

TO REPORT TAX BILL TO SENATE TODAY

BUTLER VICTOR WHEN COOLIDGE NAMES MARVIN

ULTRA-PROTECTIONIST HEAD MEANS PROBE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1926, by the Escanaba Press.) Washington, Jan. 18.—In designating Thomas Marvin, republican, as chairman of the tariff commission for another year, president Coolidge yielded to the appeal of senator William M. Butler of Massachusetts, his prevention an campaign manager last year.

Mr. Coolidge had about made up his mind to let the vice-chairman of the commission, Alfred Dennis, a democrat and his personal friend, become chairman. The move was favored as a means of appeasing the sentiment in congress which is threatening a re-opening of the whole tariff question. Mr. Coolidge also wanted people to know by the change that he was a moderate and not a high protectionist. Mr. Marvin is an avowed ultra-protectionist. He is said to have never voted to reduce the tariff on anything.

Butler Faction Anxious. The argument presented to Mr. Coolidge by virtually all the republican members of the New England delegation was that Mr. Marvin's retention was necessary for the good of the party. Mr. Coolidge was told also that unless he re-appointed Mr. Marvin he would jeopardize the chances of senator Butler for re-election in Massachusetts. Mr. Butler may have as his opponent former senator David Walsh and it looks as if the fight is going to be close enough anyhow without having a rift in the republican ranks. Mr. Butler's friends insisted that if Mr. Marvin wasn't designated as chairman it would be hailed by opposition as proof that Mr. Butler didn't have much influence with the chief executive and that Massachusetts could not count on a high protectionist policy.

Investigation Certain. Mr. Coolidge was torn between conflicting desires but came to the conclusion that all things considered he had to re-appoint Mr. Marvin, especially as the attack made by senator Norris of Nebraska makes certain a congressional investigation. If Mr. Coolidge could have been sure that an appointment would have saved a congressional investigation, he might have postponed the selection of a new chairman, allowing the acting chairman to remain in charge.

The drive on the president's connection with tariff commission appointments is, however, part of a general bombardment all along the line against Mr. Coolidge for having endeavored to influence the policies of the various independent commissions by understandings in advance. There is no denial that Mr. Coolidge asked for the resignation of commissioner Hasey of the shipping board, a democrat, because he did not keep an understanding on policy which Mr. Coolidge said he had with Mr. Hasey.

Now senator Norris of Nebraska has disclosed an exchange of letters between W. S. Cuberson, now member of the diplomatic service but formerly a member of the tariff commission whereby the latter undertook to pledge David J. Lewis, democrat, to agree in advance when accepting the appointment to resign at the president's convenience.

Some of the fireworks may be expected in the congressional investigation inasmuch as E. P. Costigan of Colorado, republican, and western insurgent, is planning to furnish senator Norris and the committee with all the records and information concerning executive proceedings in the tariff commission. This evidence is supposed to be confirmatory of charges that certain manufacturing and producing interests controlled the acts of the commission through political and other channels. It probably will disclose also that Mr. Coolidge has not always been in sympathy with chairman Marvin and that one of the strongest opponents of Mr. Marvin has been Mr. Dennis, a democrat and personal friend in the confidence of president Coolidge.

Five Killed Near Toledo When Train Strikes Coupe

Car Struck Squarely by Locomotive

Toledo, O., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Five people were killed instantly five miles west of here late today when a New York Central passenger train struck a small coupe, at a grade crossing.

THE DEAD ARE: Joseph J. Morse, 28, Lillian Morse, 21, his wife, Joseph D. Morse, 8 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morse, Mrs. Catherine Dressler, 58, mother of Mrs. Morse, Laura E. Dressler, 23, sister of Mrs. Morse.

The machine was struck squarely by the locomotive. Four of the bodies were impaled in it. The body of Mrs. Dressler was thrown from the automobile and onto the pilot of the passenger locomotive where it rested until the train was brought to a stop.

The crowded condition of the coupe is thought to have prevented Morse from seeing the approaching train.

Coroner Hensler and police have started an investigation. Railroad employees tested a flashing danger signal at the crossing shortly after the accident and found it to be working.

With bands and flags and all manner of insignia and designation, they came by special train, automobile and bus.

Stop Political Bickerings, Hindenburg Orders Parties

German Chief Threatens Dictatorship; New Cabinet Formed.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—(AP)—President Von Hindenburg, resuming the role of field marshal today, summoned the leaders of the Reichstag parties to the executive mansion and after demanding that all political bickerings and controversies cease, plainly intimated that the choice lay between a dictatorship or parliamentary government.

Pettifoggish politics as exhibited in the German parliamentary crisis roused the old soldier ire of Von Hindenburg and he determined to put an end to the political impasse which has left Germany without a duly authorized government for more than six weeks.

New Cabinet Announced. The president's forceful language and unquestioned determination had the desired effect, for less than three hours after the political leaders had left his presence, Chancellor Luther was able to announce the roster of his new cabinet which he will introduce in the Reichstag Thursday.

The cabinet is as follows: Chancellor—Dr. Hans Luther. Foreign minister—Gustav Stresemann. Interior—Wilhelm Kuelz (Democrat). Finance—Peter Reinhold (Democrat). Economics—Julius Curtius (German People's Party). Labor—Heinrich Bruns (Centrist). Justice—Dr. Wilhelm Marx (Centrist). Defense—Dr. Otto Gessler (Non-Partisan). Posts and telegraphs—Karl Siegel (Bavarian People's Party).

The portfolios of agriculture and occupied areas will be temporarily taken by other members of the cabinet.

Flays Political Tactics. "These sorry exhibitions of a perennial government crisis must cease," declared Von Hindenburg, "the condition of the fatherland more than ever now demands constructive work."

This was the president's first encounter with practical politics as engaged in by the Reichstag parties and the fact that he summoned the leaders for the purpose of informing them that they had to choose between parliamentary government and a dictatorship, is interpreted as reflecting his private loathing of the political game as played by numerous German parties and factions.

Costs $21,000 To Polish Cuspidors in Large Building. New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—That gilded descendant of the old sawdust box—the brass cuspidor—costs a single big office building in New York $21,000 a year to polish.

ILLNESS TELLS ON CARDINAL

Mercier Prays and Meditates On Christ's Sufferings.

Brussels, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Cardinal Mercier is sinking slowly, but with the end not yet imminent. He is devoting what apparently are the last hours of a great life to furthering the cause of the union of churches at which he has been working since the war.

Gently declining to yield to the doctors' entreaties, the cardinal spent a goodly portion of the afternoon discussing the prospect with Abbe Portal, missionary priest of Paris, who took part in the famous "malines conversations" between Catholic and Anglican church ecclesiastics in May, 1925.

Other visitors were also received today among them Baron Bevens, Belgian ambassador to the Vatican, although the patient had been able to take no nourishment since yesterday and his weakness was becoming more marked.

When not sleeping the cardinal prays or reflects. The faithful monk, Brother Hubert, who watches by the bedside night and day, says that the cardinal is meditating on Christ's suffering and is happy in the feeling that he is joining in those orisons. The mother superior, in charge of the clinic, pressed a cup of bouillon upon the prelate, but he returned it, thanking her, and saying that he wished first to finish the Rosary.

PLANNED CHURCH UNION. Union of the Church of England and the Church of Rome was advocated in resolution at the Lambeth conference in 1920. The archbishop of Canterbury, in a Christmas letter in 1923, to the Christians of the Anglican communion disclosed that private conversations had been held at Malines, Belgium, initiated by Cardinal Mercier and a few Anglicans.

SHOOTS TRAIN FOR REVENGE

Racine Man Peeved Because Railway Refused Job.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Richard Rogan, Racine, Wis., farmer, confessed today to Wisconsin authorities that he last night fired shots at two Chicago, Milwaukee and North Shore Electric railway trains, wounding one person in each train.

He said he had been refused employment by the railroad and after consuming a quantity of liquor, evolved the plan of firing on the trains for revenge and to frighten the road.

He committed a score of burglaries and the malicious shooting of a number of cattle and dogs that had puzzled authorities for months, he confessed.

Upon his parole from a reformatory where he was sentenced for burglary in 1914, he said he started robbing north shore homes, then joined the army and went to Texas where he said he held up several soldiers as a way of obtaining easy money.

M. J. Shifris was shot in the head when Rogan fired at the first train and Mrs. William Edmonds of Racine was grazed by a bullet when he fired on the second train.

WORLD COURT LEADERS SEEK DATE FOR VOTE

FRIENDS NEGOTIATE WITH FOES FOR AGREEMENT.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Laying aside the plan to invoke the rule under which senate debate on the world court would be limited, proponents of American membership in that tribunal opened negotiations today with the opposition looking to an agreement for a date on which a vote may be had.

Leaders on both sides said the discussions still were in the preliminary stages. Proponents expressed the hope that an agreement could be reached so that it would be unnecessary to undertake enforcement of the closure rule.

