POTASH PRICE TO CONSUMERS WILL BE CUT

EUROPEAN COMBINE FORCED TO BOW TO U. S.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Apr. 20.—German potash will be sold as usual this year to the American farmer, as most of the contracts are made from May 1, next, but the Department of Justice is going ahead with its plans to restrain, if possible, in succeeding seasons, any concerted attempt to charge exorbitant prices.

Germans Seek Settlement.

The German representatives who have been in conference here this week with officials of the Department of Justice and the Department of Commerce, have expressed their desire to work out a formula that will be acceptable to the American government, but such a solution could not be applied at once inasmuch as the season for making contracts for this year virtually is at hand. So the temporary plan was advanced by the German syndicate of going ahead through the establishment of an American selling agency as a branch to a corporation organized under Holland laws.

FLOOD AT GLANCE

Memphis, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Sudden death blackened the tragedy in the flood-wrecked valley of the lower Mississippi tonight as reports of fresh disaster swelled the triumph of the murderous waters.

Known deaths in the lower Mississippi basin from the worst flood in its history, reported in many states and over a period of many days, had reached a probable total of 27 tonight while observers of the disaster believed that at least 20 more were perished in the rushing waters.

Eighteen men are believed to have been drowned today when the government launch Pelican was swamped in a crevasse which swept away the Mississippi levee at Knowlton, Ark., just above Laconia Circle. Main Dike Crumbles.

The branch at Knowlton followed shortly upon the cracking of the main dike at Stopp Landing, Miss.; across the giant stream, an undetermined number of Negro workmen who were piling sand bags there in the last frantic efforts to save the crumbling defenses were whirled away in the flood, and their bodies were borne away, nobody knows whither.

An area embracing parts of eight Mississippi delta counties and extending 50 miles eastward by 80 miles north and south tonight was receiving the invading waters. A score of cities and towns in the flat lowlands toiled desperately to perfect local defenses and to care for thousands who fled from the menacing flood.

The Knowlton crevasse is expected to add to the back waters which were spreading over the lower delta section between the White river bottom and the Mississippi river.

Uncertainty Veils Fate.

Uncertainty veiled the fate of the men on the Pelican tonight and efforts to confirm reports of her reported destruction failed. Reports of the craft's sinking with loss of life came from several sources.

The distress of the people in the Mississippi delta was voiced in an appeal tonight by Governor Murphree to President Coolidge for federal aid. National guards-

"ROARIN' JIM" PASSES OUT

Man of Thousand Battles Dies Quietly in Bed.

BY MARJORIE MORRILL.
Newberry, April 20—Quietly, in his bed, with the softness of a silly civilization all about him, died Jimmie Gleason the other day. All this stillness and dignity was not his wish, one would believe. Roaring Jimmie had strong ideas about how a man should face a foe or a friend and it was the same idea for both of them; shoulders squared and fists up for battle. But then, maybe he was ready to quit fighting and went along with the Dark One gladly, for two adversaries, changing times and old age, had nagged him during the last few years and he never could get them to square up to him and take a good wallop. Jimmie had disapproved that the worst foes of all were those who won't fight us.

Never Was Beaten.
He had good fights back in the old days. After the fourth drink with his voice roaring invitations to a scrap, he would parade up and down the saddest-covered floor before the bar, dragging his bright mackinaw by one sleeve and begging any high or low cocktailer to come and step on it. Some other "jack, tuned right with liquor, would accept the challenge and then would follow a battle to which an arena contest of ancient Rome was a children's party in comparison.

A thousand battles and as many victories were said to be to his credit. His fame spread to the Saginaw valley, to Alpena and Cheboygan and men were said to journey up from as far as Muskegon to fight with Jimmie in the flying dust on some barroom floor.

