

TORNADO VICTIMS REBUILDING HOMES

WILL REPLACE RAILWAY SHOPS, OFFICIALS SAY

Brown Shoe Plant Also To Be Put Back At Murphysboro.

(By The Associated Press.) Murphysboro, Ill., Mar. 23.—While hearses and ambulances treaded their way through streets with the dead and injured, the wrecked towns of southern Illinois resounded today to the noise of carpenters' hammers and saws as they started repairing or rebuilding hundreds of homes, business places and industries wrecked by Wednesday's tornado.

M. & O. To Rebuild. The whole city was jubilant today over an announcement late today by Vice President Norris of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad that the railroad shops here employing 1,400 men and which were destroyed with an estimated loss of $1,500,000 will be replaced.

Added to this was the statement of the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis, one of the city's largest factories, that it will build a larger plant than was destroyed by the wind and fire.

City Has 201 Dead. Murphysboro's dead increased by one during the day, bringing the total to 201, with hundreds in hospitals. It is difficult for one to make a trip through the tornado district and not believe many more casualties are in the ruins. Great piles of wood and brick which were once homes have never been disturbed. There is no complete list of the missing. In the part burned over by fire there will probably never be any accurate accounting of how many perished.

Insurance Men Com. Insurance adjustment bureaus and insurance companies' representatives today invaded the city in large numbers. Bankers and insurance companies' representatives estimated the loss at upward of $4,000,000, including the $1,500,000 damage to the Mobile & Ohio shops. It was estimated that only about 15 or 20 per cent of the wrecked buildings were actually covered by tornado insurance, building and loan companies require their clients to carry tornado insurance and the company said $700,000 was carried in this manner.

The fact that part of the area was burned over after the tornado will likely raise a controversy, insurance company representatives indicated today. The question (Continued On Page Two.)

Hartford Folks Await Chapman Murder Trial

(By The Associated Press.) Hartford, Conn., Mar. 23.—Gerald Chapman, soft-spoken, deft-witted, "Count of Gramercy Square," will go on trial for his life tomorrow. The most notorious and daring of the country's criminals—some of his patient and numerous police pursuers call him the twentieth century edition of Jesse James—is to appear in Hartford county superior court to answer to an indictment for the murder last October of Patrolman James J. Skelly, of New Britain.

Hartford All Excited. The city of Hartford never has had such a sense of suppressed excitement since the city's foundation in 1636. For days now, "the Chapman trial" has been the morning, noon and night conversation of the entire city and of most of the nearby staid county. Consequently, the trial of the glamorous "sniper bandit" is to be very much in the nature of a show. Thousands want to attend, but hundreds may be seated in the trial court room over which the trial judge, Newell Jennings, presides. A large force of police will be present to handle the crowds.

To Have Extra Guards. The police have a wholesome respect for Chapman's well advertised past of mild banditry, safe cracking, prison breaks, and quick work with a gun. He will be brought from jail shackled, with two conspicuously armed guards on either side of him in a seated car. Another car bearing as conspicuously armed guards will trail the prisoner's motor closely. At the court building, Chapman will enter between two lines of police.

Chapman is the most closely guarded man in criminal history in these parts. Since his arrest in Muncie, Ind., in January, his return to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta and his subsequent return to the Connecticut authorities, the spectacular bandit never has been cut of sight of his keepers. Chapman is reported to have

Prison For Man Who Kicked Cop

(By The Associated Press.) Windsor, Ont., Mar. 23.—Because he kicked a policeman's shins, Harry Richards, 36, today was sentenced to from three months to two years less a day in the Ontario reformatory at Guelph by Magistrate W. E. Gandy of Windsor.

Constable H. H. Maracle testified Richards kicked and struck him several times when the constable attempted to arrest him for being drunk and disorderly. In addition to the sentence, Richards was fined $10 and costs for being drunk in a public place.

HOUSE PASSES MING MEASURE

Bill Would Limit Season for Partridge Hunting to 6 Days.

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Mar. 23.—The Ming bill, proposing marked changes in the game and fish laws, was passed by the house today with scarcely a dissenting vote. It now goes to the senate.

Among the more striking amendments to the existing laws were provisions which would shorten the partridge season to six days, from October 25 to 30, inclusive, would limit the bag to five a day and ten in possession, would make the duck season from October 1 to December 30 and cut the bag to fifteen a day or 30 in possession, would prohibit the use of a gun firing more than two shots, would open the season on pheasants to allow hunters to take two males in one day with a limit of four for the season and would make it illegal to carry a loaded gun in an automobile.

Farm Production Increases In 1924

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Mar. 23.—American farms produced $12,404,000,000 in 1924 according to estimates prepared by the department of agriculture indicating an increase of $56,000,000 over 1923. The department attributed the increase to higher market values for certain crops as contrasted with reduced values of livestock products.

A decrease of $66,000,000 in the farm value of dairy products in 1924 was noted by the survey, the gross value for the year being $2,586,148,000.

ADMIRAL EASY FOR A. B. FALL, SAYS ROBERTS

Robison Was Sincere in His Efforts to Help Navy, He Explains.

(By The Associated Press.) Cheyenne, Wyo., Mar. 23.—The sincerity of Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, chief of navy engineering, in fostering for the navy, the leasing of Teapot Dome was vindicated today by Owen J. Roberts, attorney for the government in his argument before Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy in the Teapot Dome lease annulment case.

"Robison wanted to get off and storage because of his navy ideas," said Mr. Roberts. "But he did not want to go to congress for them. So he planned the leasing of Teapot Dome and the use of royalty oil accruing to the government as a medium of exchange with which to build great storage tanks and acquire a large supply of fuel oil as a part of his war plans for the navy."

Admiral Easy, He Says. Referring at another point to Robison's connection with the case, Mr. Roberts said that the admiral was a "very pliant person in the hands of Albert B. Fall," then secretary of the interior, who explained the lease to Harry F. Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Company.

"Drainage of Teapot Dome," said Mr. Roberts, "was not the reason for the lease, Robison, as chief engineer of the navy, thought that the fighting branch of the government ought to have great oil stores. His egotism in handling the project for the navy made him a very pliant person in the hands of Fall. He didn't care a rap who got the lease or how it was made, as long as he obtained for the navy enough royalty oil to carry out his plan and without going to congress for it."

PROPOSED BOND TAXES OPPOSED

Bankers and Holders of Tax Exempt Securities Beseech Senate.

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Mar. 23.—Telegrams from all parts of the state poured into the senate chambers Monday from bankers and holders of tax exempt securities opposing the Martin and Truettner bills providing for the imposition of a specific tax on domestic and foreign securities. The two bills were up for consideration in the committee of whole tonight.

Discard Search Clause. Both measures have met strong opposition since their introduction, have twice been in committee, and now appear on the floor of the senate with a number of amendments which radically cut down their effectiveness.

The proposed tax on domestic bonds was reduced from three to two mills and the tax on foreign securities from five to three mills. Provisions in both measures allowing the state tax commission to search bank records, were dropped.

To Relieve Real Estate. Plans for the amendment of the bills to make them retroactive in effect, were dropped upon the insistence of the opposition that such action would violate an agreement between the state and investors, that certain bonds would be tax exempt.

Both measures were intended to relieve the burden of taxation on real property.

Appeal For Funds Here To Aid Tornado Victims

In order that the people of Escanaba may be permitted to join with the nation in raising funds for the tornado sufferers of Illinois, Missouri and Tennessee, where one of the greatest tragedies in the history of the United States was enacted last week, members of the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday launched a movement for the raising of a public fund here.

Every member of the club volunteered yesterday to donate to the fund, subscriptions for which will be received at all of the banks in the city.

