He declared that producers had not increased prices, but that retailers had doubled or more than doubled the usual price to consumers because of the anthracite suspension.

WON'T PADLOCK THE MORRISON

Yellowley Denies Getting Evidence on Hotel in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(P)—After a day of investigation, charges and counter charges, E. C. Yellowley, prohibition enforcement chief here said tonight that he has not now, and never has had any intention of closing the $10,000,000 Morrison hotel for violation of the prohibition laws.

Earlier, prohibition agents had declared they had obtained sufficient information to close the hotel as the result of evidence secured by two prohibition agents on here from Washington and he denounced the fact that premature publicity had spoiled their plans.

Yellowley said that a mountain was being made out of a mole hill and that he knew of no plans to try to close the hostelry, one of the largest in Chicago.

The evidence the prohibition authorities obtained was said to have been secured by two "dude" prohibition operators sent here from Washington. They registered at the hotel, posed as Englishmen and said they were able to purchase liquor from hotel employees, including a house detective, with the knowledge of the management.

Harry C. Moir, president of the hotel company, had a different story to tell. He declared that the hotel had been "framed" by its own employees and that if liquor had been sold by the employees without knowledge of the management which at all times tried to stop any such practice.

It was recalled that two intoxicated men posing as prohibition agents were refused admittance to a New Year's celebration at the Morrison by a uniformed officer at the door who decided they were not dry agents or they were intoxicated. The prohibition officers said they knew nothing of this affair and did not act because of it.

Two Buried Under Tons of Sand; Die

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(P)—Two workmen were killed and two others were injured today when a huge hopper collapsed and buried them under tons of sand and gravel in the basement of a north side building under construction.

Other workmen, assisted by policemen and firemen a few minutes after the accident, began digging and reached two of the men before they suffocated.

The body of one of the dead men was planned between iron girders which had supported the structure and was freed with the aid of acetylene torches. A fifth workman waggled out of the debris shortly after the collapse and joined in the rescue efforts.

The hopper was used for dumping construction material from motor truck. It gave way with the collapse of supporting beams.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 20.—Like calls to like.

Newspaper men congregate at the Press Club; actors meet actors at the Lamb and the Players; business men go to the Rotary Club, and from the Polo, the Amazon and the Corso explorers come to the Explorers' Club.

Wandering about with Seumas, chief of Clann Fhearghais, I strolled into this quiet, brownstone building, just off of Central Park.

The chief is a soldier of fortune, adventurer, explorer and discoverer. His kilt, his sporran and his uncut hair mark him, wherever he goes, as a Highlander. He wears no other garb, for he is by birth and right, chief of the clan. Few wars in the world have missed seeing him in the ranks somewhere. Few corners of the earth that he cannot discuss.

And there was Francis Gow-Smith. A month ago he was in the heart of the jungle near the headwaters of the Amazon, playing a daily game with death. Indian tribes are his specialty. He studies their customs and habits, learns their ways and their languages.

In a month more, he will go to the valley of the Xingu river in Brazil. Here are reputed to be more than 100 tribes of Indians, none of whom has been seen by white men.

In another corner sat Captain Johann Meander, Arctic explorer. The captain has spent 20 of his 48 years in sailing the seven seas, to see what was "beyond the horizon." Now there are no horizons for him. He has seen them all. He lectures a little, and finds a warm place by the radiator when the wind comes off the Hudson.

And there were Harold Noyce, of Wrangle Island fame, and "Sandy" Smith, with nearly 50 years spent in the Arctic, hurrying away to truck oil for a Polar flight crew.

"Sandy," in his youth loved the General Motors' New Six is here!

GENERAL MOTORS now presents through its Oakland division the New Pontiac Six—the first six-cylinder car it has ever named and sponsored from the original design.

Representing the supreme embodiment of the corporation's almost limitless resources, this new Six is destined to compel a complete revision of existing ideas in motor car value.

The Pontiac Six is not another of the so-called "revolutionary" cars.

It is simply and solely a car of high quality developed to dominate a definite market... and as such represents an achievement no less significant, no less unprecedented, no less epochal than the invention of the first six-cylinder engine.

In the Pontiac Six you are offered a new order of beauty—that grace of line and balanced proportion characteristic only of Fisher craftsmanship. You are offered precisely the enduring body construction that is used on cars selling for $2,000 or more, finished in rich Duco colors.

You are offered a roadability of extraordinary scope—exhilarating power for hills, refreshing agility in traffic, a maximum speed you will use only in emergencies.

MARKET NEWS

STOCK PRICES TURN UPWARD

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Twenty Twenty

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—Stock prices turned abruptly upward at the close of today's stock market after an early period of weakness resulting from heavy liquidation inspired by the decision to give publicity to brokers' plans.

