Fierce March Storm Hits Southwest; 4 Dead, 30 Hurt

HEAVY FALL OF SNOW AT KANSAS CITY

PROPERTY DAMAGE IN TEXAS FIXED AT $1,000,000.

Kansas City, Mar. 30.—(AP)—A March storm, its breath chilled by rain and snow, had spread over an unusually large area of the country tonight, brought death to four persons in Texas, injuries to at least thirty others and property damage estimated at $1,000,000.

From the Rocky Mountain region, east and south, including virtually all of the central, southern and southwestern states, the country was lashed by the pent-up fury of the parting March disturbance.

Out of the Rockies, where it had hatched for several days, the March lion swept over the plains states and down to the Texas plains, it stretched, leaving a blanket of white that varied in depth from a few inches to more than a foot.

East of the Missouri river, snow was reported falling from Madison, Wis., on the north down into central Illinois and Indiana, and on the north from Wisconsin to New England.

The storm fatalities and property damage occurred in southeast Texas. A high wind, accompanied by heavy rain, cut a swath through the oil fields near Liberty where two men were killed.

At Houston, Beaumont, Seagraves and Orange considerable damage was done to business establishments. Telegraph and telephone facilities were hampered by the wind that reached a velocity of 82 miles an hour at Houston.

The heaviest snowfall was recorded in Kansas, western and northern Missouri, northern Oklahoma and the Texas panhandle, and official reports said great good would result to ranges and the growing winter wheat.

A passenger train on the Midland Valley Railroad was snowed-buried near Foraker, Okla., and two relief trains were sent to its aid.

At Kansas City, the snowfall had reached a depth of eight and a half inches late today and the weather bureau predicted that nearly a foot would be recorded here by morning.

A forecast for the balance of the week, received at the government weather bureau here, held out little hope for an immediate break in the wintry conditions in the southwest or the Rocky Mountain region.

DETROIT, Mar. 30.—(AP)—A heavy snow storm which hit Detroit tonight was responsible for the death of two persons in traffic accidents.

WALDEN SCALES MOUNTAIN TOP

First Time Dog-Sled Has Reached Summit of Mt. Washington.

Pinkham Notch, N. H., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Mount Washington was scaled by dog-sled for the first time in history today when Arthur J. Walden, veteran musher of Wonalancet, drove his six giant crossbred huskies to the summit and back in a little more than 15 hours.

Starting from the Glen house at 6 o'clock this morning after a 70-mile gale had thwarted his first attempt yesterday, Walden fought his way up the eight-mile carriage road to the summit in approximately eight hours.

The start was made under ideal conditions with almost spring-like weather in the glen, but the wind rose later in the day, reaching gale force when the bronze driver and his handful of followers climbed above the timber line.

The high wind made exceedingly treacherous going after the halfway house had been passed. Long stretches of solid ice and heavily crusted snow were encountered on the bare upper reaches of the mountain and more than once the men were forced to don ice creepers and help the dogs in their struggle against the wind and slippery incline.

Anti-Saloon League Calls 3.75 Beer Order "Mistake"

Can Be Sold in Bone Dry States, Dry Agents Declare.

Washington, Mar. 30.—(AP)—While the nation seemed to get a kick today out of the proposal given by the government for sale of 3.75 per cent medicinal beer, about the only reaction the announcement stirred up here was a protest from the Anti-Saloon League, that the issuance of permits for the manufacture of such strong malt tonics was a "mistake" and would lead to diversions for beverage use.

Nothing was said in congress about the new order, in fact, for a change, the prohibition question was completely out of the picture, except for the introduction in the house by Mrs. Mary T. Norton, Democratic representative from New Jersey, the resolution previously offered in the senate by Senator Edwards of New York, proposing a sweeping investigation of prohibition and its enforcement.

Bone Dry States to Sell. Officials in charge of prohibition enforcement declined, in the absence from the city of Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury, to say much about the new regulation, except to give assurance that the new "health booster" would be available without prescriptions at drug stores everywhere in bone dry states.

Even in condemning the medicinal beer order, six officials of the Anti-Saloon League, among them F. Scott McBride, general superintendent and Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel, joined in a formal statement which said:

"The issuance of permits for the making of small tonics of 3.75 per cent alcoholic content is a mistake and will lead to multiplied evasions of the law and diversions, to beverage use. This was the experience of the government before such permits, which were formerly granted, were cancelled. No new evidence has been presented to indicate that this malt tonic will not be used as a substitute for evading the law."

Minister Attacks Dry Law. Although there was a lull in the halls of congress on the prohibition question, for a day at least, the eighteenth amendment was attacked again in the supreme court, this time by a minister of the gospel, Dr. A. Stanley Copeland of Buffalo, who filed a petition asking for a review of his conviction for violating the law. He was sentenced to three months imprisonment for dispensing wine of what he called religious meetings in front of the government building in Buffalo a year ago. He contends that the prohibition amendment did not make it unlawful to possess and dispense wine.

Fresno, Cal., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Robert Gates, chauffeur for Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, entered a plea of not guilty for himself and the ring champion in the justice court this afternoon to charges of reckless driving. Bond of $100 was posted for Dempsey and also for himself by Gates. Trial was set for May 25. A warrant was issued against Dempsey for his personal appearance in court.

Teach Children Fewer and Simpler Subjects, Advice of Dr. Little

RUSHTON IN SENATE RACE

Escanaba Attorney Candidate to Succeed Dr. Bohn.

Detroit, Mar. 30.—(AP)—"Improvement is the normal stepping stone to perfection," Dr. Clarence Cook Little today told members of the department of superintendents and school board members of the Michigan State Teachers' association. "It is as absurd," he continued on the subject of inter-relationship between universities and intermediate schools, "to teach high school pupils the works of Dickens in their English courses, as it would be to expect them to learn Einstein's theory of relativity in their physics courses. High school children normally read newspapers, magazines and comparatively recent novels—literature of the imperfect type."

Mr. Little advocated, as a president of a university, and one not having much contact with secondary school systems, that curriculum of high school work be simplified. "I would like to see," he said, "fewer things taught, and those few taught thoroughly."

He stated in connection with high school courses preparatory to college that a material decrease in the content of the courses would be advantageous.

Charlevoix Youths Take Cold Plunge

Charlevoix, Mich., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Charles Bellinger and Donald S. Winton, local youths, were still drinking hot beverages today, endeavoring to "get thawed out" after their experience of Sunday, when, accepting a "dare," they waded through the snow and slush ice fringing the Round Lake and went swimming among the chunks of ice floating in the channel. For accepting the "dare" they were given a cup of hot chocolate each by friends.

Says Witness Is a Former Convict

Hartford, Conn., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney for Hartford county today made public documentary evidence which he said would prove that Charles William Gregory, so-called missing alibi witness for Gerald Chapman, convicted murderer, is an ex-convict and a former member of Chapman's own gang.

Arctic Trip Plane Takes Test Flights

Mitchell Field, N. Y., Mar. 30.—(AP)—The Miss Josephine Ford, the Fokker monoplane named for Henry Ford's granddaughter, which will be used by the Byrd Arctic expedition, today was pronounced in perfect condition for the trip, following the final tests. The plane made two flights carrying 5,500 pounds, which is rated as its maximum useful load.

