BAKER URGED AS CANDIDATE BY MEREDITH

DRY FACTION HUNTS MAN TO DEFEAT SMITH.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, May 12.—Ed Meredith of Iowa now trots out a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, namely Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the administration of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Meredith doesn't think a yet can be nominated which means of course that he doesn't think the Democrats finally will choose Al Smith. He thinks instead that Mr. Baker is the "logical candidate," which is only another way of saying that the drys in the Democratic party are desiring themselves to get someone who can be nominated as a compromise if another deadlock ensues. On that theory, Tom Taggart of Indiana has brought out Evans Woolen.

Newton Baker can have the Ohio delegation if he wants it. The Democrats of his home state think a great deal of him. After his return from Washington he developed even greater prestige than when he was away. Newton Baker is not a radical though he has many friends in that wing of the Democratic party. He is known as a liberal conservative or progressive and so far as the Wilson men in the Democratic party is concerned would be eminently satisfactory.

Not a McAdoo Man. Mr. Baker, however, was not a McAdoo man in 1924, in fact the Ohio delegation after many ballots for its favorite son, James M. Cox was held strongly in line against McAdoo by the late Judge Moore and several ballots were cast for Newton Baker.

The last Democratic convention was stirred by Mr. Baker's impassioned speech in favor of a league of nations plank that he did not straddle the issue but he lost out. Wilsonism at that time had not regained the strength it once had in the party. While the league is no longer a controlling issue inside the party, the identification of Newton Baker with the Wilson regime may be an asset instead of a liability. The friends of Al Smith have left no stone unturned to cultivate the Wilson men, in fact publicity was given recently to a letter in which Mr. Wilson at one time commented on Al Smith's record as governor of New York. A few days ago Governor Smith called on Mrs. Woodrow Wilson at the home of Bernard M. Baruch.

Baker Is Dry. The basic reason for the announcement about Newton Baker is not necessarily to present a Wilson man of the old days as a candidate but to bring out a dry. It is apparent that Mr. McAdoo has no desire to get into the presidential race or else such staunch supporters of Mr. McAdoo as Ed Meredith would not be discussing other dry candidates. The number of dry candidates is not large for the prohibition issue in the Wilson days had hardly developed the factionalism it has today.

ACTRESS TAKES STAND AT TRIAL

Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, May 12.—(P)—Dorothy Mackaye, stage actress, widow of Ray Raymond, for whose murder Paul Kelly, film actor, is on trial, took the witness stand for the prosecution this afternoon and denied she was aware of the defendant's intention to visit her husband the day the two men engaged in a fist fight.

The state contends the fight resulted in injuries causing Raymond's death, and that it was waged by Kelly over the affections of the actress. Miss Mackaye, as she is known on the stage, faces trial herself on charges of attempting to cover up facts surrounding Raymond's death and being an accessory after the fact.

Mrs. Raymond, who testified that she married her husband at Gretna Green, Md., August 1, 1921, said she had no knowledge of Kelly telephoning to her husband while she was at the former's home late Saturday afternoon, April 15, the day the prosecution charges Kelly beat Raymond, causing the injuries which resulted in the latter's death.

Gillette here tonight stated that the levees there were in an extremely critical condition and that a crevasse might occur at any moment. Major Gillette left Natchez on a government boat for the scene of the threatened break. He said that a crevasse on Bayou des Glaisses would render 100,000 more people homeless and all available boats would be needed to bring them out of the flooded lowlands.

Two May Race

By Saturday, Charles Lindbergh, who arrived today from St. Louis in a single seater, will be rested from his two-day flight across the country and they attempt for the $25,000 Orly prize may very likely develop into a race between the two monoplanes.

Three-Cornered Race

Announcement of the move gave rise to rumors that the Paris flight might be a three-cornered race, but this belief was shattered when it was recalled that Byrd's financial backers had for many months ago announced that the Fokker would not take off for Paris until the fate of Captain Nungesser and Major Coll, missing French fliers, had been determined.

Plane Not Afloat

On the other hand, however, it was the belief of the naval secretary's advisers that if the "White Bird" failed to reach the Labrador coast there was little, if any, chance that it still was afloat.

Three Heard Roar

A ray of hope was seen this morning in the announcement that three persons had heard the roar of an airplane engine in New Foundland at the time when France's "White Bird" was scheduled to be flying over there but there was no definite proof that it was the French plane that was heard.

Boistering this belief was the remembered disappearance of Lieut. Walter Hinton in 1926.

Cal. in two days immediately captured the imagination of the crowds on the Long Island flying field where two other trans-Atlantic air expeditions are rushing preparations for the great adventure.

As Lindbergh's plane came to rest and the youthful pilot stepped out, some one in the crowd asked, "You're not going to cut out for Paris tonight, are you?"

The question was meant for a jest, but there was something of a superstitious awe in it, too, as though it would not be unlikely for this tall young stranger, who had nonchalantly flown 2,500 miles to get within striking distance of Paris, to set out at once on the trip, not much longer than that he has just finished.

"No," Lindbergh replied, "I don't feel like setting off for a 34 or 35-hour hop right now."

Wants Simple Fare. Asked what food he planned to take, he answered: "A couple of sandwiches and some water, I think."

Lindbergh, whose home is in Detroit, has been flying for the past five years. In that time, he has made four forced parachute jumps from airplanes. He is in the air mail service on the route from Chicago to St. Louis and has been granted an indefinite leave of absence for his Paris flight attempt which he is making as a contest for the Raymond Orteig $25,000 prize. Since the death of Lieut. Com. Noel Davis, Lindbergh is the only pilot properly entered for the prize.

When his plane was run into a hangar for the night, Lindbergh directed that it be placed where there were electric lights, so that he could work on it tonight.

Canberra, Australian Capital, Is a Modern American Town

Canberra, Australia—(AP)—Canberra, Australia's American-planned "District of Columbia," is being slowly created from barren bush ground into a world capital.

The king-emperor has sent his son, the Duke of York, from London on the battleship Renown to declare the federal capital district, comprising some 900 square miles, officially open on May 9. Australian legislators and officials will expand its population of a few hundred workmen and "sooners" into some 10,000 persons.

"The bush capital" district was named Canberra on March 12, 1912, by Lady Denman, wife of the governor general. It is pronounced "Can-bar-ra" and means "wood water," of which there is an abundance in wells built by Australian bushmen long before the advent of white men. The name also is symbolic, since the district is strictly "dry," even to the extent of having its own "General Andrews" in the person of the minister of works, W. C. Hill.

The transition of the barren area, 204 miles from Sydney and 423 miles from Melbourne, into the garden city of the island-continent, began in 1912 when W. Burley Griffin of Chicago won first prize in a world-wide competition for a capital city plan. After studying the development of Washington and other large American cities Griffin came to Australia and for seven years was associated in building the city. Building regulations are strict, and, while it may take 100 years to complete the plan laid down by Griffin, the Australian federal government intends its scheme to be rigidly adhered to. Canberra has two main centers, the governmental and administrative center on the southern side of the Moolongio river and civic center with the main commercial development on the northern side. Even the retail shops are to be under strict control and are required to have arched entrances to preserve a continuity of facade.

Thousands of trees have been planted, a racetrack laid out; there are parks, polo grounds, an aviation field and plans for artificial lakes, golf courses and tennis courts.

Millions in Booze Handled by Dealer

Hamilton, Ont., May 12—(AP)—Bank transactions of Harold Massey, of Windsor, "mail order" liquor dealer, amounted to $3,800,000 since June, 1925. N. W. Rowell, counsel for the royal customs commission, declared at the session of the commission today. Massey testified that he carried on his export business under the name of C. A. Savard. The "Massey group," according to the commission's counsel, is engaged in moving liquor across the Detroit river into the United States.

Two years ago Eleanor spent a silver coin she found for some candy after her mother told her if she did so the devil would get her. Her mother says she laughed until red "scratch marks" formed themselves into "dracu," the Rumanian word for devil.

