

Government to test the legality of the whole transaction. Suits to compel the leases and contracts were entered, that against Doherty being filed in the federal court at Los Angeles, and that against Sinclair in the federal court at Cheyenne, Wyo.

Allies Suffered More Than Germans from "Battle of Attrition"

The trial court in the Doherty case cancelled the leases and contracts, but allowed Doherty compensation for the construction work at Pearl Harbor. Both the government and Doherty appealed, and the circuit court sustained the cancellation of the contracts and leases, but reversed the district court's ruling that Doherty was not entitled to compensation because of the illegality of the contracts under which it was performed.

New York, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The "battle of attrition" tactics of the allies on the western front under the generalship of Joffre and Foch wore out the allies more than they wore out the Germans, charges Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer in the Baldwin cabinet. "The World Crisis—1914-1918," is to be released by Charles Scribner's Sons tomorrow.

Backing his criticism by figures which do not appear to have at all been appreciated, even in the most expert circles, he says that "on the terms of 1918, 1916 and 1917, the German man power was sufficient to last indefinitely. In fact in the three years of the allied offensives on the western front, the Germans actually gained to the extent of 1,739,000 men more than their losses."

"The result of every allied offensive was to leave us relatively weaker—and in some cases, terribly weaker—than the enemy. The aggregate result of all of them from 1915 to 1917 (after deducting the losses on both sides in the German attack on Verdun) was a French and British casualty list of 4,122,000 compared to a German total of 2,144,000. The process of attrition was at work, but it was on our own side that its ravages fell and not on the German."

General Joffre, in 1915, "the worst year of the Joffre regime," wiped all the "errors of the first shock year," by an "insensate obstinacy and lack of comprehension," says the writer, "when without any large numerical superiority, without adequate artillery or munitions, without a novel mechanical method, without any pretense of surprise or maneuver, without any reasonable hope of victory, he continued to hurl the heroic but limited manhood of France, at the strongest entrenchments, at uncut wire and impenetrable machine guns served with cold steel."

MICHIGAN TRACK HOPES STRONG

Coach Farrell Not Worried Over Loss of Material.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 26.—(AP)—In spite of losses that would wreck the chances of any other college track team in the United States, Coach Steve Farrell is not looking toward the coming outdoor track season with fear and trembling. One reason is that the Michigan coach never "fears and trembles." The other is that he has a half dozen proven men to work with and some excellent untried prospects.

Farrell could unfold a tale of woe if he desired to. He has athletes representing 13 of the 25 points made in the National collegiate meet, and but 13 of the points made in the Big Ten meet. Michigan scored 54.7 to win that meet.

Each coach that had lost what Farrell had would have entertained dire forebodings. Doyle, Munn, Hawkins and Palmer of the Wisconsin team have graduated. Herstein, Feinsinger, Leschinsky and probably Kelly of the short distance men will not be back while a promising freshman quarter miler has not cleared scholastic difficulties.

Half Miles Lost. Freyburg, Beas, Wagner and Callahan of the distance squads have their sleepskins while Hart and Likert, half milers out last year, seem certain not to be available this year; the former because of recent operations and the latter through leg trouble.

Weeks in the high jump, Völker and Snider in the hurdles are also among the missing. Weeks through having three years competition. Jung, who competed in the indoor conference meet, but not in the outdoor track work a year ago also is missing.

Such losses would cause almost any coach to shake his head and predict a year of one-sided losses, but Farrell has looked over his material and thinks it may be possible to patch together some sort of a team.

Northrup Foundation. As the foundation, Capt. Phil Northrup, having injuries, seems fair to continue his record as the best all-around field performer in the conference. He is fairly certain to place in the javelin, and broad jump and if the pole vaulting class gets too good he can be switched to the sprints or the high jump. Prout and possibly Huff will be his assistants in the pole vault from the last year's squad.

Heater has been going just as fast indoors as a year ago when he was the outstanding sprinter of the college classes. Lasser, a hurdler last year, is being turned into a sprinter and there is a possibility that Kelly will recover from recurrence of a former ailment to take a place on the cinder. Coach Farrell, however, does not believe Kelly will run this year.

To take the place of Lasser, Coach Farrell has Cooper and Jones, both high hurdlers. Both are large fellows of the hurdling type. Cooper has been winning by a few inches in brushes between the indoors, but the presence of the two gives promise of strengthening this department of the Michigan team. Both are juniors and were listed as ineligible a year ago.

Relay Team Returns. Oelheiser, Munger and Mueller of the last year's mile relay team are back and will have to fight for places in the quarter mile with Barton and Leonard from the last year's freshman squad. Munger is a possible half miler.

Reals and Phuke, who saw little competition last year, are the possible veteran half-milers, with Lamont and Hunt, newcomers, as their competitors for places. An intensive search is likely to result in finding some half miler who can do the distance in two minutes.

Horabarger, Monroe and Wuerfel are the possibilities in the mile, while one of these men and Wells and Iskenderian are the two milers. Monroe and Wuerfel are sophomores.

In the weight events, Jack Lovette seems to have possibilities of making a better shot putter than Michigan had last year. If he can get his time into training, Eckershead and others are the runners to watch. There are several in which Lovette has a good chance in the hammer and shot put. Lovette is expected to be a sophomore in this year.