STATE FUNDS RATHER LOW, BOOKS SHOW NO MONEY LEFT FOR CONSTRUCTION PROGRAMS.

Lansing, Mar. 30.—(AP)—A demand from members of the state administrative board for an accounting today divulged figures showing the state's finances to be precariously meager as compared with expenditures that must be met. Aggregate balances, submitted by Henry Croll, Jr., state budget director, revealed no conceivable surplus in either the highway or general funds. His report indicated no new highway construction can be authorized this year if contracts already let are to be completed and paid for. It set forth that no money will be available in the current year for the construction of the proposed fifth normal college, for the completion of the new Jackson prison, for rebuilding Mt. Pleasant Normal, for going ahead with the women's prison at Okemos or for meeting the appropriations enacted by the 1925 legislature for improvements at the University of Michigan, the Michigan State college, the state public schools and many other institutions.

NEW PROPOSES RATE CHANGES

Advocates Restoration of One-Cent Stamp on Postal Cards.

Washington, Mar. 30.—(AP)—The joint congressional postal committee today heard recommendations by Postmaster General New for revision of certain postal rates and then established a precedent that might have bearing of practice at—flooding members of congress with letters intended to influence them.

The committee voted unanimously to bar Richard N. Lee of New York, attorney for the National Council of Business, Mail Users from ever appearing before it again. A letter written by Lee, read by Chairman Moses Republican, New Hampshire, and said to disclose a propaganda plan intended to influence congress to reduce postal rates, prompted the action. The letter accused Senator Moses with unfairness and dilatory tactics and called for bombardment of members of congress by mail in advocacy of lower postal rates.

Restoration of the one-cent rate for private mailing postcards and establishment of a rate of two ounces for one cent for newspapers and periodicals mailed second class by others than publishers were urged by Mr. New. He thought the rates on third and fourth class mail should not be changed, but recommended collection of additional charges on matter mailed with insufficient postage.

In addition, Mr. New requested that a "C. O. D." postcard be authorized. A new wrinkle in the postal service, the card would permit acceptance of business reply cards at the regular rate and not more than two cents additional to be collected upon its delivery to the original sender.

Mr. New said that the new cards would increase postal revenues and provide added facility to the public.

ESCANABA MAN TO BE JACKSON CITY MANAGER

TO STAY HERE UNLESS SUCCESSOR IS NAMED.

Fred R. Harris, manager of city of Escanaba since the adoption of the council-manager form of government four years ago, yesterday filed his resignation with the city council, to become effective as soon as his successor is named. Following the acceptance of his resignation by the city council, Mr. Harris will accept of the appointment as manager of the city of Jackson, Mich., at a most substantial increase in salary.

The city of Jackson had a population of approximately 60,000 people and the salary offered the Escanaba manager to come to that city proved so attractive that Mr. Harris could not refuse the offer.

The value of the most important qualifications held by Mr. Harris for serving the city of Escanaba as its manager is fully recognized by the council and the people of Escanaba and one of the most important matters ever to face the Escanaba council, since the adoption of the council-manager government here, will be the selection of a city manager.

To Await Successor. At the special meeting of the council yesterday Mr. Harris stated to remain at his post here for a long period as may be considered necessary, but it is probable Mr. Harris will be permitted to go to his new post within the two weeks. Through the cooperation of an unusually large council, Mr. Harris, as manager of the city of Escanaba, has been able to establish a record that has approached in few cities of the United States, Escanaba's accomplishments, under a council-manager charter, have been made subject of widespread comment both newspapers and magazines.

Especially Equipped. Frederic R. Harris was especially equipped, by virtue of his training and professional experience, to take over the management of Escanaba's affairs when the present charter became operative in 1922. Escanaba's publicly owned utilities were the major problem here and he was backed by many years of experience with such enterprises.

Moreover, this experience was largely in Michigan and he was thoroughly versed in conditions conditions in other cities, but the offer from the city of Jackson, urged upon him for the past several years, proved so attractive that he finally capitulated. Appointment to the manager-ship of the city of Jackson is a distinct step in advancement to Mr. Harris and while the people of Escanaba will deeply regret losing his services, the recognition that has come to him will be the cause of great satisfaction to his many friends here.

For the past two years Mr. Harris has persistently refused offers from other cities, but the offer from the city of Jackson, urged upon him for the past several years, proved so attractive that he finally capitulated. FARM FACTIONS GET TOGETHER

ON NEW BILL

COMPROMISE MEASURE WINS SUPPORT OF WEST, SOUTH.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, March 30.—A compromise bill designed to handle the export surplus problem of American agriculture has just been presented to the House Committee on Agriculture by George F. Peck and his associates of the committee of twenty-two represented in the recent conference held at Des Moines, Iowa.

This measure removes some of the objections which the administration had to proposal like the McNary-Haugen and the Dickson bills. It embodies some of their original features but does not require the government to engage in price fixing or to subsidize agriculture.

The new bill will have the support of members of congress from the cotton states and in this way will bring about no doubt a coalition of the west and south.

Corn Is Left Out. The new bill does not include corn, believing that this subject should be further studied and at corn will be benefited through the encouragement of "normal livestock population." The basic commodities taken are wheat, cotton, hogs and cattle. These are described as "the principal cash crops of American agriculture."

The proposal is formally endorsed by the American Farm Bureau, National Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union of America, National Board of Farm Organizations, Corn Belt Organization Committee, American Council of Agriculture, the North Central States Agricultural Conference. These organizations have had their spokesmen before the house committee for several days and they have responded to suggestions from members of the committee that legislation be based upon which will remove the objections of the department of agriculture and other agencies who do not want the government to go in for price fixing.

Control With Farmers. Under the new plan, the co-operative marketing organizations are to be the basic structure. They decide when crops shall be sold or stored and just when the normal farm board shall put into operation each phase of the scheme. Thus the control rests with the farmers themselves. The equalization fee would be collected by the government but the federal board would administer it very much as a trust fund.

It would involve at the start a revolving fund of $250,000,000 to care of capital operations but is not in the nature of a subsidy as the government would be reimbursed out of its own collections.

The small equalization charge to be collected at the manufacturing or processing point—of the millers or packers or slaughterers for market in the case of stock and the spinners or cotton pickers in the case of cotton—can be taken by the federal board.

When the board determines it may be a surplus, a substantial number of associations or producers of a commodity are in favor of operation in respect to it.

WILL Find Wide Favor. The federal board will be a part of the department of agriculture and will have a member of each of the twelve farm land districts. The formal statement to the house committee is that the federal board will buy or sell directly or through agencies, its own account but that it operates through associations, or manufacturers for whom they lose on storage, or export transactions, or by such agreements as consisted out of the equalization fee for each separate commodity group.

There is no telling from the serious opposition from the plan sufficient force to defeat it, the hope that the new plan will be nearer passage than has been proposed.

The present writing of the bill after than an even of becoming law because have substantial support by sections of the country, numerical strength is to get it through the senate and probably through the house.

Find No Trace of Sunken Boat and Its 4 Occupants

Detroit, Mar. 30.—(AP)—No traces have been found of five occupants of the small motor boat which sank in Lake St. Clair, near the in-take pipe of the Detroit waterworks plant Monday evening while three persons standing on the shore near the head of Belle Isle, looked on, unable to give aid.