Vote Date Undecided. One difference of opinion developed between the two sides in the fight is whether the date for a vote shall be fixed before or after the tax reduction bill is taken up. Some of the opposition forces want the date put off until after the revenue measure is passed, so that free discussion can be assured.

Negotiations for an agreement were inaugurated after the opposition had brought forward two of their biggest guns, Senators Johnson, Republican, California, and Reed, Democrat, Missouri. Both vigorously assailed the court before crowded galleries.

In opening the discussion, Senator Johnson declared that the court was part of the League of Nations and that if the United States was going into the league, it would go in by the front door and not by a side entrance or by way of a trap door.

After Senators McKinley, Republican, Illinois, and Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, had made brief addresses favoring American admission to the court protocol, Senator Reed began his speech. He talked for more than an hour and then obtained unanimous consent to have read into the record an article written in 1893 by Andrew Carnegie, who was described by Senator Reed as the author and his money as the source of the present movement for "American participation in European affairs."

The reading by the clerk went on for an hour and a half and the republican leaders, absent from the chamber when the unanimous consent was obtained, made no effort to conceal their chagrin upon their return to the senate floor.

Before the reading had been concluded, Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, suggested the absence of a quorum. When the roll call was called there was so much confusion on the floor that Vice President Dawes had to run vigorously for order, declaring "It is impossible to hear the clerk."

Rudy Valentino Is Unperturbed By Wife's Move

Cheerbourg, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino made only one comment when, on the arrival of the Leviathan here, he was informed by The Associated Press correspondent that a divorce decree had been pronounced against him—"that closes a chapter of my life; it only remains to turn the page and begin anew."

Valentino was quite unperturbed; not a muscle of his face, so expressive before the lens, stirred. If he felt any emotion at the announcement, he successfully concealed it. He allowed the subject to drop with the remark: "I was expecting a telegram but you are ahead. You are the first to bring the news."

MORON SLAYS TOLEDO GIRL

Three Killed, Four Hurt by Clubber in Same District.

Toledo, O., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Toledo armed itself today against recurrence of a terror that has preyed upon the city for eight months while police sought the slayer of Miss Mary Handley, who was found beaten to death early today in a back yard adjacent to her home.

The scene of the slaying is the center of the district in which three women have been killed and four injured by a clubber since last May.

While Safety Director Arthur Hill made the murder the basis for a plea for 25 additional policemen, detectives expressed the opinion the attacker of Miss Handley was hiding behind the identity of the slayer of the other Toledo women by imitating his methods. Miss Handley's body was severely beaten and her clothing torn as was the case in the previous attacks.

Miss Handley was a contractor and had been living with her two brothers for some time. She had been absent from her home for two days when her body was found.

The Handley brothers told police of a man discovered peeping in the windows of their home Monday night. They made no effort to apprehend him, they said.

WHITE HOUSE SKEPTICAL OF COMPROMISE

$400,000,000 SLASH ALARMING TO TREASURY.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The senate compromise tax reduction bill was looked upon with hopeful but skeptical eyes today at the White House and at the treasury.

It was stated at the White House that while President Coolidge was in favor of retirement of the federal government from the field of inheritance taxation in favor of the states, he was not prepared to state whether the time had come for repeal of the federal levy as proposed by the bill.

Compilation of estimates on the total reduction provided for in the bill, meanwhile, brought a quiet alarm from the treasury when it was disclosed that the measure would make a slash of almost $400,000,000 in the nation's revenues this year. The senate finance committee went immediately into session, and, dividing on party lines, the republicans voted to increase the corporation tax to 1 1/2 per cent, effective upon enactment of the bill into law.

The committee previously had voted to increase this levy from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 per cent on taxes paid this year and to 1 3/4 per cent next year to offset the loss of revenue expected from the proposed repeal of the capital stock tax. By making the rate 1 3/4 per cent immediately, Chairman Smoot estimated this would yield $43,000,000 additional revenue this year and cut the reduction total of the bill to $352,000,000.

Coolidge Opposes Excess. Even this excess over the $330,000,000 limits approved by Secretary Mellon was frowned upon by the president, who felt that while the treasury might stand the additional reduction, difficulties might be encountered if there was a depression in business which would result in a decrease in government revenues.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, announced that he would propose to the senate that it meet any tax reduction above the treasury surplus by amendment of the sinking fund provisions rather than through increases in taxes.

Senator Simmons proposed that the amount of the sinking fund, created to retire the public debt, be increased from 2 1/2 per cent of the domestic debt to 3 1/4 per cent, and that the cost of this increase be met by the payments received from foreign nations on account of war debts.

This would increase from $25,000,000 to $350,000,000 the annual amount of the sinking fund. Senator Simmons estimated, but of this sum, about $175,000,000 would be provided by debt payments, and he estimated that the public debt could be retired under the present program and at least $75,000,000 additional be allowed for tax reduction than calculated by the treasury.

"Fif" Is Granted Divorce from Leidy

Morristown, Pa., Jan. 19.—(AP)—The romance, which included an early morning elopement six years ago of Josephine Pannocost Widener Leidy, came to an end today when it was learned that the Montgomery county court had granted her a divorce from her husband, Carter Randolph Leidy.

Daughter of Joseph E. Widener, multimillionaire of Philadelphia, and known to her friends as "Fif", Mrs. Leidy brought action against her husband last October. No intimation of the grounds for the suit was made public and neither the principals in the youthful romance that started society of Philadelphia, New York and Newport, nor the parents of the pair, would discuss the case.

Denies Motion to Quash Complaint Against H. Ford

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—A motion by counsel for Henry Ford to strike out of the complaint of Herman Bernstein, who is suing Mr. Ford for $200,000 for libel, several quotations from The Dearborn Independent which were alleged to libel the Jews, was denied today by Federal Judge A. N. Hand.

On the motion of Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, the committee today also voted a reduction of the gift tax. It would make the rates on inheritance in the 1921 act apply to gifts instead of the rates voted in the 1924 act, which were the same as the inheritance rates in that act. The gift tax was created in the latter act and would be repealed by the pending measure.

WOLVES GROW MORE NUMEROUS

Albert Stoll, Jr., Discusses Some Phases of Situation.

Wolves are more numerous in the Upper Peninsula than they were two years ago and the state trapping force has become less efficient, in the opinion of Albert Stoll, Jr., former secretary of the state department of conservation. In an article in the Detroit News, Mr. Stoll says:

"The predatory animal control work conducted by our conservation department is not progressing smoothly or controlling productive forms of wild life as well today as it did two years ago."

"Fewer Pelts Received. Proof of this lies in the apparently authentic reports that are sent down from the Upper Peninsula that wolves and coyotes are on the increase, and it is the general belief in that section that these two species of predatory animals have increased in numbers greatly since 1923. One thing is certain; fewer pelts of wolves and coyotes are being received by the conservation department at Lansing now than two years ago, which carries with it the belief that animals are either scarcer or the trapping force is less efficient. We are inclined to place credence in the latter."

"U. S. Aid Withdrawn. Unfortunately, our predatory animal control operations are no longer under the direct supervision of federal inspectors. Government assistance has been withdrawn from the state and no federal funds are contributed for the work. Until a year ago this aid was accorded us. Since that time the state has maintained its own force of trappers, under the supervision of one of the state's most efficient game wardens; but for some unknown reason, coupled with a possible lack of funds, the work has deteriorated so much that both the residents of our north country and conservation officials themselves realize that something different must take place if the menace of increasing predatory creatures is to be curbed. The department intends to add ten additional trappers immediately. This may help. In any event, the work should be re-established on the basis of its former efficiency."

Woman Arrested as Bigamist Unable to Furnish Bail

Mrs. Blanche Carr Frizzell, arrested by members of the sheriff's force yesterday on a charge of bigamy, had been unable to furnish bonds of $500, asked by Judge C. D. McEwen for her appearance in circuit court, and was still endeavoring to find someone who would serve as surety.

It is alleged that Mrs. Frizzell married Joseph Gaudry here on December 27, 1925, without obtaining a divorce from her first husband, Frizzell, whom she married in Channing, February 9, 1918.

She waived preliminary examination when arraigned before Judge McEwen. Mrs. Frizzell declared she did not know it was illegal to marry a second time, when there were no objections on the part of the first husband.

INCOME-TAX FORMS READY

Collector Holden Issues Statement Explaining Their Use.

The following statement, concerning the dates for filing income tax returns, has been issued by Charles Holden, collector of internal revenue for the fourth district of Michigan:

"Heretofore taxpayers have been urged to file their income tax returns early. The filing of returns this year is delayed, pending the enactment of the new revenue act now before the senate, which, as it passed the house, contains changes in regard to rates and other features. However, there is nothing to prevent a taxpayer at this time from closing his books and computing his net income. Such computations will not be affected by any provisions of the new act. The actual preparation of the return itself, after computation, requires, in a majority of cases, but a few minutes. Therefore, it is advised that all figures and data be assembled, pending receipt of blanks by taxpayers. When released, blanks will be sent to taxpayers and also may be obtained at the office of Collector Charles Holden."

