HEART DISEASE CAUSED DEATHS

Test of McClintock and Olson Bodies Reveal No Germs, Poison.

Chicago, Mar. 29.—James P. Simonds, professor of pathology at Northwestern University, Evanston, who examined the bodies of Dr. Oscar Olson and Mrs. Emily McClintock, today said that both showed "marked chronic disease of the heart"...

The doctor made his examination at the request of William D. Shepherd, foster father of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan. Shepherd is under indictment for the murder of McClintock. The bodies of the youth's mother and of Dr. Olson, brother of Judge Harry Olson who instigated the investigation and asked that the other bodies be exhumed, are now being examined by a coroner's chemist for traces of poison.

Heart Disease Cause. "Both of these bodies," Dr. Simonds said, "showed marked chronic disease of the heart. Persons suffering from similar disease may live for a considerable period of time, but it is just as true they may die more or less unexpectedly."

The swollen condition of Mrs. McClintock's body observed after death, Dr. Simonds said, was probably due to dropsy. Assistant state's attorneys today issued a subpoena for Miss Lucille Rheubell, formerly an assistant to Charles C. Faimey who conducted a scientific school and has said that Shepherd offered him $100,000 for live typhoid germs and information how to administer them to a person. Defense attorneys have claimed that Miss Rheubell announced that Miss Rheubell claims Faimey never had live typhoid germs at his school.

Convicts, who escaped, taken

Pittsburgh, Mar. 30.—Five of the seven convicts who escaped from the western penitentiary here yesterday were in the county jail tonight, following their capture by state police near Butler, Pa., this morning. They will be held for trial on charges of escaping from a state institution. Two of those who made a sensational dash for freedom by escaping through the penitentiary roof and climbing down a 40-foot wall on a roughly constructed wire rope, were apprehended shortly after the delivery. One was shot in the leg by a guard and the other, who was left in the street when his companions commandeered a parked automobile and drove off, was picked up by police. Driving along the Kittanning Pike this morning the convicts were halted by Corporal Harry Gross of the state police. They surrendered readily and were taken to Butler, later being brought to Pittsburgh. Their flight last night, they said, was delayed several hours when their automobile became stuck in the mud.

In statements to prison officials today the convicts denied they had cut their way through a metal ceiling at the penitentiary. "We just saw the hole," they said, "and crawled through." A resistance carbon attached to the wire and connected with an electric light socket was used to cut the hole, investigators said.

Metcalf, of Lawrence, Kans., notified Acting Interior Secretary Finney today that he had taken the oath of office as commissioner of pensions and expected to arrive in Washington next week to assume his duties. Mr. Metcalf agreed to accept the post for the present, pending appointment of a successor.

TACNA - ARICA AWARD TO BE CHANGED SOME

Peru, Not Wholly Satisfied, Suggests Few Modifications.

Washington, Mar. 30.—Suggestions that the Peruvian government may have for amplification of safeguards provided under President Coolidge's award to surround the Tacna-Arica plebiscite were being put into final shape tonight for presentation to the arbitrator through the state department.

It has been indicated that the communication, described as a memorandum and not a note would be presented in the course of the day; but it did not materialize at the department. Instead a formal statement was issued at the Peruvian embassy saying that the work of considering the award had not been completed.

Complain of Award. The embassy statement was prompted by publication of assertions that Peru officially had notified the Washington government that terms of the award were unacceptable without drastic modification.

"No memorial or communication of any kind has been made to the president or to the state department respecting the terms of the plebiscite or of the award in the Tacna-Arica arbitration" the embassy statement said. "Any such publication on this subject is unauthorized and unauthentic."

"The government of Peru, the Peruvian embassy, the commission and the counsel still are engaged in considering the opinion and the award of the arbitrator have not completed the work."

Secretive About Note. Ambassador Valarde secluded himself in the embassy throughout the day, refusing to see press representatives, who sought information as to the nature of the contemplated Peruvian communication. It was stated at the embassy tonight that he was in conference with Solon Polo, head of the special Peruvian arbitral commission and lawyers who have aided in the preparation of the Peruvian case.

In other quarters it was stated positively, however, that the forthcoming memorandum would be confined to strictly diplomatic language and urge that certain additional precautions be taken by the arbitrator to insure full and free expression of popular will in the plebiscite.

The major point to be made will be the suggestion that Chilean military garrisons and other armed forces in the provinces of Tacna and Arica be replaced by a native constabulary to maintain order before and during the plebiscite. There would be no suggestion of a rejection by Peru of the terms of the award, it was insisted, nor would the suggestions for additional safeguards be in the nature of demands.

Serious Situation. The publication to which the embassy statement refers pictured Peru as demanding that American military and naval contingents assume the duty of policing the disputed provinces during this period. If, as indicated, the memorandum merely suggests creation of a native constabulary to do that work, it is clear that the situation is far less serious than otherwise would have been the case.

