DEMOS ASSAIL ITALIAN PACT

Oldfield Declares Debt Terms Are Unfair to Taxpayers.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(P)—The Italian war debt settlement was assailed in the house today by a number of Democrats, who contended the proposed funding terms amounted to virtual cancellation of the obligation.

A vote on a resolution to approve this agreement and on five other similar resolutions dealing with the settlements negotiated with Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Estonia and Rumania was deferred until tomorrow.

Italy's Capacity Small. Endorsing the Italian settlement as recommended by the American debt commission, of which he is a member, Representative Rip, Democrat, Georgia, said that a careful study of conditions had convinced him and his colleagues that Italy's capacity to pay amounted to "almost nil."

He asserted it would be impossible for the Italians to pay on terms similar to those extended Great Britain.

Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, the Democratic whip, charged that the proposed settlement ignored the interests of American taxpayers and predicted that Italy would reduce tax rates immediately if the United States accepted the agreement.

Injustice, Says Collier. Declaring his faith in the Italian people, Representative Mills, Republican, New York, said that regardless how the terms appeared, they would impose a heavy burden on that nation, with its lack of natural resources.

Representative Collier, Democrat, Mississippi, described the proposal as "an injustice" to countries that have made "reasonable" settlements.

Postponement of any settlement for ten years was advocated by Representative McKeown, Democrat, Oklahoma, who said the settlement disregarded the American taxpayer. Representative Goldsborough, Democrat, Maryland, held that the plan would postpone three-fourths of the payments to the next generation.

Both miners and operators, if summoned to Washington, would be in fact, Major W. W. Ingalls, head of the operators' group, said his committee would be glad to respond at any time to any invitation of the president.

The action of the grievance committee of the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Pittston, Pa., today in favoring the calling-out of maintenance men because of the break in negotiations, probably will be disapproved by the miners' scale committee. It was pointed out by one of the leaders that the miners and operators have an agreement that maintenance men remain at work during the period of the suspension.

Main maintenance men, it was stated, would be called out only where the agreement is violated and then only from the mines of the company breaking the compact. Maintenance men are contributing today's pay out of their monthly pay to the relief of needy miners.

The statement of President Lewis today supplemented tonight another in which he asserted that the settlement of the strike is being resisted by a very small minority of the anthracite producing companies.

In the supplemental statement he said the operators "stood upon their arbitration rock and mocked our prayers for peace."

"The mine workers," he declared, "brushed aside their demand for a definite increase in wages and offered to agree that the miners should have an increase only if a thorough examination of the books of the coal companies disclose that they could reasonably pay an increase."

A report that representatives of a number of large producing companies and so-called independents were willing to come to a settlement without arbitration was denied tonight by Major Ingalls. This report had it that the companies represented 75 per cent of the entire anthracite tonnage.

Major Ingalls declared: "The operators were united in the stand they have taken."

Employing the tax payer. The majority also held that the internal revenue bureau was steadily falling behind in the settlement of tax cases and attributed most of the delay in settling of old cases to bargaining with taxpayers instead of assessing taxes in accordance with published precedents.

Before the report was submitted to the senate, L. C. Hanson, counsel for the committee, appeared before the senate finance committee considering the tax reduction bill, to present the report. A. W. Gregg, counsel for the bureau, replied to his contentions at a later session.

Here we have Benny Leonard (mayhap we should call him Benjamin now that he's on the stage) in a brand new theatrical pose. Note the typical actorian glance of the eyes. Regular highbrow stuff, that's a cinch. While Benny likes stage work, there have been many rumors of his returning to the ring, especially since Rocky Kansas won the title. Leonard whipped the Rock three times and believes he could regain his lightweight laurels were he to give the game another fling. Whether he will or not, even the question and answer man can't tell.

STATE ACTS TO PURIFY RIVERS

Cities Warned to Plan to Stop Pollution of Streams.

Lansing, Jan. 12.—(P)—The first of a series of meetings designed to whip the cities of the state into line to end stream pollution was held here today. Representatives of seven cities in the St. Joseph river basin were warned by department of health and conservation officials that they must make a definite start within the next six months toward completing a survey looking to the ultimate legal disposition of municipal waste.

Under the power of an act passed by the 1925 legislature the state can, after reasonable notice, institute court proceedings to compel the cities to establish disposal plants. The act permits the cities, upon a court order, to exceed their bonding limit for such a purpose, without a vote of the electors.

In the case of cities that fail to cooperate the attorney general will be asked to institute suits. John Baird, director of conservation said.

Subsequent hearings, covering the Grand, the Saginaw and the Kalamazoo rivers and scores of smaller streams and lakes, are to be held in the future. The cities in these territories will be served with similar notice. According to Edgar Cochran, secretary of the conservation department, Dr. R. M. Olin, Colonel Rich sanitary inspector, and other officials, the meetings are the start of an actual campaign to do away with stream pollution.

Must Build Plants. The cities, after submitting their surveys, will be expected to establish disposal plants or take whatever other steps are necessary as rapidly as "reasonably and physically possible." The entire campaign is aimed at cleaning up the streams and lakes within the next few years. In the case of large cities they will be granted a comparatively long period of years. The smaller cities will be expected to halt pollution in a short time.

"This is no idle gesture," Cochran said. "The cities must accept the idea that they cannot go on disposing of their waste illegally."

Bishop Brown Urges Workers to Assume Government's Reins. New York, Jan. 12.—(P)—Addressing an international labor defense meeting tonight, William Montgomery Brown, deposed bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, urged the workers to take over the government and make it "in reality a government for all the people, and to take over the church and make it "truly a church for all the people." Dr. Brown said that the working class "when it became conscious of its power and mission," would "make the government obey it." He added that this "need not mean a war between labor and capital," but was really "a movement to do away with such a war" by making everyone "go to work," thus eliminating "the present privileged class."

