NON-PARTY TAX PROGRAM SURE OF ADOPTION

COMPROMISES WILL MAKE ONLY SMALL DIFFERENCE.

BY DAVID L. WARMANCE

Washington, Jan. 9.—[AP]—The democratic party is going to ask for several changes in the tax bill, which passed the house, the truth is the battle for non-partisan measure has been won.

The decision of the democrats to abandon the fight for publicity of tax returns was the turning point in the councils of the party. It meant the difference between a radical bill and a conservative bill. It was on this point that the democrats joined the insurgents and rewrote the house tax bill last year.

The differences of opinion now apply to the rates on various kinds of taxes, and even some of the republicans will concede that there is room for a difference of opinion so far as the democrats are concerned they are by no means a unit. Senator King of Utah, for instance, is willing to reduce the corporation tax from 12 1/2 per cent to 10 per cent. It has been a long time since anyone in the senate was ready to cut the corporation taxes. This is hardly a repeal for radical support and is a frank recognition that on the conservative side there is strength also.

All Want Reduction. It is a difficult matter for the political party to make up its mind just what it should do about a tax bill. Reduction of taxes is, of course, a general objective of all political parties, and the republicans have reaped political benefits of no small size because they have been in power while taxes have been reduced. Even last year when the democrats forced the republicans to accept their idea on reductions benefiting the small taxpayers, there was no sign that the republicans remembered this in the 1924 landslide in which the republicans triumphed.

Many democrats now are wondering whether there is not more to be gained by appealing to the large class of indirect taxpayers than to base their fight on the rates that apply to particular groups of individual incomes. The democrats, for example, are proposing to repeal automobile taxes and levies payable for admission to amusements of various kinds. They also are considering a reduction of miscellaneous taxes together with a revision downward of the corporation taxes.

Room for Compromise. It would not do, of course, for the democrats as a matter of tradition to yield without protest to the reduction of the surtaxes. Their opposition, however, to a 20 per cent maximum and their desire to substitute a 25 per cent maximum is relatively unimportant because the difference between the two rates is so slightly that the proposal can hardly be considered as an attack on the merits of a low surtax. Also there is room for compromise between the 20 per cent rate adopted by the house and a 25 per cent rate should the democrats in the senate succeed in having it adopted.

As usual, the tax bill will undergo important changes when it gets to conference in the joint committee appointed by the house and senate when the measure is being made ready for final action.

There is evidence that no serious fighting is going to be made by the democrats for their own rate. On many amendments they will be satisfied with a record vote showing that they were eager to reduce taxes even more than their republican brethren. The minority program is not, such as to delay very long the progress of the tax bill through the senate. When the bill becomes law, it will be found that nine-tenths of the measure will have been the result of agreement between the democrats and the republicans so that the bill may yet be considered a non-partisan piece of legislation.

BELL COMPANY FILES SUIT IN FEDERAL COURT

WANTS ALL EXISTING RATES SUPERSEDED.

Detroit, Jan. 11.—[AP]—The Michigan Bell Telephone company today filed in federal district court here a suit having for its object the superseding of all existing telephone rate orders, including the setting aside of the order of January 6, 1926, which reduced rates in Detroit and failed to grant requested increases in outstate cities.

The suit is brought, according to President Franz C. Kuhn, under the 14th amendment of the federal constitution, guaranteeing that property shall not be taken without due process of law.

The telephone company already has filed with the public utilities commission of Michigan an acceptance of the January 6 rate order, although the acceptance protests that the order is confiscatory because of what the company contends is the too-low valuation of property and the prescription of rates which, it is further contended, do not permit a sufficient or just return on the company's investment.

New Rates in Effect. "Having placed the rates prescribed by the order of January 6 in effect," President Kuhn's statement further avers, "we now wish to proceed with a complete review and trial before the court of all matters upon which we cannot agree with the utilities commission.

The reasonableness of our position is not agreeing with a reduction of approximately $1,000,000 in gross revenue of the company as of January 1, 1926, is evidenced by the testimony of all other engineers and accountants in the case before the commission. All found that the cut in rates of February, 1925, reduced the revenue of the company more than was justified by the conditions. Therefore, it follows that further reduction as of January 1926 was obviously not in accordance with any evidence in the case. The engineer for the League of Municipalities and the engineer for the commission and for the city of Detroit recommended increases in rates for certain cities outside Detroit, the smallest total increase recommended being $851,000 per annum, as of June 1924.

"We feel that the low valuation and the low depreciation rate operate to confiscate the property. The property outside of Detroit, for which additional revenue was recommended by all the engineers and attorneys in the case, requires large additions and substantial expenditures for improvement."

Counties Request for State Reward Money Is Assailed

Jackson, Jan. 11.—[AP]—The insistence of some Michigan counties on having the state reward money due them is a short-sighted policy, State Senator Barney E. Brower, of Jackson, declared in an address to the Lions club here today. He claimed the state, with the money the national government would add to the county's share, should build twice as much in highways, as the county could by taking over its share, thereby giving up any federal help.

Youngest Bootleggers, Girl and Boy, 10 and 13, Taken in Detroit

Detroit, Jan. 11.—[AP]—Federal prohibition agents today reported the "capture" of the youngest pair of liquor law violators ever taken into custody here. They were Mary Subon, 10 years old, and her brother John, who is 13. Their home is at Paris, Ohio, near Canton.