Four Men Overboard.
One of his adventures is well remembered by the old timers. It happened during the time that Dan McLeod, the Newberry lumberman, was doing business at the mouth of the Sucker river and Gleason was working for him. They were unloading railroad iron from a scow which a tug had brought in to shore. A storm came up and the scow crew of which Jimmie was a member, did not understand that the captain meant to run for the harbor at Grand Marais, and so were still aboard when he pulled out into the lake. It was late in the fall, freezing weather, and every wave washed right over the water-logged craft. Four of the men went overboard and were lost before Captain Truedell and his coast guard crew reached them. The survivors were found nearly dead, their arms frozen fast to the snubbing posts of the scow. They were torn loose and the good captain raced with them to Grand Marais and the hospital. Gleason awoke shortly and found himself in bed, which is no kind of a place for a man who had just fought the battle of his life. Now was the time to celebrate. Some say that he hunted up the doctor and got his clothes and some say that he didn't bother with them. But clothed or not, he wanted whisky and a good strong lumberjack to pound and be pounded. He found the first in plentiful quantity in Jim Garin's place but his day was completely spoiled for no one would fight him. He belonged to his time and

Four Lives Saved by Workers for "Childrens' Aid"

The following story, which gives an intimate glimpse of the work of the Michigan Children's Aid society, was made public here yesterday by a representative of the organization:

"Word came from the probate judge to the office of the Children's Aid, asking what could be done for a family in his county. A certain man, maker of moonshine whisky, had deserted his wife and four children. The woman was penniless and sick. The children were living on food unfit for human beings. No milk, no butter, no meat excepting bacon grease, and no vegetables but turnips. Four children and their mother subsisting on turnips and bacon grease, with the inevitable result, skins were harsh and spotted with sores. Stomachs deranged by improper diet until they could not retain anything heavier than skimmed milk diluted. Living in dirt and rags.

"The children's workers of the society went in on the case, provided temporary care for the children, tried to reunite the family and rebuild the home-life, but tried in vain. Finally, more than a year after the first call, the court committed the four children permanently to the society for adoption, two boys and two girls, ranging in ages from six years down to fifteen months. "Now see another picture. They are all well, good-looking, happy, and facing a bright future. Two are in the upper peninsula in the care of intelligent and loving parents, while the older brother and sister are placed together in an excellent foster home down in the lower part of the state.

"These are four of the 125 different children cared for by the Upper Peninsula Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid society during 1926. Real homes are found to give to each unfortunate child those comforts and opportunities for future development which each of these little people deserve. It is no fault of theirs that they are found in dirt and ignorance and without a fair chance for their lives. They deserve as good things as our own carefully protected boys and girls. The society acts as a great fostering mother for all such homeless and neglected children, and wherever they are given control of these little lives they are able to provide for them successfully. For 35 years this society has worked for the saving of children throughout Michigan. Today it stands at the front of such agencies in America."

place, did Roaring Jimmie. No furred creature of the woods he loved was more untamed than he and yet he fought the battle of life according to certain rules of his own. His name was earned by the noise which rolled from his throat, especially after the fourth drink. His body had stood the stress and strain of violent living so well that up to two or three days ago he was still able to do a day's work. And he wasn't especially sick when he died. He has joined a growing number of big men of Michigan's tall timber days. The Tabernash non country has lost several in the last few years and one of whom a volume could and should be written. There were Uncle George Whori and Dave Page whose friendship has become almost a legend in the country and strong friendships and hates. There was Halfway John McLeod, and old John Howe the trapper, all of whom have passed in the last three or four years. Maybe Jimmie Gleason is roaring out the tale of his adventures to an interested audience right now. He was sixty-six years of age and born in Ireland. If he had a family there is no one who knows about it.

The editorial follows: A remarkable letter has been written by Governor Al Smith of New York...

The letter is remarkable in many ways but principally, we believe, because it enhances the chances that Smith will be a candidate for the office of president...

In our opinion, one paragraph in the letter stands forth in bold relief. There are others of great importance but this one is outstanding:

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

By Anne Austin

CHAPTER XXIX "Have the girls in the store been talking about us, Mr. Curtis?" Winnie asked in a small, aggrieved voice.