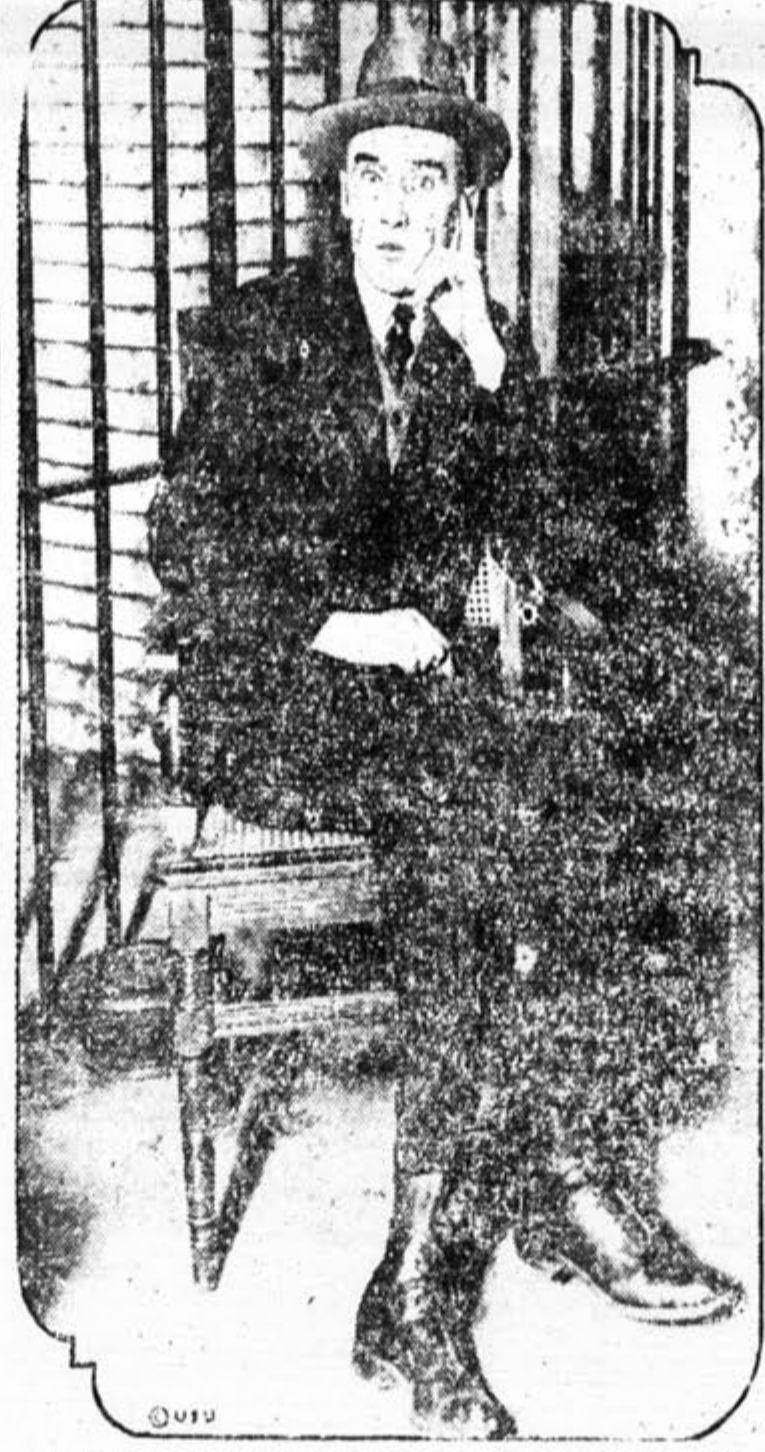

The extent to which the same publication disturbed official circles was indicated when Secretary Kellogg called early at the White House to talk matters over with President Coolidge. Later the secretary issued a formal denial that either the president or the state department had received any such communication as described. It was learned also that the department (Continued on Page Two.)

WAITING

"Court recesses." Judge, jury, lawyers, witnesses and spectators all rush from the dingy stuffy court. Out into the bright sunshine into the air with its breath of freedom. To lunch—to loaf—to wig away in carefree ease the moments that are theirs. But Chapman—down into a cell more stuffy than the courtroom he quits. Sunlight—only a stray sunbeam reflected through the little window that lights his cell. Freedom—iron bars whose tested strength he may not overcome. Sploshed and dirty walls surround him. Waiting. Waiting. Only his thoughts for company. Thoughts of a dangling nose—of iron bars stretching out into infinity. Thoughts, perhaps, of what might have been.

Shean, Alleged Pal Of Chapman, Tells Court About Store Robbery

(By The Associated Press.) Hartford, Conn., Mar. 30.—Six of eleven witnesses who took the stand for the prosecution today swore innumerable strands of testimony intended to bind Gerald Chapman, mail robber and federal jail breaker close to the murder of Patrolman James Skelly in New Britain last October 12.

One of them, Patrolman Alfred E. Atwater, of New Britain, testified that he had seen Chapman fire the death dealing shot. Another, Walter E. Shean, of Springfield, Mass., advertising man, long since advertised as the state's principal witness, told a glib story, putting the shooting directly up to the doborair prisoner.

Big Crowd at Trial. The four remaining witnesses, residents of New Britain, positively identified Chapman as a man they had seen fleeing the scene of the crime a few minutes after its commission. So great was the crowd who sought to jam into the courtroom today the judge had to order police to clear them away.

Chapman, in the face of all the testimony against him, remained unperturbed, lounging in his chair as usual the greater part of the time.

Animation came to him, however, as Shean's name was called as the day's last witness. He straightened up. Then he leaned forward slightly, his cold blue eyes cutting into those of the man whose information had brought him face to face with a New England gallow.

Chapman Takes Notes. For a time, while being sworn, Shean sustained the gaze, but soon his hands shook, he gulped, and his eyes dropped. Chapman then began rapidly to scribble notes, continuing as long as Shean was on the stand.

Shean asserted he was the innocent victim of the master crook Chapman. Chapman, he said, had "looked me up" in Springfield last July, introduced himself as "Waldo W. Miller" and talked bootlegging to him. A man with Chapman, he said, was introduced as Dr. Johnson.

Dangerous Wind. The main difficulty is presented by the wind, which has made the bay dangerous to navigation. Monday night there were indications that the wind was subsiding, and as a result fishermen on both sides of the bay made preparations to start out as soon as possible after dawn Tuesday. They are convinced they will find some marooned men, as "the nightly fire is the traditional and accepted signal of distress among the bay fishermen."

You never learn much from a person you can see through.

HOW GERMANY'S ELECTION WILL END IS PUZZLE

Jarres Has Insufficient Strength to Win on April 26, Belief.

(By The Associated Press.) Berlin, Mar. 30.—Post election mathematical reach varying conclusions in respect to the political significance of Sunday's initial balloting for a German president.

While it is evident that partisan considerations largely influence the conflicting editorial verdicts, there is an underlying conviction that the composition of the vote polled by Dr. Karl Jarres, the candidate of the combined nationalist and conservative bourgeois parties, and the candidates of the three republican parties, affords no secure basis for estimating its relation to the attitude of the voters in the final election of April 26.

Jarres Weak, Belief. Some of the more outspoken champions of an anti-republican bloc frankly admit that Dr. Jarres, although he led all other contestants, failed to measure up to expectations, and they are openly demanding his retirement from the final race.

While the minister of defense, Dr. Otto Gossler, is being proposed as a substitute, there is a strong movement to bring out the German chancellor, Dr. Hans Luther as the standard bearer for nationalist, conservative, bourgeois bloc. It is now realized that in view of the strong combined vote of socialists, centerists and democrats, Chancellor Luther is the only available man possessed of the necessary ability and magnetism to help the bourgeois bloc to ultimate victory.

Socialists May Compromise. The key to the situation now lies with the three republican parties, the strongest of which has announced its readiness to join with democrats and centerists in a common lineup to the extent of accepting a non-socialist but unimpeachable republican candidate. Since the socialists believe they are morally vindicated by Sunday's vote for their action in nominating Otto Braun they are prepared now, according to Vorwärts, the party's official organ, to eliminate party considerations from the newly created situation and are ready to join both liberal parties in an effort to galvanize the national republican front.

Ludendorff Eliminated. It is this triple alliance that national conservative leaders fear, and that has given stimulus to the suggestion that a more promising candidate than Dr. Jarres must be groomed for the final race. Thus far ex-chancellor Marx is the only prospective candidate named in connection with the creation of the three-party pool by socialists, centerists and democrats.

That General Ludendorff definitely appears to be the verdict of all political camps, criticism of the quartermaster general being the most severe in organs which formerly were cordial to him.

The decline of the communist party as a compact political unit and as a future menace to the socialists is also one of the conclusions reached as a result of Sunday's balloting.

FAIL TO SAVE MARGOONED MEN

Saginaw, Mich., Mar. 30.—Disappointed in their visit to Little Charity Island Sunday, and balked by high seas which prevented the launching of boats Monday, rescue parties will start from Cassville and Point Lookout Tuesday morning for Big Charity Island, in the middle of the mouth of Saginaw Bay where they expect to find a party of marooned men whose distress signal fires have been seen nightly from the mainland since last Thursday.