Dividend Declared By General Motors

New York, May 12—(AP)—Common stockholders of the General Motors corporation were awarded an extra cash dividend of $2 a share, amounting to $17,400,000, at the quarterly meeting of directors today. In addition to the regular cash dividend of $2 a share, the regular preferred dividends also were declared on three senior stock issues, six and seven per cent preferred and six per cent debentures.

The regular common dividend is payable July 13 and the extra on July 5, both to stockholders of record May 21. President Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., announced that the corporation's cash position continues strong, current cash and marketable securities aggregating approximately $150,000,000. The corporation earned $5.50 a share on the common stock in the first quarter. April production and sales were unofficially reported to have established new high records.

Extreme liberality has characterized the dividend policy of the corporation. In 1926, the common received $7 in cash dividends and $9 in extras, in addition to the 50 per cent stock dividend declared last September. In February of this year, the regular dividend was increased from $7 to $8 annually on the enlarged capitalization. Last year the corporation paid out a total of $103,930,993 in cash dividends on common stock.

Youthful Firebug Denies Confession

Big Rapids, Mich., May 12—(AP)—Gerald Bell, 18, of Pontiac who confessed to Prosecutor Everett Monday that he set two of five fires which occurred within four weeks in the home of Mrs. Josephine Throp, today repudiated his confession in justice court here. He declared that "he had been influenced by pressure to make the confession."

Meantime, Bell is being held in $6,000 bail in the county jail here, and an effort will be to have him tried during the May term of circuit court which convenes here Monday.

When the government calls that general convention for crime suppression it is to be hoped they'll subpoena the young man with the saxophone.

POLO PONY IS VITAL FACTOR

Milburn, 46-year-old Rider, Tells of Horse's Part In Game.

BY ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York—The polo pony frequently may be half the battle in this game of hard riding, quick turns and bumps, believes Devereux Milburn, 46-year-old leader of this year's American defense of the International Cup and generally regarded as the game's greatest "back."

"The best player in the world would find it a tough job to keep up with the pace on a poor pony," said Milburn. "On the other hand, he probably would do better than a poor player on a first-rate mount. Horsemanship, tactics and hitting skill all play their part, but the role of the animal can't be underestimated."

Polo ponies are a class of horse bred all by themselves. America's leader asserts. They are chiefly thoroughbred but also have many of the qualities of the mustang—such as endurance, ruggedness and mobility. They are bred in many parts of the world. Some of America's best mounts have been bought from England and the Argentine. Others come from Kentucky and Texas.

"Most of the ponies, the best ones, seem to have a sixth sense in following the ball and knowing what the rider expects of them," added Milburn. "Their intelligence at times is almost unbelievable."

"They are put to a severe strain in top-flight matches but they are durable. The average pony's playing life is from 7 to 12 years."

Milburn rode one famous mount, "Temby," in four international cup campaigns, from 1911 to 1921. "Royal Diamond," another great pony, was ridden by Vivian Lockett of England in the 1913 matches and by Tommy Hitchcock, the young American star, in 1921.

"Cotton Tail," considered the greatest pony that ever stepped on a field of international play, was ridden by Harry Payne Whitney from 1904 to 1914, the period during which Milburn, Whitney and the famous Waterbury brothers came together as the first "Big Four." Another noted mount, "Eve," veteran of the campaigns of 1911-13-14, and ridden by Watson Webb in 1921, dropped dead on the field in 1922.

Perhaps the best known of ponies since the war is "Belle of All," adjudged the champion polo mount from 1921 to 1923 and owned by Louis E. Stoddard, president of the U. S. Polo association. Bred by E. R. Bradley, noted Kentucky horseman, "Belle of All" was ridden in the 1921 internationals by Stoddard and in 1924 by Hitchcock, who probably will have the pony in his string this year. "Judy," bred in the Senate Committee Cuts M. S. C. Budget

Lansing, May 12—(AP)—The Michigan bill which originally asked the appropriation of $2,400,000 for new buildings and improvements at Michigan State college was reported from the senate committee on finance and appropriations today with only $136,000 of the requested amounts bearing a tax clause. The committee left in the bill without tax clause items totalling $775,000 for other new buildings.

The house ways and means committee had cut the requests to $1,114,250 bearing a tax clause. The only sums granted pertain to improvements and construction of new buildings for the agricultural division of the college.

The house ways and means committee today reported out the U. of Michigan mill tax bill carrying an annual appropriation of 6-10 mill. This levy would yield the university about $4,300,000 a year for operating purposes. The committee also reported the building and improvement appropriation measure as it came from the senate. It carries $4,150,000, divided $2,700,000 with a tax clause and $1,450,000 without a tax clause for the next biennial period. The measure will come up for passage in the house Friday.

Detroit Will Vote on Windsor Bridge

Detroit, May 12—(AP)—Indications that a city ordinance authorizing construction of the Detroit-Windsor bridge will soon be put to a vote was seen tonight when Sherman D. Callender, attorney for the American Transit company promoters of the bridge, appeared at the office of the city election commission and obtained information relative to the cost of a special election. Callender and Frank D. Eganman, another company attorney, planned to leave for New York immediately for the purpose of submitting the special election proposal to Joseph A. Bower, who heads the company.

The suit started in circuit court by Mayor Smith to stop construction of the bridge until the project had been submitted to the people for vote was dropped today after the executive said he had received assurances from company officials that his wishes would be complied with. The suit was to have been decided May 23.

Desertion May Not Be Divorce Cause for Presbyterians

Pittsburgh, May 12—(AP)—Desertion may cease to be a recognized cause for divorce in the Presbyterian church, if the recommendation of a special sub-committee, made public today, is accepted. The recommendation proposes that the confession of faith be amended to make adultery the only recognized cause for divorce and to limit divorced persons who may be remarried in the church to the innocent parties in divorce actions based on adultery.

The Presbyterian church is the only one of the confessional protestant communions—which includes the Episcopal, Methodist, Lutheran, the Reformed Church in America, the Reformed Church in the United States and the Christian Reformed church—which recognizes any cause for divorce except adultery. Today's recommendation has been approved by a sub-committee of the general assembly's special committee on marriage and divorce which has been considering the whole subject during the past year. The sub-committee is headed by Dr. Clarence Edward Macartney, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, who made the conclusions of his associates public today.

The recommendation will be acted on by the special committee on May 24 in San Francisco, and will be proposed for action by the general assembly in that city, May 26-June 1.

Suit Against King to Continue Monday

Lansing, May 12—(AP)—The state's suit to throw the House of David colony at Benton Harbor into receivership will go on next Monday regardless of the request of H. T. Dewhirst, counsel for the colony, for a postponement. W. W. Potter, attorney general, said today. Dewhirst wired Potter asking him to agree to a continuance for one week. The attorney general replied he believes the case should be called as scheduled.

Counsel for both sides have been busy for weeks rounding up depositions and witnesses. The state so far has 108 witnesses it plans to call to the stand, Mr. Potter said.

Mrs. Benjamin Farnell, the Kentucky woman Benjamin "King" of the colony, is alleged to have deserted years ago when he fled from the Kentucky hills before an irate mob, probably will be the first state witness.

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it. SENIORS LEAD IN SCHOLARSHIP

Juniors of High School Behind by .2 of One Per Cent.

The senior class of Escanaba high school takes first place in the race for scholarship honors for the second term of the second semester from the juniors by a margin of but two-tenths of one per cent.

The final average for standings of classes is determined by subtracting the percentage of failures from the percentage of the class on the honor roll.

The girls of the school, with a final percentage of 23.2 per cent, completely outclassed the boys who had more failures than students on the honor roll, and came out with a negative six-tenths of one per cent.

The standings of the classes:

200 Attend Meeting of Barr's P. T. A.

Two hundred parents and friends attended the meeting of the Barr Parent-Teachers' association Wednesday night, which proved to be the largest and most successful gathering of the year.