HAGGERTY AND GREEN DIFFER ON SELECTION

It is possible Coffey will remain a contender until the last. If he goes before the convention, however, Green leaders declare not more than one or two ballots will be necessary to decide the issue. In other words, "it is all over but the shouting," if the chairmanship differences are likewise smoothed away there will be little friction to mar the surface of the convention.

Al Peterman of Calumet, who will deliver the keynote speech, has promised to set a new record for brevity. His speech will be even shorter than the memorable three-minute address delivered by Dennis E. Alward at the Republican convention last fall. He will urge cohesion of the party forces and encourage a get-together spirit, now that the gubernatorial campaign is a matter of history.

Resolutions lauding the Green administration, as far as it has gone, will be adopted. While no formal announcement of the candidacy of Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids, for United States senator, will be made, because of his absence in Europe, his friends were busy laying lines for the campaign that is to come in 1928. From discussions among the delegates the only conclusion that could be drawn was that Vandenberg will have the solid support of the organization that carried Fred W. Green to victory in the gubernatorial campaign.

Always's Place Certain. The selection of Dennis E. Alward as secretary of the central committee, if he wants the place, seemed to be a foregone conclusion. This choice will be made by the central committee. Joseph Wedde of Detroit, probably will be made assistant secretary.

Incumbent justices of the supreme court, members of the state boards of agriculture and education, and regents of the university, appeared to be sure of re-nomination without contest.

The state central committee promised to undergo many changes. Edgar L. Cochran, former secretary of the state conservation committee, was busy attempting to undermine John Baird, his former chief, and get him ousted from the central committee. Baird retorted with the explanation that in his district there are six counties and it is the custom to pass the memberships around. Cochran insisted Baird hasn't done any passing around because he has been on the central committee for years. Baird is a candidate and will accept the membership again. If it is offered, but if it is not, he declared, it will be due to Cochran's efforts, but rather because the membership should be passed to other counties.

Middle West States Covered With Snow

Kansas City, Feb. 28.—(AP)—From the Rockies to the Ozarks a blanket of snow was being laid tonight, swathing the lion-like entrance of March.

Much of Wyoming, most of Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska and parts of Oklahoma, Missouri and northern Texas reported snow in varying depths. A sharp drop in temperature accompanied the snow.

Particularly in the dry farming areas of Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado, the snow brought assurance of good winter wheat crops. Following fairly heavy snow earlier in the month the moisture carried in today's fall was considered sufficient in most places to carry the wheat crop well into the spring.

A fall of seven inches covered the section of the dry northwest Kansas about Norton. As far west as Cheyenne, Wyo. there was an eight-inch fall of snow. Denver had two inches.

Lita May Inject New Charges Into Suit for Divorce

Los Angeles, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Lita Grey Chaplin is considering amending her divorce complaint against Charlie Chaplin, to inject a new charge of "infidelity with a prominent motion picture actress who will be named."

Plans for the renewal of the legal attack upon the comedian were disclosed today by her chief counsel Lyndol L. Young in a statement answering a published interview given by Joseph Schenck, film producer. Schenck, according to Young, was quoted as saying he believed Mrs. Chaplin was sorry she had sued Chaplin for a divorce. This brought a fiery denial from Mrs. Chaplin's attorney.

"Mrs. Chaplin does not intend to modify or withdraw any of the charges she has made against her still-absent husband," said Young. "Quite to the contrary, after summons by publication is complete and Chaplin is brought within the jurisdiction of the local courts, she will in all probability amend her complaint by adding a second cause of action charging him with infidelity with a prominent motion picture actress, who will be named."

Allegan, Mich., Feb. 28.—(AP)—Dan Corey, 65 years old, of Casson, was sentenced to five days in the county jail and to pay costs of $2.75 in justice court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of using profanity and blasphemy in his home on Sunday.

Deputy Sheriff James Wood arrested him yesterday on complaint of a neighbor.

King's Touch Was Cure—If One's Imagination Was Willing

Biblical legend tells of healing and even of raising from the dead by the laying on of hands.

Modern evangelistic healers of all types still continue to urge their power to accomplish marvelous results in this manner, and no doubt in some instances, when the condition concerning is entirely in the mind of the patient, faith healing accompanied by manual contact will bring results.

During the time of the middle ages the king's touch was believed to have special virtues in this direction and many a monarch owed his popularity to his willingness to spend at least a part of each day in touching the royal finger-tips to the diseased.

A GOOD YEAR.
What of business? Business men's opinions vary, usually according to the situation in what-ever industry or trade the critic happens to be connected with.

The bulletin of the National City Bank of New York, usually dependable as a critique of economic conditions, finds that "the country has made a good beginning on the new year," with little cause for pessimism.

Bank clearings have run below corresponding weeks of last year, but on the other hand "bank debits," of which include not only checks passing through the clearing houses but checks presented directly in the banks on which they are drawn, show a good growth over last year.

Railway car loadings, always a good index of industry and trade, started in this year greater than any previous year, and railroad experts predict for the first three months of this year as great a volume as for the same period last year, and perhaps greater.

Retail distribution is in large volume, the bulletin says, with chain stores showing a great expansion.

It 1927 does not turn out so good as last year, it is to be remembered that 1926 was the most prosperous year on record. It is not impossible that this year may be as good as last, though what is hardly expected. It is almost as good, that should be good enough.