Ice Breaking Up. Between Point Lookout, on the northern shore of the bay, and the Charlities there is practically no ice, the strong gales of the last few days having massed it all between the islands and Cassville, on the southern shore. The ice is mostly honeycombed and soft, however, and fishermen do not anticipate any great trouble in cutting through it. A fish tug from Bay Port negotiated the more than three miles of this ice Sunday afternoon on the way to Little Charity where no one was found.

33 TRAPPED IN ENGLISH MINE

(By The Associated Press.) New Castle, England, Mar. 30.—Thirty-three men were trapped in the Montague colliery at Scotchwood, near New Castle, this afternoon by a sudden rush of water. Two hundred men were underground when the flood started, but all except 33 made their escape.

Eight of the entombed men were said to be in a perilous position to night on a ridge near the roof of the mine. Rescue work was being greatly hampered by foul gases, but belief prevailed that some of the men would be rescued.

Tornado Relief Fund Is $503,50

Escanaba's contribution to the relief of tornado victims in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Tennessee totaled $503.50 according to an announcement made yesterday by L. G. Sandy, secretary of the Delta county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The fund, collected at the three banks of Escanaba, was closed on Saturday and the money was immediately turned over to Mr. Sandy and forwarded to Red Cross headquarters for use in the stricken territory.

Escanaba's response compared to that accorded a similar movement in other cities of equal population, was considered to be most generous.

$500,000 FIRE IN NAT'L PARK

Blaze Started from Oil Explosion in Blacksmith Shop.

(By The Associated Press.) Livingston, Mont., Mar. 30.—Fire which followed the explosion of an oil furnace in a blacksmith shop at Mammoth Springs in Yellowstone National park was brought under control late today after causing damage estimated between $500,000 and $750,000.

Swept by a high wind, the fire spread quickly after the explosion and within an hour had wiped out the headquarter building of the Park's Transportation Company and a garage together with 100 passenger buses. The machine shops, paint shop, automobile repair shop, and the homes of two park employees also were destroyed.

The complete loss had not been definitely ascertained tonight. The loss will not interfere with tourist travel, the officials said.

CONDITION OF FORBES SAME

(By The Associated Press.) Boston, Mar. 30.—The condition of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States veterans' bureau, who was stricken with paralysis of the left side last Friday night, remained unchanged tonight, said a bulletin issued by Dr. John H. Canby, one of the attending physicians. Colonel Forbes, who is at a Boston hospital, was said tonight to be suffering from cerebral thrombosis.

Dr. Edward A. Tullidge of Philadelphia, has been called in as a consultant in the case. Colonel Forbes had been previously subject to partial paralysis of one side of his body, according to Dr. Canby. He suffered from inflammation of the brain a little more than a year ago.

TROPICAL INFECTION. Boston, Mar. 30.—Mrs. Marie Forbes Judds, sister of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, who is ill in a Boston hospital with paralysis, said in a statement tonight that the condition of Colonel Forbes was due in part to a tropical infection suffered in the course of a mission to Central America under the direction of President Harding.

Dr. Edward K. Tullidge, summoned here from Philadelphia, is known as a specialist in tropical diseases.

Woman Mutilated In Chicago Store

(By The Associated Press.) Chicago, Mar. 30.—The mutilated body of Mrs. Fred Welby, proprietress of a store for school children in LaGrange, a suburb, was found by her brother in the basement of her store tonight. She apparently had been killed with a hatchet which was found near the body.

The store had not been opened since Friday, and her brother, becoming alarmed, broke into the building. The police started a search for her husband.

Physicians expressed the opinion she had been dead for two or three days.

JAZZ GIRL TO UNDERGO TEST FOR INSANITY

Alienist Testifies That Dorothy Suffers from Mental Disorder.

(By The Associated Press.) San Francisco, Mar. 30.—Judge Harold Lunderbach, in superior court here this afternoon, halted the murder trial of Dorothy Ellingson 16, charged with killing her mother last January, after a quarrel over the daughter's conduct. The court announced that the jury would be dismissed tomorrow morning and a new jury impaneled to determine whether the girl is insane at present.

The girl found no comfort in the turn of her case. "During the discussion of her sanity, she sat with a white drawn face. As she went out for the noon recess, she went. This evening, at the close of court, she staggered from her seat and fell out of the grasp of the matron, striking her shoulders sharply against the clerk's desk."

It was one of the many times she has fainted since her trial began a week ago.

Specialist Testifies. A motion by the defense to interrupt the murder trial until the mental condition of the girl has been decided, was granted after the court had excused the jury and hearing the testimony of Dr. Dan Don Ball, specialist in mental diseases.

Dr. Ball pronounced the girl "suffering from psychosis." Her form of insanity, he explained, was "moral and not legal." Judge Lunderbach held that the showing of mental incompetence was sufficient to justify a jury trial.

The psychiatrist said his opinion was based on an examination of Dorothy Ellingson yesterday taken in conjunction with previous visits to the girl.

Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillin directed a penetrating cross-examination.

Overgrown, Doctor Says. "Have you a complete history of the girl's past life?" he asked Dr. Ball. "No," he replied. "I have seen her physically and mental examination and had conferred with other specialists. She is biologically a grown woman," Dr. Ball said. "Physically her score is all right for the average of her age. She is overgrown, over-developed. Physically she is older by two years than her age."

He added that the physician had found no organic defect of the girl.

The prosecution declined an offer by the defense to stipulate that the present jury hear issue of sanity. The court then held that a new jury must be selected. The impasse is not expected to require more than a day. Each side has but four peremptory challenges and rules of civil in default of criminal procedure prevail at such a trial.

JUDGE TAKES STAND TODAY

English Charged with Fraud in Bankruptcy Proceedings.

(By The Associated Press.)

St. Louis, Mo., Mar. 30.—Presentation of evidence on which was based the plea for the impeachment of Federal Judge George Washington English, ended late today. The accused judge probably will be first witness in his own behalf tomorrow morning. The congressional committee which has spent a week hearing testimony of tyrannical and oppressive conduct of the judge, while on the bench, and irregularities in handling of finances of bankruptcy cases, received in finality today the report of two department of justice examiners who investigated C. B. Thomas, referee in bankruptcy, under Judge English.

Judge To Testify.

In that report, publication of parts of which was left to the committee's later decision, it was set out by the examiners that an order dated June 9, 1919, virtually turned the powers of Judge English's court, so far as they related to bankruptcy over to Referee Thomas and gave him permission to use them as he pleased.

"We think we will start with Judge English, our leading witness," Frank M. T. O'Hara, of Paris, Ill., and William M. Acton of Danville, Ill., of counsel for Judge English, announced.

Paris English, one of the judge's sons, who was named as the pilot followed from bank to bank by bankruptcy funds and who received three per cent interest on such funds from one bank, also will be a witness, said the defense attorneys, but probably not tomorrow.