The evening's main feature was a music and art exhibit presented under the direction of special supervisors, Miss Grace Mills, and Miss Lois Gaut. Methods of instruction were fully explained in a brief but interesting talk given by Miss Mills.

A saxophone solo by Harland Leopold opened the program. This was followed by songs by children of the various grades.

Visitors were free to inspect the class rooms, the walls of which were covered by interesting displays of art work. On the desks were found papers containing work in language, spelling, arithmetic, and other subjects. These enabled parents to study the type of work done in each classroom.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Sale At Bark River: The Epworth League of M. E. church of Bark River will hold their annual sale May 14th at 3 o'clock at the church.

Sacred Concert: A sacred concert will be given in the main auditorium of the First Presbyterian church Sunday night at 7:30. The playing of Mrs. F. M. Fornstrom, church organist, has been highly praised for many years and requests have come in that she give an organ recital. She has consented to do so and has prepared an excellent program for the occasion. Miss Linnea Lund will also appear on the program, singing several numbers. She is always warmly received. The pastor, Rev. John B. Hubbard, will give a five-minute sermonette.

Successful Novena: A large number of faithful are making the novena at St. Patrick's church in honor of St. Theresa, and many receive Holy Communion daily. The prayers for the novena will be recited this evening and Sunday evening at the services at 7:30, for those who cannot attend the morning devotions. Many petitions have been placed at the shrine and more are coming every day. The solemn closing of the novena will be held Tuesday, May 17.

Lunch at High School: Eighth grade students who are writing the county examinations at the court house today will be guests of the Escanaba school board in the high school cafeteria for lunch this noon. There are more than 60 rural school students writing the examinations.

Rebekah Lodge: Members of the Phoebe Rebekah lodge will hold their regular meeting at I. O. O. F. Hall this evening when nomination of officers will take place.

Chimney Blast: A faulty chimney was the cause of the blaze that the Escanaba fire department extinguished at the home of Oscar Carlson, 113 First avenue north, yesterday afternoon. Little damage was done.

Marriage License: Joseph Kraus and Miss Annie Zusek, both of Malm, have filed an application for a marriage license in the office of George E. Harvey, county clerk.

Grand Concert: A grand concert will be given by the local Salvation Army corps at the North Star hall Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock when Captain and Mrs. Biegh of Marinette will be in charge of the program. Captain Biegh is a talented vocalist and musician. Other talented persons from Escanaba will participate in the program.

Leaves Local Store: C. W. Carlson, employed at the Fair Store for the last 16 years, has severed his connection there. He is planning a trip from Escanaba to Chicago, Akron and Washington, D. C., to close negotiations with a chain corporation.

Joy Rider Blamed for Taking Auto: A joyrider's prank is given by the police as the probable cause of Thomas Beaton's car being stolen from the Delft theater block Wednesday evening about 8:30 o'clock. The car had not been found yesterday afternoon.

Young Ohio ex-sailor: A young Ohio ex-sailor knows 100 different kinds of knots. Send him to China, send him to China!

Into Porto Verde Came Vilak

VILAK

INTO Porto Verde came Vilak, a man of action.

A strange man. In his veins flowed a mixture of American and Oriental blood; on his features was the indelible stamp of his Tartar ancestry--the high cheek bones, the slanting eyes, the tawny skin. His eyes were the blue of the Anglo-Saxons and his eyebrows, in striking contrast to his black hair, were blond. A man to remember.

It was perhaps a curious fact that Elsie Marberry should fall in love with him. Elsie was beautiful and wealthy, Vilak unhand-some, repellent looking, more or less of an adventurer.

But they possessed one thing in common--courage. Together they dared the threats of a murderous clique and stayed on in Porto Verde when to stay was to invite death in shudderingly horrible form.

They stayed, and Vilak, matching his wits against those of the most powerful of all enemies, the enemy unseen, solved the mystery of Porto Verde.

You will meet Vilak in "Jungle Breath," the great new adventure story by Ben Lucien Burman. You will thrill at the exploits of this modern Sherlock Holmes and his romance with the beautiful Elise Marberry. If you miss this story you miss one of the big fiction treats of the year.

450 STUDENTS ENJOY MATINEE

A crowd of more than 450 grade and high school students received "The Whole Town's Talking," senior class play matinee, presented in Escanaba high school auditorium yesterday afternoon as one of the most successful comedies ever staged there.

It is expected that a packed house of adults will be on hand tonight at 8:15 o'clock when the evening performance of the play is given in the auditorium. Good seats may still be reserved at the Office Service company. They may be reserved there until 6 o'clock tonight and after that at the door of the high school.

The play, a three-act farce, written by Anita Loos and John Emerson, is a side-splitting success from start to finish. It is well cast and under the competent direction of Miss Emily Cripps, the students pack their performance with fun. Well-chosen costumes and stage scenery add to the effectiveness of the play.

Three Main Characters.

The plot is woven about Elmer Johnson, cast as Henry Simmons; Harry Erickson, who takes the role of Chester Binney, Simmons' junior partner, and Louise Edwards, who is Simmons' "marriageable" daughter.

For business reasons Simmons wishes to have his daughter marry his junior partner. But the junior partner is the sort of bachelor that no girl likes. Simmons strikes on the plan that all girls will like a man who has admirers outside of the city. Simmons invents a supposed love affair between Binney and Letty Lythe, a nationally known cinema beauty. Florence French takes the part of Letty Lythe. Just as every girl in town becomes wild over Binney, and Simmons' daughter has "landed" him, Letty Lythe appears in town on a personal tour with one of her pictures.

She uses some funny tactics in getting even with Binney, whom she hasn't seen before, and at the same time cures her jealous lover of his jealousy. Clarence Curran, taking the part of Donald Swift, the movie queen's fiance, adds to the fun when he learns of the affair between Binney and Miss Lythe. Peculiar predicaments arise every minute. As soon as one is cleared up another appears.

Gasoline Reduced 2 Cents a Gallon

A two-cent reduction per gallon in the price of gasoline became effective at all filling stations in this city yesterday. This brings the price of gasoline to 18.9 cents per gallon at the stations, and 16.9 cents from the tank wagons. This is a new low price for the year.

SAINT and SINNER

Fay, "Long" Lane's pretty, kindhearted little bride, was setting the table for breakfast on Wednesday morning when Faith staggered into the dining room, lurching to the homely old sideboard, gripped it with shaking hands and stood swaying drunkenly.

"Oh, Faith, what in the world is the matter?" Fay cried, horror shuddering her usually sweet voice. "You're sick! Your cheeks are scarlet with fever, and your breathing—oh, Faith, darling! I'm going to call a doctor! Long! Daddy Lane!" she shrieked, as Faith collapsed in her arms.

"It's just a cold," Faith panted. "Don't fuss over me! Just—give me—some coffee. I'll be all right."

When Dr. Atkins arrived, 15 minutes later, he vetoed, with shocking profanity to hide his anxiety, the very thought of her going to the courthouse that day.

"But Cherry's sick, too," she moaned, foisting her disheveled head on her hot pillow.

All day Aunt Hattie bustled and fussed and scolded lovingly, invariably creeping tiptoe into the room just as the fever-dazed girl was drifting off to troubled sleep.

"No, sir, you ain't going to see the afternoon papers," Aunt Hattie scolded fondly. "The doctor said you was not to excite yourself, and you ain't—not if I can help it."

But Faith did not obey her. When Bob Hathaway came stepping softly into Faith's room—the front bedroom which had once been Cherry's—holding out toward her a great sheaf of long-stemmed golden-yellow roses, she half-laughed and half-sobbed a greeting.

"I've missed you so terribly," she told him when he sat on the edge of her bed and stroked her hot cheeks with his cool, gentle fingers. "Now—tell me, quick, what happened today? How did Cherry look? Was she worried about me? Whom did Churchill call as his first witnesses? What sort of impression is he making on the jury?"

