

SENATE FAVORS COURT RESERVATIONS

SENATE GIVEN CHECK REIN ON COURT'S POWER

SWANSON RESERVATION LIMITS U. S. USE OF BODY.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1925, by the Escanaba Press.) Washington, Jan. 25.—America will be in the world court and yet will not be unless she chooses to be. That's the paradox which comes out of compromise reservation which is to be attached to the world court protocol, and were it not for the fact that this is a fight against the league of nations primarily and the world court incidentally, it would remove the last particle of opposition to American adherence to the international court of justice.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, democrat, has had the compromise reservation up his sleeve many months. He made no secret of it, however. This correspondent disclosed its purport a few weeks ago and the Virginia senator dwelt upon it in his opening speech. Senate Must Agree. It provides that every time the United States is ready to use the world court for the submission of any dispute, the senate shall give its permission by the usual two-thirds vote.

Mr. Swanson offered his reservation for the simple reason that he knew very well America could not submit a question to arbitration of any court of justice any unless the senate agreed by a two-thirds vote. Whenever the United States has a controversy with another nation and cannot settle it by the usual processes of diplomacy, it is customary for both nations to agree by treaty or convention to solve the problem some other way.

Operators Reject Lynett Plan to End Coal Strike

PAPER PLANTS WILL OPERATE FULL CAPACITY

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE AT DIRECTOR'S MEETING.

"Unless most unfavorable market conditions develop that are not indicated and unless unforeseen difficulties arise, the plants of the Escanaba Paper Company will operate at full capacity every day of the coming year," was the positive statement made to stockholders and directors of that company at the organization's annual meeting at the plant office yesterday morning, by General Manager Joseph Slater.

Equipment Installed. "We have now completed the installation of important additional power equipment and under actual working conditions has proven that it has solved one of the major problems of this institution. The results we are obtaining in its operation more than meet our expectations. We are now satisfied that it will not be necessary to install either additional boiler capacity or a new stack, items that it was feared might become necessary. Have Reserve Power.

Under actual working conditions since the installation of this new equipment we have proven that in addition to supplying all of the power demands made upon us, we have sufficient reserve power to grind all of the pulp needed and operate the paper mill at full capacity. Unless a tremendous change in fundamental conditions develop our plants will operate every day of the coming year."

May Ask Legislature to Pick Location; to Cause Fight

Lansing, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Conjecture relative to other issues Governor Roosevelt may submit to the anticipated special session of the legislature was temporarily dwarfed today by speculation as to whether he will charge the legislature with the task of selecting a site for the proposed fifth normal college. If this problem is sent back to the legislature it is generally conceded it will stir up a sulphurous fuss.

Telegraph Wires All Over U. S. Affected by Aurora Borealis

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The aurora borealis kept up a ghost dance on telegraph wires over the entire country today and still was going strong tonight. Constant interruptions from the Arctic phenomenon were reported tonight on all wires out of New York as far west as San Francisco, and south to New Orleans and into Texas. Interruptions were sporadic, but had been coming with- out cessation since shortly after 11 o'clock this morning.

INDICT 61 ON RUM CHARGES

Former Coast Guard Members Cited for Bribery.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The federal government today struck a herculean blow at rum running on the high seas, bootlegging ashore and bribery of government employees. Sixty-one men, including thirteen members and former members of the coast guard, were indicted by a federal grand jury for conspiracy and violation of the prohibition law.

Detroit, Jan. 26.—(AP)—For the first time since it became effective in 1915 the Michigan law which provides against giving an untrue pedigree to a dog was invoked today when a warrant was issued against Mrs. E. Paulina Harshman. It is charged she held a dog with a certificate saying it was the pup of Wee Mong Toy II and Fu Chen, the latter owned by Mrs. A. B. Thompson.

not to include the new normal in his message because of the turmoil it would stir up. It was considered not impossible that the governor's proposal, if he makes one, might be that two, instead of one, new normals be established, which would please two, instead of one, northern Michigan cities. This suggested arrangement perhaps could be linked up with the Mt. Pleasant normal which was damaged by fire and may be moved, in part or in toto.

