

SUIT AGAINST HOUSE OF DAVID STARTS

PRESIDENT TO KEEP SILENCE ON 1928 RACE

COOLIDGE'S NOMINATION PUT UP TO HIS PARTY.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, May 14.—President Coolidge does not believe this is the time to discuss the question of his succession in office. Efforts have failed in the last 24 hours to elicit from him some comment on the report from Massachusetts that he once signed a petition against a third term for President Roosevelt.

Mr. Coolidge probably would say that he hasn't anything to retract for if he believed in giving the opportunity for Mr. Taft to be re-elected in 1912 that was a question on which he had a right then to express himself irrespective of the third term issue involved.

Nor is Mr. Coolidge's position unchanged today. He is not going to put himself in the position of seeking a second election no matter how many inquiries of this kind are directed to him. Mr. Coolidge doesn't feel that it is proper for him to discuss whether presidents should have second election because any such expression would be regarded as an outline of ambition.

NEW DANGER IN FLOOD DISTRICT

Levees of Atchafalaya Reported Crumbling by Scouts.

New Orleans, La., May 16—(AP)—A new threat had arisen tonight as the Mississippi flood rolled down upon the five parishes in its path through the Atchafalaya to the Gulf of Mexico.

While hundreds of persons were reported clinging precariously to house-tops, and trees in the water-ridden parishes west of the Atchafalaya, engineers received the information that levees along the east bank of the Atchafalaya were caving before the tremendous pressure exerted by the stream.

At Woodville, 10 miles south of the junction of Old and Atchafalaya rivers, approximately 140 miles northwest of New Orleans on the opposite side of the Mississippi the embankments were said to be falling, and efforts were being made to get levee machines and pile drivers to the scene. A break there would loose the waters into the Atchafalaya and the other parishes between the Atchafalaya and the west bank of the Mississippi.

Rescue Work Rapid.

Rescue work was proceeding rapidly in the Bayou des Glaisses sector with surf boats plying through the crevasse rapids to remove men stranded upon high spots in the section.

Already the waters had moved 25 miles down the Atchafalaya basin, milling into an ever spreading lake which climbed slowly up toward the top of stationary objects.

At Plaquemine, the current was so strong that it overturned large houses, and smaller ones collapsed before the flood like egg shells or rose with the waters to be carried along and pounded to pieces by the waters.

The first report of loss of life in Louisiana came today with tidings of the drowning of a widow and eight children at Plaquemine after they had fled from the invading waters to the roof of their home. All lines of communication were down, however, and efforts to learn details of the fatalities were unavailing.

Miles Up Basin.

The crest of the flood was still miles up the Tensas basin, but the pounding torrents had torn away a 20-mile stretch of levees along Bayou des Glaisses and engineers feared that the entire 50 miles of protecting embankments would be swept away by the waters sweeping into the Atchafalaya basin.

Evacuation of the flood-stricken parishes was proceeding rapidly, with all available boats being rushed to danger points. An aerial survey today showed 3,000 head of cattle and 50 men still along the Bayou des Glaisses levee near Bordeloville, but they were being removed as speedily as possible.

NEW HEADQUARTERS.

New Orleans, May 16—(AP)—With the Atchafalaya river threatening to rip through the levee on its bank opposite Woodside, La., and flood the major portions of eight parishes, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover and Red Cross officials laid plans here today to establish a sub-headquarters in New Orleans to handle the possible emergency.

The sub-headquarters would assume control of the relief work through a strip of territory south of a line between Morgan City and Donaldson river. This would give Louisiana two sub-headquarters for relief, the other having been established for administering the work in the Evangeline country to the west of the Atchafalaya river.

Try Breakfasts that "stand by" you

Say Business Heads If Draggy Mornings Hold You Back—Quaker Oats Widely Urged RECENT commercial investigations show that almost 70% of the day's important work in offices, stores, etc., falls into four short, before-luncheon hours. Likewise, 80% of the day's important classes in nearly every school and college in America fall, too, into the same period.

Thus breakfasts of well-balanced, complete food—food that "stands by" you through the morning—are being urged widely today by experts.

Quaker Oats, containing the excellent food balance of protein, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins, "B" and the essential laxative "bulk" of oats is ideal food for that purpose.

No other cereal grown compares a food balance. Delicious and enticing, Quaker Oats corrects the mistake of inadequate breakfast eating.

Start now with Quaker breakfasts. Note then your mornings. Grocers use Quick Quaker (cooks in 2 1/2 to 3 minutes) and regular Quaker Oats.

Comish Apportions Grade Work Costs

Lansing, May 16—(AP)—The Michigan public utilities commission today issued an order apportioning the costs of the grade separation project planned at the junction of St. Joseph Campau avenue and the Michigan Central and Grand Trunk tracks in Hamtramck.

The total cost of the project is estimated at $1,446,500, of which the city of Hamtramck is to pay $749,000. The two railroads will bear the additional cost and in addition, will donate land needed to complete construction of the separation.

RUTH AND JUDD IN DEATH CELLS

Slayers of Albert Snyder Await Execution in Sing Sing.

Ossining, N. Y., May 16—(AP)—Garbed in prison-made clothing, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, once the life of Queens Village "parties," and Henry Judd Gray, her co-soldier in the underworld, tonight sat in the death cells of Sing Sing in the electric chair to pay for the life of Albert Snyder.

They were brought to the prison here today in separate automobiles from the Queens county jail at Long Island City.

In Sing Sing cells, containing a steel cot, a steel shelf table and a wash basin, the erstwhile lovers will wait for the hour when they will be led to the electric chair to pay for the life of Albert Snyder.

Never a word will the pair be permitted to speak to each other; not a note will be carried from one cell to the other and all that separates them is 150 feet of linear space, with a three foot concrete wall between them.

Jeering crowds stood on street corners today waiting for them to pass along a route that had been advertised, with almost perfect timing. "There he goes," the crowds yelled almost invariably pointing to the car where Gray sat, manacled to a sheriff, behind drawn curtains.

The speeding motorcade was led by red armored motorcycles, sirens screaming to force a path through heavy traffic. One motorcycle patrolman, was thrown from his machine, but was uninjured. Mrs. Snyder, seeing him thrown, screamed and covered her face with her hands. When she had quieted, she said: "I hope that poor man was not hurt."

