DRIVE TO END WAR PROBABLE IN CONGRESS

MELLON'S FIGURES ON COST STARTS 'EM THINKING.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1925, by the Escanaba Press.) Washington, Dec. 12.—There is to be a determined drive against war at this session of Congress, and President Coolidge and his cabinet are taking the initiative in the movement.

Secretary Mellon's disclosure that eighty percent of government expenditure go toward paying the costs of past wars and preparation for future conflict is the forerunner of the economic arguments.

Mr. Coolidge opposes further increases in the national defense budget for economy reasons and contends for disarmament. He recognizes that the cry of "foreign entanglements" has hurt every proposal for joining with other countries to prevent war.

The world court protocol is being fought on that theory. Now the entire ammunition of the administration is being directed against the opponents of international cooperation.

Face Facts Squared. When Mr. Mellon says that the facts about government expenses for war purposes "should be faced squarely by those who clamor for reduced government expenditures and at the same time oppose the world's effort to devise rational methods for dealing with international questions," he states the whole case for the Coolidge administration.

The President is very much impressed with what Europe has done with the Locarno treaties. He feels that an atmosphere of peace-making has come over Europe at last and that America must stand aloof and go on with war preparations that might be misconstrued.

Present Session of Congress to be Favorable to Business

BY ROGER BABSON. Babson Park, Mass. Dec. 11.—Judging by the sigh of relief that went up from all business interests when congress adjourned last March, one may naturally wonder whether the new session just begun will serve as a check or a boost to business. This question was put to Roger W. Babson, who though far from being a politician, that as far as business is concerned, the next Congress will be favorable and all the business interests are delighted with the president's message.

Confidence Justified. "Not only the Administration," says Mr. Babson, "but more and more of the members of the two houses of congress are beginning to realize that by encouraging business they do most to help all classes, whether employers or employees, farmers or bankers. The 'block' activity of previous sessions got nowhere because it was merely a fight over the division of wealth already produced. It did not help in producing more. The plans of the present administration are sound because they result in greater and more economical production and thus create more wealth to divide. The government today is putting its energy into saving the people's money and encouraging everybody who is really producing. Therefore, this plan is proving successful. This radical element in congress will have a hard time to arouse interest among their constituents in any prying in from this policy," continued Mr. Babson, "explains why business men are looking forward to this session of congress with confidence."

Favorable Congress Discounted. "Investors, on the other hand, who are not bullish on the stock market because of expected legislation are making a bad mistake. They usually discount events long before they occur and before the public at large knows that they are coming. A year ago, when President Coolidge was elected, was the time for stock buyers to be bullish, and you will remember that I gave such advice in this column. Then as the time for investors to anticipate the effect on the stock market of a constructive Administration today, however, stocks are fully discounted favorable legislation and it is foolish to buy at current high prices.

"Corporate taxes are not likely to be lower next year, but the actual cut expected in surtaxes greatly reduces the penalty on production which has existed for the last six years. Nothing stifles enterprise as the thought that whatever happens must give up a large share of its profits. Hence, from an impartial standpoint, lower taxes are decidedly favorable to the business outlook. Lower taxes, so, should be a great advantage to American producers in competition with manufacturers in England and European countries. Hence government taxes are still heavy. The new tax rates make it profitable again for investors to put money to industrial development rather than municipal extravaganzas. A sensible business man and a worker will use his influence to have the new tax law go through on the basis indicated by the committee report. Not only administration supporters, but Democrats, if sensible, will go for the better. Perhaps, the income party might not be better to such a reducing of tax, that they would have to be taxed again, rather than lowered. This is the next presidential election.

Railroads and Shipping. "The Administration is firmly in the proposition of railroads and, sooner or later, there will be some important mergers. It may be that certain affected will furnish some revenue in the stock market for the next year is ended. However, this does not mean that all railroad stocks will advance to the strength of advanced mergers of a few individuals. In fact, the public probably will lose more money than will be gained by picking the winners. Investors must remember that any steps which the roads as a whole intend to face the demands of liberalized lower freight rates and the importance of all the demands of railroad employees are more ways.

"As a rule, railroad conductors and brakemen are negotiating to secure a restoration of war-time wage scales in renewing their agreement which expires on January 1, 1921. While there appears to be no danger of a strike, yet it is very evident that labor is awake to the better position in which the railroads now find themselves and is determined to have a large share in these better times. We wonder, therefore, if from a stock market standpoint the prospects of railroad dividends probably are not brighter now than they will be later.

"So far as congress is concerned, the railroads apparently have passed their greatest difficulties and popular feeling is more in favor of the roads than it has been for twenty years. Moreover, from a business standpoint there is every reason to expect excellent transportation service, which is a very important point in view of the current demand for quick deliveries and small order buying.

"For the past three administrations the United States shipping venture has been more or less a skeleton in the closet. While there is no intimation of scandal, nevertheless there is a very general opinion that the operations of the Shipping Board may not stand up well under a public investigation. President Coolidge has inherited most of the difficulties, but nevertheless it is likely that the administration's opponents will endeavor to air the shortcomings of the Shipping board during the coming months. I imagine that President Coolidge would like very much to get the government out of the shipping business, although there are two distinct sides to the question both worthy of careful consideration.

Banking, Labor and Farming. "The two McFadden bills promise a very interesting fight sometime during the coming session. In the first bill are two main points: (1) The question of whether branch banking, under certain restrictions, shall be allowed to expand and (2) whether national banks shall be allowed to loan on real estate under certain restrictions. The branch bank question is familiar to most readers. The question, however, of whether or not the national banks may loan on real estate mortgages is of the greatest importance.

"Of course, as a matter of fact national banks already have a large amount of loans outstanding which really have been made for real estate purposes. By this we mean that depositors of good standing have borrowed on their personal notes to carry through real estate ventures. If, however, national banks were allowed now to lead one-half of their time deposits on a straight real estate mortgage, it could greatly increase the amount of capital going into building. Whether or not such an extension of credit at this time would be wise is another question.

"From a labor standpoint the present coal crisis, of course, represents the immediate problem. A determined effort is on foot to obtain, before the coal strike is finally decided, some decisive progress along the lines laid down by the coal fact-finding commission appointed by President Harding. So far the administration policy continues to be 'hands off', and this policy doubtless will be sustained by the Senate, although legislation to deal with the coal situation will be introduced by both the operators and miners. The President, however, is interested in keeping the government out of business and he will use his veto if necessary in order to hold to that program.