Forms Available.

"Forms 1099 and 1056 used for making information returns, are now available at offices of collectors of internal revenue and branch offices. Such returns are required of persons in whatever capacity acting who made to a single person a payment of $1,000 or more, or to a married person a payment of $2,500 or more. Such payments include salaries, rent, interest, or other fixed or determinable gains, profits and income."

"Collectors of internal revenue are not authorized to receive information returns, which should be addressed to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Sorting Section, Washington, D. C."

City Has Its First Real Snow Fall of Season Yesterday

Snow which began before day-break yesterday and continued until after midnight, gave the ground the thickest covering it has had this winter.

This locality had not been visited by snow storms which had swept other sections in all directions earlier in the season. The storm yesterday was welcomed, particularly by loggers whose work had been severely handicapped by lack of snow.

Results of Industrial Survey Here to Be Described at Dinner.

Anderson Pace of Chicago, head of the concern which has just completed a preliminary industrial survey of Escanaba, at a forum dinner of the Chamber of Commerce in the Delta hotel at 6:15 p. m. Thursday, will give a summary of the findings of his organization in its work here.

Mr. Pace and his associates have been busy on the survey for about three months. No intimation of the contents of his report has been given to anyone here. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce are as much in the dark concerning it as the rest of the citizens. This method is employed by the Pace company to guard against attempts to include propaganda into the reports.

Expect Big Crowd. "Should Escanaba engage in an industrial development campaign and if it should, what feature should be carried on in order to produce the greatest ultimate benefit?" It is expected that a capacity crowd will hear Mr. Pace since the topic is an extremely live and important one.

High School Pupils Hear Male Quarete

The student body of the Escanaba high school yesterday afternoon, during the assembly period, was entertained by several numbers by the Adnaac male quartet. The leader of the quartet, Mr. McDonald, offered as a specialty number a reading that was indeed very entertaining.

The numbers were as follows: "The March of the Guard," by Gehel. "Fishing," by Parks. "The Cork Arm," a reading by Mr. McDonald. "Rosary," by Nevin.

250 Reservations from Other Cities Received

More than 250 out-of-town Masons will participate in the educational rally to be staged here Monday evening, January 25. Of the reservations received for the dinner, which will be a part of the day's activities, 125 are from Gladstone, 74 from Manistique, 25 from Menominee, 20 from Stephenson and 15 from Norway.

The guest of honor at the rally will be Frank T. Lodge, of Detroit, a former grand master, who is now chairman of the Michigan Commission on Masonic Education. Some other member of the grand lodge will accompany Mr. Lodge to this city.

An excellent program is being arranged by Charles R. Henderson, chairman of the local committee. The rally will be the first event of its kind ever held in Michigan, but it will be followed by a series of similar rallies throughout the state.

Edgar Cochrum to Talk at Rotary's Weekly Meeting

E. D. Cochrum, secretary of the Michigan Conservation Commission and recognized as one of Michigan's most forceful public speakers, will be the guest of honor of the Escanaba Rotary club when that organization meets at the Delta hotel at noon today for its regular weekly session. Mr. Cochrum has most ably served for the past several years as secretary and official spokesman for the Michigan department of conservation and much of the credit for the growth of public interest in the work of that department is due to his efforts.

Because of the prominence of the guest of honor and the excellence of the program arranged for the occasion it is expected that an unusually large part of the club's membership will be in attendance at the session.

INDEE-LLOYD QUINTS MEET

Record Crowd Expected to Attend Return Game at Menominee.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 19.—(Special)—Arrangements are being made to care for a record crowd of fans at the Escanaba Independent-Menominee Lloyd basketball game which will be played here Saturday night of this week.

Both of the teams are classed among the top-notchers of the Upper Peninsula. The locals last week trimmed the strong Appleton team by a 38 to 28 score, and Escanaba defeated the shifty Manistique aggregation on the same night by a 29 to 24 count.

Escanaba is coming here with the team at full strength. Blomstrom being back at his old position at center, with Christenson, St. Louis, Soderberg and Vandenberg at guard and Gafner, Schram and Andrews as forwards. The Lloyd team is expected to start its regular lineup with Utecht and Boucher holding down the forward berths.

Menominee took the first affair between the two teams at Escanaba, but the Indees had not hit their stride at that time and should furnish much stiffer opposition at the return encounter here Saturday.

As the game comes on the night following the Menominee and Escanaba high school clash, it is expected that a number of student fans from the Delta county city will stay over for the Saturday game.

Phil McGraw Wins From Basil Galiano

New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—With a bruising two-handed attack which had his opponent on the verge of a knockout several times, Phil McGraw of Detroit tonight won a judges' decision from Basil Galiano of New Orleans in a 12-round lightweight fight. Galiano, repeatedly staggered by the western fighter, kept his feet with difficulty.

George Courtney, Oklahoma middleweight, scored a technical knockout over Henry Shaw, New York negro, in the third round of a six-round match. The referee stopped the contest after Shaw had been floored twice.

ST. PAUL WINS. St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(P)—G. Conroy's shot in the final period gave St. Paul a 4 to 3 victory over the Canadian Joe Greyhounds from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., in the U. S. Amateur Hockey League here tonight.

BRIAND FACES BIG PROBLEM

Paris, Jan. 19.—(P)—How to keep together his cabinet, made up of a majority of radicals, while the radical group in the chamber of deputies is fighting the government's financial measures and doing all it can to bring about the downfall of the minister of finance is Premier Briand's problem this week.

The political tension over the financial situation was not decreased by Finance Minister Doumer's meeting with the finance committee of the chamber of deputies this afternoon. Mr. Doumer went into a long criticism with the measure proposed by the left, and many members of the cabinet openly showed their dissatisfaction on leaving the meeting.

The premier's radical colleagues now hesitate to repeat the threats made just before the Christmas holidays that they would step out of the government, because they are afraid they would be taken at their word and allowed to retire in favor of members of other groups. Nevertheless, the radical leaders in the chamber continue to show the determination to force the resignation of M. Doumer, behind whom the premier has continued to stand.

It is generally admitted in all parliamentary circles that this situation cannot last long, and that either the finance minister or his radical opponents will have to yield before the end of this week.

Clas Thunberg Does Not Like American Style of Ice Races

New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—Clas Thunberg of Finland, recognized as the world's amateur speed skating champion, does not like the American style of skating with its "jockeying," "stalling" and "sharp curved" tracks. He said so today before leaving for St. John, N. B., to participate in the international outdoor championships January 26, 27 and 28.

"I am not mourning the loss of my two first races against Joe Moore or Charlie Gorman," said Thunberg, through his interpreter-manager, Hugo Quist. "But everybody agrees, even Moore and Gorman, that I am under a greater handicap skating under American rules than the American skaters were at the last Olympics in competing under European rules."

"But I am not discouraged," he said. "I believe I can become accustomed to the American style with a little more practice and show my critics that I am not over-rated."

BILLY EVANS Says

VETERAN STARS. How many more years do you figure Walter Johnson and Ty Cobb will still be able to go? This was the question fired at me the other day.

These two great players who have made baseball history, are nearing the end of their career. Because of their great popularity with the fans, their wish would be they might go on forever.

However, there must come a time when Ty Cobb and Walter Johnson will be forced to retire from active play. Old Father Time is relentless in his demands.

If Johnson and Cobb were to doubt if they do, they could stick around for perhaps five years more. A four or five-day rest would be absolutely imperative for Johnson and 100 games per season would be Cobb's limit.

Johnson has put in 19 seasons in the American League while Cobb's mark is 21 campaigns. Both joined the American League in the fall of their first year.

Last season was a big one for the two veterans. Johnson won 20 games and lost only seven, Cobb batted .378.

FIVE MORE YEARS. Those two records speak volumes for the greatness of Johnson and Cobb, for length of service and remarkable performance.

As a matter of fact, Cobb hung up several new batting marks, one of them being the making of five home runs in two days. He's never been noted as a slugger.

Walter Johnson in the opening game of the 1925 world series, after having enjoyed a rest of several weeks, due to an injured hip, struck out 10 of the hard-hitting Pirates, known as a team that murdered speed.

"Johnson's speed is just a little bit different," remarked several of the Pirates to me after the opening game. In the final battle of the Pittsburgh club hit him hard, but he was just a pitcher in the deciding contest, far from Walter Johnson of the first game.

Experts have been predicting the finish of Johnson and Cobb for the last five years, but these two extraordinary athletes keep fooling 'em in the most approved style.

UNUSUAL RECORDS. In all probability both Johnson and Cobb will quit before the five years I have allotted them is up, but I feel they could hang on that much longer if they cared to. Both are wealthy and the financial inducement is no longer a strong appeal.

One day last season Johnson told me that with a five-day rest his arm feels as strong as ever. As a matter of fact, he remarked that his legs gave him greater concern than his arm.