The three witnesses, one of them a policeman, reported the mysterious disappearance of the boat to the Detroit harbor master, who detailed a crew to investigate, but late today it had found no clue, and it is believed that all on board were lost.

The point at which the boat sank now is a swirling mass of treacherous ice and water and it is believed by police that the frail boat was crushed in the grinding mass and all on board were drawn into the whirlpool and drowned.

One of his major projects was the Michigan State Telephone system, a task which required an expenditure of more than $400,000, with more than 100 engineers on the staff. This was organized and directed by Harris. He also placed various smaller utilities in the state, fixed rates and a great deal of other im-portant work.

During this period, at the request of Joseph F. Pryor, then mayor of Escanaba, Mr. Harris came here to make a survey of the local utility situation. He was in Escanaba at that time, for a year or so, when he later became chief engineer of the city utility department. He was in charge of the city utility department for several years, and was con-sidered one of the best utility engineers in the country. He is a past president of the Michigan Municipal Managers association, an officer of the Escanaba Rotary club, a member of the board of govern-ment of the local country club, of the local committee of Claver-lyne American Legion Post, and of the St. Stephen's Episco-pal church.

HOUSE DEBATES ENGLISH CASE

May Vote on Impeachment Resolution Some-time Today.

Washington, Mar. 29.—(AP)—Impeachment machinery provided by the constitution was set in motion by the house today against Federal Judge George W. English of Illi-nois.

For five hours members resorting at times to language rarely, if ever, used on the floor, debated whether charges brought against the judge of "high misdemeanors in office," including alleged wrongful manipu-lation of bankruptcy funds and usurpation of power warranted the house in recommending his trial by the senate.

Impeachment Action Deferred. Action on the resolution recom-mending impeachment was de-ferred, the house deciding to meet tomorrow at 1 o'clock instead of noon in an effort to reach a vote before the night adjournment.

During debate today the behavior of Judge English in court was dis-cussed, members favoring impeach-ment quoting testimony taken by the house investigating committee of harsh, rough and abusive lan-guage that witnesses said the judge had used in addressing them.

After one vile epithet which Judge English is alleged to have used from the bench in addressing a man had been repeated several times during the debate, and other language so strong that it made women in the galleries gasp had been resorted to in an effort to draw a picture of the judge, Speak-er Longworth called a halt.

He said the judge's alleged utter-ances were covered completely in the testimony and it was not neces-sary to repeat them for the sake of the argument.

Holiday Defends English. Four members only spoke at any length, two for the impeachment and two against. Representatives Sumners of Texas, ranking Demo-cratic on the judiciary committee, which recommended impeachment, and Tilman, Democrat, Arkansas, also a committee member, held the judge guilty on conduct that has brought the federal judiciary into disrepute.

On the other hand, Representa-tives Hickey, Indiana, Republican on the committee, and Holliday, Republican, Illinois, who said that he knew the judge personally, con-tended that the charges brought against him were unwarranted by the facts in the case.

McIntyre's Greatest Ambition Was to be Home Town Opera Star

Ann Arbor, March 29.—(AP)—To star in a show at the Ann Ar-bor Opera House and afterward to make a speech to the audience—that was the boyhood ambition of Frank J. McIntyre.

Since the birth of that desire, McIntyre's name has been blaz-oned on the principal streets of theatredom, and he has realized his ambition many times over of amusing and addressing his fel-low townsmen.

Ann Arbor was Frank's birth-place (Feb. 25, 1886) and still is his home. He attended A. A. H. S. and reported University do-ings for Detroit papers. He used to hang around the opera house, dreaming of the "big day" when "Frank J. McIntyre" would ap-pear on the hometown signboards and he would look upon his townsmen from the opposite side of the footlights.

One day Frank Keenan heard Frank rattle at some social occa-sion and a few months later he offered the big boy with the stage longings a part in a play.

Concerning his embonpoint (he weighs from 245 to 300) Frank's invariable comment is: "It seems that I always was big."

McIntyre's official entry on the stage was made at Rome, N. Y., in September, 1901, in "The Hon. Mr. Grisham." The following year, he had a part in "Miss Madder Pike's" "Captain Molly." He played in "Strongheart," and toured with the late Nat Goodwin in 1903 and 1904. From 1908 on, some of his vehicles were: "The Traveling Salesman," "Snohs," "Oh, Oh, Delphine," "The Rose of China," "Seeing Things," and "The Red Trail."

Charles Chaplin, Film Comedy Star, Father of Baby Boy

Hollywood, Cal., Mar. 30.—(AP)—A son was born today to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer Chap-lin. Reports from the Chaplin studios were to the effect that mother and son were progressing nicely.

The event which has been an-ticipated for some time in film circles, took place at the Bever-ly Hills home of the famous screen comedian. Chaplin's first son, Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., is a little more than a year old. Mrs. Chaplin was formerly Miss Lita Grey, motion picture actress.

STATE FUNDS RATHER LOW, BOOKS SHOW

in the action taken by the board members, there appeared little doubt. George Welsh, lieutenant governor, and Governor Groesbeck, according to members of the committee, have been basing many arguments on proposed highway expansion.

$3,500,000 in Treasury. The general fund report sub-mitted by Croll shows that about $13,500,000 of state taxes have been collected, and most of it spent. There is in the treasury about $3,500,000. About $4,000,000 more in state taxes are to be collected. The corporation tax should yield $6,000,000. The highway fund $6,000,000. The general fund $1,600,000. About $3,000,000 or more will be collected in fees. Thus, with the $3,500,000 on hand, about $11,000,000 is in sight for the balance of the cal-endar year. Charged against this are about $9,000,000 in salaries, $3,500,000 for the univer-sity mill tax, about $700,000 for the Michigan State college mill tax—some of this having been paid, about $3,000,000 for sundry expenses, $300,000 for University of Michigan and Michigan State college, miscellaneous appropri-ations and other minor items which made a practically balancing with the anticipated receipts. The highway fund, according to Croll's figures, stands as follows:

Highway Finance Figures. The state owes counties $694,000 on back appropriations from the weight tax to the counties; $1,237,000 must be paid counties and townships this year in re-wards; $300,000 is cost of de-partmental administration; $6,000,000 must be apportioned the counties from the weight tax; $4,200,000 goes into the sinking fund; $1,500,000 must be spent for bridges; maintenance will cost at least $2,000,000, and con-tracts outstanding total $5,000,000. The total is approximately $27,000,000. The anticipated in-come this year is about $10,000,000 from the gasoline tax, $14,000,000 from the weight tax, something over $2,000,000 from the federal government, and about $1,500,000 in other fees. Again almost an exact balance with virtually no money left over for new contracts.