"When?" Bob whistled, then bent to kiss her forehead. "One thing at a time, please, Miss Lane! Cherry looked fine, even if she was a little pale. You can't keep a good girl down! Oh, yes, the witnesses; Well, Churchill called your father first. That was a real surprise. He got it over to the jury splendidly that Cherry, in breaking her engagement to Cluny, even if it was at the eleventh hour, was really obeying her father and her mother."

"Who was next?" Faith demanded, the fever flush deepening in her cheeks.

"A surprise witness," Bob told her exultingly. "A chap who saw a taxicab parked in the alley behind Uncle Ralph's house about the time of the murder."

"Oh, tell me!" Faith raised herself on an elbow, her eyes wildly bright with fever and hope.

TOMORROW: The mysterious death-threat letter is introduced by Churchill in Cherry's defense.

AT THE DELFT.

Tom Eggett, with the aid of two spendthrift friends who have a penchant for picking losing horses rapidly, goes through the $50,000 left him by his wealthy uncle.

When the trio is broke and penniless, Tom is informed that his uncle, in a codicil in the will, has provided that his nephew shall inherit the huge Eggett department store provided he operates it for three months and shows a profit at the end of that period. In case the store loses money during the year, title to it reverts to Cyrus Crabb, present manager of the store, and an old business associate of the uncle.

Pennies in Fuse Box Dangerous; Cause Two Fires

Pennies in the fuse boxes of two Escanaba homes resulted in considerable damage to the electric wiring and both residences narrowly escaped disastrous fires, the city electrical department disclosed yesterday.

"Fuses are the 'safety valves' of the electric system," it was emphasized. "They are made so that they will blow out when the 'pressure' is stronger than the wiring is intended to carry. Persons who replace worn-out fuses with copper coins are subjecting themselves and their homes to a serious and unnecessary risk."

"The fire department records show that several costly fires have started in that way here during the last few years, and only good luck in discovering the trouble before it got too much headway prevented even larger damage in the two most recent instances."

VANDALS BREAK INTO SCHOOL

Vandals and hoodlums visited Escanaba high school Thursday night, breaking windows and doors and stealing a few dollars in change from a number of desks.

Entrance to the building was made through a window in the southeast corner of the auditorium. A glass cutter was used to make a hole large enough in the window so that the latch could be unlocked.

After getting into the assembly room, the prowlers did not molest any of the books in the desks, but forced open the double doors at the rear of the room, giving them access to the entire east side of the school.

The window in the door of Prin. John A. Lemmer's office was broken. The secretary's desk was broken into and all papers were thrown about promiscuously. About $5 in change was stolen from the desk. The principal's desk was unharmed.

The next entrance was made into the office of R. E. Cheney, superintendent. The desk in Mr. Cheney's office was ransacked but slightly and a small amount of change taken.

The window in the door of the book and supply room was broken and the cash register gone into. The cash drawers of the machine were not locked, however, making it unnecessary for the thieves to damage it.

Police Have Case. That the thieves were well acquainted with the school is indicated by their entrance into but one class room where a number of French coins were kept. The coins, the property of Lee Day, French instructor, were kept in a drawer of the desk.

Evidence of "kid" work is shown where the cafeteria was entered and a lunch made on milk and a few articles kept in the ice box.

The entrance was noticed when school was opened yesterday morning. Police were notified and are working on the case.

OBITUARY

PAUL WICKLUND.

Seldom has the death of a young person called forth such universal sorrow and regret as that of Paul Wicklund which occurred Tuesday evening at the family home, 307 South Fifteenth street, following an illness of two weeks, due to brain fever.

Loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends, for his noble qualities of mind and heart, it was but natural that the news of his death, though not entirely unexpected, should prove a shock.

Mr. Wicklund was born and reared in this city and he had endeared himself to employers and fellow employes by his noble traits of character and unflinching fidelity to duty.

The constant stream of visitors which thronged the home of the deceased to pay the last tribute of respect, bore witness to the high esteem and affection in which he was held.

The funeral cortege left the home at two thirty o'clock after short services had been conducted by Rev. J. B. Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and Rev. O. R. Palm, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church and proceeded to the First Presbyterian church which was filled with sorrowing friends long before the hour set for the services.

Rev. Hubbard conducted the services and preached the sermon using as his text, Matthew, 25th chapter, 12th verse: "Ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man Cometh." Rev. O. R. Palm assisted at the services and read from Scripture: 15th chapter from the Corinthians and from the Gospel of St. John: "In My Father's House there are many mansions."

A male quartet composed of O. I. Bandeen, C. A. Anderson, R. H. Nordling and H. J. Swanson sang two numbers: "Wonderful Peace" and "That Beautiful Land." Mrs. F. M. Fernstrom, presided at the organ.

Words fail to describe the large number and beauty of the floral pieces which surrounded the casket at the home and which filled the front of the church during the services.

The close friends who bore the beautiful grey velvet casket to and from the funeral car were life long associates of the deceased, Jack Christie, Earl Johnson, Oscar Pascal, Worthley Magnus, Ernest Flath and Donald McLean.

Burial was in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery where a line of cars filled with friends of the deceased accompanied the body to its last resting place.

MRS. JOHN TOLAN.

Scores of friends have called at the home of the family, 1214 Eighth avenue south, and paid their last respects to Mrs. John Tolan, who passed away Tuesday after an illness of one week, due to pneumonia. Mr. Tolan had been a resident of this city for the past 44 years and many of the older residents of Escanaba visited the home during the past three days.

Funeral services will be held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, with Rev. Fr. John Mocker as celebrant at the solemn requiem high mass, assisted by Rev. Fr. A. Waechter and Rev. Fr. Bergeron. Four sons and two sons-in-law of the deceased will carry the casket: James, Charles, Frank and Gabriel Tolan and T. G. Byrne and Joseph Buchanan.

Out-of-town relatives and friends who will attend the funeral services include Mrs. Gabriel Tolan of Milwaukee, Patrick Gaynor of Chicago, Joseph Buchanan, Luxemburg, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buchanan, Mrs. Anna Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Villemare, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parent of Iron Mountain, George Fullam and Mrs. Jean Raymond of Oshkosh, Wis.

Many beautiful flowers and a large number of spiritual offerings surrounded the casket at the family home, tokens of esteem from a wide circle of friends.

Interment will be in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery.

W. M. FILLIS.

Many sorrowing relatives and friends attended the funeral services which were held for William Fillis of Ralph, formerly of Wisconsin at the Anderson Funeral Home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The casket was surrounded with many beautiful flowers, tokens of esteem from a large circle of friends.

Rev. John Crippen Evans, Rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church officiated at the services which were very impressive.

Rev. Evans used the Episcopal Prayer book services and a trio composed of Rev. Evans, Mrs. Morell and Mrs. Wilson sang two numbers "Abide With Me" and "Lead Kindly Light."

Members of the Hermansville and local lodge of Knights of Pythians attended the funeral services in a body.

Burial was in Lakeview cemetery. The pallbearers were: Harold Stecker, William Daniel, A. E. Allen, Henry Jensen, Earl Anderson and John Roscoe, members of the Hermansville Knights of Pythias lodge.

PETER COURRIER.

Peter Courrier, 61, died suddenly at his home, 1425 North Twentieth street, at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning from a stroke.

The deceased is survived by his wife, two daughters and nine sons: Mrs. Alfred Derocher, Mrs. Alice Derocher, May, Mary, Peter, Joseph, Alfred, John, William and Willie, all of this city, and Wilford of Milwaukee.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home yesterday to be prepared for burial, and was returned last night to the home.

Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. J. Mocker, celebrant at the requiem high mass. Burial will be made at St. Anne's cemetery.

Gross-Ross Players Close Engagement Here With Comedy

The Gross-Ross Players, undoubtedly the best "stock" company to visit Escanaba in years, concluded a four-day engagement at the Delft theatre last night.

The play, "Strange Bed Fellows", offered Miss Myrtle Ross, the organization's talented leading woman, further opportunities to display her amazing versatility. She was seen as a woman candidate for mayor of a large city, and the plot carried her through a maze of political twists and snarls. There was a heap of good comedy and some fine dramatic moments. Herbert Duffy as a campaign manager, and all the other members of the cast gave splendid accounts of themselves.

