. The treaty let the Turks back into Europe and returned to them a large part of what they had lost in the war. For this Lord Curzon was severely criticized and in the scrambling that preceded the fall of the Tories and the rise of the Labor government in the winter of 1923-24 much of the dissatisfaction was directed against him.

Co-op Measure.

A measure which would allow any co-operative agricultural marketing association or company organized for profit to hold or acquire stock of membership in a co-operative agricultural marketing association not organized for profit, in exemption of the provisions of the state anti-trust laws, was introduced by Senator George G. Hunter, of St. Johns.

ference was held between the then secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall; E. C. Finney, assistant interior secretary; Rear Admiral Robison, A. W. Ambrose, bureau of mines technologist, and himself. In that conference he said it was determined to advise Mr. Fall that drilling in the Salt Creek field adjacent to Teapot Dome was causing the latter to be drained, and that steps should be taken to protect the navy's interest.

Referring to preliminary negotiations with the Texas company for leasing Teapot, Dr. Bain said that on April 6, 1922, the day before the Sinclair lease was signed, Mr. Fall received word from the Texas company that it would be unable to meet the terms offered by Sinclair. After an exchange of telegrams between Mr. Fall and the Texas company, beginning April 4, 1922, Mr. Fall told Dr. Bain, the latter said, that he (Fall) thought it of no further use to negotiate with any one but Sinclair.

Oil Contaminating.

The latter part of Admiral Robison's deposition dealt with details about the Sinclair lease. In one place the admiral was questioned as to whether he had told the then secretary of the navy, Edwin Denby, that everybody connected with the lease was risking their reputations in handling the matter, in which Robison assented with the assertion:

"It's hard to touch oil without being contaminated."

MORE ACREAGE FOR 1925 CROP

Farmers Warned Against Low Prices Through Over-Planting.

(By The Associated Press.)
Washington, Mar. 19.—A tendency toward general expansion of farm crop acreages this year was noted in an "intention to plant" report today by the department of agriculture, which issued with it a virtual warning that too great production would result in lower prices.

"It seems doubtful," the statement said, "if the general expansion of production contemplated by the farmers would be to their best interests. Increased returns for the crops of 1924 were largely due to reduced supplies. Whether in this country or abroad, rather than to any increase in demand. The outlook indicates that any marked expansion in most lines would tend to lower prices and result in less satisfactory returns to farmers.

"If reported intentions are carried out, the acreage in spring wheat seedlings last fall were increased 6.5 per cent over the previous year. Allowing for average abandonment, however, the increase in winter wheat area to be harvested would be about 4.5 per cent greater than last year and the amount sown in all wheat would be about seven per cent or about 2,800,000 acres.

"If farmers generally carry out their intentions as reported March 1, corn acreage will be increased by 2.3 per cent above that grown for harvest last year."

Financial "Billy Sunday" Gets Millions For Churches

By NEA Service

Lewistown, Ill.—If you want to make millions and don't know how, then take a tip from the Rev. Dr. George L. Snively of this little place on how the trick's turned. Snively was born within a few miles of here in a little town called Cuba. The countryside was his horizon during youth, and the field of frenzied finance was a far-removed picture. Yet, during the past 16 years, Snively, the farmer boy grown up from admitted poverty, has gone out and wrested from the world a cheerful matter of some $15,000,000. In the next five years he has collected $4,000,000 more.

He didn't get it for himself, but for churches about the country in need of finances to save them from the sinner's hammer and other fates.

Financial "Billy Sunday." Snively to American religion is a financial Billy Sunday on wheels. He dislikes to be called a professional money-raiser, but of what it takes to get the dough he has plenty.

He has mixed up in his personality the intangible magic of making money. He goes into a town and within a week or less, sinners, the good, the bad and the indifferent have fallen under the sway of his talents and clipped in anywhere from $100,000 to nearly $500,000.

Snively makes them like the act of giving. Yet for all the millions that he has raised he has made only a comfortable living. He will not accept a percentage on the funds he gathers. And he has turned down corporation jobs with six-figure fortunes as yearly compensation.

Years ago he was ordained to the ministry of the Christian Church and held several successful pulpits. His mother had dedicated him to God, he says, when during infancy a seeming miracle snatched him from death through illness.

He is 59 now and on the road from one week's end to the other hopping across the country and back to raise a fortune for some church in need, or wishing to pay off a debt to prepare for dedication. Snively never yet has failed to raise any amount of money needed by any church. And so wide is his fame that his schedule is filled up for almost a year in advance.

"How to make money or get it is rather a hard thing to explain," he says. "There's no magic attached to it. Yet there is something of thought transference. It's not occult. And the only way I can explain it is to say that you just have to crawl into the other fellow's mind and heart."

"When you can do that, you will know what I mean. I can't put it clearly because it's something you feel and can't express."

In Snively's travels he has run into scores of the wealthy and many millionaires. Hard-shelled individuals with a reputation for stinginess have opened up their hearts and purses when Snively came around in the interest of some local church.

Believers, too, have grasped his hand and left substantial checks behind. "Most folks give to religion because they really want to," he says. "But there are many wealthy men who give because they feel that the church is all that stands between them and lawlessness—it is a moral protection of their property."

And Snively has the givers spotted. They're the round-faced, full-browed persons. "But look out for the man with a receding forehead and protruding teeth," says Snively. "It's just naturally hard for that man to give. Something is against him to do it."

Like Snively observes that most millionaires are kind and decent and that the Bible must be in error when it says that it's as hard for a rich man to enter heaven as for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle. When not out raising millions

Snively stays on his farm. He loves the rural life and could be wealthy if he would. But just to exercise the gift of money-making magic for God and humanity—that gives him his chief delight. Yet this paradoxical statement: "If I worked for money I should lose my power," he says. "Money would ruin me."

Chemicals Are Spoiling U. S. Market Poultry

Washington—Large city markets have been receiving shipments of poultry contaminated with the odor of carbolic acid, reports the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry. This is the result of efforts to disinfect poultry and their coops against the spread of the fowl pest and other poultry diseases. The odor is found to remain in the chickens so as to make them unsalable. One large firm reported a loss of $100,000 on a shipment of four cars due to this contamination.

Because of the appearance of European fowl pest in certain parts of the country, farmers throughout the east and middle west through fear of this disease have been doing more disinfecting than usual. In many instances chemicals with strong and offensive odors have been used, many of them not in the list approved by the Department of Agriculture, and in some cases the results have been aggravated by the failure to dilute the product.

Birds kept in houses so treated or shipped in crates reeking with the odors, absorb them into their bodies, where they remain after the birds have been killed and dressed.

It is thought that another source of the contamination in dressed birds may have been feed on which the chemicals have been sprayed. When such penetrating odors are present in the disinfectant used the birds should not be marketed within less than two weeks of the time it was used and then not in crates reeking so treated.

Coops and poultry houses should always be thoroughly cleaned before disinfecting. A good plan is where possible to scrub the interior with hot lye solution or scalding hot water. Such cleaning solutions are themselves good disinfectants. If scalding water is not available, the coops may be disinfected

RAIN DROPS

London—Weather experts, after laborious study and experiments, claim to have measured the size of rain drops. The largest was found to be one-sixth of an inch in diameter and the smallest one-hundredth of an inch.

Another interesting discovery was that raindrops are larger in summer than in winter. The reason for this is that in the warm days of summer clouds are formed at greater heights than in the cold winter days. As vapor moisture from the clouds start to fall it is condensed into rain drops. Small drops merge while coming down, on the British expert says that the longer time a drop has to fall, the more chances it has to unite with other small drops.

