

ing for their lives, the looting and wanton destruction of American schools and homes of the American consulate itself were studied closely by President Coolidge and his cabinet. No decision to send troops or additional naval forces to China was reached.

President Coolidge feels that the forces now available will be adequate to deal with the immediate situation. The admiral has made no request that has not been complied with, and every action he has taken or authorized including the still pending threat to shell military points in Nanking, has full approval of the Washington government.

"The state and navy departments stand squarely back of Admiral Williams and our commanders in that they have been going to protect American lives and property in China." Secretary Kellogg said in a formal statement after the cabinet meeting.

Responsibility Set Aside.
The question of fixing responsibility for the murder of Americans and destruction of American property in Nanking has been set aside until the fate of those still hiding in the city, fearing to attempt even the short trip to the water front and safety, was known. But it will be taken up in due course with responsible heads of the Cantonese government.

All through the day, President Coolidge kept closely in touch with the only official source of news from Nanking, the naval radio. Late in the day the stocky figure of Sergeant-Major Tom Dorney, Secretary Wilbur's marine orderly, and himself a veteran of many a clash such as that at Nanking, carried the first reassuring message from Admiral Hough to the White House, striding cross-roads in his haste.

It was a dramatic story of horror and heroism that unfolded hour by hour as the stuttering radio bridged the thousands of miles from Nanking to Washington to keep the home government in almost hourly touch with developments.

Defy Ultimatum.
Daylight brought word that Cantonese authorities at Nanking had declined in insolent language to comply with the previous ultimatum to produce foreign survivors at the water front under escort or take the consequences.

"It may be necessary to fire upon barracks and on the salient military points in order to obtain release of Americans remaining alive ashore, approximately 150," Hough said at Shanghai.

His message told also of indirect reports that Chiang Katshek, generalissimo of the Cantonese army, was hastening in person to Nanking to restore order and obtain release of foreigners. Chiang had requested delay in action by American and British warships to give him an opportunity for peaceful efforts, but Hough and his British naval colleague thought only of the terrified foreign women and children huddled in instant fear of death in the seething city.

Terse warning had been served the Cantonese commanding general to send an officer of the rank of division commander aboard the warships before noon "to negotiate and arrange for proper treatment of wounded foreigners ashore."

Will Take Action.
"If this demand is not complied with, Chiang's request cannot be guaranteed and we shall take such action as may be deemed necessary," the warning said.

At Shanghai, Admiral Williams and the British and Japanese commanders-in-chief held hasty conference. They also, through British sources had learned of Chiang's effort to reach Nanking and avert further foreign vengeance or rioting by Cantonese troops. Chiang is known to be a moderate and the admirals believed he might be successful in preventing more bloodshed.

They advised Hough and his British colleague to defer further drastic action, if possible, until Chiang arrived.

Back came the answer from Hough:
"I do not believe that the details of the situation are completely understood by the commander-in-chief," he said.
"I agree with the British senior officer here that unless our nationals are promptly released and delivered at the bund, drastic action must be taken in order to save the lives of those remaining in the city."
Wounded Need Attention.
"There are wounded ashore who cannot receive attention and should not be longer neglected. These include the British consul general. I believe that radical action would preserve their lives and that further delay would defeat this possibility."
"I believe in shelling military points, avoiding injury to the civil populace as much as possible. This shelling at this time would have an excellent effect upon the port of Nanking and all along the river."
Insolent Reply Made.
"I have just received an evasive and insolent reply from the local army commander. I consider that if concrete action is not taken firmly and immediately here, lives of the remaining Americans and British may be lost and that all British and Americans must promptly evacuate the Yangtze valley in order to save their lives."
"Unless I am otherwise instructed and unless the situation radically changes, will jointly with the British late this afternoon shell the salient military points and military yamen (headquarters). I am sending a final warning by Chinese military orderly. The arrival of Chiang Kai-Shek is problematical and we do not consider that under these conditions he is strong enough to control the situation even if he so desire or should arrive in time to save the remaining lives."

The admirals at Shanghai promptly answered, withdrawing their suggestion of delay and authorizing Hough and the British commander to act on their own judgment. At Nanking, the ships' guns were swung to await the hour that would let loose their destroying blasts of retribution.

Hours Pass Slowly.
Again Washington and Shanghai waited as the slow hours passed. Perhaps the guns were already roaring at Nanking, but in the meantime came chattering through the air from Admiral Williams a picture of the situation all along the great valley of the Yangtze and at Shanghai itself that told of the tenacity and of the growing fear that anti-foreign fanaticism would flame to fire in other cities.

"GIVE HER CHANCE."
Washington, Mar. 25—(AP)—A plea to let China work out her destiny unmolested by the United States was voiced tonight by Senator Borah in an address before the National Good Housekeeping conference.

Urging that America pursue a "hands off" policy in Chinese affairs, the senator, who is chairman of the important foreign relations committee of the senate, declared that he believed that out of the chaos of the Orient would come a "permanent and real democracy which will take its place among the nations of the world."

"I thank God that nationalism marched into Shanghai yesterday," he said, adding that the spirit which prompted the Chinese of today was the same that impelled the American colonists in efforts for freedom.

Willis-Overland Earned $1,800,000 During Past Year

New York, Mar. 25—(AP)—The annual report of the Willis-Overland company for 1926, made public tonight, showed net income of $1,819,690, after depreciation, federal taxes and extraordinary charge-offs, as compared with $11,422,777 in 1925. Last year's earnings are equivalent to 22 cents a share ($5 par value) on 5,256,362 shares outstanding, as against $4.36 each on 3,264,661 shares in the preceding year.

John N. Willis, president of the company, explained that the relatively poor showing was due to the unusually heavy development expense incurred in the introduction of new models and the loss of sales while this work was being accomplished. Total car sales in 1926 were 179,103 as compared with 214,460 in 1925 and 162,988 in 1924.

The Packard Motor Car company reports net profit for the six months ended February 28 of $5,909,938, after depreciation, federal taxes, etc., as compared with $9,002,358 in the same period a year ago. This is equivalent to $1.36 a share (Par $10) on 3,094,364 shares, as against $3.06 on 2,614,722 shares.

Radio Comish Prepares for Battle For The Air

BY ISRAEL KLEIN.
Radio Editor, NEA Service.
With the departure of congressmen, lobbyists and political hangers-on from Washington, a new army is preparing to converge on the capital.

It is an army of broadcasters and their attorneys, of representatives of radio societies, of radio engineers and "experts," some prepared to fight for their present rights, others armed for new privileges, all yelling in one harmonious din:
"We want the air!"

Behind a bulwark of final authority hurriedly set up by the new radio law that Congress has passed will be the radio commission appointed by President Coolidge.

Its Word Will Be Law.
There will be a hot fight. But small as it is against the thousands who will converge upon it, the commission is confident of victory, for the new law gives it complete and final authority over the whole situation.

That is, so far as the law goes. But there is a general fear that the federal courts soon will become clogged with civil lawsuits, against the government and individual broadcasters, for alleged rights which the commission has denied.

The army of 733 broadcasters, about 200 additional applicants for broadcasting licenses, about 18,000 holders of commercial and amateur licenses, their attorneys, engineers and radio organization representatives doubtless will put up a complicated battle.

There will be little trouble disposing of all but the broadcasters. Wavelengths and power are set definitely for the amateur and commercial stations, and there's no interference among them.

Only 80 Wavelengths.
The broadcasters will come with stolen wavelengths, increased power, local congestion, interference in time, heterodyning of signals and a conglomeration of other difficulties.

All this the commission has the power to iron out, but that's the problem. There are only 89 wavelengths available for broadcasting, with 733 now on the air using these 89 among them, and some 200 more demanding recognition.

The commission's first step will be an exhaustive study of the situation. Engineers and other specialties will be called in. From their testimony the commission will have to decide whether wavelengths can be further divided, what the effective transmission distances are for various ranges of power from five to 50,000 watts, how far apart wavelengths have to be for the same locality and many similar technicalities.

These facts established, the commission will open the doors to the broadcasters. Then they will face further questions of priority, of the most good to fans, of experience and superiority of transmission, of congestion in cities like New York and Chicago, of time disposal and overuse of certain wavelengths.

"Public Interest" First.
The new law provides the commission may make "such changes as will promote public convenience or interest or will serve public necessity."
This means, in the eyes of many, that the number of broadcasters will have to be reduced to a maximum of 600 stations, for the present situation is not a "public convenience."
The commission starts with a

AMBASSADOR IS AMATEUR ACTOR

Vincent Massey, Canadian Envoy, Is Patron Of Little Theatre.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
Washington—Canada has sent us an unusual diplomat as her first minister to the United States.

In the first place, the Hon. Vincent Massey is "more American" than any other foreign envoy in Washington.

He is a Canadian type, but he comes from old American stock on both sides of his family.