The defense probably will require two days. The prosecution evidence required six days.

Bankruptcy Case Cited.

One of the last witnesses today was H. P. Frazier, young United States commissioner, appointed by Judge English in 1922, and who has been mentioned in much testimony as the recipient of large fees as attorney in bankruptcy cases.

In one bankruptcy case cited to the court today that of the Illinois - Missouri Co-operative Milk Producers' association, it was shown that $11,275.96 was disbursed by the referee, trustee and receivers and that $20,242.46 to preferred creditors, with the remaining approximately $28,000 accounted for by administering the bankruptcy.

M. G. Zimmerman, qualifying an expert because of ten years employment as an examiner by the department of justice, testified that except for the fees paid the receivers, there was nothing unusual in the dealing which included notes, had accounted for approximately $161,000.

Representative Michener of Michigan, remarked that while it might be legal he was interested in a bill to change the law permitting fees on a not-a-cash basis to a cash basis only.

The petition traces the history of the national guard from 1789 when "Partisan" was first authorized when an American entered the world war, and that was the name of the national guard. The bill of the national guard act of 1916 and the National Guard Act of 1920, and the national guard act of 1924, are mentioned.

The destroyer was said to have been in the vicinity of Fire Island at the time of the seizure. According to members of the coast guard service here, the prisoners said that they were in distress when captured.

This will be the first time it has been said, that a seized plane has been brought to the barge office since the coast guard began its activities against violators of the navigation laws.

SHAN TELLS OF STORE ROBBERY

This is the mysterious figure whose name has cropped up a dozen times during the trial with now and then an intimation by the defense that he, and not Chapman, was the murderer of Skelly.

Dr. Johnson is supposed to be an alias of the notorious "Dutch" Anderson, Chapman's "buddy," in the Lower Manhattan $2,400,000 mail robbery and, later, with him in prison. He is also a fugitive from the federal prison at Atlanta.

Tells of Car Ride

Shean said Chapman had on one occasion discussed a counterfeiting plot with him. Chapman's counsel, Frederick J. Groehl objected that this testimony was not relevant and Judge Jennings excluded all evidence of that stripe.

The day preceding the New Britain murder, Saturday, October 11, Chapman, Shean said, invited him to take a ride "down New Haven way" in his car.

"Things are quiet and I have to swing a petter" in between bootlegging jobs," Shean quoted Chapman as having said. He explained that swinging a petter meant opening a safe with nitroglycerine. They motored to New Britain, said the witness, and then to Meriden where they took rooms for the night at the Old Colony Inn. The next morning they drove back to New Britain where Chapman left him in the car while he went to the department store of Davidson and Leventhal, Shean said.

"After a while he came back," said Shean, "and asked me to go back with him. He gave me a gun. When we got there, and he told me that he had a safe all ready to blow, I told him it was too dangerous a job for me. He asked me if I was scared and told me not to worry. But I left, taking an envelope containing money which Mr. Miller had taken from another safe in the store."

Shean left the stand at the conclusion of his direct testimony and will be cross examined by Groehl tomorrow.

Atwater was the man who preceded Skelly into the store when the police answered an alarm that the place was being footed. He testified that as he stepped in the door a man's voice called: "Drop down or I'll kill you." The shooter fired, he said, and Atwater dropped to his knees. Skelly, right behind him, was shot through the abdomen.

Atwater asserted the man who did the shooting was Chapman. He identified him by "his high cheek bones," he said, although Groehl, on cross examination, insisted Atwater had not seen the shooting, having dropped behind a counter in fright and remaining there until the gunman escaped. Henry Heller, a clerk; Adolph Lachance, a night watchman, and Bernard A. Carlson, a street car motorman, all of New Britain, testified they had seen Chapman run from the department store immediately after the shooting, a smoking gun in his hand. The day's other witnesses were New Britain policemen who told of the shooting of Skelly and the surgeon who performed an autopsy on Skelly's body.

(By The Associated Press.)

Proposal To Close Trout Season Sept. 1 to May 16 Favored.

Lansing, Mar. 30.—The house in a brief session this afternoon, kept up its record breaking pace by passing seven bills and advancing as many more in committee of the whole. Included measures adopted and sent to the senate were appropriation bills for the maintenance and operation of the Central Michigan Normal School, carrying $265,000 next year and $247,000 the following year; state normal college, $697,000 and $685,000 and a small omnibus building measure appropriating $251,000 for a library at the State Normal; $3,500 for minor improvements at the College of Mines, and $7,200 for various small improvements at the Central Normal.

Trout Season Bill.

The Macdonald bill, shortening the season on trout was passed. It would close the season from September 1 to May 16 and limit the day's catch to twenty. The house also approved the Osborn measure to prohibit game fishing in the Soo Rapids from May 1 to May 31 and taking of rainbow trout in the same waters from September 16 to May 31.

Ormsbee Bill Advanced.

The Ormsbee bill, to provide an addition circuit judge in Genesee county was acted upon favorably when the house advanced it in committee of the whole. It will come up for final passage shortly. The Ming bill to permit the conservation commissioner to close and open seasons when danger of game or fish extermination is forecast, was likewise advanced. The bill suggesting a fifth normal college was laid over for a day because of the absence of Representative M. D. Bryant, of Traverse City, the introducer.

Bohn Bill Today.

The lower branch will convene Tuesday morning for a full day of deliberation in an effort to keep up with its rapidly growing calendar in order to permit adjournment by April 17. Tuesday afternoon a long discussion is expected when the Bohn-Farrier measure, proposing that 5 per cent of the primary school fund be set aside for distribution to the poorer counties, comes up as a special order of business.

The house apportionment committee was slated to meet tonight to revise its thus far fruitless efforts to agree on a bill rearranging the representative districts. The sentiment in the house is so widely divided that any apportionment measure the committee might send out, unless it leaves the districts virtually as they now are seems likely to encounter rough going.

The many proposed changes to the workmen's compensation laws will come to the fore Tuesday when a public hearing is to be held before the house labor committee. The Michigan Manufacturers Association, many individual employers, as well as representatives of organized labor and other interests are expected to take sides on the measure.

ment lacked any advance intimation of Peru's intention to transmit a communication of any character, the only direct official word received as to the attitude of the Peruvian government having indicated the purpose of abiding by the terms of the award.

That President Coolidge will give careful and sympathetic attention to any suggestion either party to the dispute may have to make, provided those suggestions are pertinent, within the scope of his authority as arbitrator and properly presented, is not to be doubted. Whether he will find it feasible to amend the plebiscite conditions, so as to place the territory in control of a native constabulary, is another question, particularly in view of the fact that the award already reserves the right of the arbitrator to annul the outcome of the voting and order a new plebiscite should charges in intimidation, bribery or other fraud be made by either party and sustained by proof before the plebiscitary commission.

FINANCE FIRM BILL PASSED

(By The Associated Press.)

French Bonds and Franc Movements Puzzle to Wall St.

(By The Associated Press.)

