SENATE RULES TO BLAME FOR FILIBUSTERING

DAWES' VIEWS VINDICATED DURING LAST DAYS.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1926, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Mar. 4.—Only one man derived any satisfaction out of the situation in which the senate found itself on adjournment—and he was Charles G. Dawes, vice-president and architect of filibustering.

Everything that Mr. Dawes said in his speeches about the power of one or two senators to defeat the will of the majority has been vindicated. For while the closure rule which has been invoked from time to time is effective early in a session it can do no good in the closing hours of a session which expires automatically at noon on March 4.

Responsibility Plain. The responsibility for the filibusters of the last few days is inescapable. It is the senate rules. Both Republicans and Democrats have used the privilege alternately. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, Republican, wanted to prevent the senate campaign fund investigating committee from touring the country after adjournment of congress.

Mr. Dawes has pointed to the inflexibility of the senate rules as a serious menace to the legislative progress of the American congress. For not only does the senate effect its own series of measures but it blocks the house of representatives whose approval had in this instance been given to many bills and it, of course, deprives the president of the opportunity to exercise his constitutional right to take the last step that carries a bill into the status of a law.

CLEVER "MOON PLANT" FOUND

Milkiewicz Pumped Liquor From Tank Under Concrete Floor.

Kaelsimir "Charlie" Milkiewicz, the "Thomas A. Edison of the moonshine industry" in this vicinity, saw one of his ingenious inventions ruined in a raid conducted by members of the sheriff's and police departments yesterday afternoon when the officers hammered and pried their way through the concrete floor in the basement of his place at 132 Stephenson avenue to unearth a 12-gallon moonshine container from beneath the furnace.

The "plant" was directly beneath the furnace, making it necessary for the officers to remove about ten square feet of cement in order to take it. The container was tapped by a pipe that ran through the floor and into the furnace. Whenever the operator found it necessary to get some of the contents, it was an easy matter for him to attach a pump to the top of the pipe and take the quantity desired.

Milkiewicz has been regarded as something of a genius because of the contrivance that was found in his place a few years ago. He had just taken over the business in the building and had installed a large copper tank on the second floor. A pipe was run down the chandelier with a tap on it.

A small amount of "moonshine mud," made so because of the charcoal in it, was found in the moonshine plant. Joseph Warner, bartender for Milkiewicz, was arrested in connection with the raid on a charge of sale. Both men were arraigned in Justice Henry E. Ranguette's court and demanded an examination. Bonds for each were placed at $1,000. Milkiewicz is charged with possession and keeping a place. This is the second liquor law violation for both men.

REHEARSALS FOR PLAY ARE PROGRESSING

Special Scenery Is Being Painted For Show

Rehearsals for "The Upper Room," dramatic play, sponsored by St. Anne's branch of the Holy Name society, under the direction of Rev. Fr. Tom Dregacz, is progressing very favorably. A rehearsal will be held again Tuesday evening and every member of the cast is expected to be at the hall on time.

The various characters in the play have been chosen from among local talent. The scene is laid in the upper room where the Last Supper was enacted in the original Passion of the Lord, and the scenes of Mount Calvary are depicted in this beautiful drama.

Persons of every denomination are interested in the play and it is expected that many will attend the two performances and the Sunday matinee which will be given Sunday, March 21, at St. Joseph's auditorium.

The price of tickets will be twenty-five cents for children and seventy-five cents for adults. Children attending the evening performance will pay the adult price and adults attending the matinee will pay seventy-five cents. Children are urged to attend the afternoon performance.

The chorus of voices will be a feature of the play, as some of the best voices in St. Anne's choir are to be included in this number.

The scenery is being painted especially for this occasion and the scene on Mount Calvary alone will be an especially striking affair. The play is a religious one and very well adapted to the Lenten season, as the moral of the play tends to impress the passion and death on the cross of the Redeemer.

Tickets will be on sale beginning Tuesday, March 5, at the Hill Drug

SHRINE WILL BE DEDICATED

Bishop Nussbaum Arrives to Officiate at Ceremony.

The beautiful life-size statue of the newly canonized saint and the shrine have been donated to the church by members of the parish and through the efforts of Rev. Fr. Raymond Bergeron, a relic of the saint was sent to the parish direct from Lisieux, France, from members of the family of St. Therese.