Speculators for the decline hammered stocks in the early trading on the theory that the federal reserve board's recent move for more data on bankers' loans coming within a relatively short time after an increase in the New York federal reserve rediscount rate, was intended as a warning against excessive speculation in stocks.

The commodity markets again lacked a uniform trend. Active wheat futures sold off 1 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel on the lack of export demand.

The weekly steel trade reviews stressed the efforts of motor manufacturers to obtain a cut in present prices.

The Iron Trade Review expressed the opinion that the "immediate sluggishness of the market is regarded as a passing phase, likely to be corrected in natural course within a few weeks."

Special buying was apparent throughout the day in Associated Oil which advanced over 3 points to a new high record of 53 1/2 on reports that several companies were seeking control of that property.

Foreign exchanges moved within rather narrow and irregular limits. There was a market falling off in the inquiry for sterling bills today and the demand for sterling was slightly firmer around 2.75 cents.

Japanese yen which have attracted a large speculative following by their recent advance, touched 44 1/2 cents, the highest price in three years.

FINE ADDRESS AND QUARTETTE MARK MEETING

Rotarians of Escanaba Heard Splendid Program Yesterday.

A program of most unusual excellence marked the regular weekly meeting of the Escanaba Rotary club, at the Delta hotel at noon yesterday, when the principal address of the program was delivered by Edgar Cochran, secretary of the Michigan department of conservation, and several musical numbers were contributed by the Adnan quartet, who appeared in a recital at the high school auditorium on Tuesday night.

Members of the quartet were introduced to the club by John Lemmer, principal of the high school, following which they presented selections that were thoroughly appreciated by the club members.

With more than three-fourths of the standing timber supply of the nation cut away and used, and a remaining supply sufficient to meet present industrial demands for a period not to exceed the next 25 years, there is an urgent and immediate need for a comprehensive and practical policy of forest protection, in which every industrial interest of the state of Michigan should wholeheartedly cooperate, Mr. Cochran declared to the Rotary club yesterday.

Commenting, at the outset, upon the present-day attitude of the people of the state relative to conservation, Mr. Cochran declared that he believed there are still some to whom the word conservation means little more than debate. "When we talk of conservation," some people believe that it can mean only one thing—a long-drawn discussion on the length of the hunting and fishing seasons, or some other argumentative phase of the work."

Refuting that attitude, Mr. Cochran briefly traced the conservation movement from the early colonist days to the present era of industrial progress. "The early industrial settlers were firm in the belief that our natural resources were unlimited and could never be exhausted," the speaker said. They went out on their exploration parties, and returning after weeks or months of travel, declared that the forests, the streams, the fertile soil, the game and the fish were beyond the physical ability of man to destroy. They said that if one forest were cut away, there were others to take its place; if one stream dried up, thousands more were available, and so with the soil, and the wild life of the forest."

Firm in that belief, Mr. Cochran said, they went ahead to cut down and destroy. They cut away the forests more because they were in the way than for the timber that was yielded. "There are those today who still persist in that opinion," the speaker said, "in spite of the fact that within the generation we have had fires which have wiped out county after county and township after township, still they say: 'It will last forever.'"

Conservation Preached Early. Mr. Cochran then referred to the efforts of early conservationists towards the preservation of the forests. Benjamin Franklin, in his first publications in the city of Philadelphia, preached the principles of forest conservation, the speaker declared adding "and I have no doubt that those in Philadelphia, as they read his preachings, gazed out the window at the tall, verdant hills beyond and said 'that man is crazy. It will last forever.'" He told of the warnings of Theodore Roosevelt, who was an ardent worker for conservation, and later, Clifford Pinchot, now governor of Pennsylvania, who also is unceasing in his efforts at forest preservation.

Emphasizing the rapid decrease in timber resources and the increasing demand for the product, Mr. Cochran declared "when the past generations have managed to use up three-fourths of our standing timber supply, what can we expect from the more than 100 million souls, which constitute our population today, reaching out for that last one-quarter of our supply. Surely that population, and its offspring, represent a demand which cannot possibly be supplied throughout the present generation."

Unless some strict program of forest conservation is formulated and enforced at once, the speaker said, the present timber resource in the state of Michigan will not survive beyond the middle of the present century.

GREAT INCREASE IN CAR-FERRY TOTALS SHOWN

Ann Arbor Boats Carried 15 Percent More Cars Last Season

A statement just issued by the Ann Arbor railroad from Toledo headquarters shows a very large increase in the freight business handled by the Ann Arbor car ferry line from all the ports operated by that company on Lake Michigan.

In the calendar year 1925 they emptied 59,000 cars and 22,000 empty freight cars, a total of 81,000 cars transported by its fleet of five car ferries between Frankfort, Mich., on the east shore and Manitowoc and Kewanee, Wis., and Menominee and Manistique, Mich., on the west shore. The figures show an increase of 15 per cent in cars handled during that year as compared with the preceding one. The business at Manitowoc, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., showed a marked increase. The total cars handled at the four ports during 1925 was:

Table with 2 columns: Port, Cars Handled. Manitowoc, Wis. 26,263 cars; Menominee, Mich. 22,961 cars; Kewanee, Wis. 15,567 cars; Manistique, Mich. 15,377 cars. Total 81,168 cars.