Once on the journey she said to one of her guards: "I'm not afraid to die. Anyway, I'm glad to see the green country again. I'm coming back this way again, some time, under different circumstances."

Judd Gray talked, too, mainly with one of his guards who used to be in the dress goods business. Gray shivered as the steel gate clanged shut behind him. Mrs. Snyder cast a hurried glance at the prison and tears welled in her eyes. Both were hurried into the death house.

Astronomy is the oldest of the sciences, having its beginning with the Chaldeans and Chinese. Hipparchus of Bythnia is known as the father of astronomy because he composed the first star catalogue.

London's death toll of street accidents is lower than that of New York City, although London has the larger population by 1,000,000.

INDIANAPOLIS' POLITICS TENSE

Mayor Offered Money and Immunity If He Would Quit.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 16—(AP)—Marion county's political situation for weeks the source of charges and counter charges—swiftly reached its climax today with a half dozen developments growing out of Mayor John L. Duvall's Sunday night statement that he had been offered money and immunity if he would resign.

The developments included: Promulgation of the acts of 1927 containing a new law believed by Pros. Atty. H. M. Remy to strengthen his position in the matter of filing affidavits while the grand jury is not in session.

Statements by Remy that partisan and factional considerations have had no weight in the conduct of the probe by him and his special assistants, Emsley W. Johnson and John W. Holtzman.

Testimony by Rev. Joseph F. Weber, Roman Catholic priest, that he had been asked by Duvall and Orville Scott, city employe, to intercede with Judge James A. Collins in Duvall's behalf and prevent filing of an affidavit charging allegedly unlawful acts which it is reported the prosecutors have prepared.

Contempt Citation. Taking of steps to cite Scott for contempt of court for refusing to testify before Remy and his aides.

Subsequent testimony by Scott, admitting he and Duvall called on Rev. Father Weber, but denying he had asked the priest to intercede.

In the statement issued Sunday night, Mayor Duvall had asserted that a factional political group had tried to bribe him to resign along with his brother-in-law, William C. Buser, city controller, and that "a well-known Catholic minister" had attempted to induce him to remove Buser from office.

Rev. Father Weber early today said he might be the "well-known Catholic minister" to whom Duvall referred, but the priest and Duvall's accounts of their conversation were at variance. The priest said he would back up his testimony with witnesses.

Father Weber spent two hours with the prosecutor's staff and Judge Collins.

The priest told the prosecutors that Duvall had sought him instead of him seeking Duvall as the mayor's statement indicated.

Mayor Duvall said he had no comment to make on Rev. Father Weber's statement.

Scott subpoenaed. Scott was subpoenaed by the prosecutors, declined to testify and steps were taken to have him cited for contempt but later he was taken to criminal court. He admitted he had been to Father Weber's home, and that about two weeks ago he went there with the mayor. He denied having asked Father Weber to intercede in Duvall's behalf. He said he did not recall what was discussed at the conference.

Father Weber then came into criminal court and repeated substantially the story he had told Remy.

Leaders of various political factions, among whom there recently has been talk of the possibility of Duvall and Buser resigning, said they knew nothing of the things mentioned in the mayor's statement.

London's death toll of street accidents is lower than that of New York City, although London has the larger population by 1,000,000.

GREEN'S KNIFE BUSY CUTTING STATE BUDGET

Grand Rapids, May 16—(AP)—Warning of impending heavy slashes in the appropriations made by the recently adjourned legislature on one hand, and commendation of its work under heavy handicap, was given by Gov. Fred W. Green tonight at a banquet given in his honor by the Women's Lincoln Republican club.

"I find since the legislature has adjourned that they have passed appropriation bills carrying tax clauses amounting to $28,998,000 for this year. Now that is an unprecedented sum and the result is the governor must cut and slash to bring this within reason. A lot of you are going to be disappointed because the thing in which you are particularly interested is going to be denied the appropriation you want it to have and which perhaps it ought to have.

Bound to increase. "You must bear in mind this thing, that while we must be just as economical as possible, your state taxes are bound to increase every year. Your institutions have in them vastly more inmates than ever before, and the numbers are increasing year by year.

"I want to say this to you, you are under-paying your public servants. You are paying your legislators from whom you expect so much and whom you criticize so freely. A member of the legislature can't live decently during a session of the legislature on the salary you pay him. The same is true of your other state officials. I have had to notify many of the men holding the most important positions that although the legislature raised their salaries, I shall have to veto them."

CALLE'S NUPTIAL SET FOR TODAY

Senorita Ernestine Will Marry Former Michigan Man.

Nogales, Ariz., May 16—(AP)—Senorita Ernestine Calles, daughter of Mexico's president, will wed Thomas Arnold Robinson of New York and Alma, Mich., tomorrow night aboard the famous old presidential "yellow special" in Nogales, Sonora.

It was on this highly ornate traveling suite of the former Mexican president, Porfirio Diaz, that Robinson met and wooed the charming daughter of Calles, Robinson was a guest of Arturo Elias, consul general of New York, Senorita Calles was enroute to New York, where she started Manhattan with her whole-hearted support of the modern flagger. They met, and Robinson wooed her, later to follow her to Mexico City and ask the chief executive for her hand.

"It was a rapid courtship," Robinson said.

The career of the "yellow special" will probably end with the civil ceremony tomorrow. It will mark a sharp contrast to the hectic revolutionary days through which the train carried Mexico's high officials about a war-torn land. Its highly decorated interior has echoed and re-echoed to pronouncements by Diaz, Madero, Carranza and Huerta.

The New York business man who takes Senorita Calles as his bride, said today it had been definitely decided that the wedding would be aboard the train. Relatives and friends of the bride have not made definite announcements of time of the wedding, but Robinson said it would take place at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Judge Juan Cabrero of Nogales, Sonora, will officiate. Under the Mexican civil law four male witnesses are required. They will be Carlos Herrera, A. P. Smithers, of Mexico City, Fernando Torrelblanca, brother-in-law of Senorita Calles and secretary to her father, and Watson Robinson, brother of the bridegroom.

The wedding originally set for last Sunday, was postponed until tomorrow due to the late arrival of the bride's trousseau from Mexico City.