This relic will be venerated immediately after the dedication of the shrine and solemn benediction with the blessed sacrament will be given. The people of this city and throughout the entire county have shown a great deal of zeal and devotion to the Little Flower of Jesus as St. Therese is called, and it is expected that the church will be filled for the service this evening.

Here it is!

Goodyear's new-type All-Weather Tread—especially designed for balloon tires

The World's Greatest Tire!

Here you see displayed the greatest tire combination ever offered to the public:

The famous SUPERTWIST cord structure—

With the new-type All-Weather Tread.

Exclusively Goodyear's—another Goodyear triumph!

The first big advantage you will get from this new tread is traction. Safe and sure-footed, the sharp-edged diamond-shaped blocks in the tread's center seize and grip and hang-on.

The second big advantage is long, slow, even tread wear, as opposed to the "cupping" and "potholes" until now characteristic of wear in balloons.

The third big advantage is freedom from structural failures and similar troubles, such as casing rupture and shoulder breaks.

Major benefits, these, proceeding from the new-type semi-flat tread with its heavily ribbed All-Weather pattern, and from the amazingly durable and elastic SUPERTWIST cords of which the casing is made.

We tested this tread under the harshest kind of conditions—picked it finally from eighty separate and individual designs as outranking them all—and proved the tire's traction, wear and strength in the lessons learned in the operation of the Goodyear tire-testing fleet last year over a total of 5,400,000 tire-miles!

This new Goodyear, with its new-type All-Weather tread and SUPERTWIST casing, is the greatest tire Goodyear ever made and the crowning achievement of the most progressive tire company in the world:

—the company which has never been halted in its onward sweep to leadership and which in recent years has steadily increased its pace

—which has made and placed into service nearly 100,000,000 tires, millions more than any other maker

—which alone uses nearly one-seventh of all the crude rubber produced annually on the earth, almost 50% more than any other manufacturer —which every year for the last ten years has made and sold more tires than any other company in the world —which focuses on development, chemical research and service work the largest engineering body of its kind —which operates its own cotton plantation, textile mills, rubber plantation, coal mines, factories and branches, to the end of delivering the tire-user the greatest possible value for his dollar.

These facts and others like them explain why the new All-Weather Tread Goodyear Balloon is the world's greatest tire.

It is outstandingly the newest, tested reason why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!

This great tire is available at all Goodyear Service Stations and backed by every Goodyear Dealer with a service pledged "to provide facilities so that users will get all the inbuilt Goodyear value out."

A GREAT RECORD.

While the proven ability of the month of March in the past, to produce quantities of snow, is fully recognized, it can be stated as an accomplished fact that the Michigan state highway department has fully proven its ability to maintain the roads of this state for winter automobile traffic...

The state highway department, through the organization it built up, in an almost incredible space of time, to the county road departments, has accomplished something that was generally believed to be impossible...

Throughout the past winter there has not been any two days in succession when any resident of the upper peninsula could not travel to any section of the peninsula that he desired, in his automobile...

While the credit for the state's success of the winter's snow removal work is due the state highway department, it is also a fact that few counties in the entire state could boast of more perfect winter roads than were provided in Delta county...

And when the matter of winter maintenance is being discussed, it must be admitted, that the city of Escanaba, itself through the efforts of City Manager T. R. Kessler, hung up a record for snow removal...

all of the bills now pending are enacted into laws. That is too large a sum of money to be distributed on the present semi-political basis...

Such a plan is proposed in the Upjohn bill, now before the house. Dr. Upjohn's measure would create a state tuberculosis commission of seven...

The Michigan Tuberculosis association points out that the Howell institution is in such a bad state of repair that it would have to be entirely rebuilt. The association believes that a sanatorium, run in connection with a university hospital would be an efficient addition to the program...

These questions are too vital and too technical to be settled on the floor of the state legislature. Dr. Upjohn points the way out of the tangle...

UNTRAINED PERFECTION. The man who is untrained in the use of words often can express himself better than the man who thinks himself a skilled writer...

TRAFFIC DRILL FOR WALKERS. Motorists make better pedestrians than those who do not own automobiles, says the secretary of an automobile club...

It wasn't for nothing that the Chinese spent the last few years practicing war on one another...

FOR A TB COMMISSION. Lowell interests have begun their biennial campaign in the legislature for funds with which to rebuild and enlarge the state tuberculosis sanatorium...