Last February the Ann Arbor added the steamer Ann Arbor No. 7, giving it a fleet of five steamers with a daily handling capacity of 332 cars. During the past two years other car ferry lines have added to their fleets so that there are now operating on Lake Michigan fifteen car ferries and while the figures are not available on the traffic handled via the other lines, it is believed that they show a similar increase in the traffic, indicating the growing importance of these lines connecting the east and west shores of Lake Michigan and forming short, through routes between the east and the northwest.

The Ann Arbor has recently enlarged its yard facilities at Menominee, Mich., to take care of the growing traffic and announces that they contemplate the building of a second slip at Frankfort during the coming summer. Car Ferries No. 5 and 7 which they operate are of the ice-breaker type and officials of the railroad say that these boats can keep the channel through Green Bay and other shallow harbors open all winter.

Industry Has Big Growth. The first car ferry operated on Lake Michigan was in November, 1892, and ran between Frankfort and Kewanee. This was the first lake car ferry built and as an experiment and since that time the amount of business handled each year has steadily grown so that the volume of business handled in the past few years by the five railroad lines now operating on Lake Michigan has attracted a great deal of attention in the traffic world and it is believed that other important trunk line railroads are giving serious thought to the car ferry as an outlet for their heavy tonnage which they handle between the east and the northwest.

The Wabash recently acquired control of the Ann Arbor so as to give it a quicker outlet to Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula and other northwest territory which is an indication of the growing importance of the large tonnage that territory furnishes to the trunk line roads.

A PREFERENCE. Dear Old Lady—How do you like school, my little man? My Little Man—I like it closed, lady.—Passing Show.

Working On Problem. Mr. Cochran said that the department of conservation is trying today to map out an intelligent program of fire protection. "We are employing tried and tested methods in our work," he said, "and we believe we are making some progress."

not time for Miss Farnival to be gone. When Barbara reached Washington Square it was quite dark. She stepped warily through the slime that Maria's snow had produced.

The fires inside her little apartment were lighted and one lamp glowed in a corner of the living room. There was no sign of Maria. Barbara went to the kitchen and put the tea kettle on before she took off her hat and coat. Then she passed by the fireplace again and stopped to look in the flames as she went.

The door of her bedroom was closed, although she had left it open that morning. She opened it and went in. The dressing table between the dormer windows met her gaze. Its drawers were standing open, with their contents streaming over the sides to the floor. The articles on top of the table were disarranged and the scarf hung half off.

Barbara ran toward it. She searched frantically in the lower drawer. Her ring box stood open. It was empty. (To Be Continued)

KIWANIS BOYS DELIGHT CROWD

Concert and Solo Contest Heard by Capacity House.

William Karas, cornetist, playing "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," won first place in the advanced group competing for solo honors in the Kiwanis Boys' band's first annual concert and prize contest at the high school last night.

Harland Lippold, aged 7, saxophone, playing "Only a Year Ago" was first in the beginners' group. The prizes were sold watches.

Robert Thick, cornet, playing "The Rosary," was awarded second place in the advanced group, while second honors in the beginners' class went to Morise Pilot, drummer, playing "Drumology."

The affair was well attended and the boys were enthusiastically received by the big audience. Judges were Ewald C. Beck of Escanaba, Dr. A. H. Kimmond and Al Hebbard of Gladstone.

The program was opened with a short concert by the entire band under direction of Joseph Greenfield, who has conducted and taught the organization since its formation last June.

Boys who participated in the contest for advanced members—those who had musical training before the Kiwanis band was formed—were William Karas, Robert Thick, Gordon Baird, Don Anderson, Willard Fisher, all cornets, and George Harvey, trombone.

Those who competed as beginners—boys who had no musical training prior to last June—were: Bob Bartlett, Alvin Steede, Garth Thick, John Harvey and Phillip Miron, cornets; Leon Laux, Gerald Brown, Jack Bartella, trombones; Marshall Lilliquist, Harland Lippold, Roger Smith, saxophones; Arol Back, Alfred Valentine, baritone; Harold Christensen, Ell Ranta, Henning Petersen, clarinets; Victor Peterson, piccolo; Morise Pilot, drums.

Excellent Performances. The boys' performances were a revelation to those who had not heard the band before. Throughout the evening, the remarkable progress the band is making under Mr. Greenfield's capable leadership was forcefully in evidence.

The Rev. Mr. Hubbard revealed that some of the boys are to be promoted to the Municipal Band in the near future, that 40 new boys soon will be added to the Kiwanis band, and that the latter organization is to be equipped with uniforms before next summer. Funds taken in at the concert will be applied to the uniform fund.