"I'm not blaming you—any of you," T. Q.'s stern face softened. "But I suppose it was inevitable that there should be jealousy and tale-bearing. I take three girls out of my store, set them up in what the papers call luxury, and leave the others to work for their living...

"What do they say about us, Mr. Curtis?" Billy cut in. "It happens that I haven't had much money to ship with, because of what I give to my mother and the high cost of becoming a violinist. But I noticed that the girls didn't see any too pleased to wait on us. Not that I blame them, she added honestly. "I'd loathe it, if I were in their position."

"They apparently do," T. Q. said. "Miss Simmons says the general complaint is that you girls rit them, high-hat them, I believe their very expressive term is, 'I'd rather not go into unpleasant details but I believe all of you had better be seen at the store as little as possible. I never thought I'd be advising customers with cash in their pockets to shop elsewhere, but I believe it's best in this case. You get another month's allowance tomorrow, and I suggest, just to save unpleasantness, that you do your shopping anywhere but in the Curtis Store. Nothing to cry about, little girl!'"

"Now, let's forget it. Suppose you play for us after dinner, Billy. You've been putting me off with excuses too many evenings."

"Pshaw, child!" T. Q. protested, but he was enormously pleased and touched. "You don't want to devote your evenings to a cranky old man while these two gababoos"—he grinned at Nyda and Billy—"sit from party to party. You're a mighty popular little girl with your new friends, and if I let you slave for me in the evenings, I'd be mobbed by a score or so of your admirers."

"No need for any of my girls to be jealous," T. Q. laughed gruffly. "I'm proud of all of you. But I've got a surprise for you, Nyda. Reckon we better tell her now—show her, Mrs. Meadows?" He turned deferentially to Mrs. Meadows, who sat knitting placidly, with Dal Romaine on a hassock at her feet.

"Why yes, I think it's finished. The last of the workmen left today. Shall we go up now? Mr. Curtis has planned a delightful surprise for Nyda. I am sure she will be very happy."

B. A. of R. E. Party—Members of the B. A. of R. E. held a very fine meeting at the Eagles' hall Monday evening when C. W. Street, assistant to the national secretary of the order, was in the city and gave an instructive talk on the various activities and benefits of the organization throughout the country.

After the business meeting, the boys' 50-piece band played several selections under the direction of Joseph Greenfield, which were received with much applause by the large crowd assembled at the hall. An indoor county fair was held with various booths and concessions. The ice cream stand and "hot dog" counter were very busy during the entire evening. An unusually large crowd attended and every member voted the affair a success. The committee in charge are deserving of much credit for the excellent entertainment furnished the members.

FLAG DISPLAY RULES GIVEN

D. A. R. Summary Tells Uses of National Emblem.

The following is published at the request of the Lewis Cass chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A few rules on the use of the flag, simplified and presented by the Correct Use of the Flag committee, National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

How to Use the Flag.
The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset.

The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered slowly.

The flag should be displayed flat whether indoors or out when not on a staff.

When displayed horizontally or vertically against a wall the Union or blue field should be in the upper left-hand corner.

When draping of red, white and blue is desired, use bunting. When rosettes and festoons are wanted, use bunting—never the flag.

The flag should be displayed above and behind a speaker on a platform when hung flat.

When on a staff, it should be at the speaker's right.

The flag should never be used to cover the speaker's desk or to drape over the front of the platform.

When unveiling a statue or monument the flag should not be used as a covering for the statue or monument.

The flag must not be used for any advertising whatsoever, either in windows or on printed matter.

At a recent weekly gathering, she says, were two young poets who had found it impossible to crack the surface of Manhattan's monument the flag should not be used as a covering for the statue or monument.

IN NEW YORK

New York, April 21.—The Bowery has for many generations been linked in the public mind as a symbol of roughness, toughness and irreputability in a whole sale.

Some reputations die hard—and so I have hunted in vain over a period of time for some event that would link the Bowery with its traditional bloody names.