6 MEN SAVED FROM VESSEL OFF HALIFAX

24 MEN ARE STILL ON DISABLED FREIGHTER.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 26.—(AP)—Six men were saved tonight from the disabled British freighter Laristan, which since last night has been lying in a raging sea off this port. The men were saved by the German steamer Bremen. The following was received from the Bremen by the department of marine and fisheries: "Picked up six men off S. S. Laristan. Twenty-four men still aboard. Bremen standing by unable to render assistance at present owing to heavy seas."

2 BOATS IN DISTRESS.

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The fate of 60 men aboard two steamships, in distress at mid-ocean in the worst storm of the winter, was undetermined tonight. The ships, both of British registry, are the Antinoe, owned by the Egypt and Lavant Steamship company, and which sailed from New York on January 14 for Queenstown, and the Laristan, which was on its way to New York with a cargo of coal. The latter left Swansea January 9. A third vessel in trouble was the tug Roosevelt, about 900 miles from Balboa, Canal Zone.

Life Boat Smashed.

Locating the crippled ship again yesterday, the President Roosevelt made a vain effort to rescue the crew and in its attempt lost two of her own men. Despite the heavy sea a life boat was launched but was crushed against the side of the Antinoe. The two men who lost their lives were Ernest Heitman of New York and Uro Wirtnan of Finland. Details of the attempted rescue were contained in a message from Captain George Fried of the President Roosevelt.

All Vessels Delayed.

The crew of the Antinoe numbered 25 while there were 35 aboard the Laristan. The latter was operated by J. H. Winchester and company of this city. No word had come to them from the Laristan. The company officials said that information that the vessel's radio was silent indicated that the wireless room had been flooded.

U. S. POLICY DECLARATION ALSO OKEHD

MORE RESERVATIONS UP FOR VOTE TODAY.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The senate by almost unanimous vote approved today reservations and declarations of policy in the Swanson resolution of American adherence to the world court. Before the resolution finally adopted tomorrow, an even score of additional reservations must be disposed of. Sponsored by opponents of the court, they are designed to make American membership in the tribunal meaningless and no one expects any of them to be accepted.

Ask Postponement of Rich Retrial

Lansing, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Postponement of the retrial of Arthur C. Rich until after the January term of court, was asked in a petition filed in the Ingham circuit court by Bernard J. Onen, defense counsel today. The recent death of his wife and the consequent inability of William J. Barnard of defense counsel to conduct the case at this time was given as a reason for the requested delay. A hearing of the motion will be held Wednesday.

TEMPERED JUSTICE

Although Col. William Mitchell could not be expected admit approval of any decision in his court martial that did not approach complete vindication, there will be a general feeling in the nation that President Coolidge tempered justice with legitimate mercy when he modified the sentence of the trial court on Monday.

There is a wide-spread national sympathy with the cause that Col. Mitchell espoused, and he is generally credited with having brought credit to the attention of the people of the nation serious defects in the national service and its program.

While there will continue general sympathy for the cause that Col. Mitchell espoused there will also continue the belief that he could have accomplished at least something approaching the same purpose by more moderate tactics.

Unquestionably Col. Mitchell knew the penalty that would necessarily follow his course and was willing to make the sacrifice now imposed. President Coolidge took the only course he could pursue in upholding the suspension section of the sentence but at the same time tempered its severity by providing partial pay for the period covered by the suspension.

CARDINAL MERCIER

Cardinal Mercier, who died Saturday, was not only a distinguished prelate of the church of Rome, but was one of the outstanding figures of the World War. Exhibiting the finest type of courage in defying the conquerors of Belgium, although at their mercy and often threatened with death, he remained throughout the five most trying years of his country's history a flaming inspiration to fortitude and victory.