All funds raised in Escanaba will be turned over to the American Red Cross, as quickly as possible, for use in caring for the suffering and homeless victims in the stricken area.

According to the appeal issued by the Red Cross thousands are homeless and without funds. In addition hundreds have lost fathers, mothers, sons and daughters, who were snatched from peaceful homes without warning. Cities, towns and village, that a week ago presented pictures of undisturbed contentment, were converted into shambles of blood and today are completely razed. The immediate needs of the tornado sufferers have been cared for by home people and home states. The need for further aid becomes national in its scope. Escanaba should not be found wanting in this great effort.

NO RELEASE YET ON BAIL

Shepherd Back To Cell; Hearing To Be Continued Today.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Mar. 23.—William Darling Shepherd, attorney, indicted on a charge of murdering his foster son, the "millionaire orphan," William X. McClintock, tonight again crossed the "Bridges of Sighs" from the criminal building to the jail from which he is seeking release on bail. The hearings on bail opened Saturday and will be resumed tomorrow.

Chief Justice Harry Olson of the municipal court referred to by defense counsel as "self-styled attorney for the dead," repeatedly consulted and apparently prompted State Attorney Robert E. Crowe in charge of the prosecution, Judge Jacob Hopkins refused to permit Justice Olson to testify today. The latter initiated the investigation into the death of young McClintock.

Gorman Testifies. Assistant State Attorney George Gorman, called to the stand by defense counsel, admitted he had examined Shepherd in connection with the McClintock death and had released him.

On cross examination Mr. Gorman said earnestly, leaning forward in his chair: "If I had heard half the testimony that developed later I would have held Mr. Shepherd, and I would not have waited for him to come to my office, but would have taken him to New Mexico after him."

"I'll still accept you for the jury," said defense counsel, William Scott Stewart.

Charged Name for Wife. A. F. Reichman, former co-guardian of McClintock, repeated testimony given at the coroner's inquest, that the Northern Trust Company of which he is counsel, paid out of McClintock's patrimony to the Shepherds, $700 a month for maintenance of the McClintock home during the years that William was in their custody.

J. P. Marchand, who said he was a "salesman" for the school conducted by C. C. Falman who confessed to telling Shepherd how to inoculate his foster son with typhoid germs, admitted on the stand that his real name was Patrick J. McMahon. "My wife didn't like that name," he explained.

England Pays Tribute To Late Lord Curzon

London, Mar. 23.—High tribute to the late Marquis Curzon's genius as a statesman, his personality and his devotion to his country's interests were paid in the house of commons today when Prime Minister Baldwin, Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the opposition and Sir John Simon, speaking in the absence of David Lloyd George, eulogized the dead conservative statesman.

Baldwin's Eulogy. Prime Minister Baldwin said the late leader of the house of lords was "one of the greatest of men and one of the most vivid of personalities." Mr. MacDonald declared that Lord Curzon was a "man who never stinted himself in doing his duty to the public, a fine colleague, a fine spirit and a man with a noble ideal of public service."

Sir John Simon, in asking the liberals to associate themselves with the tributes, said that Lord Curzon was distinguished by two qualities, the devoted diligence with which he carried out his duties, and his splendid example of high-minded, disinterested public spirit.

EUROPE PLANS ANOTHER MEET FOR SECURITY

Propose To Study Political Problems; Desire American Support.

(By The Associated Press.) London, Mar. 23.—Another European conference, similar to that held in London last summer to put the Dawes reparations plan into effect, but this year looking to ward European political reconstruction rather than economic rehabilitation is the subject of negotiations between the British and French foreign offices.

Final plans for such a conference, which would be held in August, were revealed today as a result of much weekend newspaper speculation, which intimated that new subjects of disagreement had arisen between London and Paris on the subject of European securities.

Security Pact Desired. Realization by both France and England of the necessity for finding a common basis upon which to build a new European security pact to replace the abandoned Geneva protocol, is responsible for the move toward the gathering of statesmen in the British capital. The absence of the strong support of the United States, which was the greatest factor in the London conference in 1921, will be felt greatly by the British, but it is hoped, would not prevent carrying out the plans now being considered.

In abating fears of new differences between France and Great Britain, it was authoritatively asserted that the discussions relating to the proposed conference have as yet reached only a very preliminary stage. The attitude of both governments seems to be, however, that some definite program for European security must be ready for presentation to the league of nations assembly in September. Moreover, it is felt that whatever is offered as a solution of the security problem must be satisfactory to all the principal countries, unless Anglo-French prestige in directing

GIRLS TESTIFY IN AMES TRIAL

Paw Paw Man Threatened to 'Get Home-Breaker,' Waitresses Say.

(By The Associated Press.) Paw Paw, Mich., Mar. 23.—Two girl waitresses in the Reed Hotel cafeteria at South Haven, testified here today in the trial of Joseph A. Ames, 37, South Haven hoodlum operator, charged with the murder of Myron O. Cleveland, 69, a clerk in a South Haven drygoods store, had frequently in their presence remarked that he was going to get the man that broke up his family.

Tell Of Threats. The two girls, Miss Perry Puttkamer, 29, and Mrs. Vernon Holmes, both told of a number of conversations which had occurred between them and Ames in which he had told them he was going to get some one and that he was going to use a knife.

Cleveland was found dead in a street at South Haven on the evening of February 12, of this year. His head had been beaten by a blunt instrument and he had been stabbed in several places. Ames was arrested that night and charged with the murder.

Surprise Witness. Considerable speculation has attached itself to a mysterious man, concerning which defense Attorney H. H. Adams so often questioned the prosecution witnesses.

Only a faint hint of what it all may mean was contained in the opening statement of Prosecutor James E. Chandler. Mr. Chandler told the jury that he anticipated the defense would attempt to establish that Ames himself was not the perpetrator of the murder but that in reality, he had conspired with Lon Sanderson of Kentucky, whose name Ames wife bore before wedding him in 1915 and that Sanderson had really committed the murder.

Portland Man Has Kin Dead in Storm

(By The Associated Press.) He was a resident of that place and no word has been received by his brother.

Jazz-Gin Girl Goes On Trial

(By The Associated Press.) San Francisco, Mar. 23.—Sixteen-year-old Dorothy L. Ringwood (last name changed) today was on trial for her admitted act of shooting her mother last January 15 after a quarrel over the girl's pursuit of a glittering night life.

Though the girl had confessed that she caused her mother's death, she had pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder, and the trial began with the indicated issue of whether she was insane at the time. The first day passed with the work of selecting a jury incomplete and the probability that it would require another day.

EXPLOSION IS FATAL TO SIX

Kentucky Man and His 5 Children Killed by Nitro-Glycerine.

(By The Associated Press.) Monticello, Ky., Mar. 23.—Peter Franklin, 55, and his five young children, Ira, Charlie, Cecil, Beatrice and Iler were killed at Frazer in Wayne county yesterday afternoon when a can of nitro-glycerine exploded in the yard of the Franklin home. It became known here today, that the family lived close to a nitro-glycerine plant and the children while playing picked up a can of the explosive and took it to their home. One of the children was beating on the can later in the day while the other children and the father were standing nearby when the explosion occurred.

The victims were blown to bits. The few fragments of their bodies which were found were buried in two graves today. The mother and two other children, who were not at home when the tragedy happened, survive.

Governor Refuses To Extradite Man

(By The Associated Press.) Ionia, Mich., Mar. 23.—Governor Alex Groesbeck today denied a request of the governor of Indiana for the extradition of Albert O. Rogers of this city, on a warrant for passing worthless checks by the Terre Haute, Ind. police. The governor refused to allow the extradition on the ground that an attempt was being made to collect a private debt by means of criminal prosecution.