Tinney, Comedian, Suffers Collapse

Chicago, May 17—(AP)—Frank Tinney, the comedian who collapsed while playing at a Detroit theatre last year and who for several months was confined to hospitals in Detroit and Philadelphia, suffered another collapse early today at a night club here.

Tinney made three appearances last night but it was apparent to those who heard him that he was not yet physically capable of meeting the demands of an entertainer. His voice was so weak that it could scarcely be heard a few feet from the stage. Tinney cut his fourth and last performance short and returned to his dressing room where physicians were called. They ordered him removed at once to his apartment where he remained under their care early today.

PASTOR FLAYS CHURCH WASTE

Says $500,000 Squandered Yearly by National Presbytery.

New York, May 16—(AP)—Charges that the Presbyterian church in America is wasting $500,000 annually and the national board is trying to "bribe ministry into compliance with its dark plans," are made by Rev. Herman Arndt, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Montgomery, Ohio.

Mr. Arndt made the allegations in an open letter addressed to the elders of the Cincinnati presbytery and all other presbyteries, asking them to change the form of the organization at the next session of the general assembly to be held in San Francisco from May 26 to June 1.

The first alleged extravagance which Mr. Arndt attacks is the appointment of twenty-five secretaries to the larger presbyteries in the country. This item alone, he says, costs the church approximately $125,000. He characterized the secretaries as "dead heads."

"Through these twenty-five presbyterial secretaries the national board is keeping out and driving out all ministers who oppose this waste," Mr. Arndt's letter states. "In addition they control the filling of vacancies in larger churches of smaller to the plans of the board."

Besides the abolition of the twenty-five secretaries, Mr. Arndt suggests that the national board discharge the 100 field secretaries, whose combined salaries aggregate $250,000, reduce "unnecessary high salaries" and discharge "needless employes" at a saving of $100,000.

A pair of pheasants have reared a brood of five in the gardens of Buckingham Palace and very often are fed by the king and queen.

would have been inevitable if the question of signing a bona fide capital punishment bill had been put up to him. There need be no regret because the house conferees refused to accept the referendum clause. Defeat of capital punishment by the senate was to be preferred to the direct legislation, with the inevitable bitter controversy, that would be involved by a referendum. We believe it will be the consensus that the house made a clean cut and sound record on this legislation and that the senate displayed both lack of courage and of frank dealing. Senators are elected to legislate, not to pass the buck on to the voters. As a house estimate of the situation puts it: "Representative government must be representative government. We could pass every controversial issue on to the people, but we are elected to represent the people."

TWO GLIMPSES.

This country is in a pretty prosperous condition nowadays, and things like hunger and want don't come very close to most of us. But it is just as well that we who are so fortunate do not forget that hunger and want do still exist.

Here are two little glimpses into the lower strata of our prosperous nation, culled from the day's gist of news:

The first tells about Mrs. Frances Stenglers of New York.

Mrs. Stenglers had a husband and a baby. The husband was out of work; Mrs. Stenglers had a job as a janitress, for which she was paid $10 a month. On this the three of them had to live.

It was too much. Mrs. Stenglers, seeing only starvation ahead, abandoned her baby in a doorway, hoping that whoever found it would not let it die of hunger.

When she got home she found that her husband, by getting odd jobs, had accumulated $12. This was a godsend. The two went back to get the baby. It was gone.

Well, the story ends pretty well. Mrs. Stenglers went to the police, they found her baby for her, and she and her husband are trying it again. And that's that story.

The other story tells about Abraham Bass.

He is 90 years old and looking for a job. For 26 years he worked for one company, but finally he got laid off—too old. Now he's tramping the streets looking for work. "Something'll turn up," he says hopefully.

There you are. Two little glimpses of the shadowy side of our prosperous country.

What is to be done? That's a hard question. Probably it will be impossible for us ever to devise any system that will entirely prevent such tragedies. There will always be misfits; there will always be people who grow old without having been able to save. But it is good for us to think about those stories occasionally. If it does nothing else, it keeps us from growing too complacent.

AS WAS EXPECTED.

No great surprise was occasioned by the defeat by the senate of the conference capital punishment measure. It was predicted as an all but certain result, if the conferees struck the referendum clause from the senate bill.

There is sound ground for believing that this clause was inserted by the senate with the expectation that the house would reject it and with knowledge that a majority of the senators would refuse a conference bill that lacked it. The senate majority, lacking courage to oppose it out and out, sought, in other words, defeat of capital punishment by indirection.

No less a loyal administration paper than the Detroit Free Press has intimated in its news articles that this program had the approval of Governor Green, who did not want to be subjected to the pulling and hauling that

THE TREASURE CHEST.
Up in our attic there's a chest,
A treasure chest of old,
But in it things you never guessed
A treasure chest would hold:
The things that Mother loves the best
Are not the things of gold.

And sometimes Mother pats my hair,
And then I hear her say,
"Let's go up in the attic where
Those old things are today;
I guess there are some things up there
I ought to throw away."

And so we go upstairs to see,
Up where the old chest stands,
And then my mother shows to me
A shawl from foreign lands,
A shoe, and some embroidery
Made by her mother's hands.

And yet it seems she never knows
Just what she ought to bring
Downstairs to burn, I see her close
The chest, and touch the spring.
It's funny, but she never throws
Away a single thing.

SCHOOL BOOKS, says a French scientist, are full of dangerous germs. That's the alibi a good many young folks have been hunting but unable to find. There ought to be an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of school books. We have always regarded trigonometry texts as being particularly poisonous and a special session of congress should be called to pass emergency anti-trigonometry legislation.

Politics is a game in which good sportsmanship is neither proffered nor expected but the ordinary rules of good taste should be given some recognition. For instance, it was positively barbarous for an eastern paper to print the list of Republicans who in 1912 opposed a so-called third term for Theodore Roosevelt.

A GOOD SIGN. Marquette University has just conferred the degree of doctor of laws on Baron Ago von Maltzan, new German ambassador to the United States.

That's the kind of news dispatch one is glad to read. Ten years ago no American university would have dreamed of doing it. It proves that the war is over and that its hatreds have pretty well died out. America and Germany, having had their disagreement, are becoming friends once more. Let's be thankful.