He's a Dr.
This is his first diplomatic job and he is the first diplomat his great country ever sent to another nation.

He is personally dry—"diplomatic immunity" means nothing to him so far as liquor is concerned. And he is probably the only minister to Washington who has been an actor.

Over and above all this, Massey is an intellectual of high academic attainment, of proven business and financial ability and of such an engaging personality that he has made an immediately favorable impression on everyone with whom he has come in contact during his short period of residence here.

All of which is a rare combination for a diplomat or anyone else. A Salem Family.
The newest member of the diplomatic corps comes from an old family of Masseys which settled in Salem, Mass., in 1831, and lived there until about 1890. Massey admits that his forbears missed the Mayflower and sailed on a later boat, a surprising admission indeed, and he is not of those whom Canada knows as "U. E. Loyalists," and whom we know as Tories who fled north during the American revolution. There is American stock on Massey's maternal side, also, for his mother was a younger sister of the eminent Bishop Vincent, founder of Chautauque.

It may be suggested, though this is partially guesswork, that Massey is just a little nervous at this time. He has a right to be. Canada's eyes are fixed closely on her first diplomat while he goes through the harrowing experience of establishing his legal and its staff. It has been estimated that more than a third of the duties of the big British embassy here concern Canadian affairs, and it is these duties which Massey will take over.

Nothing Stirrin'.
"You won't get a drink up there," your correspondent was advised as he set out on his first visit to the temporary Canadian legation. The prediction was well founded. Massey's friends there said they hadn't ever known him to take a drink. But he is not a prohibitionist. He doesn't tell other people they shouldn't. The legation has not imported its permitted supply and very likely it won't until Canada obtains a permanent building. Massey himself is just entering his fortieth year. He is not a large man and is very thin. The stamp of the intellectual is upon his face. He is not a politician, nor does he resemble one.

He has performed creditably on the stage, but one must hasten to add that he wasn't a professional actor. He has been president of the Canadian National Council of Education, governor of the University of Toronto, the National Art Gallery, and the Toronto Conservatory of Music. He gave much time and enthusiasm and money to Hart House, which was the gift of the Massey family to the University of Toronto. The Little Theatre there became known over the continent. Hart House became the center of Toronto's artistic life and representing his untiring devotion to culture.

His part in the Hart House amateur theatricals was extremely creative as an actor, adviser and occasional playwright. Except for stature, his stage appearances doubtless would remind one of Bill Tilden, the American tennis champion, but his acting must have been better.

At one time he lectured at Toronto university on modern history, on which he previously had specialized as a student there in the law.

Trained Soldiers.
During the war, Massey, who had had military training with the Queen's Own Regiment, was given charge of musketry training in the Toronto military district. He became associate secretary of the war cabinet at Ottawa and was made director of the government's repatriation committee in 1918.

In 1919 he became secretary of Massey, Harris company, the largest manufacturer of agricultural implements in the British empire, which was founded by his grandfather. His ability to think clearly and to concentrate on big problems obliterated any idea that his artistic temperament would make him a poor business man. He became president of the concern in 1921 and was considered one of the financial and industrial leaders of the empire until 1925, when he became minister without portfolio in the MacKenzie cabinet.

Won't Talk Yet.
Massey feels that it is too early to discuss any major problems with which he will concern himself. Nevertheless, it may be assumed that there will be discussions of such matters as smuggling and rum-running.

The St. Lawrence waterways project, reported favorably by a joint commission and endorsed by Secretary Hoover, and the Chicago drainage canal problem, where Canada, along with various Great Lakes states, complains that the lake level is being lowered, probably also will be matters of great interest to the new legation.

And some day, if land is discovered between Alaska and the North Pole where MacMillan and Amundsen have sought it, Massey may represent Canadian claims to this territory.

$300,000 Cut Off T-B Budget Bills

Lansing, Mar. 25—(AP)—With approximately $300,000 of the requested appropriations for state tuberculosis institutions jopped off, the house ways and means committee today reported two measures designed to rehabilitate the sanatorium at Howell and establish a research and treatment institution at Ann Arbor. The committee cut the Birkholm bill, carrying $516,000 for rebuilding and improving Howell, to $491,500. The Warner measure, providing $500,000 for the Ann Arbor institution, was reduced to $400,000.

The bills specify that both institutions shall be under the supervision of the board of trustees of the state tuberculosis sanatorium. The Warner bill originally recommended placing the Ann Arbor establishment under the control of the state hospital commission. The board of trustees was created when the Howell sanatorium was constructed. In recent years it has not functioned, it was said, if the appropriation measures go through the governor is expected to name members to the board.

As the measures were sent to the floor they still failed to find favor with the most ardent proponents of the plan to place a parent tuberculosis hospital in Ann Arbor, although the possibility existed they would have to be accepted. An original appropriation of $500,000 for a new tuberculosis sanatorium goes to Howell instead of Ann Arbor, as the measures now stand, while the new institution will secure its appropriation through the regular channels.

Senator Goff Quits Fraud Inquiry Body
Washington, Mar. 25—(AP)—The Washington Post has learned that Senator Goff, Republican, West Virginia, has submitted his resignation as a member of the Reed "slush fund" campaign committee to Vice President Dawes.

The newspaper declares that while Senator Goff is out of reach, his office at the capitol has confirmed the resignation.

Bill Would Arouse Voters from Sleep

Lansing, Mar. 25—(AP)—Another legislative effort to induce the citizens of Michigan to cast off their lethargy at election time and go to the polls was launched today when Representative Charles Culver of Detroit introduced a bill proposing concessions relative to jury service for voters. His measure would require the drawing of two panels for jury or grand jury service. One would be made up of persons qualified to vote who did not vote in the last election, the other of voters. It would be supplementary upon the court clerk to exhibit the non-voters panel before calling upon voters to serve on a jury.

Recently, Representative Fred R. Ming of Cheboygan introduced a resolution advocating a constitutional amendment to entitle counties to representation in the legislature in proportion to the number of votes cast in the county, in the general election preceding appointment.

CONCRETE USED IN MODEL HOME

Local Concern Expects to Be Making Blocks Within 30 Days.

The Milwaukee Journal last Sunday carried a complete retrograde action, devoted to illustrations and descriptions of the model home recently completed by that newspaper at Wauwatosa. The Journal's model home is constructed from basement to attic of concrete blocks, the manufacture of which the Universal Magnesite Products company of Escanaba is shortly to launch in this city.

The foundation of the model home is of concrete blocks; walls are concrete blocks faced with brick on the outside and plastered direct on the inside; partitions are of concrete tile, while concrete lintels carry the loads over the floors and windows. It is asserted that concrete was used in the construction of this model home because the publishers of the Milwaukee Journal, after exhaustive tests, found that material to be strong, everlasting and fire-proof; because it makes the home warmer in the winter and cooler in the summer; because it eliminates damp, moldy walls in the basement and finally because it is economical, providing the best construction at reasonable cost.

Equipment is now being installed by the Escanaba company for the manufacture of all concrete products and it is confidently expected that it will be possible to start production here within the next thirty days.

LUMBER REVIEW

In its weekly review of the market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says:

The storms that struck wide sections of the country last week have prevented continuance of the improvement in lumber trade that began during the preceding week. But building permit figures for February give evidence that this is going to be another big year for lumber. Permits issued in February of this year were five per cent more than those for February of last year for the country as a whole, though this year's Florida total is a great deal less. The largest gains in building activity were in the large cities, the New York total being thirty-five per cent ahead of that for last year, while the twenty-five leading cities recorded a gain of twenty-five per cent. This striking recovery from January makes it clear that good weather will mean a marked gain in trade.

Softwood production is still running a little under normal, and new business booked during the week ended March 12 amounted to thirteen percent more than the actual output. Trade has not been as quick in starting up as it was hoped it might be, and mills as a whole have rather full stocks. Prices have therefore remained near their low point, and concessions from list are still obtainable. But it will not take long for the present run of orders to reduce mill holdings to a point where price advances would be possible, and students of the market feel that an early firming up is probable.

Southern pine mills have been receiving an increasing proportion of their business from the North and East. The middle West is beginning to buy both southern pine and fir in large volume, and the California market for fir is quite active. The Coast mills, however, find it difficult to get sufficient vessel space for Atlantic seaboard trade, and there is now a possibility of an advance in the rate instead of the expected decline. This space shortage is largely due to the

Baptist Church to Show Powerful Film

"The Stream of Life," a powerful religious picture, will be flashed on the screen at the First Baptist church tomorrow evening. The picture is a six-reel film, and two machines will be used in screening it so that there will be no interruption between reels.

Wid's Daily says of the film: "This is truly a picture of life and had for its main theme, the consolation of faith. Taken from the standpoint of artistry and technique, 'The Stream of Life' is indeed worth while. It is a picture of real life, with the humor and pathos mingled as we find it along the way. The realistic bits of child life and especially the rural settings are bound to please."

troubles in China, and has resulted in an advance of $2 to $3 in transpacific rates. There is a fairly good movement to the Orient at the new figure.