Many Freaks Of Storm Seen In Murphysboro

(By The Associated Press.) Murphysboro, Ill., Mar. 23.—A trip through the tornado-swept section of Murphysboro today revealed the following features:

A woman whose home was reduced to a mass of splinters, but who pointed with pride to 35 chickens who escaped the wind by virtue of the fact that they rested in a box under the kitchen stove.

Clock Keeps Ticking. An alarm clock in the debris of a ruined home which ticked merrily on when shaken.

Cemetery with more than half of its tombstones broken to fragments by the tornado and a tree uprooted and all but exposing a grave.

A two-story brick house reduced to dust except for one wall which was left standing, in a window of which lace curtains fluttered.

A family of six living in one room of a two-story frame building which the tornado left untouched.

Nurses and doctors who went without rest for 72 hours after the disaster.

Auto Engine Lonely. An inch board three inches wide and two feet long driven through the side of a stucco house by the wind.

Rooting wrapped tight about trees by the tornado.

An automobile engine lying in the street with the rest of the car nowhere in sight.

HAMMERS RING WHILE MEDICS FIGHT DISEASE

Property Loss Estimated at 18 Millions; More Nurses Arrive.

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Mar. 23.—Warm sunny weather today prevailed over the area in southern Illinois and Indiana, devastated by tornadoes last Wednesday, and relief work progressed rapidly along with the burial of the dead and the housing of the homeless. Rebuilding saws and hammers glinted in the sunshine while doctors and nurses worked hard to save the lives of the injured.

Death Toll at 810

Re-checking of the casualty list with additional deaths from wounds raised the total dead in some places and reduced the figures in others, leaving the toll tonight at 810 without including a score supposed to have been interred at Murphysboro, where 150 blocks were blown down and the debris north burned. Red Cross workers also announced that the 2529 listed as hurt probably did not include hundreds of persons who had been injured, but who had failed to report the fact owing to the excitement and necessity of aiding others more severely injured.

Illinois Loss 12 Millions. The total property loss has not been compiled, but will likely be more than $12,000,000 in Illinois alone. With some $3,000,000 in Indiana and about a million each in Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky, the property loss is likely to exceed $18,000,000. This figure is more serious than its size indicates, for most of the loss was sustained by families of moderate circumstances and meant the wiping out of all tangible possessions.

Relief work not only proceeded with alacrity in the affected regions but collection of funds to aid the sufferers went on at an amazing pace.

More Nurses Arrive. With the arrival of more nurses in the storm area today, it was learned that many persons were probably fatally hurt. Several died of wounds today. Danger of epidemics has probably been avoided, doctors said by prompt use of antiseptics, so far as the airplane.

NILES RIOTERS PLEAD GUILTY

Warren, O., Mar. 23.—One man was convicted and three pleaded guilty today in cases growing out of the Klan-anti-Klan rioting in Niles last November 1.

Paul Burkhardt was convicted by a jury of carrying concealed weapons. Sentence was deferred pending an appeal.

George Skaggs, Robert McIntyre and Edward Cronch pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and were fined $500 and costs each. Judge Thomas suspended $250 of each fine on good behavior.

Fifty-seven others were indicted by a special grand jury and trials will continue tomorrow.

All except McIntyre are said to have been members of the Klan. Cronch was a member of the Ohio state police, an organization formed under an old charter.

Mountain Moves In Colorado, And Mahomet Is Dead

Meeker, Colo., Mar. 23.—"Moving Mountain," a chocolate drop-shaped mountain on the road between Rifle and Meeker, shifted again and Meeker was temporarily cut off from outside traffic today.

The moving began Sunday night and by today the mountain had shifted seventy-five yards. About a quarter of a mile of the road was disturbed and traffic was blocked. The movement elevated the road about 11 feet.

The entire dome-like mass is moving toward the west, according to reports. "Moving Mountain" has shifted several times since the first shift in 1909. Traffic between Rifle and Meeker cannot be resumed until the shifting stops. No cause for the movement has been assigned.

chlorination of water supplies and other measures.

Many of the injured have been taken during the last 48 hours to larger cities, where they could receive better treatment.

Inspection of partly rehabilitated houses will be made at times, so that those who have tried to patch up partly demolished homes will not be victims of unsanitary conditions.

Registration of the graves of those who perished in the tornado has been carried out with such care that the final resting place of each victim may be definitely located.

BEARS HAMMER STOCK PRICES

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Mar. 23.—Stock prices crumbled two to nearly eleven points today under the incessant hammering of bear traders and the liquidation of long accounts by speculators, whose margins had been impaired, and investors, who had become frightened by the recent drastic downward readjustment of quoted values. Both the rail and industrial averages sank to new low levels.

The day's sales ran well over one and one-half million shares. In the absence of any definite news developments to account for the decline, Wall Street was inclined to describe it as a further correction of the markets so-called technical position which had become weakened by the speculative excesses committed in the first two months of the year. With money rates relatively low, bank clearings and freight car loadings at record high levels, and the steel industry in an apparently healthy condition, basic conditions are generally believed to be sound.

MELLON AIDE RESIGNS POST

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Mar. 23.—Elliot Wadsworth of Boston, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of foreign loans and railroad advances, has submitted his resignation but Secretary Mellon has not yet acted upon it.

Except that he desired to return to private life, friends and officials here tonight said, they were unable to give any idea of Mr. Wadsworth's plans. Administration leaders, meanwhile, had taken no steps looking toward selection of a successor.

Mr. Wadsworth represented the United States government at Paris in 1922, for the settlement of the cost of the American army of occupation and later took a prominent part in the discussions in London over the details of the American debt funding settlement.

Until 1916 he was a member of the engineering firm of Stone & Webster of Boston and during the war he served as vice-chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross. He was awarded a Distinguished Service Medal for his Red Cross work and also was made a commander of the Order of the Crown by the Belgian government.

JUDICIARY AS BAKER THEME

Interesting Address Delivered Before Rotary Club

The important part played by the judiciary in the government, at machinery created by the Constitution of the United States, was most interestingly explained in an address before members of the Escanaba Rotary Club at their regular weekly meeting yesterday by Atty. James C. Baker. Atty. Baker insisted that it was confidence in the judiciary that established cohesion in governmental affairs and at the same time served as the instrument for separating the duties and responsibilities of the branches of government.

At Baker's address was the third in a series of five talks based upon the Constitution, arranged by members of the club at the direction of the program committee.

Next Monday will be "Safety First" day for the Rotary Club, with City Manager Fred R. Hart in charge of the program, when emphasis will be placed upon the movement inaugurated by the city government to reduce the number of street accidents in Escanaba.

PUZZLE CRAZE STRIKES EUROPE

Italy Last Country To Withstand Craze "Falls For It".

Rome—The crossword puzzle craze has reached Italy in its triumphal march from the United States. The engaging pastime which has made dictionaries best sellers, first took Great Britain by storm and then crossed into France where it overcame the prejudices of thousands of citizens of that nation which, more than any other in Europe, had been famous for its philological insularity and for its passionate insistence upon the purity of its national expressiveness.

Now, the fad, disguised as "L'Indovinello delle Parole Incrociate" has crossed the Alps into Italy and its proponents predict confidently that nothing can stop its advance into the heart of central Europe and even into the geographical crazy quilt of the Balkans where languages and dialects abound.

Foreigners in Italy had for some time interested and disturbed the natives by their peculiar antics and gesticulations in front of black and white squares in foreign newspapers, but it remained for a weekly newspaper to explain the mystery and incidentally to introduce the cult.

That the "parole incrociate" is but a distant relative of our own crossword puzzle is immediately apparent after a literal translation of some of the explanatory definitions. Here are several furnished with the second puzzle: In water I am strong and gay; smiles at everyone but rarely at him who touches it; it is pure; tolls when death appears; an immense adjective; always sacred; beyond the octave; renowned for works of genius; found in Italian politics; perceptible; more luminous am I and more impalpable.