A USELESS WAR. England is about to declare war on American movies. A law is now pending that would require each movie house owner to present each week a certain percentage of British-made films.

This law has aroused much comment. Perhaps the best is that of a great London newspaper: "You can force the cinema owner to present poor British films, but you can't force the people to pay good money to see them."

CHAPTER I

When Nyda appeared in the doorway of the library her ravaged face more than supported her contention that she had been suffering from a violent headache since the evening before. T. Q. Curtis was visibly shocked by her appearance.

"I hope you will forgive me for having routed you from your bed, my dear." He went to her and took her hand with awkward tenderness. "You look like a very sick girl. I'm sorry."

"I'm just mad with a headache," Nyda moaned, drooping against his shoulder. "I won't keep you long, my dear," T. Q. assured her. "Mrs. Meadows, it distresses me beyond words to have to do what I am about to do, but I am sure you will understand and forgive me, when you know the necessity for it."

As briefly as possible he told them the story of the robbery. He did not mention Billy's name until he had gravely put this question to each of the other two women. "Mrs. Meadows, have you any information of any kind whatever that would have any bearing on this distressing occurrence?" he asked.

"I have not," Mrs. Meadows answered smoothly, without indignation. "I was in my room all evening, writing letters and reading. I saw nothing, heard nothing whatever. I am sorry I cannot help, Mr. Curtis."

"Nyda?" T. Q. turned to the sick girl. "Mr. Curtis, I didn't have anything to do with the robbery!" Nyda cried, holding her head between her long, slim hands. "I did hear someone moving about in the hall after Billy left my room just before twelve, but I was too ill to care who it was or to think anything about it."

"Why, Nyda, I thought you were much better when I took your book to you," Billy protested. "My book?" Nyda's face was a study of pain and astonishment. "I don't know what you're talking about, Billy."

"You must be mad with a headache if you've forgotten that you sent me down to the library to get a textbook for you so that you could study for a quiz today," Billy retorted hotly. "I did not send you for a book," Nyda contradicted her flatly. "I was far too sick with a headache to study last night, and you know it."

Billy's brain at first refused to take in the extent of Nyda's treachery. She stared with wide, blank eyes first at Nyda, then at T. Q. Curtis, who refused to meet her eyes. Then, when the full horror of her situation rushed upon her, she sprang toward Nyda as if she intended to strike her. T. Q. seized her by the arm.

"Billey, my dear child, Nyda has accused you of nothing more serious than a misstatement of fact. I think it quite possible that Nyda's head is aching so frantically that she cannot remember last night's events distinctly."

His eyes opened wider than was their wont and he stared into the eyes of the frantic girl warningly. All of the fight went out of Billy suddenly. She understood what T. Q. was trying to tell her—that no one but him and Sawyers knew that there was a shred of evidence against her.

"That is all for the time being," T. Q. said wearily, as he released his hold upon her arm. "I hope you all understand that there is no one under suspicion, and that the necessity for subjecting you to questioning has embarrassed and pained me a very great deal. If you will pardon me now, I shall question the servants."

Billy left the room first. Nyda and Mrs. Meadows following more slowly, the arm of the older woman half supporting the sick girl, who turned at the door to smile at her forgiving smile at the old man slumped dejectedly in the chair behind his desk.

Billy ran to her own room and locked the door. She flung herself down upon her bed and burst into a storm of weeping. She wept first with sheer, murderous rage against Nyda, then with grief that T. Q. should think her capable of robbing him, and finally her tears were the tears of self-pity. She was trapped, horribly wronged, desolate. By making her out a liar, Nyda had, with fiendish cleverness, locked and barred the door of the trap.

If she went now to T. Q. and told him what she had seen last night—Eddie Banning sneaking out of Nyda's room at one o'clock—T. Q. would not believe her. He would naturally want to know how she knew it was Eddie Banning, and she would have to tell him of those other nocturnal

Dahlberg Cattle To Association During April

The eleven grade Holsteins and Jerseys in the R. B. Dahlberg herd led the Delta county cow testing association for the month of April, producing an average of 48 pounds of butterfat each. Keno Party Tonight After the meeting at Eagles' Hall Fine prizes and a good time C. GIRARD, Conductor. C. WEBER, Secretary. "Travel and Ship by Rail"

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

Crowning an American poet laureate and wrangling over the Pulitzer prize awards are sufficiently exciting events for any literary week. Doubtless many a snicker will go up at the idea that affairs in the world of writing can be exciting; it depends entirely on the point of view. We have seen thousands cheer the stupidest and most one-sided of prize fights.

Never, it seems to us, was there a more irritating Pulitzer literary award. Louis Bromfield took it with "Early Autumn" (Stokes). But where, oh where, was this prize committee when this same young man wrote "The Green Bay Tree"? They wait until the young author has admittedly plunged into an American saga and is some two volumes deep in it before acting. Furthermore, they make their presentation for a novel that shrieks of the Galworthy influence to such an extent that the author is in Paris intent upon new styles.

This is a season that produced "The Time of Man" or "The Romantic Comedians" or "The Orphan Angel". The surprise of the award list was the selection of Paul Green's tragic and moving play of negro life, "In Abraham's Bosom" (McBride), for dramatic honors. This was brought out in book form about a year ago, following this author's short, plays also written for negro casts. Green is a young and thoughtful dramatist and, we are told, is writing a novel with the Abraham of the play as the leading character. He hails from South Carolina.

The poetry prize went to Leona Speyer's "Fiddler's Farewell" (Knopf). Mrs. Speyer was a former violinist of note, giving up music to write and then transplanting her music in her verse. She is a woman of wealth and her salon on Washington Square is a gathering place for artists and writers. Her talent runs largely to musical verse, though in some of her ballads there is fine fantasy and humor. She long since has been accepted as one of our leading poets.

As this is written there are innumerable critics prepared to award Edwin Arlington Robinson's "Tristram" a place beside the greatest poems in the English language. There are others who will say that "Tristram" is the greatest poem to be written by an American. And there is some justification for all claims. Robinson, whose place for some years has been secure, is engaging the present public clamor largely thanks to one of those enterprising new book distributing concerns.

BOOK OF THE WEEK NEA Book Survey recommends as the best book of the week, and one of the most important books of the year, Thomas Mann's "The Magic Mountain" (Knopf), a two-volume study by Germany's greatest writer—profound and thought-provoking and, hence, advised to the discriminating reader.