"Often my poor pitching late in the game on some hot day is due to leg weakness, rather than any trouble with my arm, in constant striding so taxes my underpinning that often it feels mighty wobbly at the finish," was the way Johnson explained it.

Last spring at the Augusta training camp, Cobb told me he intended to play 100 games. He took part in 101 in the outfield. In perhaps a dozen more he went in as a pinch hitter.

Zach Wheat Wants $18,000 Per Year

New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—Zach Wheat has put a price tag of $18,000 on his services for 1926, his eighth season with the Brooklyn Nationals, and accompanied his demands with an ultimatum that he won't play for less.

The Dodger captain's holdout figure is $7,000 more than his 1925 contract called for and $2,000 beyond the stipend of Brooklyn's highest salaried performer, Dazzy Vance, smoke ball king.

But that didn't halt the sorrel-headed lad, either. Here he's depicted with Johnny Farrell, one of the country's leading pro golfers, on the links of the Temple Terrace Country Club, Tampa.

Michigan Football Profits for Year Were $363,706.06

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 19.—(P)—Football paid paper profits of $363,706.06 to the University of Michigan last fall, Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the athletic board of control, told members of the University senate.

The figures, however, do not represent the net profit inasmuch as from this amount must be deducted the expense of keeping up Ferry Field, the cost of equipping the teams, travelling expenses and the salaries of coaches. The total of these expenses which must be subtracted from the $363,706.06 was not revealed by Prof. Aigler. In 1924, however, the equipment, travelling and coaching was total was $35,889.18.

The game-by-game record of Michigan for 1925 was given by Professor Aigler as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Game, Attend., Gross, Net. Lists Michigan's performance against various teams like Mich. State, Indiana, Wisconsin, etc.

White of Stanford. Many college athletes competed in the 1924 Olympics in France. In fact, the quota was an unusually large one.

Stanford University had a big list of entries, ranking near the top in that respect. One of the best was Albert White, a swimmer.

White scored two firsts for the United States. He won the fancy high diving event, also the springboard diving competition. In the former he beat such prominent athletes as Fall an Pinkston of his own team; Adeltz and Oberg, Sweden, and Lenora of France.

In the spring-board dive White showed to even better advantage, whipping a great field that included the American stars, Desjardins and Pinkston; Lindmark, the Swedish sensation, and Eve, the Australian.

White's stellar efforts in both events were outstanding features of the swimming program. At Stanford, White was recognized as one of the best fancy divers that institution turned out in a long stretch. He had the coast field pretty much to himself. What he would accomplish in bigger competition was a matter of conjecture, however.

White, though, showed his metal by romping in with a pair of victories, quite an achievement for a college swimmer, especially when pitted against the world's premier celebrities.

Rosenberg, Kansas Challenged Often by Title Aspirants

New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—Challenges for the lightweight title held by Rocky Kansas of Buffalo and the bantamweight title possessed by Charles (Phil) Rosenberg of New York have become so numerous that elimination tournaments were being considered to determine the logical contender in each division.

Each of these champions have five rivals in hot pursuit of title honors, a situation which has prompted Jess McMahon, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, to take up the elimination tournament idea. Public opinion, he feels, would compel Rosenberg and Kansas to meet the winners of such tests.

The challengers of Kansas are Sid Terris of New York, Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., Solly Seeman of New York, Stanislaus Loayza of Chile and Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, N. Y. In the bantam division Busby Graham of Utica, N. Y., Chick Suggs of New Bedford, Mass., Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., California Joe Yynch and Carl Tremaine of Cleveland are ambitious for a shot at Rosenberg's crown.

Tex Rickard, in his 1925 boxing ratings, put Kansas third in the lightweight division with Mandell and Terris ranking first and second, respectively. In the bantam, Rosenberg was rated fourth with Suggs, Graham and Taylor ahead of him in that order.

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

WHITE CANARIES. The news columns announce the Canary Breeders Association of America, after 30 years' experimenting, has finally developed a white canary.

This is one of the really vital things the United States has always needed. Indeed it is a mystery to us how the country ever managed to get along as well as it has without a white canary.

With white canaries a robust reality rather than a fantastic dream, the way automatically becomes paved for bigger and more ridiculous achievements in all lines of industrial, scientific and Swiss bell-ringing circles.

There should be less suffering among the sugar daddies of Broadway, less poverty in the palatial quarters of the Hollywood movie stars, less confusion among the strap-hangers in the arctics and less loose comment on the Berlin wedding.

White canaries differ from the old-fashioned home-grown or garden variety species in that they may be used for utilitarian purposes, as well as ornamental touches, to say nothing of choppy dressing.

Whereas the old model canary, lacking pneumatic tires and self-starting equipment, was solely a pleasure loving bird, the white canary, embracing all the modern improvements, including reversible obligatos, is something else again.

It is, indeed, as Mr. O'Goofy so fittingly forms the phrase, a bird of a different color.

"If thing every home ought to have a white canary," asserts Mr. Coolidge. "If you can not afford a white canary, buy a buffalo or a sea cow or a veal steak. But be sure you shop around first and get a good price."

The business of producing new and fashionable shades in canaries ought not to stop with white. A hip-stick red, a mauve pink, or a delicately blended lavender, would help things along, and, besides, might make life worth living for Evelyn Waw.

Mr. Babe Ruth, however, insists he is not interested in white canary sin any form. "They remind me too much of that guy Landis," he says.

MARQUETTE WINS

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 19.—(P)—In a fast hockey game on the Palestine rink here tonight, the Marquette Indians, by consistent combination play, outclassed the Calumet All-Stars and won, 5 to 0. Calumet's forward line played desperately throughout the contest, testing Fought, Marquette goalie, with 25 shots at the net, but could not score.

Billy Rogge and Koel, with two goals each, and Pigeon, with one, were the offensive stars for the Indians.

PITTSBURGH WINS. New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—Outplayed in every period, the New York Americans were shut out in a National Hockey League match here tonight by Pittsburgh, 4 to 0. Jess Sprinz, substituting for Capt. Lionel Conacher, led the Pirate attack with two goals. McCurdy and Milks made the other points for the visitors.

Pro Football Parasite of College Game, Aigler

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 19.—(P)—Professional football is a parasite, living on the training and reputation gained by players on college teams, Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, chairman of the Athletic Board of Control at the University of Michigan, told members of the University Senate tonight in presenting to that faculty body his annual report.

Before discussing professional football, which Prof. Aigler thought would kill itself with its "gross commercialism," he reported that 326,232 persons watched the Michigan football team in action during the past season, paying $330,596.50 for the privilege.

He also told the Senate that receipts from all sports for the fiscal year that ended last July 1 were $589,975.50, and that the expenses, including $250,000 in loans paid, were $511,905.95. The loans were money advanced for the construction of Yost Field House.

The report also went into the question of a new stadium, but deferred to the report of the faculty investigating committee which was also presented to the senate.

Commercialism Undoing. "For a time recently," Prof. Aigler said when he reached the subject of professional football, "it has seemed to me that the extraordinary interest in professional football and the attendant publicity, largely due to the remarkable performances of one Harold Grange of Illinois, would sound the death knell of intercollegiate football. More recent developments have indicated that the alarm perhaps was false and that the gross commercialism of the professional game is or will be its own undoing.

Indeed, many maintain that football is peculiarly a game that must depend upon the collegiate surroundings for its popularity; a 15-yard run for old Swish produces a thrill out of all keeping with that produced by a 90-yard dash for $1,000.

"The question is not infrequently asked: why single out professional football? Why is it more objectionable than other forms of professional sport? The answer seems clear. There is nothing necessarily dishonorable in that form of professional sport. However, one may regret that was done by Mr. Grange or question his wisdom. It must be conceded that in becoming a professional he committed no criminal or moral offense.

"In the light of subsequent events it is at least doubtful whether one can say as much regarding his continuing as a member of the Illinois team, the rules requiring that participants must be bona fide students.

"But the fact remains that professional football is entirely a parasite. Without the training and reputations gained in college football the professional game would not have a chance. The promoters of professional football simply capitalize such training and reputations; and there always is the temptation in the money offered to draw men away from college before their courses are completed.

"Our objection is not to professional football in and of itself, but to its relationship with and effect upon the college game and college careers. The frequently quoted expression by one of the undergraduates eastern papers that the development of professional football should be encouraged in order that attention may be diverted from college football could hardly have been advanced wholly seriously.

It requires no wild imagination to picture professional football being developed to such a point and conducted in such a way that the colleges would feel driven to abolish the game.

"The Athletic Board has decided definitely that new stands and a gridiron will be located outside of Ferry Field."

Dr. Aigler made this comment in acquainting the faculty with the fact that some construction of new stands within a few years was inevitable.

To Build Larger Stadium. "Since the Athletic Board has, in a way, committed itself to a program for a new stadium that shall be larger, it probably is in order to say just a word as to the reason for such position," the report continued.