THOSE OIL CLAIMS.
It was announced the other day that 11 American oil claims in Mexico had been filed with the Mexican-American Claims Commission for adjudication.

Thus begins a new chapter in the international oil controversy. The action taken is one suggested by the Mexican government and approved by many Americans. It looks like the simplest way of handling the disputed claims growing out of the Mexican cancellation of alien land titles and its proposed substitution of long-term leases.

These will be test cases in a moral as well as a legal sense. If the commission decides them properly and fairly, so that no wrong is done the American investors, and the Mexican government acquiesces in the decisions, it may be assumed that other claimants will follow the example. Thus a serious international problem would be happily disposed of. It is well to suspend judgment until the outcome is known. It will be a practical test of Mexican good faith.

CHAPTER XXXIII
"Then my father had a good reason for not mentioning the third," Robin Sears said promptly. "And is that third weapon the one that pierced the body of Garrett Folsom, when my father was several hundred feet away?"

"Now, Robin," Angel Fair said, her eyes full of understanding, but her lips setting themselves in a firm line, "don't take it that way. I mean, we all know and appreciate your resentment and your indignation, but they won't get us anywhere. Let's hear all Mr. Riggs can tell us, and then go to work on this new evidence."

"Atta girl!" he said. "You're right," said Robin, his eyes suddenly opened. "That's Dad's attitude—high and mighty, scornful, above-suspicion gesture. All right, Riggs, just how far is this suspicion voiced, and by whom?"

"The police don't voice it audibly, but it's like a distant rumble of thunder and all that sort of thing. They are gathering a little more evidence, and then they propose to come out in the open and declare their beliefs."

"That my father killed Mr. Folsom?" "It may come to that." "And the motive?" "They expect to get that later. You see, if they get circumstantial evidence pretty firmly established, they go ahead."

Robin thought a moment. "Then I have two things to do—I mean right now, I must hunt that green bather that Dad said can prove he was not near Folsom, and I must interview the auction man. Which will you do, Angel?"

"I'll go along the beach, she said, at once, "and see if I see our verdant friend. You get dressed and take up the auction end of it, and we'll meet at luncheon."

"Right," said Robin. "Good hunting!" The girl swung off down the beach, a shining figure in her bright epored garb, and Robin turned to Riggs.

"I don't get it," he said, simply, "but Angel's right. It's no time to stand around and say, 'How dare you, sir!' It's time for action."

"Why not go straight to your father and put it to him?" "Well, you see," Robin smiled, "Angel hasn't spoken to him as she did to me, and he's still in the high-bat stage. He'd say, 'My son, we Sears don't commit murder, and let it go at that. No, I know my Dad, and I've pretty well sounded him out on this thing, and for the moment, anyway, I've got to do a little sleuthing on my own. Take me back on the force, will you?'"

His sunny smile was a little crooked at the corners, for, after all, Robin was only twenty-six, and to have the honor of the whole Sears line on his shoulders was a responsibility.

"Glad to," said Riggs. "Now, I do think that you're the one to go to see Barchester; that's the auctioneer."

"What an impressive name." "Very. Shall I go with you?" "I'm not afraid of the beetle, but I think whatever transpires between us should be before a witness. So come along."

Meantime, Angelica, not at all averse to her part of the game, liked merrily along, noting with darting eyes the suit of every man she passed. Though a striking figure in her bright colored garb, her gay beach caps was voluminous and, blown by the breeze, gave her more the effect of a sea-symph returning to her native element than a mortal in search of a man.

Morover, as there are many thousand bathing suits more suspicious than hers and some less so, she was not so noticeable as might appear.

At last a sixth sense seemed to apprise her that she was being followed.

She turned, quickly and suddenly, and found she was right, but the follower was Ross, the valet of the murdered man, and the servant of his nephew.

Angel had seen him at the inquest, and once or twice since had seen him talking to Tite Riggs on the boardwalk.

She looked at him with questioning eyes, but a calm absence of fear or even indignation.

"Well," she said. "Pardon me, Miss Fair. I may have been presumptuous, but I saw you walking alone, and I followed, because—"

New York—(NEA)—Radio, tractors and trucks are used in Sweden to keep the highways open to travel 255 days in a year, according to A. S. W. Odalberg of the Royal Automobile club, Sweden.

Those in charge of road work are notified by radio long in advance of the approach of a snow storm, and the equipment is prepared to work on the roads as soon as the storm arrives.

Bones obtained from the kitchen formed the timber for ship models made by prisoners during the Napoleonic wars. Many of these models still exist and are valued at from $1,000 to $5,000.

FARRELL HOLDUP CHARGE FRAMED

Prosecutor Says Evidence Proves Students Not Guilty.

"Another roadhouse frame-up" was the designation given by Robert M. Toms, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county, when he asked Judge Arthur Webster in circuit court at Detroit to dismiss the cases of four University of Michigan students, five of them from Iron Mountain, who were awaiting trial for alleged robbery arrests.

Toms charged that blackmail may have been attempted by the conspirators and declared that the appearance and conduct of the students themselves was evidence they were in no way implicated.

