ATTIC SECRETES HUMAN SKULLS

Children Make Discovery While Playing in Home.

Royal Oak, Mich., Feb. 11—(AP)—Four skulls, believed to be those of women, together with a braid of blond hair, clotted with blood, were found in a trunk, by children of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, at their home here tonight.

A number of clippings from Pittsburgh newspapers referring to women prominent in society there, all of which had telephone numbers penciled on them, and a notebook containing addresses of Cleveland and Detroit women, were also found in the trunk.

Police immediately launched a nation-wide search for James N. Coyner, negro World war veteran, who was said to have occupied the house up until two years ago.

Coyner, who was a mechanic, was employed at a local automobile factory during his occupancy of the house, police were told.

Police are working on two theories, the first that the women were slain and their skulls secreted in the trunk, and the second that the skulls were removed from graves.

One of the skulls, police said, was wrapped in a 1920 issue of the Pittsburgh Sun and another in a 1921 issue of the Pittsburgh Post.

Discover Clipping. Police later found a clipping from a Detroit paper in the attic of the house, giving an account of the Oasian B. Sweet trial here last year.

The police refused to give out the list of names of Pittsburgh and Cleveland women found in the trunk, pending an official check with authorities of those cities.

PROSPECTS OF NAVAL PARLEY SEEM BRIGHT

Pending word from some official quarter as to how the four other Washington treaty powers may react to the American suggestions, made public yesterday, officials here declined to comment upon the first reports of editorial reception of the plan in London, Paris, Rome or Tokyo.

Heretofore, the French delegates at the Geneva conference have consistently maintained that disarmament programs could be based only upon formulae so complete as to include both land, air and sea forces and that even such questions as protection, man power and economic resources of each country must be considered in their relation to armament questions.

Unless the French government is willing now to undertake the more limited negotiations, President Coolidge has suggested, modifying the position its delegates maintained at Geneva to that extent, admittedly no supplemental five power conference to fix tonnage for auxiliary naval craft would be possible.

League Stand Stronger. Geneva, Feb. 11—(AP)—Belief that President Coolidge's proposals for further reduction in naval armaments has strengthened, rather than weakened the position of the League of Nations on the disarmament problem, was expressed in league circles today.

Profound satisfaction with the president's proposals was voiced tonight by the secretariat of the league immediately after the complete text of the American note became available and served to dispel misunderstandings concerning the exact purport of the proposition.

Far from being designed as it had been hinted in some quarters as a torpedo against an eventual conference on the reduction of armament, league officials expressed the opinion that the American document effectively destroyed the fear of a separate conference, because it specifically links any special naval accord with the general Geneva parley.

President Coolidge now has definitely removed the naval conference from Washington to Geneva.

THE DAY IN WASHINGTON

The milk importation bill was sent to the White House. Muscle Shoals bids were adversely reported by the house military sub-committee.

Authority to control the Erie and Pere Marquette was sought by the Chesapeake and Ohio. President Coolidge's disarmament proposal appeared to have been favorably received abroad.

Speaker Longworth promised to aid in bringing the Boulder Canyon dam bill to a vote in the house. The house judiciary committee was directed to continue its investigation of charges against Judge Cooper of New York.

GRAND JURY OF 1 MAN CALLED

Jackson, Feb. 11—(AP)—Another grand jury has been called in Jackson county, the fourth in recent years. It is again a one man grand jury, being held before Police Judge Owen Dudley.

Although procedure of the one man grand jury is, according to law, in strict secrecy, it is thought that the John Doe investigation which was called by Judge Dudley on complaint of Prosecuting Attorney Harry Barnard will further delve into certain violations of the prohibition and other laws, alleged to have occurred in this county during the past three years.

The first arrest in connection with the present investigation was made Thursday when former Under Sheriff Leonard B. Snyder was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with breaking the dry law on two counts—possession and sale.

Investigation of reported law violations has been carried on for some time, as rumors have been current that certain former law enforcement officers were not above suspicion in this respect. County, state and federal officers have been cooperating in the investigation, one of the preliminary steps having been the arrest of Joseph Rackley on a charge of taking a stolen auto from one state to another contrary to the Dyer federal act.

A whale was shipped through there once, old timers say, and spit cotton every foot of the way.

The other brothers, Ray and Roy, twin, aged 35, are still at large. The search has been worldwide, the postoffice department having broadcast circulars giving minute descriptions of the men.

Blow Up Train. The crime charged against the de Antolmont brothers is that they blew up a Southern Pacific railway train on October 11, 1923, near Siskiyou, Ore., killing the mail clerk, whose body was burned, and shooting and killing three trainmen.

Rewards totalling $15,900 were offered for their arrest. In its search for the three brothers, the postoffice department recently advised postmasters and others that the many reports of their capture which had proved false should not cause any relaxation of the efforts to bring the men to justice.

OUR IMPROVED DIET.

With the modern development of refrigerator and cold storage freight cars and other means of transporting milk, fresh fruit and vegetables, the average American family is living on a finer diet, from the standpoint of health, than ever before.

Within the memory of middle aged persons of today the average American diet was a sorry one consisting of pork and potatoes in the winter time and potatoes and bread and gravy in the summer time, with an occasional salad or dish of stewed fruit making its appearance from time to time.

The perfection of cold storage methods made it possible to keep many things of a seasonal nature so as to supply a steady all-year demand. This was the first step toward a better diet for the American family.

Further development of freight cars and steamships has resulted in the supplying of the finest fruits and vegetables all over the land. The amount of meat consumed in the United States is enormous, but in the last few years the quantity of fruits and vegetables consumed has taken an upward turn that has the supremacy of meat as the main article of the American menu in last being threatened.

With the development of new vehicles for shipment, there came development of new methods of shipping, until today these perishable articles of food are transported great distances and arrive on the dinner table in the finest condition, a tribute to the program of cooperation between grower, shipper and the railroads.

The people of Escanaba are proud to welcome to their city and their homes this splendid group of upstanding young men. It is the united hope of Escanaba that your visit here will prove both pleasing and profitable.

THE LESSER LINCOLN.
A million men have spoken praise.
A thousand written rimes.
For so a monument we raise
To those of other times.
But, Lincoln, in the midst of men,
I think you longed for someone then
To speak approval, when mankind
Only some falling seemed to find
And lesser Lincoln-overs now
May seek the common good,
With hearts like yours, and yet, somehow,
As much misunderstood.
Some lesser Lincoln now may stand,
A rock amid the shifting sand,
That other ages may commend,
But now that no one dare defend.

TODAY IS the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The entrepreneur and proprietor of this column desires publicly to admit that he did not help Honest Abe split rails, did not sit as a juror in a lawsuit in which Abe was an attorney, and did not hear one of Abe's debates with Douglas. We doubt whether any other person, now living, who resided in Macou County, Illinois, prior to January 1, 1900, would make such an admission.

A New York investment banker testified that the deluge of "Tin Lizzie" jokes which drenched the country a few years ago, was worth millions to Henry the Ford. We surmise, however, it would have been somewhat difficult for Henry to negotiate a loan with only a couple of new jokes as collateral.

CHAPTER XIX
Robin Sears adored his father, and he knew every expression of that well-loved face, every tell-tale motion or gesture of that familiar personality, and he saw that for some reason or another his dad was very much upset.

"What the dickens ails him?" Young Robin put the question to himself. "Surely he isn't going to get mixed up in that auction business, if that nice Meeker person was right there with him all the time."

Coroner Hubbard proceeded with his questioning, and though he called on everybody he could hear of or learn of who might be of any use, he discovered practically nothing of importance. Nothing that would offer a direction in which to look for the murderer of Garrett Polson.

He had no wish to adjourn the inquest, for he thought it more than doubtful if any further evidence ever came to light. He was sure that the murderer had laid his plans too well and covered his tracks too carefully to leave any clue that a detective might take hold upon.

So he turned the case over to the jury, and they made short work of their decision. Their verdict was that Garrett Polson was wilfully murdered by an unknown hand, and that the weapon used was probably the snipe dagger that had been found in the ocean after the crime had been committed.

No one was surprised at this verdict, for no one had expected anything different. Anastasia Polson seemed in no way disturbed or disappointed, and her first remark, as the audience filed out, was to the effect that now they could get at the real work.

"First," she said, turning to the detective, Jepson, "first I shall arrange for my brother's funeral." "You—you will take him to Chicago?" he asked, not at all unwilling to see the last of this uncomfortable woman.