The company plans on paying annual visits to Escanaba, during the intermissions in its resident stock engagements at the Garrick theatre in Milwaukee.

OLD STUFF.

"And were you little once like I am, grandpa?" "Of course, my boy." "Gee, you musta been a scream with those glasses and long whiskers."—Wette Welt.

Mr. Courrier apparently was in good health until a few days ago when he became slightly indisposed, but his condition was not considered serious. Yesterday morning he arose as usual, ate his breakfast, and while engaged in work about the home, dropped dead.

The deceased is survived by his wife, two daughters and nine sons: Mrs. Alfred Derocher, Mrs. Alice Derocher, May, Mary, Peter, Joseph, Alfred, John, William and Willie, all of this city, and Wilford of Milwaukee.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral home yesterday to be prepared for burial, and was returned last night to the home.

Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Fr. J. Mocker, celebrant at the requiem high mass. Burial will be made at St. Anne's cemetery.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, Ohio, May 13.—Iron Trade Review today says:

Steel ingot production in April was unable to subside the tradition of a decline beginning with the second quarter and fell off five per cent from March, but it did soar to a new pinnacle for April. The month's total of 4,129,352 gross tons compares with 4,554,926 tons in March, the all-time high, and 4,105,799 tons last April.

Statistics of production for steel, as for pig iron, reveal a robustness that is belatedly by hand-to-mouth buying. In each month since January more steel has been made than in the comparable months of last year, which is the record. With the year one-third gone, cumulative production of steel at 16,262,161 tons is only one and one-half per cent under the similar period of 1926.

Heavy finished steel has shown further shrinkage in both new business and production the past week, but no more so than is to be expected for the season. In the absence of normal demand from major consumers, such as freight car and automobile manufacturers, the volume of steel being absorbed by the general run of industry appears the greater. Business is better than the steady inflow of small orders from diversified sources indicates casually, as evidenced by the April ingot figures. The price situation in the heavy finished steel lines still tends toward easiness. Steelworks operations this week average 82 per cent, a loss of two points.

Pig iron continues dull and weak. Both bessemer and basic iron are off 50 cents in the Mahoning valley, to $19 and $18, respectively. Practically all makers of cold rolled strip steel are now quoting the new quantity differentials, which have the effect of imposing an extra on small purchases. With the leading independent maker of sheets at Chicago in line, the sheet industry is now solidly behind the new levels of 2.35c. Pittsburgh for blue annealed, 3.00c for black, 3.85c for galvanized and 4.25c for full-finished. A few small sales have been made at these levels, but since most consumers covered their second quarter needs before the advance, the real test is postponed until third quarter requirements come out, in about a month.

April car awards, totaling 3,350, were the lightest for any month since October and brought the total for the opening four months of this year to 28,325, compared with 35,335 in the corresponding period of last year.

Declines in pig iron prices have been more than neutralized by advances in sheets and as a result, the Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products this week stands at $36.55 compared with $36.62 last week.

WORTH TRYING.

Too little attention, it seems to us, has been given the recent suggestion of French Foreign Minister Briand that the United States and France sign a treaty forever outlawing war between themselves. Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent, points out that this suggestion has made little stir at our capital. Apparently it has made no more stir anywhere else in the country. Apparently it has made no more stir anywhere else in the country. Yet, to our way of thinking, it is a most excellent idea.

Now there doesn't seem to be any very great danger that we will go to war with France, either now or in the future, whether this treaty be signed or not. This nation and France have a little misunderstanding about the war debt, and probably our mutual friendship has cooled considerably since the fraternal days of 1917; yet it would require a complication of a gravity at present incomprehensible to bring either nation to the point where it would want to war with the other.

That being the case, it might be asked, "Why sign a no-war treaty, then? It isn't needed." Probably that is true. But the treaty would be a "magnificent gesture," and sometimes the right kind of gesture is an extremely weighty force in the affairs of the world.

For, after all, it is the intangible things that are important, even in so hard-balled a realm as that of international politics. A scrap of paper may be rather insignificant in itself, but it may also prove a power of tremendous value in its influence on the minds of men.

To our way of thinking, this treaty would be such a power. It is certain that the United States and France have only the most peaceable intentions towards one another; why, then, not put that down in writing? Why not publish a covenant for the world to see setting settlement of whatever differences may arise between them? Who can tell what far-reaching effects such a step might not have?

For the signing of mutual treaties outlawing war has heretofore been the concern only of small nations. Suppose two of the largest and strongest nations on earth entered into such an agreement; is it not safe to say that the moral effect might be tremendous? And it is precisely in that sphere—in the catching of men's visions by a glimpse of a new order—that international peace lies, rather than in any complicated system of "guarantees," "alliances," "balance-of-power" flub-dubbery or the like.

At all events, it is worth thinking over. We would like to see the country give M. Briand's suggestion a good deal of thought.

IT WAS OBVIOUS.

The liner Ryndam, "floating university," returns from its round-the-world cruise and announces that the project was eminently successful, but that, on the whole, it has been deemed wiser to omit the co-educational feature in the next cruise.

This, it is added, is no reflection on the students, and does not mean that there were any scandalous or romantic goings-on on this last cruise. The authorities simply feel that better work will be done if all of the students are of the same sex.

We hate to say "I told you so"; but this, it seems, should have been fairly obvious.

Imagine a liner cruising through the East Indies; there is a full moon silencing the water, and a spice-laden breeze spilling over the rail; a lone co-ed sits pensive on a deserted deck in the moonlight;—what young man is going to keep his mind on binomial theorems or quadratic equations in such circumstances?

No, it should have been fairly obvious.

A NEEDED INNOVATION.

President Coolidge, it is announced, has installed an "air purifier" on his White House desk. By means of some chemical or other this device is said to keep the air fresh and unsmelled.

It is an innovation that should have been made many years ago. No person in the United States gets quite as much gas loosed at him as the president. What with visiting congressmen, political leaders from "back home," cranks and delegations of the "gimme" boys, the air in the presidential office must need renovating very frequently.

WATCHING HISTORY.

It will pay you to keep your eyes on England these days. It is becoming daily more apparent that history is being made over there.

Labor and Conservative forces are engaged in a bitter parliamentary struggle. Its bitterness can be gauged by the fact that one Labor member cried "liar!" at Premier Baldwin during a debate the other day.

Two opposing schools of political and economic thought are clashing. Sooner or later one of them will win out. The effects on the British empire will be profound. It is worth watching.

A WISE DECISION.

Tammany Hall, it is announced, will make no effort to establish branches in other cities.

This strikes us as a wise decision. Tammany doubtless isn't as bad as it has been painted. Even so, we imagine the rest of the country will be just as well pleased to know that Tammany will remain strictly a New York institution.

Tammany may be all right, but the rest of us have about all the political machines we care for right now.

LYRICS OF LIFE

MORE THAN ALL ELSE. Beauty is what this old world needs, More than all else. Some think it's money, But I keep right on planting seeds And try to make one corner sunny. Some say it's knowledge, but the book That I keep reading has no page, And yet within it I may look And find the wisdom of the ages, A kinder wisdom than the sage's.

Beauty is what the world requires More than all else. It has more quiet When sorrow grieves, when labor tires, Than all you shouting, all your riot, And so I keep on making songs While other men are making mugs, And look at all my hurts and wrongs Through beauty's gay and glittering prisms, Not much concerned with creeds or schisms.

Beauty is what this old world hath, More than all else. Some think that duty Makes life a hard and narrow path: 'Tis not to him who sees its beauty, So let us keep on finding flowers Among the furrows, songs in stitches, Some beauty in some task of ours, Behind a desk, or down in ditches: More than all else, there are our riches.

UNLESS we receive evidence to the contrary, we shall list as the day's outstanding demonstration of self-esteem, the purchase by a New York man, for $27,000, of a portrait of himself.