The children appeared in the Union Station Saturday to board a train for home. They found they had several hours on their hands so they decided to take in a moving picture show. At the suggestion of Mr. Gertrude Ross, in charge of the Travelers Aid society, they left in her custody two bulky packages they carried. One of the packages began to leak and the odor of liquor filled the air. Mrs. Ross called the prohibition officers. Then Mary and John returned and the agents questioned them. They said they found the packages in the snow, but later admitted they had been told to make that reply if questioned. Neither could say where the liquor came from, but they volunteered to lead the officers to the place.

LAKES TO CANAL ROUTE FAVORED

St. Lawrence Plan Would Not Help Middle West, Claim.

New York, Jan. 11.—[AP]—Canadian opposition to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway project has deferred the possibility of its success for many years, L. Wallace Dempsey, chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors, said today before the harbor and shipping committee of the New York State Chamber of Commerce.

Development of an all-American waterway from the Great Lakes to the Hudson river was urged by Mr. Dempsey, who asserted that the St. Lawrence undertaking would largely aid the Canadian wheat growers and provide more competition for American farmers.

"The northwest has preferred the St. Lawrence route because it has believed that the route would lessen transportation costs on the exported surplus wheat to Europe," said Mr. Dempsey. "The farmers of the northwest, however, forget it would reduce the cost of transporting Canadian wheat as well. Last year we shipped 25,000,000 bushels of grain from the St. Lawrence to the Canadian market. The northwest has preferred the St. Lawrence route because it has believed that the route would lessen transportation costs on the exported surplus wheat to Europe," said Mr. Dempsey.

Bi-partisan support was given the reductions in normal income tax rates and the increased personal exemptions approved by the house measure, and to some alterations voted in the bill but the committee divided on strict party lines on the three propositions by which the Democrats planned to increase the total reduction by $170,000,000 over the $330,000,000 already provided for.

TAYLOR GETS SOLONS' OKEH

I. C. C. Appointment by Coolidge Given Approval.

Washington, Jan. 11.—[AP]—Senate opposition to one of the two interstate commerce commission nominations submitted last week by President Coolidge virtually collapsed today after the interstate commerce committee voted unanimously for a favorable report on the appointment of Richard V. Taylor of Alabama.

The nomination of Thomas F. Woodlock of New York who was given a recess appointment last summer after the senate failed to act at the last session, still is pending.

Before acting on the Taylor nomination, the committee, without dissent, but with only eight members present, approved the principle of the Smith bill for regional appointments to the interstate commerce commission in the future.

Some Opposition Expected. The committee vote on the Taylor appointment was taken after the nominee had been heard in "open executive session" for 30 minutes.

The nomination will not go through the senate without some opposition. Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, reiterating today that he would oppose confirmation on the ground that Mr. Taylor did not possess proper qualifications.

Members of the committee, who are opposing Mr. Woodlock, said they would continue to do so; that the two cases were in no wise associated and that each was to be considered on its merits.

Approval of the principle of the Smith bill, under which the country would be divided into regions for purposes of appointments to the commission, came after little discussion. Senator Smith of South Carolina, the ranking Democrat of the committee and author of the bill, was named chairman of the subcommittee to work out details of the plan, a somewhat unusual procedure as the Republicans have a majority.

ARMED FORCE OF 4,000 IS HUNTING BAND

AMERICAN SURVIVOR DESCRIBES BRUTAL ATTACK.

Mexico City, Jan. 11.—[AP]—Though the bleak mountain fastnesses of the states of Michoacan, Jalisco and Guerrero, 4,000 picked federal troops are in pursuit of 20 bandits, who on Saturday night carried out the most cold-blooded slaughter in Mexico's history.

Boarding a passenger train in disguise and with weapons concealed under their cloaks, the bandits, without warning, sprang upon the guards with knives and butchered them to a man. Then they opened fire on defenseless Mexican men, women and children. The number of dead will probably never be known, but the estimates run as high as 50.

Bandits Burn Train. They wrecked and burned the train, cremating dead and wounded alike, looted the town of Yuracuan and escaped with their loot on the engine.

The troops operating under the direct orders of President Calles, will return in disgrace or else bring back the bandits—dead or alive. Few persons in Mexico City are so credulous as to believe that any of the bandits will ever be returned alive.

Only two Americans were aboard the train, which was proceeding from Guadalajara to Mexico City. One of them, G. W. Wynkoop, of Berryville, Va., described the scene as "a perfect nightmare of incredibly wanton blood thirstiness, a ruthless massacre and a most terrible sight."

Riding in the Pullman car were the foreign passengers, who were not attacked, but who were lined up outside and robbed. There were Germans among these passengers and persons of other nationalities, all of whom were compelled to tramp for miles over difficult and dangerous roads seeking a place of safety.

Mexico City, Jan. 11.—[AP]—G. M. Wynkoop of Berryville, Va., representative of the Buick Motor company and one of the two Americans aboard the train attacked by bandits Saturday night, gave the Associated Press a graphic account of the ghastly affair. He was the first survivor to reach Mexico City.