Down-and-outers are as numerous in its waterfront "flophouses" as ever, but its main stretch after dark presents an inky black solitude, hovered over by stygian outlines of an elevated track and broken only now and then by a solitary figure slumping in a doorway or tramping drearily alone toward the flickering light of a cheap rooming house.

Even the type of outcast has changed.

In one Y. M. C. A. mission, into which float many of the derelicts, there is a young woman who for a number of years has done social service work in the section.

Once a week she holds an open forum.

At a recent weekly gathering, she says, were two young poets who had found it impossible to crack the surface of Manhattan's monument the flag should not be used as a covering for the statue or monument.

The latest dance, they tell me, is called the "swiggle."

A catchy name, if ever there was one, picked up in South America, Havana and way ports where the word is used when referring to a "stick" in the punch or the cocktail.

The movement, I am told, has a South American, tangolish touch, varying with that of a drink being mixed in a cocktail shaker—if you know what I mean. Which would seem to make it some sort of kin to the shimie. The exact origin, like most dance innovations, is more or less vague, but Broadway gives the bow to Vincent Lopez, the jazz handerillo.

EXPECT HEAVY ORE SEASON

Mines of Marquette Area Are Making Extensive Preparations.

Lansing, April 21—Despite the fact the hoped for increase in the per-ton price of iron ore did not materialize as expected, present indications in this district point to a very successful shipping season from all properties in the district.

Ore already has begun to be moved to docks in Marquette and Escanaba and the first cargo will soon be shipped to Lake Erie and Lake Michigan ports for rail shipment to blast furnaces.

At the Nezaunee mine, operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, work is being carried forward on a six-day basis as the result of an agreement between the operators and the Bethlehem Steel company, co-lessees with the C. C. I. company of the property.

It's no puzzle at all to the woman who knows M-J-B. For experience has taught her that because M-J-B is a coffee of concentrated strength and richness she can use less to the cup and still have a rich, full-bodied drink. Now—consider that the average family uses 40 cups of coffee per week. Then—consider that this saving can be carried through 52 weeks of the year—and—what's the answer? Simply this: M-J-B is your best coffee-buy because it gives you more coffee contentment and costs you less in the long run.

not—"Please confine your answers to the questions asked, Mr. Bates," Banning instructed him curtly. "Now Mr. Bates, will you tell this jury whether Miss Cherry's manner was that of a happy bride or of a frightened one?" Churchill's violently stated objection, on the ground that the district attorney was "leading" the witness, was sustained, and Banning rephrased his question: "Describe the emotional conduct of the defendant before, during and after the ceremony, Mr. Bates, repeating such conversation as seems to have a bearing on this case," Banning instructed the preacher. "The little lady was overwrought, nervous, tearful, until I began to read the marriage ceremony. As I proceeded, she brightened noticeably." "Did the newly married couple leave immediately?" Banning asked. "My wife asked them to stay a few minutes and to allow us to drink their health in new cider, but Mr. Wiley seemed anxious to be away. He asked if there was a farmhouse where they could be accommodated for the night, adding that they intended to drive on to Chicago the next day for their honeymoon. I referred them to a farmer, named Anderson—Jefferson Anderson—who lives about a mile west of my home on the outskirts of Minerva, and then I went to their car with them to bid them good-bye and good luck. Miss Cherry was in good spirits as the car drove away." Banning looked not at all pleased with the preacher's last sentence, but there was nothing he could do about it. Rather sourly he put his next question: "Now, Mr. Bates, when and under what circumstances did you next see the defendant?" TOMORROW: The preacher, Bates, unwillingly tightens the net about Cherry.

Nowadays You Press A Button

OR PERHAPS a switch, or some little gadget, and a lot of things happen around a home that lighten labor and banish trouble.

A whirling fan brings a cooling breeze, and a little copper, dish-like affair throws out a sizzling blast that warms the room in no time.

Another button boils coffee, toasts bread and cooks waffles. Another does a better job than a broom. Another makes a happy laundress out of a dismal washwoman. Another one cools the ice-box. Another—but why go on?