Detroit—Michigan's exports of canned milk and cream rank 11th among the state's exports, the Department of Commerce, Detroit branch said recently, and were an important factor in making the 1924 exports of canned foodstuffs the greatest of any year except the abnormal war period. The export motorcar, truck and tractor trade is generally better than it has been, the Detroit office reports. Reporting on conditions prevailing in the Philippines, the department says that the improvement inaugurated late in 1924 was sustained in January and part of February, particularly in the sale of passenger cars. Trucks showed slight improvement, and accessories "no change."

MUSKEGON IS PLANNING NEW $800,000.00 H. S.

Structure To Be Finest High School in Michigan

Muskegon, Mich.—Ground has been broken for the new $800,000 high school and junior college which will replace the present Muskegon high school.

The structure not only will be the finest school in Muskegon, but also will be one of the most imposing buildings of any type in the city.

The campus on which the new school plant will stand, together with the enlarged athletic field, includes four city blocks and the greater part of a fifth. Streets now cutting this area will be closed. The campus will be known as Hackley campus.

The institution is planned to provide educational facilities for the upper three grades of high school and the freshman and sophomore years of college, including in the plans for the high school is an auditorium which will seat 2,000 persons.

The junior college idea has finally established its practicality, Mr. Longman said, pointing out the advantage of the junior college from a social and economy standpoint.

Approximately 75 per cent of the children entering school in this city graduate from high school, he said, asserting that it obviously is an advantage to keep those students in the city for another two years rather than send them to institutions of higher learning elsewhere.

With the completion of the new high school, it is now in the plan to build a junior high school, leaving the continuation school of its eighth grade pupils, thus permitting the expansion of instruction there of part time students.

The effect of the new high school organization on the manual training department of the present school will be to permit more extensive instruction in mechanical, machine shop, home art and home economics, Mr. Longman said. Space now used for auditing and cafeteria purposes will be available for class work.

The Hackley gymnasium will be displaced by a new 45 by 90 foot double gymnasium, giving ample space for instruction in both boys and girls' physical education. Two thousand persons will be able to attend basketball games which now of necessity are held in the gymnasium.

The new athletic field will combine the present Hackley and Wilson fields. It is giving the landscape architects their final trouble. The field, which is separated by a street, are to be of the same level. Hackley Field, which covers an entire block, being several feet higher than Wilson field, which covers the greater part of a block. Whether Hackley Field will be lowered or Wilson field filled in has not been decided. The architects were expected to submit plans to the board of education soon.

Plans for the new athletic field include the building of tennis courts on the Wilson field and the future development of a stadium or hotel of concrete blocks to encompass the field.

The construction of the new Hackley gymnasium is to be completed by the fall of 1927, at which time the new high school will be ready to receive its first class.

The building now in place at the corner of Grand and Wilson, which will be used to house all of the buildings of the new campus.

MAYS PUZZLE OF BIG SHOW

Yankees Thought He Was All Through; Looks Good with Reds.

DRESSEN'S ARM WON'T RECOVER; REDS WORRIED

Orlando, March 19.—When delving into the mysteries of the national pastime, Pitcher Carl Mays offers a most interesting case for the baseball Sherlock Holmes.

Three years ago Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees decided that Mays was about through as a pitcher. He starred in the 1921 world series with the Giants, then appeared to pass out of the picture.

For two seasons he did little more than warm the Yankee bench. He seldom started a game and when he did the breaks invariably went against him.

Spread Seemed Gone. Mays, who for years had been a pitching sensation in the American League as well as a stormy petrel in that organization, seemed to have lost his last ball.

The possessor of a great fast ball when at the peak of his game, the less or apparent loss of his one best bet, made things look bad.

A glutton for work, sitting on the bench, brooding over his game, didn't tend to increase his efficiency or temperament. When pitching his best, Mays always worked every third day, sometimes often.

One year ago the New York American League club asked waivers on Mays. Not an American League club claimed him. The waivers were sent to the Cincinnati alone put in a bid for his services.

Jekyll-Hyde Stuff. Then came the Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde stuff. Claimed by only one major league club, Mays had one of the best years of his career for the Reds last season.

Today Mays looks in far better shape than he did five years ago when starting for the Yankees. Physically he is drawn fine and the season is still weeks away.

Unpleasant working conditions and failure to be used regularly, is the way Mays explains his inability to win his last two years he was in the American League.

"I never could pitch sitting on the bench," says Mays. "I need plenty of work."

"One of the best pitchers in the National League," says Manager Jack Hendricks.

"This stuff about him being a bad actor is a big laugh to me. I never had a more willing player on my ball club."

"He not only worked out of turn all season, but was always ready when I needed a pinch-pitcher."

"His fine work last season tended to tide over some of the disappointing features. There is no reason why he shouldn't have another big year."

Mays says he intends to stick around in the big show for at least three more years, maybe five.

Michigan Farmers 1925 Crop Valued At $230,000,000

East Lansing, Mich.—Michigan farmers will sow ten million dollars worth of seed to reap a potential crop of $230,000,000, it is figured by an associate professor of soils at the Michigan Agricultural College, said today in connection with "Better Seed Week, March 16 to 20, which is being sponsored by the M. A. C. crops department. Agricultural interests of the state have been asked to unite during the period beginning Monday in a movement to bring about the planting of better seed in Michigan farm lands this year.

A special feature of the week will be a series of radio talks on various angles of the Michigan seed industry, broadcast over the M. A. C. radio station, WKAR. In some communities, groups of farmers are planning to gather at central places where radio receiving sets are installed, to listen in on the college talks. Those talks by members of the M. A. C. staff and by leading farmers of the state will go on Monday at 7:15 o'clock each evening, except Sunday, starting Monday night.

DRESSEN'S ARM WON'T RECOVER; REDS WORRIED

Orlando, March 19.—Last season infielder Charley Dressen of the St. Paul club of the American Association was the sensation of the minor leagues.

The Cincinnati club owned him at the time. He had been purchased at a cost of $35,000. It was figured he was just one year away from the big show when sent to St. Paul.

Today there is a chance that Dressen may be lost to baseball and the Cincinnati club. His case is an example of the gamble big league club owners are constantly up against.

Late last season in touch a baserunner sliding into third his arm was injured in the mixup, apparently only badly strained.

Dressen played the remainder of the season under a handicap, figuring the soreness would finally work out. It didn't.

After the close of the season he went to Cuba to play some winter ball, hopeful that the warm climate there would help the throwing arm. It didn't.

Learning of the seriousness of the injury the Cincinnati club had him come to that city where for six weeks prior to the opening of the training season, he was under the care of skilled specialists, apparently to no avail.

Dressen always boasted a great arm, but this spring he is pushing rather than throwing the ball across the diamond. Doped to help the Reds, his arm injury is of great concern to Manager Hendricks.

Medical science having failed, both Dressen and Hendricks are hopeful that careful nursing and nature will slowly but surely remove the sore area that now prevents Dressen from throwing properly.

STOCK PRICES ARE UNSTEADY

St. Paul Sets Low Record; Nash Motors Soars 19 Points.

STOCK AVERAGES

Twenty Industrials 109.08. Twenty Railroads 118.00. Thursday - 119.43. Wednesday - 118.00. Week ago - 125.05. High 1925 - 126.10. Low 1925 - 117.03. Total stock sales, 1,687,500 shares.

New York, Mar. 19.—Alternate periods of weakness and strength characterized today's stock market with a moderate rally under way as the session ended. Urgent liquidation appeared temporarily to have run its course as there was a marked contraction in volume and evidence of better support, particularly for the high grade industrials.

St. Paul common and preferred continued under pressure, establishing new record low prices at 5 and 8 1/2, respectively. The low prices today represented a depreciation of about 70 per cent in quoted value from the high prices for the year. Sympathetic declines took place in some of the other western rails.

Copper Declines. A few new lows were recorded in the copper group as a result of the recent easing of red metal prices. Oil shares rallied with the rest of the list despite a substantial increase in crude production for the week ended March 14 and a series of gasoline price reductions.