The four are Clare Munroe, of Ann Arbor; Gaylord Linder, of Oak Harbor, Ohio; Lawrence Farrell, of Iron Mountain, and Charles L. Johnson, of Ironwood, all accused of hijacking a roadhouse operated by Harry Sowers and his wife, Gerude, at Farmington and Plymouth roads early June 2. All were studying for professional careers at the time of the alleged holdup and the four men continued as students since their arrest several weeks later.

The Detroit News carried the following on the case: "Toms said evidence indicated that a fight in which shots were exchanged took place on the roadhouse dance floor on the night in question. He said it had been reported to him that the fight began when two men desired to dance with the same woman. Sowers, he said, may have thought he could shield the reputation of the roadhouse by inventing a hijacking story.

Alleges Blackmail.
"On two occasions," he continued, "an emissary purporting to be from Sowers approached two of the defense attorneys to say their clients would not be identified if a certain sum of money were paid."

"The defense attorneys named by Toms are Howard C. Chilson, of Detroit, and Carlos A. Reading, of Ann Arbor.

"The alleged representative of Sowers was later called before Toms and Robert Holmes, deputy sheriff, and questioned in the presence of the two lawyers. Toms told Judge Webster, and though no stenographic report was made of the conversation, he was prepared to prosecute the man if the present case were dismissed.

"I have no stomach or interest whatsoever in this case," Toms said. "If the court denies the motion to quash the information I ask your honor to request the attorney general to send a representative of his office here to conduct the trial. That would remove all suspicion in the event of an acquittal."

"Judge Webster said owing to the seriousness and peculiar nature of the case he would take the motion under advisement, though ordinarily he would be moved to grant any motion of the prosecuting attorney might make." He asked Toms for statements from both attorneys and himself and for a transcript of the testimony at the preliminary examination.

Secrecy Not Liked.
"Star chamber sessions are not satisfactory to the public," Judge Webster told Toms, referring to the conversation between the attorneys, Holmes, Toms and Sowers' alleged representative.

"Questioned by the judge," Toms said Mrs. Sowers, James English, a piano player, and other witness had identified the four students but said discrepancies appeared in their statements as well as in those by Sowers himself. In the preliminary examination, Toms said, Sowers twice told one of the defense attorneys he could not identify his client as one of the hijackers, but ten minutes later identified the same man as a participant. Twice immediately after he had made his holdup report Sowers was asked by Holmes from Ann Arbor and students time he said they were not, according to Toms. Sowers, moreover, he said, was acquainted with the

The Midnite Entertainers are to furnish the musical program in which several new musical hits will be offered for the first time in this city by a local orchestra.

The judges will be Mayor and Mrs. George Geniesse, F. R. Lloyd, superintendent of the Chicago and North-Western, and H. K. Rammel of the Daily Press.

Valuable prizes will be given to the ladies and gentlemen having the most elaborate costume or representing the best character, and also for the most comic costumes worn by ladies and gents. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Card Party Tonight.
Practically every ticket has been sold for the big benefit card party to be given this evening at St. Joseph's auditorium under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Joseph's parish. Five hundred, bridge and pinocle will be played, with excellent prizes awarded to holders of high scores.

A delicious lunch will be served and a hearty welcome awaits everyone who attends. The proceeds are for the benefit of St. Francis hospital.

Wedding Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Decent of Wells announce the marriage of their son, Lloyd Decent, and Miss Mildred Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Peterson, of Wells, which took place Saturday evening, February 12, at 7:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's parsonage. Rev. Fr. John Moeckler performed the ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Lillian Peterson, sister of the bride, and Walter Decent, brother of the bridegroom. A wedding supper was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents at which a number of guests were entertained. They will make their home with Mr. Decent's parents for the present and will start housekeeping in the spring. Their many friends join in wishing them happiness.

present defendants as a result of previous visits to his roadhouse. The four were also at the roadhouse two hours before the reported time of the holdup, he continued. Yet he waited several weeks before accusing them.

"I am convinced the evidence in this case is of such a character as to preclude a conviction," Toms told Judge Webster. "The reputation, background, appearance and conduct of the defendants are such as to persuade any impartial observer they are not of the type that would probably commit the offense charged. I have come to these conclusions after a thorough and careful investigation and a sober consideration of the facts."

COT, CHAIRS, TABLE NEEDED

Mrs. McLaughlin Will Be Able to Enter New Home This Week.

When Mrs. Henry McLaughlin, mother of the four small children who perished in last Wednesday night's fire, is able to leave St. Francis hospital, she will be installed in a newly decorated and completely furnished flat. The apartment has been selected, and will be redecorated at once. Miss Martha Green, chairman of the Woman's club's philanthropic committee, said yesterday that offers of furniture and other material needed have been coming in rapidly, and that there will be no delay.

Mrs. Edward Erickson, Sr., chairman of the child's welfare committee of the Woman's club, announced yesterday that no more donations of baby clothes will be needed. The Catholic Woman's club of Escanaba have donated a complete layette for the expected baby. Members of the Wells Woman's club are also preparing a gift for the family.

The fund-raising campaign is still progressing. Harry Tilbert, general chairman, said last night. Complete returns and a final check-up will not be possible for a day or two, however, it was explained as several of the subscription papers will not be completed until that time.

Those who were not visited by solicitors, and who wish to donate, may send their checks to Mr. Tilbert or to the Daily Press.