In this puzzle there are eight right and left words and 13 up and down. No word has less than four letters and eight have eight letters each. The newspapers announces it will publish a puzzle each week and offers 32,000 lire in prizes for accurate solutions during the year.

One large Roman daily has already announced its intention to publish the puzzles, and other newspapers are said to be preparing to follow suit.

BIG FAIR DEFICIT London.—Parliament has been asked to appropriate more than $5,000,000 to make up the deficit of the big British Empire Exhibition at Wembley last year, and to continue it this year. The deficit is almost double that amount, but much of it has been made up by private individuals.

Can You Qualify as "Good Driver" Under These Rules?

Are you a good automobile driver?

You may think you are, but to qualify the following tests must be passed, according to experts of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

A really first class driver is known by:

- His skillful steering. His ease of handling. His thoughtfulness of pedestrians. His properly adjusted steering apparatus. His strict obedience to every traffic regulation. His extensive and intelligent use of arm signals. His use of the brakes before he gets to the curve. His protection of his motor: his use of second and first speeds. His alternate use of foot and hand brakes on long grades and in emergencies. His respect for railway crossings: he stops, looks, and shifts gear before he is actually on the tracks. It is easy to make money when you don't need it. The same is true of making love.

CUPID WINNER OVER YALE U.

C. A. Milstead Would Rather Leave U. Than Give Up Wife-to-be.

BY GENE COHN NEA Service Writer New Haven, Conn.—Says F. S. Jones, dean of Yale University: "Marriage is too distracting to a student. That, and the fact that the university is expected to act as parents pro tem to the students, are reasons why marriage is taboo at Yale."

Says Century Allen Milstead, famed Yale football star, who was suspended for getting married: "Marriage is not too distracting to a student. It brings a responsibility that makes for study and a desire to make good. It keeps a fellow from chasing around and treating lightly his educational chances. We've all known college students to whom marriage might have given stability instead of trifling. I've engaged in both marriage and athletics and if the question of distraction is to be argued, I should say that there's something to be said about the distraction of athletics."

And there you have the elements of a debate that has spread from the Yale campus to half the colleges of America, following the recent love game in which Milstead tackled Don Cupid but was declared off-side by the faculty committee and penalized by suspension.

In and about the campus of "Old Eli" there has been little effort to conceal partisanship and animosity. Undergraduate and faculty sympathies have been toward Milstead. Many have been asking why his hands should be outlawed from the classroom.

It is anticipated, however, that the Yale action will cause a kind of debate throughout the nation and that protests will come from many quarters.

The situation, it may be recalled, was this: Milstead, a junior student, was secretly married to Miss Mildred Bechtel, Milford, Conn., girl, engaged as secretary to a faculty department. One year after the marriage, the fact became known. There is a college ruling, adopted 60 years ago, that marriage of an undergraduate spells suspension or expulsion.

In the case of Milstead, it was arranged that, after suspension, he might be privately tutored and be allowed to take life examinations in the Law College. Milstead has been working his way through school. The tutoring increases his economic burden.

"During the year I was married, and it was unknown to the school, I did some of my best athletic work," protests Milstead. "And my standing as a student can speak for itself. I just can't figure out where the theory of distracting influences comes in."

But Dean Jones puts it this way: "The theory behind the ruling is that when a family sends a son to Yale it is presumed that the college will look after and protect that youth. What would you say, if you awoke some morning to learn that your student son had eloped with a chorus girl? If a marriage is contemplated, a student must come to us. It might be we would give our consent, but the rules generally frown on marriage, particularly secret ones. We also look upon marriage as a distracting and we want to almost any young man we would as an example. Our attitude is entirely protective."

Meanwhile Milstead is engaged in a battle with the school and is determined to show that his suspension is a mistake. He sometimes makes the best student.

FINLAND HAS TROUBLE WITH PROHIBITION

Helsingfors—Finland, like the United States, has its prohibition difficulties and as a consequence a meeting of representatives of the larger towns was held here recently to discuss means of averting some of the evil consequences of the prohibition law.

The principal speaker summed up the situation by saying that "in Finland everybody drinks except the president," whereas a few years ago Finland was one of the most sober countries in the world.

It was also declared that the well-organized smuggling traffic brought unlimited quantities of liquor to the most remote parts of the country, leading to increased drunkenness among both men and women. Even women and children, it was asserted, were taking to habitual drinking, and the moral standard was rapidly declining, resulting in increased criminality. It was decided to invite the authorities to take more stringent measures to enforce the law.

In Helsingfors some restaurants and clubs have been closed for offenses against the prohibition law.

Eskey Speakers Are Now Preparing for Annual Soo Debate

The Escanaba high school debating teams yesterday began preparations for the annual debate to be held on the night of April 3. In the four years of competition with the local city teams the local high has lost but one debate, and this year's orators are preparing to maintain this record. The Soo high teams always provide excellent opposition and an interesting battle is promised to a week from Friday. A good sized crowd is expected to turn out.

What was once the main street of Frankfort, Ill., reduced now to nothing but a pile of twisted debris and desolation, following the rain and death that visited the town during the terrific tornado of March 15.

FALLING ORE KILLS NEGRO

Dave Boone, 50 negro, lost his life about 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon while working at the Delta Chemical company plant when a pile of iron ore tumbled to the ground and fell upon him.

Boone was engaged as an overseer at the plant for the last three years.

The body was removed to the Alto Funeral home to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be held at the Alto chapel this afternoon with burial in Lakewood cemetery. The Rev. H. C. Skinner will officiate.

Surviving besides the widow being of 547 First Ave. South is the mother, Mrs. Jule Boone, of Oakwood, Ala.

Working Women Get Same Pay as Men in Sweden

Stockholm—Sweden's working women have secured an important victory through the official recognition by the government of the principle of equal pay for men and women in all employ of the state. The recognition appears in the form of a recommendation submitted to the riksdag by Minister of Finance Thorsson, along with the estimate for the next state budget.

In justifying his proposal Mr. Thorsson points out that the civil service law virtually gives women the same privileges and responsibilities as men, so far as the actual work is concerned, and it is only logical, therefore, that the salary of any citizen position should remain constant, whether the service is rendered by a man or a woman.

What makes the victory for the women more striking is the fact that the budget estimates in spite of the strictest scrutiny of every penny, will involve an estimated expenditure of $11,000,000 more than last year. This means that, although no new or increased taxes are contemplated, all hope for any early tax reduction must be abandoned.

Beach-Jones Engagement Opens at Delft with Clever Comedy.

Eloida Sitzer, charmingly vivacious as ever, is back in town. She brought Guy Beach, Dudley Miller and all the other folks of the Beach-Jones stock company with her. They're at the Delft. They're going to stay here for the rest of the week.

"The Mad Honeycomb" was the play which opened their engagement last night and it's difficult to imagine a vehicle better adapted to the task of showing off the talents of the whole family. It was described as a "labeled-animate farce," but the accent was on the final syllable farce. In other words, the evening was a merry one for a capacity audience.

Miss Sitzer, as the girl in a weird engagement, was at her very best. As was Dudley Miller, as the male member of the runaway team. Huell Adams as the father who headed off the engagement, and Mr. Beach as a constable who had been graduated from a school of leeching, was hilarious fun.

Frank Brock, as a crook who had returned, Forrest Smith and Ned Hicks, as two other to be who had returned, and as the boys, Mr. Adams, in a monologue also worked overtime.

The play tonight is a comedy. Brock, Smith and Hicks, as the boys, Mr. Adams, in a monologue also worked overtime.

(By The Associated Press.)
Lansing, Mar. 23.—Representative Greene today introduced a bill to provide for closer supervision over finance companies.