"Regarding farm problems, the corn-producing elements are desiring that what they want is 'not more credit but some profit.' It is reported that the cotton elements will enter into conferences as soon as Congress meets and seek to agree on some definite legislation to curb speculation. Politicians from the West and mid-West are advising the administration that the situation is 'loaded with dynamite.' The demand for some legislative method of facilitating sales of exportable farm surplus in such a way that such surplus will not effect domestic crop prices, is taking on new life. No radical legislation, however, is likely, for a Presidential veto would intervene to prevent. The administration seems to be relying considerably on the inability of the agricultur-

Sanitation Meeting at St. Joseph Ends

Watch Borah. "Taken as a whole, however, the probable action of congress this session should be generally favorable to business. This does not mean that it will be an entirely peaceful session, for the administration's opponents will try every way possible to find some issue on which they can 'get him in bad.' There is going to be a very savage and sustained attack on the White House along the line that business is the 'favorite child' and the consumers are all 'stepchildren'. Moreover, in this regard senator Borah will be the man to watch. Regardless of his personal pleasant relations with Mr. Coolidge, he is going to differ sharply with him on the principal items in the administration program.

"Such matters as the World Court, Foreign Debt Settlement, the plan to curtail federal aid in road building and the Coolidge plan on tax reduction, will meet some stiff opposition. In fact, some interests feel that the willingness of congress to rush the tax bill through is partly due to the thought that the people are impatient on tax reduction, which, with other issues, especially investigations, will follow which offer a better chance to make political capital. All this is only a part of the usual political game, and should be discounted to a large extent by business men in judging the real trend of affairs. The best test of whether or not the administration's plans are successful will be seen in the trend of the index of business conditions rising and now stands at about 16 per cent above normal."

Revenue Bureau Says Probers Bared Only Isolated Bad Spots

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Sharp criticism of what is described as the action of representatives of the senate internal revenue bureau investigating committee in picking out a few isolated cases of tax settlement and advertising them as typical of the action of the bureau, is made by A. W. Gregg, recently appointed solicitor of the bureau. Mr. Gregg's statement was made to the committee at secret hearings and is contained in another installment of testimony made public today after its presentation to the senate. The solicitor conceded frankly that there have been "cases of irregularity, some isolated cases of fraud" in settling tax cases, but said officials of the bureau are doing everything they can to correct the situation.

"The bureau has done a big job and it has done a wonderful piece of work," Mr. Gregg declared. He charged that representatives of the committee were hunting only for the "black spots" in the bureau and protested that this was not fair.

It is unfair to condemn the girl who goes astray in a large city, because of the temptations that beset her, Miss Addams said. Nor is the immigrant girl as much of a moral problem as is often thought, the speaker added. "The immigrant girl is comparatively well educated and does not give the amount of trouble, in proportion to the number of such girls here, as the native born small town or country girl."

WELLS LEADING IN ARMY DRIVE

McCauley's District Sets Pace in Fund Campaign.

That the Wells-Groes district in which C. J. McCauley is the committee man, will be the banner area in the Salvation Army fund-raising campaign, was the prediction made at headquarters yesterday afternoon. The total receipts, thus far, in Wells and Groes have been about $450. Mr. McCauley told L. M. Beggs, vice chairman, last night. The district includes the I. Stephenson company, the Escanaba and Lake Superior general offices and other operations, the Escanaba Paper company, the Delta Chemical company and the St. Paul ore docks, and the employees of these concerns.

Only a few solicitors had turned in complete reports last night. Most of them will not complete the tasks assigned to them before Monday and some may be as late as Tuesday. It was said, due to the absence of some of their important "prospects" from the city. No general total for the city was announced yesterday. This will not be available until reports from all the districts are in. It was said it was stated, however, that in order to attain the goal set in advance—and which is necessary to finance the Salvation Army for the coming year—there must be no letup on the part of the field workers.

Generous Response to Press Appeal to Aid Needy Families

Sheriff's department men yesterday distributed two more automobile loads of clothing to needy families of the county. The material taken out was supplied by the Charity committee of the Escanaba Woman's club. In the shipment were new shoes and rubbers for the children of the families and a large quantity of warm and serviceable wearing apparel. No more clothing is needed by the club at this time. Miss Martha Greene, chairman of the Charity committee, announced yesterday. Needs of the present and for the immediate future have been supplied.

Co-operating with the sheriff's department, Miss Greene's committee has responded to dozens of requests for aid from all parts of Delta county. In addition to the work in the city of Escanaba, during the last two years. Many of these have necessitated quick and direct action which always has been available. It was said at the sheriff's office.

Stephenson Beaten in Legal Fight to Escape Prison Term

Noblesville, Ind., Dec. 12.—(AP)—D. C. Stephenson returned to Indiana state prison tonight with only one remaining hope that his conviction to life imprisonment for the murder of Madge Oberholzer might be set aside. That was through appeal to the higher court. The former Indiana leader of the Ku Klux Klan was beaten in every legal turn he made here today to nullify his conviction and win a new trial. Judge Will M. Sparks also overruled a motion to arrest judgment. Stephenson, with a wan smile, accepted the verdicts philosophically.

Judge Sparks heard arguments of the motion to vacate the verdict. The other motions were merely filed and action announced. Following that, with the consent of the court, the three guards, who had custody of Stephenson, permitted him to converse for an hour with attorneys and friends.

Two hundred and eighty-seven reasons were contained in the motion for a new trial which was filed immediately after Judge Sparks ruled on the motion to vacate.

Two Killed When Building Collapses

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Two men were dead today and a third was in critical condition in Bellevue hospital as a result of the collapse yesterday of a seven-story building in West Fourth-seventh street, in which eight workmen were buried beneath tons of debris. The structure, an old dwelling, was being converted into an office building.

Kipling's Condition Keeps on Improving

Farwash, Eng., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Lord Dawson, physician in ordinary to the king, visited Rudyard Kipling tonight. After his departure, a bulletin was issued that Kipling continued to improve.

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Sunday will bring the last of the funeral rites for 52 men who were killed in Overton Mine No. 2 on Thursday. Burial of the dead began today and final tributes were paid to half the number in Overton and surrounding churches.

Dance Music that fills the room on the new ORTHOPHONIC Victrola

The new Orthophonic Victrola will not be drowned out by the shuffling of dancers' feet. It will give you all the volume you need.

The bass tones are rich and magnificent. The double-bass, the sousaphone, the big sax boom gloriously on each accented beat of the music. That's what carries a dance rhythm!

The model illustrated is the Credenza—inspired in design by the great Italian masters of the Renaissance.

If you never have heard the Orthophonic, there is an experience coming for you. You absolutely cannot judge it by anything that has been done in the past.

To hear the Orthophonic is to want one. You had better order yours early, for there will not be nearly enough to go 'round this Christmas. All Orthophonic Victrolas bear the famous Victor trademark shown below.

TRAIN NO. 221 BACK ON CARD

Shoppers' Local Resumes Place Today; Other Changes Held Up.

Chicago & North-Western Train No. 221, arriving here from Powers at 5:35 a. m., is restored to the company's time card today.

All other changes in the time card announced Friday, will be held up until January 2, it was announced by local North-Western officials, following receipt of orders from Chicago.

First notices yesterday were to the effect that all changes were to be delayed until after Christmas. Secretary O. I. Bandeen, of the Chamber of Commerce, immediately led a vigorous protest to the Chicago office of the company. C. A. Cairns, general passenger traffic manager, responded a few hours later with an order restoring No. 221 to the card, effective today and holding up other changes in the card until after the holiday shopping rush.