Southern hardwood production had been increasing, because mills in some parts of the territory had not suffered from the rains that closed down others, and the mills that escaped were working overtime. But in the last week there were heavy downpours in the Memphis territory and northern Louisiana. Prices have been a little irregular, because most of the orders were coming from the automobile and furniture makers alone, building trades demand for finish and flooring not having started. The sharp curtailment in southern output is firming up the hardwood list.

NELSON'S WORK GIVEN PRAISE

Former Press Employee Now Writing Editorials at Badger "U".

C. Hjalmar Nelson of Escanaba, a former member of the Press staff now a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, recently chosen as one of the editorial writers for the Daily Cardinal, student newspaper, achieved a half column of editorial praise in The Wisconsin State Journal as the result of his first editorial.

Nelson's editorial, in which he rapped the disciplinary committee of the university, topped the editorial column of the Journal in full the following day.

The editor-in-chief of the Journal, in discussing the Cardinal editorial, said in part:

"With what violence these criminally adolescent editors can pass! One might almost suspect from its punch and logic that the foregoing editorial had been composed by one of our much belabored radical professors.

"What about this editorial? Couldn't one fairly say that had students writing with this freedom of thought and this appearance of well-constructed logic would be worth-while, even were the notion involved entirely a mistaken one.

"The point is that the thing is well done, and with a freedom from pedagogical restraint that is necessary if ever the young man is going to learn how to shoot."

Nelson is also co-editor of the "Will o' the Wisp" Magazine.

machines that ever graced this or any other planet.
For look you; while we machines behave in some ways as all other machines behave, needing fuel, repair, and rest, and even wearing out when worked too hard—we respond to some very intangible stimuli. We have controlling buttons and levers that can be pressed only by unseen hands; indeed, we generate our own commands, far down inside.

START THE WATERWAY NEGOTIATIONS.

Secretary Hoover wishes at once to negotiate a treaty with Canada for the construction of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway. The opening of negotiations is in the hands of President Coolidge and Secretary of State Kellogg, but as Secretary of Commerce Hoover is closely associated with them in the undertaking, his announcement that this procedure is under consideration means that we are about to act.

Furthermore, some of these machines have done very subtle and delicate work. One of them wrote the "Eroica" symphony; another designed St. Peter's; another wrote "Leaves of Grass"—(read that, some time. If you think you're a soulless machine); another painted the Sistine Madonna.

POSSIBILITIES IN CHINA.

Robert Dollar, famous Pacific shipping magnate, foresees big things in China.
Writing in Forbes' Magazine, Mr. Dollar declares that when the warring factions in China have made peace "the greatest development in the world's trade is going to be in China."

This sounds reasonable. China has unlimited natural resources and a tremendous population. For many years she should provide a market of the first magnitude.
It is to our interest to see peace and order restored over there. It is also to our interest to retain the good will of the Chinese.

WONDERFUL MACHINES.

Clarence Darrow is a man who has a large slice of our admiration. Yet when he says, as he did in a debate at Boston the other night, that man is apparently only a machine, we are impelled to voice our sharp disagreement.

This conclusion, of course, is not one that Darrow delights in. A number of the wrinkles and lines on that face of his were put there, doubt it not, by his somber meditations on man and his destiny. But, to Darrow, there is no escape; mechanism is the explaining principle of all life.

There is no way of definitely proving, in black and white, mathematical exactitude, that this mechanistic theory is wrong. But in the heart of nearly every man there must rise up an instinctive protest against it.

Are we machines? We do not believe we are; but if it be true, even Darrow must admit that we are the most cunningly devised

The Piffle Hook

THE NEW YORK boxing commission recently insisted that Col. Texas Rickard give all worthy aspirants for heavyweight boxing honors an opportunity to strut their stuff in his elimination tournament. The ruling is flagrantly unreasonable and diametrically opposed to methods employed by many organizations which lay emphatic claims to intellectuality, intelligence and good sportsmanship.

The great room, occupying a quarter of the space on the seventh floor and dedicated to amateur theatricals and balls, was rapidly filled with girls and women when Billy Wells entered, her arm around the shoulders of her chum, Lella Sampson, a stout, plain, honest-eyed girl who worked in the children's shoe department.

HE CAN CATCH FISH.
We've got a fellow in our town That some might say has fallen down And really don't amount to much. There's always one or two of such in ev'ry burg, the truly great. That people don't appreciate, I know he hasn't done a lot. Ain't got the money some have got. But wealth ain't all there is to wish. And, gosh, that fellow can catch fish.

VANDALS SWEEP DOWN ON WELLS

Two Burglaries and Automobile Robbery Reported There.

Hoodlums and vandals swept down on Wells Thursday night, breaking and entering the Blisdee drug store and getting away with merchandise valued at about $400; entering the Escanaba Traction company's depot and taking articles valued at about $75, and stealing Charles J. McCauley's automobile that was returned early yesterday morning. It is believed the three crimes were committed after midnight.

The fact that the McCauley automobile was taken late Thursday night from the garage in the rear of the house and returned in Friday morning in a slightly damaged condition, led members of the sheriff's department who are working on the case to believe that the car was used to dispose of the articles taken from the drug store and the street car depot.

Knife Only Clue.

That the jobs were not pulled by boys seems evidenced by the fact that the only clue found in the drug store was a sheathed hunting knife that bore no serial number or marks that would lead to the identification of criminals. Fingerprints or other clues were not found about the window through which they gained entrance.

The prowlers jimmied a window in the rear of the Blisdee store, entered and ransacked the place by throwing loose articles about profusely. Sugar and tea were scattered on the floor in order that the sacks might be used to aid the burglars in getting away with more loot.

An inventory was taken and it was found that the following articles were taken: Ten Eastman kodaks, a number of fountain pens and automatic pencils, six cartons of cigarettes, numerous toilet articles, pocketbooks and bill folders, about 100 pocket knives, six watches, 100 small siped kodak films, 10 safety razors, Nuvo pipes and compact.

McCauley Car Damaged.

No marks indicating that force was used to get into the street car depot could be found. It is thought that the place was entered by means of a key. Alpha Bomber, who conducts the confectionary shop in connection with the depot, found that the thieves had taken gum, cookies, cake, about 20 pocket knives and a small amount of cash, mostly in pennies, from his place.

The McCauley car was taken after midnight and driven quite a distance. It was determined, and then returned, but was not placed in the garage from where it was taken. No clues of any kind that would be of help to the sheriff's department could be found in the car. A front fender was slightly damaged and the paint scratched in several places.

DECLAIMERS REACH FINALS

Public Schools Qualify Their Contestants Yesterday.

With the final rounds of the preliminaries held yesterday, enthusiasm in the annual seventh and eighth grade public speaking contest is at a high pitch, giving assurance that one of the largest crowds that ever attended this meet will be on hand in Escanaba high school auditorium Tuesday evening, March 29, when the champions of the city will be chosen.

The preliminary contests were held in all the public schools this week, about 80 students being eliminated.

The seventh and eighth grade contests will be held separately with prizes being offered to the winners in each, and the large banner going to the school whose entrant wins. One student from each of the five public school seventh grades will be entered in the seventh grade contest and four students picked at large from the Franklin eighth grade and one from the Webster eighth grade will compete for honors in the eighth grade contests.

Wranglers' Auspices.

The preliminaries were held under the auspices of the Esby Wranglers society, that organization also providing coaches for the students while preparing their speeches.

In the Franklin and Barr school seventh grades the preliminary rounds were so close that it was necessary for the judges to mark a first, second and third places in order to determine the winner, who was chosen by a point system. The results of the preliminaries and those who were given first place and the opportunity to represent their school Tuesday night follow:

SEVENTH GRADE.
Franklin—First, "A Vision of War," by Robert Lemire; second, "Connor," by Robert Erickson, and third, "Laddie," by Maxine French.
Barr—First, "A Revolutionary Rising," by William Labrie; second, "Whisperin' Bill," by Lucia Edwards, and third, "The Wreck of the Hesperus," by Helen Cook.
Jefferson—Melvin Johnson, who delivered Wendell Lund's "The Call of the Disabled," will represent that school.

Washington—Emma McDonough, "The Soldier's Reprieve."
Webster—"The First Ride in an Automobile," by Eleanor Johnson.