All the so-called pivotal industrials showed gains on the day. United States Steel common closed 1/2 higher at 120 1/2. Studebaker closed fractionally higher at 43 1/2.

Erratic fluctuations took place in the United States Curb Iron Pipe, which closed 2 points lower at 186 after fluctuating between 180 and 195 1/2. Weakness also was shown by Utah Copper.

Nash Motors Soars. Nash Motors soared 19 points to 285 on a few sales. American Oil, American Ice, Associated Dry Goods, the Commercial Solvents, General Electric, Maxwell Motors, Postum, General and United Clear were bid up 3 to 8 points in the late rally.

Call money held steady at 3 1/2 per cent. Time money rates were unchanged with business quiet. Prime commercial paper was slightly firmer, with only a small amount available below 4 per cent.

Foreign exchanges held relatively steady. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.77 1/2, and French francs at 5.17. Most of the European rates showed small gains.

WHY WOMEN SMOKE

Vienna, Feb.—The woman who is happy and satisfied never smokes, says Dr. Robert Heister, gynecologist, who recently said that smoking distorts women's faces. The two Escanaba high school debating teams will go into action tonight, the Orange and Black negatives meeting the Iron Mountain affirmatives at the local high school auditorium and the Esky affirmatives clashing with the Menominee negatives there.

The members of the local negative team who will speak here are, Almon Arnold, captain, Miss Dorothy Garrity and Robert Beggs with Miss Ruth Sandborn as alternate. The affirmative team comprises the following, Edward (Buck) Curran, captain, Warren Edwards and Robert Gessner, with John Hughes as alternate.

An interesting contest is anticipated here and one that should draw a large crowd. The question to be discussed is one of unusual interest. "Resolved: That the United States Should Grant the Philippine Islands Immediate and Complete Independence." John Lemmer, who has been coaching the Hilltop team, has built up a strong case and the Iron Mountain trio will appear here in connection as being one of the best ever to appear on a local platform.

Gladstone Men Judges.
Three Gladstone men, C. H. Teague, superintendent of schools, C. C. Strickland, principal of the Gladstone high school, and Matthew Wagner, public speaking teacher at the Gladstone high, will act as judges. James C. Baker will preside as chairman.

As a special feature and one that should prove highly entertaining to the audience will be the appearance of the Gleisner twins of the Webster school in a Swedish song hit immediately following the debate and previous to the announcement of the decision of the judges.

WASHINGTON'S SCHOOL BOOKS ARE ANTIQUATED

World War Not Even Mentioned In Histories.

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—The war isn't over, in Washington. In fact, it hasn't even begun.

If you don't believe it, go into the public schools of the capital and study the text books that are being used in the "education" of the city's youth.

Study particularly their histories and their geographies, for it was history and geography the late war was supposed to have changed.

There you will find that "The German Empire consists of 22 separate states" of which Prussia is the largest. That "The king of Prussia is also the emperor or kaiser of Germany." That "The laws are made by an imperial parliament," and so on.

Or, if your interests take you outside the status of Germany since the war, you may read that "Austria-Hungary is a monarchy," that "the emperor or czar is absolute monarch of Russia."

In the geographies of the capital schools, vintage of 1914, St. Petersburg is still the capital of Russia, there is no Poland or Czechoslovakia, and the national boundaries shown on the school wall-maps are the same as before the educational Rip Van Winkle's courtship. The Washington schools want to sleep.

Probably there is no other city or state where such a condition exists, or would long be permitted to exist, except in Washington, D. C.

It wouldn't exist long here if either Washington, or the District, had the sense.

Washington, as a city, is merely a geographical fiction itself, its boundaries being co-extensive with those of the District.

And the District is merely a stepchild of the federal government, with a paternal Congress holding the purse-strings and doling out nickels and dimes for its education, while lavishing hundreds of millions on "development" projects elsewhere where the people have votes.

The residents of Washington not only have no vote for president, they have no voice in saying what shall be spent on their schools.

What lies in the decisions of the budget bureau of the national government and the Congress.

The District can't even tax itself to buy the book that will teach its children facts instead of antiquated history. Congress says how much taxes the capital shall raise, too.

And meantime Congress laments its lack of time properly to study and digest important and fundamental national legislation.

One simple solution would seem to be to give Washington, or, properly, the District of Columbia, a reasonable measure of local self-government.

Certainly that would be less responsible than teaching the generation of 1925 the now obsolete history of 1915.

Cities, like children, outgrow address their foolishness. Washington is now old enough to be given a little responsibility of its own.

Durand, Mich., Cow Is World Champion 4-Year Old Milker

East Lansing, Mich.—The world's champion junior 4-year-old cow for the production of milk in both 7 and 30-day test periods is the purebred Holstein, Lilita Segis Inka De Koi Johan, of the J. E. Post herd at Durand, Mich. The advanced registry department of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America has reported that this cow completed a 7-day test recently with a record of 862.6 pounds of milk and 29.23 pounds of butter, which she increased to 3,435 pounds of milk and 1,140.1 pounds of butter at the end of 30 days.

Both records were made under the daily supervision of the Michigan Agricultural College, and as a consequence of them "Lilita" displaced Faina Astrid Hengervold, Portage, owned by W. W. Mountain of Flint, Mich., in the 7-day class, and Bess Fierne Moolie Fayne of the F. F. Field herd at Brockton, Mass., for milk production in 30 days.

The new champion is of medium size, weighing about 1,400 pounds. During her test period she consumed daily 39 pounds of grain ration made up of 25 pounds tarro and four pounds of cottonseed meal, with hay and 22 quarts of beet pulp measured while dry. Of this pulp, 20 quarts were fed wet.

"Lilita" comes from a family of high producers. Her dam is Johan Segis Inka, who is a granddaughter of Hengervold De Koi, considered by many authorities to be the foremost sire of the Holstein breed for the transmission of both type and production. Her sire, Eulhardard Lilita Champion, is a grandson of Columbia 408, Johanna, the first cow of any breed to produce over 1200 pounds of butter in one year.

UTILITIES MAY SELL BUILDING

Voters Will Be Asked to O. K. Sale at April 6 Election.

Escanaba voters will be asked, at the April election, to authorize the city utilities to sell the building, formerly used as a utilities office, 710 Ludington Street, on the best terms it is possible to procure. The question will be placed on the ballot to be voted April 6.

The building has not been used by the utilities since the city was organized three years ago. The utilities have no other office property and the building can be sold without the authorization of the voters.

The council at its night's meeting, also authorized City Manager Fred R. Harris to enter into negotiations with the Chamber of Commerce for the purchase of a portion of the water works property, which the city will need to care for, expansion of the water plant, which are certain to be necessary within a few years.

The council was unanimous in both projects. The city manager also was authorized to purchase, from the Bridges Asphalt Company, sufficient material to complete the portion of the pavement between the street car tracks in Stephenson Avenue. The material is some that the Bridges company had left over from its work here last year, and is available at an attractive price. It had been

COMPENSATION BILLS OFFERED

Seek To Increase Payments For Injuries and Death.

(By The Associated Press.)

Lansing, Mar. 19.—A group of three bills, bringing before the legislature the program drafted by the commission to study the workmen's compensation laws, was introduced in the house today by Representative J. C. Watson, of Cape Elizabeth. The bills would increase payments for injuries and death, and insure the state against the cost of the program.

The bills would increase the weekly maximum to dependents, following the death of an employee, to $40 and the minimum to $8 for a maximum of 200 weeks. For injuries resulting in total incapacity, employees would receive 60 per cent of their pay for not to exceed 200 weeks, with a maximum per week of $16 and a minimum of $8, and a total maximum of $8,000. For partial incapacity there would be the same maximum but no minimum. The present maximum and minimum is $11 and $7. The use of a hand would entitle the employee to 60 per cent of his pay for 150 weeks, a leg for 175 weeks, and so forth. Loss of both members would be deemed total incapacity. Occupational diseases are included as compensable injuries.