Restoration of Train No. 221 was the only request made by the Chamber of Commerce. Other changes in the time card were made by the North-Western of their own accord and for their own reasons.

The company's response to the local request is regarded as additional evidence of the railway company's desire to cooperate with merchants of this city by making it easy for the people living in this region to get into Escanaba for Christmas shopping.

Working Girl Must Pay $20. a Week for Single Room in Miami, Florida

Here is the first of a series of articles by Allene Sumner, special writer for NEA Service and Press, who has come to Florida to see just what sort of conditions confront women who go there to work or run a household.

BY ALLENE SUMNER. NEA Service Writer.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 12.—I was prepared for the very worst.

On the train coming down from the north, I had heard many stories of the scarcity of hotel accommodations in Miami; stories of people sleeping in the parks, or paying $5 a night to sleep in parked automobiles.

So it was with considerable trepidation that I approached Miss Helen Sullivan, Travelers' Aid Society secretary, who sat at a desk in the Miami station with a sign which read: "Ask me about hotel reservations." I did.

"What can you pay?" asked Miss Sullivan.

I reflected, remembering palatial rooms up north for $5 a day, I timidly suggested that I could pay $5.

"With bath?" queried Miss Sullivan with lifted brows. "Can't possibly be done under $10."

I meekly asked for a few $10 addresses and set forth.

The $10 places looked dowdy. I did some research for myself. The first place I dove into had a Spanish patio effect with a lobby full of high-born maids and maids. Scorn and derision greeted my request for "a single with bath."

Pleasantly Surprised.

Nothing daunted, I troked across the street to where another orange-awned confection of architecture waited forth the ambrosial odor of French perfume and imported henna. And again I made my quavering request.

Now recall that Miami, formerly a city of 75,000, is now almost 300,000. Recall that ten cities dot the entire state of Florida because "there is no room at the inn."

Here was a clerk suavely and apologetically saying:

"I'm sorry I can't give you a single. But I'll give you a double with bath for the same price—$5 a day."

Thus did investigation reveal the hotel situation in Miami.

But it means nothing. It's just one of those constant contradictions in which this play city abounds.

Besides, the hotel problem in Miami is not so acute just now. There is the lull before the storm. The city's population has shrunk slightly during the past month; but before December ends there will be a torrent of tourists pouring in.

WHAT GIRLS WILL FIND IN MIAMI

Here's what Allene Sumner found during her first day in Miami:

Hotel rooms are not scarce just now, but will be by the first of the year.

Accommodations for the working woman are almost unobtainable.

It is almost impossible for a working girl to get a single room for less than $20 a week.

Hot water and gas heaters are rare luxuries at such places.

Hardly 50 women in all Miami are making as much as $75 a week.

Hard for Working Girls.

But, though $5 hotel rooms may be found, terror strikes the heart of the business or professional woman who comes here to work and live on what she makes.

For, granted that she could get a room for $5 a day, that's $35 a week!

And not more than 50 women in all Miami are making as much as $75 a week, according to the Y. W. C. A.

The working woman must find a room. She figures on a possible $12 a week as her maximum.

But, startling though it may seem, there is hardly one single room available in Miami, in which a self-respecting working girl would live, which does not cost at least $20 a week.

And a girl has a mighty hard time finding even a $20 room which she may have by herself.

Landladies have learned that men don't mind "doubling up" as much as women do. Four men on cots in one room will pay $15 each. There's $60 a week right there. Why bother with a girl with only $20?

The room registry of the Y. W. C. A. is desperate!

"Stop Coming Here."

"Tell girls to stop coming here unless they know exactly where they are going to live and what they are going to pay," says Miss Vilona Cutler of the Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. has 100 rooms of its own and will have 110 more by January 1. These rooms rent for from $2 to $5 a week. Thousands of girls are after them, and the Y. W. C. simply takes in girls who would be on the streets otherwise.

I met one girl who is joyful because she has the privilege of sharing a bedroom with another woman for $12.50 a week. She walks eight miles a day to work, and was bothered with a bad cold when I met her.

"Take a hot bath, drink some hot lemonade and take a hot water bottle to bed with you," I suggested. She only chuckled.

"Hot water, did you say?" she asked. "We have no gas and no electric heater. I haven't had a hot bath since I came here, two months ago."

"Well, heat a dishpan of water on the stove," I went on.

Again she howled.

"What did you say? A dishpan? We can't buy one. We haven't even a tea kettle. The embargo shut them all out."

A professional woman who made $50 a month in Toronto, and who is working here for $35 a week, complained that her landlady had requested her to leave because she asked for hot water for a bath. And she was paying $20 a week for her room.

Gulbransen Registering Piano

Provide This Christmas the Kind of Entertainment That Will Keep the Young Folks Home at Night

CHRISTMAS carols ring with rollicking cheer when you play them yourself by roll, with your personal touch and expression.

Anyone without musical training can play a piano solo by roll on the Gulbransen just like a pianist playing by hand. You can accompany a singer in any one of seven keys. The vocalist carries the air, the piano plays the accompaniment, usually in the bass or lower register. This can be done on the Gulbransen Registering Piano regardless of the melody notes that are cut in the roll.

There are many soloists who would not tolerate the "mechanical" playing of ordinary player pianos, who, willingly sing to the accompaniment of roll-played music on the Gulbransen Registering Piano.

For your amusement this Christmas, pay in, not out, for the money you spend for outside amusements would soon pay for a Gulbransen Registering Piano and your home will be the center of entertainment for the entire family for years to come.

Come in and play this piano that you will find this Christmas in thousands of happy homes.

MOTOR LICENSE ACTION NEEDED

Don't Wait Until Last Minute, Officials Advise.

Motorists who wait until the dawn of the joyous New Year to apply for their 1926 automobile license plates are apt to be faced with the necessity of laying up their cars for a day or two, it was stated yesterday by officials of the State Savings bank...

Police emphasized that since the plates went on sale December 1, there would be no valid excuse for anyone's failure to equip their car with the tags by the first of January. Consequently, no one who has not acquired a new license will be permitted to operate a car after that date.

Days of grace have been accorded motorists in past years because the plates were not available in time for all to be supplied within the deadline. At the bank it was pointed out that there is a limit to the number of applications which can be handled in a day. "We will make every effort to take care of applications with all possible speed," bank officers said, "but if everybody waits until January first, some of them will be disappointed."

"The earlier the applications are received, the better it will be for all concerned and many applicants will avoid the necessity of laying up their car until their turn comes."

There are about ten thousand murders committed in the United States every year, but there are many times that many more serious murders perpetrated. This aspect of the subject will be presented in the sermon of the morning under the title, "Murderers at Large." There are at least one thousand children in Escanaba who attend no Bible School of any kind. Such are cordially invited to our well equipped religious education plant. Dolly Nelson will lead the C. E. meeting, which promises to be an unusually interesting one. One feature of the morning will be the reading of a play by Janet Owen, entitled "Thanksgiving Ann." In the evening the pastor will speak upon the subject, "The Inspiration of the Bible," which is a much mooted question of today.