Members of the sheriff's and police departments raided yesterday morning the places owned by Mrs. Signe Kangas, 115 North Sixteenth street, and the Michigan hotel, 330 Stephenson avenue, of which Harold Bergerson is proprietor.

Arthur Sinsola was placed under arrest in the Kangas raid. He was keeping bar when the "sponge" crew dropped in. Mrs. Kangas and Sinsola will be arraigned in Justice Henry E. Ranguette's court, Thursday morning on a charge of sale, possession and keeping a place.

Bergerson will be arraigned for preliminary hearing in Judge Doherty's court Thursday morning on a charge of sale.

The raiding squad found one pint of moonshine at the Kangas place. Mrs. Kangas, seeing the "sponge" crew coming, threw the bottle out on the sidewalk, but it was found when investigation was made.

LENT BEGINS ON WEDNESDAY

Special Services Planned in Many of the Churches.

Escanaba residents are satiating themselves with pleasure before donning penitential garb for the 40-day Lenten period, which will be ushered in Wednesday. Lent this year, beginning the latest in several years, will end at high noon, Holy Saturday, April 16, with Easter Sunday, April 17.

For 40 days the Lenten season will be generally observed. The dust of ashes will be distributed at the Catholic churches at all masses and after the evening devotions Wednesday, to remind the faithful that they are but dust and to dust they must return. Lenten devotions, including benediction, the rosary and stations of the cross will be held at least three days a week in all Catholic churches during Lent. The Protestant churches began preparations for the Lenten season last week.

Special services and sermons will be held in practically every church of the city to denote the beginning of the period of penitence before Holy Week. Throughout the 40-day period, churches will conduct frequent special services, in keeping with the Lenten season.

Regulations issued.

All Lenten services will climax during Holy Week with special devotions. There will be the customary Holy Thursday devotions and the Good Friday services, commemorating the agony and death of Jesus Christ. All of the churches will hold impressive services on Easter Sunday, including special music.

Lenten regulations for Catholic churches, issued by the Rt. Rev. Paul J. Nussbaum, bishop of the Marquette-Sault Ste. Marie diocese, were read Sunday by the pastors. The law of fast permits one full meal a day, taken either at noon or evening, and allows light food at breakfast and luncheon.

Young Franciscan Nun Laid to Rest At Manitowoc

The chapel at Holy Family convent at Manitowoc, was filled with sorrowing relatives and friends of the late Sister M. Macrina, formerly Miss Gertrude Gallagher, of this city, when a requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. J. Scheidauer, chaplain of Holy Family convent and Holy Family Parish, conducted by the Holy Family Sisters of which order the young nun was a member, having taken vows on her death bed.

The choir sang an unusually fine mass and many sisters of the order were in attendance at the services. Burial was made in the convent cemetery at Alverno, five miles west of Manitowoc.

Out-of-town relatives who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gohlmer, mother and stepfather of the deceased; Miss Helen Gallagher, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Boncher, Mrs. E. J. Reeves, Capt. and Mrs. R. J. Gallagher, Miss Katherine Gallagher and Maurice Coll, of this city; Miss Gertrude Gallagher, Miss Margaret Gallagher, Chicago; Bernard and James Gallagher, Kenosha, Wis.

Many beautiful flowers and a large number of spiritual offerings were received at the convent where the body lay, pending funeral services.

LAWRENCE MAN CLUB SPEAKER

"The Changing Attitude Toward Life," was the subject of an interesting address delivered before members of the Escanaba Rotary club, at the regular weekly meeting of that organization at noon yesterday at the Delta hotel, by Dr. R. C. Mullin, dean of freshmen at Lawrence college.

The address traced the attitude toward life of the individual from sprightly childhood, through the impetuous teens, the enthusiastic twenties, the fighting thirties, the accomplishing forties, the realizing fifties and the complacent sixties. It formed an interesting study of the value of personal ideals and was made by the speaker, an appeal for the carrying of some of the enthusiasms of the average man's early life into his later years.

The Arkansas legislature is trying to find out when a pup becomes a dog. They haven't got around to that one about the hen and the egg yet, but they're progressing. . . . Pennsylvania legislators would have to wear high hats, frock coats and striped pants if a measure in that state passed. We'd like to see the women lawmakers if that proposal got by. . . . Ishabod Crane died too young for the New Hampshire legislature, but the members are trying to make up for it now with a law providing that all beds be seven feet above ground. . . . Maryland, my Maryland, is in the throes of legislation to protect green crabs and sponge crabs. And all this time we'd thought all the sponges had moved to Ontario. . . . North Carolina legislators are turning their fire on petting. Undoubtedly a law would stop this practice.

"SUGAR MOON" STILL RAIDED

Peter Klotz, of Maple Ridge, Received Visit From Sheriff.

Peter Klotz, Maple Ridge township, was the victim of a raid conducted by Sheriff Elmer Swanson and Under Sheriff J. P. Carney yesterday afternoon when the pair seized his complete distilling apparatus on route M-25, between Beaver and Trembley.

The still was located in a shack in the woods about 300 feet from Klotz' home, but was not in operation at the time of the raid. The capacity of the still is estimated at about 40 gallons.