May Hall Building. The figures, if they are accept-ed by the administrative board for guidance, apparently will not permit the expenditure of any building appropriations author-ized by the legislature either in its regular 1925 session or its recent special session. The 1925 legisla-ture made appropriations totaling more than $22,000,000. Many of the appropriations for buildings and improvements carried a tax-clause. The administrative board, in order to cut the appropriations to meet a state tax of $17,800,000 eliminated a number of ap-propriations from the tax levy. The statement was made when this was done that "other fees and revenue would permit meet-ing the appropriations." The only important building approp-riation left in the tax clause list by the board was $250,000 for the proposed fifth normal college. The figures presented by Croll today indicate neither this ap-propriation nor any of the other building grants can be met. Among those for which there ap-pear to be no funds are $400,000 for the university, $327,000 for the Boys' Vocational school, $207,000 for the state public school, $543,000 for the Michigan State college, $199,000 for the training school for girls, $750,000 for rebuilding Mt. Pleasant normal, $500,000 for the new Jackson prison and $200,000 for the Okemos women's prison.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE CALLS BEER MISTAKE

bone dry states in the west are not sure that state laws will per-mit the sale of 3.75 per cent medicinal beer.

Whether or not the new beer may be classed as a beverage ap-parently will determine the atti-tude of authorities in states hav-ing drastic prohibition statutes. "I am not familiar with this mat-ter, but if it contains alcohol and may be classed as a bever-age, there is our state law against it," said Attorney Gen-eral Dunbar of Washington.

WARNS AGAINST HEAVY CARGOES

Limitation to 17 Feet 9 Inches Depth on Lake Advised.

Cleveland, Mar. 30.—(AP)—Warn-ing that cargoes be limited to 17 feet nine inches depth on Lake Superior was issued today by George A. Marr, secretary of the Lake Carriers' association. This is about nine inches less than last year's maximum.

"Chicago's diversion of water is responsible for at least six inches less water than normal," Marr de-clared.

The effect of the decrease in ton-nage cannot be fully estimated, Marr declared, until the opening of the navigation season. Vessel men predict the season will open on the Great Lakes about May 1.

Secret Tariff Body Reports Made Public

Washington, Mar. 30.—(AP)—The weight of a senate subpoena was invoked to break the hand of secre-cy surrounding the tariff commis-sion's recommendations. It was issued after chairman Marvin had declined to divulge to the special senate tariff committee the con-tents of unpublished reports on the ground that they were confiden-tial to the president. It was forced by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, who declined to take any further part in the investiga-tion until the documents were pro-duced.

Santa Rosa, Cal., Mar. 30.—(AP)—Luther Burbank appeared to-night to have won his second brush with death in two years. A bulletin issued by his physi-cian, Dr. Joseph H. Shaw, said he had spent a comfortable, rest-ful day, "and if given a good physical and mental rest, he will recover."

Scott of this dis-trict and to the fourth assistant master general at Washington, requesting an airplane be sent immediately to carry mail here to St. James, Beaver Is. No mail has been sent to or received from the island in be-fore and it will be at least a week before the water between island and the mainland is safe-boats to make the trip. McIntyre's Greatest Ambition Was to be Home Town Opera Star

Ann Arbor, March 29.—(AP)—To star in a show at the Ann Ar-bor Opera House and afterward to make a speech to the audience—that was the boyhood ambition of Frank J. McIntyre.

Since the birth of that desire, McIntyre's name has been blaz-oned on the principal streets of theatredom, and he has realized his ambition many times over of amusing and addressing his fel-low townsmen.

Ann Arbor was Frank's birth-place (Feb. 25, 1886) and still is his home. He attended A. A. H. S. and reported University do-ings for Detroit papers. He used to hang around the opera house, dreaming of the "big day" when "Frank J. McIntyre" would ap-pear on the hometown signboards and he would look upon his townsmen from the opposite side of the footlights.

One day Frank Keenan heard Frank rattle at some social occa-sion and a few months later he offered the big boy with the stage longings a part in a play.

Concerning his embonpoint (he weighs from 245 to 300) Frank's invariable comment is: "It seems that I always was big."

McIntyre's official entry on the stage was made at Rome, N. Y., in September, 1901, in "The Hon. Mr. Grisham." The following year, he had a part in "Miss Madder Pike's" "Captain Molly." He played in "Strongheart," and toured with the late Nat Goodwin in 1903 and 1904. From 1908 on, some of his vehicles were: "The Traveling Salesman," "Snohs," "Oh, Oh, Delphine," "The Rose of China," "Seeing Things," and "The Red Trail."

Humanity In Big Business

The Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes in humanity for man to manage and practices it.

An example of the practical application of this principle is found in the report of the Employees Stock-Purchasing Plan just made public.

Five years ago the Management offered all employees an opportunity to purchase shares of the Company's stock on a deferred payment plan.

The individual employee was privileged to subscribe for stock up to 20 per cent of his annual wage. For every dollar subscribed the Company agreed to add 50c. Subscriptions were voluntary.

The significant result is that 15,000 employees purchased stock in the Company by this method, and their holdings under this plan aggregate 390,000 shares.

This number of shares represents an accumulation in five years of approximately $25,000,000, or 4.2 per cent of all the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) shares outstanding.

By their voluntary action, the employees, collectively, have made themselves the second largest influence among the 50,000 stockholders, not one of whom owns as much as 1/4 per cent of the total stock issued.

Such an encouraging response justifies the Management in the loyalty of its men and women making up this organization.

It is tangible evidence of the unusual harmony and friendliness which exist throughout this great group of men who are bound together by an ambition to themselves—the ambition to succeed—and who work with a united effort.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) proved by the actual working out of its principles that humanity in big business is practical. It is gratifying, indeed, to the Management to have more than one half of the employees realize that only by helping and serving one another can man attain happiness and success.

No doubt, there are some people who think of the huge organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as a machine. It is truer to think of it as a group of human beings acting together in splendid cooperation. The thousands of share-holders, the Management, the employees—all are people like yourself, with a joy in their work and an eager love of life.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the eternal foundation of all greatness is human sympathy, based on understanding and high integrity.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) preaches the humanity it preaches, believing that such principles lie better service to the million people of the Middle West, who earnestly try to serve in such a manner to gain their confidence, respect, and esteem.

The Very Idea!

LAND OF CHEER. The trail that leads to the land of cheer is an easy road to find. There's a nary a soul who is living here who needs to be left behind. If you blaze your way with a thousand smiles and can fill the air with song, you can travel on through the happy miles and join with laughing throng. Your life's too short for the solemn side, and you lose your pep when blue. Hop onto the smile ship and take a ride, if your spirit can carry you through. Be friendly with folk whom you meet each day and put out the glad hand strong. Remember that life is a portion play. When you make it all work, you're wrong. Fall into line while the fallin's good. Take the tip while your chance is here. Be a good scout, 'cause you know you should. You'll land in the land of cheer.

The home may be going, but a lot of married people will tell you that the old "nag" still lives on.

If they took all the women away, what would follow? I don't know about the rest of you men—but I can answer for myself.

Sometimes a man acquires a vocabulary simply by getting married.

They always sang duets because, they flatted every tone. And neither one of them was game to take the blame alone.

NOW, HONESTLY—Easiest man in the world to overlook.

Somehow or other most of us take all things he does for granted.

He's expected to be in the best of spirits all the time—we can't understand why he has reason to ever feel otherwise.

Kind of a good guy to turn to in an emergency. Always comes through with help, too.

Some people call him the head of the family. In most cases that's funny.

Let's see now—whadda we call this fellow?

Oh, yes—Dad!

If it weren't for the longest way around, where would the youngster go who is coming back from the store with groceries?