THE MOST DISCOURAGING fact is not that the prisons are so overcrowded but that they ought to be more so...

The Piffle Hook

FRANK WINNINGER steps forward with a contribution to the chain of musical anecdotes which Gene Sullivan started in this great Pill of Piffle...

HKR: That hotel owner who committed suicide the other day was not suffering from nervous shock. A guest at the hotel checked out, leaving behind him all of the hotel's towels...

THAT THUNDEROUS silence which beats down so intensely on your ear drums is not the fabled herald of an impending storm. It is merely congress going home...

When we read about Charlie Dawes scolding the senate for its antiquated rules, we are reminded of the fable of Old King Canute, who is supposed to have spoken the ocean for falling to heed his royal edict regulating the tides...

HENRY FORD'S railroad had an operating deficit for January, but there is no truth in the rumor that sympathetic friends in Wall street are thinking of taking up a collection for Henry...

HKR: As big as life—maybe a little bigger—I walked into your office. My knees seemed to lose their accustomed rigidity as I approached your desk...

THE CHICAGO police department has organized a "misleading persons" bureau, perhaps with the idea that one of these days somebody will want to locate Tommy O'Connor...

THE QUESTION of the difference between a diamond ring and a head of lettuce was settled by the supreme court (12-Mich-4-11-44) in the case of Sap vs. Yap...

THE TINYMITES

Story by Hal Cochran—Pictures by Knick

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURES)

The Tinymites liked the Crooked Man, who said, "I'll do whatever I can to show you folks a dandy time. Just follow where I go." He walked along a crooked lane, and smartly swung his crooked cane. Said Scouty, "He's a dandy sort, and funny as a show." They hadn't walked so very far until the man said, "Here we are. This is the house I live in and you're welcome as can be. Just run inside and have some fun." And so they all did, one by one. The house was also crooked, as they all could plainly see. The windows and the doors were queer, but sunlight brought the place some cheer. The Tinymites started walking 'round, exploring as they went. Why, even hairs twisted 'round, and so was everything they found. Said Clowzy, "For this sort of thing I wouldn't give a cent."

LUMBER REVIEW

In its weekly review of the lumber market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says:

Lumbermen find business a little slow, as is usual at this season, but many of those who have compared their volume for 1927 to date, with that for last year, have discovered that this year's volume has been larger.

An analysis of figures reported by the principal softwood mills of the country confirms that a larger quantity of lumber has sold. The six large softwood manufacturing groups whose reports for the two periods are available give out the following figures: During the first seven weeks of 1926 there had been 3,303 weekly mill reports, giving total orders booked as 1,321,816 thousand feet, or an average of 678 thousand feet a mill a week.

For the first seven weeks of 1927, weekly reports the same groups of mills numbered 2,168 and gave orders booked as 1,497,132 thousand feet, or an average of about 690 thousand feet a mill a week. This shows that, compared with 1926, the 1927 average orders per mill per week gained twenty percent.

Though a good part of the country is still handicapped by bad weather, more activity is being shown in the lumber trade. None of the distributors, however, are adding very freely to their stocks, but are sorting them up in readiness for spring.

Continuance of hand to mouth buying is generally expected, but naturally there will be a larger flow of softwood from the mills as soon as the yards begin to move out lumber to jobs.

On present volume, softwood prices have barely remained firm, for disposal of surplus lots has given the market a weak aspect. Manufacturers had been expecting earlier advances, and, in fact, the price level is too low to permit many of the smaller mills to operate.

The list has a strong undertone, and it is generally believed that not much gain in trade volume would be required to bring prices up a few dollars. Northern pine, which is produced close to its sales territory, has felt the first effects of increasing yard orders, and quotations on a number of items have advanced.

The hardwood people are getting a good deal more business from the automobile factories, though building trades and furniture takings are held down, largely by bad weather. To date this year the southern mills, which are responsible for about six-sevenths of the annual cut, have sold twenty-one percent more than they manufactured.

Northern mills report a steady gain in business; this is their season of heaviest production. Prospects for foreign trade in hardwoods have been vastly improved by a reduction of five cents a hundred pounds in ocean rates.

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S PROGRAMS. AT THE DELFT—Final appearances of the Frank Winger company this season. The matinee and night offering will be "The Sap," made famous by Raymond Hitchcock.

AT THE STRAND—George O'Hara in a speedy comedy drama, "California or Bust."