The bill would place finance corporations under the strict supervision of the secretary of state.

Senator Charles E. Greene, a Republican sponsor of the bill, said Monday additions to the measure.

The bill would give to the secretary of state strict supervision over finance companies and the power to prohibit operation of such corporations or their further operation.

Proposal to Name
Poet Laureates In
State Disapproved

(By The Associated Press.)
Lansing, Mar. 23.—The house today turned down a proposal that a poet laureate be appointed for Michigan.

After a long discussion the Howell bill, which would authorize the governor to name a poet laureate, was defeated.

Representative Howell promptly moved to save it from total eclipse, however, by securing a reconsideration of the adverse vote and tabling the bill for further consideration in a future session.

Representative Chester H. Howe, of Saginaw, introduced a bill which would prohibit the setting of nets in the vicinity of the entrance from Saginaw Bay into Wild Fowl Bay.

The purpose of the measure, according to its sponsor, is to provide an unobstructed channel for fish.

Representative Gus T. Hartman, of Houghton, put in a bill which would reduce the mortgage tax for persons burdened with land contracts.

They would be required to pay the specific tax of fifty cents per $100 only on the difference between the mortgage and the prior contract.

SAYS PEOPLE ARE EATING TOO MUCH

London.—People throughout the world would be able to keep their tempers and be employed with better dispositions generally if they did not eat so much.

In the opinion of Dr. Leonard Hill, an expert on dietetics who advocated fasting as an aid to health. The great virtue for most persons was in abstinence and even in fasting, Dr. Hill told members of the People's League of Health at the Medical Society here recently.

It was, he said, possible to feed people into strength; what was more to happen was that they would be so full that they would be unable to do their work.

Dr. Hill explained this had been proved by various experiments in the laboratory of the British Food and Drug Commission. He fed on various diets, green herbs, amounts of food, heavy meats, fish, and in fact, fasted for two days.

He said he was in favor of fasting a day on white bread or white rice, which was superior to the other kind, and because it would add 20 percent to the normal food supply of Great Britain, which he said should be taken by the doctor's order.

The reason, he said, was that he had found that a fast of one day would give a person more energy and vitality than a fast of two days.

Both defendants gave bonds of $500 each for their appearance at a preliminary examination in Judge C. D. McEwen's court this morning.

Seymour has a case involving alleged Volstead law violations, pending now in the federal courts.

Scenes From Southern Illinois And Indiana Towns After Tornado

Here is a view of the east side of Griffin, Ind., following the storm. Houses for miles were obliterated by the wind, and the houses leveled.

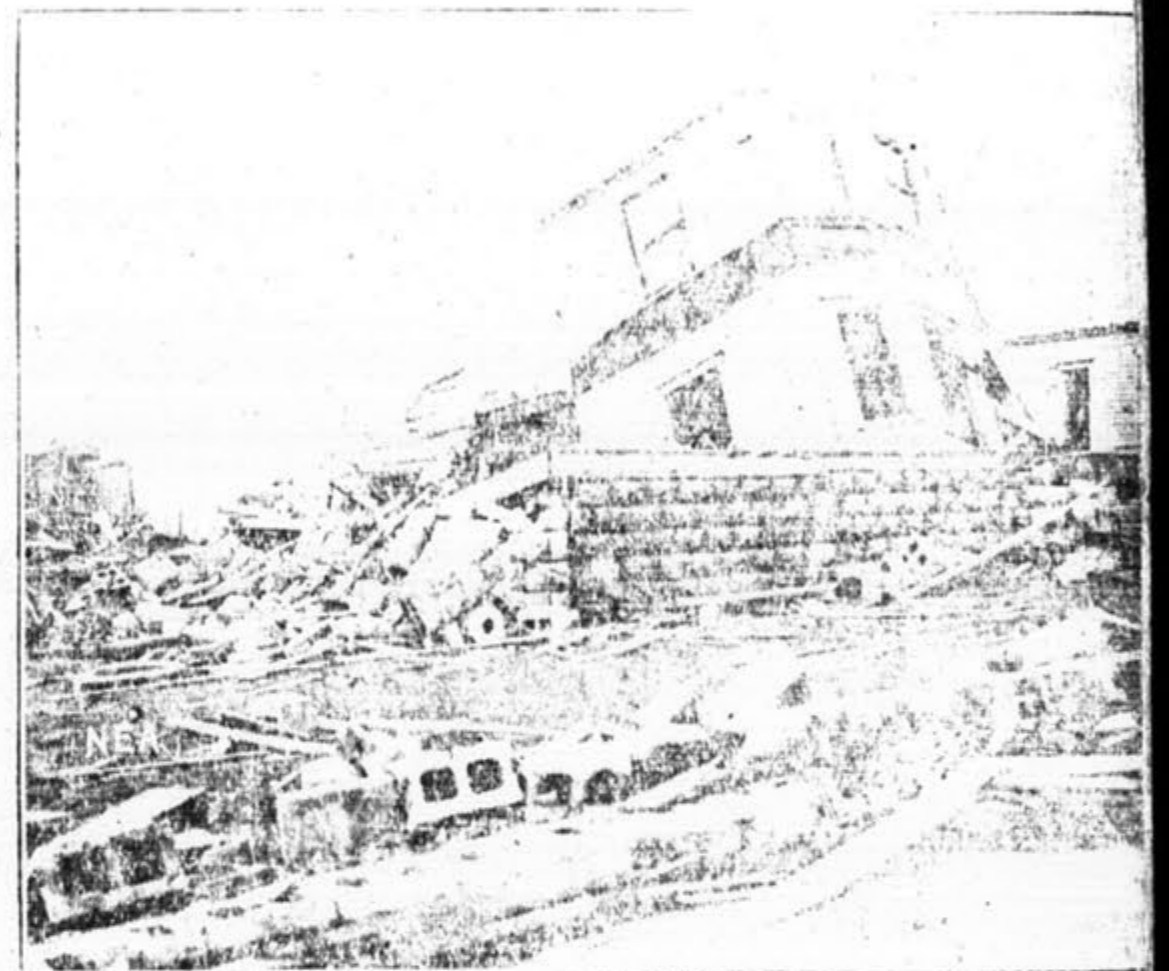

Just before the water struck, Varp's horse, Ill., with the rider, are situated in the street. The children were peacefully sleeping. With the wind, the horse was snatched from its place and cast in the front of the building. The horse, exposed to the view with its demolished furniture, is open to the view of the street.

This is the first picture to come from Annapolis, Mo., where the tornado of March 18 maddened its wind of death and havoc and then roaring through five States, whose death toll from the disaster totals approximately 1,000.

A little dog was the only survivor of a family at Griffin, Ind. The dog was sitting in the ruins when found by rescue squads.

The efforts of a lifetime were smashed to bits by the tornado which on March 18, 1925, left a trail of death and havoc in its wake. This picture shows Murphysboro, Ill., one of the towns hardest hit by the storm. The scene is a scene of the destruction. Note the debris strewn all over the street and the remains of the building.