A rich girl is supposed to pay the charges when a poor man expresses his love to her.

MRS. A—Did your husband go by boat of rail?

MRS. B—Yes!

New York.—The idea of the Marshall Stillman movement that the wearing of a lapel button indicating a subscription to the maintenance of this philanthropy would safeguard the weary from financial exactions by the hold-up gentry was referred to in this column a few weeks ago.

But the story as then told was incomplete, it now is revealed. Certain publicists greeted the buttons solution of New York's omnipresent crim problem with skepticism that bordered on flippancy.

"The button, button, who's got the button?" like enjoyed a new popularity for the movement.

At a subsequent gathering of the Marshall Stillman Movement proponents, resentment at this flippancy found free expression.

Red Katz, the one-time bandit who is the movement's most prized example of restoration to upright citizenship, participated.

"The button," Red assured those foregathered with him, "is sacred."

"Never will I show it disrespect!"

And here Red turned to the district attorney, it's related—

YELLOW STUB

By Ernest Lynn

By the way, Church, he continued, "what was that you stuck in your pocket?" He fumbled with his large hand through Church's coat, fished out a folded paper and spread it on the table. "It's a will Rand—the will of Thaddeus Rand. I guess this is yours. "Take care of it," said Jimmy. "They'll be wanting it as evidence later on. Hold on, though, guess I'll read it over myself. "Yep," he said later, when he had gone over it. "It's just as Mooney's informant, whoever he was, said. Henry Rand or his heirs. . . Samuel Church executor. He looked at Church again, but he was speaking to O'Day. "I believe that's all, Lieutenant." Once more dull depression settled on him, and the draught of victory was bitter on his lips. There was Mary, the girl he loved, no longer unattainable but waiting to hear from him. And now that he knew she was his and his agonized longing was at an end, his triumph was suddenly flat, like that of some seeker who, blind to everything but his goal, finds it, and when it is in his grasp pauses to look behind him and see what has been overlooked in his quest. There was Olga, broken in spirit, hurt, with nothing to look forward to. And she loved him; he had told him with her lips, with her eyes. What a debt he owed her—what a debt. "And God help me," he agonized, "how can I pay it?" He thought, "Church has licked me, after all. Surprisingly, it was Church himself who broke into his rever-home?" O'Day asked, "or are you coming down wit' huz?" "I'm going down there later to meet Barry Colvin," said Jimmy. "First of all, though, I've got to see Olga Maynard." CHAPTER LV. Olga was tired. Too tired for the sleep the nurse told her she needed. And though she ached in every nerve and muscle, still there was luxury in the clean, cool sheets, in the fragrance of cut flowers that were on the table. She lay there thinking. And occasionally the thought of some one of the many experiences that had been hers the last few days would cause a shudder. "I wonder how it came out?" she said. And then, "if only I could be out of here—and know. . . Sam Church. . . It seems impossible, and yet. . . I hope he gets his." She tossed restlessly. "And with him out of the way, it means that Jim and the girl—oh, Jim, no! . . . And yet, why shouldn't he? Who am I? What right have I to expect—she's his kind, and I am not, I guess. . . I guess anyone can see that." Tears coursed down her face and dampened the pillow. "I'd never do, I guess." And then, with a catchy sob in her voice, she cried, "Oh, Jim, I tried so hard—tried so hard to change." She lay there a long time, in the dark. "And Jimmy Rand downstairs was breaking all the rules of the hospital." "Really," insisted the night superintendent, "it's against regulations. It's his visiting hours, and besides, Miss Maynard is not to be disturbed under any condition." "I don't care," he answered. "I'm going to see her—now. I've got to see her." "But can't you wait till morning?" "Now, I brought her here. I could have brought her to another hospital if I'd wanted. I'm paying the bill, and I won't have you put me off." "Really, Mr. Rand, it isn't a question of who pays the bill. Rules are rules, you know." "Then in this case there'll have to be an exception. I tell you she can't rest until she hears from me. It's important; she has to know. She'll be just a bundle of nerves until she hears from me that everything has come out all right." "Well, if you're really going to insist, I suppose. . . " "Thank you. I knew you'd understand." "Which was not so at all, for she didn't." He walked up the hall and up the stairs, in the wake of a young nurse. His head was thrown back and his lips formed soundless words. The nurse stepped into a room, and he heard low voices, saw a light. Then she was out in the hall again. "You may go in now." He had thought to enter on a cheery note of laughter, but the sight of her lying there, pitifully white, was unnerveing, and his hand was trembling violently as he laid it on hers. "Olga, are you all right?" "Yes, Jim. I'll be out again in a week. Rest is all I need." She smiled bravely. "Now tell me, Jim." "Oh, it was Church, all right. He's confessed, Jensen's dead, and I'm not sorry." He stopped and regarded her gravely. What he was about to say was not going to be easy. He said to himself, "Mustn't back down now." "Olga," he said, and squeezed her hand, to steady his own. "I— " But her eyes were searching his face and, somehow, he couldn't go on with her looking at him like that. What they read there he did not know, but they seemed to be reaching to his very thoughts. "Jim, you're hurting my hand."

She drew it away and placed it on his. "Don't talk, Jim. Just sit there." Long minutes passed, and a cheery little clock on the bedside table ticked loudly. . . Her hand still lay on his. "I'm awful glad," she was saying presently, "that everything turned out all right for you. For your sake Jim, and for mine." "Olga," he protested, "you know very well I never doubted— " But she silenced him by placing her finger against his lips. "I know you didn't, Jim. It's wonderful to know that you believed in me all through." Then she said, "Have you told Mary yet?" "No." "Why haven't you?" "Because I came here first, Olga, to tell you I— " "Don't say it, Jim. I know what it is—it was written all over your face the minute you came in the door." She sighed. "You'd make a rotten actor. Call her up, Jim—tonight. Gee, she'll be thrilled!" He was protesting once more, but she silenced him again with her finger. "Shut up, old dear. It's wonderful to know you care that much, but you're not fooling me—not for a minute. I can see right through you. You know you're crazy in love with her, Jim." "You mean to tell me you know what I came here for?" "Sure. When I lose my voice I'm going in for mind reading." It was altogether the most astonishing situation he had ever found himself in. Suddenly he was on his knees beside her bed, fighting against the catch in his voice, unburdening his troubled mind. "Jim," she said when he had finished. "You're so white I just can't believe you're true. Come here and let me kiss you." She did. "Olga," he said, "they tell me I'm a millionaire. You'll never have to worry about work." "But that's just what I'm going to do. I still think I can sink." "And I'll see that you get what you're after if I have to buy a show for you." "Great, Jim. You're going to be my angel, huh? The heavy sugar daddy behind the scenes. You did sport, you. Let me kiss you again." When he had gone she rang for the nurse. "Put out the light, nurse, old dear. And tell me, how much longer do I have to stay in this damn bed?" "When it was dark she lay with her face to the wall, and cried. Jimmy did call Mary Lowell's house, but she was not there. Her mother told him that the young man named Barry Colvin had been there and had taken her off with him to the police station. Outside the hospital he hailed the first automobile that came along, and something about the manner led the man behind the wheel to think it was a matter of life and death to get him to headquarters. He had thought Mary and he would be alone when he saw her, and had mentally rehearsed the scene between them. But when he was walked in to O'Day's office he found her with Barry Colvin on one side of her and the old war horse O'Day on the other. He saw Barry jump to greet him, and O'Day turn his head. But he ignored Barry's rush and stood helpless, without speech, his eyes on Mary, who sat still and pale and just looked. "The torrent of words he wanted to utter was dammed at his teeth. He was oblivious of the two men. . . Slowly he raised his hands and let them fall. And then, as in a dream, he saw Mary moving toward him, shining wetness in her eyes. She BOYS TOGETHER. He's rather poor, and rather plain. And not a fancy neighbor; He's winnowed mighty little grain From all his life of labor. He's somewhat out at elbows, and The world moves on without him. And Daughter can't quite understand What I can see about him. No daughter ever yet could see. I really question whether They ever will. But I and he We once were boys together. They've had him up in court a bit. For taking too much toddy. I sort of hate to speak of it. To you, or anybody. And Son has never understood. He says it might be funny— A month-in jail would do him good. Why lend him any money? But friends who have been friends so long They hate to break the tether; Perhaps it's foolish, maybe wrong. But we were boys together. I know a lot of other men. Fine fellows, good and hearty. But not a one remembers when We had a sleighing party. Of course, we have some parties now. And many a fancy dinner. But I just slip away somehow And hunt up that old sinner. And sit and talk about old ways. Old folks, old fashion weather. The girls and teachers of the days When we were boys together.