EIGHTH GRADE.

chops with spinach, steamed rice, sliced tomatoes, whole wheat rolls, maple bavarian cream, vanilla wafers, milk, coffee.
Maple Bavarian Cream.
One cup rich milk, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons water, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup maple syrup, 1/2 cup canned shredded cocoanut, 1/2 cup chopped shredded cocoanut, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 cup whipping cream.
Scald milk in top of double boiler. Soften gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Beat yolks of eggs and slowly pour hot milk over them, beating constantly. Return to double boiler and cook five minutes. Add salt and softened gelatine, stir until gelatine is dissolved and remove from fire. Stir in syrup and let stand until cool and beginning to thicken. Add cocoanut and fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Turn into a mold dipped in cold water and let stand several hours to chill and become firm. Serve with cream beaten until stiff, flavored with vanilla sweetened with 1 teaspoon powdered sugar.
Breakfast—Sliced bananas with ready-to-serve cereal, cream, spinach with poached eggs on toast.

crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Tomato bouillon, toasted crackers, chicken and pineapple salad, whole wheat rolls, Spanish cream, milk, tea.
Dinner—Baked haddock with egg sauce, Saratoga potatoes, hot French salad, vegetable salad, peach islands, plain cake, milk, coffee.
The chicken salad is planned to use up the remnants from the roast chicken served for dinner the evening before. If you have never combined pineapple and chicken in a salad you have a treat in store, for the fruit adds much to the interest of the dish.
The old combination of peaches, gelatine and whipped cream is something else again in the dessert of "peach islands."
Peach Islands.
One pint canned peaches, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1 orange, 1 cup whipping cream, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
Drain peaches from syrup in can. Add enough water to syrup to make one cup. Add sugar to syrup and bring to the boiling point. Stir in gelatine softened in cold water and remove from fire. When cool add juice of orange. Reserve about four tablespoons of this mixture, keeping it warm over hot water until needed. When remaining gelatine begins to thicken, beat with a Dover beater until frothy. Whip cream until firm, add vanilla and beat into gelatine froth. Pour into a shallow serving dish and dot with halves of peaches. Pour reserved syrup over each peach and put in a cold place to chill.

Breakfast—Apple sauce, cereal, cream, crisp graham toast, broiled bacon, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Cream of spinach soup, hot cheese sandwiches, celery and cabbage salad, canned strawberries, cold cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Boiled dinner of corned beef and winter vegetables, lettuce and tomato salad, maple nut Charlotte, rye bread, milk, coffee.
Do you ever visualize your menu as you read them over? It adds much interest to the serving of them, for in this day of colored linen runners and cloths you can make the family luncheon or breakfast table a veritable picture. You yourself may be the only one at the table who really appreciates the color effect but every member of the family will blindly, perhaps, enjoy his meal more than usual and your secret satisfaction will be great. The luncheon menu is colorful and offers opportunity for experiment.

Maple Nut Charlotte.
One-half cup scalded milk, 1/2 cup maple syrup, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatine, 4 tablespoons cold water, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, few grains salt, 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts, 1 cup whipping cream, sponge cake or lady fingers.
Heat milk in top of double boiler and slowly add maple syrup. Let gelatine stand in cold water for ten minutes and add to hot milk. Stir over hot water until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Remove at once from heat and place pan in ice water. When mixture begins to thicken add nuts, vanilla and salt and fold in cream whipped until firm.
Line a mold with split lady fingers or thin slices of sponge cake. Pour in gelatine mixture. Chill before serving.
For a festive occasion, garnish with whipped cream and halves of nuts to serve. But the pudding is delicious served plain.

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal, cooked with figs, cream, crisp whole wheat toast, bread crumbs, griddle cakes, maple syrup, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Scallop of eggs and potatoes, stewed tomatoes, raisin bread, molasses cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Boned shoulder of lamb stuffed and roasted, twice baked sweet potatoes, creamed celery, shredded fresh pineapple, nut macaronis, bran rolls, milk, coffee.
The white of one egg might be added to each person's orange juice since no dish particularly rich in protein is included in the breakfast menu. Slip the white almost constantly with the shell into the glass. Add orange juice and in lieu of a shaker beat slightly with a silver fork. Serve as usual.

Scallop of Eggs and Potatoes.
Five hard-cooked eggs, 4 cups mashed potatoes, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 4 tablespoons grated cheese, 1 cup medium thick white sauce, 1 1/2 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt.
Put a layer of mashed potatoes in a well-buttered baking dish. The layer should be one inch thick. Add a layer of eggs cut in slices, sprinkle with cheese, parsley, mustard, pepper and salt and cover with half the sauce. Add another layer of potato half as thick as the first one, remaining eggs cut in slices, cheese, seasonings and sauce. Cover with remaining potato. Make the top of the dish rough with a fork and brush over with melted butter. Bake in a moderately hot oven for 30 minutes and serve from baking dish.

Breakfast—Stewed dried apricots, cereal, cream, creamed eggs on graham toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON Cream of celery soup, croquettes, stuffed beet salad, whole wheat bread, caramel custard, crisp cookies, milk, tea.
DINNER: Filet of flounder in tomato sauce, boiled potatoes in parsley butter, green beans, cucumber and cream cheese salad, lemon snow, graham bread, milk, coffee.
Stuffed Beet Salad.
Four medium-sized beets, 1 cup cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons sweet paprika, 1-4 teaspoon white pepper, head lettuce, mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, four tablespoons salad oil.
Scrub beets and cook until tender. Dip in cold water and slip skins. When cool enough to handle, cut out centers. Sprinkle beets in juice and oil over heat cup and let stand covered in a cold place until thoroughly chilled, at least one hour. Season cottage cheese with salt, paprika and pepper and make moist with cream. Fill beet cups with mixture. Arrange on a bed of crisp lettuce and serve with mayonnaise.
Finely chopped nuts, minced olives and pimientos can be added to the cheese. Orange marmalade combined with the cheese makes a delicious sweet-tish salad.

Breakfast—Stewed dried peaches, cooked cereal, thin cream, codfish balls, crisp rye toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Vegetable soup, raisin bread and butter sandwiches, fig tapioca pudding, milk, tea.
Dinner—Broiled porterhouse steak, mashed potatoes, French fried onions, stuffed pear salad, whole wheat rolls, banana cream pie, milk, coffee.
The vegetable soup planned for luncheon is made very hearty with all sorts of vegetables cut in small neat dice. Beef broth is used and onions, potatoes, carrots, tomatoes, turnips and finely

DON'T FORGET
BIG BOY
"THE WONDER LOAF"
Head your Grocery list with "BIG BOY" the loaf that never disappoints.
So good you could make a complete meal with nothing added but butter.

BASKET :-:

Shredded cabbage are added. The vegetables requiring the longest period for cooking are put into broth first, the others added according to the time needed to cook them.

Codfish Balls.
1 cup shredded salad codfish, cups potatoes cut in dice, 1 butter, 1 egg, ¼ tsp. pop.

Soak fish, skin side up, in cold water overnight. In the morning, drain and pick in half-inch pieces, removing skin and bones. Measure fish. Pare potatoes and cut in inch dice. Put fish and potatoes into sauce pan and pour over enough boiling water to barely cover. Boil 20 minutes. Drain and shake over the fire. Mash fish and potatoes together in the hot sauce pan. Mash until the mixture is perfectly smooth. Season with pepper and butter and heat in egg well beaten. Shape between 2 tablespoons into rough balls and drop into deep hot fat. The fat should be hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 seconds or between 365 and 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

Breakfast—Grape juice, cereal, thin cream, eggs-poached-in-milk on graham toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Macaroni croquettes, celery and apple salad, brown bread, peach dainty, oatmeal cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stewed chicken, fried noodles, mashed potatoes, gravy, cabbage-pineapple and pimiento salad, whole wheat bread, open pie, milk, coffee.

Macaroni Croquettes.
1 cup macaroni broken in half inch pieces, 3 tbsps butter, 3 tbsps flour, ½ tsp salt, ¼ tsp mustard, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup tomato puree with ¼ tsp soda dissolved in it, ¼ cup grated cheese, fine dried bread crumbs, egg.

Cook macaroni in rapidly boiling water for 20 minutes. Drain, rinse in cold water and drain thoroughly. Melt butter, stir in flour, salt and mustard mixed and sifted. Stir until mixture bubbles and add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add tomato puree and cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Add cheese and cook until cheese is melted. Stir in macaroni and remove from fire. Spread in a layer about ¼ inch thick on a platter or shallow pan. Let stand overnight or several hours to become very cold and firm. Cut into rounds with a biscuit cutter. Remove these with a spatula to a pan of bread crumbs. Cover croquettes with crumbs and dip in egg slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons milk. Roll again in crumbs and fry in deep hot fat until a golden brown on both sides.

The fat should be hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread from the soft part of the loaf in 40 seconds or 390 degrees Fahrenheit.

BREAKFAST: Stewed rhubarb, broiled bacon, fried cornmeal mush, maple syrup, muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Baked lamb croquette with green peas, toasted muffins, oranges marmalade, glace apples, milk, tea.