CONGRESS CUTS TAX SCHEDULES MANY MILLIONS

ing fund on the public debt. The republicans voted this down but instead it is estimated that about $166,000,000 of revenue losses will have to be taken care of through increase of corporation taxes, taxes on trucks and commercial alcohol. The reductions granted one class of taxpayers on individual incomes have had to be made up by increasing the taxes on other general groups. It's a case of shifting the tax burden so as to redistribute the burden on individuals.

Republicans Satisfied. Generally speaking, the republican management is satisfied with the bill and though there is the possibility of a fight in conference on the estate taxes it is probable that the other features of the bill will go through very much as the senate finance committee will report it in two or three days. While the senate democrats have dropped organized opposition, individual members will dissent on various provisions and will attempt to secure the adoption by the senate of amendments. They will act "on their own," so to speak, and will not be assured of party support. Several republicans are planning to do the same thing but the effort of individuals to amend a bill in open senate does not as a rule take much time for debate as most members are satisfied with a brief period in which to make their point and get a vote on their proposals.

Concessions Necessary. Senator Smoot, in charge of the bill, has handled the situation thus far in such effective manner that he has removed the principal obstacle to early passage—organized democratic opposition. He had to make concessions but he would not have made them if he had not felt they had merit in them. The Utah senator's main job will be to keep the bill moving when once it gets into the senate and he will have much time there by accepting meritorious amendments whenever they appear. For the same reason there is a non-partisan one and the democrats are satisfied they have done a constructive job in revising the house bill.

CONCASSIONS NECESSARY. Senator Smoot, in charge of the bill, has handled the situation thus far in such effective manner that he has removed the principal obstacle to early passage—organized democratic opposition. He had to make concessions but he would not have made them if he had not felt they had merit in them. The Utah senator's main job will be to keep the bill moving when once it gets into the senate and he will have much time there by accepting meritorious amendments whenever they appear. For the same reason there is a non-partisan one and the democrats are satisfied they have done a constructive job in revising the house bill.

PLAYS STOCKS WHILE IN BED

Prices Rally As Durant Distributes Buying Orders.

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—Lying on a sick bed in the Post Graduate hospital where he was taken about ten days ago with injuries received in a railroad accident in Florida, William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, today distributed buying orders for thousands of shares of stock among his brokers, the execution of which turned the course of prices upward after an early period of weakness.

Mr. Durant, who was induced to go to the hospital in order to get the proper rest and to keep his mind off business, communicated with his brokers by telephone through a third party, as he was not permitted to have a telephone by his bedside. While he has kept in close touch with the stock market, in which he has been one of the largest individual operators during the last two years, since he was injured, this was the first day in which he had conducted operations on a large scale.

Stock Prices Rally. News of his injury earlier in the month was followed by aggressive selling of stocks in which he was interested by professional bear traders but beyond giving orders to his brokers to support them on his return to this city, his interest in the market was largely passive. He is said to have been aggrieved by the fact that attempts should be made to capitalize his misfortune and apparently was waiting for a favorable opportunity to turn the tables on the bear party.

Mr. Durant's largest buying orders today were in Baldwin which rallied from a low of 123 to 126 1/2, closing at 126, for a net gain of about a point on the day. United States Cast Iron Pipe, in which he has large holdings, rallied from 188 to 195 and then eased to 194 7/8, up 2 7/8 on the day. Humble Oil, the latest company in which he has acquired a large stock interest, led the upturn in the oil shares on the New York curb by scoring an extreme advance of 3 1/2 points.

Reaps Big Profits. Word that Mr. Durant was back in the market was flashed over brokerage wires in the late afternoon and brought extensive short covering throughout the list, which had been hammered hard earlier in the session, on the bearish interpretation placed upon the decision to give publicity to brokers' loans.

With the possible exception of Nicholas F. and James C. Brady, who are reputed to have amassed a fortune in the sensational advance in Chrysler stock, Mr. Durant is believed to have been one of the largest individual winners in the current "bull" market, his paper profits in General Motors and United States Cast Iron Pipe alone running into the millions of dollars.

Proposed Navy Cut Is Opposed. Washington, Jan. 20—(AP)—A number of members of the two house committees charged with consideration of naval affairs differed in debate in the house today as to the needs of the navy to maintain during the next fiscal year the full strength authorized under the 5-5-3 treaty.

Representative Vinson of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the naval committee, took sharp issue with the recommendations of the appropriations naval subcommittee to reduce the enlisted personnel and the number of ships in active commission.

He said maintenance of the full treaty strength was necessary to keep up internal "appearances" and that the proposed reduction of the enlisted personnel by 4,000 men would weaken the American navy in comparison with that of Great Britain, far more than the figure indicated. The British by requiring enlistments for 12 years, he said, have a more permanent force than the United States, with its four-year enlistment period.