"I saw nine soldier guards dead," he said. "I believe all the guards and most of the crew were killed. The number of murdered Mexican passengers I do not know, but some of my companions estimated them all the way from twenty to fifty."

Entered as Passengers. "About dark Saturday I noticed 20 suspicious appearing men carrying rifles concealed under their cloaks who boarded the train as passengers at a small station near Guadalajara. Presently they stationed themselves at the doors of each coach and without warning opened fire upon the passengers in the second and third class coaches. They continued firing without mercy, killing many of the passengers and all the soldier guards."

"I saw several dead Mexican women and children, in addition to men, how many I do not know; I could not see. It was a ruthless massacre and a most terrible sight. Even now I can hardly believe that such an awful thing happened."

Foreigners Are Spared. "I doubt if anybody will ever accurately know the number of dead and wounded. I saw wounded men die and others killed instantly. I saw one aged woman writhing in the horrible agony, her body shot open. I saw a little baby shot through the heart. I saw bodies so burned as to be almost indistinguishable from the charred timbers of the coaches. Altogether it was a perfect nightmare of incredibly wanton bloodthirstiness."

"The sole and only mercy, which I cannot explain, was shown to foreigners. Not a foreigner was killed. A number of Germans in the Pullman, together with passengers of other nationalities, escaped unhurt. "We are all busted, but thank God we got away alive."

Also Looted Town. "Although the bandits did not harm any foreigners in the Pullman, they took all valuables from the men, but did not rob the foreign women. After they had done their work of massacre and robbery, the bandits, who had with them an expert engineer, ran the train to Yuracuan station, looted the town, wrecked the depot, destroyed telegraph wires, shot more Mexicans, disembarked all the foreigners and ran the train for a short distance. They then burned and wrecked every coach, stripping the express baggage car of all valuables. Many of the bodies of the murdered Mexicans were cremated."

The bandits next boarded the engine after loading it with loot, and made their escape. Not a single shot was fired at them, for the soldier guards were killed on the first attack, and the passengers were too fearful to attempt resistance.

SIBERIAN LIFE IS DESCRIBED

A. F. Reinecke Speaker at Interesting Kiwanis Meeting.

Intimate pictures of peasant life in Siberia under the Romanoff regime, and some contrasting glimpses of the country under the rule of the Bolsheviks, were sketched for members of the Kiwanis club yesterday by A. F. Reinecke, inventor and manufacturer.

The speaker spent 14 years in Russia as the representative of a leading manufacturer of farm implements. He told the Kiwanians many of his personal experiences, and gave them a definite idea of the family life, social habits, agriculture, education, money transportation, taxes, timber and mineral resources, laws and courts, government relations, ideas and ideals of the vast land, used for many years by the late czar as an exile colony.

"I liked the country very much. Were it not for political conditions which make existence intolerable in Russia for a civilized human being, I think I should still be there."

Joseph Greenfield, director of the Escanaba Municipal band and the Kiwanis Boys' band, was introduced as a new member of the club and given an enthusiastic welcome.

It was announced that the next meeting of the club will be held Monday, of next week, at 12:15 in the Escanaba high school cafeteria and that a special school program would be arranged for the occasion.

LOS ANGELES WANTS MATCH

Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A group of Los Angeles business men today announced their willingness to underwrite the Dempsey-Wills heavyweight championship bout to the extent of $2,000,000 and hold the affair in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The members of the group promoting the proposed fight today laid their plans before Jack Doyle, veteran fight sponsor of Vernon, and asked him to undertake management of the affair.

Backers of the plan would like to pull the bout off next spring, but that is impossible owing to Dempsey's disinclination to enter the ring with Wills before September.

BILLY EVANS Says

Major John L. Griffith is surely the "Gloomy Gus" of the sport world. He is always deploring something.

His latest wall is that the boys of the good old U. S. A. are no longer playing baseball as they once did. However, he fails to present any statistics to prove such a statement.

Mr. Griffith would have you believe that the game of baseball is going to the bow-wows, that the youngsters much preferred tiddle-winks, ping-pong and other similar strenuous sports.

It seems that Mr. Griffith's position as a sports director calls for a certain amount of criticism in order that he make it seem that he is right on the job. As a rule his criticism is destructive rather than constructive.

Major Griffith, by the way, also directs the athletics of the Western Conference. He has troubles enough right at home if he confine himself.

It is an accepted belief, and a very true one, that golfers seldom run true to form.

There is a belief among golfers that amounts almost to a superstition that golf champions rarely repeat. A perusal of golf statistics bears out that impression.

Last year in golf, however, was unusual, in that the various champions did in most instances run true to form.

Bobby Jones repeated his success in the national amateur. Walter Hagen, after a great up-hill battle, again won the professional golfer's title. Leo Diegel, Canadian open champion in 1924 retained his crown for another year.

Of the four major titles there was only one shift, Cyril Walker passing the national open honors to Willie Macfarlane, who was compelled to exert himself to the limit to beat Bobby Jones.

In golf, perhaps more than any other sport, the veteran stars are hard to displace as holders of the various major titles.

Baseball has any number of cases where some star pitcher has been shifted to another position because it was believed he would prove of greater value. Cases to the contrary are few.

Babe Ruth was the best southpaw in the American League, if not the majors, when Ed Barrows, then managing the Boston Red Sox, decided he should be used in the outfield to get the daily value of his batting.