Labor and time saving devices have come and are today within the reach of the humblest home.

And one of the chief reasons why they have come and why they are within the reach of the humblest home is the power of advertising.

Advertising has carried the news of these better ways of doing things to every home. It has created a desire to possess them, and countless thousands have purchased them, and live better because of them.

Reading advertising not only tells you about new, helpful mechanical devices for the home, but it is an un-failing guide to reliable products.

STOCK SALES AVERAGES

Table with columns: Date, Industrials, Railroads. Rows: Thursday, Wednesday, Week ago, Year ago, High 1927, Low 1927.

New York, April 21-(AP)—A sensational last hour advance of over 7 points in General Motors common to a new record high at 195 overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market.

Contrary to expectations in many quarters, the New York Federal Reserve bank rate was announced as unchanged at 4 per cent, despite the reduction in the Bank of England rate earlier in the day from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent.

The rally in General Motors had all the earmarks of a drive against the short interest although it undoubtedly received its inspiration from predictions of record-breaking first-quarter earnings and prospects of a substantial extra cash dividend.

Rails Are Strong. Ralls gave a fairly good demonstration of strength with buying influenced by reports of large current earnings, and prospects of special dividend distributions.

Steele, particularly the independents, were inclined to heaviness. Other motors did not follow the lead of General Motors, although Chandler, Hudson and Nash received fairly good support.

A jump of over $2 a bale in cotton futures, based on unfavorable crop reports, and a gain of 1 to 2 cents a bushel in what options featured the commodity markets.

Chicago, April 21—Widespread freezing weather, with reports both of crop damage southwest and of increased delay to seedling northwest, carried wheat sharply higher today.

D. A. R. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Washington Woman Polls Most Votes for Vice President.

Washington, April 21—(AP)—Mrs. William Sherman Walker of Washington state, polled the highest vote of the seven women elected today as vice presidents general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Others elected to that office at the annual continental congress of the society were Mrs. Charles Hissell of Connecticut, Mrs. John P. Mosher of New York, Miss Isabel Wyman Gordon of Massachusetts, Mrs. William B. Burney of South Carolina, Mrs. Samuel Preston Davis of Arkansas and Mrs. William Rock Painter of Missouri.

Mrs. Eleanor Washington Howard of Virginia, the last girl born at Mt. Vernon and a collateral descendant of George Washington was elected an honorary vice president. There were two vacancies in that office, but neither of the other two candidates—Mrs. Thomas Kitz of Ohio and Mrs. Richard Jackson Barker of Rhode Island, polled sufficient votes to be elected.

Delegates to the congress assembled on the White House grounds this afternoon where President and Mrs. Coolidge posed with them for a picture.

Approximately 3,000 women were present, forming an aisle through which Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge walked.

After pictures were taken, the president presented medals of the cross of honor awarded by the United States Flag association. Those receiving them were Mrs. Alfred Broseau, president general of the organization; Mrs. Josiah A. Van Odel of Washington, national president of the Children of the American Revolution; Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory of Salisbury, N. C., and Mrs. Joseph B. Tate of Asheville, N. C.

"Y" Quartet Mixes Humor in Program

Everybody likes to laugh and at a concert to be given by the Y. M. C. A. college quartet of Chicago, Saturday night, they will have ample opportunity to do so, for the program is delightfully interspersed with humor, according to out-of-town reports.

Mr. Campbell, who is director of the quartet, supplies a great deal of this humor by his witty comments.

The quartet is being brought here by the Ekky Motorboard. It will give a concert in Manistique tonight and one in Rapid River Sunday afternoon.

The quartet is composed of W. B. Kincaid, George W. Campbell, Dean Upson and Guy W. Crosnoe.

All the boys who attended the Older Boys' Conference are enthusiastic about Mr. Campbell, who was song leader at that time, and await the arrival of the quartet with much interest.

Banker Denies He Favors Amplifying Dawes Settlement

Berlin, April 21—(AP)—Otto H. Kahn, American banker, today issued a categorical denial of reports, which have caused much agitation in a portion of the German press, that he proposed amplification of the Dawes plan during his recent visit to Berlin.