State as Insurer. The state could set up its own insurance company on petition of five or more employers of 2,000 or more men. A manager, and as many deputies and clerks as necessary would be named, under the direction of the administrative board.

The proposed rearrangement of the commission would result in four instead of three members. One would be an attorney; three would devote their time to compensation cases. Their salaries would be increased to $6,500 and a secretary at $4,500 could be employed.

State Regulation. State regulation over compensation insurance companies would be similar to that now held over fire companies. They would be required to file rates and schedules with the insurance commissioner and their rates would be subject to his approval. A separate rating division could be created in the insurance department and an investigation of existing rates would be undertaken.

It is understood the program has the approval of organized labor and is opposed in some places at least, by the employers.

DE MOLAY WILL BE ORGANIZED HERE TONIGHT

Crystal Falls Boys to Have Charge of Ceremonies

(By The Associated Press.)

Fifty Delta county boys will become charter members of a chapter of De Molay here tonight. The Crystal Falls chapter and team will confer the degrees, install the newly elected officers and conduct the other formalities in connection with the organization here.

The chapter is being sponsored by Escanaba and Lightstone bodies. Tonight's program will include a dinner to be served for the visiting delegates, the candidates and Masons by members of the Order of Eastern Star. The degree and installation work will follow. All Masons are welcome to see the work. It has been announced.

De Molay is an organization of boys between the ages of 16 and 21, "Sons of Masons and their chums." While it is not in any sense a "junior Masonic order," Masonic bodies are invariably its sponsors.

It has grown, in a few years, into one of the largest boys' organizations in the country.

Good Times Are Ahead For The American Farmer. Washington, The American farmer is in for an era of prosperity.

He's getting along pretty well now—better than for some number of years. He's due to get along better and better as times goes on.

This isn't the opinion of any one individual. It is a consensus among bankers, agriculturists, weather forecasters, professors and business men.

One of the greatest aggregations of farm condition experts ever gathered together was assembled in Washington by the American Association of Joint Stock Land Banks. Each expert arrived at his own conclusion in his own way.

And the conclusions of all are the same—farm prosperity ahead. Herbert Janvin Brown, nationally known meteorologist and long distance weather forecaster, points out that there are due to be adverse crop conditions in practically all the areas which raise crops in competition with the United States.

Foreign Prospects. His predictions are based on a study of air and ocean currents and accumulated weather data from all over the world.

Northern Europe, he says, is now suffering from heavy snows and is due to suffer from heavy rains. This will considerably cut down the crop season. Southern Europe and the Argentine are due to continue suffering from drought.

With foreign competition thus cut down, Brown points out, the American farmer can demand and receive high prices for his products.

Hilding Anderson, former professor at University of Minnesota Agricultural College and now crop price forecaster for a large banking house, declares that his study of conditions shows wheat will be $1.50 and more for at least 18 months.

Wheat will pull up the price of corn, he states, while cotton will either remain at its present price level or go higher.

Others Agree. Livestock prices must increase as a result of the high cost of grain, he adds. Anderson's prediction is endorsed by Nils A. Olson, chief of the agricultural finance division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

SETS RECORD FOR TREATIES

Washington, Mar. 19.—Nineteen treaties were ratified by the senate yesterday, establishing a record it was declared today by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee.

Since Mr. Borah assumed the committee chairmanship after the death of Senator Lodge, eighteen treaties were reported favorably and ratified by the senate. The committee calendar was cleared except for the Lawrence treaty which went over until the next session. The 18th of Pine treaty, which also received favorable action by the senate, was reported under the chairmanship of Senator Lodge.

List of Treaties. In addition to anti-liquor smuggling treaties, the list includes: The Treaty of Friendship, Commerce and Consular Rights with Germany; Convention with American States to provide for the protection of trade-marks and commercial names; Extradition Treaty with Rumania; Arbitration Convention with Sweden; Convention with Guatemala and other countries for the establishment of an international committee of inquiry; Convention of Ratification with the Dominican Republic; Convention with Great Britain concerning rights in Palestine; Convention with the Dominican Republic; Convention with Great Britain providing for extradition on account of violation of narcotics laws; Treaty with The Netherlands regarding the Island of Palmas; Extradition Treaty with Finland; and international sanitary convention signed at Havana with Latin-American republics; Treaty with Great Britain defining the boundaries between the United States and Canada and the Treaty with Great Britain concerning regulation of level of Lake of the Woods.

The anti-liquor smuggling treaties were between Canada, Panama, France and The Netherlands.

LATEST FOR TWINS. Liverpool, England.—A Liverpool man has invented a double deck baby carriage, which he insists is much more practical for twins than the customary one with one wide bed. There is an auxiliary bed, extending part of the length of the perambulator, which with the normal seat of the carriage makes an arrangement somewhat like two ship bunks in miniature.

WHAT DID EVE EAT? By NEA Service. London. Was the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden an apple? Nowhere does the Bible say it was an apple, and yet from the earliest days of Jewish history, the fruit was referred to as an apple.

In parts of Palestine a tree grows producing a fruit which is supposed to be identical with that eaten by our first parents. The fruit presents a beautiful appearance, but it collapses in the hand on being touched, and its deceptive appearance has caused it to be associated with the Bible story.

In Ceylon is found a tree with the significant name of Kaduru, meaning "forbidden." Its fruit is a bright orange on the outside, with a deep crimson within. The inside of the fruit also has a cavity, which gives it the appearance of having a piece bitten out of it. This and the poisonous nature of the fruit caused Mohammedans to believe it was Eve's fruit.

Last year was not as good as this year can be.

ned that the city manager busied himself with the circulation of petitions, demanding the resignation of the president of the village, because of the latter's private business connections.
The judgment of Escanaba, where a council manager government has most efficiently functioned for three years, would be that Kingsford made a grave mistake in the selection of its first manager; that the mistake was aggravated by the failure of the council to take decisive and summary action when it was first discovered that the council and the manager could not pull together as a single team; that there should exist no ground upon which a councilman could possibly be attacked for permitting his private business connections to influence his action on city affairs.

ESCANABA IS READY.

The sympathy of a nation goes out to the people of a stricken section of the country where a devastating tornado on Wednesday swept a wide path, leaving death and destruction in its wake. First reports from the stricken areas of Missouri, Illinois and Indiana indicate that the death toll will reach a staggering total while property damage and loss will run into many millions of dollars, making Wednesday's storm one of the great catastrophes of the age. Within an hour after first reports came staggering out of the devastated area, movements were under way to assemble the relief resources of the nation to assuage the suffering of the stricken people. As the complete story of Wednesday's storm is assembled the need for help will be more and more appreciated and the sympathetic people of Escanaba and the peninsula will not be slow to join in any general movement that may be launched for raising needed funds.