New York, Mar. 30.—Contrasting movements of French bonds and the French franc puzzled Wall Street today. In the face of a brisk rally in the currency, reflecting a retreat of short interests, selling of French governmental, municipal and railroad obligations was renewed, depressing most of these issues 1 or 2 points to the lowest levels of the year. Anxiety over the French financial situation, which is believed to be approaching a point where the legal circulation limit must be raised, was considered partially responsible for some of the liquidation. On the other hand, the government has funds available to protect the franc and was apparently making use of this credit.

Court Fight to Fix Identity of Veteran

(By The Associated Press.)

Minneapolis, Minn., Mar. 30.—The fight to establish the identity of Arthur Lopez-Frazier was formally carried into federal district court here today when attorneys for the young man filed a petition to collect total disability compensation from the government.

The petition was supported by an affidavit from Lopez-Frazier, declaring that he is Arthur Frazier, supposedly dead Indian world war veteran and not Arthur Lopez, Mexican imposter, as his confession to veteran bureau officials stated six weeks ago. The government will file an answer to the suit declaring that he is not Frazier, but Lopez. If the government wins, Frazier's parents will be paid $10,000 insurance which he carried. If he loses the plaintiff receives $57.50 a month disability compensation.

LAW SCHOOL HEAD OUSTED

Suspension Result of Student Uprisings in Paris.

(By The Associated Press.)

Paris, Mar. 30.—The suspension today of Dr. Louis Berthelemy, dean of the Sorbonne law faculty, growing out of the rioting by Royalist and Conservative Republican students of the University of Paris on Saturday, caused unusual student effervescence in the Parisian Latin quarter, this afternoon. Projects are under way for anti-government manifestations tonight or tomorrow.

Royalist students were ready to stage a protest this afternoon, but the presence of a large group of communists dissuaded the "king's henchmen," as the Royalists are called. Sizeable forces of police and mounted gendarmes were held in reserve to cope with any large demonstrations.

"Shame On Herriot."

After singing songs criticizing Dr. George Scelle, the international law professor, who the students assert, was imposed upon the school by the French government, the young men dispersed, shouting:

"Resign Scelle!" and "Shame on Herriot!" The students then went to Dr. Berthelemy's house where they shouted their loyalty to him. The trial of the Sorbonne students, who participated in Saturday's demonstration resulted in one medical student being sentenced to 15 days in prison and to pay a fine of fifty francs for "violence and rebellion." Others being first offenders, received suspended jail sentences and small fines.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Mar. 30.—Strong buying support making its appearance just before the close of today's market checked another sharp decline in stock prices which threatened for a time, to assume dangerous proportions.

U. S. Steel common and scores of other popular rail and industrial issues were driven down 3 to 20 1/2 points to new low levels for the year, but closing quotations generally were 1 to 5 points above the new low prices of the day. Trading was in somewhat larger volume, today's sales running above one and one half million shares.

Grain Futures Fall. The break in stock prices coincided with another collapse in grain futures, but with the exception of higher call money rates due to the usual heavy month end demand for futures, there was nothing in the day's news to account for a renewal of selling pressure.

United States Steel common touched a new low at 112 1/2, or 17 1/2 points below year's maximum, and then rallied to 114, where it was off 1 1/2 on the day. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe collapsed 20 1/2 points to 152, or 98 points below the year's high, but recovered 5 points.

In all 125 individual issues sold at their lowest prices of the year. The list included 37 rails, 15 oils, 13 coppers and 7 steels and equipments. Both the rail and industrial averages closed in new low ground for the year.

Railroads Break. Eastern coalers were the hardest hit in the railroad group, the expected decrease in carloadings on the approach of warmer weather apparently influencing some of the selling.

Among railroad issues 40 break through their previous resistance points were New York Central, Nickel Plate and Canadian Pacific.

Some of the outstanding weak spots in the industrial list included American Car and Foundry, Associated Drygoods, the Commercial Solvents issues, General Asphalt and Nash Motors.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, then advanced to 5 on the calling of brokers, the total of which was estimated as high as $12,000,000. The time money market was quiet with a slight stiffening in rates noted for the shorter maturities. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A seven-point rally in French francs to around 5.25 cents, reflecting the further retreat of the franc interest, was the feature of the firm foreign exchange market. Demand sterling ruled slightly higher around $4.77 1/2. Norwegian and Danish exchanges scored sharp advances with nominal gains being recorded by most of the other European currencies.

BAKER TALKS CONSTITUTION

Kiwanis Club Members Hear Interesting Address Yesterday.

The American constitution is the most effective document of its kind ever written because it is rigid enough to maintain stability and, at the same time, flexible enough to be changed to meet changing conditions. James C. Baker, local attorney, told members of the Kiwanis club yesterday.

History is full of the stories of revolutions and civil wars which were the only means the common people had of ridding themselves of undesirable rulers, laws and practices. Mr. Baker said. The American constitution provides for these changes by a method which is simple enough if a majority of the people really want it.

Joseph Greenfield, director of the Escanaba Municipal Band, told the club a boys' band is badly needed here. "If we're going to have a man's band," he said, "we must teach the boys music. Few men ever begin the study of music after they are grown up," he pointed out.

Mr. Greenfield played several concertina solos.

TWO MEN BLIND, 'LEGGER HELD

Sheriff's Force Stages Raid on Stephenson Avenue Joint.

Within a few hours after two woodsmen, blind from drinking poisonous whisky, had been picked up in this locality, Frank Sobowski, 322 Stephenson avenue, was under arrest on charges of sale and possession of intoxicants.

Members of the sheriff's department first went to the place to investigate the reports they had received. The bartender dumped the contents of a small pitcher into the sink. This information was used by the sheriff as the basis for a search warrant and regular raid staged. About eight ounces of the liquor was found. Sobowski was arrested. He was arraigned yesterday before Judge C. D. McEwen and held at $500 for his appearance in circuit court.

The woodsmen spent the night in the county jail under the care of a physician. Both are expected to recover their sight—partially, at least.

First formal steps towards the framing of the municipal budget for the fiscal year which begins May 1, will be taken when City Manager Fred R. Harris submits the document to the council next Thursday night.
The budget in this tentative form, will then be ordered published, as the charter provides. It will be adopted, with the changes which may be considered advisable, at the first council meeting in May.

HONTULA DIES FROM WOUNDS

Lumber Camp Fight Fatal to Hunt's Spur Man.

Axel Hontula, 27, of Hunt's Spur, died at St. Francis hospital at noon yesterday from a fractured skull he received in a fight, two weeks ago, with Frank Paha, a fellow woodsman in a lumber camp in Mackinaw county.

Paha, who is alleged to have beaten Hontula severely with a six-inch club, also injured and threatened Hontula. He is in jail at St. Ignace and probably facing a murder charge.

The man had been drinking heavily. It was said when the fight started.

Hontula never spoke after the fight. He was conscious at part of the time and seemed able to understand what was said to him by the nurses and others, but he could not shake off the paralysis which crippled his organs of speech. For a few days his recovery was expected but he suffered a relapse, his temperature mounted and for several days before his death his condition was regarded as critical.