George Sisler, a brilliant southpaw, was made into a first baseman because he could hit, field and was fast.

Ruth and Sisler, both preferred pitching and didn't take to the change any too kindly at the start. Now both are glad it happened.

Jack Bentley, is a star pitcher who would have much preferred to shine at first base. McGraw, with the great George Kelly to look after the initial sack, insisted that Bentley pitch and pinch hit for the Giants.

Now that Bentley has been traded to the Phillies it is almost certain he will get a chance at first base. The club is weak at that position.

INDEES TO PLAY BONZ TEAM HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Two Games Again Scheduled for This Week

The Escanaba Independents who hit their stride last week when they vanquished the Gladstone and Powers teams by top-heavy scores have two games scheduled for this week.

Tomorrow night they will meet the classy Bonz quintet of Gladstone at the local high school gymnasium. On Friday the Indies will journey to Manistique to clash with the strong Legion outfit of the Schoolcraft county seat.

Both games promise to be hard battles and the local lads are putting in a number of hard workouts preparatory to them. The Bonz crew are said to be even better than the Gladstone Indies last Friday and should provide plenty of competition. As far as Manistique is concerned, little need be said, as local fans know the type of ball they usually show.

TIGER WINNING STREAK SETS SEASON RECORD

Cop Ten Straight; Was Best in American League.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—The Detroit Tigers, who could finish no higher than fourth in the American League pennant race in 1925, and that by a scratch, led the whole league when it came to putting on "winning streaks."

The Philadelphia Athletics, who finished second and for much of the time led in the race, made the worst showing when it came to losing most games consecutively, 12 straight defeats being their fate.

The Tigers' high mark, 10 victories in a row, was from August 24 to September 7 (first game of the Labor Day double-header). Their second run of victories, when they won nine games without a break, was from June 26 to 27.

To set the season's record the Tigers beat Washington on August 27. Next they beat Boston three, Philadelphia three and then Cleveland two. St. Louis was beaten in the first game of the Labor Day program. The streak was broken when the Browns took the second game that day in 11 innings.

The Athletics losing break started the same day Detroit beat their winning streak. On August 24 the A's lost to the Chicago White Sox. Then Cleveland beat them two and Detroit took three straight. The A's went to Washington and dropped two, then two more in New York. Back on their home grounds the A's lost both games of the Labor Day bill to Washington.

That losing streak put the Athletics definitely out of the race. The champion Washington team was not notable for either winning spurts, in one of which they nine or losing streaks. They had won seven games and in the other six. Their longest string of losses extended to only four games.

The tail-end Boston Red Sox naturally had a lot of losing streaks, and only twice in the season did they win as many as three in a row. Three times they lost six in a row, once they lost eight and their longest run of consecutive defeats amounted to nine.

Detroit, holding the record for consecutive wins, also had its losing streaks. The longest amounted to seven games lost, from April 22 to 28, inclusive.

The Athletics' best record for straight wins was nine games, May 6 to 17. That put the A's away out in front in the race for the time being.

Lloyd Basketball Team Beats "Vets"

Menominee, Jan. 11 (Special)—Invading Menominee with a large squad of basketball players that more resembled a first and second string football team, the Legion soldier boys from Marinette were overwhelmed by an avalanche of points and the Lloyd Loom Products ran away with a 50 to 14 score.

The fray started out in big league style but the superiority of the locals was plainly evident and after the first ten minutes of play the Marinette lads never had a ghost of a show. Football tactics were used quite profusely during the first half by the visitors, nineteen fouls being called on them during this period against two made by Lloyd's. The score at the end of the first half was 24 to 9 in the locals' favor.

The preliminary between the Lloyd seconds and the D. A. R. was won by the boys' club five, 19 to 8. A good-sized crowd saw the tilt, despite the fact that the city was pretty well fed up on basketball the past week.

Escanaba High to Invade Negaunee for Next Battle

The basketball team of the Escanaba high school will go to Negaunee this week where they will play the Negaunee high school team. Negaunee has an exceptionally strong team this year and will no doubt be one of the stiffest games on the schedule. Coach Roels is drilling the team very hard and carefully this week in order that they might make a good showing against Negaunee. Last night the senior class team was called out to scrimmage against the varsity.

The seniors introduced a different style of play and showed up some of the defects of the high school team.

MANAGES THREE CHAMPS IN YEAR

By NEA Service.

San Francisco, Jan. 11.—For the third time in less than a year, Frank Churchill is managing a champion of the squared circle.

Death took Churchill's first champion—Pancho Villa, the Filipino flyweight flash.

Tod Morgan "took" Churchill's second champion—Mike Ballerino, junior lightweight.

And then Churchill, trained in quick thinking by years of circus managing, "took" Tod Morgan as the third champion he has managed in less than a year.

It was while Churchill was securing the Philippines with a circus that he "discovered" Pancho Villa. He became interested in the youngster, taught him the arts of the ring game and brought him to America.

Some maneuvering, some ballyhooing, some fighting—and Villa was matched with Jimmy Wolfe, flyweight champion of the world.

Villa won. He earned big money but spent most of it in a trip uphonor return to the Philippines. Then he came back to America.