The Bible has always been the object of attack. This has consisted of a quiet indifference, a fiery rhetorical attack by some silver-tongued atheist, or even the horrors of warfare and the agony of the torture chamber. Scientific research has been brought to bear upon the problem of the authority of the Bible and much smoke and confusion has arisen as a result of the far from peaceful meeting. Some have said that the Bible is inspired from cover to cover, with every word in it written under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Others have said that the Bible is inspired, and still others that the Bible is a collection of folklores and myths of high ethical teaching, but which are entirely a man made production.

If the Bible is thrown aside, the best guide through life is lost. For a man's peace of mind he should know just how much weight the Bible really carries, just how true it is. A sermon in "The Inspiration of the Bible" will be given in the First Presbyterian Church tonight at 7:30.

in order that some of these doubts may be cleared away.

Fire Burns Auto Parked in Yard

Fire, early yesterday morning, badly damaged a Chevrolet automobile, owned by Terry Hanley, 612 First avenue south. The machine was in the yard, near the house, and had not been used by its owner for several days. Firemen believe that some person passing the house saw the car and attempted to start it, leaving the switch open. A "short" in the battery wiring did the rest. The top of the car and the body were virtually destroyed. The department's chemical outfit prevented the blaze from reaching buildings in the locality.

Associated Press Announces All-American Football Squads

3 DARTMOUTH MEN ON FIRST

Oberlander Outstanding Individual Player in Country.

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—College football's outstanding stars for 1925 have taken their places in the All-American hall of fame created for them by the country-wide compilation of the Associated Press.

Dartmouth Wins Laurels. In this comprehensive consensus, representing the views of more than a hundred qualified critics who witnessed the high spots and bright stars of a record-breaking season in every sector of the gridiron battle front.

Oberlander is Star. None outside of Dartmouth has more than one player on the first aggregation, although Michigan's formidable outfit picked four men altogether on the squad.

Dartmouth's record galas added distinction in the fact that "Suede" Oberlander, a forward passer extraordinary and triple threat star of the first magnitude, is generally regarded as the country's outstanding individual performer.

Webster Outstanding Player. Oberlander shares, with Ed Weir, giant Nebraska tackle and captain, the honor of being the only players unanimously picked for their places.

Grange, as the result of an up and down season, was the subject of divided opinion, but although not all observers agree he was entitled to a place on the first eleven, the verdict in the first eleven, the verdict in the first eleven, the verdict in the first eleven.

Grange shared with Jake Slagle of Princeton, fullback on the second team, the novelty of being considered for every position in the backfield but the majority opinion placed him at quarterback, in spite of the fact that Benny Friedman of Michigan seemed the outstanding regular in this role during a season which produced few notable field generals.

Far West Stars Picked. Two satellites of the far west—Ernie Nevers, of Stanford, acclaimed the "greatest fullback the Pacific Coast has ever seen," and George Wilson, ace of the Washington eleven, which won the Pacific coast championship, round out the first team's backfield.

Nevers, an all-around star, coached by Glenn Warner, as the equal of Jim Thorpe, stood head and shoulders above all other candidates for the fullback position. Wilson, on the other hand, though also highly regarded on the coast, was hard pressed to gain the majority verdict over such stars as Eddie Tryon of Colgate and "Poppy" Flournoy of Tulane, leading scorers of the east and south.

ERNE NEVERS TO TURN PRO

Stanford Grid Star To Play in Jacksonville, Fla.

Stanford University, Cal., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The lure of professional football has claimed another college gridiron star—Ernie Nevers, captain of the 1925 Stanford football team and probably the greatest fullback to wear a Cardinal jersey since the university's founding in 1892.

In announcing today that he had come to terms with a group of Jacksonville, Fla., capitalists to lead a team representing that city, Nevers said the venture stood to net him a sum totaling more than $50,000.

The agreement as outlined guarantees Nevers a net sum of $25,000 for five games and five per cent of the various gate receipts.

And if the undertaking proves to be a financial success for the backers, Nevers will be offered a contract next season. With the announcement that he had decided to capitalize his gridiron prowess, came a number of other offers to Nevers today.

MICHIGAN WINS SEASON OPENER

Ohio Wesleyan Five Is Defeated by Score of 32 to 27.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The University of Michigan defeated Ohio Wesleyan here tonight, 32 to 27, in the first basketball game of the season. The Ohio aggregation, by super-team work, almost defeated the Michigan team, the Wolverines excelling in individual team work.

The Wesleyan team ran the score up to 11 to 2 in its favor early in the game but by the end of the half, the Wolverines had fought back and cut down the visitors' lead to three points, the score standing 16 to 13. In the second half the visiting team got its lead to 20 to 13.

MICHIGAN POS WESLEYAN

Nevertheless a sufficient number stood out to gain their places on the first team by fairly decisive margins of opinion.

St. Joe Reserves Play Rock Cagers; 'Twas Hectic Game

The following version of the basketball contest between the St. Joe Reserves and the Rock high school team played at Rock on Friday night was contributed by an interested bystander with leanings toward journalism.

The Rock cheer leaders were whooping things up and fling the warriors with the spirit of battle which was about to be waged. St. Joe appeared as mid-jets in comparison to the Rock giants, but from the very tipoff the ball was marched up and down the floor, often taking more than four turns to make the ten yards.

St. Joe appeared as mid-jets in comparison to the Rock giants, but from the very tipoff the ball was marched up and down the floor, often taking more than four turns to make the ten yards.

"Countess Koroly" Appears. The fun-making began almost as soon as the guests were seated. An unexpected guest who professed to be Countess Koroly of Hungary and demanded a seat beside Secretary Kellogg who had forbidden her admittance to the United States, proved to be Theodore G. Joslin of the Boston Transcript, who was being initiated to the club.

The game ended in a tie and an extra period was played, and the scrimmage that was staged was worth while witnessing, for it seemed as though someone had offered a cigar for each player knocked down, and some wished to have a few boxes of cigars on hand for Christmas.

Senator's Feet in Way. "Because," came the prompt response, "the senator's feet were in the way."

The world war debt skit, showed one member playing the part of a magician and the other in evening dress. The magician, who proved to be "Little Joe" Callaux, held in one hand a toy balloon, representing 3 1/2 per cent, and in the other nothing, which represented "capacity to pay."

Gridiron Club Holds Its Annual Dinner; Public Officials are "Razed"

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The Gridiron club of Washington newspaper correspondents, giving their regular winter dinner tonight, "grilled" public men and affairs at home and abroad for the amusement of a large company of notables headed by President Coolidge.

The entertainment, designed to fit in with the reassembling of congress, but in addition to domestic affairs, the Gridironers found time to have some fun with the foreign debt situation, the Koroly case and other topics of the day's news.

A new method was employed by the club in introducing distinguished guests. Two members, one in a "hick" costume and carrying a carpet bag, posing as a new congressman, and the other in cutaway and high silk hat, as a new senator, asked permission to see the leaders in public life and guests were asked to stand when their names were called.