"By no means. I expect my nephew tonight or tomorrow. Then we shall have a small and informal service in the funeral chapel here. My brother's remains will be sent to Chicago, but I stay here until I have either discovered the criminal or until I have concluded that I cannot accomplish that end."

"Yes, ma'am," Jepson acquiesced. Miss Anastasia Polson was as good as her word. She at once set about investigating the mystery of her brother's death and she chose her own manner of procedure. Her first step was to demand an interview with Manager Pelham, of the hotel.

She summoned him to her apartment, which was, of course, the suite her brother had occupied. "Mr. Pelham," she began in her dominating way, "you are in duty bound to help me in any way you can in the work I am now undertaking. I propose to discover and bring to justice the man who killed my brother, and I am assuming that you will lend me all-possible assistance."

"Miss Polson," the manager began, and some sort of clairvoyance told her what he was about to say. "There's no use telling me," she said sharply, "that you prefer to hush it all up. That it is not good for your hotel business to keep up an investigation; that your guests object to hearing the subject mentioned, and all that. I am here and here to stay, until I have solved the problem or feel obliged to give it up. If you make any difficulty for me, or in any way hinder my progress, I shall accuse you of obstructing the processes of the law, and you may find yourself in serious trouble. I also expect the assistance of your hotel detective, Mr. Dixon, and what is more, I expect him to work under my supervision and obey my instructions."

"I understand, Miss Polson, and while I see your position and sympathize with your endeavor, I hope and trust you can achieve your purpose speedily, for as you rightly assumed, it is not at all pleasant for my guests to have this investigation going on."

"They need know little about it. I don't propose to shout from the housetops the progress that I make. I shall observe proper decorum, even secrecy, but I am telling you all this in order that you may not raise objections should I find it necessary to question certain of your employes or even your guests."

Pelham signed. He prided himself on always putting the well-

Were a football team today equipped with the uniforms worn by players 15 years ago, the members would be literally hacked to pieces, began an article descriptive of football uniforms in the 1892 season.
The main feature of the 1892 season's uniform was the heavily padded shirts and trousers, designed to meet the rushing aspects of the game at that time. These garments were made of heavy canvas and were heavily padded at the hips and shoulders.
The headgear had not then been devised, and to afford some head protection, the players did not have a haircut from the beginning of the season until the end. While such a condition did not improve their appearance, it was commented, some measure of protection was afforded. Caps had been worn for a while, but the difficulty of keeping them on the head had prohibited their use. Players had one problem they were unable to meet—how to protect their ears. Cauliflower ears were as common in those days among football players as they are now among prizefighters.

The nose guard had recently been devised, and was accepted as a wonderful invention. These were the days of the "rush," and the nose was with the ears, a frequent sufferer in the fray.
Another recently innovated protection was the shin guard, similar to the one now worn by baseball catchers. It was said that this slowed up the players considerably, but since speed had been nearly eliminated as a necessity for a good football player, this did not matter greatly.

CAPT. JERNBERG TO LEAVE CITY

Salvation Army Leader Will Be Assigned to New Post.

Capt. Olive Jernberg, who for several years has been head of the Salvation Army here, will be transferred to some other point in the immediate future. Her successor in the Escanaba field, Capt. Lydia Strand, is expected to arrive in this city today. Captain Jernberg, it is understood, will report to division headquarters in Chicago, for assignment. No official announcement was made and the captain, herself, may not know definitely until she arrives in Chicago, but there were reports that her new post would be in Nebraska or Kansas.

Captain Jernberg, through her personality and energy, has lifted the Salvation Army here from a weak and little-noticed organization to an active and highly valuable one. Since her arrival, the Army's financial affairs have been put on a business-like basis, an advisory committee of business and professional men organized, and the co-operation of other groups doing social work enlisted to avoid duplication.

On two previous occasions, the advisory committee has objected, so strenuously to Captain Jernberg's removal from Escanaba, that the high officers of the corps area, in spite of precedents and regulations, consented to reconsider and permit her to remain. Last year, however, it was emphasized that, in justice to the Army and to Captain Jernberg, her stay here would soon have to be terminated.

The new assignment will constitute a material promotion for Captain Jernberg. It is understood. This advance she has earned on the record she has established in Escanaba.

Her successor, Captain Strand, is highly praised by her superiors, as an efficient religious and social worker.

Snow Won't Prevent Visitors from Using Municipal Ice Rink

School boy volunteers will be on hand, armed with shovels, this morning, if there is a covering of snow on the municipal ice rink. This was announced last night when the weather looked threatening. Consequently, out-of-town boys desire to skate this afternoon will have the opportunity.

Boys who already volunteered and all others who desire to do so, will report at the rink at 8 o'clock this morning if there is snow.

Owners of toboggans also are asked to take the "sleighs" to the municipal slide at the foot of Ludington street at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

BEATS RETREAT

Bullets of Portuguese rebels drove Minister Fred M. Deering from the U. S. legation at Lisbon, Portugal, Deering has reported to the State Department. Rifle and machine gun fire, aimed at Portuguese government forces, hit the legation instead.

English Policy on China Is Unchanged

London, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The house of commons tonight rejected a labor amendment to the address from the throne, moved by Charles P. Trevelyan, challenging the government's policy in China. The vote was 329 to 113.

Sir Austen Chamberlain gave an important explanation of the government's policy, which included a concession that for the sake of advancing negotiations looking to a settlement of the difficulty, only an Indian brigade would be landed at Shanghai unless unforeseen dangers arose.

The sting was taken out of the labor attack by Sir Austen's announcement concerning the troops. Ramsay MacDonald, the opposition leader, sought to defend labor's attitude. He contended that the government policy of defense was bound to end in an offensive, but he recognized the importance of the foreign secretary's speech and hoped that its effect would be duly weighed at Hankow.

He can put pep in the egg of a sea animal, but it's the cold storage variety that keeps us guessing.

Big dance at North Star hall. Music by Lundin's Orchestra. Everybody come. Good music. lots of pep.—Adv.

BRIEFLY TOLD

North Star Dance—Lundin's orchestra will furnish the music for a dance at the North Star hall tonight. A large crowd is expected as excellent music is assured.

Welcome Meeting—Capt. Lydia Strand, formerly stationed in Minneapolis, now successor to Capt. Olive Jernberg as head of the Salvation Army in Escanaba, will hold a welcome meeting in the Salvation Army hall Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Captain Strand has been a successful officer in places where she was stationed previously, and it is expected she will be highly instrumental in pushing the work in Escanaba.

Bake Sale Today—The Ladies' Aid of the Norwegian-Danish Lutheran church will hold a pantry sale in the Scandia Co-operative store, 1210 Ludington street, beginning at 9:30 o'clock this morning. A large assortment of home-baked goods will be offered.

To Preach in Ishpeming: The Rev. John Hugo, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church, will occupy the pulpit in the church of that denomination in Ishpeming next Sunday. The Ishpeming church is at present without a pastor.

St. Stephen's Church—St. Stephen's Sunday school will meet jointly with the church service at 10:45 Sunday morning. It will not be necessary for the members of the Sunday school to come at the usual hour, 9:45, but rather, they should accompany their parents. The kindergarten department will meet as usual at the rectory at 10:45. The idea proposed by the superintendent of the Sunday school and the rector is that the religious life of the past should be recalled when whole families and their guests were present in church worship.

SON Operated On—Word was received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Corbeau of this city that their son, Henry, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Milwaukee yesterday morning. He is improving as well as can be expected.

Dust we are, but to judge by all the swimming nowadays, it looks as if we're returning to the water.

Elks Inspected by High Officer; Hold Dinner, Initiation

Thor Orem, of Ishpeming, deputy grand exalted ruler of the Delta hotel. Then the party was transferred to the Elks' club where the initiation ceremonies took place. This was followed by an hour's entertainment in which the "Ten China Rosebuds," who had been playing the Delta theatre, were featured.

The affair was a most enjoyable one for all of those in the large crowd which attended.

A new dance in Chicago is called the "D. T.'s". It's a kind of a polka.

TABLET FOR NUN.

Mexico City—A bronze tablet was unveiled recently in the village of San Miguel de Napantla in honor of Sister Juana Ines de la Cruz. The sister was known as "the tenth Muse" because of her poetic writings in both Latin and Spanish. Among her works was "La Inconsecuencia de los hombres" (The Inconsequence of Men), which critics have called one of the greatest poems ever written by a woman.

Abraham Lincoln

1809--1865

UNFLINCHING, he kept the helm while those he trusted best failed him. Farsseeing, he looked beyond the issues of the day; when others cried for ruthless conquest and subjection, he labored for the day that would see North and South united again. His goal achieved, he died upon the threshold of his glory. But the lessons he taught us guide us today, and Abraham Lincoln belongs to all mankind.