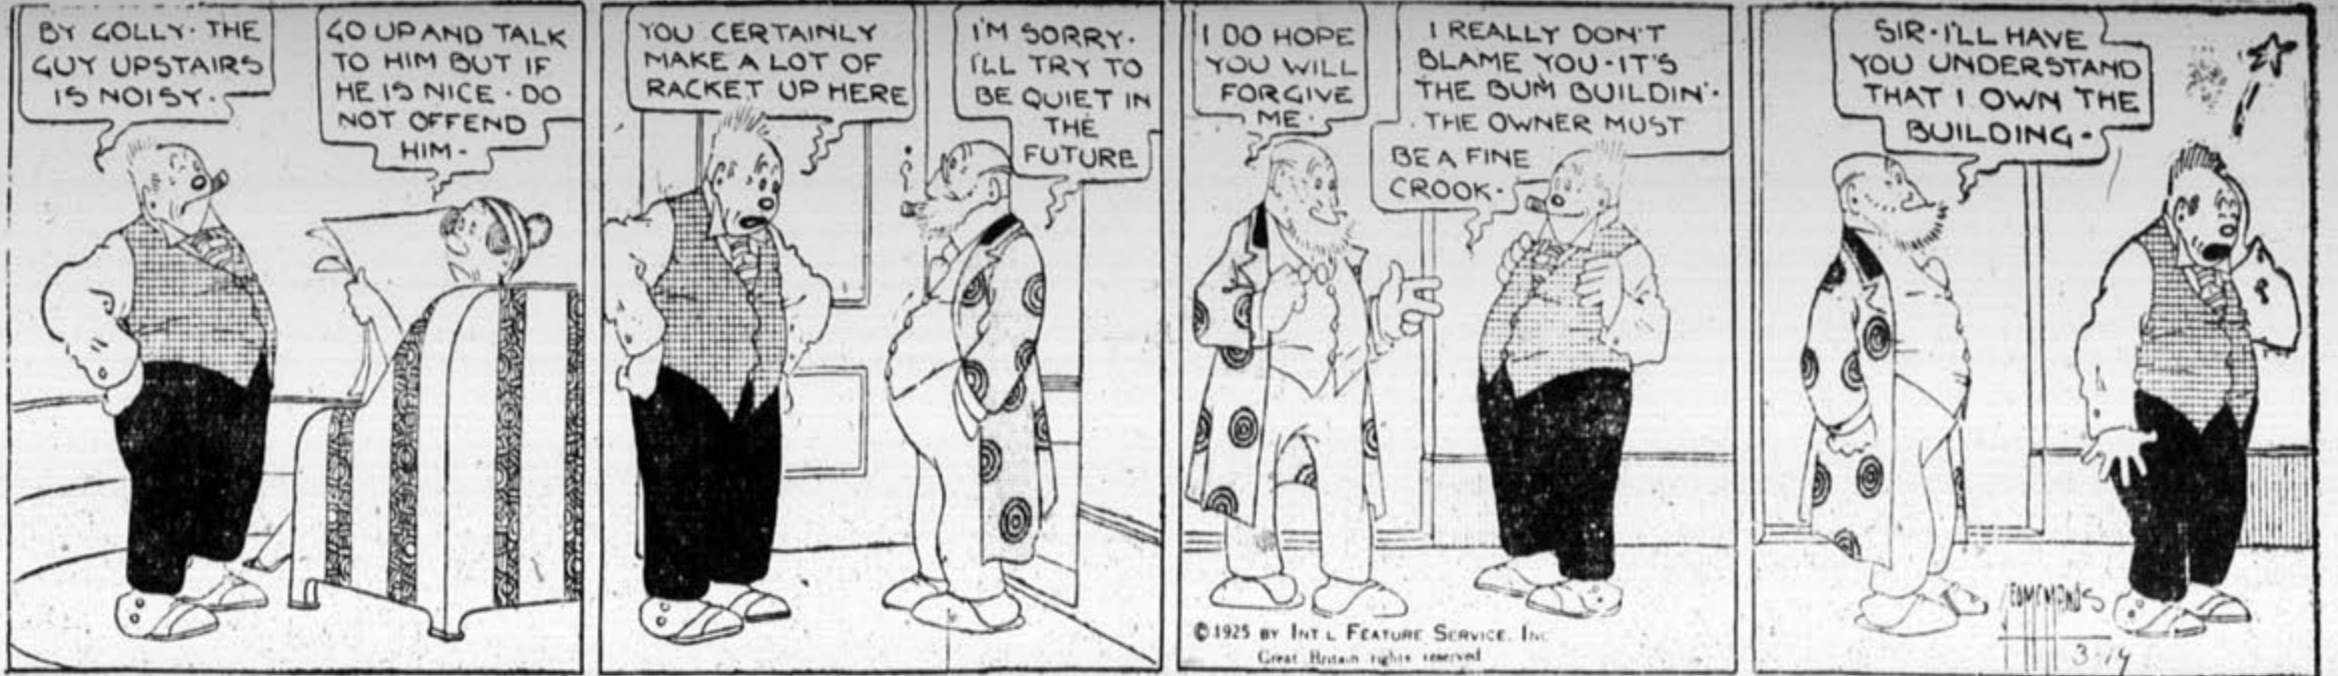

KINGSFORD SPLITS.

A more eloquently illuminating example of the results that can follow the mixing of petty politics in the conduct of the affairs of a city, under a commission manager form of government, could not be offered than that presented today in the village of Kingsford, suburb of Iron Mountain.
Because of the injection of politics into the conduct of Kingsford's affairs City Manager L. W. Cox has been ejected from his post and a petition has been filed with the commission demanding the resignation of J. A. Minnear, president of the village.

Developments of this week have torn the village into raging factions and where Kingsford's debate will end can only be conjectured.

A little more than a year ago the peninsula's newest and fastest growing town started out bravely on what promised to prove a sane program of modern government. According to reports, the newly engaged city manager had not been long in his post when friction developed between the manager and the council. The friction grew with passing months and it is charged that the city manager committed the grave indiscretion of taking an active part in the recent political campaign in the village. It is charged and not de-

SPRING HAS CURE!

That crash you will hear at 9:13 o'clock tonight will be the sun hopping over the Equinox. The young lady who will make her appearance immediately thereafter will be Spring. The almanac says so.
It happens, however, that Winter, in this great region of tamarack and opportunity, isn't always ready to take his exit cue from the sun's cross-over. He likes the country and he doesn't mind the hissing and cat calling of an audience which has grown weary of his stuff, and Spring quite often, barely has a chance to take a bow before she is chased off the stage by Summer.

"A Smothering Angel"

BY JANE PHELPS.

A MEETING WITH BOB HARRIS. Chapter XLVIII.
'It's all over, mother,' Dorothy said as she sank wearily into a chair.
'You saw Reed?' Mrs. Drayton asked.
'Yes.' The utter hopelessness of Dorothy's tone brought tears to her mother's eyes.
'Tell me, dear.'
'He forgave me—that is all.'
'But what about the future, Dorothy?'
'Nothing. It's all true, mother, about—Margaret Cramer.'
'Did he confess it?'
'No, only by his silence. He didn't even kiss me.' Dorothy's lips quivered. 'He didn't talk much—kept saying he must think what to do. It's no use, mother. We'll rest here a few days—I promised Lucile—and then we'll go away.'
'Did you tell Reed?'
'No—and now I never shall. Don't talk any more tonight, mother, I can't bear it.'
'But at dinner, Dorothy...'
'He didn't stay—rushed away without a word. He only said he must think what he could do. Oh, mother! Don't you see there can be only one reason why he would talk like that?—He's promised her—Margaret Cramer. He will get a divorce now I am back, and marry her! Oh, how can I bear it!'
Mrs. Drayton soothed Dorothy as best she could, reminded her she was young, that the future still held happiness for her; reminded her of all she had to live for, to try and be happy for. But Dorothy did not cease her heart-breaking sobbing until morning when she had slept from sheer exhaustion.
A messenger boy sent by Lucile brought Reed's note.
'You see, Dorothy, he's trying to make things right,' Mrs. Drayton said, when she had read the communication, trying to encourage.

MARCH 27 IS DATE SET FOR BOYS BANQUET

Arrangements have been definitely made for a boys' banquet, to be held Friday evening, March 27, at the Methodist church recreation rooms. The affair will be open to all high school boys in the city, and it is expected that more than 100 will attend.

The banquet will be a get-together meeting for the high school boys of the city, at which they plan to make the initial steps for the formation of a "Hi-Y Club" at Manistique.