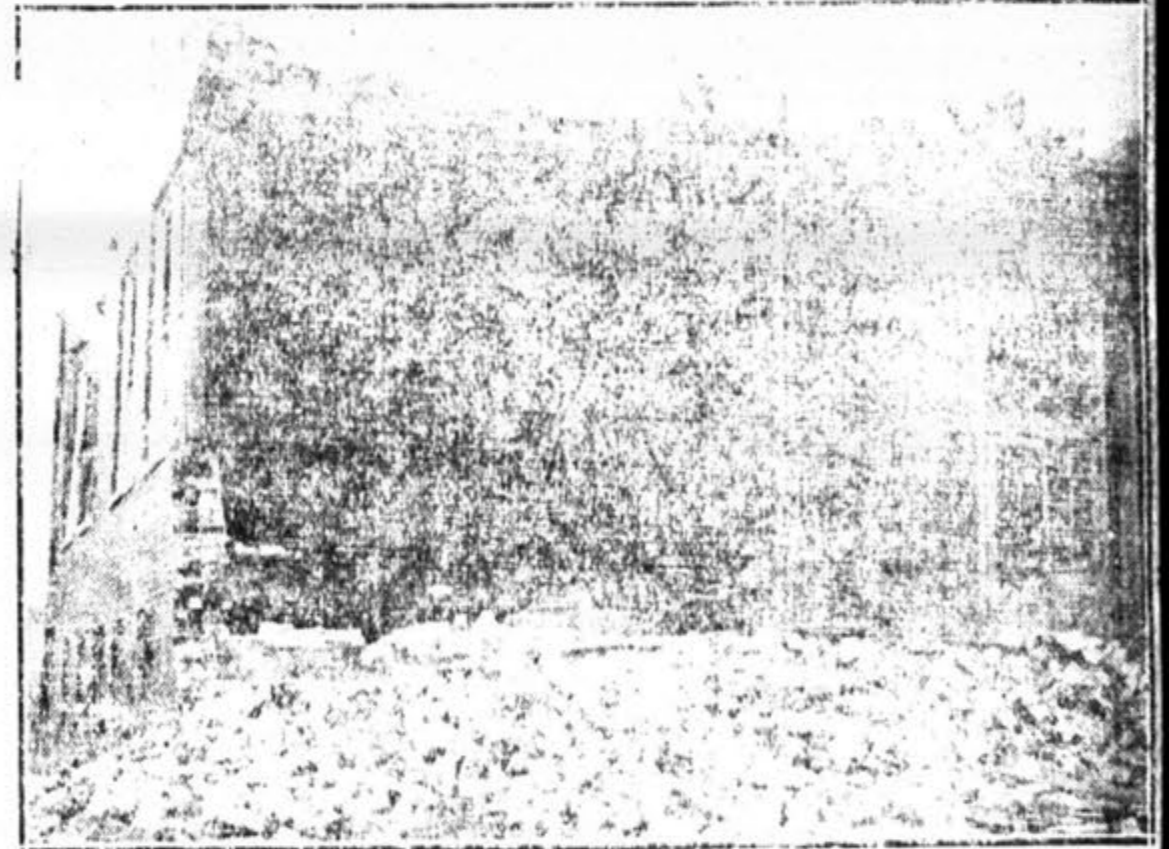

The storm played strange pranks. Here is a house turned on its side and lodged between two trees on the Main Street of Griffin. The glass windows were not broken.