"The primary consideration was the provision of facilities which, while not expected to accommodate all that might want to see the games, nevertheless, would reasonably provide for those who have some basis for expecting to be cared for. As to what capacity such a program requires and what people may fairly be said to be entitled to accommodations, of course the opinions of reasonable men will differ.

"One hesitates in this connection to refer to the capacities that have been built or planned at other universities, for out of the common charge in this connection is that there is an unfortunate contest being carried on to outdo one another in size and grandeur of stands. It seems only fair to conclude that the responsible authorities at Yale, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Northwestern, Chicago, California and Stanford, to mention only some, decided to accommodate from 60,000 to 70,000 in each instance for some more substantial and worthy reason than mere rivalry. We suspect that the conclusion was reached largely on a consideration of the fundamental problem suggested above—reasonable provision for those who might reasonably expect to be accommodated. It is only in this respect that what has been done at other places should have any bearing whatever in solving our problems here."

Arguments Against Football. Arguments advanced against a larger stadium have really been arguments against football, Dr. Aigler said in continuing a discussion of what is being done at present by Big Ten athletic directors to curb what are considered dangerous conditions of the game. After showing how many of the matters under discussion were settled some time ago by the Western Conference, Dr. Aigler cited the fact that Michigan's first string football players did not have 20 hours of scrimmage after college opened—last fall, many of the men getting their only scrimmage in the games played.

"As to the preoccupation of the students generally," Prof. Aigler said, "those of us who were students a generation ago find it difficult to believe that those of today are more given to athletic frenzy. Certainly outside the immediate university community there is vastly more interest and newspapers seem to be more and more featuring football. Indeed, the over-emphasis, such as there is, is believed to exist almost entirely among outsiders and particularly in newspaper publicity.

"From this, however, we do not want to be understood as being entirely satisfied with football as it is. There still is too much emphasis placed on winning; there is by far too much publicity; often there is entirely too much organization."

Arranging Contest Between Berly and McTigue on Feb. 12

New York, Jan. 19.—(P)—Negotiations for a light heavyweight title bout between Paul Berlenbach, present champion, and Mike McTigue, former title holder, at Madison Square Garden, February 12, are virtually complete. Jess McMahon, Garden matchmaker, told the state athletic commission today.

After taking the title from McTigue last May, Berlenbach promised to give the Irishman an early return bout and the commission has been instrumental in forcing him to fulfill this promise. Arrangements for the title match revealed abandonment of an elimination test between McTigue and Georges Carpentier.

Matchmaker McMahon also announced that arrangements for a match between Johnny Dudgee and Joe Glick, junior lightweights, have been completed and that contracts will be signed within a few days. The tentative date has been set for January 29.

Senators to Bench Peckinpaugh, Ruel During 1926 Season

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 19.—(P)—Roger Peckinpaugh and "Muddy" Ruel, veterans of the Washington American League champions, are to be benched this coming season to make room for youth and speed, Clark Griffith, president of the club, announced here today.

Charles "Buddy" Myers, who substituted for Bluge last year after the third sacker sustained injuries, will succeed Peckinpaugh, and Tate will be Griffith's first string catcher, supplanting Ruel, Griffith said.

Three Recruits for High School Quint

Coach Roells of the Escanaba high school sent his squad through a stiff practice yesterday afternoon in preparation for the Menominee game which is to be played at Menominee this week. In an attempt to uncover some new material Coach Roells has called out three new recruits to show their talent with the varsity squad. One recruit, Edward Berrigan, the star guard and basket tosser of the senior class basketball team, has been showing up exceptionally well all through the class tournament and will probably be given a chance in one of the next few games. The other recruits are Brown, a freshman guard, and Hilding Olson, a lanky sophomore center. A number of students who are ardent in their belief that the local squad can spring a surprise on the Menominee quintet, are planning on making the trip to the State Line city on Friday.

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Twenty Industrials, Twenty Railroads. Date: Monday 139.66, Tuesday 141.05, Wednesday 142.97, Thursday 143.90, Friday 144.90, Saturday 145.90, Sunday 146.90, Monday 147.90, Tuesday 148.90, Wednesday 149.90, Thursday 150.90, Friday 151.90, Saturday 152.90, Sunday 153.90.

New York, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Bear traders kicked the props from under today's stock market and prices collapsed 1 to 5 points throughout the list. The reaction which came with startling suddenness in the early afternoon followed a period of irregularly higher prices which was featured by the strength of the public utilities and a few industrial specialties. The volume of trading was on an increased scale, the day's sales aggregating 1,736,200 shares.

There was a tendency in commission houses to attribute the selling to the action of the federal reserve board in asking New York banks for more detailed information on brokers' loans, which was interpreted as another warning gesture against over-speculation.

Commodity markets lacked a definite trend. Wheat advanced about 1 1/2 to 3 cents a bushel in response to higher prices in foreign markets and short covering inspired by a reduction in the North American visible supply. Cotton ranged 12 to 21 points on heavy Liverpool selling. Coffee rallied 20 to 30 points on short covering.

Raw sugar advanced 1-3/2 of a cent a pound in reflection of a more active inquiry for the product. Despite persistent rumors that directors of the United States Steel corporation would increase the amount of the extra dividend at the quarterly meeting next Tuesday, that stock declined nearly 2 points to 132 1/2, closing just above that figure. American Can broke over 5 points to 276, and American Locomotive, American Smelting, American Agricultural Chemical, American Express, Associated Oil, Baldwin, Coca Cola, Continental Can, Dupont, Faou's Players, General Asphalt, General Motors, General Railway Signal, Hudson, International Harvester, Montgomery Ward, National Lead, Pierce Arrow common, Pullman, South Porto Rican Sugar, Spicer Manufacturing, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Woolworth all closed 2 to 5 points lower. Sears Roebuck broke 9 points to 211.

Ward Baking B was one of the first to crack, dropping nearly 4 points to 76 1/2, when bear traders succeeded in touching off a number of stock less orders below 80. Total sales in that issue exceeded 125,000 shares.

Public Service of New Jersey was heavily bought in the early trading on persistent rumors of a merger of that company with the United States Gas and Improvement and Philadelphia Electric companies, crossing 92 to the highest price ever recorded for the present stock and then falling back to 90, up 1 point on the day. International Business Machines in which another stock split-up is expected, closed 5 points higher at 145 after touching 147 1/2.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent and then dropped to 4, the first change in the official rate in a week with funds available in the "outside market" as low as 3 1/2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. The further advance in sterling exchange, cables, selling at $4.96 1/2 or 3/4 of a cent below parity, was the feature of the foreign exchange market. French francs were slightly reactionary, ruling 2 1/2 points lower around 3.73 1/2 cents. Other European rates showed only nominal changes.

CHICAGO GRAIN. Chicago, Jan. 19.—Extensive speculative buying, active on the part of private sellers, brought about a sharp advance in wheat values today. Uneasiness over possible crop damage from a cold wave and simultaneous lack of a new market caused as something of a factor. Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cent higher. May new $1.71 1/2 to $1.72, 2 1/2 and July $1.53 1/2 to $1.54 1/2, with corn unchanged to 1/2 cent, oats showing 1/2 to 3/4 cent and provisions unchanged to 1/2 cent.

STILL SHACK IS NOT HOME

Judge Raymond Rules Against Doyle in Interesting Case.

Sault Ste Marie, Jan. 19.—Federal prohibition agents may make an investigation of the out-buildings of a farm without a search warrant, provided he has grounds of suspicion that the law is being violated, Judge Fred M. Raymond has ruled in United States court here.

The ruling came on a motion by Attorney Michael J. Doyle of Mequon, to quash evidence procured by prohibition agents on a homestead in Menominee county. The investigators found a still in an out-building. They had no search warrant. Judge Raymond said that, in his opinion, the shack in which the still was found was not a part of the homestead and that therefore the searching officer was justified in working without a warrant.

Doyle to Appeal. Testimony was introduced to show that when the seizure was made, a daughter of the defendant was tending the still and the defendant was plowing in a nearby field.

Mr. Doyle has announced he would carry the case to the court of appeals in Cincinnati.

Judge Raymond's ruling is regarded as a distinct victory for the federal prohibition department, since many stills have been seized by operatives who have carried on their investigations without warrants.

CHARGED WITH MURDERING COP

Detroit, Jan. 19.—(P)—A warrant charging Frank Dion, alias Frank Clark, 27 years old, with the slaying of Patrolman Andrew Rusinko of the Davison station, who was shot January 11 by one of two bandits who had attempted to rob a Stoney driver at Woodward avenue and the Six Mile road, was recommended today by Dugan G. McRae, assistant prosecuting attorney.

Dion was arrested Monday night at the home of his parents in Montreal. The recommendation for the warrant was the result of a statement by Phillip (Russian Shory) Kozak to James E. Chenot, assistant prosecuting attorney, early today that he and Dion were present that night of the holdup.

Kozak was arrested Sunday night at Ridgeway. He denied firing the shots that killed Rusinko.