MODERN WORSHIP IS ALL "GIMME" Begging Supplants Prayer Declares Methodist Minister. BY LEON M. SILER, NEA Service Writer. New York.—The average praying American has a bad case of the "gimmies." He is but a professional beggar. His prayer is but a column of wants. And the average praying American thinks Rev. C. Everett Wagner, minister of the West Side Methodist Episcopal church of New York city, ought to be ashamed of himself—particularly at Christmas time. Worse yet, charges Rev. Wagner too many of us fall to pay God the compliment of asking Him first for the material blessings we think we need. "We beg," observes the pastor caustically, "from nearly everybody on earth, and then as a last recourse, we beg from the Almighty feel humiliated." In an age of artificiality, with home life, neighborliness, emphasis on character and numerous other of life's "finer things" toppling into the discard, the best of prayer's rightful spirit is seen by the smilingly candid clergyman as one of humanity's most hurtful tendencies. Checking of this tendency he regards as a source of humanity's greatest spiritual hope. "Begging from God," he cites, "is a thing that the vilest of the vile can do. To appreciate God is an achievement." The Bible narrates an occasion when ten persons went to Jesus to ask Him for something. He gave all of them what they asked. Only one of the ten stopped long enough to thank Him. "That proportion is a cross-section of human life today. We praise about one-tenth as much as we should, and we do nine-tenths too much begging." The prayer of praise and thanksgiving is the prayer conveyed by Rev. Wagner as most appropriate to the code of true Christianity. But in modernity's knee-bending repertoire, gratitude to God is unthought of. It has been lost in the twentieth century shuffle. If there is a distinction between the mendicant who stands on the street corner, extending his hands in supplication to all who pass by, and the one who kneels in church or home and begs aid from the Divine, Rev. Wagner is unable to perceive it. And the pastor critic's formula for prayer freed of modernity's improprieties? "Go to God," he responds, "as you telephone a friend. For prayer should link us with God in unselfish companionship. "Pray with a God-centered mind, not a self-centered one. "For the Divine that is working every hour of the day and night in both individual lives and in society, we should pray thankfully. "Reverses the percentages of the characteristics of most of our prayers today—ten per cent praise and thanksgiving, 90 per cent 'gimme'—and the world will regain its slipping hold on right ideals, sound values, and flawless standards of conduct. "When our prayers are merely begging in sanctimonious guise, we ought to feel disgusted with ourselves."

Rich's Request for Continuance Flayed by State's Attorney. Lansing, Jan. 12.—(P)—The plea of attorneys for Arthur B. Rich, Battle Creek youth charged with attacking Louise King, for a continuance of his retrial to give them time to return two important witnesses to Michigan, was described as "propaganda" by Clyde B. Cortright, Calhoun county prosecuting attorney, today. Cortright was here conferring with O. L. Smith, assistant attorney general, who will assist in the prosecution. According to Cortright the defense probably could get the witnesses back in time for the trial February 1 if they are needed. Both Smith and Cortright plan to be in Mason Friday morning to oppose the motions made by the defense earlier in the week. In addition to asking for a continuance, Rich's counsel petitioned, for a change of venue, charging that Ingham county is prejudiced against the defendant.

Issue Warrant for Cattleman in Osage Case. Guthrie, Okla., Jan. 12.—(P)—Roy Lewis, United States district attorney, announced this afternoon that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of Fred Rowe, Pawhuska, Okla., cattleman, on a federal perjury charge in connection with testimony before the United States grand jury investigating Indian murderers. Rowe is said to be a close friend of W. K. Hale, "King of the Osage Hills," under federal indictment for murder in connection with the death of Henry Roan, an Osage Indian, whose $25,000 life insurance policy named Hale as beneficiary. Perjury charges will be filed against several other witnesses who appeared before the grand jury, the district attorney said, although he refused to make public any names.

Will Remove Snow off State Highways. Lansing, Jan. 12.—(P)—The state administrative board today authorized an extensive snow removal program which will keep the main north and south trunk line highways open throughout the lower peninsula for the first time in the state's history. The highway department was instructed to purchase ten rotary plows, as many heavy duty tractors, three truck plows and other equipment to keep trunk lines M-10, M-13, and M-14 open to their northern extremities. This means that Cadillac, Traverse City, Petosky, Harrison, and other northern cities will have trunk lines open to traffic and that travel will be possible as far north as the Straits. The highway department hopes to have the equipment available so the new program may be started about the first of February. The board's action adds about 713 miles to the snow removal system and will increase the cost this winter approximately $181,213.

BUILT CHURCH THROUGH MAILS

Father Selfert of Daggett Succeeds in Novel Manner.

A hint that might be of value to other churches or organizations in need of funds is contained in an article in the current number of "The Mailbag" which tells how the Rev. Fr. F. A. Selfert, of Daggett, adopted the unique and successful plan of financing a $25,000 church project by direct mail advertising exclusively.

The Catholic church referred to is located in Daggett, Mich. It has lovely windows, a pipe organ and seating capacity for 500 worshippers. In addition there is a home for the pastor. The $25,000 enterprise was paid for in four years by the direct mail plan.

Father Selfert has an honorable discharge from the army in which he served as captain in the chaplain's corps. On his return he was assigned to the territory near Daggett, which had no church for many miles around.

He joined the Direct Mail Advertising association (and is still the only clergyman member) and went after funds for his church by mail.

The letter he used:

"My Dear Mr. Smith:—What would you do if I came over to your house one of these fine evenings and knocked at your door? I believe you'd let me in and listen to my story. Well, I cannot come and although you may be busier than a one-eyed cat in a bird store, won't you grant me just a moment of your time to listen to my troubles?"

"We have just built a small Catholic church in a flag-station town and the few farmers of whom our membership consists, though willing, are unable to finish the job, their crops having failed the third season in succession. We must complete the building to keep out the cold and though your purse may be strained, your heart is still in the right place. Won't you buy a brick to help us? Six a coin, the price of a movie, into the enclosed card and return it to us. You will not be deaf, I am sure, to this worthy charity and He who has promised to reward even a drink of cold water given in His name will reward you a hundred fold in health and prosperity."

"I wish I could personally grasp your hand to express my gratitude. Sincerely yours, "Father Selfert."

95,000 Mailed in Year.

The first year 95,000 letters were mailed at a cost of $2,887 and a net profit of $4,737.95.