MARKET NEWS

UPWARD PRICE TREND CHECKED

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Twenty Twenty Date Industrials Railroads Friday 146.84 132.69 Thursday 146.79 132.21 Week ago 145.14 130.77 Year ago 146.84 132.69 High 1927 141.23 125.55 Low 1927 141.23 125.55 Total stock sales 1,891,200 shares.

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—Heavy week-end realizing sales slowed down the upward movement of prices in today's stock market, but not until after more than a score of issues had been elevated to the highest prices in years. Speculative interest, which had shifted from the rails to the industrials yesterday, was fairly evenly divided in today's session, total sales again running close to two million shares.

Money rates continued relatively easy, and the weak clearing house statement, published today because of the holiday tomorrow, showed a substantial improvement in the reserve position. The weekly mercantile reviews reported a further quickening in activity, but the trend of prices is still downward.

Harvester is Leader. International Harvester superceded Baldwin as the leader in the industrial division, soaring over 6 points to a new record high at 156 1/2, and closing near the top. General Motors made a curious response to the raising of the annual dividend from $7 to $8, opening fractionally lower, suddenly climbing over 3 points and then losing half its gain, closing at 156 1/2.

Both the rail and industrial averages reached new high ground for the year. New Haven was the outstanding individual feature in the railroad group, running up nearly 4 points to 54 1/2, the highest price since 1916. Substantial gains also were recorded by New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money was on a flat 4 1/2 per cent basis, instead of 4 1/4 to 4 1/2. Prime commercial paper rates were unchanged at 4 to 4 1/4.

The principal commodity markets were practically unchanged after a day of quiet trading. Foreign exchanges moved with demand sterling ruling around $4.84 1/2-16, and French francs around 3.82 1/2 cents.

The weekly clearing house statement showed excess reserve of $23,327,990, an increase of $19,928,020 above that of last week. Aggregate reserve was given as $614,351,000. The detailed statement of actual conditions this day showed mixed changes. Loans, discounts and investments dropped $7,996,000, net demand deposits, $1,181,000, and time deposits, $1,885,000. Cash in own vaults increased $7,742,000 and reserve in the Federal Reserve bank of member banks gained $19,528,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Nearly as motionless as the traditional painted ship on a painted ocean, the wheat market today devoted itself chiefly to pre-holiday adjustment of accounts. With all United States exchanges closed tomorrow, few traders cared to take on any immediate bow risks, looking either toward higher or lower prices. Wheat finished easy, unchanged 1/4 down, corn unchanged to half up, oats unchanged to 1/8 advance, and provisions varying from 15 decline to a rise of two cents.

CHICAGO BUTTER.

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Butter today ruled steady to firm with supplies comparatively light but sufficient to supply the demand. Buyers were limiting purchases to immediate needs and trade generally was quiet. Lower grades were closely cleaned up, and ruled firm. The centralized car market was about steady with trade slow. Supplies of fancy cars were limited, and buyers were not showing much interest in ordinary quality goods.

CHICAGO POTATOES.

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Potatoes receipts, 54 cars; on track, 193. total United States shipments, 787 cars; supplies liberal; demand and trading slow, market dull. Wisconsin sacked round whites, No. 1, $1.90 at $2.10; mostly around $2.00; partly graded, $1.75 at $1.90; Idaho sacked russets No. 1, $2.60 at $2.85; mostly $2.70 at $2.75; commercial pack, $2.40 at $2.60.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK.

LARVAE OF CORN BORER DESTROYS THE CORN PLANTS

By NEA Service. Columbus, O.—The European corn borer, now a permanent and uninvited guest on many American farms, is a small insect a little more than one inch long when mature. Officials of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, who believe that the corn borer will never be eradicated, have made a careful study of this little insect. Their investigation shows that the corn borer originally came from Europe and is thought to have entered Canada in 1910. It was first discovered in the United States in 1916 and has since spread rapidly. Insect's Life Cycle: "The corn borer passes through four distinct stages, egg, larva, pupa and adult," according to the investigators' records. "The eggs hatch in four to six days and the young larvae, which at first feed on leaves, soon enter the stalks where they remain for the next 10 or 11 months. "The following June these full grown larvae, which have passed the winter in the stalks, transform into small, brown, shuttle-shaped objects known as the pupae. After spending about two weeks in the pupal stage, adult moths emerge ready to deposit their eggs on the new crop of corn. "It is as a larva that the insect tunnels up and down the stalk or into the ear of corn, causing damage. Borer Spreads Rapidly. "The corn borer spreads usually by the flight of the moths. However, larvae may be transported in the corn stalks as they are taken from one district to another. "The usual method of control is to cut the corn stalks low and plow under the stubble. When infested stalks are plowed under the borers always come to the surface where they die if they are unable to find shelter. HUSKIES WAKE 'EM. Nome, Alaska—Huskies are the alarm clocks of the north. The dissonant serenade of the husky hosts in early morning would waken King Tut himself, according to visitors here, who recently heard the huskies howl for the first time. The dog choruses of early mornings is one reason why the people of the Arctic countries are not late sleepers. Perhaps he could devise a way to protect life from some of the land urchins, notably along the northern shore of Lake Michigan.

Menus for Family

- BY SISTER MARY. Breakfast—Halves of grapefruit cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon, potato omelet, whole wheat pop-overs, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Scalloped flann-haddie, graham bread, chimes cabbage with Thousand Island dressing, lemon jelly with whipped cream, milk, tea. Dinner—Veal stew, steamed kale in lemon butter, fruit salad, cheese straws, whole wheat pop-overs, milk, coffee. Since rice is included in the meal other "starchy vegetable" is suggested. The fruit salad served with cheese straws takes the place of a dessert although a light custard dessert of some sort may be added if wanted. The meat course is rather light so the more protein calories are needed, the custard will make up the deficiency. Scalloped Flann-haddie. One pound flann-haddie, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 cups boiled macaroni. Let fish stand in cold water for one hour. Drain and pour over boiling water to color. Simmer 20 minutes and remove skin and bones. Melt butter and stir in flour. When perfectly smooth add tomatoes which have been rubbed through a sieve to remove seeds. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Put a layer of macaroni in a buttered baking dish, add a layer of fish and pour over part of tomato sauce. Continue layer for layer of macaroni, fish and sauce until all is used. Sprinkle top with coarse crumbs, dot with bits of butter and put into a hot oven to brown and become very hot. Serve from the baking dish. Breakfast—Halves of oranges, cereal, thin cream, creamed eggs on toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Scalloped noodles and ham, steamed spinach, rye bread, grape juice, bavarian cream, milk, tea. Dinner—Chili con carne, cabbage-apple-celery nut salad, whole wheat rolls, canned white cherries, coconut cake, milk, coffee. Scalloped Noodles and Ham. 1 1/2 cups noodles, 1 to 2 cups chopped cooked ham, 1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 4 tablespoons bread crumbs, 1 tbsp butter. Boil noodles for 15 minutes in beef or chicken stock or boiling salted water. Put a generous layer of cooked noodles in a well-buttered baking dish. Cover with a layer of ham and sprinkle with parsley. Continue layer for layer, making 2 layers of ham and 3 of noodles and sprinkling each layer of ham with parsley. Add milk and cover with crumbs. Dot with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes. Breakfast—Grape juice, cereal, thin cream, scrambled eggs with tomatoes, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee. Luncheon—Fish timbales, lettuce sandwiches, molasses cookies, milk, tea. Dinner—Beef a la mode, rice, potatoes, creamed cauliflower, stuffed potato salad, whole wheat rolls, cream puffs, milk, coffee. The fish timbales are planned to use up any fish that may have been left from dinner the night before. However, if left-over fish is not at hand any canned fish may be used to advantage. Fish Timbales. 1 cup cold flaked fish, 2 tbsps potatoes, Melt butter, add bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 2-3 cup milk, 1 tbsps lemon juice, 1 egg, salt and pepper. Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Add fish.

which has been marinating in lemon juice while making the paste. Season with salt and pepper and add egg well beaten with 1 tbsp cold water. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Turn into buttered individual molds making them about 2-3 full of the mixture. Place in a pan of hot water, cover with heavy buttered paper and bake 20 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Remove from molds and serve surrounded by egg sauce, creamed celery or tomato sauce.

Breakfast—Sliced bananas, ready to serve cereal, thin cream, eggs poached in milk on toast, water cream, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Corn chowder, toasted crackers, raisin and orange salad, graham rolls, rice soufflé, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed sparrows, southern stewed potatoes, combination vegetable salad, apple pie de luxe, brown bread, milk, coffee.