SPINSTERHOOD

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BARBARA HAWLEY, 25, wants to see life so she gives up her fiancé, BRUCE REYNOLDS, an architect, and gets a job on the Press. She meets BOB JEFFRIES, police reporter, and JEROME HALL, man about town. Bruce is with a real estate firm promoting Vale Acres, a civic residential project.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER LXI

He was holding out his hand, but Barbara did not see it. Her eyes were on his face. "Hello, Babs!" he cried. She stammered, "Hello, Mr.—Byers. How did you know I was here?"

admiration and envy. Barbara talked gaily. The color came back to her cheeks. She glanced toward Miss Badger and laughed.

"Come, admit," whispered Byers, "that the magazine's cut is pleasing you more than the others' adulteration." Barbara frowned at him.

Barbara laughed again. "And what would you say, if I should tell you that New York is no better than Escanaba—that I'd as soon work on the Press as on the Footlights Magazine?"

Barbara smiled. "I'm almost afraid to go to the office," she said, "lest it be changed, too, so much that I shan't be able to believe I ever worked there. It's a ghastly feeling, this walking about in places that were once a part of your everyday life, and finding that everything is the same, yet nothing is the same."

Barbara shared an apartment with McDermott's daughter, Fanny. Despite Barbara's warning that Jerome Hall is frivolous, Fanny slopes with him. Barbara, lonely, is lonelier than ever when a child is born to Violeta, so she takes a job on Footlights Magazine in New York.

Barbara through her lover's column, advised VIOLETTA CRANDY, factory girl, on how to win a "social superior." Bruce turns out to be the "social superior" and he weds Violeta.

Barbara shared an apartment with McDermott's daughter, Fanny. Despite Barbara's warning that Jerome Hall is frivolous, Fanny slopes with him. Barbara, lonely, is lonelier than ever when a child is born to Violeta, so she takes a job on Footlights Magazine in New York.

Barbara turned unwillingly and followed him. At the door of McDermott's office, Byers turned back. Holcomb was calling him petulantly. Barbara opened the door and went in alone.

McDermott looked up from his work and rose quickly. "Why, Barbara," he exclaimed, "where on earth did you come from?" "Straight from New York, and mighty glad to get here," answered Barbara. "I've just come home to look around. New York was getting on my nerves a bit."

McDermott looked at her shrewdly. "So Escanaba is still home, Barbara?" She flushed. "Yes, of course it is. I've been well enough off in New York. It's a marvelous city—all shimmer and silk and lights and shades. One can never grow really tired of it. But one's nerves get jumpy there. And besides, the place you came from is always home, isn't it?"

McDermott smiled. "Perhaps. But tell me how things are going. You haven't written me for a very long time."

"You'll be glad to know I've seen Fanny and had dinner at her home," Barbara began, but the door burst open and she fled in.

"Scuse me, I'm going to run to have—"

right away. The one in the morgue isn't spiffy enough—doesn't look like a Broadway success."

"No," laughed Barbara, "I remember when it was taken. It was one day after a clothes' convention and I'd spent hours chasing down the best dressed man at the meeting, for his picture. Then when I got back to the office, somebody had telephoned Wells and threatened libel on a story of mine. And on top of all that, they took my picture for the morgue. No wonder I didn't look like a success."

"Well, if you'll come right downstairs now, they can snap you and perhaps get the cut through in time for the paper today," said Byers.

Barbara looked uncertain, but McDermott waved his hand. "By all means run along with Byers, Barbara. We must have that picture."

When she returned a few minutes later, he was waiting for her. "What do you mean to do, Barbara? And how long will you be here?"

"She looked at the floor. 'I've done a terrible thing, Mr. McDermott. I ran away from my job without notice, and only sent a wire back saying where I had gone. To tell the truth, I didn't even think of my job till I was several hours out of New York.'