The body was taken to the Alto Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. The funeral will be held there Thursday afternoon.

It is not known whether the deceased has any relatives in this country.

The most dramatic moment in the murder trial of Gerald Chapman at Hartford, Conn., probably occurred when Walter Shean took the stand as the state's star witness. Shean was arrested at the scene of the robbery in New Britain, Conn., in which Patrolman James Skelly was shot to death. He claims Chapman was his companion and fired the shot. Shean is a member of a prosperous family of hotel proprietors. Chapman says he was nowhere near New Britain at the time of the robbery.

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Mar. 30.—Two bills proposing to subject domestic and foreign building and loan associations to state regulation virtually as strict as that now exercised over state banks, were introduced in the house today by Representative Fred Wade, of Allegan. The state banking commissioner would be given complete control over companies of this character, a new building and loan division would be created in the state banking department, examiners would inspect the books and condition of companies at least once a year and the necessity of additional capital and the character and standing of incorporators could be weighed by the commissioner before accepting articles of incorporation. Foreign companies would be compelled to deposit $100,000 with the state.

RE-APPORTION BILLS KILLED

House Committee Refuses to Report Out Wayne County Measure.

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mar. 30.—Operating behind barred doors and taking no ballots of record, the house reapportionment committee tonight voted to kill the reapportionment bills before the legislature. A secret ballot, taken with the members writing their preference on slips of paper which were dropped into a hat, resulted in an 8 to 4 vote against reporting out the senate measure proposing seven instead of five senators for Wayne. By virtually an unanimous unrecorded vote the committee refused to consider the Culver bill suggesting 25 instead of 14 representatives for Wayne, and by a 7 to 4 vote it decided not to report out the Green substitute providing for 21 Wayne representatives.

Green Substitute Bill.

It was understood that Representatives C. J. Netting and Charles Culver, both of Wayne, Orville Hullett, of Macomb, and Alonzo B. Green, of Alpena, were the four who voted in favor of sending a measure to the floor. Representative Culver made the motions to report the senate bill and the Green substitute both of which were defeated. He also made the motion to drop consideration of his own 25 members measure and consider the Green substitute, which the committee agreed to, only to refuse later to release the Green bill. Representative Hullett made an effort, after the other hopes of the members in favor of reapportionment had faded, to have the Green substitute reported without recommendation but this suggestion was also promptly turned down.

BASEBALL?—YES OR NO!

Upper peninsula moguls will meet in Marquette next Sunday to draft schedules, deposit forfeits and arrange other preliminaries for the season's play.

It is not necessary to review the 1924 season in order to emphasize the advisability of an early start. Escanaba last year had one of the best ball clubs in its history.

If this city places itself on the baseball map this year, the start must not be delayed any longer.

A VITAL CONCERN.

The much discussed question as to the causes that have combined in recent years to break down the earlier sound influence of the home upon the boys and girls of today, is most interestingly treated in a recent issue of the Literary Digest.

While, fundamentally, this is true of exponents of this side of the question mean that youngsters are not born with criminal tendencies, still the fact remains that juvenile delinquency has increased at an alarming rate.

For not less than ten years, social writers have been bemoaning the fact that the home has lost its influence over the family.

ment living have combined to make the home merely a place to eat and sleep. There are thousands of exceptions to this rule, but the tendency persists, nevertheless, and is making itself felt in the courts of the country which deal with crime.

There can be no denial of the fact that with the automobile and other agencies of pleasure, came a steady disintegration of the family life as it was known 50 and 25 years ago.

But much must be done to restore the home life of years ago. Too many children are practically given their own way at the age of 15 and 16 years.

Until parents realize their shortcomings, the courts of the country will continue to handle criminal cases in which 80 per cent of the persons involved are mere children.

Parents who bring children into the world must admit their responsibility. They must understand that their children must be developed into decent, law abiding citizens, and to bring this about, the proper environment must be furnished.

The Literary Digest can perform a great service to the nation if it can arouse parents to their duty in rearing children.

Fresh deer meat found on the premises of William Shine, Mueller township, resulted in his being brought before Justice W. A. McKinney at Manistique, charged with possession of venison at a time prohibited by law.

Shine was arrested by Gen. Warden Paul Knuth, who reported finding a small portion of a deer at the former's home. Arraigned before Justice McKinney on Saturday, Shine pleaded not guilty, claiming that the meat was there when he moved in. The place was formerly occupied by William Barker.

The latter will be summoned to appear at the trial, which will be held today.

MAPLE AVENUE TO BE CEMENT?

Estimates on the approximate cost of widening Maple avenue, and of providing a full concrete street from curb to curb when it becomes a state trunk highway were submitted at the Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday by J. C. Harbin of the special committee appointed to investigate the proposal.

It is expected that the state will build 20 feet wide with concrete when the trunk line is relocated through the city. This will leave strips of unpaved street along the curb on either side. It was suggested at a recent Chamber of Commerce meeting that the city be urged to accommodate increased traffic when the state highway comes through. This could be accomplished, it is claimed, by narrowing the present parkways on either side.

Mr. Harbin in his committee report, showed sketches illustrating the present street arrangement, and how it would look with the suggested widening, complete with concrete curb and gutter.

CONSTRUCTION IS STARTED ON NEW FILLING STATION

It is expected that the place will be ready for business about the middle of May.

SANFORD TO GIVE LECTURE HERE TONIGHT

A lecture telling how to choose the right vocation—a subject of vital interest to all—will be given here on the Lyceum course Tuesday evening, March 31, by Chester Milton Sanford, widely known authority on vocational training, who is returning to Gladstone for a second engagement.

Mr. Sanford has devoted years to the study of young people and their jobs, and his lectures are based on first-hand investigations in many fields of business and professional activity.

"Failures of the Misfits" was the lecture presented on his first appearance in the community. Filling a return engagement, he will deliver an equally important lecture, supplementing the first one, "What Shall I Do in the World?"

Former Governor Harding of Iowa says of Mr. Sanford and his lectures: "It has been my privilege to hear Professor Sanford lecture to half a dozen different audiences. He makes me forget each time about the college, about himself as a professor, and takes me into the realm of the real, the living, throbbing life of industry. I see him as a father who knows boys and girls. I see him as a man who knows jobs and folks—and always in love with both. His round table discussion held after the lecture is something never to be forgotten. There you see young people, middle-aged people and old folks, all intensely interested in learning self-analysis."

The Sanford lectures are in great demand before chambers of commerce, rotary clubs, women's clubs, various industrial and professional organizations, in addition to Lyceum audiences.

Open Forum.

Following his lecture, Mr. Sanford conducts a round table discussion for the benefit of those who wish specific information on vocational training subjects. It is not unusual to see three-fourths of an audience remain for these discussions.

Mr. Sanford who has been booked for a week at Ishpeming, will speak to the seniors of the high school today. His lecture will begin at 8 o'clock.

His subject is one that is big and vital and no one should miss the opportunity of hearing him tonight at the high school auditorium.