"The Prince of Tempters," the first American work of Lothar Mendes, the European director, comes to the Delft Monday and Tuesday. It will be interesting to see if the advance reports concerning the brilliance of this 28 year old director are realized in his film work.

Mendes worked side by side with Lubitsch in Europe, and the many reports which have come from the Cosmopolitan studios in New York, where this picture was made, place the young director side by side with Lubitsch as an artist.

Of equal importance is the cast list of this production, which shows the names of Ben Lyon, Lois Moran, Lya de Putli, Mary Brian and Ian Keith featured over a long line of well known picture performers.

AT THE STRAND. Following the precept laid down in director David Hartford's first three ACA Pictures, the latest, "The Man in the Shadow," which comes to the Strand Tuesday of an all-star cast was engaged to enact this thrilling melodrama.

In one of the most important roles, that of the mother of the boy who is sentenced to death on circumstantial evidence, is Myrtle Stedman, one of the screen's most gifted actresses. Playing opposite her, in the role of the governor, is David Torrence, veteran of many outstanding screen portrayals. As the boy, Joseph Bennett proves to be a leader among the younger artists of the screen.

Mary McAllister, as the daughter of the governor and the sweetheart of the condemned man, rises to the position of leading lady from which she is destined to climb even higher. Others who play important roles in this thrilling story are Arthur Rankin, John T. Dwyer, Margaret Fielding and Edward Coxen.

Mrs. Emil Erickson and sons Henry and Melvin left by motor yesterday morning for Flint where they will make their future home. On the way to Flint they will stop at Chicago to visit relatives. Mr. Erickson has been visiting there for the past month.

Among the latest inventions is an electrically driven life-buoy, designed to enable a rescuer to reach a drowning person quickly.

DETROIT ON AIR PASSENGER LINE

New Service Over Canada Connects With Buffalo.

Detroit, Mar. 5.—(AP)—Inauguration of a new and transcontinental passenger service through Detroit as being assured. With the removal of the last restriction to flying over Ontario by the Canadian government last week, the Ford Motor company has set July 1 as the date for forging the last link that will place Detroit on a trans-continental route.

The complete plan of operations calls for co-operation between three air companies. The Colonial Air transport company, of Boston, operating from Boston to New York, will extend its service to Buffalo to connect with the new Ford line. The Colonial company now carries passengers as well as mail and express. The new Ford line will carry mail and express at the beginning stages, later adding passenger service.

The Ford line will operate from Buffalo through Detroit to Chicago, connecting with the Boeing company, which operates from Chicago to San Francisco.

Connections at Chicago are now available for Dallas and other northern points on the National Air Transport, Inc. The Northwest Airways maintains service from Chicago to points as far north as Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Gladstone Man Is Granted Patents on Two Machines

Fred Young of Gladstone has returned from Washington where he secured a patent on a rake hay-loader and another on a drum harrow quack root puller. The rake hay loader is a combination rake and hay loader, which rakes the hay and loads it in one operation thereby eliminating a lot of work in harvesting time. The drum harrow quack root puller is a machine which takes up the quack root out of the ground and deposits it on top of the soil and exposing it to the sun. Quack grass is a well known pest among the farmers of this region. It has ruined many a farm, so that this machine will be welcomed. In these two inventions Mr. Young expects to relieve the farmer to a great extent.

Mr. Young expects to place these patents on the market soon to interested companies.

On his way to Washington, Mr. Young stopped over in Chicago and visited with his son Ralph, formerly of Escanaba.

Presbyterian Church Trustees Hold Meeting

The trustees of the First Presbyterian church met in the office of M. Matthews Friday evening, at which time important items of business were presented, among them a comprehensive plan for the annual every member canvass, which will be made on the afternoon of Monday, March 20th.

M. Matthews, treasurer, was appointed to investigate and sanction church purchases, the bills for which would be paid out of the regular church fund.

The new gymnasium is now ready for use, subject to the following rules, sanctioned by the board of trustees: An appointment must be made in advance with the janitor, L. J. McLeod, play lasts two hours, including the use of the showers, damage done must be paid for, and smoking anywhere in a building is prohibited.

Winner Stay At the Delft to Conclude Today

Two performances today of the Raymond Hitchcock comedy, "The Sap," will close the engagement of the Frank Waininger Comedy company. The Delft theatre, throughout the week, has been too small to accommodate the crowds who demanded tickets, a fact which tells, more eloquently than any mere words, that the theatre goes of the city were delighted with the quality of the entertainment offered them by the veteran comedian and his associates.