The Mitchell court martial showed immediate uncertainty whether the Colonel or the War Department was on trial. It developed that the Colonel was charged with "parking overtime in the newspapers."

Girls Teams Bow Today. A great deal of interest is being created among bowlers of this city and Gladstone for the matched game which will take place this afternoon at two o'clock at the Arcade alleys when a team of five Gladstone young ladies will play with the Escanaba team of young ladies.

Alleys have been reserved for the game and a large number of friends of the participants will congregate at the recreation parlors to watch the contest which promises to be good one.

ECKIE SELECTS ALL-WESTERN

Enright of Notre Dame Is Picked as Fullback on Eleven.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The All-Western team, selected tonight by Walter Eckersall of the Chicago Tribune, is composed of seven of his All-Western Conference team with two additions from Nebraska and one each from Marquette and Notre Dame.

Eckersall, leading football critic of the Middle West, puts Enright of Notre Dame in at fullback in his All-Western eleven, retaining the other Big Ten backs. Enright, who displaces "Five Yards" McCarty of Chicago in the All-Western team, was one of the leading point scorers in the Middle West.

Ed Weir, Nebraska captain, who was one of Camp's All-American team last year at tackle, and Hutchinson, Nebraska center, are regarded as among the outstanding players of the Missouri Valley conference.

Four other Missouri Valley conference players are chosen for Eckersall's second team which includes some of his first team selections for the All-Big Ten. The first and second All-Western teams as picked by Eckersall are:

- First Team. Left End: Oosterbaan, Michigan. Left Tackle: Weir, Nebraska. Left Guard: Hess, Ohio State. Center: Hutchinson, Nebraska. Right Guard: Walsh, Minnesota. Right Tackle: Edwards, Michigan. Right End: Dilweg, Marquette. Quarterback: Friedman, Michigan.

Baby Carriage Makers Cop Long End of 28-14 Score.

Bill Doyle's Lloydlooms were able to hit the baskets when the chances were offered, the Escanaba Independents weren't, and the visitors won last night's basketball encounter in the high school gymnasium, 28 to 14.

The Escanaba team played snappy basketball on the floor and had a flock of chances to keep things fairly even, but poor marksmanship was decidedly costly.

LLOYDS SCORE. UTECH, f 1 7. BOUCHER, f 3 10. ANDERSON, f 0 0. LARSON, c 3 17. PETERSON, c 0 0. L. PETERSON, g 1 0 2. CHRISTOFFSON, g 1 0 2.

COACH YET TIED TO NOTRE DAME

N. Y. College Did Not Know He Was Still Under Contract.

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Columbia university officials announced tonight they had withdrawn their offer to Knute Rockne of Notre Dame to become head coach of the local football squad.

Action by the Columbia football committee followed a long conference this afternoon with Rockne, during which he admitted he was already under contract to the University of Notre Dame, where he has acted as coach for eight years.

In an official statement, the Columbia committee also said Rockne had signed a three-year contract to coach football at Columbia, effective next spring, but made no attempt to explain Rockne's failure to reveal the existence of his contract with the Indiana institution.

Columbia's statement follows: "Mr. Knute Rockne signed an agreement on December 1 to act as head coach of the Columbia football team for the period of the next three years, at a stipulated salary subject to the approval of the Columbia university committee on athletics."

The football committee presented the agreement to the university committee on athletics on December 11, recommending its approval. Thereupon the university committee on athletics approved the agreement and the announcement of Mr. Rockne's appointment as head coach followed.

Denied N. D. Contract. "At the time this contract was made, Mr. Rockne stated that he was not under contract to the University of Notre Dame. It now appears both from statements by Notre Dame authorities and by Mr. Rockne himself, that Mr. Rockne was in fact, and still is, under contract to the University of Notre Dame."

The Columbia committee would not have offered a contract to Mr. Rockne or to any other man, or appointed him as head coach if it had known that he was under contract to another university, and regrets the entire situation. In view of the foregoing, the appointment of Mr. Rockne is withdrawn."

Coach Rockne in a statement tonight declared his agreement with Columbia was made contingent specifically upon his release by Notre Dame and that he had not been consulted in connection with the appointment to coach football at the New York institution.

Rockne asserted further that he had written James R. Knapp, chairman of the Columbia football committee, on December 7, that he had not been able to obtain such release.

He asserted that Knapp had "made every effort to have me break my contract" with Notre Dame last January and described the statement announcing withdrawal of Columbia's offer as "unfair" because of failure of Columbia officials to include his viewpoint.

MAY STAY OR GO. South Bend, Ind., Dec. 12.—(AP)—"Notre Dame will not stand in the way of Knute K. Rockne if he wishes to go to Columbia university," President Matthew Walsh declared tonight when informed he had signed the Columbia contract without informing the Columbia representatives of his contract with Notre Dame.

"Rockne can stay at Notre Dame or he can leave. It's up to him. The contract means nothing to us. If he can better himself at Columbia, I will be the first to congratulate him," Father Walsh declared.

Although officials of the local school feel confident that Rockne will be back directing the destinies of the football team in 1926, alumni of the school believe they will lose their renowned coach. It is generally believed he has been handcuffed on every side by Notre Dame officials. It also is understood the matter of making the football schedule was taken out of his hands and given to a faculty committee which, it was said, was not pleasing to Rockne.

In a telephone call to Rev. Walsh tonight from Joseph M. Byrne, Eastern representative of Notre Dame, the latter declared that Rockne would not go to Columbia, the Notre Dame president asserted.

Study Means for Taking Care of Golfing Novices. Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Methods for caring for the legion of golfers who have taken up the game during the last few years with the marvelous growth of the pastime were discussed tonight at the annual meeting of the Western Golf association after the retiring president, Charles O. Pfeil of Memphis, had handed over the duties of chief executive of the world's largest golf body to Hobart P. Young of Chicago.

BEARS LOSE AT DETROIT, 21-0. Refund $18,000 to Fans Because Grange Did Not Play.

Detroit, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A Grangeless Chicago Bears team was beaten 21 to 0 by the Detroit Panthers before a paid attendance of 4,111 today.

Announcement that Grange would not play was made late yesterday with the statement that ticket purchasers would be refunded their money if they so desired. The refund, it was stated tonight, was approximately $18,000.

The victory gave the Panthers third place in the National Football League standings. The score by periods: Panthers 7 0 7 7—31. Bears 0 0 0 0—0.

Detroit, Dec. 12.—(AP)—An attempt to hold up receipts of today's Detroit Panthers-Chicago Bears football game was made after the game when a garnishment was served on James Conzelman, manager of the Panthers. The garnishment was directed against C. C. Fyle, manager of Harold (Red) Grange and was for an alleged obligation of $1,217.98 of Fyle to C. Howard Crane, Detroit architect.

It was said that the garnishment would be ineffective inasmuch as Grange did not play and, under the contract, had no share in today's receipts.