"I suppose it was because I'd been to dinner with Fanny. The subject of Escanaba was discussed all evening, and that night, riding back downtown, I was simply swamped with homesickness—the worst fit of the kind that I ever experienced. I rushed down and packed my things and caught a train out."

McDermott nodded.

Barbara went on, speaking low. "It seemed to me that if I didn't get a glimpse of Escanaba and some of my friends, I wouldn't just as well walk right off into the Hudson. Of course, I'm going to run to have—"

City Fathers Amend "Blue Law" with New Ordinance.

By unanimous vote, the Manistique city council on Monday evening approved an amendment to the city's so-called "Blue Law" ordinance, which prohibits Sunday amusements, and extended to motion picture theaters the privilege of being open and operating Sunday afternoons and evenings.

AND SO "BILLIE" GOT A MOTHER

"Billie," airedale puppy in a Cleveland pet store, lost his mother almost before he was old enough to walk, and he was very lonely. So lonely that he cried himself to sleep every night. So Sarah, an old monkey kept at the store, adopted him. Every night now he goes to sleep in her arms, and he doesn't whine any more.

Movie An Assent.

In support of the resolution, its sponsors pointed out that theaters were allowed to operate on Sundays in all nearby cities, and that a feeling had thus developed in the town that the best interests of the town in the resolution, special mention is made of the tourist business, and the probable effect of lack of amusements on the growth of this great summer asset.

A Human Life Cannot Be Restored

In its campaign for Careful Driving within its own organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has presented the problem in the form of an appeal to its drivers, using the age-old golden rule as the theme.

It has said: "If you expect other people to drive carefully when those who are near and dear to you are crossing the streets, do your part, by having your car under absolute control at all times."

"Pedestrians crossing the streets may stop directly in front of your car. Remember at all times that a human life cannot be restored and having had the right-of-way is no consolation in the event of a tragic contingency."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has pointed out to its men that it is unsafe to turn corners faster than six miles per hour. It may seem slow, but it is safe. At this rate of speed you are prepared to stop if someone's little child is playing in the street just around the corner.

They are told never to take an unnecessary chance in crossing street car or railroad tracks at a speed faster than six miles per hour.

It is true that all Standard Oil Company (Indiana) vehicles come to a stop at railroad crossings, but even then they proceed with extreme caution.

Nowadays, with our city streets and highways alive with automobiles, it is dangerous to dodge around other cars, and it is inviting an accident to follow the preceding vehicle too closely. Always give an erratic driver a wide berth.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has made these suggestions persistently and with consistent frequency. In addition it has made it mandatory on all drivers of Company vehicles to observe all local traffic laws.

The result of this Safety First work has cut down the number of accidents to a surprising minimum. Standard Oil Company (Indiana) drivers go more than half way to maintain safety on the streets—they exercise more than ordinary care—they use extraordinary care; they do not presume upon their traffic rights, their first thought is always safety—and for all.

This Company's drivers have pledged themselves to observe the written and the unwritten traffic laws—in spirit as well as in letter.

Their willingness, loyalty and sound judgment in matters of driving are typical and indicative of the spirit prevailing throughout this organization of 28,059 men and women.

It is this remarkable spirit which enables this Company to render such a constructive service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

"Don Q. Son of Zorro." Douglas Fairbanks' latest film-play, will be shown at the Delft again today and Thursday. The story has to do with a young Spanish don who comes to Spain from California to complete his education. Circumstance makes him a national hero, then, perversely enough, circumstance brands him as a murderer. To avoid conviction, the hero feigns suicide, and becomes the dashing and mysterious Don Q. Hearing of his son's predicament, his father, the famous Don Diego who won glory as Zorro in California, goes to Spain and together father and son win back the family honor at the point of the sword.

AT THE STRAND.

"The Great Love," something brilliantly new to the screen, and one of the oddest plots ever imagined, comes to the Strand today. It is another "triangle" story—but this triangle happens to have an elephant for one side of it. An elephant falls in love with a young doctor who treated her and in her ardent passion follows him through houses and a church bazaar. There are thrills aplenty and many a laugh.