UNPAID TAXES GREAT PROBLEM

One-Fourth Land Area of U. P. Delinquent, Says J. N. Lowe.

Approximately one-fourth of the land in the Upper Peninsula is tax delinquent, John N. Lowe, of the faculty of Northern State Normal College at Marquette, declares in a summary of a most important economic problem. The problem comes very near to us, says Mr. Lowe, when we find that 2,450,000 acres—slightly more than the combined areas of the states of Rhode Island and Delaware—are listed as delinquent.

"The now unprofitable acres have yielded their valuable timber; the fires have swept off the second growth, and devoured the humus—consequently private capital cannot see any future in these worthless lands," he adds.

Reforestation First

Continuing, he says: "What are some of the ways through which we can bring these lands back on the tax roll, so that they will help to pay their way?"

- (1) Reforest them, either by the state or through private enterprise.
- (2) Make them a part of the recreational system, such as state forests, game refuges, public shooting grounds, and state parks.
- (3) Interest people who will buy and develop these lands into private recreational parks, summer homes, etc.

In the first place we are all convinced that it will be a long time before all of these lands can be brought back to forests through the efforts of the state, for it is humanly impossible to conceive how efficient funds could be raised to plant this vast acreage.

Private capital, under the present system of taxation, is unwilling to make the effort to do the planting or hold the land. Here relief legislation may make it possible to hold these lands until timber matures. The Pearson Act is a step in the right direction.

Must Consider Sportsmen.

Secondly, we need to consider what part of these acres should be utilized for game refuges, public shooting grounds, or for other recreational purposes. At present sportsmen are particularly interested in this question. We have now in Michigan 272,589 acres in designated game refuges, which is 74 per cent of the total area of Michigan. There are 2,560 acres in the Upper Peninsula. Michigan has now, approximately, three times as much land in designated game refuges as the much cited state of Pennsylvania, which has a far more developed system of refuges than Michigan, but we must not overlook the fact that the necessity for game refuges arose in Pennsylvania and the eastern states long before it did in the central west.

Game depletion was a fact in the past years before we saw any need for game protection. In the east, and notably in Pennsylvania, game refuges were set aside, about 20 years ago. It is very doubtful if a suggestion 20 years ago, for a like policy, would have made any appeal to us here. We saw no need for it. When we compare our system of refuge with that of Pennsylvania we must remember that we are comparing two systems: one old and well-established, the other just beginning, but tending in the same direction.

Recently the suggestion has been made that all these tax-delinquent lands should be made into game refuges. It is hardly possible that the statement was serious, because we can not make ourselves believe that one acre out of every four should be tax free. Just what percentage of the landed area of the U. P. should become a part of the recreational lands of the state? In the light of recent investigations, it was found that Minnesota has 2,843,919 acres, or 5.04 per cent of its area in game refuges, which is the U. S. devoted to game refuges.

California comes second with 1,900,000 acres or 1.9 per cent, without the federal reserves, but if these are included, 3 per cent of its lands are in game refuges. Wisconsin has 19,335 acres, or about .19 per cent and Pennsylvania has 76,317 acres, or .26 per cent.

State	Game refuges	Per Cent
Minnesota	2,843,919	5.04
California	1,900,000	1.90
Michigan	272,589.53	.74
Pennsylvania	76,317.70	.26
Wisconsin	19,335	.19
Vermont	10,888	.18

Seven Per Cent Enough.

Then what is the amount of land that should be set aside for game refuges? Is five or six per cent sufficient to set aside for such purposes? By game refuge is meant a region where the game and other animals have an opportunity to breed, rear their young and find a haven from the pursuit of man. What is the amount of land that should be set aside for other recreational purposes? No one is ready to set a definite per cent, but probably two per cent in addition to the above. A total of seven per cent may seem enormous at first, but it is approximately 1,000,000 acres in the Upper Peninsula, or about one out of every ten acres. Is this setting aside too much land from the tax roll? Will the income in the form of good health, play and enjoyment compensate the people of Michigan for setting aside these acres?

Any comprehensive land utilization policy for the state of Michigan must make provision for the general physical and mental well-being and happiness of the people. The high speed of modern life, with its greater nervous tension, makes relaxation a vital necessity.

HER OWN WAY

A GIRL OF TODAY

PREVIOUS CHAPTERS

JULIA DEAN spurned CHARLES BECKER, and with $250 given her by her dad, JASON DEAN, went to Chicago under the name of JULIE KEAN to make her own way. She lost her $20 in a cafe. But CLEMENT STERNS gave her a job as hat checker, and she found a friend in MAMIE RILEY, with whom she worked. An old acquaintance, JIMMIE COSTELLO, showed up. He punched the nose of a "lobby lizard" who insulted Julie; then took her out to dinner and introduced JERRY HATHAWAY, who promised to recover the $250. Going home, Julie found Mamie Riley crying. Mamie began telling Julie of her life and her ambition to be an opera singer.

THE ECSTASY OF INSPIRATION

"Through some provision of chance I became an errand girl in a hat shop, and you can imagine my joy when I was told to deliver a hat to Mme Rosario, the opera singer."

"I went to her house without the slightest idea that I could see her, but just to walk the steps her feet had trod and when I was told to take the hat up to Madame's room, I was so excited I could hardly walk."

"There I found Rosario surrounded with the greatest luxury. Her room was like something I could never imagine, but that had no temptation for the little girl standing there awe-struck because she was in the presence of a real opera singer."

"Trembling, I held out the box to the maid. I could not have spoken had I died for it."

"Afterwards I still stood by the door forgotten by the diva as well as her maid. Presently she began to sing. First almost to herself, but finally her glorious voice filled my heart with ecstasy. I crept nearer and nearer until I was kneeling at her feet. She must have felt me there kissing the toe of her little satin slipper, for she said:

"What sees it? Why do you kiss my slipper?"