"When the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen," goes the old rhyme, so it's up to the cook to serve steaming hot chowders and savory roasts to combat the cold days. The dinner menu suggested is ideal for a cold February evening. The salad is snappy and crisp and the pie is spicy and fragrant—both quite perfect to serve after sparrows.

Stuffed Sparrows.
2 or 3 pounds sparrows, 2 cups stale bread crumbs, 2-4 cup minced onion, 1-4 cup minced celery leaves, 1 tart apple, salt and pepper, 2 tbsps melted butter, hot milk.

Wipe meat with a cloth dipped in cold water, trim off excess fat and crack the bones across into serving lengths. Fill with the stuffing and bring the edges together and tie firmly with strong cord. Rub with 2 tbsps flour sifted with 2 tps salt and 1-4 tsp pepper. Place in roaster and add 1-2 cup boiling water. Roast in a hot oven for 2 hours.

To make the stuffing, pare, core and mince apple. Combine crumbs, onion, celery, apple, salt and pepper and melted butter. Add enough hot milk to make moist.

To serve remove cord before sending to the table. Cut between ribs and serve a slice of the forcemeat surrounded by the rib.

Breakfast—Cereal cooked with raisins, thin cream, apple sauce, country sausage, buckwheat pan cakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Tomatoes a la king hot buttered toast, celery hearts, ring of prunes with whipped cream, milk, tea.

Dinner—Roast chicken, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, corn soufflé, salad chiffonade, vanilla ice cream with caramel sauce, mock angel food cake, whole wheat rolls, milk, coffee.

Tomatoes a la king are out of the ordinary and very good. They offer a suggestion for your evening bridge club supper.

Tomatoes a la King.
1-2 lb fresh mushrooms, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1 1/2 cups milk, 2 tbsps butter, 2 tbsps flour, 1 canned pimento, 1-4 tsp salt, 1-8 tsp pepper, 2 ripe tomatoes.

squares toast.

Peel and slice mushrooms. Melt 1 tablespoon butter, add mushrooms, sprinkle with salt and cook covered for 15 minutes. In the meantime, melt remaining butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add to mushrooms. Add eggs cut in slices, pimento cut in thin strips, salt and pepper. Heat over hot water. Pare tomatoes and cut in thin slices. Dip each slice in a well-seasoned French dressing. Put a slice of tomato on each piece of toast, pour over sauce and serve at once. Garnish with a sprig of parsley or water cress.

SHE REMEMBERS.
Rock Hill, S. C.—Miss Mollie Mason recently celebrated her 50th year of teaching. She is believed to be the oldest art teacher in the country in point of service. Miss Mason remembers the burning of Columbia, S. C., during the Civil war. She was born at Wetumpka, Ala.

TOMB IS FOUND.
Birmingham, Ala.—Buried under a heap of forest leaves and forgotten for almost a century, the tomb of John Hutchings was found near here recently. Hutchings was a friend of President Andrew Jackson, the two men seeing service in the Creek war together.

A New York woman left $10,000 to her eight cats. Since they are only cats probably there'll be no fight about the will.

TO REORGANIZE FIRE FIGHTERS

Changes in State Forces Are Announced; Ten New Towers.

Reorganization of the state forest fire fighting organization will be under way not later than February 15, according to C. A. Peterson, chief fire warden, of Lansing, who with J. A. Vienza, of Munising, assistant chief, is conferring with district fire wardens in the peninsula.

"Professor Young, new conservation director, believes that more can be done for game and fish conservation along the line of fire control, than by any added force of enforcement officers," Mr. Peterson said, "and it is acting under that belief that we are reorganizing the fire control system."

If the request for a larger budget is approved, about twenty more special fire wardens will be added to the force, he said, and a large amount of extra equipment will be provided.

Erect Ten Towers.

Plans are being made for the erection of ten new towers of the closed type, which will be from 75 to 100 feet high. Ten of the old open type will also be replaced by closed towers.

Two trucks will be tried out for the first time this year, one in each peninsula, he said. They will be on call for emergencies in any district. Besides the regular equipment of axes, spades, etc., they will carry 300 gallons of water for use with the hand pumps, of which eight will be provided, and gas pumps with 1,500 feet of hose for use where water in streams and lakes is available.

Telephone lines linking the new towers, to the extent of 85 miles, will be added to the lines already in operation with the fire control department.

Provide Tractors.

Tractors with plows, discs and other equipment, to the extent of half a dozen, may be tried in the upper peninsula this year, also, he said. They were very successful in laying down fire lines in the lower peninsula last year.

A large per cent of the fires last year were under five acres in extent, he declared, due to the greater vigilance on the part of the watchers, and a better appreciation of the significance of the small fire. Although the first part of the season was as hazardous as any we have had, the last was very favorable to fire control, he said.

The state is divided into 20 districts, of which 15 are active as far as fire organization is concerned. The total number of men regularly employed by the state for the purpose of controlling fires is 1,050 including key men. About 100 ad-

Epworth League Will Entertain Conference Boys

The Epworth League of the First Methodist church will entertain Methodist boys here for the conference, at a social hour and lunch in the church parlors at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening. It has been announced.

Rev. Frank Harley of St. Ignace will occupy the First Methodist church pulpit Sunday morning, and Rev. W. Leslie Williams of Stephenson will preach in the same church Sunday night.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Surrounded by a highly capable cast, Thomas Meighan is now featured at the Delft, in a cinema adapted by Arthur Stringer from W. Somerset Maugham's play, "The Canadian," and directed by William Beaudine.

Frank Taylor, having failed to harvest his crop the year before, is shown working for his friend, Ed Marsh. To disturb an otherwise normal existence, Nora Marsh reaches her brother's ranch after having lived most of her twenty years within the confines of London.

Needless to say, the temperaments of Nora and her brother's crude wife clash, and hearing that Taylor wants a wife who will work, she asks if she'll do. Here is where drama of the most poignant sort creeps in and it is in these scenes that Meighan's artistry is said to rise to the very heights.

AT THE STRAND.

A story of real thoroughbreds, both human and horse, is "Racing Blood," which will be seen again today at the Strand.

The spirit of irrepressible youth which will not admit defeat under the most adverse circumstances, pervades the picture. It tells of a youth who spends his last dollar to buy a horse at auction only to discover that he has purchased a blue-blooded racer which enters into a big race and wins a fortune.

Robert Agnew is the boy and of course there is a girl in the case, the same being Anne Corn-

Two Birthday Parties.

Miss Adrienne Tounsgnant was the guest of honor at two surprise parties tendered her on the occasion of her birthday anniversary which occurred Wednesday. In the evening a number of friends called at her home and played bunco and other games. Miss Margaret Morrison was awarded the prize for high score in bunco.

On Thursday evening, another group of friends came to her home and they also enjoyed an evening of games, bunco being featured, with prizes awarded to Miss Edna Coulhan first, and Miss Myrtle Roy consolation.

Delicious lunches were served at both parties and Miss Tounsgnant was the recipient of many pretty gifts.

Ward-Jensen.

A quiet wedding ceremony took place at the parsonage of the Swedish Methodist church Saturday, February 5, at high noon when Miss Thelma Mae Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ward, 20 Collins street, Tourville, N. Y., and Clarence D. Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jensen, 613 North Nineteenth street, of this city, were united in marriage by Rev. O. R. Palm, pastor.

The couple were attended by Miss Beatrice Bernier and Charles Gafner, friends of the couple. The bride wore a dress of royal blue silk crepe, trimmed with tan color silk. The bridesmaid wore a dress of light blue velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen left later in the day for a trip to Syracuse, N. Y. They will make their home in this city. Mr. Jensen is an employe of the C. & N. W. Ry. Co.

REALLY SERIOUS.

"What ails Jones these days?" "His wife's insomnia, his daughter's nerves, his son's headaches and his father's rheumatism."—Judge.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 11.—Somewhere just upstairs is death! From the inside of an open stairway a wind-whipped streamer of crepe slaps a black end out into the typical Manhattan sidewalk through as it bustles along Eighth avenue.

There is not even a door on which to place the crepe. It cannot be hung outside the doorway because of the signs. There is a printer's sign and a poolroom sign and a coffee shop sign one above the other. So the crepe had to be placed just above the first step of the stairway.

Overhead there is a huge electric sign of print shop and poolroom. On one side of the open stairway is a bar-rail restaurant, on the other a dingy coffee shop. On the second floor are the huge windows of the print shop. And on the two top floors are transient rooms.