In custody in the county jail on a total of $100,000 bail, Frank Cammarata, 26 years old, 1021 McDougal avenue, was held for trial on two charges of robbery armed by Judge W. McKay Skillman in the recorder's court today.

Bail of $25,000, two securities, in each case, was continued.

While free on $10,000 bail from the recorder's court, Cammarata is alleged to have participated in a $9,600 holdup of the Kleiner Cigar Manufacturing company, 5533 Grand avenue, in which Patrolman Edward Gerdes was wounded early in November. The earlier robbery for which he had previously been arraigned and released on bail was that of the People's State bank branch at Brooklyn and Grand River avenues early in July when $2,100 was taken.

Cammarata was arrested in St. Louis.

COUNTIES REMIT TAXES. Lansing, Jan. 19.—(P)—The largest collection of state taxes up to the middle of January in the history of the state was reported to the administrative board by O. R. Fuller, auditor general, today. The statute requires counties to transmit all collections up to January 15, as the first payment to the state. This year more than $8,568,000 was received, including $5,824,175 from Wayne county. Only a few counties failed to remit. They included Berrien, Merquette, Gratiot, Lenawee, Saginaw, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Lake and Ontonagon. The total state tax to be collected this year is $17,800,000.

OBITUARY

MRS. JULIA M. FINNEGAN. Lathrop, Jan. 19 (Special)—News of the death of Mrs. Julia M. Finnegan, of Oshkosh, Wis., Saturday, December 11, has been received by old friends of the family here. The funeral was held from the Catholic church in Oshkosh.

Mrs. Finnegan was born at Scoopston, now called Sands, in Marinette county, about 60 years ago. Her father, Christopher Mahon, of Appleton, was a foreman in the construction department of the C. & N. W. when the road was extended from Escanaba to Negaunee. Later he became section foreman at Centerville, now Lathrop, where the family resided for about 15 years.

Mrs. Finnegan taught a school at Maple Ridge, Trembly and Metropolitan. She is survived by her husband and son, Lawrence, and three brothers, Timothy Mahon of Iron River, Thomas Mahon of Duluth and John Mahon of Superior. In addition to being an active worker in the Hibernian Literary Circle, she was a monologist of ability. She was especially adept at reciting Irish dialect selections, many of which she learned in childhood. In later years her pen was busy dramatizing and arranging plays and special day programs for use of Catholic societies in her home parish. Two particularly fine programs were those she wrote for observances of Robert Emmet Day and Columbus Day.

WORTH CONSIDERING.

The state of Michigan, by legislative action three years ago, has made possible the establishment of county manager governments in counties where it is desired to establish such a governmental regime.

It has been proven definitely and uncontestedly in both Escanaba and Gladstone that the principles of a council manager government can be applied to the conduct of the affairs of a municipality without any special difficulties.

It will be conceded that the people of this county will face the necessity of constructing a new county building within a few years. It will be necessary to place this county's financial house thoroughly in order before such an undertaking can even be considered.

It is merely suggested as a matter that may warrant careful thought and consideration, particularly in view of the splendid records that have been made by Escanaba and Gladstone under council manager governments.

It will be conceded that the people of this county will face the necessity of constructing a new county building within a few years. It will be necessary to place this county's financial house thoroughly in order before such an undertaking can even be considered.

Washtenaw county is one of the lower peninsula counties in which something approaching a board-manager government has been adopted with outstanding results.

Of the experiment in county government in Washtenaw county, the Ann Arbor Times News says:
A year ago, the financial affairs of Washtenaw county were not all that could be desired.

The Times News was instrumental in bringing affairs to a climax. As a public servant, this newspaper felt not only justified in calling the public's attention to these more or less irregular matters, but it could not have justified silence.

As a remedy for the situation, the board of supervisors decided to employ a kind of efficiency expert, called a "county manager."

There have been more or less skeptics as to the possibility of worthwhile results, but the new office was believed to be warranted by conditions. At least, the efficiency expert could do no harm, it was thought, and he might be capable of much good.

It was worth a trial, anyway. So L. O. Cushing, appointed to the county building, rolled up his sleeves and went to work, as a reporter writing in the Times News New Year edition phrased it.

Mr. Cushing delved into a variety of matters that he conceived to be worthy of attention. He devoted much time to reducing the amount of county funds annually expended for the care of indigent in University hospital, and discovered that much of this expense could be avoided by weeding out the cases in which it could be established that the Washtenaw county residence of patients was only technical. Dog taxation likewise came in for a scrutiny, and assistants were hired to attend to the collection. On this investment alone, a neat profit was made. Hit or miss buying of county supplies by county officers was discontinued, and Mr. Cushing became the purchasing agent, looking for bargains and recognizing the law of competition.

To say that results have been satisfactory would be putting it mildly. Mr. Cushing has more than justified his position. By picking up loose ends of county affairs he has paid a dividend to the taxpayers on their investment in his salary. The Times News reporter who "wrote up" Mr. Cushing in the New Year's job was "thankless." That is probably true, but it should not be so. The efficiency expert, or whatever he may be called, should be given credit publicly for the results he has produced.

The Times News, as a representative of the public, was dissatisfied last year with the county's financial condition. This newspaper now feels that the problem has been quite thoroughly solved. And it wishes to give credit where credit is due. The Times News congratulates the supervisors on their decision to employ a county manager, and furthermore it congratulates them on their choice of a man for the position.

MRS. BERLIN'S BAD DREAMS OF PAST.

Only a father can sit back and read the news items of the sudden marriage of Irving Berlin, famous song writer and Ellin Mackay and appreciate the feelings of the girl's multi-millionaire father.

It was that father who 22 years ago nervously waited until the doctor announced that a new baby had arrived, a girl.

Then came the fun and probable great care in choosing the name Ellin for this new-born baby. And as the child grew away from infancy she was the pride of her wealthy father's heart.

Nothing was too good for her and there was nothing she could want but what her proud father gave to her. School days came and passed and Father Mackay watched his daughter's every move. He saw her grow into a beautiful woman and like all good fathers he probably sat with tears streaming down his cheeks as he saw her leave for the opera or for an automobile ride accompanied by a male companion.

She was reared a Catholic and as the realization that his "little girl" had grown to be a young woman and at the marrying age, the father planned for her marriage and her happiness.

Through twenty-two years he had made her happy. He wanted that happiness to continue. Naturally he had his beliefs and his hopes for her marriage, probably not as to whom she should marry, but as to the man he believed would make her happiest.

Irving Berlin entered the life of Ellin Mackay. Berlin, born poor and of Jewish parents, was not the sort of an objectionable fortune-hunting sweet heart most wealthy fathers would object to, for he was a millionaire.

But the father objected because it was his ideal that his daughter should be married in his own church.

But Love won and Irving Berlin, financially capable of giving Ellin Mackay all that her father could give her, became the son-in-law of the man who threatened to cut off his daughter without a cent.

Ellin Mackay, for twenty-two years has been happy, through the efforts of her father. She probably will continue to be happy.

But Clarence Mackay, for twenty-two years the happy father of Ellin probably will have a hard time forgetting the result of his years of happiness.

BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, wants to see life so she jilted BRUCE REYNOLDS, her fiance, and sets a job on the Press. Adventure begins at a roadside where a prominent man kills himself and Barbara connects LYDIA STACY, wealthy widow, with the case by means of a red scarf.

Barbara accepts a job on Footlights, a magazine in New York, offered by Harvey Christopher, a dramatic writer. In New York she takes an apartment and invites to dinner, BOB JEFFRIES, former police reporter of the Press who is now a New York newspaper man. With him comes a pretty girl.

Barbara held out her hand. "I'm glad to meet you. Bob hasn't told me your last name." "So I haven't," said Bob. "It's Rogers. But Annabelle will do for all practical purposes. Well, Bob, aren't you going to offer us chairs?"

Barbara flushed. "Why, of course, but you seldom wait to be invited to sit down. Bob. Pick out the two comfiest chairs and make yourselves at home for a moment, while I go look at the dinner."

In the kitchen, Barbara stood perfectly still for several minutes, leaning against the table. Then she turned about and went back to the living room.

Barbara drew the chair up to you, after that. Better apologize, p. d. q.

He was clowning. He did not see Barbara's eyes narrow as he rattled on.

After this episode, the talk languished more than ever. Annabelle sat in one corner of the divan starting, bird-like eyes, and Bob sat in the other corner, watching her.

Barbara suppressed something that was half sigh, half yawn. Bob was fingering the music on the piano. Not finding anything to his liking, he seated himself and began to sing some of his own improvisations, unless rhymeless little ditties to Annabelle.

of the higher cities were constant visitors.

Barbara saw nearly every play on Broadway during her first three months on the staff. She became acquainted with the great windy spaces behind stage, where she stood in the wings, waiting to see men and women stars in their dressing rooms.

Barbara almost snapped. "Because I don't happen to care for nice, big, white Persian kitty-cats. And I'm much too busy ever to get lonely."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT. The action at the beginning and end of the picture, "Just Suppose," in which Richard Barthelmess comes to the Delft today, takes place "somewhere in Central Europe," in the Kingdom of Koronia. The picture is an adaptation of the play by A. E. Thomas and deals with the adventures of a Koronian prince.