Many efforts were made to buy mailing lists to continue the work when directory prospects were exhausted, but the requirements were too specialized. A list of 50,000 or more names of charitably inclined members of the Catholic church was needed.

"Again using the direct mail," said the Rev. Selfert, "I hired 12 cripples in a certain metropolis to make a house to house canvass of religious affiliations and I got a new list. Each reply was acknowledged with a form letter with spaces for 25 additional names."

Proved Effective.

The method proved so effective that the fourth-class village post-office was raised to second class and the increased volume of mail resulted in Father Selfert being investigated by the postal department, which found his work legitimate.

The donations ranged from one actual penny-button to a check for $300 from a total stranger. Naturally a $25,000 church project located in a poor northern Michigan village and paid for in four years by direct mail advertising attracted a good deal of attention and irrespective of what anyone may think, Father Selfert and the residents of Daggett are convinced that "it pays to advertise."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Mary Hale was so pretty that her beauty cramped her style as a department store clerk. There are a lot of mirrors in a department store and Alice looked longingly into them and dreamed of being an actress. She simply wouldn't work. Because she was engaged to her department manager he held her job but not without frequent quarrels. He was a business man and she was a frivolous girl. Selling hosiery bored her. Then along come Gordon Kent, millionaire club man and gentleman philanthropist. To Alice he spelled romance.

"The subsequent adventures are told in "The Girl Who Wouldn't Work," which will be shown at the Delft theatre today and tomorrow.

The cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Marguerite De La Motte, Henry B. Walthall, Lilian Tashman, Forrest Stanley, Winter Hall and Tom Ricketts.

AT THE STRAND.

"Off the Highway," a picturization of Tom Gallon's amazing novel, "Tatterly," which will be shown at the Strand today and Thursday, concerns a master's impersonation of his valet, and double when the latter dies suddenly without witness. The photoplay is produced on a lavish scale and is rich in scenes descriptive of life in the artists' studios.

William V. Mong, famous character actor; Marguerite De La Motte, more exquisite than ever; and dashing John Bowers head the all-star cast.

FARMERS WIN "MUTUAL" SUIT

Insurance Companies Required to Specify Assessment Liability.

Mutual fire insurance companies in Michigan are required to state, specifically in their policies of assessment, the exact extent of the liability of policy holders for special assessments. Judge Richard C. DeLoach, in a decision rendered here today, held that the assessment liability of policy holders in Michigan is a distinct liability for the farmers.

The opinion, containing about 18 paragraphs, is the longest document of its kind on file in the county clerk's office and surveys, exhaustively, the legal status of mutual companies and their relations to their customers or members.

Changed the Plan.

Most of the policies concerned in the litigation were written in 1921. Agents for the company were alleged to have informed the members that the policies were built along "stock company" lines and that the transaction was not one in assessment insurance. Later, however, the company amended its articles of association to make all of the outstanding policies assessable. More than 100 Delta county farmers refused to pay the assessments, ordering the cancellation of their policies. The company brought suits to collect the amounts alleged to be due, more than 90 such cases being listed on Justice C. D. McEwen's court docket at one time.

Some of the cases were settled or otherwise disposed of. About twenty found their way into circuit court on appeal. Judge Flannigan's decision yesterday disposes of them insofar as his court is concerned, although attorneys here expected that the Patrons' Mutual

The telegram reads as follows: "Kindly try to ascertain present whereabouts of John Lammers, Left Little Chute, Wis. for Escanaba three weeks ago. Secured employment through some Escanaba employment bureau, who would no doubt have his address. His sister died and want to notify him." "Otto Lauhe."

Peninsula Leading in Cattle Tests for Tuberculosis

Thirty-five per cent of all dairy cattle in the upper peninsula have been tested, according to the 1925 census report, while the report for the state shows approximately 25 per cent of the cattle population tested.

During the last year, four of the five counties in the upper peninsula that were carrying on the county area tuberculosis work have been made modified accredited areas. These counties are Ontonagon, Gogebic, Schoolcraft and Marquette. Delta county, showing 1.23 per cent reactors, will require another full test.

All other counties in the upper peninsula have made provisions for the work with the exception of Chippewa, Mackinac and Keweenaw. There is much sentiment in favor of it in these counties and one or two of them will probably take it up before the close of the season of 1926.

If there are sufficient funds to pay indemnities, the work will be started in the spring in all counties. In the upper peninsula now on the waiting list.

The only engine that improves with use

Your own experience has proven that all poppet-valve motors wear out. Complicated and intricate valve mechanism ultimately yields to the incessant demands to which it is subjected. Carbon eventually gets in its destructive work on the finest of cylinders.

The experience of 275,000 Willys-Knight owners proves that service actually improves this sleeve-valve motor. No valves to adjust—two silently-moving sleeves—and that is all—control the intake and exhaust operations. Carbon serves but to seal compression hence to build up its efficiency.

When the finest of poppet-valve engines are worn out, the everlasting engine of your Willys-Knight is just coming into the full manhood of its power.

GOOD YEAR FOR BOOX DODGERS

Friday Comes on 13th of Month Only Once in 1926.

Those Escanaba folks who attach bad luck with "Friday the thirteenth" should be glad to learn that the 1926 calendar was apparently made for the benefit of the superstitious—there is only one Friday the thirteenth in it. As this Black Friday does not come until August everyone will have plenty of time to call into play the protecting qualities of rabbit feet and other charms.

A rather mean trick has been played by the 1926 calendar on those who look forward to the "Fourth of July as a day away from the office during the sweetening season."

But there is some compensation in the fact that the next New Year's eve falls on Friday. In view of the fact that Saturday is a half holiday for most people the year around those who imbibe too freely of ginger ale or inadvertently guzzle some bad seltzer water the night before will only have to suffer until noon.

Hollywood

Hollywood, Jan. 12.—From what enigmatic finger dripped this town called Hollywood—the Celluloid City, housing a collection of varied nationalities among whom are found the worst and the best? To that man who dreamed himself master, Cecil B. DeMille, at least, may go the credit for its discovery.