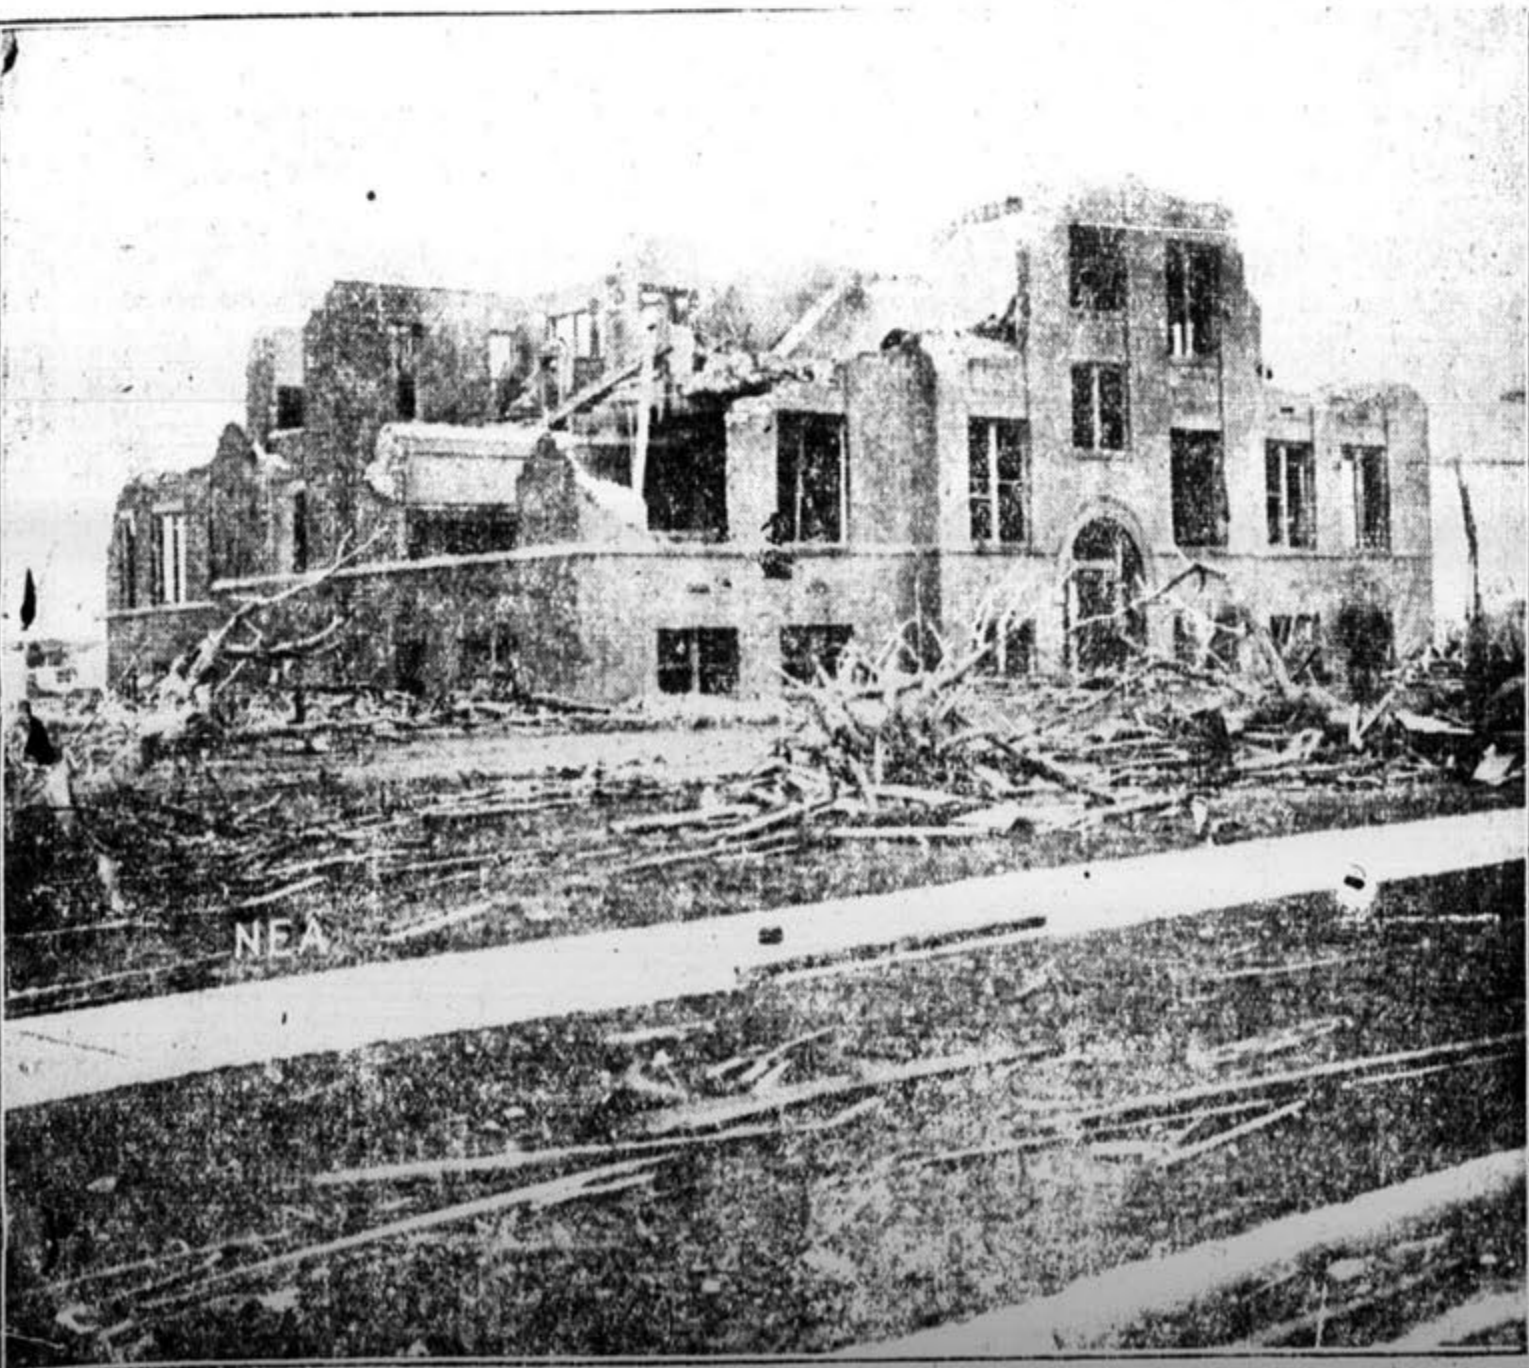

All that's left of the Koo-ma restaurant at Griffin, Ind., where six perished.

Lorine Majors, 11, of Griffin, Ind., saw her father and brother killed when their home was destroyed.

Pupils had just left the school at Griffin, Ind., when the storm tore down a wall of a room, leaning the room in.

Ruins of the Longfellow grade school at Murphysboro, Ill., where approximately 70 children were crushed to death when a tornado of unprecedented fury swept through the town, snatched off the roof of the building and piled the dead and injured in heaps.

69TH CONGRESS EXPECTED TO BE TROUBLEMAKER

Cal Sees Little Improvement Over 68th.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer, Washington.—From President Coolidge's standpoint the 69th Congress is going to be little, if any, improvement on the 68th. The Senate's defeat of his appointment of Charles B. Warren as attorney general proved it. Just as in the 68th Congress, a small group of "insurgents" will hold the balance of power between Republicans and Democrats in the 69th. Thus the bill will be able to hold up administration legislation, to pass a certain amount of anti-administration legislation, which will be vetoed, of course, but will be a nuisance nevertheless, and perhaps to keep a batch of embarrassing investigations in progress all the time.

This may not be true of the House, but it will be true of the Senate. The turning down of one of his cabinet appointments is about the hardest wall to land on a president. The law-making body which is capable of doing that is capable of doing anything. The Republican managers brought the situation on themselves.

It was their plan that the last election had given them a clear, dependable Senate majority. And so it did. True, there were four senators LaFollette, Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd—who were elected as Republicans when the Republicans couldn't count on.

Republicans Still Ahead. But even leaving them out of consideration, there still was a Republican majority. This majority, to be sure, included several moderate liberals, but not liberal enough to belong in the "insurgent" class. In all things reasonable they were prepared to "play the Republican game."

What's more, it was understood that the Democrats weren't going to cooperate, with the "insurgents" in blocking Republican plans. And then, with everything in perfectly Republican good shape, the managers persisted in reading LaFollette, Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd out of the lists.

The instantly consolidated practically all moderately liberal sentiment on the "insurgent" side. As indicated by the vote on the Warren appointment, Borah, Coughlin, Johnson, McMaster, Norbeck and Norris are definitely "off the reservation" in addition to LaFollette, Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd.

LaFollette was absent when the vote was taken. Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd undoubtedly would have voted against confirmation anyway. So probably, would Coughlin.

But it is most unlikely Borah, Johnson, McMaster, Norbeck and Norris would have done so but for the punishment inflicted on the LaFollette group.

Grimacing at Dawes. Moreover, the Democrats promptly lent their aid to Republican "insurgency." With the single exception of Overman they voted against confirmation, and even Overman went over to the anti-administration side before the fight ended.

There were 16 absentees, too, and if they had been present, the administration's defeat would have been heavier still. Of the 16, nine—Dill, Edwards, Gerry, Glass, Jones of New Mexico, Kendrick, Smith, Stephens and Underwood—are Democrats who almost certainly would have opposed confirmation.

Equally certain, so would LaFollette, and perhaps Howell of the moderately liberal Republican element. One grain of satisfaction even the Republican "regulars" got out of Warren's defeat—what happened to Charles G. Dawes.

None of them liked the way he lectured the Senate, in his inaugural speech on the importance of being "on the job" and expediting business. The thought that, since the day had to be lost, it was lost because the view president was asleep, instead of being on hand to break the initial tie vote, is comfort to many another sorely tried "regular" Republican senatorial soul.

SWEDEN SHOWS GOOD BUSINESS

Stockholm—Healthful stability of Swedish economic conditions in general, contrasted with the baneful effect of the disproportion between industrial wages and market conditions, are the features of the fourth official quarterly report of the Royal Board of Trade.

The balancing of accounts for the fiscal year 1923-24 shows a budget surplus of $11,041,000, the principal source of this excess revenue being the import duties and the earnings of various state enterprises, such as the state railways. The total foreign trade is increasing rapidly, with the exports gaining faster than the imports.

The Swedish iron and steel industry had a prosperous year. Grängsberg, the principal mining company, declared a dividend of 10 percent for 1924, an increase of 5 percent over the year before. The iron and steel and machine industries are depressed, owing to the fact that the prices obtained in the market scarcely cover the cost of production.

A process of wage readjustment is now going on, which, it is hoped, will restore a fair margin of profit and encourage enterprise. Swedish lumber sales during 1924 amounted to about 90 percent of the total production. By the end of December more than 100,000 standards had also been sold for delivery in 1925, which is 43 percent more than the corresponding figures a year earlier.

The total exports of Swedish wood pulp during the first nine months of 1924 reached 924,289 tons, as compared with 627,411 during the corresponding period of 1923. Among the buyers of Swedish woodpulp, ranked according to value, the United States now take the lead.

Romantic Women? They're a Myth, Avers Mr. Arlen

MICHAEL ARLEN

BY GENE COHN, NEA Staff Writer.

New York—"Romantic women? If you're a myth, they aren't. They aren't more romantic than men. I merely think some women have more time for romance than some men, and some men have too little imagination."

After which commentary, Michael Arlen, of "The Green Hat" fame and newly arrived in America, impatiently tightened his afternoon coat and gave the 15-minute smile so well known in the London salons.

"I write of romance, disillusion and disenchantment, you see. Love is not that if you can't help it if imaginations are limited." Don't deny romance. There's nothing the matter with romance; the people are to blame.

"And moral? I don't know how it is in America, but in England the so-called 'loose' classes are constantly blamed. Accused of immorality, for better or worse, than they are without cause. They are too hard to be immoral. You can't be very immoral and very tired at the same time. If you're tired is a kind of dancing and snobs and salons, when, next, for much money as I seem."

The Centress of Michigan Game Clubs can never hope to lead the way in Michigan's game conservation program as long as the officers of that organization admit that it is an organization made up of active hunters, fishermen and trappers. Michigan's game and fish will never be conserved in future generations if the organization, promising to sponsor such a program, admits that the primary motive back of its program is a selfish one.