It happens that "Tristram" is the third selection of the Literary Guild of America and that heaven be praised—a book of noble blank verse, of great lyric beauty, will be forced into the hands of fifty thousand or more readers. Through such happenings may come that long-anticipated renaissance of general taste. And some readers, their appetites whetted by this meeting with Robinson, may turn to his New England elegies—which we happen to prefer since they are more essentially American and seem to us of greater depth and importance than the recasting of that romantic Tristram-isolt, retold through the ages.

Were it not that we hail with joy any burst of beauty in a tawdry careless age, we would be inclined to protest this or any other presentation of the sugary-romantic viewpoint of the "nice nineties." But why quibble? Robinson creates moods and pictures that are classic and puts great imagination into his characters. He is one of the great poets, doubtless, though we would prefer to have him live in his day and his country. And, again, we bow to his New England poems.

INTERFERENCE OUTCAST Electrical apparatus that interferes with radio reception is outlawed from the city of Portland, Oregon, unless its owner has a permit for its use. But they must not be used except in emergencies, between seven and eleven at night.

The corn borer is known to attack 226 different kinds of plants.

RADIO IN FIREPLACE A patent for a "combination fireplace and container for radio receiving sets" has been granted a Chicago man. The inventor's idea is to house a radio set and a loud speaker in a dummy fireplace.

HIGH COST OF RECEIVING. Cuban radio fans have a hard time supporting their receiving sets. It costs $3.50 to have an A battery charged in Havana, and other costs are much higher than in the United States.

U. P. KIWANIS CLUBS TO MEET

District Conference Will Be Held May 24 at Terrace Gardens.

Kiwanians from Ironwood, Sault Ste. Marie, Marinette, Iron Mountain and Escanaba will meet here Tuesday, May 24, for their annual sub-district conference. Joshua L. Johns of Appleton, district governor, F. O. Logic, Iron Mountain, lieutenant governor, and other well known Kiwanians will attend. John M. Moss of Milwaukee, former international president is among the notables who have been invited. There will be a business session in the afternoon at Terrace Gardens. This will be followed, at 6 o'clock, by a banquet to which the wives of members and delegates will be invited, but the event will be concluded with dancing and cards. It is expected that there will be a large attendance from out-of-town. T. F. Kessler, city manager, was the principal speaker at yesterday's Kiwanis meeting. Mr. Kessler discussed the city budget for 1927, explaining some of the items in detail, and then conducted a "question box" period during which he answered many inquiries. Kiwanians found the session highly interesting and instructive. There will be no regular meeting next week, the district convention on Tuesday taking the place of the usual luncheon.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
Woman Murdered; Man Held! Flaring headlines. Crowds gathering. Jury chosen. Courthouse crowded. Reporters writing. Audience buzzing. Policemen scowling. Attorneys whispering. Judge rapping. Witness speaking. "Yes, I love him!" "Even in spite of the fact that he's accused of having murdered a former sweetheart!" "Extra! Extra!" Reporters scribbling, phoning. Presses clicking. Here come the papers. Watch the boys grab 'em. There they go. More "extras." More screaming. Answer that wire. "What's that—her father's disinherited them?" "What a story this is! You see, he was just an East Side boy and this debutante fell for him. When a murdered woman was found in his apartment, she pledged all her wealth to fight the courts. Then, she—Get that phone!" Wonder what it's all about? In "New York" now at the Delft. Luther Reed has crammed all the excitement which is New York Ricardo Cortez, Lois Wilson, Estelle Taylor, William Powell and Norman Trevor are featured. It's a Paramount picture.

AT THE STRAND.
One of the most popular stars on the screen is George O'Hara, whose latest production, "The Timid Terror," is playing at the Strand theatre for the last time today. O'Hara has been called an "all around star," and he seems to qualify in every respect. His acting ability alone would establish him as one of the leading actors on the screen. But this is not all. George is at the same time one of the handsomest men in the profession, and is of the romantic and aesthetic type which is a novelty in the field of comedy. This lends a note of whimsy and charm to his characterizations which set him apart from any other comedians. He is also an all around athlete and can be counted on to do any stunts that the script might call for. In addition to all this, George is an intangible farceur, he has a genuine and marked gift for comedy in any of its branches. This particular picture proved to be a mine of mirth, and O'Hara, under the direction of Del Andrews, has made every scene an outstanding event. The cast includes Doris Hill, Edith Yorke, Rex Lease, George Nichols and Dot Farley. The story is by Walter A. Sinclair and the continuity by Gerald C. Duffy.

An enterprising resident of Worcester, Mass., has equipped his radio set with 8 loud speakers, which he has installed in the homes of eight neighbors. He charges each $2 a month for the service.

Nature Doesn't Punish Her Any Longer

Menstruation is Nature — but menstrual pain is NOT natural, and not necessary. Science has conquered the painful part. In a harmless—yes, healthful—little tablet called Midol.

Midol is a more remarkable means of relieving such pain than even a habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the organs affected by menstruation, and relief comes in five to seven minutes. Don't have another day of forced quiet, of pain, low spirits or even discomfort! Midol is effective twelve hours or more. Yet it does not depress the heart, is not narcotic, and is utterly harmless. All druggists, 50 cents, in this aluminum box that fits the smallest purse.

Q. Why does growing its own rubber enable the United States Rubber Company to give you more for your tire money?
A. Because—better rubber builds better tires.

Many years ago the makers of United States Tires started their search for finer, cleaner rubber in larger quantities. The only way to get it was to grow the rubber themselves.

Today the United States Rubber Company's Plantations contain 10,000,000 pedigreed rubber trees, yielding large quantities of the finest kind of rubber latex.

They provide an ever-increasing source of supply for the finest rubber that can be produced.

SYNDICALISM LAWS UPHELD

law itself and that it had been directed and sustained by the Communist Labor party and not by Miss Whitney.