The film director had been making pictures in a New Jersey barn when, needing a natural sage-brush and cactus background, he moved his cinema caravan to Arizona. On a weekend he traveled westward and came upon a long, barren road, dotted on either side with a few ramshackled houses and stores. That day he wired his film partner, Jesse L. Lasky: "I've found a little place out here by the name of Hollywood. It seems to be a pretty good place in which to make movies. I'm going to stay." That was 12 years ago.

"The long barren road" down which the weary picture prodigal trod is now the brightly lighted boulevard—known as the flamed and falling way. To this street of tragedy and good fortune, sooner or later, comes all the world. They come to see the stars whizzing by in limousines on which first payments have been made; countless hundreds are conquered and very soon they, too, ride down this traffic artery in cars they were never destined to afford.

Thus it was, my children, that Hollywood came to be known, the earth over.

Whether it is ingenuity or fearlessness, picture puppets made in where angels have bled. Now comes E. M. Asher, labeling his new film company, "The Faultless Picture Corporation."

"Anyone can act," says Harland Tucker, film leading man and a parlor cynic. Many babies reach the "speaking stage."

Reatha Watson, cabaret entertainer, died years ago. And now her second-self, Barbara La Marr for that is the name Reatha took as she stepped into filmdom leaving her old self behind, is awaiting the end in a rest home, high up in the Sierras.

Her once voluptuous form—the one that brought millions to her producers—has wasted away to an anemic skein. Her nerve are jangled. She is sick.

"I wouldn't care," says the girl whose career in films was wrecked by the vampire parts she was forced to play. "If the public has only let me 'come back' before I health took away my last chance."

News item: Jackie Coogan's papa, Jack Sr., has bought the youthful actor a $200,000 ranch on the Mexican border with the kid's money.

Fame is the price-tag to "big" friendships in Heart-Break town. There was a time—and only a few years ago at that—when Mac Murray would hardly deign to know Rudolph Valentino. He was merely a greasy-haired and struggling young actor trying to get in one of her pictures. And finally he succeeded. His part was dwarfed so as not to shade Mac's dancing performance. And then when Rudy became acclaimed the sheik of hearts over night, producers re-issued the Mac Murray picture, after re-cutting it, as "Rudolph Valentino starring picture."

And now the daily papers are keeping a palpitating fan wildly informed about Mac. As Rudy romps around Europe like a couple of kids just released from a convent. Well, one might say they have been released—released from the legal mazes of many years.

Sights and thoughts along the boulevard: Ruth Roland, serenade queen and real estate dealer, coming out of church with sliver bracelet strapped about her ankle; Pearl White, who has passed on into oblivion, started this vogue 10 years ago in New York. . . . Wonder what's become of Jack O'Brien, once famous director of "Mary Pickford" . . . some stay famous and those who are hurried into obscurity. . . . There's Peter, the Hermit, Christ prototype, barefooted and flowing hair, waving his knotted staff to the heavens. . . . the only normal man in Hollywood. . . . wonder if anyone besides Peter prays for Hollywood. . . . maybe it doesn't need prayers. . . . dunno. . . . Louis B. May stepped out of Rolls Royce. . . . used to be a lumberjack in Maine. . . . now a producer of artistic pictures. . . . Claire Windsor coming out of theater where her latest movie is showing. . . . glad she doesn't use her real name—Ol Cronk. . . . John Barrymore gazes at magazine covers. . . . he's still tracking $15,000 weekly from the Warner payroll now. . . . There's Abe Lehr, general manager of the Samuel Goldwyn pictures. . . . gone into a drug-store. . . . maybe he's going to buy a pair of gloves. . . . he used to sell them in New York. . . . Wonder why so many film men divorce their wives when they reach the top? . . . maybe they forget they were always famous. . . . who know.

MISSING BADGE GIVES COP TIP

It Also Caused Seven Men to Be Rounded Up in Marinette.

A missing badge, the property of a railway mail clerk, Lloyd Fabry of Oconto, well known in Escanaba, was the cause of the arrest of seven men in Marinette Sunday.

Fabry went to Marinette Monday and identified one of the men, Louis Trudell of Fort Wayne, Ind., as the man who robbed his grip in the station at Powers on December 15.

The others were released. Trudell was arrested from the tender at Peshtigo and was taken to the county jail in Marinette. He gave his name as George Perkins when caught in the theft of a pair of overalls on which the badge was pinned, but he insisted Trudell was his right name.

Peculiar Occurrence. The occurrence, as Fabry described it was a peculiar one. He had left the Powers waiting room for a few minutes to return and find Trudell, alias Perkins, throwing his overalls into the stove.

The thief was drunk and he took no action against him at the time, merely sending to postal headquarters for a new badge when he later missed it.

At the jail Trudell admitted he had taken a bar of soap and other articles from the overalls before throwing them in the stove, but denied any knowledge of the badge.

Investigation of the case was ordered by the federal postoffice department and they were notified that the man had been found.

The man states he was drunk at the time and that he saw no badge, but the postal clerk says the ashes were sifted and no trace of metal found, leading to the inevitable conclusion that whether the thief has it or not at the present time, he must have taken it and done away with it.

She Means More to Carol Than Rumania's Throne

Crown Prince Carol of Rumania, who resigned his rights to his country's throne, is believed to have done so to return to Zizi Lambruni, former wife (above). Zizi, a commoner, married Carol during the war, but in 1920 King Ferdinand induced Carol to annul the marriage and wed Princess Helena of Greece. Now Carol and Helena will be divorced, dispatches say, and he will marry Zizi.

STATE DOG LAW VERY DRASTIC

New Provisions to Make Unlicensed Canines Scarce.

The new state dog law turns the entire available machinery of the local, county and state governments towards the job of exterminating unlicensed dogs, officials revealed here yesterday.

Supervisors and other assessing officers are required, under the law, to list all dogs owned in the city. On March 1 the county treasurer is required to list all dogs which are not licensed, using the supervisors' or assessors' lists. The prosecuting attorney is then required to start proceedings against the owners of the unlicensed dogs and in addition the sheriff is required to kill such dogs. Failure on the part of the sheriff to perform this duty, the law says, constitutes nonfeasance in office.