Tickets will be sold at the high school to those not holding season tickets.

BRUSH FIRE SWEEPS OVER BLUFF EDGE

Brush fires, starting back near Chaison, close to the Northwestern tracks, swept down to the top of the Gladstone bluff Sunday. The flames, fanned by a high wind, spread along the edge of the bluff from South Gladstone to a point within a short distance of the Terrace Gardens pavilion.

No material damage was caused by the fire, the flames destroying brush, grass and stumps, which the recent dry weather had made ready fuel. The blaze reached well within the city limits but it was not at any time threatening.

The only danger was that of the flames reaching Fernwood cemetery which is in a beautiful location back from the bluff. Members of the Gladstone volunteer fire department, responding to a general call, remained on guard during the greater part of four hours during the afternoon, ready to keep the flames from sweeping across the cemetery.

There are no serious fires in this vicinity, according to the report of Warden Charles Coon of this city. The bluff fire reached the largest proportions of any so far and this, as other minor blazes, so far as is known, was merely a brush fire.

Watched by Many.

Unless there is rainfall, however, there will be danger of serious outbreaks, and close watch is being kept by the warden.

The fire Sunday provided the object of sight-seeing Gladstone people, who, attracted by the heavy smoke, went to South Gladstone to watch it.

SILVER GREY A FOX TRAPPED BY WARDEN

What old time trappers claim is a silver grey fox, one of the few seen in the upper peninsula in the past few years, was brought to Gladstone by Warden Charles Coon upon his return to the city after considerable trapping activity.

The animal is a beautiful specimen and is rare in the upper peninsula, only one other being trapped during the winter.

Complete information concerning the fox will be requested by Warden Coon when the skin is sent in.

Trucks Limited to Half a Load

Effective Monday, an order received from Frank Rogers, state highway commissioner, restricts all auto trucks to one-half payload on all trunk line and county highways.

This order was made necessary on account of the spring road conditions. By limiting trucks to one-half the regular load, the damage done to the roads will be greatly reduced. The restriction will be in effect until further notice.

We are living in hopes that spring will make people too lazy to work crossword puzzles.

A program will precede the business session today, and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Grass Fire Sweeps Across the Plains

A fire of unknown origin was reported to be running through the plains west of Fitch's resort, on highway M-12, Sunday evening. Only grass and stumpage lay in the path of the fire, which did not threaten nearby timber because of the direction of the wind.

This was the first extensive plain fire reported this year.

QUINTET WINS FROM NAHMA HIGH CAGERS

The Gladstone quintet took the measure of Nahma Saturday night to the tune of 35 to 19, in a game played at the Nahma club house.

The contest was a good clean scrap with plenty of action all the way through. Gladstone, with Akeley forward, starting and bringing in a total of 21 points, jumped into the lead in the early part of the game and held the Nahma players by a good margin throughout. The score at the first half was 23 to 11.

Akeley, left forward, made six goals and five free throws for his team; M. Goodman at right forward made 4 field baskets and one free throw; Olson, playing at center, shot four field baskets and one free basket. Norton played at left guard and Soren Johnson at right.

Karjola was used as a sub for both guards during the game. Woodell refereed.

A good sized crowd of fans about 35 Gladstone followers included, saw the game.

WELL ONE DAY IN BED THREE

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan.—"After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed.

One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."

MYSTERY IS KEYNOTE OF BIG FEATURE

"The Unknown Purple," the adaptation of Roland West's stage play, which opened for a two-day engagement at the Community theatre yesterday, is one of the most thrilling photoplays which the producers have handled the purple ray of light which predominates many of the scenes and in which there is a human body invisible to the eye. The work of that sterling artist, Henry B. Walthall, stands out also in his portrayal of the inventive genius who, betrayed by those he loved best, returned after seven years in prison, to take a wild vengeance upon them. Supporting him are such well-known players as Alice Lake, Stuart Holmes, Elmer Gray Terry, Helen Ferguson, Brunsy Shaw, James Morrison, Richard Wayne, Little Frankie Lee, Johnny Arthur and Mike Uccellini.

"SAFETY FIRST" PROGRAM TO BE STRESSED HERE

Intensive Campaign Planned for April Explained

Escanaba's "Safety First" program, to be stressed throughout the month of April by the city administration, was made the subject of one of the most interesting meetings of the year for the Escanaba Rotary club, yesterday. In the presentation of the program brief addresses were made by Mayor W. J. Hanrahan, Sergt. John Finn, of the Escanaba police department, Miss Mary Mielghan, grade supervisor in the Escanaba public schools, and Dr. H. J. DeFonet, head of the municipal health department.

Mayor Explains Program

Mayor W. J. Hanrahan pointed out that the city administration has been able to elicit the hearty cooperation of the heads of both the public and parochial schools of Escanaba in the work that has been undertaken and it is hoped to make the movement city-wide in its application, winning the support and approval of all citizens. The mayor called attention to the importance of Safety First work as evidenced by a conference recently called at Washington by Secretary Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, and further evidenced by a state-wide meeting for Michigan, held at Grand Rapids last week, in saving lives and preventing accidents, can accrue to Escanaba if Safety First lessons expounded during the coming month, can be held in the minds of the people of this city.

Finn Appeals for Co-operation

Sergt. John Finn, of the police department, made a most effective appeal to the club members for a greater measure of cooperation with the police, particularly in the enforcement of traffic laws and rules. Sergt. Finn pointed out that the police department does not make the laws, but is required to enforce them and the duties of a police officer are often far from pleasant to perform. He told of the aid that would accrue through the example of Rotarians if all of the club members would pledge themselves to live up to the letter, as well as the spirit of the city's traffic code.

Miss Mielghan said, will seek to permanently impress upon the minds of the children that danger exists on every side; that ignorance of danger and carelessness are responsible for the great majority of all accidents; that simple rules can be practiced in the home as well as on the street or at play and finally attempt to teach the children to teach others to be careful. Miss Mielghan exhibited a series of signs that will be used in the schools next month, carrying safety slogans, such as the following: "Always Be Careful. Use A B C of Safety." "Safety or Sorrow." "Take Care—Not Chances." "Safety for One and All." "Help Make Escanaba Safe" and "Get the Safety Habit."

Scope of Work Shown

The address of Dr. DeFonet, health commissioner, thoroughly surprised a large part of the club members who yesterday were given their first view of the scope of his work that is being carried forward in this city by the municipal health department. Dr. DeFonet reported that every activity of the department he enumerated; the constant vaccination campaign against smallpox, which Dr. DeFonet asserted, was unquestionably responsible for the fact that a case of smallpox has not developed in the city of Escanaba for the past four years. He told of the iodine serving to protect provided by the city in the schools, for the cure and prevention of goiter, but asserted that while between 100 and 150 children are receiving that treatment each week, the number should be increased by at least 50. That more children are not receiving the treatment, he said, was due wholly to the carelessness of parents. He told of the scarlet fever and diphtheria and X-ray services offered to the people of Escanaba by the health department, and indicated the use of which has been taken by the people. He told of the department's present and future plans.

campaign against an outbreak of rabies among the dogs in the city and illustrating the necessity for methods that are being employed asserted that should the disease be communicated to a human being, no known cure exists. He told of the efforts of the department to prevent the spread of communicable diseases by strict quarantine and also described the lack of cooperation on the part of many residents of the city. Dr. DeFonet described the importance of proper sanitation for the preservation of general health conditions and urged residents of other sections of the city for the conditions that are permitted to exist in alleys back of their residences, asserting that North Escanaba has the cleanest and most sanitary alleys to be found in any part of the city.