Mr. Barthelmess' leading lady is Lois Moran, 18-year-old beauty whose rise to stardom has been sensational. Others in the cast are, Bijou Fernandez, Geoffrey Kerr, Henry Vibart, Harry Short and Prince Roknedine, a real Persian Prince, who makes his screen debut in "Just Suppose."

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

THE FIRE NEXT DOOR. They had a fire last night next door. I learned a lesson from it. The engines came with clang and roar And men to overcome it. The coals were gleaming in the grate But just next door a thing of hate Stuck out its tongue, forgot its duty. Destroying hope and joy and beauty.

And so it is with human wills: Good things when good intending. And yet they fill the world with ill. When angry and unbending. For thoughts of hatred and of ire Are like the angry flames of fire. The flames that get beyond controlling And set the bells of sorrow tolling.

Be brave, yet courage must be kind, Be strong, and yet be tender: Who fights for self might better find Some service he can render. Men may be giants, yet be wrong; Men must be just as well as strong. Contend in proper time and season. But think with fairness, act with reason.

The quartet which is at Toronto is touring Canada and the United States and the Lyceum committee feels particularly fortunate in being able to present it as a feature of the season's course.

H. Ruthven McDonald of Toronto, noted basso cantante, organized the Adanaic Quartet and under his management it has toured the United States and Canada winning the highest commendations wherever it has appeared.

The quartet specializes in the best musical literature and its renditions delight not only the most exacting critic but afford honest pleasure to all who enjoy good music.

The ability and popularity of the Adanaic is attested by a host of press comments concerning them, among which are:

"In listening to the Adanaic Quartet in Alnacee street church last night, one was particularly struck by the richness and mellowness of the voices. For beauty of tone quality alone, the Quartet might rank first among such organizations in Canada. But there is more; per cent attack, perfect balance of parts, unanimity, enunciation and ability to express every shade of feeling, grace, gay, reverent."—Advertiser, Owen Sound, Canada.

The first soloist of the evening, H. Ruthven McDonald, a gentleman of study physique and resonant voice. He chose as his opening number the soul stirring "The Star Spangled Banner" which in the mere reading are well calculated to arouse men to the neighborhood of patriotism and to fill them with smart martial order. Sung by such a singer as Mr. McDonald, it is no wonder the house was carried by storm."—Saginaw, Mich., Evening Herald.

The program tonight will begin at the usual hour. Tickets will be sold at the school to those who do not hold season tickets.

CAPE.
Capes are to be seen in every spring exhibit. They are mostly short, falling from the shoulders of street frocks and coats.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 19.—As a winter resort New York is not generally referred to as the land of palms and cocoanuts.

Yet a winter resort it is and this season of the year finds the hotels beginning to crowd to capacity and the actual number of visitors is greater than that to be found at a dozen southern wintering places.

A great influx from Europe can be expected with the first snow, for most Europeans look upon the New York climate as mild (Florida and California papers please copy) and housing and heating is much better than in Europe.

Students come in droves—art students, music students, dancers, story-writing apprentices. For "everything is on"—all the music and the theaters and the lectures.

To take care of this rush New York has just two short of one thousand hotels.

One can live comfortably for $1.50 a day or $20 a day. If worst comes to worst one can find shelter in a subway station for a nickel or in a discarded elevated car for nothing—provided a guard doesn't catch you at it.

"All night riders" are by no means rare on either elevated or subways. The "night rider" pays his nickel and boards a train. By disembarking at the proper place he changes to another train and thus rides up-town and getting down, keeping warm and getting some sleep.

An old-time trainman told me the other day of a well-dressed man who came here from Evansville, Ind., and took two full-length rides from one end of the system to the other and finally confessed that he was a "hounded husband."

The hardest thing to find in New York, say most folk, is courtesy. Which may be the reason why courtesy is a highly paid profession.

In one of the biggest trust companies of the Wall Street district is a telephone girl who is paid something like $7000 a year because she has learned how to make business men feel that they are getting courteous and snappy service. All too many office girls have the "high hat" attitude at the gate.

In the big concerns a vast amount of the business is transacted over the telephone. There are hundreds of men who never go near the building in which the business is executed, and who have to do a great deal of telephoning.

Thus, if Elbert Gary is on the phone and asks for a certain person in the banking concern, it's up to the girl to get action and know how to get it.

Girls of this sort are in demand in New York. There are plenty of beauties for Broadway choruses. Keep that in mind, girls, if you ever decide to storm Manhattan.

MRS. TILLMAN PASSES AWAY ON TUESDAY

Death took one of Gladstone's old and widely respected residents Tuesday morning when Mrs. V. E. Tillman, 41, passed away at the family home, following an illness of over two years.

Death came at 10:20 o'clock. Mrs. Tillman was stricken with an attack of paralysis two years ago and her condition at that time was critical. She partially recovered but some time ago was again taken seriously ill. Her condition, in spite of everything done to save her, became worse, and she passed away Tuesday morning.

Members of the family were at the bedside when death came. The body was prepared for burial by the Swenson Brothers' Undertaking establishment.

It will remain in state at the home, 1112 Minnesota avenue, until the time of the service.

Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending word of the time of the arrival of out-of-town relatives.

The Survivors.
Mrs. Tillman is survived by her husband and two children, Margaret and Clarence.

In addition, she is survived by her father, John Latimer of this city; the following brothers and sisters, Frank, Ruben and Albert Latimer of Gladstone; Roy Latimer of Harvey, N. D.; John Latimer of Winthrop, Minn.; Mrs. Catherine Watson and Mrs. L. I. Rollins of Gladstone and Mrs. O. C. Draper of Harvey, N. D.; and one niece, Mrs. Al Hibbard of Gladstone.

Mrs. Draper, who arrived here a week ago, was with her sister when death came. Other relatives will arrive here Wednesday or Thursday.

Mrs. Tillman had been a resident of Gladstone for the past 25 years and she was known and loved for her refinement and kindness of character. She was a devout member of the congregation of Allee Memorial Methodist church and until her serious illness was an active worker in the interests of the church.

Member of Society.
She was a member of the Lady Macabees, the Royal Neighbors' society, the Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors and church organizations.

Members of the family will have the deep sympathy of scores of friends whose respect and esteem Mrs. Tillman won during her life.

Three Manistique high school debaters, accompanied by their coach, will leave Thursday for Sault Ste. Marie, where they will compete Thursday evening in a debate with the strong Soo high team.

The Manistique party will include: Miss Kathleen Gliddon, Miss Gladys Hancock, George Nicholson, Jr., and R. H. Wilson, principal of Manistique high school.

The local forensic group has two more competitions scheduled for the year. On February 10, they will engage in a triangular debate with the Gladstone and Norway teams, and for February 19 a tilt with Newberry has been arranged.

Under the direction of Principal Wilson, the three Manistique speakers have gone through a complete course of preparation and practice, and though lacking in experience, are expected to give a good account of themselves at the Soo.

Manistique Masons Will Attend Rally At Esby on Monday

Manistique is expected to send a delegation of Masons to the Masonic Educational Rally to be held at Escanaba on January 28, the first event of its kind ever staged in Michigan.

The principal address at this gathering will be given by Frank F. Lodge, past grand master of Michigan Masonry, and at present acting as chairman of the commission on Masonic Education.

Mr. Lodge is one of Detroit's leading attorneys, and nationally known as an orator.

The rally will begin with a banquet at 6:30, served by the Eastern Stars. This will be followed by the program of music and addresses. Manistique Masons may reach Escanaba in time for the supper by taking the first afternoon train to Gladstone. They will be met here by members of the Escanaba lodge in autos, arriving in Escanaba ahead of the train. Those who do not intend to attend the banquet will arrive in time for the program by taking the train through to Escanaba. Road conditions are reported favorable for auto travel at the present time, but are uncertain at this time of the winter.

James C. Wood. Each is composed of an equal number of members, and these have been sub-divided into squads.

This system is expected to bring in a number of new members, as well as to collect dues of present members for the year 1926. The losing team in this contest has promised to banquet the winners.

The campaign is to extend through the balance of January, concluding on February 1 at 6 a. m., the time of the next evening meeting and banquet.

Old Melodrama Is Made Into Movie

A thrilling melodrama of the West is "The Limited Mail," coming tonight at the Gera theater Manistique.

The story concerns the fortunes of Bob Snobson (Monte Blue) a ne'er-do-well easterner who turns tramp and joins forces with Spike (Edward Gribbon) and Potts (Willard Louis), two others of the carefree brotherhood. When the three save the limited mail from destruction by a mountain slide, Jim Fowler (Tom Gallery), the mail clerk, strikes up a friendship with Bob.