Representative French, Republican, Idaho, who headed the subcommittee that drafted the annual navy department appropriation bill, held that the actual reduction proposed would approximate only 1,000 men, and that a part of this reduction would be compensated by the proposed decommissioning of several ships and the releasing for other duty of men at the Lakehurst naval air station, which his committee proposed to close.

London—One winner of a safety first slogan contest submitted the phrase, "Life is short. Don't make it shorter." Contest managers found that the "safe and sane" winner had been a captain in the navy during the war. He was awarded the V. C. for exceptional heroism in Zebrugge engagements, and had risked his life scores of times. His record showed numerous citations for placing himself in personal risk.

JUSTICES POOR AT ACCOUNTING

Audit Shows Them from $58 "Over" to $1100 "Short".

Discrepancies ranging all the way from $58 "over" to $1,156.20 "short" were discovered by the auditors who, during the closing months of 1925 checked the accounts of Delta county's justices of the peace. It was the first audit made of the books of the justices in more than ten years and the report was full of interesting and illuminating facts.

Out of 58 justices in the county, only 49 filed legal bonds and otherwise complied with the legal requirements of the jobs, the report said. The remainder collected fines and costs which ranged from $10 to several thousands.

Errors in Accounting. Discrepancies in nearly all of the instances were ascribed to errors in accounting. No claim was made by the officials who were "over" to the money they had remitted in excess of the accounts due. The "overage" it was said, probably occurred when cases in which a fine was collected was accidentally omitted from the docket, although remittance had been made to cover the collections.

The small shortages were also ascribed to clerical errors and in nearly all instances, immediate settlement was made with the county treasurer.

In cases where settlements have not been made, a formal demand for the money will be issued and the bonding companies officially notified that discrepancies exist. This step is necessary to protect the county's claim upon the bondsmen in case legal action to recover is necessary, it was said.

PROHIBITION RALLY Planned in State

Lansing, Jan. 20—(AP)—A statewide prohibition rally, said to be the most ambitious ever planned by any state, will be held in Detroit, April 22 to 26.

R. H. Scott, president of the league, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, announced today. He was here conferring with R. H. Scott, president of the league.

The meetings, Mr. Hoisaple said, will be of a magnitude to attract the attention of the country. One of the objects will be to stop "loose talk about the failure of prohibition" and to present concrete evidence that the dry movement is becoming stronger instead of weaker.

MAY REQUIRE ORDINANCE

Within the past ten days, the Press has received two letters, one of them anonymous, charging that the writers had been short weighted in coal purchases.

It is true that Escanaba already has an ordinance under which a purchaser of coal can demand from his dealer the weighing of his purchase on the municipal scales.

Some cities have adopted ordinances, requiring that all coal distributed in that city be weighed on designated scales.

The conditions that prevail in the coal distributing industry in Escanaba have undergone a most radical change in the past few years.

It is possible that investigation by the council may show that the expense of operating the municipal scales, for the weighing of all coal distributed here, may not be so great that it cannot be absorbed as a regular expense of the city government.

CANADA IS AROUSED

What appears on the face of it to be the hardest blow yet struck at the Chicago drainage canal is the decision of the Dominion Marine Association of Canada to have nothing to do with the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes Tidewater project until the diversion of water at Chicago is stopped.

The decision was announced at the Great Lakes Harbor association convention in Detroit last week and has all the earmarks of earnestness.

So bitter are the Canadians that they do not stop at calling the use of water by Chicago a diversion but dub it a steal.

It should not be difficult to end the controversy started by the drainage canal. Chicago must dispose of sewage and find some other arrangements, but a definite understanding should be had at once.

FERRIS AND THE WORLD COURT

Senator Ferris did well in his speech in the Senate the other day to answer the argument of opponents of the World Court that Washington issued warnings against foreign entanglements.

These opponents fail to realize, that, as Senator Ferris explained, the industrial world has been revolutionized. There can be no such things as isolation for a country as large as the United States.

The telephone, telegraph, cable and steamship were the first step taken to bring about close contact between nations.

Later the airplane added to these older forms of communication and transportation. Now we have the radio.

Aviation and radio are still in their infancy and those who will not permit their imagination to rove a little bit, can not realize that the next ten or fifteen years are certain to bring startling improvements to both airplanes and radio sending and receiving instruments.

It is not too much to believe that within the next ten years aviation will have been developed to the point where it will be common to travel by air to any part of the world.

It is freely predicted that within another year, it will be possible to transmit by radio the picture of a radio speaker or actor.

We cite these things to prove that communication and transportation facilities between nations are yet in their infancy, and once they become fully developed, there will be no isolation for the United States or for any other nation.