The sheriff also must kill, upon complaint of the prosecutor, any dog which is in the habit of running, at large unaccompanied by his owner or keeper, whether the license has been paid or not. In other words, dogs must be kept at all times within the control of their owners.

Must Stay at Home. No dog, licensed in a city, may roam about in the country. Any dog caught at large outside the corporate limits is to be shot by the sheriff, the law provides.

Some provisions of the former law still are in effect. One of these provides that any city having a well regulated dog department may collect its reasonable expense incurred in killing dogs, from the general fund of the county.

Dog licenses now cost $4 for a male dog and $6 for a female dog, the $2 penalty in each instance having been added January 10.

This new law, passed at the last session of the legislature, went into effect last July.

WOMEN NOT TO BE ON JURIES

Judge Flannigan Reiterates Views in Overruling Motion.

Until the Delta county courthouse is remodeled to provide facilities for women serving as jurors, no women will be called upon to perform jury service here, Judge R. C. Flannigan reiterated in circuit court yesterday in overruling, formally, a motion filed by Attorney T. J. Riley on Monday, attacking the validity of the present jury list.

Mr. Riley contended, in arguing his motion, that women have a constitutional right to serve as jurors, that litigants have a right to trial by constitutional juries, and that jury lists prepared without giving consideration to women voters were not constitutional.

The judge's opinion was oral. He expressed the opinion that the manner in which juries have been selected in Delta county was legal and constitutional. He would not, he said, ask to require any woman to sit on a jury in the present Delta county courthouse and that his attitude in this respect would remain unchanged until conditions in the building are changed.

Follows Present Policy. The ruling was identical in substance with the one, on the same matter, the judge handed down five or six years ago after the jury commission had drawn the names of a number of women. It also is in keeping with the policy he has followed in Menominee and Dickinson counties where no provisions have been made for handling women on juries.

Mr. Riley made it clear, in presenting his motion, that he was not criticizing the court's policy, but declared it was time for Delta to begin to remedy conditions here. "The woman suffrage law was adopted in Michigan in 1918," he pointed out. "Surely the board of supervisors should begin to do something about it."

CITY ATTENDS HARBOR MEET

Needham and Burns of Council Leave Today for Detroit.

W. H. Needham and Clyde J. Burns, of the city council, will leave today for Detroit to represent Escanaba at the "protest meeting" of Great Lakes Harbors of the Hotel Statler Thursday and Friday.

Every phase of the unlawful diversion of the lake waters by Chicago will be discussed by competent authorities. Among the men who have been invited to speak are Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war; S. Wallace Dempsy, chairman of the river and harbors committee; Sen. Frank P. Willis of Ohio, Con. Theodore Burton of Ohio, Attorney General Attinger of New York; Mayors Smith of Detroit and Hoan of Milwaukee; Gov. A. J. Groesbeck and Atty. Gen. A. B. Doherty of Michigan; and several widely known Canadian authorities.

Important Meeting. Raymond H. Weins, of Milwaukee, secretary of the Great Lakes Harbors association, in his call for the meeting says: "This will be the most important meeting ever held in the Great Lakes Region. The Chicago water steal issue is coming to a climax. An attempt will be made in the congress of the United States to legalize the diversion of 10,000 cubic feet a second into the drainage canal at Chicago."

"The levels of the Great Lakes have been lowered to an alarming degree, due in a large part of the unlawful extraction of lake waters at Chicago. The citizenship of the entire Great Lakes must voice its protest in unmistakable language to the end that this colossal theft will once for all be stopped."

Careful Driving With the enormous increase in the number of motor driven vehicles on city streets and country highways, the subject of Careful Driving becomes more pertinent, day by day. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) feels that it has a duty—self-imposed it is true—to so conduct the operations of its own fleets of motor driven vehicles, as to set an example to others. This Company also believes that the public will be interested in the result of its efforts to promote Careful Driving. Upon this premise, it will present, during the next few weeks, a few phases of its safety efforts. Perhaps no other organization in the Middle West has been afforded such an excellent opportunity to observe the need for Careful Driving as has this Company. Several years ago, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), recognizing the need for some constructive, organized effort to prevent avoidable accidents, inaugurated its Safety First Division. The results have been more than gratifying. To instill caution by legislation is difficult, and while definite orders, as to care in handling the Company's business, have been issued, it is our experience that the greatest good has come from those suggestions, sent out from time to time, which appeal to the sound judgment and unwavering loyalty of the men handling Company equipment. In support of this contention, we point out that for the year 1924, Standard Oil Company (Indiana) motor driven vehicles crossed railroad tracks thirty one million times without an accident. The Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) pointed out to its drivers the dangers and the lack of consideration for others in careless driving. It furnished a placard reading: "This Car Stops at All Railroad Crossings" Each driver was asked to pledge himself to cooperate and to evidence his good intentions by displaying this placard on the rear of his machine. That such a remarkable result was achieved, as if by common consent, is a deserved tribute to the spirit prevailing throughout the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization of 28,059 men and women. It is this spirit which has enabled the Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to render such an essential service, in such a constructive way, as to have gained for the Company, the confidence, respect and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West. BILLY EVANS Says

Picking all-star combinations in any sport is merely a matter of personal opinion. For instance, no two football experts ever selected exactly the same all-star aggregation as the last year in the grid game.

Recently in a chat with Jim Corbett I had him name the greatest fighters in each division as he saw them. He backed up each choice with logical reasoning.

When Jim Corbett was champion of the world, the outstanding figure in the heavyweight division, Eddie Graney, was rated one of the greatest, if not the greatest, fight referees.

The other day Graney, in Sunset, picked an all-star boxing team as seen through the eyes of the referee. Surely no one is better fitted to judge the relative merits of fighters than the official who gives the final decision on them.

IDAHO GIVES TURF ANOTHER CHAMP JOCKEY

Art Mortensen Named Leading Jockey of 1925

BY BILLY EVANS. Idaho has given the turf another champion in the person of Arthur Mortensen, leading jockey of 1925.