SCHOOL BILL VOTE TODAY

Bohn-Farrier Measure Up On General Orders in State House.

The Bohn-Farrier bill providing for the distribution of five per cent of the state primary school fund under the terms of the "Escanaba plan," will be on general orders for a vote in the lower house of the Michigan legislature today. The measure already has passed the senate and its backers believe that when attempts last week to amend it failed, it weathered the most strenuous attacks its opponents could make upon it.

It has been presumed that Gov. Groesbeck will sign the bill promptly. Judge Judd Yelland and George E. Harvey, county clerk, who have been in Lansing for two weeks in the interests of the bill, are expected to return to this city Wednesday or Thursday.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

One of the most interesting and tragic stories ever filmed, with all of the director's delicate artistry at its best.

That is the title of "He Who Gets Slapped," Victor Sjöström's second American picture, which opened an engagement of three days at the Delft Theatre today.

Adapted to the screen from the play by the noted Russian author, Leonid Andreev, "He Who Gets Slapped" presents a tragic, intense story of an unhappy clown. The picture is set in the colorful locale of a European circus. The choice of Victor Sjöström, the Swedish actor-director, as the maker of this story, was particularly fitting, and he has made what is undoubtedly his greatest picture of it.

Lon Chaney, since early in his career, has been in his own "He Who Gets Slapped," and easily surpasses his other stage roles.

The story, in short, is of an obscure scientist who studies away for years on his theories, never seeing them, then, as his life work is robbed by his patron, and his wife deserts him, becomes "He Who Gets Slapped," a circus clown. His life in the circus, his unspoken love for the beautiful circus rider, and the final sacrifice of his life to save her from marriage to the very man who had ruined him, years before, forms the basis of the story.

The story is a tragic, but not an unhappy one, and Chaney makes the unfortunate clown a most appealing character.

Norma Shearer adds another triumph to her list as the girl of the circus, and John Gilbert, as the romantic lead, does creditable work.

Excellent character portraits are drawn by Tully Marshall, Marc McDermott, Fard Sterling and Clyde Cook.

AT THE STRAND

Bustles, burlesques, rowing circles and waterkisses have been thrown more or less in the discard. They are revived again, at least temporarily, on the local screen at the Strand Theatre where Robert H. Ney's production of "The Debut" is showing again today.

This is one of the most interesting pictures of the year. It is fast moving. It has a plot, and an episode of the present day linked up with the main story, which takes place in the year 1897, a time many can remember, but few think of as being old-fashioned until they view what was then and how honestly it passes it is now.

There is a tremendous theme to the story which only escapes being a tragedy by showing what takes place 28 years later. It makes one see clearly how easily the tragedies of the day are swept aside by time and are forgotten in the rush of ever new things arising. A really great message is sub-consciously carried in this film play, which was adapted to the screen by Agnes Christine Johnson from the stage play by Lewis Beach.

Claire Windsor has the big role, the only one which is carried through both periods of the story. Emily Fitzroy has her greatest characterization, and portrays an overbearing woman in a way that is intensely real.

Vivia Oaden as Aunt Effie is both funny and pathetic and William Haines as the hero is well cast. Others of importance are Edward Connelly, Bert Roach, Lucille Ricksen and Robert Andrew.

The picture was made for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"CHAPMAN'S CAREER"

BY GENE COHN
NFA Service Writer.

Chapter II

When Gerald Chapman was 17 something happened that took him from school.

There is no record of what this something was, though it is presumed that hard times had visited his hardworking parents; but whatever it may have been it was the signal for the fate to begin moulding the crime career that since has been written in such sensational chapters.

Out upon the streets of New York went the sallow-faced, neurotic lad to lay the foundation for his life. He seems to have had little trouble finding evil associates, for within two years his name had appeared upon the police register for the first time. He stole jewelry, was convicted of grand larceny and sent to 14 months in prison.

A year later he was paroled into the custody of a wealthy oil man of philanthropic nature. This man tried to put young Chapman upon the right trail. He gave him a $14-a-week job typing letters in his office. For just one month Chapman went straight. Then he stole $113. He admitted the theft and this time was sentenced to three years. He was paroled before his term expired.

And now it looked as though Chapman had learned his lesson and would at last go straight.

But he had been branded with the scar of "ex-convict." The police were watching him. When he made a new start as a street car conductor he was recognized one day and summarily dismissed.

This, in all probability, planted a new seed of bitterness against society. He was a social outcast. It is not a few stories. The same could be written of thousands of ex-convicts who feel that it is futile to try to come back. Within two months Chapman was back in prison for theft.

Taken to trial his past record was thrown at him. This time it was 19 years in prison that he faced.

Gerald Chapman was now 23. There was nothing to distinguish him from the thousands of other petty criminals that fill the prisons. He crimes had been cheap and unmarked either by insanity or imagination. Yet he was of a far higher degree of intelligence than 90 per cent of the criminal classes. He was bright, quick to learn, with the bravado of youth. Here was fertile soil for good or evil.

As usual it was into the hands of evil that he fell.

His sentence took him to Auburn prison. And there he first met George Anderson. Anderson belonged to the school of criminals that figure more frequently in fiction than in fact.

A man of middle age, suave, educated, of high intelligence; a high class confidence man, this Anderson who was known to the police as La Fargem Heins, Bower and what not.

It is recorded that Anderson had received his degree of bachelor of arts at the University of Upsala. He could speak five languages fluently. His Spanish was so excellent that he had been made a teacher in the prison school.

He had sound scientific training, but he preferred to use it to defraud society. He had made experiments with skin pigments; he was a splendid microscopist, having made a microscopic study of human hair; he was skilled in photography and in the chemistry of dyes and paper making and a dozen and one other things.

All of which made him all the more dangerous in the eyes of society.

And in appearance he was plump, well dressed, of almost benevolent mien when he wished to be—in short, what the public has come to know as a super-crook.

This man at once recognized in Chapman material for future use. (To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Bent It the Classed Way.

COMING! Bobolink Hosiery Days

April 1st-2nd-3rd-4th

SEE WINDOW NOW

Bobolink Hosiery Days is a story which only escapes being a tragedy by showing what takes place 28 years later. It makes one see clearly how easily the tragedies of the day are swept aside by time and are forgotten in the rush of ever new things arising. A really great message is sub-consciously carried in this film play, which was adapted to the screen by Agnes Christine Johnson from the stage play by Lewis Beach.