When that time comes, we will be vastly more interested in foreign affairs than we now are. We were directly affected by the World War before this nation became involved. We did not have the machinery then to prevent a world conflict and if we do not start some time, we will never have it.

Since we can not prevent foreign entanglements because of our foreign trade and foreign relations, it is our duty to do what we can to make those entanglements safe.

The World Court offers a way to that end. We believe with Senator Ferris who told the Senate: "I have faith in the progress of man. I hold that our entering the World Court would be an event that would signalize a turning point in the world's history."

The federal constitution's ban on cruel and unusual punishments did not deter a Gogebic county justice of the peace from ordering a miscreant deported to Hurley.

Smithsonian Institution experts are unable to agree on the most accurate method of weather forecasting. No persons can disagree as often and as violently as experts.

A Tennessee reformer is on his way to Washington to ask President Coolidge to stop railroads from operating Sunday trains and newspapers from printing Sunday papers.

Bananas have replaced beans in Boston's diet, the government's import figures disclose. That's the reason Harvard had such immense quantities of banana oil for the use of its press agents last year!

Henry Ford now favors more rigid censorship of motion pictures. Henry is our favorite comedian.

MRS. E. T. ORR OF MANISTIQUE
DIES TUESDAY

A message received at Manistique yesterday told of the passing of one of this community's pioneer residents, Mrs. E. T. Orr, who died Tuesday evening, January 19, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Earl B. Westlake, Detroit.

Mrs. Orr was 69 years of age last month, and came to Manistique more than 50 years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller. She was one of the first teachers in Manistique's first school house, located in the area now known as the triangle park. She was also a member of the First Baptist church of this city, and a charter member of Ida chapter, O. E. S.

The body will be brought to Manistique for burial, and is expected to arrive here tonight. Interment will be in Lakeview cemetery, with funeral services conducted at the home of sisters of the deceased, Mrs. Ida MacLaurin and Miss Edith Fuller, Lake street.

The survivors are the husband, Ernest T. Orr, and the following children: Floyd and Will, who live on the farm home east of the city, Mrs. E. B. Westlake, Harold Orr and Winifred Orr, all of Detroit. There is also a brother and five sisters. They are: Alta Fuller, Mrs. Amos Hill, Mrs. Nettie McLellan of Mountain View, Cal.; Mrs. George MacLaurin, Mrs. Ida MacLaurin and Miss Edith Fuller of Manistique; besides five grandchildren.

Receive Clothing,
Cash, Furniture
for Aid of Family

Additional donations of $10.50 in cash, with a quantity of clothing and some furniture, were reported yesterday by officials of the Red Cross in charge of the Deloria relief fund.

The cash contributions were as follows:
A friend—$10.00; Mrs. Daniel Martin—50 cents.

Several articles of furniture were received, along with the clothing. Among the donors was Robert Rubin, local merchant, who gave a box of warm clothing suitable for the wear of the several boys in the Deloria family.

Donations are accepted by Mrs. Antonio Weber and Dr. A. R. Tucker, and will be forwarded at once to the Cooks family who lost all their possessions in a fire last Friday night.

Expect Gladstone
Bowlers on Friday

Of special interest to the bowling fans at the Elks' club will be the series just arranged with an all-star aggregation from Gladstone. The first series will be rolled on Friday evening, road conditions permitting, and the following week the Elks will travel to Gladstone to take on their rivals on the alleys of the Community building of that city.

The five high men in the special match among the ten leading bowlers of the Elks' League have been selected to do the honors for the local quintet, which are as follows: Remell, Forsath, Grapton, Tatum, with Forsath acting as captain. With this aggregation hitting the maples in their usual style, the boys from Gladstone will find some tough opposition.

Anderson was arraigned before Justice W. A. McKinney at Manistique Wednesday morning, and pleaded guilty to illegal possession of deer meat. A fine of $75, together with costs of $5.50, were imposed, and paid by the offender.

SING TONIGHT
IN AUDITORIUM

Humor and harmony will be dished out to Manistique people tonight by the Adanac male quartet, who appear at the auditorium as the third number of the local Lyceum course.

The quartet originated at Toronto, Can., and has been touring throughout the Dominion and the United States with marked success. Critics have indorsed the work of the singers, praising their remarkable ensemble work and individual artistry.

Splendid as the quartet is in the rendition of numbers of genuine musical worth, ranging from grand opera selections to old Scotch ballads, it also excels in the presentation of songs of a humorous character. As a matter of fact, the program is calculated to bring many an uproarious laugh.

H. Ruthven McDonald, manager of the quartet, is a well-known basso cantante. His voice is rich and vibrant. His enunciation—so clear that each word can be distinctly understood—is a real pleasure to the discriminating ear, and contributes immeasurably to the enjoyment of his songs. Mr. McDonald is not only a fine singer, but a fine entertainer as well. His humorous musical monologs are always a feature of the program.