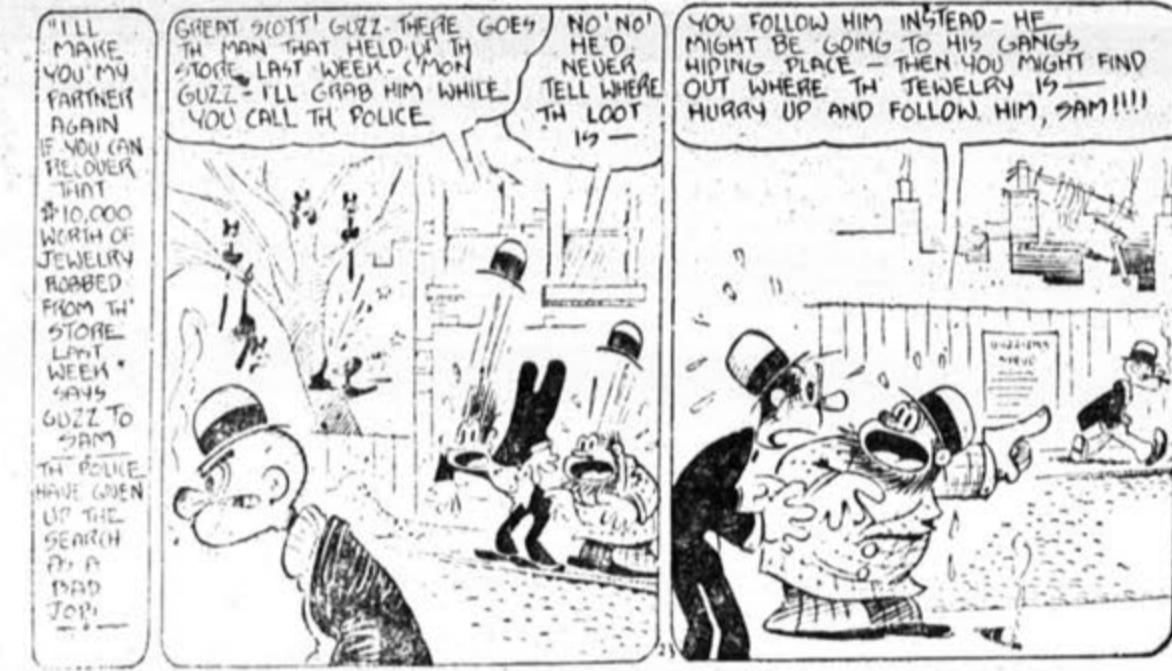

A letter addressed to the president of Michigan by the president of the Congress of Michigan Game Clubs says that his association is an organization numbering about 10,000 Michigan hunters and fishermen who really hunt and fish. Its entire membership has been in existence for years and everyone is a sportsman of some kind.

If the statement of the president of the congress of game clubs is true the sportsman of Michigan's conservation program is in mighty weak hands. But it isn't true. It is merely the statement of the president of a fundamentally sound organization, who has expressed his own views rather than the views of the subordinate members in the rank and file of the member clubs. HOOVER PLAYS LEADING ROLE

Coolidge Leans Heavily on His Secretary of Commerce.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924, by the Evening Press.

Washington, Mar. 23.—Herbert Hoover has gradually developed a role in the Coolidge administration which began with the rising administration and means even greater latitude than before in recommending and carrying out changes in government policy.

The transfer of the Department of Commerce from the Department of the Interior to the Department of Commerce was under authority of a law passed in the summer of 1913. It was the culmination of a series of developments, principal among which is that American business has been cooperating with Secretary Hoover and the latter in turn has been working hard to satisfy American business that so far as its interests are concerned will be served and a short cut to getting things done quickly will always be sought.

Close to Hoover.
The Patent Office has been under a department which has relatively little contact with the business men of the nation. The department of commerce, however, is in close touch with the business man. It works in harmony with the United States Chamber of Commerce, in fact if Herbert Hoover were to serve in a cabinet of five another few years he would have all bureaus which directly or indirectly affect the expansion of American business here and abroad coordinated.

Mr. Hoover is a sort of right-hand man to President Coolidge. He is based on his heavily. So does Mr. Coolidge. For Secretary Hoover without beating the tom-toms simply goes ahead and plans and plans and then gets things done. His mind of the engineer applied to government.

Agriculture and Commerce.
It is whispered that Secretary Hoover had a great deal to do with the appointment of the new secretary of agriculture, Mr. Jardine. That means co-operation between the department of agriculture and the department of commerce which has not obtained heretofore. Mr. Hoover feels the biggest problem in agriculture is marketing at home and abroad. Mr. Jardine thinks along the same lines as Mr. Hoover. They will work together.

Another point—American business men have not in the past been able to organize themselves

HIGH COURT TO REVIEW TALBOT INJURY CASE

Can Negligence of Husband Be Imputed to Wife?

Ann Arbor, Mar. 23.—One of the cases before the Michigan supreme court at the term which will close April 6, will be that of Fanny Talbot, who was injured in a collision with a motor car on the night of Feb. 22, 1922. The case is being argued by the plaintiff's attorneys, Messrs. J. W. G. and J. W. G. Talbot, and the defendant's attorneys, Messrs. J. W. G. and J. W. G. Talbot.

The case involves the question of whether the negligence of the husband can be imputed to the wife. The plaintiff's attorneys argue that the husband's negligence should be imputed to the wife because she was driving the car at the time of the accident. The defendant's attorneys argue that the wife's negligence should not be imputed to the husband because she was driving the car at the time of the accident.

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 23.—See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Dexter Folger, the fellow who brags the approach of the circus. He didn't have to wear his light spring coat to tell me spring was coming. Saw Mary Garden waiting for Europe to have her lips permanently rouged by sun baths. She looks no so kittenish as when I last saw her. Saw Ted Noyl, all smiles and happiness, but in some manner she, too, seems much changed in appearance in the past two years. Saw Hoover, Sr., in Goudon, the publisher and, says he, the famous story of Dian, son Madison Square Garden, executed by his father, should not be placed on exhibition, as it is outside of the scope of his purpose. He has been a contributor to the fund for the relief of the blind.

It is a fact of common knowledge that the Michigan supreme court in its decision in the case of Talbot and Dageron on Feb. 15, 1922, held that the negligence of the husband could not be imputed to the wife. The court held that the wife was driving the car at the time of the accident and that her negligence was the cause of the accident. The court held that the husband's negligence could not be imputed to the wife because she was driving the car at the time of the accident.

Polarine

THE PERFECT MOTOR OIL

Made in Six Grades

Insures the Life of Your Motor

The quality of the crude oils used in manufacturing a lubricating oil is exceedingly important in assuring lubricating efficiency.

Polarine is manufactured from selected mixed base crudes, so combined as to give a high flash point and a low cold test. It meets the exacting S. A. E. specifications.

Polarine has the right flash test—high enough to assure an oil which will not evaporate from the cylinder walls and bearings when the normal engine heat develops—and low enough to burn when it enters the combustion chamber.

Polarine correctly lubricates all frictional surfaces. Polarine resists heat and wear. Polarine has the right cold test.

The viscosity of each grade of Polarine conforms exactly to the conditions it is designed to meet.

Polarine is manufactured scientifically and with chemical accuracy, to maintain an unbroken film of oil between frictional surfaces in all engines, regardless of weather, season or working conditions.

Polarine is made in six grades. It gives complete satisfaction in all types and makes of automobile engines.

Based upon our intimate knowledge of the scientific constitution of Polarine, we assert, confidently, that Polarine will lengthen the life of your engine and pay royal dividends in the form of repair costs saved. It is the best life insurance your motor can have.

Fill up with Polarine; then, drain your crankcase every 500 miles and refill with the correct grade of Polarine. That is true economy. There is a grade for your car. See chart.