DINNER: Breaded veal cutlets, macaroni baked in tomato sauce, carrots, jellied fruit salad, date and nut salad, date and nut torte, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The orange marmalade is quite perfect, with the lamb croquette used in the luncheon menu. With out the tang of the marmalade the meal would be uninteresting and monotonous as to flavor although well balanced and nourishing.

Baked Lamb Croquettes.
One and one-half cups left-over roast lamb, 3-4 cup boiled rice, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 3-4 cup milk, 1 egg, buttered crumbs.

Put lamb through food chopper and measure. Mix meat and rice thoroughly. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Add with seasonings to meat mixture. Beat egg and add all but 4 tablespoons to mixture. Beat mixture with a fork or slotted spoon until perfectly blended. Turn into four buttered custard cups, brush over with reserved egg, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven for twenty-five minutes. Turn out on a platter and serve with buttered or creamed peas.

These Soviets keep on demanding recognition, but they just won't shave.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, French omelet, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Noodle soup, toasted muffins, jellied spinach and egg salad, canned cherries, plain cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cannelon of beef with bananas, twice baked potatoes, creamed onions, head lettuce with Russian dressing, whole wheat bread, rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

Cannelon of Beef.
1 ½ lbs. Hamburg steak, 1 ham-on, 1 tbsps minced parsley, 1 ½ tbsps salt, 1 tbsps grated onion, 2 tbsps melted butter, ¼ tsp paprika, ¼ tsp pepper, 4 or 6 slices bacon, 2 or 3 bananas.

Wash lemon and grate rind. Combine meat, lemon rind, parsley, salt, onion, butter, pepper and paprika. Mix thoroughly. Form into a roll and put into a well-buttered baking pan. Put into a hot oven for 20 minutes. Then cover roll with bacon strips and place bananas cut in halves lengthwise around the meat.

Sprinkle bananas with lemon juice and bake 15 or 20 minutes longer. Serve the cannelon on a hot platter with the bananas around it.

PRINCETONIANS SKATE.
Princeton, N. J.—Students at Princeton have determined that they will enjoy some other form of locomotion than walking. Authorities have forbidden the use of motor cars, so now many one-dignified of the apperitissamen are seen scooting along on roller skates. The trustees have taken no action against the new fad.

BOX COUCH.
In place of an expensive divan or sofa, buy a box couch and cover it with a sponged chintz slip-cover. Use several plain pillows and a striped one, in harmonizing colors.

WIRE HANGER.
The children's school coats will last longer if each child takes a wire hanger to school.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Score another triumph for Charles Ray! This versatile actor, who first won fame as the portrayer of "hick roles," has, by his exceptional work in "Nobody's Widow," starring Leatrice Joy, stilled the criticism of those who had him tagged as a "one type" player.

As the Hon. John Clayton, an English gentleman, he does some of the best work of his career in the current production. He has ample opportunities for polite comedy and gets it over in the inimitable Ray style.

Miss Joy and Ray are appearing together for the first time in "Nobody's Widow," and they are flanked by a strong supporting cast including Phyllis Haver, David Butler, Dot Farley, Fritzi Ridgeway and Charles West. The picture will be shown at the Delft again today.

The direction was in the capable hands of Donald Crisp and Douglas Z. Doty and Clara Beranger did the adaptation and scenario. The screen play is taken from the stage success of the same name by Avery Hopwood.

AT THE STRAND.

Whether you like your football straight or sweetened with a little romance, see "The Kick-Off," which will be shown at the Strand again today.

The thrills of many collegiate contests were combed to provide new ideas of gridiron combat and they are all in the fictional inspiration which is the groundwork for "The Kick-Off."

George Walsh bears the hero's number in this football classic and if there are any tricks of football fancy this young man does not know, the possessor of them has a bright future on the greenward of any number of American colleges from Malibu to Texas and from New York to Frisco.

There is a touchdown sprint in "The Kick-Off" that begins on the line of disaster at the east end of the field and stops only to mete out punishment with an effective effective wriggle until it is finished on the line of triumph at the far west end of the field.

The Yale Bowl and the thousands that fill it every Autumn may have seen great exploits during its history, but they never saw one more thrilling than the gamewinning run which the hero in the person of George Walsh encompasses in "The Kick-Off."

Wesley Ruggles wrote the story of "The Kick-Off" and also produced and directed the picture on which it is based.

SUGAR SACKS.
The inside sugar sacks that grocers sell for 10 cents apiece make excellent dish towels when washed and hemmed.

THE EXPLANATION.

OFFICE BOY: My brother has a medal for running five miles an' one for ten miles; a silver medal for swimming; two cups for wrestling, and badges for boxing and rowing.

"He must be a wonderful athlete."

"Now, he keeps a pawnshop."

THREE PAIRS.
If you buy hose in lots of three pairs, they may be matched up when holes begin to come, whereas a single pair is ruined when one stocking springs a run.

BLACK AND WHITE.
Striking combinations of black and white are bringing in a spring mode of dashing smartness.

BOYS' BANQUET AT MANISTIQUE SETS A RECORD

The third annual Boys' banquet, sponsored by the Hi-Y club of Manistique, is now a matter of history. Like its predecessors, the event staged in the high school gymnasium Thursday evening was a marked success, full of benefits for the high school boys and the few men who attended as guests.

Following the dinner, there was a program, opening with numbers by the Melodians orchestra, directed by Richard Hopkins, with Prin. R. H. Wilson as solo cornetist.

Entertainers on the program included Clayton Fountain, who was rousingly escorted as a harmonica soloist, and Andy P. Olafson of Cooks, the Swedish after-dinner speaker.

More group singing, numbers by the orchestra, and yells for the girls, the waiters and Ray Johns made up the balance of the program.

One important result of the gathering was to pave the way for a big Manistique delegation at the 1928 Boys' conference, to be held at Sault Ste. Marie.

Hot Battles Mark Closing Weeks in Elks Pin League

Springing the big surprise of the past week in the Manistique Elks Bowling League, the Bear Cats sneaked up on the Cubs and grabbed three games straight.

This clinches first place for Ludlow's Giants, and puts the Cubs in second place with a margin of three games over the Bear Cats, who in turn are three games ahead of the Lions.

Monday night the Tigers and Pirates will meet, Tuesday night the Lions and Cubs, and Wednesday night the fighting Bear Cats will hook up with the Giants, and it goes without saying that this will be the big match of the week.

WANDERER WAS COLD; NOW HE WARMS IN JAIL

Cooks seemed cold to Edwin Friske last Wednesday, so he borrowed an auto robe belonging to J. J. Griffin, auto line agent—without asking Mr. Griffin's consent; however, now Friske has a cozy home at the Scholcraft county jail, where he will be safe from chilly breezes for 30 days, and will be given enough exercise to keep warm.

The itinerant was arrested at Gladstone Wednesday evening by A. P. Richards, special agent of the Soo Line, after the latter had received a message from Cooks telling of the missing robe and naming Friske as a suspect.

In custody of Agent Richards, Friske was brought to Manistique for arraignment before Justice W. A. McKinney on Friday. He entered a plea of guilty to the larceny charge, and was given a fine of $25, together with costs of $5. He was unable to pay, and went to the county jail for the alternate 30-day sentence.

The push robe, valued at $5, will be returned to the Cooks station master. Manistique Band Practices Sunday. The first spring rehearsal of the Manistique W O W band has been scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the Knights of Pythias hall.

ENGLISH MYSTERY CAR BROUGHT HERE TO BREAK SPEED RECORD

Here is the first sketch made public in America showing the construction of the English "Mystery 8" racer that has been designed to go 220 miles an hour. The car has been brought to this country for a try-out along the Ormond-Daytona Beach in Florida, a wide stretch of hard-packed sand, 500 feet wide and about seven miles long.

The racer is a 1000-horsepower affair costing $100,000 and built with two 13-cylinder engines joined by a shaft. It is the product of the famous Sunbeam Motor Company of England.

Major H. O. D. Seagrave, its driver, is an American-born English racer who has won several speed medals and has broken several records. The car is like a huge cigar painted red. It is 22 feet long and 6 feet wide and weighs more than 7000 pounds. The engine consumes more than four gallons of gasoline a minute, or about a gallon a mile.

The tires are of special design and have to be attached by some special arrangement to keep them on at high speeds. The center of gravity had to be shifted when it was found the tall tended to rise off the ground when the car went too fast.

Although the body is aluminum, the chassis is made of heavy steel girders to resist the tremendous strain of speed and wind. Calculated to go 220 miles an hour, the Mystery 8 is said also to reach 75 miles an hour in low gear and 140 miles an hour in second gear.

Everything must be perfect on this car, for there can be no allowance for errors, to make it safe for the driver. It takes about four-tenths of a second for the driver's hand to act on a message from the brain. In that time this car, going at the rate of 200 miles an hour, would travel 40 yards.