The raiding crew found 250 gallons of sugar-mash used in the manufacture of moonshine whiskey and about 30 gallons of alleged moonshine whiskey, 25 gallons of which was in the shack and about five gallons in the Klotz home.

The moonshine found in the home and about two gallons of that found in the shack were brought back to be used as evidence. The remainder was destroyed. Klotz had just finished operating the still and had gone back to his house when members of the sheriff's department arrived.

Klotz will be arraigned in Justice Henry E. Hanguette's court this morning at 9 o'clock on a charge of sale, possession and keeping a still.

Easy to Keep the System Sweet at Any Age

Many people who never have taken a laxative eat a candy cascaret now and then. Do you know why?

They have found that cascara sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral salts leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascade the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a cascaret only once a week is all the tonic they need.

Cascara is splendid for children, too, and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every drugstore has for 10c and 25c.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—"It is drawn from real life!" This has been a chief defense of those accused of smutting in connection with the present theatrical housecleaning.

And true enough it is what the dramatic versions of strange twists taken by present day life have not told half the story.

Let's take a little slant into the dramas and the realities. Here is one play revealing fast-paced old dowagers buying the company of young men—generally referred to as gigolos.

Now there is a certain hotel lobby within a stone's throw of the heart of Broadway where, as a matter of fact, these grotesquely varnished, beauty parlor, overdressed women of late years wait for their "boy friends."

At tea-dance time in come the "sh" ish young men hair plastered down, clothes over-tailored, and escort the "mamas" to a car which her money has provided.

Some of the women are old enough to be grandmothers of their escorts and a few who could not easily be the mothers.

Their "boy friends" are frequently surly, curt and contemptuous, complaining that their last month's allotment was insufficient to keep up the necessary appearances.

And frequently, too, there appears in the newspapers a story of the wealthy old widow who was found beaten and robbed "under mysterious circumstances."

Oh, yes, the background of the play is quite true—terribly, grotesquely true.

Or wander into any tea dance, any night club and watch the parade of daddies on the arm of some flapperian youngster.

Reno, the Magician In Manistique Next Thursday, March 3

Reno, the Magician

Manistique school students will have an opportunity on Thursday afternoon to see a fine performance by Edward Reno, famous magician...

For 35 years, Reno has been a magician, and in that time he has traveled all over the world, including India, Syria and Egypt.

Reno is constantly inventing new things in magic and illusions, also in foreign lands he picked up many things not known even to professionals.

Like everything else, magic has progressed with rapid strides during the past few years.

Reno has the usual light paraphernalia, but performs his tricks while in ordinary evening dress, and so adroitly as to escape detection in every case.

Reno has the usual light paraphernalia, but performs his tricks while in ordinary evening dress, and so adroitly as to escape detection in every case.

Not the least enjoyable feature of Reno's performance is the running fire of comment with which he enlivens everything he does.

These fragmentary remarks are full of fun and wit, with flash after flash of good-tempered satire aimed at himself or his work.

He is a man of fine personality and engaging stage presence, with an appreciation of the success he has achieved in his profession.

In his performance, he springs one surprise after another on his audience, and the offering Thursday night is expected to prove popular with Manistique lyceum patrons.

Still in her teens. She caters to his every whim. She drags his tottering feet across the dance floor. From her neck hangs a glittering pendant and upon her arms are sparkling circlets.

She stirs his drink and takes the first sip. His wrinkled hand rests upon her arm, carefully manicured fingers. She has the sparkle of youth and is not without actual beauty.

It isn't just an unusual or segregated case. It's everywhere you turn.

And there are many variations on the last chapter of this scene.

Perhaps either one of these stories presented upon the stage would make a good play—even a great play—of social satire and criticism.

Anyone who cares to cast a critical eye can observe to his heart's content.

The stage may have presented much storied smut—but it has n't told half the story.

—GILBERT SWAN.

THEATRES

AT THE LYRIC. Malcolm St. Clair, who gave the screen a sophisticated French comedy in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," proves with his latest directorial effort, "The Show-Off," that he is just as much at home with the humor, human type of picture.

Logical story development and strikingly life-like characterizations make First National's "What Pools Men," the new Community offering, a play easy to follow. It is an adaptation from Henry Kitchell Webster's novel, "Joseph Green and His Daughter."

The story deals with the ambition of an inventor, long out of touch with the civilized world, to pit his intellect against the brains of a coterie of stock market operators who back him in marketing a device which promises to revolutionize the manufacture of linen.

Knowing that these men put their money into the enterprises with the sole idea of eventually eliminating him, he proceeds to protect himself. Yet when his daughter, caught in the whirl of society life, into which his affiliation with his backers has made it possible to introduce her, develops a viewpoint not in accord with his the tragedy of a break with the one object on which he has so long lavished his affection causes him to lose interest.

FR. MAIER'S ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED

The fifteenth anniversary of the entrance into the priesthood of Rev. Fr. S. Maier, pastor of All Saints' Catholic church, was observed Monday with a banquet for visiting clergymen at the parsonage early in the evening, followed by a reception at All Saints' parish hall, attended by the members of the congregation.

The observance of the anniversary was planned by members of the congregation in appreciation of the pastor's excellent administration of the affairs of the parish since his appointment to the pastorate here, and it was arranged as an anniversary surprise for him.