Mortensen's sensational performances of the past year entitles him to be ranked with the other great jockeys produced by Idaho, among them Earl Sande, Ivan Purke, the Factors, Laverne, Mark and Elmer, and Alfred Johnson.

It is most unusual that Idaho, without an organized racing association for the conduct of the sport, should each year produce some sensational jockey.

Mortensen began riding at Tijuana, a did Ivan Purke. It is a strange coincidence that W. G. Jenkins discovered and developed both boys.

One year ago Mortensen was practically unknown, while today he is the turf's champion jockey. Many race bettors play Mortensen regardless of his mount.

Grange and Pyle Planned "Gold Rush" Two Years Ago

By NEA Service. Chicago, Jan. 12.—When C. C. Pyle saw Red Grange prancing on the grid fields of glory two years ago, he had a dream. In the dream he saw contracts, with gold written all over them, and movie sets, ruffled and glorious and remunerative.

It was Pyle's dream of professional football, and he took the red-headed phenomenon under his wing, his very business-like wing, to make that dream come true.

Now, oh, how the money rolls in! Pyle was the owner of a small movie in Champaign, Ill., when he first set eyes on Grange. It is said that on that occasion he picked up a pencil at once and began to figure and to dream.

Did he put down $100,000 or $200,000, or what? Well, whatever it was, that's what they are guessing now will be his profit from the management of Grange this year.

Two years ago Grange began attracting attention on the white-lipped fields of combat. That year some one came around with a $50,000 contract for the young man to sign. Grange went to Pyle. Pyle felt like Caesar.

Has Joe Bush ever pitched a no-hit, no-run game?—F. G. W. Yes, against Cleveland, Aug. 26, 1916.

What's worse than getting a book for Christmas when you already have a book? D'd Roland Roberts ever hold the Pacific coast tennis title?

Neither Corbett or Graney gave Jack Dempsey the slightest consideration. "He's the best of a division that is devoid of any truly worth while fighters," is the way Corbett expressed his opinion of our present champ.

"Dempsey is far and away the best fighter of any weight class today, but I wouldn't rank him with the best fighters of all time," is Graney's sizeup.

When I asked Corbett why he didn't express an opinion of James J. Corbett himself, he smiled and replied: "I was pretty good at that. I was at least faster than any of the heavyweights. And I might add that I hit my opponents a lot oftener than they did me. The fight game is great sport if you are doing most of the hitting."

NEER'S NET VICTORY. For many years eastern universities had a monopoly on tennis titles. In fact, it has only been during the last few seasons that representatives from other sections have broken up the east's regime.

But in 1921 the lengthy eastern dynasty was checked. Out of the far west that season came Philip Neer. He was a student at Stanford, considered one of the best westmen turned out at that institution in a long while.

After graduating Neer continued his court activities, showing general all-round improvement. He developed into a doubles player of more than passing note, at one time holding the New England title, paired with Jimmy Davies.

Early 1926 Closing Date Still Possible, Johnson Believes

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(AP)—President Ban Johnson of the American League, who returned to Chicago today from the five days' session of the major league schedule committee in New York, tonight said that there was still hope of coming to an agreement on an earlier closing date for 1926, but believed that it will be necessary to extend the closing time three or four days beyond the set time of September 26.

"Trying to get 154 games into 143 playing days is like the fellow who tried to put on his flannel shirt which went to the laundry and came back several sizes smaller. We worked hard and deliberately, drawing up about 12 schedules before we decided to adjourn," Mr. Johnson said.

Dr. Little Pleads for Understanding of Young People

Detroit, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A better understanding of childhood and youth, and the function of youth in civilization was the plea of Dr. Clarence Cook Little, president of the University of Michigan, who addressed the Women's City club today.

He also alluded to the criticism that has been directed against him in some quarters for his attitude toward birth control.

"The objection has been made to me," he said, "that discussion and information concerning birth control is exceedingly dangerous because young people will make immoral use of it. There is no truth for that objection, nor sanction for it. If young people are selfishly immoral, would it not be better for them to use information to the end that there should be no children inheriting their false attitude toward society. And if young people are true in their attitude toward life as I certainly believe most young people are, why should they be handicapped by ignorance and prejudice in their purpose to bring the right sort of children into the world and give them a fair chance to attain high character and usefulness?"

"If our educational methods are to keep pace with the rapidly accumulating forces and changes of our times, there must be a new emphasis of youth."

5,848 AUTOS IN DELTA COUNTY

$83,076 Apportioned by State From Auto Weight Tax.

Lansing, Jan. 12.—(P)—The automobile license weight tax yielded $13,356,466 and the gasoline tax netted approximately $8,000,000 in 1925, according to a report completed today by Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state. The total of about $21,356,466, compares with a revenue in 1924 from automobile licenses of $12,404,545. In 1924, however, the license fees were supplemented with a nearly $10,000,000 residue of the $50,000,000 highway bond issue.

Last year witnessed a remarkable increase in the number of automobiles registered in Michigan. In 1924 the total of commercial and passenger vehicles was 588,251, as compared with 599,709 in 1923.

Under the highway finance act passed by the 1925 legislature, $5,000,000 of the weight tax proceeds are apportioned back to the counties. Wayne heads the list with $34,248 cars and an apportionment of $2,314,203.

Other counties had automobile registrations and were apportioned funds as follows:

Chippewa, 3,823 cars and $21,508 apportioned back as its share of the $6,000,000; Delta, 5,848 and $33,076; Houghton, 6,446 and $40,928; Baraga, 1,619 and $8,318; Dickinson, 7,367 and $41,128; Gogebic, 4,704 and $28,448; Iron, 3,918 and $21,257; Keweenaw, 526 and $2,920; Marquette, 7,020 and $39,840; Menominee, 4,375 and $24,055; Ontonagon, 1,919 and $10,061.

The state shortly will chart distribution of $6,000,000 and also will send out about $1,500,000 of state rewards to the various counties, it was said.

Beets May Replace Cane in Louisiana

Baton Rouge, La.—Sugar cane, long a staple crop in Louisiana, may lose its eminence in the list of the state's agricultural products, if sugar beet growing proves successful.