Viola Dana and Robert Agnew play the doctor and his loved one—and "Norma," a six-ton actress, is the rest of the love-triangle. The cast includes several well-known players, including Chester Conklin, Frank Currier, SaZu Pitts, Malcolm Waite and Junior Coughlan.

A troupe of two thousand boys appear in one of the striking scenes in the new picture.

One is born every minute. That's why some of the towns larger than this are larger than this.

Franklin P. T. A.
Seventy members of the Franklin P. T. A. held a social meeting in Mrs. Semer's room of the Franklin school yesterday afternoon. A program of songs and readings was given by the pupils of the school, which was as follows: "Greenland"—Fifth grade song. "Health Line"—Fourth grade. Rhymes by the children. Miss Betty Leighton, Miss Jane Vesina and Miss Marcella LeDuc told how the $1 prize for the best attendance at the meetings was spent in their respective rooms.

Pancake Supper Thursday.
The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church are completing plans for the pancake supper which they will serve from 5 o'clock to 8 o'clock Thursday, January 28, at the church parlors.

Olden Time Party.
The Escanaba Hive No. 531, L. O. T. M., are sponsoring an "Olden Time Party" at Grenier's hall this evening when old-fashioned costumes and comic costumes will be worn by all Lady Maccabees and their friends.

A very fine musical program will be rendered by a good orchestra for the old-fashioned dances which will include the two-step, redowa, rye waltz, schottische, Lancer's quadrille, Virginia reel and the waltz which will never grow old.

Prizes will be awarded for the best and most comic costumes worn and many old trunks will be ransacked today to find costumes for the affair, which promises to be a "rich basket" for fun. Everyone attending this party is requested to bring along all the smiles they have in store for 1928. Delicious refreshments will be served.

Supper Grand Success.
Surpassing the expectations of the various committees in charge of the pancake supper which was given Monday evening at St. Joseph's clubrooms under the auspices of the Married Ladies' society, was a grand success, socially and financially.

The ladies served between five and six hundred persons from 5 to 8 o'clock. They were assisted by several young ladies of the parish. The ladies and girls worked systematically and the work was done very quickly. Many pleasing comments were heard on the manner in which they handled such a large number of patrons.

The pancakes were fine and everyone enjoyed the supper. The ladies had planned on a large crowd but soon after beginning to serve they found they would not have enough to accommodate the large number of patrons and sent out for more cream, doughnuts and sausage. One hundred and twenty-five pounds of pork sausage were served and the last persons served were unable to have any as the demand was too great. The orders for pancake flour were numerous and the ladies in charge feel very well satisfied over the results.

Improved!

A Type of Performance Never Before Obtained In Any Low Priced Car

Thousands have already driven the Improved Chevrolet. They know its new smoothness, new stamina, new swiftness of acceleration.

They know that in performance it completely dwarfs every Chevrolet achievement of the past and that it ranks as the finest Chevrolet in Chevrolet history.

And if you are one who has not yet been behind the wheel, you have more than a treat in store. You have yet to experience a type of performance never before offered in any low priced car.

A performance so effortless, so smooth, so powerful, so spirited and thrilling in every phase, that you will call it nothing short of a revelation!

Chevrolet's leadership has been based on giving quality at low cost.

Now the Improved Chevrolet gives another reason for an even wider margin of leadership—performance the equal of which has heretofore been unattainable in the low-price field.

True, the Improved Chevrolet is easier-riding. True, there is striking beauty in the New Duco finishes. True, Chevrolet prices are lower. But the one great and outstanding reason why you and every other motorist should drive this splendid car, is to experience the matchless performance it now introduces.

Drive where you will—and as long as you like, through traffic, through sand, through mud, over hills—and over mountains, if you please. Expect something really new, really worthwhile, something really unique—and you will not be disappointed.