There are no curtains at the window. None is needed. The dust and dirt of the street have coated them so heavily they no longer are transparent.

And dirt and curtains make little difference. The rooms are transient. No one stays long. One can get a room for 50 cents, perhaps. Those whose heels have been completely run down by the city and whose shoe soles are gone drift in here out of the night.

One such has died. But who cared enough to make the gesture of crepe upon the open stairway?

They are building a subway just outside the doorway. The neck of a giant crane swings over and seems to peer into one of the upper windows as though to solve the death mystery.

Workers at noon hour sit in the doorway and the wind flicks the crepe in their faces. They shove it away without noticing.

Hundreds, thousands, now tens of thousands pass and none notices.

Mid-Manhattan cannot stop to notice such things.

Yet somebody knew, or else there would be no crepe; nothing but the Potter's field.

Yet I remember last summer, when the windows of these barren rooms opened and one could see inside, that two old ladies seemed to share one of the dismal, barren rooms.

I remember going to the office window and staring across the street at the muddled bed and bare walls and marveling at the suggestion of complete desolation and loneliness. Rather, said I, would I be alone upon a desert than caught thus mid millions. I remember one afternoon seeing a scraggly geranium placed in the window to catch dust and dirt.

I wondered what the two old women were doing here. I wonder now if they have lived here all this time through the summer and into the winter—alone, caught by age and poverty in a mid-town, dingy room. Two old women who looked from the distance like kindly grandmas putting out.

Somehow I have the notion that one of them is alone in that room now facing the rest of the winter. Alone now amid millions.

And nobody will know. Not even I. —GILBERT SWAN.

Dividends to Policyholders increased for seventh successive year.

To secure the absolute protection of its policyholders in the United States the company actually maintains on deposit with United States Trustees approved securities equal to its net liability to American policyholders.

Policies written and payable in United States currency.

TOTAL INVESTMENTS IN UNITED STATES SECURITIES EXCEED $125,000,000

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

The operations during the past year have resulted in substantial advances in all departments. . . .

The new policies paid for . . . almost double the figures of two years ago.

The assurances in force, after deduction of reinsurance, . . . show, an increase of . . . over twenty-three per cent.

Policies and group certificates now outstanding aggregate well in excess of half a million.

The high quality and profitable character of our investments has again been demonstrated. As a result of continued reduction in prevailing rates of interest, and of satisfactory industrial conditions, there has been a further rise in the market values of our long-term bonds and of our preferred and other stocks. The appraisal of our securities made by the Government Insurance Department shows that the excess of market values over cost has increased during the year by $6,894,266.26. In addition, the sum of $1,729,364.52 has been realized as net profit from the redemption or sale of municipal debentures and other securities which had risen to high premiums. The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets has also risen to the remarkable figure of 6.69 per cent, as the result of substantial dividend increases, bonuses, and stock privileges received in connection with many of our holdings.

The quality of the investments listed in the assets may be judged from the fact that on 99.55 per cent of the bonds and on 99.71 per cent of the preferred stocks, not one dollar of interest or dividend is in arrear for even one day. On our common stocks the dividends now being received are greatly in excess of the dividends payable on the same stocks at time of purchase.

The total surplus earned during the year amounted to $20,457,077.28. From this the following appropriations have been made:

The sum of $2,000,000 has been deducted from the official valuation of our securities to provide for possible fluctuations in market values. This raises the amount set aside for this purpose to $5,000,000. In other words, the value at which our securities are carried in the balance sheet is $5,000,000 less than the appraisal made by the Government authorities.

The account to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been increased by $1,000,000 bringing the total under this heading to $11,000,000. . . .

An additional amount of $400,000 has been set aside to provide for greater longevity of annuitants. The total held under this heading in excess of Government requirements, is now $1,500,000. . . .

To our policyholders, profits have been paid or allotted during the year to the amount of $9,235,526.80.

After making these deductions and allocations an addition of $5,371,564.56 has been made to the undivided profits. The surplus over all liabilities, contingency accounts and capital stock, now stands at $34,011,565.25.

For six years in succession we have increased the profits to participating policyholders. During this period our profit scale has been doubled. While the assurances in force have multiplied two and a half times since 1920, the amount paid or allotted as profits to policyholders has multiplied five and a half times. We are gratified to announce, for the seventh consecutive time, a further increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to our policyholders in the ensuing year.

HENPECKERY IS THEME OF PLAY

Ticket sales opened this week for the home talent play "A Henpecked Husband," which is to be presented at the Gero theater Friday, February 18, by the St. Francis dramatic club.

The story of the play concerns a henpecked husband who is in the habit of walking in the straight path, but celebrates too gaily his son's return after a three-year absence.

Music for the production will be supplied by the newly organized Adriatic Tamburizza orchestra, always highly praised for their splendid programs.

BOOK LOVERS ON INCREASE

Circulation records of the Manistique public library show a total of 3,395 books taken out during the month of January, an increase of 379 over the 3,016 total in January, 1926.

Indications are that February totals will also touch new records. For the first two or three days of the month, the circulation mounted to more than 200 books.

NO LOSS THIS YEAR; LYCEUM ALL PAID FOR

For the first time in several years, the Manistique lyceum course has been presented without a financial deficit. Announcement to this effect was made by Prin. E. H. Wilson preceding the opening entertainment number Thursday evening.

Three numbers will comprise the course this year. The first, the Jackson Plantation Singers, pleased a well-filled auditorium Thursday evening. Due to illness of one of the members, the organization has for the past week or more appeared as a trio.

For the next entertainment of the series, on February 25, the two high school glee clubs will present musical plays, and the third number of the course will be "Reno, the Magician," on March 3.

Rebecas Plan Valentine Hop

Odd Fellows, Rebecas and their friends are invited to a Valentine dancing party to be given by the Lady Rebecas at the Odd Fellows hall on Wednesday evening, February 16. Collier's orchestra will furnish the music and a good time is assured.

BAKE SALE TODAY. A bake sale will be held this afternoon at the Gunnason and Kefauver store, under auspices of the ladies of the Norwegian Lutheran church.

MISSION AID BAKE SALE HERE TODAY

The Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church will hold a pantry sale this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gladstone grocery. A wide variety of home baked goods will be on sale and the patronage of the public is solicited.

Big Attendance At Church Supper. The supper served Thursday evening here at Westminster Presbyterian church was a decided success in every way.

TRINITY CHURCH. On account of the Older Boys' Conference the regular service for Trinity church will be held at 5 p. m., instead of 7:30. A special service at that hour has been arranged in recognition of boys' and young people's work.

Confidence Returns in Market Trading. New York, Feb. 10.—Speculative confidence in the stock market which was shaken yesterday by the demoralizing break in a number of railroad shares, was restored, at least temporarily, today when a fresh advance started in the industrials under the leadership of Baldwin Locomotive, which soared 11 points to a record high price at $180 a share.

DRIVE FOR FUNDS WILL OPEN SUNDAY

Fifteen teams of two members each representing the Swedish-American organizations of the community will be in charge of the drive for funds to carry out the program planned for the celebration of the Swedish-American 300th anniversary, which will come in 1938, and for the accomplishment of "the activities mapped out for the time previous to the anniversary and connected with it."

The drive opens on February 13, Sunday, and will close on February 21. The city district will include Gladstone, Kipling, Rapid River and Masonville. Teams will be representatives of the Swedish organizations, Kronan lodge, Wasa Order and Order of Runeberg and the churches, Swedish Baptist, Swedish Lutheran and Swedish Mission.

A large number of pledges have been received and the drive is certain to be met with endorsement and encouragement of the Swedish-American people in this district. Establishment of the John Morton memorial in 1928 is the first objective of the drive. The program outlined will culminate in the anniversary observance in 1938.

CITY BRIEFS

Neil Reese of Iron Mountains visited in Gladstone Thursday and Friday.

Wallace Cameron visited at his home here Friday morning.

Miss June Woodhall left yesterday for Marquette, where she attended the Northern State Normal from last evening.

Wilfred and Ellsworth Ranganette of Nahma visited Gladstone friends and attended the Niagara-Escanaba game Thursday.

Miss Bernice Amundsen, who has been ill for the past five weeks, is able to be out again.

AUXILIARY IS ENTERTAINED AT ESCANABA

The Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was entertained by the members of the Escanaba division auxiliary at Escanaba Thursday afternoon.

The entertainment was held in the lodge rooms. Social diversions during the afternoon were followed by a delicious supper. Twelve members of the Gladstone Auxiliary attended.