Cane crops have been beset by many plagues, the most recent being the borer and is proving serious. Mosaic disease and root rot also have attacked cane.

Sugar planters have asked that the sugar house at the new Louisiana State University be provided with machinery for refining beet sugar as a part of the experiment planned next year.

More than 100 acres of sugar beets will be planted in various sections of the "sugar belt" of Louisiana next year.

REPLY BRIEF IS FILED IN COURT

Washington, Jan. 12.—(P)—Michigan filed with the supreme court today its reply brief in its boundary dispute with Wisconsin, recently orally argued before the court.

The reply brief emphasizes the main features of contentions advanced by Michigan. Insisting that congress intended the Montreal and Menominee rivers should be the two river systems forming the main part of the boundary across the peninsula, with a straight line drawn across connecting head waters of the two rivers.

It insists congress did not intend the line should run from some indefinite point on the Montreal overland to the Lake of the Desert. It claims congress knew the lake now known as Lake Vieux Desert was not connected with the Montreal river, and denies that the Michigan constitution of 1850 ratified the boundary as laid down in Wisconsin enabling act.

Michigan insists Wisconsin is taxing islands belonging to it and admits that if effect is to be given to the boundary laid down in the Wisconsin enabling act it possesses three islands which would belong to Wisconsin.

MARKETING OF CROPS STUDIED

House Agricultural Body Considers Haugen Farm Bill.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(P)—With cooperative marketing the pivot of discussion, the much-debated question of farm relief was given further impetus today with the beginning of the fourth national conference of the National Council of Farmers' Cooperative Marketing associations, while congress wrestled with the problem in committee hearing.

With indications pointing to a wide difference of opinion as to the proper method of approaching the crop surplus problem, the conference of cooperatives launched its first of four days of sessions amid a buzz of floor discussion, hotel lobby conferences and group and private gatherings.

While the conference was proceeding, the house agriculture committee continued its hearing on the Haugen bill, with Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Milk Producers' Federation, and A. U. Chaberski, general manager of the American Cranberry Exchange, endorsing its provision for creation of a division of cooperative marketing in the department of agriculture.

Several members of the committee expressed the opinion that federal regulation of cooperative marketing was only a question there already was too much government control of business and that the tendency was for less interference of this kind.

The cooperative idea also came in for a general discussion at a meeting between Secretary Jardine and representatives of standard farm papers, who, in addition, took up with the secretary the subject of publicity in the agriculture department.

The convening of the cooperative conference held chief attention, particularly in view of the effects its discussions might have in shaping farm relief legislation.

ROLL IS BECOMING IMPRESSIVE

Were it not for the advance being recorded in the standard of municipal government in peninsula, this council manager government thing might be considered as becoming almost too common for comment.

Confidence begets confidence. Undoubtedly the company's announcement will have a distinctly beneficial effect. And if the farmer is benefited, the International Harvester Company, which so greatly depends on the farmer, will also be benefited.

DE-HYLANIZING NEW YORK. One of the results of the end of the Hylian rule in New York is the removal of the Hylian name from signs and placards posted at parks, playground streets, and wherever else the slightest excuse existed for blazoning the name "Hylian."

Iron Mountain will probably be the next upper peninsula city to capitulate by turning its back upon factional politics in municipal government. A large number of people in Iron Mountain believe that such a governmental change would prove highly beneficial there but a highly antagonistic city administration has been able to withstand the popular demand up to this time.

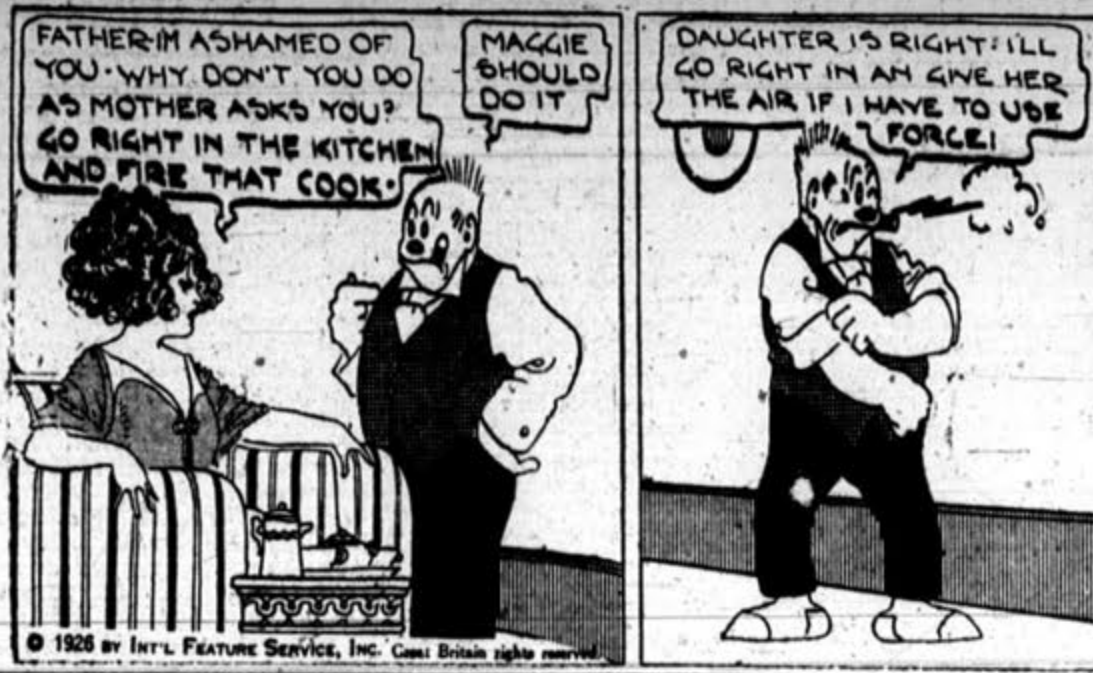

Indeed the day is now here when the old aldermanic form of government is the exception, rather than the rule, with the cities in the upper peninsula of Michigan.