"I don't know," I stammered,

"unless it is that I have heard you sing."

"You have heard me sing in opera, my child?"

"No, but I have just heard you sing here."

"I suspect Madame Rosario had never had such sincere tribute paid to her voice, for she said:

"I will sing for you my child. Immediately the whole room was filled with that glorious aria from Thais."

"Of course at the time I didn't know what it was but I learned it later."

"For a moment I stood spell-bound and then, strange as it may seem, for I was utterly unconscious of it until Madame stopped abruptly, I was trying to follow her."

"Child, child, cease you that hat a voice," she said.

"Oh, I did not mean to. Forgive me! I did not know what I was doing."

"I'm glad you did it for you must learn to sing. You must let nothing, nothing my child, stand in the way of making it possible for you to give that voice to the world."

"Madame Rosario did not know what she was doing to the child. I took her words literally and that's why I'm crying tonight."

TEMPTATION.

"Of course, after the visit to Madame Rosario, I could do nothing but hope and plan, or at least try to plan, some way in which I could get the money to have my voice trained."

"In my innocent way (for I was very innocent then, Julie) I thought much of Madame Rosario's words:

"Let nothing, nothing, my child, stand in the way of making it possible for you to give that voice to the world."

"I took her advice literally and after a month or two of sickening despair I came to the conclusion that I would be an old woman before I could possibly save the money under the most favorable circumstances to pay for the expensive masters I needed."

"My mother all the time kept worrying about my job. She thought I had been long enough with Madame Seria to get a raise. As a matter of fact I had had two raises but I had not told her as I had determined to save a little money, at least enough to pay for some good teacher's addition of my voice."

"I had of course no idea of the cost but by discreet inquiry I found that one of the young ladies who came to our shop was being groomed for grand opera by the famous Tortorillo."

"But she must be very rich," I said to the girl who told me this. "She always gets the most expensive things in the shop and I hear that Tortorillo's prices are something enormous."

"Maybe you don't think that Lolo Lawrence wasn't just as poor as you or I until she caught the ear and afterwards the eye of Buddy Tremaine! Now she not only has the best teachers in voice culture but in French and Italian and German and everything else that her little heart desires."

"A little while afterwards Miss Lawrence came in and ordered nearly a thousand dollars worth of lingerie in one fell swoop and left saying that she had a lesson with Tortorillo that same afternoon."

"Julie, I asked you, was it any wonder that I then and there determined to sell my body and soul to give my voice to the world?"

"Only, I said to myself, I'll not take any money for fine clothes. That would be very common. But, I must have money some way—any way—to expend upon my voice."

Deputy Collector to Aid Dealers to Secure Tax Refund

Passenger automobile and cigar dealers are advised to withhold their inventories until they are called upon by a deputy collector of internal revenue, who will make arrangements for securing the refunds allowed under the revenue act recently passed by congress.

A deputy collector will visit all the dealers within the next month and complete the inventory so that dealers will not have to make their report direct to the revenue bureau office at Grand Rapids.

The passenger automobile tax has been reduced from five to three per cent. Some of the dealers have paid the five per cent tax and still have the automobiles in stock. They will get a two per cent refund on each car left in stock. Similar refunds will be made to dealers having cigars in stock which were taxed under the old revenue rates.

Chase S. Osborn Urges Study of Common Birds

BY CHASE S. OSBORN.
(In the South News)

It is a good thing to be acquainted with the birds of your own neighborhood. I hope never to be so dead as not to be able to identify a bird.

Grotesque and unreasonable as it is, argument and information appear to be required to interest some people in the Michigan Audubon society.

Not long ago, upon a southern sun-kissed afternoon, I was walking with a Harvard man and his artistic wife. We passed through a field of wild flowers and a flock of birds. Then I asked them if they had seen the congregation of birds. They had not. I requested them to back-track until the flock was again on all sides of us. They exclaimed interestedly and asked if the birds had been there when we passed that spot a few minutes before, and what kind of birds they were. Thinking they were joking I said very solemnly that they were owls. The man replied with a drawl that he had a vague idea owls were much larger. I told him with growing astonishment that the saw-whet was that size and that these were saw-whets. There was no dissent on the part of either of the charming young people as they watched the birds gracefully crisscrossing the sky. I asked them if in earnestness they did not know what the birds were. They replied that when the birds came nearer they recognized them as owls. The birds were robin red-breasts. I was astounded.

They Didn't Know.

Thinking that this experience must be unusual, I have since asked many friends to identify birds. Invariably they did not know, were in error, or "guessed."

Just today another flock of robins swirled around my Georgia camp, and an intelligent man asked me what they were. Again I was suspicious and asked him if he did not know. He said he knew they were sparrows, but as there were so many kinds of sparrows he did not know which they were. When I told him they were robins he would not believe me until I got a glass that showed plainly their red breasts, and then he stubbornly contended that they were different from the robins he knew in the north, where, he said, they never went in flocks.

Now if there is such common ignorance of birds on the part of so many intelligent persons this alone is a reason why everyone in Michigan should join the lies spread before you once you become a devotee of the birds. And their values are not confined even to artistry of eye and ear and spirit. Concern for the welfare of the birds means a fresh conception of life. Everything in the universe captures and manifests life in its own way, whether it is human or animal, rose or rock. Neither you nor I can make the smallest bird! Only God can make a bird! Realize that and you will wish to study and protect them. It is a dear step farther to a desire to love and save all forms of life. When we come to have a proper comprehension of life values war will cease and murder will be no more heard of.

Approaches the Divine.

To love the birds is to be educated. To listen to their songs and understand their music is to come as near the presence of God as possible for a human being. Birds are in a class with mothers and babies, birdling and puppies and kittens and wondrous—I confess to liking all these things. In fact I like everything in the world and love all the people in it.

Thirty-Six Absent Ballots Are Issued

Thirty-six applications for absent voters' ballots was the total at the city clerk's office at noon yesterday. Of this number, 16 of the marked and sealed ballots were on file and 22 were still out in the mails. Absent voters, or those who expect to be absent from the city next Monday, may vote at the city clerk's office on mail at any time preceding the election.

PLOW TO MAKE SECOND TRIP

Gets Through to Bark River But Road Not Open for Autos.

Although the snow plow, working from Bark River to Powers got through its stretch of road last night, more work will be necessary before an automobile trail will be open. The plow will have to retrace its path and get a quantity of snow out of some of the cuts before motor vehicles can make the trip through from Bark River southward. Just how long that would take could not be determined. The battle has been a long and severe one and progress, due to the packed and ice-like condition of the drifts, has been very slow. The Delta county plow, which finished opening Round Bay county last night, now is working east from River towards Cooks.

Concrete Streets, like Concrete Roads, are built for permanence

Why Clare Paved with Portland Cement Concrete

When the business men of Clare, Michigan, decided it was time to pave the city's main thoroughfare, they wanted assured protection against costly repairs. They wanted a pavement that would remain true and even, firm and rigid under all kinds of traffic.

That's why they decided on portland cement concrete—the pavement you recognize by its non-skid surface and its pleasing, light gray color.