The Delft was packed, yesterday, with children to see "Junior" and Dawn, the clever children of Frank Waininger, in "Tom Sawyer." Of course the crowd liked it immensely. The entire company, last night, won new laurels in an uproarious farce, "The Fall Guy."

"The Sap," today's matinee and night bill, is regarded by Mr. Waininger as one of the very best comedies in which he has appeared in recent years, and there is no doubt that two more packed houses will greet the company on its final appearance.

Every Baby Needs Cod Liver Oil

DR. H. N. BUNDESEN, the health commissioner who has made such a remarkable record in lowering the infant mortality rate of Chicago, says: "Every baby should be given cod-liver oil. It is a food, not a medicine."

Babies that are properly fed and are given plenty of sunlight, fresh air and cod-liver oil are plump, solid and rosy cheeked. They are sick less often as their resistance to infection is noticeably increased. This is because Cod-Liver Oil contributes a second highly important food element, known as "the growing factor."

So rich is Gaufrin's Special High Grade Pure Norwegian Cod-Liver Oil in growth promoting substances that each teaspoonful of oil contains as much Vitamins A and D as there is in 1 pound of best creamery butter or cheese, or nine fresh eggs or twelve pints of milk. No wonder you notice the difference when this is added to their diet.

Books

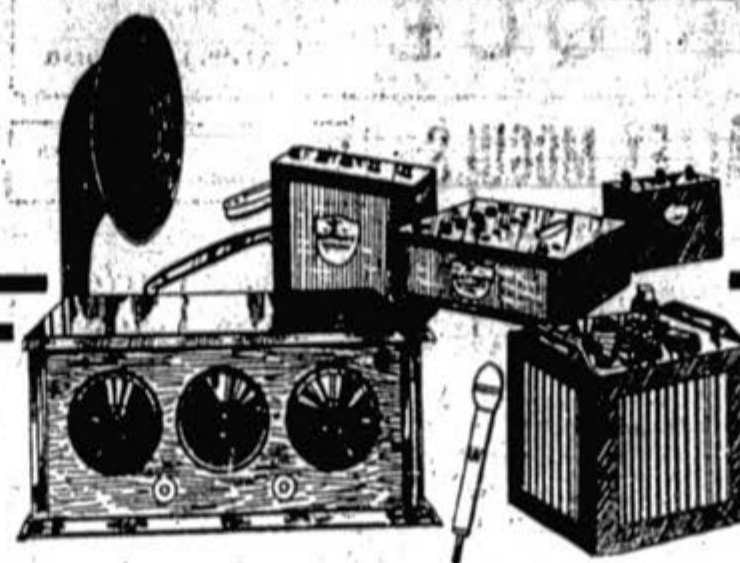

Books. BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY. Three novels are up on our desk, dealing entirely with those amazing young people of today... And half-a-dozen others upon the jackets of which we catch such phrases as, "the revolt of youth against conventions and fetters..." and "a gallant, modern girl, unruly, undaunted, finds at last her guiding force..." and "the story of a modern unconventional girl..." But why go on? Here we have Sir Philip Gibbs, who has been viewing with alarm since the war. He comes forth with "Young Anarchy" (Doran), the moral of which seems to be that the oldsters and the youngsters must come to some common meeting ground and get together before it is too late. He views the stage of irresponsibility and unconventionality as passed and a tempest of destructive tendencies coming unless young rebellion is directed into proper channels... And here we have "The Red Pavilion" (Harper) by John Gunther, who seems to have fallen under the spell of the Ariens and Huxleys since he left Chicago to dwell in London. His is a completely sophisticated slant at the young folk of the University of Chicago who, we take it, are more or less typical of all these mad, scrambling young people... Gunther's book is also under the influence of the Leopold-Loeb case and has a style so finished that it is the best Huxley tradition, yet backing in basic humor... Now in this novel are shown all the gestures of freedom as practiced by the ultra-precocious, including a very young wife who leaves her husband "in order to maintain her individuality." There is, too, that flaunting and boasting of unchastity that is just as annoying as a continual announcement of virtue—if the parties concerned could but realize it. One wonders while reading this book why, with all their intellectual superiority, the characters remain so befuddled and despairing. Perhaps that's the trouble: too much experimenting with ideas, without the necessary background... Anyway, a third novel is "Lord of Himself" (Century) by the same Percy Marks who stirred up a campus or two with "The Plastic Age." It does not approach the first book, but continues the characters through more gin, jazz and joy, necking, nighties and night clubs and the release of Carl when his mother dies. For, we are shown, apron strings are strong fetters. This may be said for it: the book doubtless is as near an accurate account of "goings on" in the not so young younger set, as one could ask. Perhaps it is even worth preserving as a portrait of the times... But still, having grown older and older as the characters of fiction grow younger and younger, we continue to wonder whether the writers are not taking themselves and their subjects quite as seriously as the youngsters take themselves... There is no doubt but most families have a daughter, a cousin, a girl friend of the young man of the house or know someone who keeps their tongues wagging