Associated with him in the quartet are J. Riley Hallman, first tenor; Ernest L. Bushnell, second tenor and accompanist; and Joseph O'Meara, baritone. All are men of high caliber, who, with their clean-cut, stalwart personalities, represent a fine type of gentleman. They are all notable artists.

A double-header basketball bill, consisting of two varsity games and a preliminary, are being booked for Friday night at the Manistique high school gymnasium. Both the boys and the girls' varsity squads will be seen in action, with opposition supplied by the boys' team and the girls' team from Cooks high school.

The program for the evening is as follows:
Preliminary—Juniors vs Seniors.
7:30 p. m.—Manistique girls vs Cooks girls.
Wind-up—Manistique high vs Cooks high.

The preliminary event, which will start early, will mark the first meeting of the junior and senior teams. This is the second inter-class clash of the season, the first one played a short time ago between the freshmen and sophomores.

It is planned to complete this preliminary by 7:30, giving plenty of time for the girls' game. Both of the Inwood township aggregations have been showing up well this winter, and promise stiff opposition for the Manistique maids and men.

ALL SAINTS'
ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Organization of All Saints' parochial school Parent-Teachers' association was completed Tuesday night at a meeting of parents and instructors, held in one of the class rooms of All Saints' school at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. S. Maier, pastor of All Saints' church, presided as chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. H. F. Ames, Upper Peninsula organizer, and Mrs. Barron, president of All Saints' Parent-Teachers' association, both of Escanaba, were present at the meeting to assist in the organization.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. Father Maier, who in opening the gathering gave a short, instructive talk on the purpose of calling the meeting, of the aims and objects of the Parent-Teachers' association and of the benefits to be derived from inter-communication of the home and the school.

The chairman introduced Mrs. Ames, who gave an interesting talk on organization of the association as she knew it from her wide experience in organizing in the Upper Peninsula and who also touched on the object and aim of the association.

Mrs. Barron, who was then introduced, gave an interesting talk on the practical aspect of the association as it is working out in St. Anne's school of Escanaba.

Following this was suggested that appointment of officers and committees to serve until the regular association election time in March, be made by the pastor, Rev. Father Maier, and this received unanimous approval.

Appoint Officers.

The appointed officials, who will take charge of the association are as follows:
Mrs. E. A. D'Amour, president.
Mrs. Phil Hupp, first vice president.
Phil Louis, second vice president.
Sister Ethel, third vice president.
Mrs. Fred Ackley, secretary-treasurer.

The officers will form the executive committee.

THREE CAGE GAMES.

Three basketball games were played in the Cooks Consolidated schools on Friday night. The first of these was between the Cooks girls and the Garden girls. The latter was defeated by a score of 23-16.

The next contest was between a combination of the Cooks and Garden Alumni teams, and a Manistique team. This resulted in a score of ten to six in favor of the Garden and Cooks team.

The last game was between the Cooks high school team and the Garden team. This was a rough and tough struggle resulting in a score of six to five in favor of Garden.

Ten or eleven car loads of basketball fans motored up to Cooks on Friday night to lend their sympathies to the Garden players. On their return home, they stopped at the Cooks to lend any possible assistance in fighting the fire at the Post office. It was a party of Garden men who broke into the building in an attempt to get to the upstairs building in order to ascertain if any of the children were imprisoned there. Fortunately, none of the children had been left in the home.

SATURDAY UNLUCKY.

Saturday is beginning to be looked upon as an unlucky day for Jerome Welch of Van's Harbor. A week ago last Saturday, on a trip to Escanaba, when near the Whitefish hill, and meeting another car, trying to be courteous and giving the other driver lots of room, gave too much and ran into a bad rut. In turning back into the right way, his car skidded on the icy wheel and making of the car a complete wreck. Fortunately, Mr. Welch was uninjured. He phoned up to the Gladstone garage for help. A wrecking car was sent to his assistance. He was able to return to his home here on Sunday night.

On Saturday last, when returning from the fishing grounds with his day's lift, he got stuck in a snow drift. Trying to back out, he struck a rock in such a manner as to break off one of the wheels of his car. The accident happened just at the edge of the bay, and quite near to his fish shed.

FISHERMEN ARRESTED.

Paul Knuth, Game and Fish warden of Manistique, assisted by Warden Earl Ansell of Garden, have been busy in this district during the past week. A number of commercial fishermen were arrested for using nets of unlawful size. These were arraigned before Justice Charles Gauthier of Garden on Monday January 18, and pled guilty to the charges against them.

Martin Kouabough and Henry Peterson of Nahma paid fines and costs of $50 each, and Herman Kramer and Joseph Kruitman of Nahma paid fines and costs of $40 each. George Plucker of Fayette paid a fine and costs of $30.

LIFT MANY SUCKERS.