HKR: Aha! A new city pastime—a game that should appeal to all sport-loving motorists. Here's the dope. The contestants line up at the East end of Ludington street in their cars. CHAPTER XLVII

"His accomplice?" Billy's suddenly dry lips could hardly form the words. "Sure," Nyda nodded, her glittering black eyes again racing down the paragraphs of the front page story. "Ralph Truman was dead right. They got the goods on him all right. It says here that a self-appointed committee of representative citizens—that's Ralph Truman's work, of course—managed to install a dictaphone in Namir Sadh's private sanctum, and it made records of his telephone conversations, at least of his end of the conversations, and they got him dead to rights. His accomplice—"

"Who was his accomplice?" Billy's tongue was still almost paralyzed by that nameless fear. His—she could not even utter Dal's name to herself—his going away so suddenly, so mysteriously had nothing to do with this exposure of Namir Sadh—

"It doesn't say," Nyda answered. "All they know is that he did have an accomplice, some society man, they think, who wormed his way into the confidence of everyone of importance and topped off Namir Sadh so he could scare the life out of the suckers who came to get their fortune told. Some well scheme, believe me!" She abandoned her effort to enlighten Billy and read on, interrupting her reading with exclamations of pleased horror. "Say, Winnie, the Holden divorce suit was caused by Namir Sadh! I told you so! Sadh got the low-down on Bert Holden—it says here—and when Holden refused to pay up, Sadh spilled the beans to Mrs. Holden, and she sued Bert for a divorce."

"But I don't understand," Billy pleaded. "Please let me see the paper. How did he work his scheme?" Winnie volunteered to enlighten her. "Why, it was as simple as A-B-C. This accomplice of Namir Sadh's would call the fakes up two or three times a day, find out what appointments the fakes had made, then the accomplice would give him the dope on them over the phone. If he didn't have anything on them, except harmless stuff, he'd try to get something hot before Sadh saw them; and if he couldn't, or they weren't important enough, Sadh would just string 'em along and no harm done."

"Oh, my God!" Nyda breathed, fear blanching her cheeks. "It says they found a book with every one of his appointments listed in it, and under each name all the dope he'd got on them. The district attorney says there's no doubt he was all set for the biggest blackmail campaign anyone ever pulled off in this man's town." She read on, her hands trembling so that the paper rattled. "Oh, it's all right!" she breathed with prayerful thankfulness. "The district attorney says the book will be kept under lock and key in his own office. He says that nobody but him will ever see it. Lord, think of what might happen in this town if some crook got hold of it!"

"How did Namir Sadh escape?" Billy asked, her own breath coming more easily. "Why, they raided his place last night, thinking they'd bag him," Nyda explained, "but he must have been tipped off right at the last minute. Some secret passage, I guess," she concluded with relief.

"A secret passage in a modern apartment house?" Billy grinned. "Don't be foolish!" "Well, anyone—now you see him and now you don't! He didn't have time to open his safe and take what money he had on hand and the black book. They found seven hundred dollars in a fortune salted away somewhere, safe and sound. They didn't find a trace of him. They ought to have had the place surrounded by the police," she added fiercely. "The boob! It's just like Ralph Truman to make a mess of it!"

"Maybe," Winnie suggested slyly, with a keen glance at Nyda's still pale face, "it's better—for a good many people that Namir Sadh will not be brought to trial in Colfax. He might sling a few hot ones from the witness stand."

"Maybe it is," Nyda agreed. The Namir Sadh scandal occupied front page space for three or four days, then, for lack of fresh developments, slipped into oblivion. Almost no one could be found who would appear before the district attorney and make accusations against the fugitive nooth-sayer, and true to his promise to the uneasy public, the district attorney did not make use of the famous "black book" to force cooperation with his office on the part of those who had been black-mailed and defrauded. Dal Romaine kept his promise to Billy to write, but his notes, mailed at long intervals from widely separated cities, gave no clue as to his activities. They contained little more than tender assurances of his love for her and veiled references to their secret engagement. As weeks slipped almost monotonously into months, the restless, heartick girl tried to concentrate on her music, to recapture the old magic which had once filled her life with ambition and hope. But ambition seemed to have died within her. There was not room in her heart for anything but that terrible, gnawing hunger for Dal Romaine. The telephone never rang for her that she did not hurry to it with her heart pounding with a wild hope that it was his voice. The postman became the god to which she prayed, but he so seldom brought her a note from her absent lover that she grew to hate the sight of him.

Once, in her desperation, she humbled herself to ask Mrs. Meadows for news of her wandering nephew. But Mrs. Meadows could tell her little more than she already knew. "The dear boy has so many important business interests that I cannot possibly keep up with them," Mrs. Meadows told her brightly. "I seldom hear from him, but he always mentions you—in a way that makes me quite sorry that I am too old ever to enjoy romance again myself. That was a grain of comfort for the lovesick girl, but it could not sustain her indefinitely. Early in January, after a rather quiet Christmas celebration in the Curtis house, Winnie announced that she had accepted an invitation to spend a week in the winter camp of the Claiborne, friends whom she had made during the year but who seldom came to the Curtis mansion. It was entirely by accident that Billy discovered that the lovely little blond had not been with the Claibornes at all. It was Bruce Kruger, who had really been in the Claiborne camp for a week of winter sports, who quite innocently revealed that Winnie had not been in the party. It was possible for Billy to confront to girl, who had returned from her mysterious trip with a deeply satisfied glow in her shallow blue eyes, with knowledge of Winnie's deceit. She feared to pry, lest she learn something that would blast the dearest hope she had in the world. She could not even be sure that Winnie was hearing from Dal, too, but Viola, the maid, hinted broadly until Billy shut her up. As long as she did not know— The thirty-first anniversary of the founding of the Curtis Store was a very different celebration than that of the year before. The three girls attended the big party, dressed very quietly, their jewelry discreetly locked in the safe in the old millionaire's library. Not even Lella Sampson was her old cordial self to Billy, and many of the salesmen were openly hostile to the "Cinderella girls."

OLD MASTERS

I love? Pictures of growing spring and farms and homes. With the Fourth-month eve at sundown, and the gray smoke of lucid and bright. With floods of the yellow gold of the gorgeous, indolent, sinking sun, burning, expanding the air. With the fresh spring herbage under foot, and the pale green leaves of the trees prolific. In the distance of flowing glaze, the breast of the river, with a wind dapple here and there. With ranging hills on the banks, with many a line against the sky, and shadows. And the city at hand with dwellings so dense, and stacks of chimneys. And all the scenes of life and the workshops, and the workmen homeward returning. —Walt Whitman: From "When Lalacs Last Bloomed Round the Dooryard."

GRAND TRUNK BILL ADOPTED

Authorizes New Contract Relative to Moving Tracks.

Lansing, May 12.—(AP)—The administration's bill authorizing the re-drafting of the state's contract with the Grand Trunk railroad relative to the moving of the tracks of the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee, was adopted by the legislature today.

It bore an amendment authorizing the construction of 70-foot highways on each side of the proposed new roadbed.

The Turner bill appropriating $1,000,000 to be apportioned by the state administrative board to the poorer school districts was passed by the senate by a vote of 24 to 5, over the strenuous objections of Senators Howard Baxter and Peter B. Lennon.

Senator Baxter declared the bill made a pork barrel of the general fund of the state, giving to the administrative board additional funds to juggle at their will. Senator Lennon objected to a "measure which does not aid the overtaxed districts, but adds to their burden."

Education Is Duty.

Senator Thomas Read contended that "it is the duty of the state to educate the children of the rural districts as well as those in the cities and richer communities."

The bill originally appropriated $2,000,000, to be taken from the revenue of the corporation tax, but was amended by the senate to be drawn from the general fund under the direction of the administrative board.

The Jahnke bill authorizing 15 round boxing bouts upon the order of the director of the state athletic board of control was adopted. The salary of the boxing commissioner was held at $3,500.