Together the two men bring up Bob's motherless little son, Bobbie (Jackie Huff) and together they fall in love with Caroline Dale (Vera Reynolds), an attractive little waitress. Bob's past in the form of a chorus girl returns to disturb his romance, and further complications result when Jim is killed in a wreck due to Bob's carelessness in missing a danger signal. Bobbie falls into a stream when he follows Bob in his grief-stricken wanderings and the man sacrifices the boy to rescue the mail train from a landslide.

How Spike rescues little Bobbie, how Caroline's faith is restored and she and Bob find happiness together forms the climax to the dramatic story.

Maple Ave. Loses To Presbyterians

One overtime period was necessary to decide the basketball game between the fighting, Presbyterians and the Maple Street Terrors at the Manistique high school gymnasium Friday night, a preliminary to the Manistique-Escanaba Legion game. After an up-hill battle, the Presbyterians boys won, 15 to 13.

To Frank Fleming, diminutive forward for the church team, goes the credit for tying the score at the end of the regular time period. With the count 13 and 11, he was fouled, and neatly succeeded in two free throws in succession, evening up the tally. In the overtime period, the psalm-singers showed plenty of reserve punch, and easily caged the one basket which gave them the win.

FIVE ARRESTED, 98 NETS SEIZED, IN NAHMA RAID

Students Boost For Periodical

High school students here have started a movement to publish a regular school periodical. In support of the project, the following statement was issued by the staff yesterday:

"The English department of Manistique high school is trying to get a paper out that will contain all the news of the school, literary articles, sport news and jokes; but so far has not had very much support. A staff has been elected out of the junior and senior classes and these students will write up the paper. Manistique has not had an annual for the past two years, and the students want something that will show the other schools that it is up and going. The business people of this town are requested to help the students all they possibly can and if this is done the paper will be a success. All other towns put things across in the high school, for they have the people of the town backing them, so why not Manistique high school?"

Treat Colds 2 Ways
With ONE Treatment

WHEN rubbed over throat and chest for all kinds of cold troubles Vicks VapoRub does two things at once:

- (1) Its ingredients are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing, and
- (2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain and thus aiding the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion.

This double action of Vicks usually relieves the most stubborn cold ever neglected.

How Industry Can Reduce Accidents

"Auto death list nears 800—94 more than last year's toll"—is the headline of a Chicago daily.

City ordinances and traffic regulations have not succeeded in reducing the number of accidents. Why?

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes the right state of mind toward driving has not been created.

The driver of an automobile must consider human life more important than any business urgency. He must realize that a few minutes of time gained may mean death, and that a life can never be restored. A moment's carelessness and a little child is crushed beneath the wheels. A reckless risk and an old man is knocked down, never to walk again.

The driver of an automobile must feel the weight of his responsibility. He must be willing to take the time and the extra precautions needed to play safe at any cost.

This necessary state of mind cannot be compelled by law. It can be produced only by an appeal to the intelligence and human sympathy of man for man.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that this state of mind can be created, to a large extent, among drivers of other vehicles.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has inaugurated a system of traffic and safety rules, which all drivers of Company owned trucks or cars are required to observe. These regulations apply to every employee of the Company and every driver is asked to pledge himself to observe them.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) considers its traffic rules of primary importance. It realizes that success depends upon the spirit of service and co-operation in the employes themselves. It knows that a state of mind cannot be compelled by law. It appeals to the loyalty and sound judgment of its men. They obey its traffic rules because they want to, because they know that they are right.

This Company has proved by its own experience that the state of mind which avoids accidents can be created and cultivated among drivers of its trucks and cars.

Its attitude, reflected in its rules, has taken the first long step in the direction of creating this state of mind. This "state of mind" is but one of the many measures the Company offers to the public, which makes its success in industry possible.

Lake Cities Prepare to Fight Chicago's Demand for Increase in Water

Opponents of Chicago's gigantic water-works are now organized and prepared to combat the Windy City's claims for the need of 10,000 cubic feet of water a second for sanitation, navigation and power purposes. W. H. Needham and Clyde J. Burns of Escanaba, delegates to the protest meeting of the Great Lakes Harbors association, reported upon their return to this city from Detroit. It is expected that the commotion stirred up at the Detroit meeting will be sufficient to show that a 9-foot barge canal can be operated with much less than 10,000 cubic feet of water per second.

Resolutions, quoted below, entitled "The Voice of Protest," of the lake ports against the Chicago theft, were adopted unanimously by the 300 delegates present. Virtually all of the important cities on the lakes except Chicago were represented. Chicago, it was said, had been invited to send delegates, but failed to do so.

A committee of Americans and Canadians, to be named by William George Bruce of Milwaukee, president of the association, will carry the "Voice of Protest" to President Coolidge, urging the president to use his influence against Chicago's attempts to increase the quantity of water it is now permitted to use from the lakes.

Here are the resolutions:

RESOLUTIONS

"With an astounding disregard for the rights of her neighbors, and in defiance of all precepts of law and justice, under the pretext that the sanitary welfare of that city made the dilution system of sewage disposal necessary, Chicago has, for nearly 30 years, been abstracting the waters of the Great Lakes in colossal quantities.

"This abstraction of water has, on the one hand, caused the lowering of the levels of the lakes to the injury of commerce thereon, and on the other, the raising of the levels of the Illinois river to the injury of the land owners of that region. The sewage, which Chicago by virtue of its sanitation system is thus carrying into the Illinois river, is polluting the waters of that stream to an alarming degree. Thus, in order to gain an advantage for a single community, a twofold injury is inflicted, which affects a wide area and millions of people.

"The dilution system of sewage disposal now employed by Chicago which, at the time of its introduction, nearly 30 years ago, was deemed both expedient and practical, must, today, be regarded as the most gigantic engineering blunder of its time. Its early projectors erred in that they failed to anticipate the ultimate result of an indiscriminate raid upon the waters of the Great Lakes and the transmission of huge quantities of sewage to the inland streams. They erred further in that they ignored the rights of their neighbors and the law of the land.

"Chicago now, however, presents the brazen spectacle of undertaking to induce the national congress to sanctify a bold theft into an honest act. To commit a blunder is no sin, but to defend a blunder and seek to compel its perpetration, at the expense of others, is unpardonable, more particularly so when such blunder involves a gross injustice as well. To defend such a blunder is to defend injustice. And that is exactly what Chicago has been and is now doing.

"When the defenders of the Chicago water diversion realized that the paramount question at issue was one of navigation, and navigation only, they immediately maintained that the 10,000 cubic second feet, formerly demanded for sanitation, is now necessary for the operation of a proposed nine-foot barge canal across the state of Illinois.

"The war department has repeatedly and consistently held that anything in excess of 1,000 feet is unnecessary for channel navigation, and that such a large volume of water will create currents that will render navigation on the said channel both difficult and dangerous.

"Moreover, to hold that this volume of water is necessary to render the Mississippi river navigable, during the months of low water stages, is even less tenable. It raises the question whether, in order to help Mississippi river navigation a few months, the Great Lakes shall be robbed for 12 months in the year. Nor is it clear that the colossal flow of water, that will be an aid in the dry season, will not be a curse, during the flood season.

"The levels of the Great Lakes are at a lower stage today than they have been since such levels have been officially recorded. It is beyond dispute that the Chicago abstraction has contributed greatly to that lowering.

"Against Treaty With Britain. "We point out that the United States supreme court, in its recent decision, was held that any abstraction of water from the Great Lakes affecting the natural level of flow of boundary waters, is expressly provided against by the International treaty with Great Britain, of January 11, 1909, without the approval of the international joint commission and without the consent of Canada, as well as the United States, within their jurisdictions. "We further call attention to the fact that seven great states of this Union have formally agreed to present, and there is now pending before said tribunal, the question of whether congress has any power to grant, or give away any great natural resource for the benefit of one section of this country, to the injury of another section.

"We hold firmly to the belief that the waters of the Great Lakes are primarily dedicated to the use of navigation, and while they may properly be used for ordinary domestic purposes they cannot be diverted or abstracted either for sanitation or power purposes to such a degree, as to injure the navigation integrity of the same; that this Chicago diversion, up to the present, has contributed nothing to navigation, on the contrary, it has caused great injury on the Great Lakes.

"Appeal to Congress. "In line with the foregoing statement, we submit the following resolution: Be it

"Resolved, That we strenuously protest against any legislation at the hands of the congress of the United States that may sanction the diversion or abstraction of waters likely to lower the levels of the Great Lakes and thus impair the commerce thereon—a commerce which serves not only single communities and states, but serves the nation as a whole. "That we appeal to the congress of the United States to provide legislation, which shall protect the Great Lakes as a navigation highway, against the repetition of the blunder committed by a former secretary of war, in granting a water diversion permit, to the city of Chicago, which has proved a great public injury, and to make it a duty of the present and succeeding secretaries of war to correct this blunder to the end, that the inland seas may serve the primary purpose for which nature designed them, namely, for navigation."

And it cannot even hint of the mental ease you will enjoy, with Buick Authorized Service "just around the corner," everywhere in America.