Early in July, after losing a match to Jimmy McLarnin, Villa was taken to a San Francisco hospital, suffering with tonsillitis. He choked to death as surgeons were operating on his throat.

Churchill had lost a friend and a champion.

He set out to find another champion and found Mike Ballerino, junior lightweight, Ballerino, defeated Kid Sullivan and won the world's championship.

Hardly had he started on the road that leads to wealth than he bumped smack into Tod Morgan, a mere kid in the fighting business.

Morgan forced Ballerino to throw in the sponge in the seventh of their 10-round go in Los Angeles.

The new champion was managed by his father, Fred Morgan.

As we see it the Tournament of Roses game was played for the sole purpose of introducing to the world a passing fool by the name of Pooley Hubert.

Now that this year's football season is officially ended, the boys will be permitted to rest three or four days before beginning practice for the next football season.

Connie Mack predicts the Red Sox will be dangerous next year. By this he probably means the boys may make the fans laugh themselves to death.

Dave Shade certainly is not the fighter the experts claim. We note he was able to win only nine of the 10 rounds against Roland Todd, the Englishman.

FAMOUS FEATS

COLLEGE STARS

GARDNER OF YALE. Pole-vaulting has kept pace with the majority of other events in college track and field athletics.

Some 20 years ago a vault of 11 feet, 6 inches was considered plenty good enough to win. This was in the days of Leroy Sams, Charles Dvorak and Norman Dole.

The height of a vaulter's ambition, of course, was to approach the 12-foot figure. Then came Edward Cooke, Barr, Wagone and others to better the mark. It seemed the top-notch record had been reached.

Still the bar kept going up until it was close to 13 feet. Came the season of 1912. At Yale University was a first-class vaulter named Bob Gardner. He was quite a sensation, in fact. On several occasions he had come within a few inches of the 13-foot level.

Finally, on June 1 of that year Gardner established a new collegiate mark by getting over the bar at 13 feet, one inch. He was the first athlete credited with 13-foot vault in a collegiate meet.

After Gardner's great performance no college vaulter was able to excel the Yale star's effort until a couple years or so ago, when Dean Brownell of Illinois cleared 13 feet, 2 inches.

Gardner, by the way, later developed into a golfer of prominence. He won the national amateur championship in 1915. Also was runnerup for the honor in 1916 and 1921. He has since copped several lesser laurels.

You can get rid of it quickly with a simple and easy home treatment. Here is a letter telling how one woman treated successfully a very severe case of crick in the neck. "I could hardly move from stiffness and pain," she writes. "I used Sloan's Liniment and that was the end of it." It is amazing how quickly and surely Sloan's takes the pain and stiffness out of any aching muscle. Just a few drops rubbed on lightly—and pain and stiffness must yield. The fresh healing blood that Sloan's sends to the sick tissues washes out poisons, breaks up congestion, drives out pain. Relief is then immediate and complete. DRY OFFICERS LEAVE FOR SOO

Marquette, Jan. 11—Preceded by two or three sleighloads of "dry" officers, including confiscated moonshine whisky and mash and a picturesque collection of stills, Leo J. Grove, chief of federal prohibition enforcement agents in the upper peninsula, and his squad of aides will leave this morning for Sault Ste. Marie, where the grand jury will meet tomorrow to consider about seventy liquor law violation cases which Grove's men, assisted by state police and county officers, have started since the last term of federal court.

Iron county is chiefly responsible for the lineup of moonshine cases for the Soo term. Grove had not made an accurate count of the cases before departing for the Soo, but it is believed that at least 40 which will be given to the grand jury originated in Iron River, Stambaugh, Caspian and Crystal Falls. In that district the federal men, co-operating with the Iron county sheriff, waged a whisky cleanup in which the results were particularly good. Bootleggers and moonshine manufacturers were particularly "running wild" in Iron county and many of them were so bold in their operations and so sure that no one could "get" them that Grove's men had little difficulty in buying liquor here and there and in following leads given them by the sheriff's department.

Menominee county also furnished some of the liquor business for the Soo term of court, as did Escanaba, Ishpeming, Negaunee and the copper country. Many cases worked up by the federal agents in the last two months were transferred to state courts.

MARRIAGE NOT NECESSARY TO HAVE HAPPINESS

Actress Issues Warning Against Matrimony.

By NEA Service.

New York.—Must the modern professional woman have marriage to complete her happiness?

To this question Blanche Yurka, actress, enters an emphatic denial.

"No more," she contends, "than she must have success, achievement, companionship and freedom from financial pinches to make her happy."

If marriage were the ideal state of bliss and contentment that sentimental girls describe it to be, then of course, there would be no question, she says.

"But marriage is rarely ideally happy," she goes on, "because it is undertaken by humans who are personally ambitious, selfish, and intolerant."

Must Submerge in Marriage. "A happy marriage usually depends on the effacement of ego—preferably the wife's ego. A woman, used to being financially independent, bent upon continuing her career, cannot be depended on to be self effacing and yielding. Consequently, marriage is often an unsuccessful venture for her, or if not actually unsuccessful, it is not the main interest in her life."

"Today this is changed. A woman is not dependent on a husband for the rent or the gas bill. She can support herself and have her own home and her own circle of friends. She doesn't need a husband for his weighty advice or counsel, for she has learned to think for herself."