Counsel for Miss Whitney contended that it was a violation of her constitutional rights to attempt to punish her for attending meetings of the party and that the guarantee of freedom of speech and the right of assembly rendered her immune from arrest until she had been guilty of an overt act to use force to change the present form of government. There could be no doubt, the state asserted, that Miss Whitney was fully conscious of the purposes of the Communist Labor party, and it was not necessary to wait until she had actually joined in a mob outbreak or other acts of violence. In support of its position the state charged she had been a radical socialist, and had participated in the selection of delegates to the Chicago meeting at which the National Communist Labor party was organized.

Participated in Meet.
Fully aware that the California branch would align itself with the national party, the state said, she had heartily participated in the Oakland convention, not as a mere spectator, but as an active member. She remained identified with the organization, it said, after it had voted to use force to accomplish the release of political prisoners, and had demonstrated its adherence to bolshevism. The law was criticized by counsel for Miss Whitney as aimed against those who advocated a change in existing institutions, and as not being restricted in its application to those who proposed to use force to bring about political and economic changes. It did not prohibit, it was claimed, the use of violent means to preserve present institutions.

Using the Ku Klux Klan and the I. W. W.'s to illustrate the argument, it was contended that the California law would not operate against the use of force by the former but would against the latter.

Denies Carrying Card.
It was denied by her counsel that Miss Whitney carried an I. W. W. card, and it was insisted that her "casual" meetings with that organization were prior to the passage of the criminal syndicalism law. It was further asserted that while she had been a socialist she had never been a communist, and that the action of the Oakland convention had been taken over her protest. Her criminal liability, it was contended, must be measured by her acts and not by some indefinite apprehension of her intent.

Sedition and treason had caused the enactment of the law, the state declared, asserting its right to protect itself against criminal syndicalism.

Washington, May 16—(AP)—On the day he arrived from Oklahoma in June, 1923, Harold B. Fiske was arrested at Geneseo, Kan., charged with violating the state criminal syndicalism law. Tried and convicted, he appealed to the supreme court, challenging the constitutionality of the law.

Broadly stated the question presented was whether membership in and organization work for the Industrial Workers of the World could be made a crime. The issue turned on the fact that Kansas at the trial only used the preamble to the I. W. W. constitution found on Fiske, to sustain the contention that the organization advocated force to change the form of government.

Fiske claimed that the preamble did not disclose such a purpose. He insisted that there was nothing in it advocating physical violence, arson, destruction of property, sabotage or other unlawful acts as a means of accomplishing the objects of the organization. If the Kansas criminal syndicalism law permitted his conviction on such evidence, he argued, the law was unconstitutional.

The preamble as submitted to the jury, declared among other things that the working and employing classes had nothing in common, and that there could be no peace so long as hunger and want were found among the working people while the employing class had all the good things of life. It asserted that a "struggle" must go on between the two classes "until the workers of the world organize a class, take possession of the earth and the machinery of production, and abolish the wage system." It proposed to emblazon on its banner "the revolutionary watchword, 'abolition of the wage system'."

Kansas contended that the pre-

OBITUARY

MATILLA FUNERAL.

Rock, May 16—(Special)—The Finnish Lutheran church was packed to the doors while many sorrowing friends remained outside when the last sad rites were conducted over the body of Toivo Matilla at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. Kaarto Negaune spoke in both Finnish and English and the services were very impressive. Mrs. Kaarto sang a Finnish hymn during the services.

Interment was made in the local cemetery. The youth was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Matilla and had reached his nineteenth birthday a few days before he was taken ill. He was removed to the Ishpeming hospital where he died at 8 p. m. Thursday, following an operation ambly in appealing to the workers to organize and take possession of the earth violated the law. It was not necessary to place before the jury, it said, what was common knowledge to everyone. All knew that the organization had gone into the wheat fields of the state to destroy property and cause loss to the farmers. It argued, declaring that the actual criminal workings of the organization had been fully established and that the jury must interpret the preamble in the light of the known record of the organization.

Fisk Admitted Work.
Before his arrest during the short time he had been in Kansas, Fiske had persuaded two or three men to join the Agricultural Workers Industrial Union No. 110, a branch of the Industrial Workers of the World. He admitted that he was an I. W. W. organizer, and had distributed some copies of the preamble. Other copies were found in his possession. It was upon these activities that the prosecution was based.

Ritter took a touring car belonging to Axel Anderson, 222 North Fourteenth street, parked in the 100 block on South Ninth street, about 7 o'clock Saturday night. The theft was not noticed until a few hours later. Police were notified and officers were sent out in search of the missing automobile. At Rapid River the car was found outside a boarding house. Ritter had planned to take route M-35, but got on the wrong road. He came back to the Carlson garage at Rapid River for gasoline. After he had put gas in the car, Ritter drove away with the car.