Mr. Kahn's denial is contained in a personal telegram to Jacob S. Goldschmidt, managing director of the Darmstadter national bank, whose name also has been linked with the proposal.

In the telegram forwarded from his private yacht on which he is making a Mediterranean cruise, Mr. Kahn said that he had never contemplated or discussed such modification of the Dawes plan and that such rumors were wholly unfounded.

PARK BOARD IS ENLARGED

Three New Members Appointed by City Council Last Night.

The municipal park board will have five members instead of three as a result of an ordinance adopted by the city council last night and given immediate effect.

Richard Hoyler and Arthur H. Ryall, two of the members of the present board whose terms have expired, were reappointed, and three new men were named. They are Charles Glavin, William Bonifas and W. R. Smith. All terms will be for three years.

The action was taken following a discussion of plans for improving the Ludington Park bathing beach, increasing the number of tennis courts, and making other needed improvements. Members of the board serve without pay, and one of the reasons for enlarging the membership of the body was the fact that the board will have an unusually large amount of work during the next year or two.

The council heard several petitions for watermain and gas extensions and discussed financial matters at length.

City Manager T. F. Kessler's proposed budget for the ensuing fiscal year will be taken up at a special meeting to be held in the near future.

Japan Refuses to Disclose Holding of War Materials

Geneva, April 21—(AP)—Japan cannot reveal to the world her detailed holdings of war material necessary for her defense, M. Sato, Japanese delegate to the preparatory commission for disarmament, announced today.

The sessions will take minor matters before indefinite adjournment. Neither M. Paul Boncour, head of the French delegation, nor Viscount Robert Cecil, the British delegate, was present.

The Japanese announcement of her position on the question revealed war material was made in opposition to a proposal by Holland that the powers make public a complete list of all their arms and war material. M. Sato declared that until perfect security was attained, the nations must be permitted to preserve the secret of their defense.

France supported the Japanese position.

During discussion of a system of applying the eventual treaty, Argentina announced that she favored the British proposal that signatories might increase their armaments beyond their allotted strength in case of rebellion or through the consent of the league.

JAPANESE FACE FINANCE CRISIS

Payments in Banks Will Be Suspended for Two Days.

Tokyo, April 21—(AP)—Hopes for an amelioration in the financial crisis facing Japan are seen in the announcement that beginning tomorrow all banks will temporarily suspend payments for two days, according to the newspaper Asahi.

The newspaper further reports that the privy council will meet and declare a moratorium for 20 days during which a special session of the diet will convene to adopt measures to assist the Bank of Japan.

While no confirmation of Asahi's statements could be obtained in government circles late tonight it appears that an announcement issued by the new cabinet after an all-day extraordinary session to consider the financial situation bears out this prediction. The announcement read:

"After careful deliberation and collecting of reports from various directions, the government has decided to adopt a thorough policy of financial stabilization."

The character of the step to be taken was not made known. However, it was expected that tomorrow would bring the solution, possibly the declaration of moratorium and government assistance to the banks.

Various banks remained open tonight, paying depositors. In the last 24 hours, the Bank of Japan had advanced to Tokyo institutions more than 100,000,000 yen, bringing the outstanding advances to approximately 1,163,000,000 yen. Runs on banks in Osaka, Kobe, Kyoto and other places in the interior also were reported.

Menominee Pastor Chosen Secretary of Presbyterians

Marquette, April 21—(Special)—E. W. Wright of Menominee was elected clerk of the U. P. Presbytery at its meeting here which was attended by pastors of the upper peninsula and 30 laymen. Reports showed that 105 new members had been gained through the year, while there was also a marked increase in benevolence. Rev. John B. Hubbard, who was elected moderator, addressed the Men's club banquet in the Presbyterian church basement on the subject of "Ethics in Economics."

King George and England has developed the style of wearing violets in his lapel, held in place by an elastic band sewed to his coat.