With all Scouts of the city combined in one troop, the Scout organization in this city has been greatly simplified, to the benefit of both the boys and the officials.

Among those present at the Wednesday evening meeting were seven junior Scouts, boys not old enough to come under the requirements of Scout membership, but who are admitted to take part in the Scout work.

"I have not been seeking the office and I have made no efforts toward effecting my nomination, but I will use my best efforts for the interests of the city if I am elected."

"I will try to do the best that I know how if I am elected," said Peter Peterson, Gladstone business man, whose name was also placed on the ballots early in the campaign, in a brief statement to the voters.

"And I will try to reduce the running expenses of the city as much as possible."

PROGRAM WILL BE GIVEN AT BENEFIT SHOW

A clever pantomime of various songs by the Gladstone high school seniors and members by a high school chorus led by Miss Nellie Althaus, supervisor of music, will be given at the Senior benefit show at the Community theatre, Wednesday, March 25.

The show program will include a feature picture, "Money to Burn," a comedy and the senior acts, which will be between the comedy and the feature.

COMBINE SCOUTS OF MANISTIQUE INTO ONE TROOP

One of the best Boy Scout meetings held at Manistique in some time took place at the Methodist Church recreation rooms Wednesday evening.

It is planned to have Stanley Carlson of the high school faculty at the head of Scout work for the ensuing year. Scoutmaster Vern Noble will be assisted by Edmund LaFave and William Mueller, Jr. Hartman Forsbar will act as senior patrol leader.

With all Scouts of the city combined in one troop, the Scout organization in this city has been greatly simplified, to the benefit of both the boys and the officials.

Among those present at the Wednesday evening meeting were seven junior Scouts, boys not old enough to come under the requirements of Scout membership, but who are admitted to take part in the Scout work.

"We consider the woman's vote now that she has the franchise and the main idea now is to get the women out to vote and started in the work."

"I have no special platform," she continued, speaking directly of her nomination, "but I have the good of Gladstone at heart. I believe in law enforcement, in a fair deal for all, the little fellow, as well as the big."

"My position is this," said James H. Murphy, whose petition was placed in circulation early in the campaign, and who has ten years' experience in city and county work, six years as a member of the old council and four as a member of the county board of supervisors.

"I have not been seeking the office and I have made no efforts toward effecting my nomination, but I will use my best efforts for the interests of the city if I am elected."

"Everyone Vote," Milton I. Call, also a member of the present commission, who is running for a second term, emphasized the need of every voter using his right of franchise at the polls.

"I will try to do the best that I know how if I am elected," said Peter Peterson, Gladstone business man, whose name was also placed on the ballots early in the campaign, in a brief statement to the voters.

"And I will try to reduce the running expenses of the city as much as possible."

WRITES BOOKLET ON CRIPPLED CHILDREN

An interesting booklet on the crippled child movement in Schoolcraft county has just been issued at Manistique. Mrs. Nettie S. Thorborg is the author, and the book contains some very enlightening facts on the work that has quietly been carried on at Manistique for the past few years.

Short sketches of the handicapped children who have been receiving treatment, together with a photograph of each, comprise one section of the book, which was printed through the courtesy of the Herald Press and Pioneer Tribune. The net proceeds from the sale of the pamphlets will be used to continue the welfare work among the handicapped youngsters of the county.

Lundstrom Garage Puts Up New Front

A new front is being erected this week at the Lundstrom garage, Oak and Maple avenue. Permission to improve the building was granted at a recent meeting of the city council to Elmer Lundstrom, Studebaker dealer, and manager of the garage and livery. The addition of the new square front adds materially to the appearance of the building.

CANDIDATES GIVE OUTLINE OF POSITIONS

Four of Gladstone's five candidates for the office of city commissioner, two of which are to be elected at the April 6 election, issued brief statements to the voters of the city yesterday when questioned in regard to their nominations for the offices.

Jackson Stephenson, member of the present commission, who is running for a second term, stated yesterday that he had nothing to say at the present time but would issue a statement on the matter in the near future.

Mrs. Clara E. Huber, the woman's club candidate and the only woman to be nominated, spoke at the effort of women's organizations every where to place women in executive positions.

"The club feels that women should take part in politics and it would not only like a woman member of the commission but a woman on the board of education as well," said Mrs. Huber.

"The time has come when women should take part in public life."

"I believe in law enforcement, in a fair deal for all, the little fellow, as well as the big."

"My position is this," said James H. Murphy, whose petition was placed in circulation early in the campaign, and who has ten years' experience in city and county work, six years as a member of the old council and four as a member of the county board of supervisors.

MANISTIQUE GIRLS PLAY HERE TONIGHT

A 15 to 15 tie which has been standing since January 30 will be played off tonight when the Gladstone and Manistique girls' basketball teams meet for a return game in the gymnasium of the Junior high school building.

The game will be called at 8 o'clock. Tickets, which are at a nominal price, are now on sale.

The last game between the two teams was played at Manistique on January 30 and a fast, hard-fought contest resulted in a 15-15 score. Under the regulations governing girls' basketball, a tie game cannot be continued overtime and for this reason tonight's contest will be a real settling of the tied count.

Members of both teams have been hard at practice and are ready to give a good account of themselves tonight.

The Gladstone lineup announced yesterday by Miss Ethel Bennett, coach, will be: E. Johnson, J. K. Brophy, Jr.; N. Johnson, G. Lewis, F. D. Johnson, M. Carlson, E.

Manistique Lineup. The Schoolcraft lineup will be selected from the following: A. Palling, H. Schofield, G. Redeker, L. Carlson, G. Millar, I. Gorsche, K. MacRitchie, S. Cherneski, M. Nelson, G. Gorsche.

The game, in view of the tie played at Manistique, will be a big attraction and a large crowd of fans will be on hand to see it.

"Just Married" was well staged and the entire company seemed to be made for the parts. Special praise should be given Johnnie Sullivan and Nell Obrecht for their splendid acting.

The musical specialties between acts were splendid and made a pleasing vaudeville bill in addition to the regular performance.

This evening the company will present "Keep It To Yourself," which played for several months in New York and Chicago. This is a George M. Cohan comedy and Johnnie Sullivan is featured in the comedy role made famous by the comedian, George M. Cohan.

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a vapor lamp in saline form.

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thymine and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a plaster.

This double, direct action of Vicks checks the worst cold overnight.

MAN-MADE ISLES MAY SPAN OCEAN

Sees Floating Islands as Hydroplane Way Stations.

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Correspondent
Paris—Four floating islands, each costing $12,000,000 and equipped with hangars, repair plants and hotels—this is Henri DeFrance's vision of what is needed to make practicable and easy a regular hydroplane service between Brest, France, and New York. Moreover some of the best minds in France have put the seal of approval upon the dream of the young architect, because he has been awarded the first prize by the Institute of Science for his plans.

DeFrance proceeds upon the assumption that the hydroplane is the air bus of the future, so far as rapid transit across the Atlantic is concerned. And he at once doped it out that in the present state of things it would be very difficult to make the crossing in one sustained flight if the machines were to carry passengers, mails and freight. Accordingly, he thinks the thing to do is to construct floating islands built of reinforced concrete. The side turned toward the direction of the wind would have a prow like a ship. The opposite end would be open to the water of the sea. The sides would be protected by reinforced barrages.

He does not think it is possible to anchor such a structure and outside the high waves. So he thinks the best thing to do would be to let it float like a ship and keep it going by means of huge propelling machines. In this way the prow could always be turned in the direction of the wind. This would also run it in the direction of the waves, so that the rear end, which was open, would always have comparatively calm water in which the hydroplanes could descend.

In the prow and at each of the horseshoe ends there would be powerful lighthouses for guidance of hydroplanes coming along in the dark. The prow part would be plentifully supplied with hangars.