"So just marriage, the privilege of a Mrs. on the visiting card, an escort and the avoidance of the 'old maid' stigma is nothing to her."

"Women need not compromise with marriage. They need not marry just to secure material comforts and a standing in the community."

The maternal instinct and desire for children which every woman possesses to some degree need not be entirely stifled by the professional woman who does not marry, she maintains.

May Adopt Child. "Because a woman has no children of her own she is not deprived of doing good for children who need affection," she points out. "A true love of children will express itself through any child that needs mothering and care. It need not be limited only to one's offspring."

"One's splendid woman who has never married has adopted children and made an excellent home for them. She cared for them intelligently because she desired to bring happiness to them, as well as emotional satisfaction to herself."

"So many people have the idea that unless a woman has a husband she must go loveless through life, and that if she marries she is naturally surrounded by love and homage. That is plain bunk."

"A woman with a capacity for love will never lead a loveless life, regardless of marriage. She will submerge the love that would have gone into a home and children into other channels. After all, real love expresses itself through kindness and service, and there are always those around who need this."

"Not Always Companionship. "I've heard marriage advocated as a preventive for loneliness in old age. Some of the most lonesome women I know are married ones who have drifted apart from their husbands, whose children have left home, and who have no outside interests, such as professional women have, to fill in the gap.

"Don't misunderstand me," she concluded, "I believe the happy marriage is the greatest happiness humans can attain—but I believe it is exceedingly rare. And unless she can have real happiness in marriage, I believe the professional woman is happier pursuing her career."

Miss Yurka speaks not without conviction. She made a matrimonial venture, but is back at her career, and announces her intention of sticking to it.

Accident Ruins His Sight But Michigan Boy Still Smiles

Scottville, Mich., Jan. 11 (Special).—In a little red house near the cross road in the vicinity of Victory village, this county, lives Delbert Cheney, today's best known example of genuine resignation and spiritual courage.

Delbert has come back to the little 40-acre farm he owns here, and which he retained when he left the Victory neighborhood to follow his successful star to Chicago. He had won a name as an electrical engineer, and his future seemed happily assured. In that metropolis his success continued, and finally he took a lucrative position in the employ of the city. With his family he lived in a large modern home, and his horoscope appeared most favorable.

Then came a sudden accident which he was at his work, blinding him completely. Now the stricken man and his family have come back to the little Mason county farm. Here he hopes to be able to make a living in spite of his handicap, and meantime his voice is as cheery and his smile as brave as though the shadow had not fallen across his way.

TEST YOUR SHEIK!

Cynthia Grey Gives Eleven Rules to Apply to Courting Sheik.

BY CYNTHIA GREY. "What kind of a man should I marry?" "Miss Twenty" asks me this morning.

It is to laugh, here is so obviously one answer only.

A girl should marry the man she loves.

Any other answer is folly. She would marry him anyway, and all that one can do is cross fingers and invoke a blessing.

But—Suppose a girl hasn't really fallen in love yet—is just sort of playing around with the idea of matrimony sooner or later.

At this stage of the game I would advise "Miss Twenty" to ask these questions about any swain upon whom she casts her matrimonially reflective orbs:

1—Is he really sincere, or a "man with a line"?

I think sincerity the very first requisite in a man. It hooks up with fair play and honor and squaresness and all the virtues one expects a real man to have.

2—What is his attitude towards women?

Does he accept them as mental and spiritual equals, or does he put them on the same shelf with his golf balls and high balls—weapons of amusement for the mighty male when he has a few odd moments?

Watch the chap who is incapable of discriminating between women—who has a pat and a hug and a "line" for each and all of them.

Marry a man like this and you'll spend many a weepy hour alone whilst he's off gallivanting.

3—Does he have many men friends?

A "man's man" is always a good "woman's man."

4—What is his attitude towards money and his job?

The man who squeezes his pennies and can think of nothing but advancement in his work makes an obnoxious husband, as the spendthrift who throws his money in the sea because he never really buckled down.

6-6-7-8-9-10—Is he sympathetic, not only to women, but to breakfast in pajamas and unshaven. But most women like scrubbing and scouring—on their men folk as well as on dishes and the wedding silver.

They'd miss half the fun of marriage if they couldn't, in their nice superior way, introduce their husbands to Grand Opera and Gigg records and Villon poetry and Michael Arlen and Sunday night chafing dish suppers.

Of course, it depends on the girl. Some girls would be miserable and feel their marriage a hideous mistake if married to a man who used his salad fork for the meat course and thought he could nap the name of a race horse.

LOOKING AHEAD.

These early weeks of 1926 are a good time to look ahead into the coming year, with some effort to plan the things we hope to accomplish.

The foxy old timers knew that if they simply told a boy in a general way to saw up that woodpile, the whole year might pass before his tired saw would have severed the last stick.

Some may say that 1925 was a punk old year for them, and 1926 will be no better. All they can do is to drill along in the old rut.

Those folks toiled and sweated, they cut the forest and ploughed the fields and built cities, meanwhile fighting the savages in their odd moments.

With their superb energy, they fought the good fight and enjoyed it. They created the most abundant industrial opportunity and the best government on earth.

With a little of their spirit, we shall set some big "stints," as the old timers used to say, for ourselves, both in our individual occupations, and in our efforts to make a better town and a still grander country.