Presented With Parsonage. The banquet, at which visiting clergymen were guests, was held in the early evening at the parsonage. The reception, attended by members of the congregation and other friends, was held in the evening at the parish hall. A program was given, including numbers of music and readings.

Presentation to the pastor of a purse, a slight expression of the esteem of the people of his congregation, was made in their behalf by Rev. Fr. Raymond Jacques, of St. Anne's parish, Escanaba, dean of the diocese.

The ad taker who will answer your call has been trained to help you with the wording of your advertisement—for a cook, or a house to rent, or of some furniture for sale. She may suggest a change here and there—you may have put in a fact that is unnecessary or left out one that should be included.

But you will never be allowed to lose sight of the fact that she is there to make it easier for you to get the most satisfactory results from your ad in the shortest possible time. That's the business of Press ad takers!

TRADE VOLUME GROWS LARGER

New York, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Speculative operations for the rise, which have been under way, with few interruptions, for nearly five consecutive weeks, gained when aggressive bullish demonstrations were staged in a number of high-priced industrials. Trading showed a further expansion in volume, running above two and one-half million shares. The average of 20 leading industrials shares touched a new high record for all time.

Banks called about $20,000,000 in loans, but the call money rate held steady at 4 1/2 per cent.

General Motors resumed its role as a market leader by climbing 6 points to 165, the highest since the declaration of the 50 per cent stock dividend.

There were a few gains even larger, Houston Oil soaring 17 points to a new high record at 120 1/2 and closing within a small fraction of the top price.

Bullish sentiment in the stock market was partly created by the more encouraging nature of the weekly business reviews and stiffening non-ferrous metal prices.

Nearly 30 railroad and industrial shares touched their highest prices since 1925, or longer, the list including Wabash common and preferred "A", Canadian Pacific, Pure Oil, and General Asphalt common and preferred.

Time money was a little firmer, being quoted on a flat 4 1/2 per cent basis, in stead of 4 1/4 to 4 1/2. Prime commercial rates were unchanged.

Cotton closed unchanged to 11 points higher but the other principal commodity markets lost ground. Active wheat futures declined about half a cent a bushel, coffee sagged 15 to 15 points and sugar sagged 3 to 4 points.

Except for moderate gains in the Norwegian and Spanish currencies, the leading foreign exchange rates showed little change on the day. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 1/2, and French francs just above 3.90 cents.

SAINT and SINNER

of Anne Austin 1926 by NEA SERVICE

When Faith reached the little Myrtle Street house on Christmas night, her bitter disappointment over the failure of the clue of the half footprint in the snow was thrust into the background by a new calamity. She found Jim Lane pottering about the kitchen, messily concocting a villainous-looking mustard plaster and directing Junior in the mixing of an evil-smelling dose of turpentine, kerosene oil and lard.

"Joy's got the crop," Jim explained. "Your Ma used to doctor you kids with mustard plasters and make you swallow that stuff that Junior's mixing. Didn't know anything else to do."

"I'll attend to her," Faith told him, stopping a moment to kiss the bald spot on his grizzled head. She found Joy so ill and requiring so much attention that she had no time even to think of the crippled beggar. Sunday was a strenuous day of caring for the querulous, red-nosed and feverish little invalid, preparing dinner from the left-overs of the Christmas feast and paying a visit to Cherry in the jail. Because it was the holiday season, the warden and the matron winked at restrictions which permitted visitors only twice a week.

Faith found Cherry in gay mood. "One hundred and forty-one telegrams wishing me the best of luck in the coming trial," she sang out joyfully as soon as she had greeted her sister. "And I've got more Christmas gifts than any other prisoner; eight dozen roses, eleven pots of polka-dot, five pairs of the shrewdest black chiffon stockings! People are so good to me!"

Faith scarcely heard the rest of her eager monologue, as a sudden thought flashed through her mind. What fools she and Bob had been, to be so easily discouraged! She broke ruthlessly into Cherry's gay little chronicle of her pathetic Christmas.

"I've got to run now, darling. I'll bring two of your dresses to you Tuesday—the next visitors' day. No, I'm sorry, honey, I can't stay another minute." She couldn't tell Cherry about the cripple, lest she arouse her hopes, only to dash them later. But she telephoned to Bob immediately.

BOILERMAKERS' ATTACK CRACKS

Hold Wolverines Even in First Five Minutes of Play.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 28—(AP)—Michigan strengthened its hold on first place in the Western Conference basketball race by defeating Purdue, 42 to 20, here tonight.

After holding the Wolverines on even terms during the first five minutes of play, the Boiler-makers' defense cracked and they trailed at half time, 9 to 21. During the second period, Michigan doubled its score while the Indiana team was able to collect only 11 points.

BABE CAN'T GET SALARY BOOST

New York Yankees Will Stand Pat on Offer of $52,000.

New York, Feb. 28—(AP)—The New York Yankees apparently were making no idle gesture to comply with baseball law when they offered Babe Ruth a renewal of his old $52,000 a year contract for 1927.

The club intends to stand pat on this proposal, it was learned on good authority today, in spite of the Babe's trans-continental ballyhoo for a new contract at the record-breaking figure of $100,000.