One of the horseshoe sides would have machine shops for the repair of any parts that get out of whack in the transatlantic air buses. The other horseshoe side would have dining rooms, lounges and smoking rooms for the passengers where they would get all the comforts of a modern hotel in case of delay to flight.

His figures show that the island would be 500 feet long and about 250 feet broad. The inner basin of quiet water would be 100 feet long and 100 feet broad. It would thus afford ample room for alighting or departing hydroplanes.

DeFrance also figures that the dimensions of the island would be such as to avoid any very great or unpleasant rocking by ocean swells so that seasickness would not be one of the things that disembarked passengers and crew could suffer from.

A company owning and constructing such a series of islands would secure by distillation of sea water. The islands would all be supplied with powerful wireless stations which would thus be in touch not only with the air buses, but also with France and America. The temporary guests at the hotels on any of the islands would be able to keep posted on everything going on in the world.

Speaking Scotch is much more difficult than drinking it.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Mar. 19.—There are many cities within this great city, communities in which people of one nationality or race gather to retain the society of their own kind and unconsciously to fight the inevitable effects of the melting pot.

Chinatown and the ghetto are familiar to most visitors and New Yorkers. Yet in Harlem there is a city within a city little known to visitors and with which few New Yorkers of other sections are acquainted. This is the negro settlement.

In one square mile of Harlem 175,000 negroes live. They represent almost every profession and every occupation. There are castes of society there as there are in any community of its size.

Several colored residents of Harlem are reputed to be millionaires. Many of them are independently wealthy. On the other hand a large proportion of Harlem is composed of unskilled laborers who have advanced but little from poverty and wretchedness. They live in crowded tenements and are not nearly so well off as their brethren in the bluesteak shacks of the south.

Several Harlem negroes have become rich conducting cabarets and night clubs. Prices charged in these clubs are as high as those in the niftiest Broadway lobster palaces. And many of the patrons are from high society circles of the whites.

A nurse from the Henry Street Settlement called on a negro mother in the lower East Side to look after an anaemic baby.

"What do you feed the baby?" the nurse asked.

"Boiled cabbage three times a day," the mother answered. "The doctor told me to feed him a green vegetable."

"Why don't you vary the diet a bit and feed him carrots once in a while?"

"The doctor said a green vegetable and carrots is pink," the mother answered, with a show of indignation.

Thirty years ago four immigrants riding on a ferry between Astoria and Manhattan evolved the scheme of forming a company of 25 men, each paying one dollar a week into a general fund to buy real estate. The company grew to 100, the limit placed by the men in it. Each now pays two dollars a week. They now own real estate valued at more than half a million dollars and several large apartment houses.

CHAPLIN WILL MARRY AGAIN

Divorce From Present Wife Is Predicted By Former Spouse.

BY MILDRED HARRIS
Hollywood—Charlie Chaplin is a man of exceptional mind.

He is a true artist. He is brilliant, and has the usual restless mind peculiar to genius.

Only one type of mate is suitable to such a man. One who is equal to him in brilliance, and also is possessed of a mind ever seeking the new in life, the high lights and the deep shadows.

Such a mind, naturally, is not found in one of immature years.

I do not know the intimate circumstances of the Chaplins' present domestic life, but from my past knowledge of Chaplin I do not believe blame attaches to either of them.

It is just that he only can find his happiness in marriage with one of his own years, with a mind developed into the spheres in which he thinks and lives.

A horoscope cast for Mr. Chaplin

some time ago said he would marry three times.

Undoubtedly, to my mind, this horoscope is sure of fulfillment.

I do not say this because of my belief in the supernatural, but because I feel that love plays a very important part in his life.

More so even than in the lives of most persons, as he always is searching for an ideal, for one who will be his complete dream, come true.

And he will have to find it in one older than I was, 17, when I married him.

Mr. Chaplin loves children. Indeed, very, very much.

It may be that the birth of a baby to the Chaplins would heal any threatened breach between the two. But that is a matter more for conjecture than for prophecy.

All in all, if the Chaplins separate, I would judge it to be due merely to the fact that they were no real mates, probably neither to blame, but still recognizing that life apart would be better for each.

Otherwise the growing years would cause their realization that they are not happy together to grow.

My personal opinion is that in any case certainly a child should be well provided for and a girl permitted sufficient to care for herself.

But no one should have everything taken away from which he has struggled for years.

Bridges Moved Out Ahead of Tornado

Edward Bridges, head of the paving company which laid all of Escanaba's new asphalt streets, arrived in the city yesterday from Princeton, Ind., one of the cities in the path of the tornado which swept across southern Illinois and Indiana Wednesday. Mr. Bridges had intended staying in Princeton until Friday, but changed his mind and came on to Escanaba. The change in plans took him out of the cyclone belt.

Hearts and Dollars

Two Statements—one of which has to do with Health and Welfare, the other with Financial Strength

AN OPEN LETTER

(Name on Request)

MR. HALEY FISKE, President
METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE CO.
NEW YORK CITY

My Dear Mr. Fiske:

Why don't you publish a Heart Statement along with the regular Financial Statement you put out each year?

Any company can publish impressive figures of financial strength, financial growth, etc. But figures don't stick. All I remember from your last year's Statement is that the Metropolitan has several million policyholders and is the biggest life insurance company in the world.

I've been following some of your magazine advertisements lately that tell of work you're doing to help people live longer. It isn't entirely clear in my mind just how you're doing it or why you do it, but since you are doing it, give us the facts and figures on that. Call it a Heart Statement or a Welfare Statement, or anything you like, but—give us the fact.

Perhaps other Metropolitan policyholders like myself would be interested in a Statement of that kind.

Very truly yours,
C. N. S.

WE are indebted to Mr. S. for his suggestion. It is an excellent one. We publish an annual Business Statement of the Metropolitan, not because we think that the figures will be remembered, but because they offer conclusive evidence of unusual growth and strength to its 22,000,000 policyholders.

And it is this extraordinary financial strength that makes it possible for the Metropolitan to carry on a nation-wide campaign for better health and longer life.

People now live longer

Records kept by the Metropolitan show an extraordinary decrease in the death rate among its policyholders. Compared with 1911, for example, there were nearly 62,000 fewer deaths in 1924 among its Industrial Policyholders than there would have been if the 1911 death rate had prevailed.

While the average life span in the United States is 51½ years greater than it was 12 years ago, the life span of the Industrial Policyholders of the Metropolitan increased nearly 8½ years—a betterment of three years over the general average—in the same interval.

These increases in longer life are due in large part to the Metropolitan's Health and Welfare Work among its policyholders.

You are the gainer

You and all the other 22,000,000 policyholders—one out of every six people in the United States and Canada—reap the benefit through better health and decreased cost of insurance.

The wealth of the Metropolitan belongs to you and to no one else. The Metropolitan has no stock and no stockholders. It is owned solely by its policyholders.

You, as one of the policyholders, share in the ownership of all its investments; in its railroad bonds, its real-estate mortgages, its loans to farmers, loans to states, cities and towns for public improvements and similar enterprises.

You, as a part-owner of over $1,600,000,000, should read the two statements on the left with a feeling of pride in what your company has achieved.

The efforts as well as the assets of the Metropolitan are dedicated to protection against future want—to greater happiness, better health and longer life.

WASTE BIGGEST MENACE TO U. S.

Ten Billions of Country's Waste Can Be Saved Each Year.

BY LARRY BOARDMAN NEA Service Writer Washington, March 19.—America is facing a menace more than...

It is the menace of waste. Yet the amount wasted in the United States each year at least 10 billion dollars could easily be saved.

This is the statement of Ray M. Hudson, the country's head waste eliminator.