PLANTATION SINGERS END THIS SEASON

The Plantation Singers, members of a negro quartet, appearing in a program that was thoroughly enjoyed, last night at the Gladstone high auditorium, brought the lyceum season of 1926-27 to a close.

The group gave a splendid program of rare talent. The numbers were varied and settings and costumes used to advantage. The program was the last arranged for this season's lyceum.

Buckeye Jollies OLD TIME DANCE AT UNITY HALL. Everybody Welcome.

Good Looking —Long Wearing. This season's shoe styles for men are very good looking. The dressy custom toes give ample foot room. Comfort is assured. Fine materials, and fine work hold these shoes to the lines of the style—they will not quickly become "slippy."

Granberg's Shoe Shop. The values are "right"—you're sure to get your money's worth, for we guarantee it, absolutely. with Barbara Bedford Adapted to the screen by Carey Wilson from the Drury Lane melodrama "Good Luck," by Seymour Hicks and Ian Hay, directed by Alan Hale. ALSO "PERILS OF THE WILD" Shows 7:15 and 8:50. Admission 10c and 25c.

THEATRES

"SCOTTY OF THE SCOUTS"

From the opening chapter, which offers as its supreme thrill a chase between two motor boats, which ends in the destruction of one boat via the medium of a gasoline explosion, right through to the tenth and final chapter, "Scotty of the Scouts," the Rayart Serial play starring Ben Alexander—the first episode of which will be shown at the Community theatre at the matinee this afternoon—is a veritable parade of dangerous deeds.

AT THE COMMUNITY. Conway Tearle, popular screen lover, makes his latest screen appearance in "The Sporting Lover" which is at the Community theatre tonight. This is an adaptation of the famous Drury Lane stage hit, "Good Luck."

The English Derby showing the arrival of the king and queen, an exciting real Derby race, some tensely dramatic scenes in an army field hospital during an air raid, a splendid romance and plenty of comedy are said to make "The Sporting Lover" an entertainment for the enjoyment of the most discriminating.

AT THE LYRIC. When a woman sympathizes with you about your stinky husband, beware! She may want him for herself. At least that was the discovery made by Eva Smith, a part played by that intangible little star, Olive Borden, in "Fig Leaves," which opened at the Lyric theatre last night.

The story is a comedy drama, as was attested by the gusts of laughter that swept the audience last night. But it is more than that. A great deal more. The cause of the quarrels between Adam Smith, a part played with convincing fidelity by George O'Brien, and his wife Eva, is found in thousands of homes. A stinky but otherwise lovable husband, a pretty wife who loves her husband but pretty things, too, and the other woman, Phyllis Haver, the dashing blonde gives a remarkable performance as Alice Atkins, the designing, infatuated other woman, who while making furious love to Adam befriends Eva's back, still acts as the wife's sympathetic friend.

OSHKOSH FIVE PLAYS KEILMEN HERE TONIGHT

The big game of the year, Oshkosh versus Gladstone, will be played tonight in the Gladstone high school gym when the Wisconsin team meets Coach Kell's regulars.

The game will be called at 9 o'clock to permit those whose business keeps them the early part of Saturday evening, to attend.

The preliminary between the Gladstone Reserves and Rock high school will be played at 8 o'clock. The Oshkosh men with their coach, J. E. Schneider and office clerk, Mr. Young, will arrive here this afternoon and will be conducted to homes in the city where they will be guests during their stay in Gladstone.

The line-up for the game will be: Tadych, Crowell, H. Pause, C. R. G. Janda, R. Liebenow, H. Carver, Pugh and Cannon, subs. Coach Kell will start his regular lineup. The game promises the best basketball of the year. The advance sale of tickets has been large and the attendance is due to smash records for the year.

Plans for the entertainment of the Oshkosh visitors while they are in the city, have been completed by the high school classes. The supper which will be served members of both teams after the game will be in charge of the seniors. The girls, who are in charge, are Ruth Noreus, June Woodhall, Lillian Johnson, Margaret Blodgett, Helen Aslett, Charlotte Sillers, Claire Clark, Eva Bolen and Carrie Von Tall.

Members of the junior class will be in charge of entertaining the players, meeting them this afternoon and conducting them to the homes where they will be guests.

Music for the dance for the teams and the high school students which will be held in the gym after the game, is in charge of the sophomores.

Blind Pig, Like a Cat, Seems to Have Nine Lives.

Babson Discourses on Retailing As Life Work

BY ROGER W. BABSON.
Your own success as a business man, as a father and as an investor, depends largely upon getting interested in the right line of business. To accomplish this there are many factors to consider, among which are: (1) General business conditions; (2) Changes in the desires of people; (3) New industries and inventions; (4) Inherited and instinctive characteristics; (5) Extent of competition; (6) Capital required; (7) Cost of operation; (8) Immediate opportunities. etc. These are all factors for consideration which decide on the business in which to work or invest.
In a general way, I shall discuss these factors during the next few weeks. I do this both because of the importance of the subject and because the average young man unfortunately takes the first job offered to him, irrespective of whether or not he is fitted for it or the job offers real opportunities. Three-quarters of our young men may be handicapped for many years, if not for life, by entering the wrong business when leaving school. Hundreds of millions of dollars are annually lost by investors who likewise disregard a few fundamental economic laws.
Importance of the Retailer.
Most all lines of business can be classified into one of ten main groups. These groups are as follows: Retailing, Manufacturing, Banking, Agriculture, Mining, Railroad, Public Service, Building, Shipping and Insurance. I put Retailing first in this list because it is of the greatest importance. But few realize the magnitude of the retail business. The retailers of the United States sell $200,000,000 worth of goods each day. This supplies all the money to run all the industries of the country, which ultimately pays all wages, interest, taxes, freight charges, public service income and a billion dollars annually for advertising.—In fact, the country and keeps 50,000,000 people employed. In other words, the retailer collects the money to run practically all other industries. Hence, the retail business is of vital importance and should command respect and co-operation from all. The preacher and the merchant are the foundations of American prosperity.
Independent vs. Chain Stores
When one considers the subject of retailing he is confronted immediately with this question: Which has the greatest future, the independent merchant or the chain store? Frankly, I believe that both have their uses and both will always exist. I remember forty years ago when the department store first began to develop on a large scale. At that time every independent storekeeper shook in his shoes as it were. He generally feared that the department stores would swallow everything. Time has since shown that the department store has its functions. Some of our best stores ago the small store houses began to grow rapidly and overcome independent merchants feared that their business would be swept away. This likewise proved a false alarm and today we find the great mail order houses opening retail stores in order to save their bacon. Now the craze is for chain stores. Chain stores, like department stores and mail order houses, have their special fields, but chain stores will not by any means monopolize retailing.
Investors naturally prefer to place their funds with a well organized chain store company because its success does not depend upon any one man or upon any one locality. This is wise judgment. Moreover, as a training ground in the fundamentals of retailing, the chain stores offer a splendid opportunity to any young man as they have their own merchandising schools which operate under a strict discipline. Personally, if I had a boy to place in merchandising, I had rather have him spend two years with a chain store than in most business colleges. On the other hand, for a life work, I seriously question whether the chain store offers as good an opportunity as does the independent merchant. Although men make values, it must be remembered that souls make men. Moreover, a corporation is apt to be more or less soulless. For this simple reason no corporation offers, in the long run, such opportunities as does a high grade business man with a soul and a vision. Every community has such men. In fact, these are the very men which have made your community. Let your boy train for a year or two with a chain store company; but as soon as the opportunity offers, let him get with one of your respected local independent merchants.

House to House Canvassing.
In addition to the different forms of merchandising referred to above, I must mention "house-to-house" canvassing. This method has long been in existence and undoubtedly is the oldest of all systems of merchandising. Probably the first retailer went about the streets of some Mediterranean city with a pack on his back, calling from house to house. We all remember the great book selling campaign which existed in our boyhood days. Now this same system has been very successful in connection with the sale of brushes, stockings, linens and other forms of merchandise. As an investment proposition these concerns cannot be generally recommended. They seem to be very successful for a few years and then, owing to increasing competition or other cause, seem to peter out. Of course, the cost of selling under such conditions is very large and people ultimately see that they can get fully as good merchandise from the local merchant for less money. On the other hand, such companies are exceptionally testing grounds for a boy who thinks he wishes to go into retailing. Let him go on the road for a few months selling goods and he soon finds out whether or not he is fitted to be a salesman.
It is not only a crime against a young man to allow him to get into a business for which he is not fitted, but it is likewise a crime against society. One trouble with business today is that during the stress of the war men and women got into lines of work for which they were not fitted. Too many clerks in stores are hired for their good looks, while too many salesmen are employed because of family or friendship ties. These misfits are not only holding back retail trade, but also manufacturing, shipping, and other lines which depend upon the retailer for their existence. Therefore, my advice to a young man who thinks he would like retailing is to first get a job as house-to-house canvasser. After passing the test, get into the school of a chain store company. After learning what the chain store has to offer, get a connection with a high grade local citizen who is successfully operating as an independent merchant. I repeat, that although men make values, souls make men. See that you get with a man with a soul.
Retailing Investment Outlook.
As already suggested, an investor must not be in a position where he is depending on the life of any one man. Therefore, it is important to purchase securities in companies or sufficient size so as not to be dependent on any one man or any one community. Such companies are F. W. Woolworth Co., S. S. Kresge Co., United Drug Co., United Cigar Stores, Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, J. C. Penney Co., W. T. Grant Co.