The original contract between the two teams called for 70 per cent of the receipts to be paid to the Bears, provided Grange played at least 25 minutes. Injury kept Grange out of uniform and late last night a new contract was drawn up.

BECOME RICH, ARE UNHAPPY

Oklahoma Couple Long for Days Before They Gained Wealth

By NEA Service
Enid, Okla.—In every city and town in America it wouldn't be hard to find several old couples whose declining years are made unhappy because of poverty.

After a lifetime of toil, Dad discovers that he won't be able to sit back and take things easy, after all; and mother finds that old age doesn't bring relief from the scraping and saving of her younger days.

But Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroeder, who have just reached 70, after spending their lives struggling with an Oklahoma farm, are very unhappy because they are rich!

Most people don't believe the copy-book saying about the failure of money to bring happiness; but Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder are learning that it is tragically true.

Until a few years ago the Schroeders lived on a farm near here. They raised eleven children and lived the hard-working, uneventful lives of the average American farmer. They never had any luxuries, but they were content enough.

Oil Brings Riches.
Then, on a corner of the Schroeder farm oil was discovered. The two old people were delighted. Never again would they have to worry about money matters. They could retire now and live out the rest of their lives peacefully and quietly in serene content.

But somehow it isn't working out that way.

The Schroeder farm proved a veritable gold-mine. Many wells were shot, and an inexhaustible supply of oil rushed to the surface. Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder found themselves possessed of an income of about $650 a day, over and above the very large sums that went to each of the eleven grown children. Furthermore, there is every indication that this income will be doubled in size before very long.

They have retired to a modest home in Enid. But happiness and contentment are not as near to them as in the days when $650 was a fair percentage of their yearly earnings.

Mr. Schroeder can't work in his little garden because of the way in which high-powered salesmen of high-powered motor cars dog his footsteps.

He can't go down to the corner grocery to sit and chat with his friends because charity workers keep beseeching him for contributions.

He can't even have a telephone in his home. He had to have the old party line disconnected because salesmen of every known variety were forever calling up.

The number of people who want to help the Schroeders spend their money is simply amazing.

"We don't want a larger home," says Mrs. Schroeder. "We'd rather live here than in a palace, but real estate men pester us all the time, wanting us to buy fine residences."

Don't Want an Auto.
"We don't want any motor car, but agents of all the big, expensive makes are calling on us all the time."

"We don't want to invest in any stocks and bonds of concerns we never heard of, but salesmen are after us constantly."

The daily mail is of enormous bulk. As many as 500 begging letters have been received by the Schroeders in one day. The old couple speedily found that life was in danger of being reduced to an endless process of opening letters. So they hired an attorney to devote his entire time to handling their income, making such investments as he thought wise and contributing to such charities as he thought deserving.

Mr. Schroeder gets most of his pleasure out of his garden. He could, if he wanted, send to every corner of the earth for his supplies, but most of the vegetables that come to the Schroeder table he raises himself.

He doesn't play golf, he doesn't

Japan, France and Italy Oppose Cut in Navy at Geneva

Geneva, Dec. 12.—(AP)—With Japan, France and Italy opposed to discussing any reductions except as an integral part of the problem of disarmament as a whole, interest in Geneva centered tonight in how the United States would answer the invitation to send delegates to participate in the League of Nations' disarmament studies as a first step toward the convocation of a general conference. The invitation was sent to the American legation at Bern this afternoon and should be in Washington tomorrow or Monday.

Another question causing almost equal speculation is whether Russia will participate for the Soviet government, like that of the United States and Germany, has been asked to collaborate in Geneva's disarmament program. The league council adopted another significant resolution today aimed at advancement of world peace, when it requested Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general, to prepare before the next meeting a summary of all suggestions touching on the pacific settlement of international disputes and a systematic survey of arbitration conventions and security treaties.

The object is to permit the council to recommend at the next assembly practical plans extending the scope of arbitration, conciliation and security pacts as a preventive of war by perhaps a broad international convention.

Protests Are Made to Shipping Board

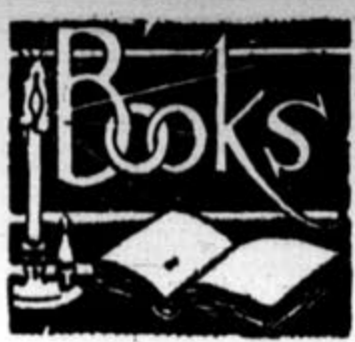

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Protests were made today to President Coolidge and Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, against the war department plan to take over as army transports two of the five passenger cargo ships operated by the Admiral-Orin Line from Seattle to the Far East.

In his letter to the president, the chairman of the senate committee said it had been brought to his attention that Colonel H. C. Smither, chief co-ordinator for government property under the budget, had made a peremptory demand upon the shipping board to turn over the two ships to the war department within four days.

drive an automobile. He has a princely income and he can't buy anything he wants with it.

And Mrs. Schroeder is the same. She doesn't know how to enjoy luxury.

It sounds trite to say money can't buy happiness. But sometimes it's true.

Sitting back in the mellow wisdom of declining years John Adams and Thomas Jefferson, the "two greatest Americans," exchanged a mass of letters which, this Survey believes, should be forced down the throats of every American office seeker from a sheriff in the Kentucky hills to the president.

Instead of the usual demand that he vote thus-and-so, send your Congressman a copy of "The Correspondence of John Adams and Thomas Jefferson" (Bobbs-Merrill) which has been compiled by Paul Wiltach.

How these ripe old boys make one blush for the present day political leaders! How wide were their interests and how broad their understandings! And how applicable to things of this very day were their conclusions!

Take, for instance, a discussion of politics! Jefferson had commented that "the same political parties which agitate the United States have existed through all time." And Adams comes back: "Precisely. All other sciences have advanced, but that of government has stood still. The trouble is, parties and factions will not suffer improvements to be made. No sooner does a party discover an amelioration of man's condition or the order of society than the other party belies it, libels it, misconstrues and misrepresents it, ridicules it and persecutes it. Records are destroyed. Histories are annihilated or prohibited."

Does this not remind one of all that is said when some such "third party," as that attempted by the late La Follette, makes its appearance? Or for that matter, when almost anything new is attempted?

And this rather penetrating slant on the status of history; written by Jefferson after Adams had suggested in 1815 that the time for a history of the American Revolution was ripe:

"But who shall write it? Who can write it? Nobody; except merely its external facts. All of its councils and discussions have been conducted by Congress behind closed doors, and no members, as far as I know, having ever made notes on them. These, which are the life and soul of history must remain forever unknown."

With the same straightforwardness these great beginners of the nation write each other on religion, philosophy, life itself, everything and anything.

If, at the end of these letters, you cannot rise and sing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," then, indeed, would it be well to obey that oft-quoted admonition about "going back to Russia!"

Skip a century! The virgin land they did so much to found has become the greatest industrial center history has ever known. The giants have gained a strange hold on this and that and the voice of the muckraker is heard in the land. It is around 1900, when "trusts" were on the run. Not the least of the muckraker army was Ida Tarbell, with her famous book: "The History of the Standard Oil Company" (MacMillan). Now, some 25 years after, it comes in a new edition.