MODEL HOMES.

The building material makers are going to spend $8,000,000 in 1926 on the construction of model homes in 25 important cities.

Many costly homes put up years ago could be compared to an overbred and noisy woman. They flaunted their florid ornaments at you, until you longed for some simple old dwelling whose plain face suggested repose and dignity.

Today the new houses are no so staid, and they look more like real homes. Many of them, however, are not well built.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

OLD MEN.
Old men are lovely, all old men,
If high or lowly, poor or rich.
They have a mark upon them then
That dignifies them in the ditch.
Whatever garb the garb they wear,
Whatever place their place may be,
There is a halo on gray hair
That only fools will fail to see.

years ago are still in excellent condition, some of the modern ones may not last a third of that time.

The people of Escanaba who plan to erect homes next summer, would do well to obtain information as to the elements that constitute a model home.

THE CHAPMAN CASE.

How much longer it will take to get Gerald Chapman hanged no man reasonably careful of his reputation as a prophet would dare to predict.

Convicted in a Connecticut court on the charge of having murdered a policeman, the man appealed in vain.

He argued that to hang him would make it impossible to serve out the federal sentence, and that Connecticut could not deprive the government of its hold on him.

Then Chapman refused to accept the commutation on the theory that without such acceptance it would not be valid.

That court decided that he was legally held, and ruled that no right of incarceration was guaranteed by the Constitution.

It is ridiculous that such a question as this should be presented to a court, so silly is it.

Now it is intimated that there will be an appeal to the United States supreme court from the obviously correct decision of the lower court in the habeas corpus proceedings.

Whether the alienist possibilities have yet been exhausted we do not know.

Chapman of course has not gone beyond his rights, but that fact only serves to show how absurd are many of the features of our criminal jurisprudence.

Two Pound, Wis., men dislocated their jaws in yawns on the same day but the paper doesn't say whether they were listening to the same sermon.

The law against jay-walking in the District of Columbia has been declared unconstitutional but the court's decision didn't remove any of the dangers from the practice.

WAR DECLARED BY TRAPPERS

New State Poisoning Plan not to Injure Game.

Iron River, Jan. 11.—State trappers, aided by the game wardens in each district, are preparing to make an active campaign against predatory animals, according to John Vizen, chief of the district. Trappers have already been supplied and wardens will receive necessary equipment next week, he said.

A change in the system of poisoning predatory animals has been inaugurated and has, in the opinion of state trappers and wardens, reduced to a minimum the possibility of animals other than those intended being poisoned. A few years ago the popular method was to put strychnine on a carcass near a place where the animals were known to come. However, this often defeated the trappers' own purpose, as mink rabbits and partridge fed off the poisoned carcasses. Now the "lard ball" is used. Poison is wrapped up in a thin tissue paper and rolled in lard until a ball the size of a man's thumb is formed. This is placed on the ground near a "station." In the parlance of the wardens, a "station" is a carcass or head of an animal to which other animals go. These balls are picked up and can be eaten only by such animals as wolves, coyotes and foxes, which are the ones the wardens are making war upon. Rabbits, weasel and partridges are so small to feed on them.

Another advantage over the old method is that the animal does not feel the effects of the poison until he has swallowed the ball and it has dissolved, taking with it in its dissolution, the particles of poison to every part of his body. Under the old method, an animal could often smell the poison or at the first taste, found something wrong and refused to eat enough to hurt him.

In the spring, the balls not eaten can easily be detected and picked up by the wardens. Hunts are staged. As a means of cutting down the number of wolves and coyotes in the country and to afford sportsmen some pleasure, Mr. Vizen is endeavoring to arrange a series of hunts. He will stage one next week near Rapid River. Three dogs are used to nose out the wolves, coyotes and foxes. As soon as they set out on the trail if one, the hunt is on. Last week Stroggs two coyotes were killed on the hunt. It was intimated yesterday the conservation officers could be glad to help arrange a hunt here if a desire was expressed.

Wolves and coyotes are doing little damage this winter owing to the light fall of snow, Mr. Vizen said. With six to eight inches of snow on the plains and 12 to 14 inches in the wooded areas, deer have an excellent chance for their lives even if a wolf packs on their trail. There is also enough plant food for them to remain from boisterous farms.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

"Stage Struck," the attraction at the Delft again today, is a broad comedy with Gloria Swanson as a waitress in a small factory town on the Ohio River. She is smitten with Lawrence Gray, a pancake artist in the lunch room, who is fond of actresses.

To make a more favorable impression on the young fellow, Gloria is taking a correspondence school course in stage acting and is given a chance to show what she can do when one of the famous floating theatres which ply their way over the broad waters of the Ohio arrives in town.

The scenes that follow, in which Gloria crowns all over the sets in all sorts of get-ups, are said to be far up and beyond anything fans saw in "Manhandled," "The Humming Bird," "Zaza" or, for that matter, any of the star's previous pictures.

"Stage Struck" was written especially for Miss Swanson by Frank R. Adams.

AT THE STRAND.

Wanda Hawley, blonde and delightful heroine of scores of successful pictures, is playing the leading feminine role in "Let Women Alone," Frank Woods' second production, now being shown at the Strand theatre. Miss Hawley is appearing opposite Pat O'Malley, and the two make a decidedly attractive pair of screen lovers.