Fairport fishermen are lifting an unusually large amount of suckers from their nets under the ice at Fairport. The price on these is very low at present and some are holding their fish for a better market. One man has as many as a thousand pounds in one box alone. These are held in what is known as the "live box" system. The fish are placed in a huge box and placed under the water. Suckers will remain good for a long time when so imprisoned.

ANTOINE DELORIA III.

On Saturday afternoon, Antoine Deloria, well known Garden man aged ninety four years, possibly Garden Peninsula's oldest resident, suffered a severe attack of heart trouble. While his condition is grave he rallied remarkably and was much better on Monday.

Unless thoroughly frozen during the winter, the lily-of-the-valley will not do well during the following year.

COURT HOUSE UP TO PUBLIC

Voters Will Be Asked Whether to Build New or Remodel Old.

Jury rooms in the Delta county building will be remodeled immediately to make possible the use of women as jurors. If the cost of the alterations does not exceed the sum the board of supervisors may appropriate without special authorization.

At the April election the voters will be asked whether they desire to bond bonds of $350,000 to finance the erection of a new building, or whether they desire that the present building be remodeled at a lesser cost, still to be determined definitely.

The necessity of immediate action to give Delta county constitutional juries was discussed from all angles at yesterday's meeting of the board and finally found its way into the records on a motion by Supervisor Henry Rose, of Escanaba. Mr. Rose's resolution instructs the building and grounds committee to proceed at once with the work if the expense does not exceed one-tenth of one mill, or about $2,000.

Jury Actions Illegal?
Lawyers and others insisted there is the possibility that every jury drawn in Delta county since the woman suffrage law became operative in Michigan may be illegal; that the present situation is crammed full of dynamite if the action of any of these juries is challenged in the state supreme court; and that Judge Richard C. Flannigan has the power to issue a mandamus order, forcing the board to go through with the improvement or be cited for contempt. The judge was represented as desiring to give the board time to take the action voluntarily before he is compelled to resort to more severe methods.

Safety of the county's records was a point given equal prominence with the jury-room tangle, in yesterday's debate. The Michigan Inspection Bureau, asked for an opinion on the question of whether the vaults in the building are fire-proof, replied that it was impossible to determine the answer at long range, but added that few vaults, built 40 years ago, are fire-proof in the modern sense.

Records in Danger.
Loss of the records would be more serious and infinitely more expensive than a new courthouse, it was pointed out. Destruction of the real estate transfer records, for instance, would mean that no one in Delta county would have a valid title to his property until he had gone into circuit court and proved it. Such invaluable records as births, marriages, deaths, court proceedings and other files are in continual jeopardy unless they are protected, adequately, from fire. It was pointed out.

This phase of the matter also will be handled separately so that immediate action may be taken if necessary. Experts will be asked to look over the vaults, under the supervision of the building committee, and that body will report to the board at an early date.

Estimates to Be Rushed.
In the meantime, estimates as to the cost of a job of remodeling, so that the building can house the highway, school, prosecutor's and agricultural departments, now scattered about the city, and meet the demands of the county's business generally, will be procured by the building committee. A special meeting will be held to hear the committee's report and it is planned to submit the remodeling proposition to the voters at a special meeting to be held in time to get the question legally upon the April ballot.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
Richard Barthelmess as a Prince and Lois Moran, beautiful screen star, as a Princess! In the whole world of make-believe nothing more rapturously romantic can be imagined.

It all happens in the mythical kingdom of Koronia, a dominion of pomp, ceremony, grandees—and love. It is "Just Suppose"—and it will be shown at the Delft again today.

Barthelmess, who in many ways in the picture resembles the Prince of Wales, wooes a young American girl. But the death of an elder brother suddenly places him in direct line of regal inheritance, and his country supersedes his love. However, though Cupid seems routed and love is apparently sacrificed for the throne, all is rearranged at the end, and the sun shines smilingly on a happy Prince and a happy Princess. It is all like a beautiful fairy tale—and yet nothing like it at all.

Mr. Barthelmess and Miss Moran give excellent performances. The supporting cast comprises Geoffrey Kerr, Henry Vibart, George Spelvin, Harry Short, Bijou Fernandez and Patsie Rokenedine, a real Persian Prince.

AT THE STRAND.
Mae Murray returns to France, a favorite scene for her colorful adventures, in "The Masked Bride," her first picture since the sensational success she scored in "The Merry Widow," and which is now playing at the Strand theatre.

It is a colorful adventure story laid in Paris and the Montmartre, with Miss Murray, as a French dancer, enmeshed in a strange Apache plot.

Miss Murray stages a series of sensational dances in the gorgeous cafe scenes of the picture, and wears a glittering array of beautiful, and sometimes daring, gowns.

Francis X. Bushman plays the leading role, and a big cast surrounds the star, including Roy D'Arcy, Basil Rathbone, Pauline Neff, Chester Conklin, Karl Dane and other standard players.