At the time, so the story went, Standard Oil bought up the edition that it might not be too widely read.

Rocketfeller, Sr., is shown in the role of a great privateer, with all the others—including Morgan—mere pikers. Miss Tarbell presents a sound case, based on statistics, congressional reports and what not. There are no wild hazards. Here is a great game of maneuvering, stabbing and grabbing.

But out of all the chicane and dicker and slicing, the reader gathers unquestionably that Rocketfeller was genuine and sincere. He was sincere in his charities, in his religion, in his foundation, in his fight for power.

Skip ten years! It is today, with business conservatism in the ascendant, Ida Tarbell is reported writing another volume of her "Standard Oil" now using her whitewash brush.

Also, she has written "The Life of Elbert H. Gary" (Appleton). There is not much of the muckraker in this. Neither is there a great deal of Judge Gary, but there are hundreds of pages about steel. He is the hero of "steel," rather than the subject of biography. There are peeps into directors' meetings; scattered fragments of Gary's life and a lot about the importance of steel.

It is little more than a study of Gary's business years. In a sense it is disappointing, for the reader does not get the human Gary—the loves and dislikes and emotions and all that.

Minneapolis Flyer Marries in Clouds

Niles, Mich., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Aviator Stephen Lacey, 21 years old, Minneapolis, spurned the conventional scenes of marriage ceremonies on earth today and piloted his wedding party into the clouds.

There, far above this city, he started married life with Miss Homera Cooper, Buchanan, Mich., as his bride after Rev. O. R. Graton, pastor of the Methodist church, had performed the ceremony. To make it strictly legal, Bill Kysor, another pilot, and Harry Elmore, South Bend, Ind., newspapermen, were present as witnesses.

Lacey then brought the party to earth and he and his bride left the witnesses and minister behind to start on their honeymoon.

HOLY NAME TO HOLD SUPPER THIS EVENING

The All Saints Holy Name society, founded two years ago by Rev. Fr. Sebastian Maier, pastor of All Saints' church, will celebrate its second anniversary today when more than a hundred members will receive Holy Communion in a body in the morning and attend a supper in the evening.

The supper will be held at the parish hall at 6 o'clock this evening and will be served by members of the East End Sewing club. The hall has been attractively decorated in Christmas holiday colors for the occasion.

An entertainment committee composed of Harry Stock, chairman, Arthur Sawyer, Father Maier, Carl Schenk and Joe Grawey has arranged a program of short talks, readings and musical numbers for the supper. Father Maier will serve as toastmaster.

The program in part follows: Reading—Miss Alice Fox. Song—Maie Grawey. Short Talks—Theodore LaPorte, Elmer Vandenberg and Father Maier.

The supper will be in charge of Mrs. Philip LaBelle, with members of the sewing club serving. The affair will start at 6 o'clock.

The Holy Name society members will receive Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock mass.

Dr. George W. Olmstead left Friday on a trip in the west.

Pretty Display At Ford Garage

A winter storm scene is attractively and uniquely displayed in the display window of the Ford garage in this city. The scene includes a miniature log cabin, a Ford sedan covered with snow and also small trees. Snow abounds everywhere in the scene, over 45,000 cotton batten "snowflakes" being used to make the effect. About 1,000 yards of black thread was also needed to suspend the flakes in various places.

The display was made by C. W. Whitehurst, Carl Anderson, Ted Ohlman, H. Lundmark and Iva Blodgett.

First Quarterly Conference Held

The first quarterly conference was held Thursday evening at the M. E. church parlors. Rev. Dr. George W. Olmstead of Marquette was present. Reports were made by the different departments of the church, and it was disclosed that the church, Sunday school, Young People's society, Ladies' Aid society and the Woman's Foreign Missionary society are in a better condition than ever before.

POSTMASTER RENEWS EARLY MAILING PLEA

Postmaster F. A. Miller advocates early mailing of parcels and Christmas cards so as to relieve the congestion in the last few days before Christmas. Attention is also called to the mailing of postal cards to foreign countries, that the rate is three cents on each card. Exception is made to postal cards going to countries in Central and South America on which the rate is two cents, the same as in this country.

Regarding Christmas mailing, the postmaster says: "From all indications so far, the public has not responded to the warning of the post office department that there would be no delivery or window service at post offices Christmas morning and urging those who intended mailing parcels, to mail early in order to avoid the congestion which always occurs a few days before Christmas."

"The postmaster general is anxious that all service at all post offices be suspended midnight December 24, and that only such employes retained on duty as are necessary for handling special delivery incoming letters and parcels and to dispatch first class matter. The employment of clerks or carriers in connection with any other feature of the service will be in direct violation of the departmental order."

"The public is again urged to prepare their mailings and get them under way at once and avoid the possibility of snow storms, late trains or congested terminals which may be expected this season of year."

"Mail your Christmas cards now. They will keep, and the recipient will know that you have done your part in making the 'Mail Early' campaign a success."

Lady Foresters to Meet Dec. 21

The Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will hold a social meeting on Monday evening, December 21, at the Parish hall. The meeting was originally planned for Wednesday, December 16, but was postponed because of Ember week.

The various committees in charge are arranging a program in harmony with the Christmas season, and the indications are that the party will be a joyous occasion for the Lady Foresters.

The Young Woman's Foreign Missionary society will meet on Wednesday evening, December 16, at the home of Mrs. I. N. Bushong. Miss Ruby Skellenger has charge of the program which will be announced later.

Conductors Will Banquet Tonight

The Order of Railway Conductors and the Ladies' Auxiliary to the O. R. C. will hold a banquet at Eagles hall at 6:30 o'clock this evening. A Christmas program has been arranged for the occasion.

Mrs. Dolph Ayotte entertained a group of friends at her home on Friday afternoon. The usual social diversions were enjoyed after which Mrs. Ayotte served a delicious luncheon. Those present were Mesdames Max Mathison, Andrew Jackson, Ole Peterson, Fred Hawkinson and Edward Johnson.

FURS STOLEN, VALUE $1,500, AT ISACKSONS

One arrest has been made, a search warrant issued, and fingerprint specimens have been taken, in an effort to clear up the burglary of the Charles N. Isackson fur warehouse at Manistique last week, when mink pelts valued at $1,500 were taken from a suitcase in the office.

The loss was noticed by Mr. Isackson as he started to take the train for Sault Ste. Marie with the suitcase supposedly containing 137 choice mink furs. He noticed that the package seemed light, and opened it to find that the contents were gone. The grip had been packed in the Isackson office the night before, and placed beside the safe.

REV. SIEFERT TALKS TUESDAY AT MANISTIQUE

Owing to the fact that Reverend Father Siefert of Daggett will speak at Manistique under Woman's club auspices Tuesday, the regular club meeting scheduled for that day has been postponed.