Others in the cast are Wallace Beery, J. Farrell MacDougal, Harris Gordon, Betty Jane Snowden, Margaret Morton and Lee Willard. The picture, which was directed by Paul Powell under Woods' supervision was adapted from Viola Brothers Shore's Saturday Evening Post story, "On the Shelf."

No appeal will be made to undergraduate students. All lectures and plays will be prepared with the thought of interesting actors and dramatists.

RILEY DEMANDS WOMEN JURORS

Asks Judge Flannigan to Declare Array Invalid.

Although the Michigan woman suffrage law was enacted in 1918—seven years ago—Delta county still has made no provision for women jurors, Attorney Thomas J. Riley of Escanaba pointed out formally to Judge Richard C. Flannigan in circuit court yesterday afternoon.

"Women have a constitutional right to sit on juries; litigants in Delta county have a right to constitutional juries, and the board of supervisors ought to try to remedy the situation," Mr. Riley declared. "Unless they hurry, Delta will be the only county in Michigan which has not conformed to the law."

Mr. Riley's address was made in submitting a motion attacking the validity of the jury drawn for the January term because no women's names were on the "master" list. He asked that a new list, including the names of women, be prepared.

Reserves Decision.
Judge Flannigan heard the argument by Mr. Riley and by Attorney W. J. Miller of Rapid River, his opponent in the case at issue, and announced that a decision would be handed down within a day or two.

The court explained, however, that the members of the Delta county jury commission were not to blame for the absence of women from juries in this county. Until the county provides jury room facilities, which at least conform to ordinary rules of decency, women will not be called upon to serve, the judge declared with emphasis.

He added that Menominee and Dickinson counties are still without the services of women jurors for reasons similar to those outlined. Iron and Marquette counties have made the necessary provisions.

Absence of women from juries in Delta county is a matter for which the court will assume full responsibility until proper facilities are furnished, Judge Flannigan asserted.

Not Expensive Change.
Remodeling of the second floor of the courthouse for the purpose of increasing and improving jury room facilities would not be an elaborate or expensive proceeding, some members of the bar pointed out, following the discussion. There were indications that the board of supervisors will be urged, at the next session, to take some action.

The Delta County Bar association called the board's attention to the matter two or three years ago, but nothing was done about it.

THROUGH SMILING.
The social worker was visiting a hospital with flowers and cheer. A young man, heavily bandaged, attracted her attention.

"It's too bad," she said. "Just keep on smiling, though, you'll be all right soon."

"I'll never smile again," he declared.

"Nonsense."

"I mean it. It's through smiling at another fellow's girl that I got here."—Answers.

Gustafson-Fillion Nuptials.
One of the prettiest weddings of the old-winter season was that which took place Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's church when Miss Marcelle Elizabeth Gustafson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Gustafson, 118 South Twelfth street, and Mr. Arthur Felix Fillion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fillion, 516 South Eleventh street, were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. John Mockler, pastor of St. Patrick's parish, in the presence of a host of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, smilax and Perpetua roses. Entering the church the bridesmaid, Miss Ruth McComb of Beloit, Wis., a cousin of the bride, was first. The bride entered on the arm of her father and proceeded to the chancel where the bridegroom and his attendant, Mr. Herbert LaPorte, a cousin, entered from the sacristy at the right and met the bride at the communion rail where her father presented her to the bridegroom. The couple took their places at a white prie-dieu which was covered in white satin and trimmed in smilax and the bridesmaid and best man knelt at similar prie-dieus at the right and left.

As the bridal party entered the church Robert Degnan sang "O Promise Me." A nuptial high mass was sung by the pastor during which the ceremony was performed. Soloists of the mass were Mesdames G. Casey and J. Krebs, Messrs. Robert Degnan and William Ramspeck, Jr. Mrs. William Ramspeck presided at the organ. Eugene Sullivan played the violin obligato.

The bride was attractively attired in a simple gown of white Elizabeth crepe, the only adornments of the bridal gown being fancy-shaped rosettes of white silk ribbon, edged in gold. Her tulle veil was crown shaped, adorned with pearls.

The bridesmaid wore a beautiful gown of orchid georgette, trimmed in silver lace. Her hat was of coral Milano beaded with orchid trimming. The bride's shower bouquet was of white Premier roses and lilies of the valley, fastened by a tulle bow and streamers. The bridesmaid's arm bouquet was of butterfly roses.

After the church ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, covers being laid for thirty guests. The home decorations were of jade green and white and jade green candles were used on the tables and mantelpiece.

White roses, smilax and ferns were used in profusion throughout the entire home. The bride presented her bouquet to her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Demouchele.

Mrs. Verina catered for the function.

The couple left Monday evening for a two weeks' trip to Chicago and points in Illinois, after which they will make their home in this city on South Sixth street where a home is being prepared for them.

Mr. Fillion and his bride were born and reared in this city and both attended the Escanaba high school and Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis. The wedding of yesterday was a culmination of a high school romance and the young couple have the best wishes and congratulations of a host of friends.

The bride's traveling costume was a cedar color dress with hat to match and a grey coat trimmed in fur.

Out-of-town guests included Dr.