Hudson's official title is chief of the simplified practice division, U. S. Bureau of Standards. His organization is the government's combat unit assigned to fighting the afore-mentioned menace.

Here's how he describes its war operations: "The waste menace is so deep-rooted that it is levying a constant tax on every man, woman and child in the United States.

The tax is placed upon us in the form of costs of articles in everyday use—costs which are passed on to us by the manufacturers and distributors.

A report made by 18 leading industrial engineers of the country to Secretary of Commerce Hoover states that in six major industries that waste of material, time and effort averages to 50 per cent.

"Simplification Method "It is this same report that declares 10 billion dollars of the present waste could be recovered.

"One of the methods now being used in effort to curb this waste loss is simplification. This means the study of an industry, of the variety of every-day goods it offers, of the demand for the items.

The sequel to this is the presentation of such facts to the producers, distributors and consumers to enable them to weed out the dead wood.

"Experience has shown that 50 per cent of the demand in the average industry is for but 20 per cent of the variety of goods.

In other words, the manufacturer produces 50 per cent of the variety of goods and he passes the extra cost on to the majority consumers.

"The co-operative method of bringing producers, distributors and consumers to act jointly for the interest of all is the common sense way of correcting this condition. Already it has saved millions of dollars, and, under a competitive system, such saving must be passed on to the ultimate consumer.

"To illustrate how the system has worked take the case of a man building a house. Where there were formerly 29 variations in size of face brick and 14 sizes of common brick there is now but one size of each.

"Hollow building tile was formerly made in 29 sizes. Now it is made in 19. Metal lath was formerly sold in 125 sizes. Now there are only 24.

"The variety of items of yard lumber has been reduced 60 per cent, and the home builder now knows for the first time how thick a standard size board is.

"These reductions are of immediate influence on the work of the architect and the contractor as well as the building material dealer.

"These examples are but a few of many. "More and more of the firms which have had a part in the firm of waste reduction are emphasizing it in their advertising.

"And as the movement goes on it will become more and more apparent to the consumer that simplification can help to make his own life lighter by using his purchasing power to induce goods which have been simplified.

"When he does that, a great part of the waste will be removed, and the waste menace will be stayed in its tracks.

SAVED IN VAN. "Woman said the devoted young man, 'is a disappointment and a fraud'.

"Indeed," said his friend. "Yes, I saved up all my tobacco money and lived on potatoes for two weeks to take Mrs. True-love to the opera and a party. Then I asked her to marry me and she said she was afraid I was too extravagant to make a good husband," woman told Bits.

CONSERVATISM IS EVIDENT IN IRON CIRCLES

Production for Week Shows No Material Change

Cleveland, Ohio, Mar. 19.—Iron Trade Review today says:

While the iron and steel market is showing more activity in various quarters, the conservatism of buyers remains strongly in evidence.

Contracting for material for second quarters being held off with unusual persistence considering the near approach of that period.

Whether this is due to overbuying in many cases for the first quarter or caution in anticipating business development, may not be readily determined.

Indications are that both factors are influencing individual action. The surprising thing about the situation is that the volume of specifications added to current new business is sufficient from week to week to maintain the industry on an operating basis of $5 to 60 per cent.

Production this week shows a slight but no material change. The automobile industry continues to gather momentum. A general increase of operations at Detroit is under way and it is expected production in April will be at or near capacity.

While a spirit of reluctance to buy material ahead still rules, some builders are showing signs of breaking away from the policy.

New inquiries for freight cars this week total 3200, principally among which is 1500 cars for the Missouri, Kansas & Texas.

The week's awards were about 1300 cars scattering in addition to 750 cars placed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad bridge inquiries and awards are more numerous, calling for about 10,000 tons.

Increase penetration of European iron and steel into the American market may bring about an early appeal to the government from producers and jobbers for increased protective duties under the flexible provisions of the tariff act.

Competition from abroad has been especially active along the coasts, in the central west and in the southwest and is increasing. Structural steel from the continent has been barged as far north as Omaha and reinforcing bars were shipped this week at Milwaukee $2.20 per ton under domestic rail steel bars and $16.20 under domestic billet bars.

On 16,000 tons of cast iron pipe for Oneida, N. Y., on which French pipe was low, new bids are to be taken.

Restoration of the 1917 wage scale in the Connellsville region by various independent operators, effective this week, has helped to clarify the disturbed coke situation. This reduction in effect is the nullification of an advance of 50 per cent posted December 16 last which proved to have overreached the market.

The Steel Corporation subsidiary, the H. C. Frick Coke Co, has made no change in its schedule and continues on the higher basis.

For the third consecutive week Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products shows a decline. This week it rests at $40.63 against a high of $41.22 one month ago.

NO SPEED LAW THERE. A guest in a small restaurant cried angrily to the only waiter in the place: "Hi, waiter, how much longer must I wait?"

"Pardon me, sir, but I have only been here two days!"

"Oh, indeed, then I must have given my order to your predecessor!"—Fliegende Blaetter. Munich.

BORAH REALLY GUIDES SENATE

'Liberal' Republicans Still Hold Balance of Power.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Mar. 19.—The United States senate departs with feeling that it has disposed of controversy and maintained its rights.

The unanimous vote on the confirmation of John G. Sargent by the attorney general was intended to show President Coolidge that no motive of partisanship lay behind the recent rejection of Mr. Warren's name. The senate accepted without question Mr. Coolidge's appointment of his close personal friend. That has been no custom in the past in almost every case. The Warren case simply involved objections based upon sugar trust connections and evidence was largely in Mr. Warren's own letters as read into the record of congressional investigating committees.

Unexpected Situation.

The senators who fought Warren would have confirmed almost anyone else without question. They hesitated about Harlan F. Stone for a little while only but affirmed him for the supreme bench almost by an unanimous vote for there was nothing objectionable in his record; in fact his independence of politics and his willingness to go before the senate judiciary committee won him friends.

Borah Real Leader.

It means that the real leader of the senate is William E. Borah of Idaho and that men like Norris of Nebraska, Hiram Johnson of California, Howell of Nebraska, Couzens of Michigan, McMassey and Norbeck of South Dakota, elected on the regular republican ticket by large majorities will consider themselves not far from the men who were disciplined—Brookhart of Iowa, Ladd and Frazer of North Dakota, and LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The foregoing group would not be powerful without the aid of a few democrats but they have a majority of persuading the democrats to go along with them. There are conservative democrats who do not like the coalition idea but a majority of the democrats consider themselves as liberal as a republican group mentioned above which is rebelling against regular republican leadership.

Liberals in Control.

In a word the liberals or progressives as they style themselves control the United States senate. And President Coolidge will have to reckon with that combination or somehow win its confidence before he can secure any legislative program during the next two years.

"We have never solicited the aid of the republican insurgents," said Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader, in reply to this correspondent. "People have a mistaken idea about our own course, making out a record and if others see fit to vote with us because we are right, that is their responsibility."

Mr. Robinson has steered a careful course through the Warren controversy. Aided by the powerful attacks of Senator Leah of Montana and Senator Ed of Missouri, the bombardment by the democrats on one side and the Borah group on the other hand has won another parliamentary victory in the senate.

Warren Capable Diplomat.

The anti-Warren senators insisted on the testimony produced in the sugar hearings and that Mr. Coolidge would never have made the nomination for secretary general if he had read the record. Had he named Mr. Warren for secretary of state or were to do so when a vacancy occurs, Mr. Warren would be confirmed as there is nothing personal against him but an objection to his views on trusts.

able Teachers to Suspend Activities

The Bible school teachers training class which has been meeting Monday evening in the library at 7:15 o'clock, will not meet Monday night. The class will meet the remainder of March or during the month of April. The attendance at the class on Monday night has been very good and a great deal of interest has been shown on the part of the teachers attending.