Senator Seth Q. Pulver, administration, floor leader, objected to the Simpson bill, which he said prohibited the state or municipalities from constructing public buildings, unless they entered bids with competing contractors.

"I don't believe the time has come yet," he said, "to deliver the state into the hands of the contractors. This bill is aimed directly at the state's construction department and drawn by the contractors for their benefit solely. I wouldn't dare show my face in Owosso, if I voted for such a bill. The contractors have talked with me for two days, but have failed to show me how the costs of construction could be lowered if the state went out of the building business."

Back to Committee.

The measure provided that the state or cities would be compelled to ask for bids on every public building costing in excess of $15,000. The bill was sent back to the judiciary committee upon Senator Pulver's motion.

The MacDonald bill providing for a review by the state supreme court of removals of public officers by the governor was also killed upon the motion of Senator Pulver to refer it to the judiciary committee. "I don't wish to embarrass this or any other administration but such a law," Senator Pulver said, "this bill confuses the duties and authority of two branches of government, the executive and judicial."

Dentists of City Co-operating With School Officials

At a recent meeting of the Escanaba Dental society, it was decided by the members to cooperate with the public school authorities in putting the teeth of the students of the Open Air school in perfect condition. The services of 14 dentists will be given free of charge to the administration. Parents of some of the students will pay for a part of the work.

It is believed that by getting the teeth of the open air school pupils in condition, many other health defects will be ironed out. A health record of each student in the school will be taken and compared with another record to be made in the future. In this way, it will be possible to determine what effect bad teeth had on the pupils.

High Speed Jazz Banned in London

London.—(AP)—High speed jazz is on the black list in certain quarters. Dancers have revolted against syncopation at the rate of 80 to 80 beats a minute and have organized to reform matters more to their liking.

The "Ancient Order of Foxrotters" has been organized to combat it and several raids have already been made on cafes and dance halls where high speed musicians held sway. The "dancing delegates" behind the move for slower time adopted the usual tactics of the "walking delegates" and set forth their views in speech and song.

So popular is the Order's slogan of "48 beats to the minute"

PROGRAM AT MEETING OF GENERAL AID SOCIETY

"A. J." IS PILOT OF MANISTIQUE BASEBALL CLUB

Through the efforts of a few loyal boosters of baseball, Manistique has been assured of a team in the Delta-Schoolcraft league for the current season.

This city was represented at the league organization meeting in Escanaba by A. J. Smith, who is officiating as manager of the home club. Present plans are to open the season on Memorial day and close on Labor day. Further details of the schedule will be worked out, and rules approved, at a final meeting of the officers and managers at Rapid River on May 23. There are eight teams in the league.

"We're all organized," remarked Manager Smith yesterday, "and Manistique is nearly ready to go. We plan on a few more additions to our lineup, and then we're off." It was indicated that Billy Vassau may again become a member of the hurling staff on the Manistique team.

All teams in the league are to be maintained on a strictly amateur basis.

"SECOND A. E. F." WILL INCLUDE LOUIS MUELLER

Among those who will make up "the second A. E. F." when the American Legion forces invade France this year will be Louis W. Mueller of Manistique. Post No. 83 on this memorable event.

Mr. Mueller has received formal notification of his assignment to the liner Montcalm, sailing from Montreal on August 26, and returning November 4. Ed Moersch, Escanaba, will also be a member of the upper peninsula contingent on the Legion pilgrimage.

Body of H. Tice Taken Today to Plymouth, Mich.

The burial of Hiram H. Tice, who sudden death occurred at Manistique Tuesday night, will take place at Plymouth, Mich., near Detroit, members of the family announced yesterday.

Three daughters of the deceased reside in the lower peninsula, and funeral arrangements were made at their request.

Mr. Tice's former home was in Wayne county, though he has one son, Charles Tice, who is a resident of Manistique.

The body will be shipped to Plymouth today, leaving on the 7 a. m. train.

She Got Rid of Those Two Bad Mornings

Menstruation is a perfectly natural process, but the painful part is NEEDLESS. Long study has absolutely conquered menstrual pain. Science now offers women reliable and complete relief—in a simple, utterly harmless tablet called Midol.

This newest achievement of the laboratory has nothing to do with drastic, habit-forming drugs that kill pain by numbing the whole system! Midol acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and nowhere else. Yet relief and absolute comfort come in five to seven minutes!

No, why have a twinge of pain—feel "low" or even uncomfortable? Or take anything to depress the heart or upset the system? All drug stores have Midol in a this aluminum box that tucks in purse or pocket—for 50 cents.

IN NEW YORK

New York, May 12.—There are many strata of prominence in Manhattan.

Many a writer and artist, whose names reach temporary and permanent heights among the cognoscenti, can go unrecognized along the New York highways. Few of the writing gentry reach a very high state of affluence. Many are merely comfortably circumstanced.

There are a few names that seem constantly to pop into the "among those present list." Thus Fannie Hurst is an inveterate "first night" at theater openings. Edna Ferber is frequently to be found in these audiences. And the Norrises—Charles and Kathleen. Hope Hampton and husband are generally to be found "everywhere."

One very seldom sees Edith Wharton or Willa Cather, for instance. And, unless you stray often into Town Hall, it is an accident if you come upon Hamlin Garland at the "usual" places.

Edgar Lee Masters, who wrote the great "Spoon River Anthology," used to live modestly in a Chelsea boarding house. Theodore Dreiser for many years occupied a basement in St. Luke's place near the home spot of Mayor Jimmie Walker and later lived modestly in a Sixth avenue flat building. Fortune came with "The American Tragedy" and Dreiser moved up-town, but he is seldom to be found where the crowds go. He was enticed, I believe, into attending the premiere of a Russian film last winter.

Christopher Morley lives a quiet, scholarly life with his family in Garden City.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is to be found generally at political gatherings, but Kermit is seldom in the Broadway or ballroom throngs or at the political meetings.

John Erskine, who met great success with "Helen of Troy" and "Galahad" has not been wooed far from the Columbia campus, at which university he functions as professor.

Over in St. Mark's Place, on the East Side, I next came upon Maxwell Bodenheim, who has done several novels and many poems. And there, too, was Margaret Larkin, who was awarded the prize last year in the national Little Theater prize contest. And how many in Manhattan, or elsewhere, would know her name? Yet her play was conceded to be one of the best to be done by a young American. She came out of New Mexico about a year ago, a guitar under her arm.

Quite often I have encountered Rachmaninoff, composer and pianist, eating in a little "Village hide-away."

But, after all, Manhattan is a pretty big place and thousands of "names" that would attract wide attention if flashed upon the average place get all but lost in the competitive shuffle.

That's one of the things you come to like about New York—that is, if you're not an egotist.

—GILBERT SWAN.

German Toy Trade Faces Dissolution

Berlin.—The famous German toy industry is in danger of being wiped out by machine-made playthings and competition in the world markets.

Thousands of men and women in and about Nuremberg who used to carve toys out of wood in their homes have abandoned the trade because high tariff walls, especially in the United States and Great Britain, have cut down the export trade. Only the manufactured toys, such as the electrical varieties, are finding a ready market. But even along these lines markets are maintained only by continuous invention of oddities which foreign countries have not yet produced.

Surprise Held at Hutchinson Home

A surprise party was given on Newton Hutchinson this week at his home on Otter street. The home was decorated in green and white for the occasion, and music was furnished for dancing.

A fine lunch was served at mid-night to about 35 guests.

OR WAS IT?
 PROUD MOTHER: Do you know, only yesterday baby threw all her clothes out of the nursery window.
 FATUOUS VISITOR: By jove! Rather a stroke of luck she wasn't wearin' them at the time, what!—Humorist.

THEATRES

AT THE COMMUNITY.
 Lambert Hillyer has just completed another picture for First National release. It is "Her Second Chance," featuring Anna Q. Nilsson, Huntley Gordon and Charles Murray, which is at the Community theatre today.

Hillyer is remembered for a notable achievement in "The Un-garded Hour," starring Milton Sills with Doris Kenyon.