and brings the oldsters to much whispering and head-shaking... Yet are the oldsters setting any particular example? Perhaps we know the wrong sort of people, but somehow it seems pretty generally the case that cocktails are swallowed and jazz is jizzed by oldsters and youngsters alike... Furthermore, out of the welter of young people we know who have absorbed more at 18 than most of us did at 25, we have observed some who seemed to us fascinating personalities and give us buoyant hopes for the future of the race. They are more truly alert and aware and clear-minded than most political candidates would have their future voters. They see clearly through the bunk of life and in spite of a lack of concrete experience, are not so likely to tolerate any conditions as their grandpas... They are radical, to a large extent, but largely because they have been born in an era when every sort of buncombe was practiced before their very eyes. They have heard vaguely of a prohibition law, for instance, only to find any youth on the campus with a flask on his hip and, returning home, find mama and papa throwing a cocktail party. They have seen political chicanery practiced and every theory of wedlock upstair... Of course they're wise. And no single writer has pictured them according to our particular experiences. We expect to read darn few more volumes about them unless the book jackets change their lurid invitations... A first edition of Rudyard Kipling's "School Lyrics" was sold for $2250 at the Paul Hyde Bonner sale at the American art galleries.

SHERIFF GETS "SUGAR" STILL

John Smith Awaiting Hearing on Charge of Operating Plant.

Sheriff Elmer Swanson and Deputy Sheriff C. L. Tordeur yesterday confiscated a 75-gallon still used in the manufacture of moonshine whisky, about 1,000 gallons of cane sugar mash, all used in the process and about five gallons of the finished product in a raid conducted on a "shack in the woods" about five miles off route M-12, near St. Jacques.

John Smith, who has been paroled after a liquor law violation, was at the scene and arrested in connection with it. Smith was taken to the county jail where he awaits preliminary hearing.

The still had just ceased operating when the sheriff's department arrived and was being made ready for another run. The moonshine made in the morning had been carted away a few minutes before the officers arrived.

Sheriff Swanson and his department have been conducting a "special drive" on the moonshine makers of the county during the past few weeks.

Victor Dealers To Inspect New Machines Monday

Distributors of Victor talking machines in the upper peninsula will meet at the Delta hotel Monday to witness a demonstration of the latest innovation produced by the Victor company—a machine which changes its own records and plays for an hour without a stop.

The company is familiarizing dealers with the device. It will be introduced to the public soon. This sales conference is one of a series which are being conducted throughout the United States and Canada.

About 20 distributors and representatives of the "home office" at Camden, N. J., along with wholesalers from Milwaukee, Chicago and Minneapolis, will be in the city Monday for the meeting.

Among the sixty-four slides to be shown are to be found those portraying the beautiful and interesting, and also the squalid conditions of the nation's greatest city.

The congregation will see more in forty-five minutes on the screen than could be taken in an many hours of sight-seeing in the city itself. In addition to the sixty-four slides that make up the lecture proper, there are twenty-one slides which illustrate the poem, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life," with which the evening's program will be brought to a close.

Salvation Army Asks for Aid for Cornell Family

Capt. Lydia Strand, in charge of the local Salvation Army post, yesterday issued an appeal for groceries, clothing and household goods for a home for Henry Wilson, his wife and their 15-year-old daughter whose home at Cornell was destroyed by fire while they were absent.

"The need is urgent and the case is a worthy one," said Captain Strand. "Anyone who is interested in assisting the family is asked to notify the Salvation Army headquarters, or sending donations to the Army."

Captain Strand believes there will be a generous response to the appeal.