A DOLLAR FOR CORN. It is a great constructive measure which the International Harvester Company puts into effect when it offers to guarantee a minimum price of a dollar for corn to the extent to which the corn is used for purchase of farm implements from the company.

The company's prime purpose is to restore confidence in agriculture, and especially in the corn-raising part of agriculture. Corn was selling at eighty-two cents on the Chicago Board of Trade when the company made its announcement. It has not sold as high as a dollar since last September.

DICE USED BY MAIDS. London—Maids who have been in domestic service in one family in Guildford, Surrey, for two years or more are invited to apply for the "Maid's Money" which, according to an old custom, is to be allocated by the throwing of dice.

MARKET NEWS

STOCK MARKET WEAK, STRONG

Table with columns: Date, Industrials, Railroads, and Stock Sales Averages.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Alternate periods of weakness and strength characterized today's stock market which was featured by a sensational advance of 53 points in Nash Motors and a late rally in U. S. Steel common which carried that stock across 136 for a gain of about 1 1/2 points.

Speculative sentiment appeared to have turned bullish at the opening, but stiffer call money rates and the disruption of the anthracite conference dampened bullish enthusiasm in the later trading.

Shares of the hard coal carriers were in rather free supply throughout the session. Delaware and Hudson broke four points to 160 and then rallied a point; Lehigh Valley closed 1/4 lower at 85, and Reading showed a net loss of 1/4 at 88 1/2.

Despite the weakness of Sears Roebuck and Mack Trucks, buoyancy developed in some of the other high-priced industrial specialties. Foundation company soared 6 points to 171 on reports that the company had negotiated several large foreign contracts on a cost-plus basis.

Bamald issues were active and strong on the formal announcement that the company had acquired the entire common stock of the Walte Phillips company, its stock closing about a point higher at 32 1/2.

Heavy buying of Washam common, which advanced 5 points to 52, the highest price since the reorganization of the road about ten years ago on merger rumors, featured the railroad list.

All money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent, holding at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Strength and activity of sterling exchange demand bills advancing 1/2 of a cent to $4.84 featured the irregular foreign exchange market. French francs broke 7 points to 3.75 cents and then rallied slightly.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Active buying brought about brisk late upticks in the wheat market today after an early decline. Wheat available here for immediate use was in better request and was able to command a premium.

With the trading basis for cash corn as well as for cash wheat firmer, the market for future deliveries of wheat advanced in the late dealings. Commission houses were buyers when corn prices dipped. Oats were dull and steady.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Cattle, receipts 11,000; fat steers and yearlings closing strong to 5c higher; underdone healthy; common close usually steady and active supported by firm stocker and feeder trade.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Although there were some early sales of 92 score at 4 1/2 cents, later in the day the market tone appeared easy and unsettled with considerable butter at all grades available at prices listed.

CHIEF EXPANDS TRAFFIC VIEWS

Tells Why He Recommended Abolition of Left Hand Turns.

Complete left-hand turn-arounds at street intersections will be prohibited in every city in the United States which adopts the recommendations of the "Hoover Conference" of nationally known traffic experts. This means that, before long, it will be illegal to reverse the course of an automobile at any street corner in the country.

The foregoing statement was made yesterday by Chief of Police John J. Toian who was asked to amplify, for Press readers, the recommendations he has made concerning certain clauses in the city's new traffic ordinance.

The Hoover conference, called by Herbert Hoover, adopted certain basic traffic rules, the chief explained. "It was a nation-wide gathering, and some of the country's leading traffic experts were present. These experts then split up into state groups. The Michigan group was asked to lead the way. The reason for this was because Michigan is the leading automobile state."

Framed Model Ordinance.
The Michigan experts came home and called a state meeting to which traffic experts, police chiefs and others interested in public safety were invited. This gathering was held at Grand Rapids. A committee was appointed to frame a model ordinance to be used as a pattern all over the country. This committee, of which I was a member, did its work and reported back to another meeting held at Detroit.

All of the major provisions, agreed upon by the national group as basic, were approved. Some other provisions were added and some minor provisions were left open so that each locality could adapt the ordinance to meet local conditions.

"One of the provisions which will be urged nationally is the prohibition of left-hand turn-arounds at street intersections. This is a point which is urged, perhaps, more than any other one rule of driving."

Parallel Parking.
"A provision which each locality will settle for itself is the manner in which cars may be parked."

"The law, as it now stands, permits turning around in the middle of a block if there is room for such a turn."

"It follows, then, that parallel parking would give the room necessary to permit this turning."

"Ludington street has plenty of room for four lanes of traffic instead of two if cars were parked parallel to the curb instead of at an angle."

"Some folks, I think, are taking far too serious a view of the space required for parallel parking. The reduction in the number of cars would be only about one-third. Twenty-five cars could be parked on one side of a block instead of about thirty-five. Twenty-five cars, parked at one time, will take care of the needs here nicely, I believe."

Cause of Accidents.
"Police records show, clearly, that about 70 per cent of the traffic accidents are caused from angle parking, which requires the backing of an automobile more or less blindly into traffic, and turning around at street intersections which interferes, oftentimes, with other vehicles moving in four directions."

"Escanaba is making a bid for tourist business. This city is visited every year by thousands of outside drivers. I believe we ought to make driving as easy for them as we can. And there certainly would be no hardship on our own people if we adopt the rules, laid down as the safest and best by such an organization as the Hoover conference."

"National uniform traffic rules will be a wonderful thing for the motorists of this country. Escanaba has an opportunity to be among the first to fall in line, following the leadership of Herbert Hoover. That's why my recommendations to the council were for the prohibition of corner turn-arounds and parallel parking."

Bent the unscientific way

College boys are considerate. The loose clothes they wear makes it easier for their friends to undress them.

Why don't the women catch pneumonia? That's easy. Less clothes they wear the warmer they are.

Take a girl in knee dresses and silk stockings. She may be chilly, but she's considered a warm sister.

And, take one in one of these evening gowns. Her shoulders may be bare, but she doesn't give everyone a cold shoulder.