PASSION PLAY TICKETS ARE SELLING FAST

Two presentations of "The Upper Room," a passion play, produced by the St. Anne's branch of the Holy Name society, Escanaba, will be given at Gladstone Sunday, when the play will be given at the Community theatre as a benefit for All Saints' Catholic church.

The first will be a matinee at 2:30 o'clock. The evening presentation will be at 8 o'clock.

Children are urged to attend the matinee Sunday afternoon. Seats for the evening will be reserved. The children's tickets may be used only at the matinee. Children will be admitted at night only on an adult ticket. The matinee, however, may be attended by adults who wish to see the afternoon presentation.

Tickets for the passion play are on sale at Dehlin's drug store and reservation of seats may also be made there.

"The Upper Room," written by Robert H. Benson, is said to be one of the most beautiful dramas based on the passion of Christ, and the scenes of the road to Calvary and the Crucifixion are among the most vivid and realistic ever staged.

Escanaba Cast.

The cast of the production given in Escanaba at four presentations will present the passion play here. The choir of St. Anne's church will assist.

The cast includes Gust Trotter, Victor Moreau, Janet Moreau, G. E. Benson, Pat Newitt, Wilfred DuPont, Joseph Leguia, Mildred Leifert, Mrs. Thomas St. Jacques, Alice Newitt and Julius Trotter.

Rev. Father Thomas Drengacs is director of the play.

BENEFIT FILM AN APPEALING COMEDY DRAMA

Another of the heart appealing dramas, which Colleen Moore knows so well how to deliver, is the promise if First National in her latest screen vehicle, "It Must Be Love," which will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday at the Community theatre as a benefit for the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, Alice Memorial M. E. church.

In this human story of a New York girl's struggle against the poverty and misunderstanding of her parents, Colleen Moore has given to the screen a dramatic bit of life familiar to everyone in the midst of the crowded city. Because she wanted to have a nice home, where she could bring her friends without a feeling of inferiority, this girl, as portrayed by Miss Moore, had to sacrifice the love of her father and almost broke her mother's heart.

The parents conducted a delicatessen store and lived in back of it. Certainly these well-meaning citizens of two decades of American existence were not giving their daughter a fair chance in the face of all the competition the modern girl must combat in keeping real friends.

How the girl left home for her own ideals and found the man she loved makes a most interesting and unexpected of denouement.

Miss Moore has the support of a splendid cast in this First National release. It includes Jean Herbold, Malcolm McGregor, Arthur Stone, Bodin Rosner, Cleve Moore, Dorothy Seastrom, and Mary O'Brien. Alfred E. Green directed the picture, which was adapted from Brooks Hanson's short story, "Delicatessen." John McCormick presents the picture.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Why Is Baldness? Well, to be Frank, Nobody Knows.

The average scalp has at least a hundred thousand hairs, if they are all there. In few instances in modern life, however, has any man all that he started with, and indeed many women are inclined to think they have lost a few.

There are two reasons, according to experts, why the hair falls out. In the first class of cases, the hair disappears because of some infection of the scalp or disease. In the second large group of cases the cause is not determined.

The experts say that the baldness is idiopathic, which means that nobody knows the real reason; the hair just falls out and that is the end of it. In such cases, the hair may fall out all at once all over the body, or it may fall out in large or small patches. After a severe fever, there is a tendency for the hair to fall out, usually about three months after the time the fever was at its highest.

There are all sorts of superstitions prevalent about the hair. It takes a hair about six weeks to grow one inch, and cutting the end does not improve its growing qualities. Cutting sometimes will remove the split ends. The hair of various persons varies in thickness from 150 to an inch, if laid side by side, to as many as 500 to an inch.

There is no hollow tube running the length of the hair. It is not nourished by any fluid in it, but by the blood that comes to its roots. The hair above the skin surface is a spine of horn which is even oiled from without.

This fact may come as a surprise to those persons who have been induced to seal up the eud. Singeing the hair is a valuable procedure only for the barber who does the singeing.

The hair has no more sap than a buggy-whip. If the hair needs oiling, it may be done from without, using some of the many pure grease preparations or creams that are available for the purpose.

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 25.—There are as many variations on the theme of the small-town girl in New York as there are on the Cinderella tale.

The country girl's story invariably taps one of the two extremes: either she is found disgraced and in trouble, or she sits on top of the world as the result of meteoric success on the big street.

In a week's casual surveying of the Manhattan newspapers I have checked half a dozen items carrying a despairing message to the daughters of the hinterland who found Broadway too much for them.

And in one of them I came upon a couple of remarks made by Judge Caldwell to a girl from a small Connecticut town who had taken to shoplifting to provide herself with fancies she could not afford to buy.

"It seems to me," remarked the judge, "that good-looking girls in small towns have an exaggerated idea of this city. They flock here expecting to set the city ablaze with their talent, only to wind up in prison. The experience of the prisoner before me should be a warning to other small-town girls."

Now what was that experience? Just the same old story.

In her home town Jean X had been pretty much of a beauty. Pretty figure, pretty face . . . Town too small to appreciate her. . . Big chance in the big city . . . The stage and all that. . . In Halifax another girl, thinking the same thoughts. . . In Sauk Center, Sacramento, Pueblo and way points perhaps a hundred other girls with pretty faces and pretty figures and quite sure of their talents. . . And on Broadway tens of thousands crashing at the gate. . . New ones coming. . . Old ones going. . . Just some spark and up goes the flame . . .

Two, of all the girls dreaming of Broadway, ran away. . . One ran from Halifax and one from the neighboring Connecticut. They happened to put up at the same hotel, a little place in the Seventies, where the prices were cheap and many of the models go while making as high as $20 a week and waiting for those $500 salaries that are so widely talked about and so seldom seen. The kinship of adventure drew them together. They tried this and that and one got jobs now and then posing for a commercial artist, while the other rapped at the doors of agencies that hire chorus girls. . . Now if they only had the right sort of clothes. . . That was the matter. . . They didn't have money for the right clothes. . . Yes, clothes did make a difference in New York. . . And they really had never seen quite so many attractive girls, many of them beautiful. . . Competition was keener than in Halifax and Connecticut. . . Pretty girls with pretty figures literally caputulated along Broadway. . . But if they had a little fligery. . .

The alert detective in a department store caught them taking bits of this finery from the counter. . . It wasn't the first "hit" they had made. . . But it was to be the last. . . And there you have it. I tell the story for what it's worth. For perhaps it may be read by a pretty girl with a pretty figure who is considering slipping into the night with her suit case and hopping a train for New York.

THEATRES

AT THE LYRIC.
A splendidly directed, absorbingly interesting photodrama, "The Monkey Talks," starring Olive Borden, had its first showing at the Lyric yesterday.

This latest Fox Films feature, directed by Raoul Walsh, maker of "What Price Glory," is a screen version of a stage play that crowded the theatres of Paris, London and New York in the spoken version. The strangely fascinating character of the talking monkey is played by Jacques Lerner, a young Frenchman who created the original role in Paris and who was brought by the producers to America to recreate the role in the film.

Olive Borden must be seen in this picture to be fully recognized as one of the most versatile and beautiful stars of the silver sheet. In her role as a circus performer she is equally beautiful in her ballet dress and her dainty gowns.

SAINT and SINNER

Mary Kearney's story, frequently interrupted by District Attorney Banning, was substantially the same as she had told at the inquest, except for one important addition.

"When you were listening at the closed door of Mr. Cluny's bedroom while the defendant, Mrs. Wiley, was talking with Mr. Cluny, just what conversation did you overhear?" Banning asked.

"Well, sir, I heard Miss Kearney say first, 'I'm going to marry Chris and you can't stop me! I won't marry you, I won't! I say you can't force me to! I'll kill you if you do!'"

For the first time that long, terrible day Cheryl showed emotion. Color flooded her pale, delicate face, her golden eyes shot forth lightning.

"When order had been restored, Banning turned again to Mary Kearney, who was cowering, in a frightened heap in the big witness chair.

"Now, Mary, you have testified that Miss Kearney cried out, 'You can't force me to! I'll kill you if you do!' Are you sure that you heard these words?"

"Yes, sir," Mary Kearney whispered.

"Did you so testify at the meeting of the grand jury by which the prisoner was indicted?"

"You know I did, Mr. Banning," Mary returned.

"We must get it into the record here, Mary," Banning smiled.

"Now, Mary, tell the court and the jury why you did not give a complete report on Miss Kearney's conversation before the coroner's inquest. That is, tell why you did not at that time testify that Miss Kearney said, 'I'll kill you if you do!'"

Mary Kearney clasped and unfolded her black-gloved hands in her lap. "Why, sir, it was like this: I was always mighty fond of little Miss Kearney. I remembered she had said the words, but I didn't want to do her no more harm than I could help, and so I didn't mention it 'till I got to the grand jury room, and knewed I was swearing a Bible oath to tell the truth and nothing but the truth."