One important factor which should be kept in mind, both by parents and investors, is the importance of getting into a "real estate" business. For instance, the success of the Eastman Kodak Company has not been due to the sale of cameras, but to the sale of films. The success of the Victor Phonograph Company was not due to the sale of phonographs, but to the fact that those who buy phonographs are compelled to buy records. Great judgement was shown in selecting the grocery trade for the first chain store system, rather than the shoe or furniture trade. Every family buys groceries daily, but buys shoes only once in three months and furniture perhaps only once a year. This is why I had much rather work or invest in an electric light company, which supplies the power daily, than in an electric fixture company which must be dependent on one sale to a household! If possible get your son and your money in a repeat business.
Some Personal Advice.
Advice is cheap and very few take it. However, there are three suggestions which I should like to make to the boys of your city. They are:
(1) Don't consider salary in getting your first job. The best opportunities pay the least salary at the start, while the poorest opportunities pay the most salary at the start. Steady jobs are apt to pay smaller wages than temporary jobs. Don't sell your birthright for a mess of pottage.
(2) Get a job with good people. Go to work for people of character, of ideas, of vision, 90 per cent of the merchants today are mere trailers and copyists, while only 10 per cent are real leaders. Get with one of this 10 per cent.
(3) Get a job in your hometown. Next to your mother, you owe more to your home town than to anything else. Don't stay in your home town just to get an education and then beat it to some other town or city. Don't kick down the ladder by which you climb up. Distant fields always look the greenest, but they are really no greener than where you are. Don't waste the fifteen or twenty years of your early life by later going to a strange city where you know no one. Stay in your home town and help build it up. It will reciprocate by building you up also.

Rosenberg, Graham Ousted for Secret Agreement

COMISH DEALS SECRECY BLOW

Managers' Licenses Revoked; Matchmake Is Ousted.

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Meeting out suspensions of one year each to Charley (Phil) Rosenberg, former bantam champion, and Busby Graham of Utica, N. Y., the state athletic commission today struck a telling blow against secret boxing agreements in violation of its rules.

After flooring the two fighters, the board landed on their managers and Jess McMahon, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, who signed the boxes for a championship bout last week. An indefinite suspension was given McMahon while licenses of Harry Segal, pilot of Rosenberg and William J. Parr, manager of Graham were revoked.

This action, marking the first official move against a practice known to have prevailed here for several years, climaxed a hearing in which terms of the private agreement between the managers were disclosed. They stipulated that Rosenberg was to receive a sum equivalent to 45 per cent of the gate receipts, instead of the 37-1/2 per cent fixed by the commission provided that Graham should fall to lift the title. In the event that Graham won the championship, the secret pact called for Rosenberg to receive the entire purse of the fighters—50 per cent of the gate receipts.

All might have gone well had Rosenberg succeeded in reducing to 118 pounds. When he scaled 122 1/2, four and a half pounds over the class limit, the commission declared his title forfeited. Subsequently, Graham was beaten, but Parr held that Rosenberg's failure to make the class limit nullified their private contract.

Both were suspended on Tuesday and their purses were held up by the commission pending today's hearing. A sum of $4,750 representing the 7 1/2 per cent of the gate receipts which Parr agreed to pay Rosenberg out of their own share of the purse, today was ordered paid to Graham. The Utica fighter also was awarded Rosenberg's weight forfeit of $1,250.

St. Louis Lad Beats Augie Kieckhefer

Chicago, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Allen Hall, young St. Louis billiard star, tonight gave Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago, former three cushion champion, his first defeat in the national three cushion tournament, 50 to 46, in 62 innings. It was one of the tightest matches of the tournament. Both players combined safety play with occasional strokes of difficult shots.

Vikings Increase "Little 19" Lead

Rock Island, Ill., Feb. 11. (Special)—Augustana O. O. 111 e strengthened its hold on the Little Nineteen basketball title here last night by sinking Knox College of Galesburg under a 41 to 22 score. Knowledge and Thomas led for individual horse scoring, with nine points each. The Vikings were masters of the situation throughout the game, which was rather listless at times. Coach Swedberg used his second team in the last half.

THIS REMARKABLE RACING PICTURE PROVES IT'S POSSIBLE TO WIN BY A NOSE

Here is what the oldest followers of thoroughbred horse racing in New Orleans say is the most remarkable finish of a horse race ever witnessed in the history of horse racing in the Crescent City. It shows the finish of the first race on Saturday, Jan. 29, at the Fair Grounds course. The first four horses crossed the finish line noses apart. So close was the finish that the stewards debated several minutes before hanging up the numbers. The decision was given to Venus, a "field horse," which finished next to the rail and paid handsome odds. Hidalgo, the outside horse, was placed second. Porto de Oro, next to Hidalgo, was given third place, while Talladega, the horse second from the rail, was given fourth place. Ice, No. 5, crossed the line fifth, a length and a half behind the fourth horse.

OLDER BOYS OF UPPER MICHIGAN IN CONFERENCE

Other matters will lead to a successful meet. Courtesy in the homes, on the street, and about town in general will give local citizens a good impression.
"Not to much emphasis can be laid on the sincerity of the attitude taken by the delegates. You boys are here as representatives and must make your work as such. You are responsible for carrying the message you learn here back home to the school, society, or church you represent," said Mr. Johns in closing.
Another group of songs, led by Mr. Campbell and Mr. Denio, followed the secretary's talk.
E. W. Brandenberg, of Chicago, capable discussion leader, then opened the first open forum meeting ever held at an upper peninsula conference. The boys were asked to place before the entire body, questions that they would like to have discussed. The results were slow at first, but soon speeded up and two boys were kept busy recording the questions.
Divide in Five Heads.
The questions can be divided under five headings, namely, school relationships, home problems, friends, church relationships, and community relationships. The individual desires were varied. Boys having questions they did not care to state openly were given an opportunity to hand them to Mr. Brandenberg at the close of the session.

desk when the task was begun. Almost two hours later, when he had reached for the third stub, and the handwriting began to waver, an assistant seized him affectionately by the shoulders and shouted into his ear:
"A few more, Mr. Edison."
"Spiritualism is the 'bank' the wizard replied to the question of one reporter.
His views on immortality expressed at a previous interview were unchanged. Edison said: "The proposed that every known fact in immortality be put in a column against every fact contrary to the belief."
"Then," he said, "in time we might find, in summing up, that there were 56 per cent in favor and 44 per cent against immortality."
"The word God has no meaning to me. But I do believe that there is a supreme intelligence pervading the universe and at times I believe that when a man dies, the swarms of billions of highly organized entities which live in the cells, desert the body, go out into space, keep on, and enter another and last life."
"Man is not the unit of life. Man is as dead as granite. The unit of life consists of these highly organized entities."
"How does an idea for an invention occur to you?" Edison was asked.
"By various methods too long to explain," he replied. "The real new thing is like a general idea, a beautiful melody pulled out of space, a fact which is inexplicable."
Returning to subjects in the realm of cosmology, the inventor expressed doubt about the existence of psychic power. But "investigation does no harm," and it should be continued by science.
Science will never realize its dream of producing life and mental telepathy is impossible in his opinion.
"Bolshevism is a menace. The Russians mean well, but ruling people know nothing of the real life of the average man or what he will do under certain conditions. Their actions are all theory and based on what they think he ought to do."
To the oft-repeated question of when he expected to retire, the aged inventor replied:
"A few days before the funeral." He preferred to be remembered by posterity as the inventor of the phonograph.