One Hour with a MAYTAG and a Whole Washing is Done

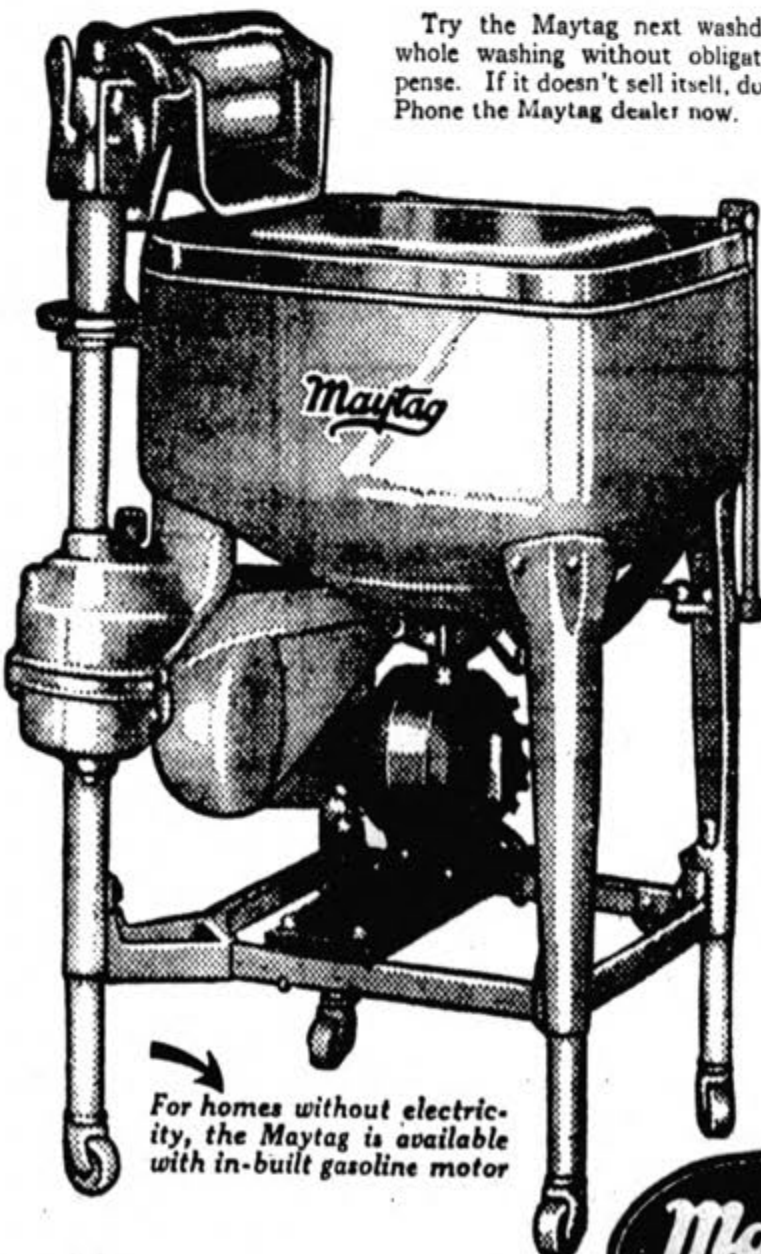

IMAGINE a washday measured in minutes instead of hours. When big tubfuls are washed in 3 to 7 minutes. When a whole big washing is done in one short hour.

When every garment is washed spotlessly clean without hand-rubbing even collars, cuffs and wristbands. When even greasy work-clothes and grimy rompers are washed clean as new in 10 minutes.

There is no changing of water during washing because of the heat-retaining nature of the Maytag's life-lasting, cast-aluminum tub, that drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds after the washing is done.

There is no hand adjusting of the famous Maytag wringer that instantly adjusts itself to a handkerchief or a blanket and wrings both equally dry.

Try the Maytag next washday. Do a whole washing without obligation or expense. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it. Phone the Maytag dealer now.

For homes without electricity, the Maytag is available with in-built gasoline motor

The room where the body lay resembled a flower garden, so profuse were the floral tributes that surrounded the casket, silent testimonials of the esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

Besides his parents the deceased is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Charles Harju and Raula Matilla of Rock, and Pearl of Chicago. Miss Pearl arrived here Friday to attend the funeral.

Cops Get Negaune Man Who Stole Car

Harold Ritter, 21, of Negaune was arrested Saturday night at Rapid River by members of the police and sheriff's department on a charge of stealing an automobile from this city.

Ritter took a touring car belonging to Axel Anderson, 222 North Fourteenth street, parked in the 100 block on South Ninth street, about 7 o'clock Saturday night.

The theft was not noticed until a few hours later. Police were notified and officers were sent out in search of the missing automobile. At Rapid River the car was found outside a boarding house.

Ritter had planned to take route M-35, but got on the wrong road. He came back to the Carlson garage at Rapid River for gasoline. After he had put gas in the car, Ritter drove away with the car.

Ritter was arrested about 11 o'clock. He demanded a preliminary examination, which will be held before Justice Henry E. Ranguette Thursday afternoon.

Ford Stockholders File Tax Arguments

Washington, May 16—(AP)—Preliminary to oral arguments, set for May 23, reply briefs in the $30,000,000 Ford tax case were filed today with the board of tax appeals by counsel for the internal revenue bureau and former minority stockholders of the Ford Motor company, who are resisting the effort of the government to levy an additional assessment on the sale of their holdings in 1919 to Henry Ford.

Declaring that the arguments of the former stockholders that the value of stock in the Ford Motor company as of March 1, 1919, should be determined by applying a 10 per cent capitalization rate to the estimated annual earnings capacity of $24,000,000, were faulty, the government asserted in its brief the question at issue was one of judgment which could not be solved by formulae. The brief filed in behalf of the taxpayers, however, assailed the assessment of back taxes as vicious and illegal use of administrative powers.

Levying of a personal assessment of more than $10,000,000 against Senator Couzens of Michigan, one of the former minority stockholders, was made an object of attack. This action taken "in the midst of his investigation" of the internal revenue bureau was an executive action so dangerous that it constitutes a threat to the integrity of this government. It was asserted.

Yanks Bombard Three Tiger Pitchers to Win, 6-2

GEHRIG SLAMS EIGHTH HOMER

Storm Causes Postponement of First Two Games.

Detroit, May 16.—(P)—After rain had caused a postponement of the first two games of the series, the Yankees pounded three Detroit pitchers for a 6 to 2 victory today. Lou Gehrig slammed out his eighth homer in the game to go into a tie with Babe Ruth for American League honors. Meusel stole second, third and home in the third inning.

After the Tigers had scored two runs in the first inning, the Yankees tied the score with two spectacular developments in the third. With two down and the bases empty, Gehrig slammed the ball into the right field bleachers. Meusel followed with a single and stole second. Lazzeri drew a base on balls and the two Yankee runners attempted a double steal.

The Tigers concentrated on Lazzeri, permitting Meusel to take third unmolested. When the Tiger infield continued to chase Lazzeri, Meusel made a dash for the plate, and he beat McManus' late throw by a scant margin.

Babe Ruth Gets a Hit. Babe Ruth did not get a hit until the ninth inning. The bases were filled as a result of three successive passes issued by Smith and Pitcher Jimmy Walkup, a right hander from Fort Worth, was in the box. Babe smashed a clean single to right, driving in the last two Yankee runs.

Dutch Ruether pitched shutout ball for seven innings after yielding the Tigers two runs in the first. When he walked Manion to start the ninth, he was removed, and Wilcey Moore, a recruit, finished the game.

The Tigers made their runs in the first inning. Blue walked and Warner singled. Hellmann advanced both runners on a sacrifice and Pothergill scored both on a single to left.

Dempsey Declines to Fight Uzcudun

New York, May 16.—(P)—Jack Dempsey has turned down Tex Rickard's proposal to fight Paulino Uzcudun around July 1 but at the same time agreed, to meet the winner of this Thursday's heavyweight battle between Jack Sharkey and Jim Maloney at a later date.