"Until Banning refreshed your memory," Churchill growled audibly.

Banning sprang toward Churchill, like a fighting hawk, brandishing his fist in the heavier lawyer's face. "I demand an apology before this case proceeds. Your honor, I demand an apology from—this man who calls himself an attorney."

"And I," Churchill shouted, "demand an apology from the honorable district attorney for those last insulting words of his!"

"And I," Judge Grimshaw said sternly, "adjourn court until tomorrow morning."

TOMORROW: A pair of gloves assumes enormous importance in Cheryl's fight for her life.

Indees, Ramblers Eliminated from U. P. Cage Meet
GWINN FIVE WINS RIGHT TO PLAY IN CLASS D FINALS

SPEAKER IS BIG QUESTION MARK

Spirit of Cleveland Indians Indicates He Isn't Missed.

BY BILLY EVANS. Lakeland, Fla.—How much is the Cleveland ball club going to miss Tris Speaker?

There was the big question that occurred to me as I watched the Indians in action under their new manager, Jack McCallister.

Viewing in importance with the loss of Speaker, as I saw it, was the spirit of the ball club. I wondered if this spirit would be able to balance the passing of Speaker's greatest outfielder from the ranks of the Indians.

On no other team in Florida did I see as much enthusiasm as in the camp of the Cleveland club. Under likable Jack McCallister the players seem bent on proving to the baseball world that the team doesn't need Tris Speaker to be a pennant contender.

It is my opinion that the Cleveland ball club is going to miss Tris Speaker an awful lot before the close of the 1927 season. During my stay here I was the only person of that belief.

Everyone else connected with the ball club seemed to think that Speaker passed his period of usefulness last season, that his legs are going to trouble him a lot, that his demotion to the ranks of the mere player has robbed him of much of his interest and enthusiasm.

While it wasn't definitely established as to who would play the position, although Summa was performing most capably in center and had the call, the players and the executives expressed the opinion that the open spot in the outfield would be filled by one of several possibilities, without the club suffering any great handicap.

It is baseball precedent that when any star passes from one club to another, it is always an easy matter to paint a picture of how little his passing will be felt. I have seen a score of such cases. No great difficulty is experienced in minimizing his importance.

From a Cleveland standpoint, it will be mighty fine if the loss of Speaker doesn't take away a thing from the defense or offense.

If such proves to be the case, the club is again going to be a strong contender. Otherwise his absence may prove a serious handicap.

Speaker was a great ball player last season, despite the fact that his ailing legs had to be carefully nursed. From my baseball experience, I cannot figure how any club can lose so valuable a player without paying the penalty.

If Johnny Mostell is unable to play baseball again, and that seems to be the final verdict, Ray Schalk's debut as a manager will get a severe jolt.

Eureka 5 Beats Indees in Nip and Tuck Game; Ramblers Drop Opener

Ishpeming, March 25—(Special)—The Escanaba Independents were eliminated from the U. P. amateur independent cage tournament 33 to 23 by the Negaunee Eureka's in a nip and tuck battle on the high school floor tonight. They had defeated the Negaunee Rexalls 23 to 21 in preliminaries this afternoon.

The Ramblers were defeated in the opening Class B game of the tournament after giving the Negaunee Blue Devils a fast and spirited battle, 20 to 17.

An hour after the strenuous battle with the Rexalls, the Independents met the Eureka's tonight, but the lack of rest did not seem to handicap their fighting. They displayed a vigorous attack that snatched an early lead from the hands of the Miners and held it throughout the game until the last few minutes of play, when their fresher opponents piled up a ten point lead to win.

Antell, the Eureka's stellar forward, was unable to break loose because of the close guarding of Soderberg, but Carlson, his running partner, was able to connect with the hoop with deadly accuracy, garnering seven field goals throughout the game. He played a sensational game in the last-minute rally when he made several baskets with long, arched heaves from the center of the floor.

The Eureka's lead, 8 to 3, at the quarter but were trailing, 16 to 15, at the half. The third quarter ended, 23 to 22, with the Independents still in the lead.

The box scores follow: Negaunee Eureka's (33) FG FT P Carlson, rf 7 1 0 Antell, lf 5 1 0 Rushton, c 2 0 0 Hiney, rg 1 1 3 Vanni, lg 0 0 1

INDIANS MAKE DISTANCE RUN

Perform Marvelous Feat of Running 85 Miles in 15 Hours.

Austin, Tex., Mar. 25—(P)—Two Tarahumara Indian runners from the mountain wilds of Mexico today ran 85 miles from San Antonio to Austin in less than 15 hours, a feat that would kill an ordinary horse, and finished apparently as fresh as when they started.

Their endurance was matched by a 14-year-old girl of their tribe, who ran 28 1/2 miles, and felt so fresh that she insisted on running around the quarter-mile track in the University Stadium several times. The races were features of the University of Texas relay games.

Jose Torres, 35 years old and Tomas Zaffro, 24, the men, started from San Antonio at 3:19 o'clock this morning and crossed the finish line in the stadium at 6:12 tonight, making their time for 55.4 miles, 14 hours and 53 minutes.

Lola Cuzarare, the girl, finished the 28 1/2 miles in 4 hours, 56 minutes. Mother Drops Out. Her sister, Juanita, 19, the mother of several children, who had led most of the way, dropped out almost within sight of the goal. Juanita Pacioncia, 15, gave up within two miles of the finish when the hot pavement became too much for her bare feet.

Augustin Salido, 22, put up a game fight in the race from San Antonio, covering 30 miles with severe cramps in his stomach, before he finally gave up 62 miles from the start.

SPRINT RECORDS. Austin, Tex., Mar. 25—(P)—Running races from up and down the middle reaches of the American continent streaked down cinder paths of Texas university memorials stadium to 12 new sprint records in the third annual Texas relay games today, while six Mexican Indians were making their long distance runs.

Two Texas relay records also went by the board. The resulting total of 14 new marks left only one of the 1926 record calendar standing. No world or national intercollegiate record was bettered, however.

A stiff south wind blessed the runners in short events and probably accounted for several of the new marks. Parley of the University of Missouri set up a new 100-yard dash time of 9.8, knocking down the 19.4 meet record by Landa of Texas university.

Oklahoma Baptist university captured both the half-mile and mile relay in the college class, carving out new low records of 1:29.7, and 3:32.4, respectively. Michigan State college registered a new mark in the 440-yard relay, and the half-mile relay, university class, while Illinois university carried off the four-mile relay event. Results of the events in which Michigan State participated follow:

440-yard relay (university): Won by Michigan State; Kansas, second; Notre Dame, third. Time 42.7. (New meet record). Half mile relay: Won by Michigan State; Notre Dame, second; Kansas, third; Texas, fourth. Time 1:29.1. (New meet record).

Budapest—To avoid the many arguments, fights and jamming on buses in the crowded section of Budapest, the management of the bus company recently placed numbered slips at each waiting station. Passengers take slips as soon as they arrive at the stations and are picked up according to number. The only fights reported now are over the lowest numbers.

MAYVILLE BOWS TO U. P. TEAM

Gwinn Wins Despite Loss of Two Men Through Fouling.

Central Gymnasium, Detroit, Mar. 25—(P)—Gwinn won the right to play in the finals of Class D against St. Anne's of Alpena by winning the night game from Mayville, 23 to 20. The game was won because of better footwork and the ability of Captain Hart to keep his team going after two men were lost by the personal foul route.

MUSKOGON, BATTLE CREEK. Detroit, Mar. 25—(P)—Battle Creek won its way to the state high school basketball finals against Muskegon here tonight by defeating Detroit Northwestern, 31 to 25. It is the first time a Battle Creek team has been in the title round of the state tournament.

Muskegon, the favorite, attained its place in the finals by vanquishing Pontiac, 34 to 19, in the afternoon game. Muskegon and Battle Creek met in the finals of the regional tournament at Kalamazoo, the Muskies winning in an overtime battle. The Battle Creek team took the lead at the beginning and held it by slim margins throughout the process of a substitute named Doolittle for Northwestern making the local team look better than yesterday. Weist, Priest and Jones were the scoring stars for the winners.

Class B finalist includes the dark horse teams of the present tournament. Howell, in opposition to Grand Haven. The Livingston county youngsters turned back the St. Joseph team, defeated once in the regional finals, 18 to 13. St. Joe won the class championship last year. Grand Haven eliminated Mt. Pleasant, 23 to 18.

Three Oaks Losses. Another favorite fell by the wayside when Reed City eliminated Three Oaks, 19 to 11, going into the finals to meet Shelby. The latter team won from St. Clair, 24 to 18.

The Class D finals have much the appearance of the first finals in the class a year ago. St. Anne's taking the place of St. Bernard of the same town and Gwinn of the upper peninsula taking the place of Michiganame of the same territory. St. Anne's went into the finals by trouncing Holland Christian, 32 to 11, while Gwinn defeated Maryville, 23 to 20. This game also was similar to last year as Maryville lost to Michiganame in the semi-finals a year ago.