Tourists passing through Clare always praise its concrete pavement. Some day they will no doubt have the pleasure of driving on concrete over M-14, the heavily traveled highway leading to the famous summer resorts of the North Country.

Concrete on M-14 will mean a great deal to local prosperity in the years ahead. Don't just say "pave." Say "pave with portland cement concrete."

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Ford

When You Trade Your Car—

Ford owners are continually being approached by automobile salesmen who wish to "accept" Fords as part payment on more expensive cars.

It is perfectly logical that automobile dealers everywhere should be eager to trade with Ford owners. The Ford is the most popular automobile in the world. No other used car is so easy to sell as a used Ford — because everyone has confidence in Ford quality. And it is not expensive to re-condition, since Ford replacement parts are lowest in price.

Most automobiles carry greater discounts to dealers than the Ford—another reason why other dealers may offer the Ford owner a larger trade-in allowance.

But when you come to buy a new car, bear these facts in mind:

The amount of the trade-in allowance you can get is no the most important thing for you to consider. The big thing is the difference you have to pay. And remember, that the higher priced car will not be so easy to dispose of when you come to trade it in.

If you wish to trade your Ford for a new automobile, stick to the car that you know to be dependable, useful and economical. Go to your Ford dealer!

He will give you a fair and liberal allowance for your present Ford and will gladly arrange payment of the balance to suit your convenience.

When the deal is over, and you have your new and improved Ford, you will have the satisfaction of knowing positively that you took advantage of the greatest automobile value the world has ever seen — and saved a lot of money, too.

TRACK SEASON STARTING AT MANISTIQUE HI

Coach Bill Cook of Manistique high school has sent out a call for track men, and is gradually shaping a training program. More weight men are needed for field events, as there is a scarcity of entries in this department.

For the purpose of injecting competition into the training period, the track squad will be divided into two groups, one dubbed "The Army," and the other "The Navy." A large number of men have already joined the track crew, and a good team is in prospect.

Assisting Coach Cook in the training schedule is Louis Miller, a member of the Class of '26, who has been in track work all through his school career.

Saturday evening, April 3, is the date for the appearance in Manistique of the Alma College Glee club. The organization comes here under the auspices of the local Woman's club.

In addition to the quartet and ensemble numbers, the program will include selections by a flutist, a saxophone expert, and a clever chalk talker.

The performance is scheduled to start at 8:15 p. m., in the high school auditorium.

SALVATION ARMY PROGRAM ON THURSDAY

The Salvation Army officials have completed plans for a program which will be presented Thursday evening, April 1, in the Army hall, Delta avenue, for the benefit of foreign missions.

When your child has Croup

IN cases of spasmodic croup or kiddies' colds, the child's suffering and your anxiety will find quick relief through the soothing, healing, medicated vapors of Vicks VapoRub.

When Vicks is rubbed over throat and chest at bedtime it acts two ways at once:

(1) It is vaporized by the body heat and inhaled direct to the inflamed air passages and lungs, loosening the phlegm and easing the cough; and

(2) At the same time it warms and stimulates the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" the soreness and pain.

Colds are usually better by morning and croup is often relieved with one application.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT. For the first time in her screen career, Pola Negri plays a serious comedy role in a modern story with an American setting throughout. It is "A Woman of the World" and it opens at the Delft theatre today. The story is an adaptation of one of Carl Van Vechten's novels. The supporting cast includes Charles Emmett Mack, Holmes Herbert, Chester Conklin and Blanche McHaffey. The plot revolves around Pola who, as a European countess, comes to the small town of Maple Valley, Pa. to visit some distant relatives, and incidentally, forgets an unfortunate love affair. One need not be gifted with second sight to realize that Pola creates considerable of a commotion in the rural community and becomes the leading topic of conversation. Her experiences are many and varied. Complications are not slow in piling up. Two men, the district attorney and his assistant, fall in love with her, and the developments that follow are chock-full of drama and romantic thrill. Events reach a sensational climax when the district attorney, mad with jealousy, accuses Pola of improper conduct and urges the council to drive her out of town. To avenge this insult to her reputation, Pola publicly horsewhips her accuser. The ending is a surprise but satisfyingly happy. AT THE STRAND. "Ramsack's House," starring Betty Compson, will be seen at the Strand theatre today and tomorrow. There is an abundance of thrills in this picture. Among them is a rescue from a giant alligator in the treacherous Everglades. This was done by a real Seminole Indian said to be the first one who has ever appeared before a motion picture camera. The climax of the film is as unusual as it is hair-raising. To tell it would be to spoil the fun. Miss Compson is ably supported by a worthy cast which includes Robert Lowing as the masculine lead, John Davidson as the arch-villain, William Black, Duke Peizer, Henry James and Josephine Norman. To Harmon Weight is due credit for the splendid direction.

Seminarians to Assist in Holy Week Services

Seminarians of the diocese of Marquette will be guests of Rt. Rev. Bishop Paul Joseph Nussbaum D. D. at Marquette this week and will take part in the Holy Week services which will be conducted at St. Peter's Cathedral. The chanting of the office or "Tenebrae" will be part of the solemn program. The young men who are studying for the priesthood at the various seminaries will take part in this beautiful ceremony. Each one carries a diamond shaped candelabra on which are thirteen candles and after the chanting of each psalm a candle is extinguished, commemorating the manner in which the disciples left our Lord. Among the local young men who will participate are Raymond Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford, Matt Laviolette, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Laviolette and Vernon Giguere, son of Mrs. Dell Giguere.

Mrs. Maude Prince Succeeds Husband to County Office

Menominee, Mar. 30—(P)—Mrs. Maude Prince, widow of George C. Prince, Menominee county treasurer, will fill her late husband's unexpired term in the county building. It was announced yesterday. Mrs. Prince, under the appointment, will hold the office until December 31 of this year. The appointment was made under the statute which provides for the filling of such a vacancy by the judge of probate, the county clerk and the prosecuting attorney. There were many applications received by the officers designated to make the appointment, but they considered Mrs. Prince the best qualified to take over the office of her deceased husband and fill the term for which he had been elected. Mrs. Prince is a sister of Mrs. Charles E. Lewis of Escanaba. Mrs. Jerry Lancour of Perkins is spending a few days visiting in the city.

To the Voters of the City of Escanaba

In presenting myself as a candidate for Councilman at the election to be held Monday, April 5th, 1926, I realize that I am offering to render service to and make sacrifices for the City of Escanaba. Hitherto it has not seemed necessary to solicit votes for such a candidacy, but recently I have heard that this attitude might be due to indifference. Such is not the case as I have always been a booster for the council-manager form of government and have always taken a keen interest in civic affairs. My whole attitude in agreeing to become a candidate, was that while I felt that we had done well in the past, that there were still many opportunities for improvement and that it was my duty as a citizen to serve if called upon by the voters of the City. My platform can be expressed very simply as an aggressive stand for industrial expansion which would produce good wages; good wages produce good homes and good business; the latter induces new buildings provided the tax are kept at the lowest rate consistent with essential civic progress. I would also encourage the development of the wonderful recreational possibilities of our City, not only for the benefit of the citizen but as a real asset to the City financially. Assuring the voters of my purpose to serve the City, faithfully, if elected, I am, Sincerely, A. S. KITCHEN. (Political Advertisement)