Auction of Public Land Provided for in Senator's Bill

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Public lands bordering on lakes in Michigan and Wisconsin would be sold at auction under a bill introduced today by Senator Stanford, Republican, Oregon. The price would not be less than $1.25 an acre.
Another bill introduced by Mr. Stanford provides that patents for land entered for the purpose of mining copper or allied minerals be granted upon satisfactory evidence that deposits exist and without the requirement of actual proof.

BILLY EVANS Says

Peculiar Angle
Here is a peculiar angle to the Cobb-Speaker case that has never been considered.
The Cleveland and Detroit clubs have given up their rights to two of the game's greatest stars as a result of the much debated "Dutch" Leonard created. When these two players resigned as players and managers, their resignations were accepted and men were appointed to take charge of their respective clubs.
Now, the two players, cleared of the charges as it seemed certain they would be, have been turned loose by the clubs which they formerly managed.
It is a most unusual situation in many ways.

Trading Material
Had the Cleveland club, prior to the breaking of the scandal charges, placed Speaker on the market, he would have been a most desirable man in a trade.
In all probability, the Cleveland ball club could have secured players and money to the amount of perhaps $75,000 for Speaker. A very conservative estimate would be $50,000.
Cobb would have brought a somewhat similar amount had the Detroit club decided to dispense with his services by making a deal with some other club.
While both players have passed the peak of their game. Cobb possibly having retrograded more than Speaker, they have a few hundred good games left in their systems.

Clubs Suffer
Yet the finish of the entire affair finds the two clubs relinquishing all claims to the two players without deriving any profit in money or players.
The attitude taken by both clubs, that it would be unwise to employ either of the stars as mere players on a club which they had managed for years, is no doubt the correct one.
While such a plan might work out all right, precedent fails to forecast such a happening. As a rule, such action has simply upset the morale of the club.
When the Detroit and Cleveland clubs appointed leaders to succeed Cobb and Speaker, they figured both men had severed for all time their connection with the American League.
Now that they are back in good standing, the two clubs really forced to part with Cobb and Speaker, permitting them to make any deal they desired in their services.

Hoppe Victorious in Second Block

Boston, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Overcoming a lead of 166 points rolled up by Welker Cochran in the opening night's play, Willie Hoppe tonight shot by the challenger to win the second block of their 1,500 point world's championship 15.2 balkline billiard match, 666 to 205. ing to leave a void in center field that will be hard to fill. Men possessing like managerial ability, are the exception.

Thus, the Cleveland club suffers not only the monetary loss that Speaker would have brought if placed on the market, but a bigger loss that is impossible to compute should the Indians disappoint this year.

It was a tough break for both clubs that simply had to be accepted in a sportsmanship manner.

Not only does the Cleveland club lose a star player but also a mighty capable manager.

Many of the experts figured Cleveland the best team in the American League at the close of the season. The Indians were regarded as a strong contender for pennant honors in 1927.

The absence of Speaker is going to leave a void in center field that will be hard to fill.

THE REFEREE

What American League player in the last 20 years had a style at bat similar to that of Rogers Hornsby? A says Larry Lajoie. B says no.—J. M.

There is a striking similarity between the batting style now used by Rogers Hornsby and that which Larry Lajoie employed. The swing and follow through are much the same. Hornsby, however, stands considerably farther back in the batter's box than did Lajoie.

I understand Charley Robertson, who pitched the no-hit, no-run game against Detroit, in which no player reached first, is to receive another trial in the majors. If so, what club? What minor league club did he play with last year?—M. N.

Charley Robertson has been drafted by the Boston Braves. He was with Milwaukee at the close of last season. The St. Louis Browns sent him there in part payment for Fred Schulte.

1928 LYCEUM IS UNCERTAIN

Cheney Sends Letters to Sound Sentiment in Escanaba.

Endeavoring to book a high quality Lyceum course costing about $1800 for next year, R. E. Cheney, president of the Escanaba Lyceum committee, is sending letters to all ticketholders of this year's Lyceum, to sound out their sentiment.

Unless a course with outstanding numbers can be booked for next year, the Lyceum committee will make no efforts to sponsor it, the letter says. A course of the quality the committee has in mind would cost no less than $1800.

Replies must be sent in before March 1, Mr. Cheney says, so that definite action in either direction may be taken.

Following is the letter being circulated by Mr. Cheney:

To Patrons of Lyceum Course: "It is hard to satisfy a $2000 taste on a $1000 income. This is what your Lyceum committee has attempted to do this year. This is the only thing we could do under the circumstances, but did you ever stop to think what we as a group could do if seven hundred people would buy tickets to the course?"

So far as the present Lyceum committee is concerned, there will be no Lyceum course next year unless we can book some outstanding numbers, which would cost about $1800. Naturally, we cannot afford to book such a course unless there are seven hundred people in Escanaba who will support such a course. If you wish to be counted as one of the seven hundred people who are willing to support a real course next year, please fill out the blank below and return it to us. Next year's course should be booked before March first, but we do not plan to act unless we receive much encouragement as a result of these letters.

The entertainment committee wishes to thank the persons in the city who so willingly donated the use of their cars to make the trip.

Hi Debaters Dual Gladstone Feb. 16; Negatives Travel

The Escanaba high school debating teams having already established the best record in Escanaba debating history will meet the Gladstone high teams in a dual encounter in which the negative teams travel, Wednesday evening, February 16.

The Escanaba trios have already earned enough points to qualify for the eliminations to determine the champions of the upper peninsula, but are bolstering their cases in an attempt to keep their slates as clean as possible. The local trios have met only one defeat this season, that being at the hands of Ishpeming a few weeks ago.

Coach Merrill J. Heaphy of the local squad has not yet decided what speakers he will use against Gladstone.

"I say, you're not still engaged to that Smith girl, are you?" "No, I'm not." "Lucky for you, old man. How on earth did you get out of it?" "I married her!"—Passing Show.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croceote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, croceote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croceote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the croceote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, influenza and other forms of respiratory disease, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Conference Sidelights

TWENTY-FIVE MILES by stage—and 159 miles by rail, is quite a trip, don't you think?

To many, such a jaunt would seem a sacrifice, but to others it is merely typical of the spirit of the Older Boys' conference. The visiting delegates, more than 450 of them, who invaded Escanaba Thursday night and Friday morning, hustle about and have no time to consider that four of the boys who are among them, made the trip in order that they might attend the Thirteenth annual Older Boys' conference.

The four boys are from Pickford and although they realized it would be necessary to travel 25 miles by stage and 159 by rail in order to attend the meeting, they were glad of the opportunity afforded them.

Not professing to be the endurance monarchs of the conference, or looking for sympathy from their fellow delegates, the Pickford representatives attend the meetings and enjoy being guests in Escanaba.

Pickford, when registering its four delegates, asked Ray Johns, the main spring of the conference, if their quota could be enlarged.

"It's the true spirit for the boys to have," Mr. Johns said, "but I'm afraid we will have to stick to our original quota."

WHEN THE HOUSING committee for the Older Boys' conference started its campaign to find rooms for the 450 visiting delegates to the meeting, they realized that many people would have to make sacrifices in order to provide for the delegates.

One of the most interesting cases was brought to light yesterday when it was found that an elderly woman had given up her room to two boys. The lady had broken up housekeeping and had stored all her furniture. She is at present living with her daughter. Hearing that rooms were still needed for the delegates, she took an old bed from her stored furniture and put it up in the basement of her daughter's home, so that two of the delegates might use her room.

"My son attended the Older Boys' Conference when he was in high school and always told me of the wonderful treatment received at other cities, and now I wish to do my part in making it pleasant for the visiting delegates to Escanaba," she said.

FRANKLIN WINS TICKET CONTEST

The students of the Franklin seventh grade won the ticket sale contest conducted in connection with the Elson Art Exhibit at the Franklin school Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The seventh grade pupils sold $17.10 worth of tickets.

The prize offered to the winner is a copy of St. Gadeau's "Abraham Lincoln," one of the pictures on display. The financial statement of the exhibit, based on the advanced ticket sale, shows that the students of the public grade school system sold $153.60 worth of tickets and about $7 was taken in at the door.

School Board Votes to Purchase Curtain

At the meeting of the Escanaba school board, held this week, it was decided to purchase a new curtain for the high school stage. Word was received yesterday by R. E. Cheney, superintendent of schools, from the Twin City Scenic company of St. Paul that the new curtain with the monogram "E. H. S." would arrive here in time for use at the Escanaba high school faculty play, "Nothing But the Truth," to be presented Tuesday evening, February 22.

The play is being given by the teachers to buy new scenery for the high school stage, and word was received last week, before the school board had taken action on the curtain purchase, that the new scenery would also be here in time to be used for the play.