Four Records Topple at A. A. U. Track Meet

Madison Square Garden, New York, Feb. 28—(AP)—One world's and three meet records were toppled tonight as the New York Athletic Club's well balanced array won a spirited team battle from the Illinois A. C., 1926 titleholders, for the national A. A. U. indoor track and field championship.

The world's record went to the credit of Lloyd Hahn, crack Boston A. A. runner when he won the 1,000 yard race in 2 minutes, 12 4-5 seconds.

Hahn's performance, the most sensational of the night, also established a new meet record along with the shot put mark of 45 feet 5 inches, made by Herb Schwartz, Wisconsin giant, and the 600 yard record of 1:13 1-5 by George Leness of the New York A. C.

WE offer for your consideration a new pipe tobacco of singular merit, Granger Rough Cut. Modestly priced, because instead of costly lithographed tins it is inexpensively and sensibly packed in heavy foil. But we urge you to judge it neither on package nor price, but on the two things pipe smokers will most enjoy; its good taste and its superb smoking qualities. We believe that for character, mild richness, and coolness, Granger will compare with any pipe tobacco made. At ten cents per package (due to the foil wrapper), it is beyond question the greatest tobacco value to be had today.

CAV'S VETO OF FARM BILL IS GOOD POLITICS

necessarily mean he will be eliminated for much water can run over the dam between now and June, 1928.

The fight from the west will be continued next December when congress reconvenes. Unquestionably the attorney-general's opinion that the bill would be declared unconstitutional will add another feature to the situation which has not been conspicuous before and will enable those who are on the fence in congress to say they want farm legislation but that they believe this particular bill would be invalid.

Long Expected. The disappointment of the west where high hopes had been entertained that Mr. Coolidge would NOT veto the bill is in a measure due to a misconception of Coolidge policies. For weeks and months, dispatches have gone out stating that the chief executive was fundamentally opposed to the McNary-Haugen bill. His veto is not a surprise to those who have taken seriously his previous expressions on farm legislation.

But when all is said and done, the effect of the veto is that another congress will have adjourned in a few days without solving the basic problem involved in the exportable surplus. Next time the administration forces will have to take the offensive and put through their idea of farm relief or run the risk in 1928 of being completely on the defensive. Even friends of the administration will concede that not enough of the affirmative action has been taken to get a farm relief bill of some kind through and that negative action can never be politically helpful in the long run.

Frank Winninger Riotously Funny In Opening Play

Frank Winninger in plus-fours and a brown derby playing golf at night; Frank, Winninger in a flaming bathing suit and a brown derby "looking for the English channel"; Frank in a tuxedo and a brown derby churning his brain for excuses for not going home. There you have a cross section of the role in which the veteran laugh-maker said "hello" to his old friends in Escanaba at the Delft last night. The name of the piece was "Mama Loves Papa" and it was typical Winninger fun. He was greeted by a capacity house.

The story concerned a young wife, beautiful and not so dumb, who took the advice of a friend and "stepped out" to a party, merely because a hard-working husband insisted on working nights to garner sufficient cash to pay off a mortgage on the lit 'n'astid'. The party led to complications—one of which was a French dancer—and finally, of course, a happy ending.

Not the least item of interest is the fact that the company is far and away superior to any which Frank has brought to Escanaba in previous years. Miss Lesalyn Delsell as the fretful wife was splendid; Miss Eugenia Bariness as the wife's ultra-wise friend; Deborah Deming as a suspicious neighbor; Adolph Winninger as the village cop; Hal Sandeen as the hard-working husband; Lawrence Deming as the clubman who engineered the fateful party; and Herbert Travis as Frank's inebricate golfing companion, all demonstrated that the entire cast is capable and well-balanced.

Frank, greatly to the delight of the audience, sang his classic song, "When I Was a Boy in School," following it with some clarinet business and a couple of other ditties. The costuming, settings and other

Senate to Discuss Trust Companies Measure Wednesday

Lansing, Feb. 28.—The Condon bill which would give state trust companies banking privileges is to be brought forth from the senate committee on banks and corporations for public discussion Wednesday evening, March 2. Senator George Watson, chairman of the committee, makes the announcement believing that the bringing together of banking and trust company officials will do much to straighten out the tangle caused when the 1925 legislature passed a measure giving to state banks the authority of trust companies.

The two bills were introduced at the 1925 session with the announcement that they were "company" bills, but it soon developed that a strong majority favored the banking bill but not the one giving trust companies additional powers.

Senator George M. Condon of Detroit, introduced the measure, similar to the one of two years ago, at the opening of the legislature. Opponents of his measure have pointed out as objections to the measure, that the organization of a bank requires certain trained personnel which the trust company has not available; that estates should be safeguarded in every possible way and thus less latitude granted a trust company than a state bank. They say that the two services are distinct; that the banks handling daily their clients money are in the position through equipment and knowledge of individuals, to handle safely estates.

Both bills have been put before the legislatures of the past ten years but failed of passage until 1925 when the state banks were victorious.

HURT ARM IN FALL FROM BOX CAR

Sustains painful injury but gets quick relief

In a fall from the top of a box car, a freight brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway badly sprained his left arm and tore some of the ligaments.

"I suffered great pain," he writes from Belle Plaine, Iowa. "Then I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away."

Sloan's gets results because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause.

Just put it on lightly. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Get a bottle today. All drug stores—55 cents.