Father Siefert's talk will be given at the high school auditorium, starting at 8:00 p. m. His topic will be "Mending Broken Men." This will be an open meeting, with everyone invited, and there will be no admission charge. The speaker has been chaplain of two state prisons in Michigan and Utah, and was in the United States service during the World War, serving as prison inspector for the government in Germany, France and Belgium.

Sauerkraut Price Causes Comments

Through perusal of an article which appeared in these columns Friday regarding Manistique's sauerkraut industry, many people gained the impression that kraut was selling at 5 1/2 cents per pound. This figure was quoted as a basis for showing the amount of money that would be turned back into the community by the sauerkraut business, and was not intended to represent the selling price of the product. It was used only to compute the approximate sum which the factory would turn over locally while in operation.

PUBLIC SCHOOL SAVINGS CLIMB

Excellent Showing Made by Escanaba Children in November.

Pupils of the Escanaba public schools saved $745.64 during the month of November and now have a total of $20,721.33 on deposit in their thrift accounts, figures made public yesterday by R. E. Cheney, superintendent of schools, showed.

Twenty-four grades went over their monthly per capita quotas. The teachers in these rooms were: Barr: Miss Bacon, Miss Koller, Miss Hendryx.

Franklin: Miss Hussey, Miss Kafer, Miss Powlicki, Miss Burke, Miss Wanderscheider, Miss McDermott, Miss Lovelace, Mrs. Semer.

Jefferson: Mrs. Jensen, Miss Nolen, Miss Ziegler, Miss Johnson, Miss Baird, Miss Fitzsimmons, Miss Linn.

Washington: Miss Barth, Miss Green, Miss Firkas, Miss Letzer, Miss Linehan, Miss Ryan.

Habit, Not Amount.

The fact that a goal of $5,000 in school savings has been set for the year does not mean that children are being encouraged to "beg their parents for money just to make up quotas," Mr. Cheney emphasized. "On the contrary, the children are encouraged to earn the money they deposit in the thrift banks."

"The goal is low. It is only about $2.50 per pupil for the year."

"The idea teachers are urged to keep uppermost is regular habit of saving a certain sum each week. The size of this amount saved is not material. Parents also are urged to help along this line. It is not the intention at all to set a savings record for the record's sake."

"The savings habit is the thing we are striving for."

Toy Pile Mounts at City Hall but Many More Can Be Used

Toys sent to the city hall to be repaired for distribution with the Christmas baskets, are piling up and a new record in this branch of Escanaba's holiday observance is in sight, Joseph Greenfield, city welfare commissioner, said yesterday. The firemen at the No. 1 station are making good progress with the repair work. Additions to the stack yesterday included several new dolls, donated by the J. C. Penney company, which are in need of slight mending to make them as serviceable as ever.

"We're getting a lot of fine toys," said Mr. Greenfield, "but we can use a lot more if Santa Claus is really to visit every home in Escanaba. These toys will go to children who otherwise would not experience the thrill of the morning after Santa has been there."

Anyone who has toys of any description to give to the poor children of the city, is asked to take the articles to the city hall, if repairs are needed, the fire department will make them.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.

At the Delft: Milton Sills and Doris Kenyon in "The Un-guarded Moment," a dramatic picture which has won enthusiastic praise from critics elsewhere.

At the Strand: "Fighting Youth," starring William Fairbanks and Pauline Garo.

At St. Joseph's: "Counsel for Defense," with a cast which includes Betty Compson, House Peters, Rockliffe Fellows and other notables. Three acts of local talent vaudeville will be offered at the evening performance.

Motion pictures for the most part are made for entertainment purposes. Once in a while a picture is made for scientific reasons but rarely is a feature made which combines both entertainment and scientific education.

An exception to the rule is "The Lost World," which will be featured at the Delft Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Love, romance, adventure as well as education are embodied in the amazing film. Professors of Columbia and the University of California who saw the picture in the making declare that the greatest thing that has ever occurred in the making of a popular interest in archaeology was the production of this remarkable film.

Heretofore paleontologists had to depend upon reconstructed skeletons of the dinosaurs for their studies. How they breathed, walked, ate, fought and slept was never actually seen. In many instances these important attributes were merely guesswork. In "The Lost World" they are amazingly and entertainingly revealed and added to this is a plausible and highly romantic story of adventure.

The cast of "The Lost World" is in keeping with the magnitude of the production, including such film luminaries as Bessie Love, Lloyd Hughes, Lewis Stone, Wallace Beery, Alma Bennett, Virginia Brown Faire, Arthur Hoyt, Bull Montana, Margaret McWade, Finch Smiles and Jules Cowles.

Watch Wiring on Yule Decorations, City Experts Warn

Danger of fires as a result of defective temporary wiring in Christmas decorations, was again emphasized yesterday by Jack Bawden, city electrical inspector, and Fire Chief Arvid Johnson.

"Take no chances. Have a competent electrician install special electrical displays," said Mr. Bawden. "Be sure that electric decorations of every type are in good condition and properly made. We'll be glad to inspect any device and render an opinion as to its safety."

"Keep cotton, paper and lighted candles off Christmas trees," said Chief Johnson. "Watch the lights and make sure that they do not touch any inflammable matter."

"Let's make this one another fireless Christmas."

Sell It the Classified Way.

Strand Programs.

"The Bloodhound," Bob Custer's latest starring vehicle, comes to the Strand theatre Monday and Tuesday heralded by motion picture critics as the best production in which this popular young star has ever appeared. It gives Mr. Custer a somewhat different role from those which he usually assumes, and certainly no actor could ask for a more colorful part. As a Sergeant of the North-west Mounted Police who is forced to trail his man on horseback by dog-sled and in a canoe, and who makes his arrest only to find that the man he thinks is wanted for murder is his own brother with a pitiful little wife and a four year old son, Bob has slashing action and powerful drama, and he shows that he is as much at home with one as with the other. William Craft has directed the picture with a fine understanding of its compelling dramatic values. Priscilla Dean in "The Siren of

POSTAL FORCES ASK FOR HELP

Public Can Assist in Making Christmas Yearly Holiday.

Washington, Dec. 12—Wide-spread approval has greeted the recent announcement of the postmaster general that there will be no mail deliveries on Christmas Day.

Almost without exception the American public has agreed with the inherent justice of the ruling which gives to the army of postal employees some of the holiday privileges enjoyed by others, but so long denied them.

Of course, the ruling applies only to the coming Christmas, being in the nature of an experiment, the success or failure of which will determine the procedure next year.

The postmaster general was enabled to take the course he did as a result of the success of early mailing campaigns conducted in past years through the press and the "movies" and over the radio, which had the effect of moving the peak of holiday mailing back far enough to justify the experiment.

Officials of the department who are watching the experiment closely have the utmost confidence that it will be a day of rest for the postman and the postal clerk. To accomplish this purpose, the American public must mail holiday tokens and greetings in time for delivery at least before the close of business, December 24.

If there is any appreciable mail left over for delivery on December 26, it will militate against the chances of postal workers for a similar holiday in 1926.

Consistency would be a greater virtue if it were not so inconsistent.