"Her Second Chance" is a film adaptation by Eve Unsell of the popular Mrs. Wilson Woodrow novel of the same name. It concerns the desire of a wild Kentucky mountain girl to revenge herself on the judge who wrongfully sent her to prison. Revenge is forgotten however, when the girl falls in love with the judge.

June Mathis exercised editorial direction.

CHANGES IN REGULATIONS MADE KNOWN

New Rulings in Athletics Received by School.

A number of important changes in regulations governing school members of the Michigan high school athletic association, are contained in the copy of the late bulletin, forwarded to Prin. C. G. Strickland.

One of the new regulations places expense incident to conducting golf and tennis tournaments as guaranteed by the State association, rating these events equally with other branches of athletics.

Attention of schools is also called in the copy to the changes in contract blanks. In the first paragraph of the contract reference to "Athletic Association" has been stricken out making the contract definitely between the two high schools concerned and not between the Athletic associations of those schools.

The reference to a fee for violation of the contract has been stricken out and the following substituted: "This contract may be cancelled or altered only by mutual agreement of the contracting parties, as provided by the Michigan high school athletic association." This change was made, it was explained, in conformity with the opinion that the contract with its reference to a fee to be paid in case of contract violation did not impress upon contracting schools the full force of the contract into which they had just entered. Very often, it was pointed out, schools set only a five or ten dollar fee and then feel free to break the contract at will upon payment of the of the violation fee specified and such a course is entirely contrary to the best interests of athletics and the relationships between schools.

The council at its April meeting also decided that high schools should be furnished with contract blanks for use in securing of this is believed, with written agreements between the officials of the schools which obviate some of the difficulties which come up at present over fees, mistakes on dates and failure to carry out agreements made.

Radio Has Thrills for Trouble Hunter

Louisville, Ky.—Thrills in hunting radio reception interference causes are comparable with those experienced on the trail of big game, in the opinion of K. S. Bixby, a "trouble hunter."

Instead of a rifle, he uses a portable eight-tube superheterodyne receiving set. Functions of the gun sights are replaced with a loop used for pointing out the "game." The thrill comes in encountering some trouble maker.

His chief trouble makers are "trapped" in house wiring and numerous electrical appliances.

POSTER ART CONTEST IN HIGH SCHOOL

Mrs. Hale in Charge with Mrs. Skogquist Assisting

A poster art contest, held under the auspices of the National Poster Art Alliance school, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Roland A. Hale, of the Michigan Poster Art Alliance, is being conducted in the Gladstone high school. Mrs. Hale is being aided by Mrs. H. J. Skogquist.

The subject for the drawings is Fire Prevention. The prizes, consisting of first, $5; second $3, and third $2, are donated by Phil Hillyer for the winning posters.

The jury of award consists of Mrs. G. R. Empson, Arthur W. Swenson and City Manager F. R. Buechner.

The contest closes May 31 and the winning posters will be on display in the window of some downtown business places after the prizes have been awarded.

It is hoped that this contest will be of benefit not only to the students in fostering an appreciation of art in its true proportions—that of creating beauty in things of utility and service, but also to the community at large through a realization of the unnecessary waste of property and lives caused by fires born of carelessness.

Ole Peterson and C. A. Clark returned Wednesday night from Marquette, where they have been serving this week on the Grand Jury.

Tigers Pound Gray, Overwhelm Athletics, 9 to 7

COLLINS WINS FOR 4TH TIME

Philadelphia Threatens to Overcome Lead in Ninth Frame.

Detroit, May 12—(AP)—Batting Gray from the box in the fourth inning, the Tigers took the third game of the series from the Athletics here today, 9 to 7. W. Collins, who pitched for Detroit, was credited with his fourth victory in as many starts, although he did not finish the game. He was removed in the ninth inning when the Athletics threatened to overcome the Tiger lead, and Kenneth Holloway finished the game.

Cobb's part in the Philadelphia offense was a double in the eighth, which figured in the scoring.

Eddie Collins opened this inning by drawing a pass. Lamar singled off Blue's glove, putting Collins on third. Cobb then drove the ball down the right field foul line and it lodged behind a pile of bleacher seats. Under the ground rules Cobb was limited to two bases and Lamar was held at third, while E. Collins crossed the plate. Both Lamar and Cobb subsequently scored.

Weakens in Ninth.

Collins, who had weakened in the eight after pitching masterful ball for seven innings, grew worse in the ninth. He walked two batters, hit another and yielded two hits. This combination produced two runs and Holloway was sent to his relief. Simmons, the first man to center, driving in another run. Hale, the former Tiger infielder, coming up to send the Athletics into the lead, but instead hit into a double play, ending the game.

This was the third double play made by the Tiger combination of Tavenner, McManus and Blue.

The Tigers clinched the game when they scored six runs in the fourth inning. The high spots of this attack on Gray and Rommel were doubles by Fothergill and Manush. Fothergill added another double in the eighth, giving him two hits in three official times at bat and increasing his lead in the race for the American League batting title.

Half Dozen "Probables" Loom as Final Hour Draws Near.

Louisville, Ky., May 12—(AP)—Fourteen certain starters and half a dozen "probables" appear on the list tonight, twelve hours before the owners send the names of their

Three owners expect to start two horses each in the Derby, while the others will hold singletons in the bidding for the $50,000 added purse and the glory of winning a Kentucky Derby.

Eight easterners and six westerners are counted on now to make their bids and two or three others from each section probably will be entered. E. R. Bradley, master of Idle Hour Farm stable, is expected to name Boo, Bewithus and Buddy Bauer, but one of the latter two probably will be scratched. H. P. Whitney and J. E. The "probables" include: E. B. McLean's Jock and War Eagle, Camden's Nor'easter and a few others.

Fair Star, Foxcatcher Farm's filly, will be reserved for the Kentucky Oaks as her owner, William Dupont, Jr., will not be here Saturday.

Tilden and Hunter Win Singles Sets

The Hague, May 12—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, American tennis stars, today captured two single matches from the Dutch opponents, bringing their team play series to a close with four victories and one defeat.

Today's singles between Tilden and Diemer Kool, Dutch Davis cup player, was hotly contested and was brilliantly played by both men. The Dutch player took the second set. Tilden scored most of his points off the base line by fine passing shots and drops. The score of this match was 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Hunter, who lost to Diemer Kool on Tuesday, defeated H. Timmer, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3.

THE INSIDE OF BASEBALL

BY BILLY EVANS

1. What plays require an appeal be made to the umpire for a decision?
 2. Batted ball strikes foul, rolls a considerable distance in foul territory and then settles on fair territory between home and third. Is it fair or foul?
 3. Inasser after reaching second, decides to run back to first. What is his status and how can he be retired?

SCHOOL CENSUS BEING TAKEN

Enumerators Counting All Children Between Five and Twenty.

The annual school census figures are being taken by Miss Carrie Wallace, and assistants. They will be compiled in the superintendent's office at the high school as soon as the field work has been completed.

After the information required is: House number and number of city block; names of the family, father and mother and of the child; the school attended by the child; date of entrance in the school and date of leaving; reason for leaving; birth date of child; place of birth of child, and the name of the person giving the information.

Band Preparing For An Indoor Concert Soon

The Escanaba Municipal band will give another popular indoor concert sometime this month, and the exact date will be announced just as quickly as arrangements have been completed. Director Joseph Greenfield announced yesterday.

One of the features will be a "contest" between the old and the new types of dance music. An orchestra, playing the instruments generally used in dance orchestras a generation ago will play several old time selections. This will be followed by a jazz band using the saxophones, muted trumpets and banjo of the modern jazz band, playing the latest "hot" dance numbers. The audience will be asked to designate the winner. The program will introduce two vocalists who are new to Escanaba audiences. Mr. Greenfield said.

The progressive system of traffic control by stop and go lights, instead of the synchronized method, has speeded up Chicago traffic 30 per cent and has reduced accidents 23 per cent.