State Cage Tourney. Muskegon 24; Pontiac 19; Reed City 19; Three Oaks 11; Howell 15; St. Joseph 13; St. Anne's (Alpena) 32; Holland Christian 11; Battle Creek 31; Northwestern 25.

Kansas City now takes up bright red street cars. It's another case for Kellogg.

Manistique Pin Team Throws Bomb at Meet; Places in All Events

The Manistique bowlers threw a bomb into the Upper Peninsula bowling tournament at the Arcade alleys last night when they placed among the first five in every event. The Elks' five man team with a total of 2530 took fourth place in that event; Weber and Remell of Manistique with a doubles score of 1091 forged into first place and the Mead and Crowe combination also of Manistique, piled up a 1022 score to place third in the doubles; Remell also placed first in the singles with a score of 592 while Weber rolled 438 for fifth place. Remell holds high score for a single tournament game with 226 and is first in all events competition with a total of 1746.

The invasion of the Manistique Elks' five man team added much color to the tournament and proved intensely interesting to the large crowd of fans who watched last night's games.

High Class Bowlers. The Chrysler Motors team consists of Jake Bink, Earl Taylor, Winn Schultes, Carl Sawyer and O. Pfister, each one of whom can be depended upon to roll comfortably into the 200's.

The Escanaba National Bank crew is composed of Moersch, Klinger, Clouthier, Bowers and Charles Priestler, all reputed for their ability to split maple by means of a bowling ball.

Twelve Menominee teams and three from Iron Mountain will occupy the alleys during most of Sunday's program.

Swan of Gladstone keeled his singles games last night, rolling up a total of 540 for third place.

For all those hard-working lads who did all their big leaguering for this year in the southern camps, we offer, free today, this handsome wise craque: "Axe me another."

The latest Dora concerns one of the ultra-marine toned ball tossers who deemed Lland the home town of all petting parties.

Some of the candidates this spring were so fresh that they tried to tell feeble old bat-throwers like Cobb and Speaker a new stance. However, it is reported that both Messrs. Cobb and Speaker will cling to their old, dumb way of ramming it.

One of John McGraw's boys got up in skull practice and defined a waste ball as one aimed at the batter's breadbasket. He'll be riding the interurbans this summer, too.

But then a rook's a good fellow at that. Let him who never had a burr on him toss the first ball.

"Cave Men" Are Unpopular Now. Los Angeles, Cal.—"Home lovers" ran far ahead of "cave men" in a straw vote on preferred husbands by 2,000 co-eds of the University of Southern California. Sixty per cent chose the home-lover type. The "professor-intellectual" type got 25 per cent. The cave man was tied with the club man, each receiving only three per cent of the votes. Most of the girls agreed that money was not essential to happiness; all of them said it was desirable.

T. A. CARNEY IS PROMOTED

General Agent Here Advanced to Division Agent at Green Bay.

T. A. Carney, of Escanaba, general agent for the Chicago and North-Western road in that company's territory north of Green Bay for the past seven years, has been promoted to the position of division freight and passenger agent for northern Wisconsin and Michigan, succeeding R. C. Kerr, of Green Bay, who has been made assistant general freight agent for the company, with headquarters at Chicago.

Mr. Carney will go to Green Bay on April 1 to assume his new duties, but his family will remain in Escanaba until next fall. The promotion gained by Mr. Carney comes in recognition of the outstanding service rendered by him to the company, not only while serving as general agent for the North-Western company with headquarters in this city, but throughout his service with the company. By his appointment as division freight and passenger agent, Mr. Carney becomes the youngest executive employed by the North-Western Railway company, both in point of age and term of service, and the recognition gained by him is eloquent proof of the opportunities offered in the railway service to young men who have ability and are willing to render honest service.

Mr. Carney entered the employ of the North-Western road as stenographer to the company's general agent at Houghton in 1911. In 1916 he was appointed as traveling agent for the company, with headquarters at Houghton, and in 1920 he was named as general agent for the company in charge of traffic north of Green Bay, with headquarters in Escanaba.

Since coming to Escanaba, Mr. Carney has made a great host of friends and while all of his friends will rejoice in the recognition gained by him, many will regret the necessity for his removal from this city.

His successor will be appointed Monday.

SAPIRO AVERS FORD PLOT IS AIMED AT HIM

of Sapiro's demand for a retraction did not cause any change in the editorial policy of the weekly.

Gallagher demanded to know whether any investigation had been made prior to publication of the articles and the editor said: "There must have been," adding that Fred L. Black, business manager of the Dearborn independent, had looked into the source of the articles.

Much of Cameron's final testimony was occasioned by Sapiro's counsel's questions as to possible discussions with Ford of the motor manufacturer's and the independent's attitude toward Jews; towards the activities of Jacob Schiff, Paul M. Warburg, Otto Kahn and Lewis Marshall; towards "certain Jewish individuals," and towards an "international banking ring."

For the most part, his answer was a short-clipped "no," but he was drawn out a bit concerning the "international banking ring."

"We discussed the banking ring, but not the policy of the independent towards it," testified Cameron.

Discussed "Banking Ring." He said that Mr. Ford discussed the "banking ring" with regard to its welfare of the people, its effect upon war and peace, international war debts and manipulation of the gold standard. The answer was stricken as irrelevant, however.

"Were there any occasions when Mr. Ford discussed with you articles in the booklets on the 'international banking ring'?" The question was objected to, and Judge Raymond sustained the defense.

The reference was to one of a series of four bound volumes of reprints from the Independent. They were titled and printed, respectively: "The International Jew, November, 1926; Jewish Activities in the United States, April, 1921; Jewish Influences in America, November, 1921, and Aspects of Jewish Power, May, 1922."

Among Bound Volumes. They were among seven bound volumes referred to during the day. The other three were: "The New Henry Ford, by Allan L. Benson, printed in 1923; My Life and Work, by Henry Ford in collaboration with Samuel Crowther, printed in 1924, and the Amazing Story of Henry Ford, by Miller, today's witness, printed in 1922."

Asked if he with Ford's knowledge, edited any of the manuscripts of the books mentioned, Cameron replied that Mr. Ford might or might not have known about it.

He testified also that after Mr. Ford would visit the independent's offices and he would absorb the motor car manufacturer's ideas on philosophy and national questions, he would write the page in the independent indicated as "Ford's Own."

When Black got on the witness stand the situation again was changed. He answered unhesitatingly, in a good voice, and, since most of his replies dealt with facts and figures, defense counsel did not interpose the steady stream of objections that marked Cameron's testimony.

Clues Traced in Robbery at School

Sheriff Elmer Swanson was tracing down clues yesterday in the robbery of the White school, Escanaba township, but as yet was unsuccessful in determining who broke into the building Wednesday night and stole $20 worth of shoes and supplies, including a pair of shoes owned by the teacher. A rear window in the school was found open Thursday morning, evidently the means by which the burglars entered the building.

LAW BRINGS BACK HORSE

Motor Fleet Owners Abandon Trucks Because of Insurance.

Boston, Mass.—(NEA)—One of the effects of the new compulsory automobile insurance law, at least in this city, is the return of the horse.

Increasing traffic congestion in the larger cities has made it cheaper and just as easy for the horse-drawn truck to make deliveries. But it wasn't until insurance rates were practically doubled on truck fleets by the application of the new code that owners decided again to rely on the horse.

By doing so, they are economizing not only in the maintenance of the truck, as against the cheaper cost of the horse, but they have succeeded in eliminating the item of insurance premiums to a great extent.

Heretofore, truck fleet owners were able to get lower rates on their fleets as against the rates for individual trucks. Now they must pay just as much for each vehicle as the man who insures only one truck.

No More Recklessness

Outside of this change, the new law has apparently made no impression on the motoring public of Massachusetts for the few months it has been in operation. Recklessness hasn't increased, as might have been predicted, because the motorists realize that carelessness would cost them their insurance policies and that they can't operate their cars without them.

Car sales have been lower during the first two months of this year than the same period last year. The reason, say dealers and insurance men, is prospects are waiting for the first of April, thus starting their new cars when weather permits and at the same time cutting down their insurance premiums to cover only the rest of the year.

May Lower Rates. About $20,000,000 will be paid in insurance companies as liability premiums this year. But next year's rates are expected to be reduced as more authentic figures will be available on which the state insurance commission may determine rates.

Contracting the insurance law is the lack of a gasoline tax in Massachusetts, one of the four states still holding out. Now, however, it is proposed to cut the registration fee to a uniform figure of $3 or $4 for each vehicle and institute a gasoline tax.

Fifty per cent of the cars in this state during summer months carry licenses from other states, it is said. By enactment of a gasoline tax, out-of-state visitors would help pay for the roads they use.