This shakeup in the comeback plans of the former champion was disclosed tonight by Rickard in connection with a testimonial dinner to the promoter by the Madison Square Club and its "666 millionaires."

Dempsey, according to Rickard's revised schedule will meet the Sharkey-Maloney winner early in August in New York to determine Gene Tunney's opponent in a title bout in September. The ex-champion may have one or two one-up fights in the west before that but he will engage in only one big elimination preliminary.

This Rickard intimated, virtually put Paulino out of the heavyweight picture although there is a possibility he will be matched with Jack Delaney on June 22 at the Yankee Stadium.

MICHIGAN GOLF, NET TEAMS WIN

Minnesota Tennis Squad, Northwestern Golfers Defeated.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 16.—(P)—Michigan defeated Minnesota in tennis and Northwestern in golf today in the beginning of the year's local Big Ten competition in those games. The tennis match was close, each team winning three singles and Michigan gaining its 5 to 4 margin by taking two doubles matches to one for the visitors. The golf match was a walk-away, the Wolverines winning, 21 to 3. Conditions were anything but good for tennis. The games were played on concrete courts under wind conditions unfavorable to the game. Barton and Sheat, ranked as number one men by the two coaches, played the best in singles, while Algyer showed to advantage paired with Goldsmith in the doubles.

Michigan all but made a clean sweep of the golf matches. Addison Connor had a pitch shot stop on the edge of the cup on the eighteenth green, which had it dropped, would have given Michigan the three points gained by Northwestern.

Tennis: Michigan 5; Minnesota 4. Barton, Michigan, defeated Shea, Minnesota, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1. Tatham, Minnesota, defeated Stephens, Michigan, 6-3, 6-4. IRON MOUNTAIN TG HOLD RELAY Carnival To Be Staged There June 4, Erdlitz Announces.

Iron Mountain, May 16.—Iron Mountain will be host to the high school relay runners of the upper peninsula Saturday, June 4. Coach Eck Erdlitz of the Mountaineer school has announced. Invitations to all the schools in the upper peninsula have been sent out. It is expected several will attend.

The meet will not interfere in any way with the upper peninsula track meet to be held in Menominee the following week, June 10 and 11.

Trophies for the meet have been made possible through the generosity of Iron Mountain merchants, Erdlitz said.

If the relays here are carried out as Erdlitz plans, it will be the realization of Eck's hopes since his first came to Iron Mountain. There is no relay meet in the upper peninsula where the relays are emphasized. The field events in the track meet at Menominee are the object of most attention.

Erdlitz hopes enough schools will enter to make division of entries into Class A and B feasible. This will give the smaller schools a better chance to place in the events and result in a more encouraging influence for smaller schools to continue track work.

Special Events Also. Special events will be run in addition to the relays to give the spectators a diversity of entertainment. The javelin, shot-put, discus, broad jump and pole vault will be among the specialties.

The relays will be the half-mile, mile, 880-yard run, two miles, medley and distance medley.

Because of the lack of facilities for handling the relays here, they will be held on the Kingsford high school track.

SCOTS TO SNUB KING

Glasgow.—Labor members of the Glasgow city council have decided that when King George and Queen Mary visit this city next July there will be no official honor accorded them. The Socialists hold the majority in the council and no one can avert the snub.

On the success attained by the lateral pass, depends the chances of certain other rugby elements being written into the intercollegiate football code.

Sharkey Will Move Out of Boston If He Loses

New York, May 16.—(P)—Jack Sharkey says he will "move out of Boston" if he loses his heavy-weight battle with Jimmy Maloney Thursday night—but he just can't see furniture vans backing up to the doors of his home here for some time to come.

The former job in Uncle Sam's navy finished heavy work today for the 15-round scrap in the Yankee Stadium that will furnish a finalist in Tex Rickard's series to determine Gene Tunney's challenger. A month of strenuous training in New York and Boston has put Sharkey into perfect condition—and his crystallized confidence of victory in him until it is almost a part of his workouts.

"There is only room enough in Boston for one of us," Sharkey said after he finished ten rounds of bag-knipping, shadow boxing and rope skipping, "and that one will be me."

The big Bostonian, conqueror of Harry Wills and Mike McTigue in his last major engagements, weighed 193½ today. Sharkey's final workouts have been hampered by a split in his eyelid, caused several days ago by the tightening of a head guard during a boxing session. The cut precluded further boxing and caused a slight shift of betting odds in favor of Maloney on the theory that lack of sparring would dull Sharkey's punching edge.

The wound has healed rapidly, however, and Sharkey is confident he won't be handicapped by it.

CARDS SUBDUED PHILLIES, 2-1

St. Louis Evens Series as Haines Outpitches Ferguson.

Philadelphia, May 16.—(P)—Jesse Haines won a hurling duel from Alex Ferguson this afternoon and St. Louis evened up the series with Philadelphia by taking the game, 2 to 1.

It was a bitter battle from start to finish and the Cardinals owe their success to the ability to hit in the first and sixth innings.

The game was played at the American League park where the Phillies will remain until their stands have been repaired.

There may be nothing to it but this horse named Grange who ran last with our wad at Jamaica must have thought he was following his interference.

Gene Tunney was "chagrined and nonplussed" when he sought to buy a painting and discovered it cost $80,000. . . in the good old days he'd probably have said "You coulda knocked me over with a feather."

But it was a fishing scene and Gene wanted it for sentimental reasons. . . it seems they were angling for tunney fish.

Tom Hueston, who won the world's pocket billiard championship after 16 years effort said he had to surmount scathing wisecracks and rebuffs of his friends.

Evidently the first 100 sneers are the hardest.

Judging by the results of the last five out of six events, English golf pros are battling for the committee to decide who is elected to come over here for the annual beating.

Michigan Pitcher Blanks Iowa, 6-0

Iowa City, May 16.—(P)—Miller, Michigan pitching ace, scored his second shutout victory in three days over Iowa here today, 6 to 0. The Wolverines found Mulrooney, star Hawkeye moundsman, for eight hits before he was relieved by Corbin. Davis, Michigan catcher, got a double and a single and scored three runs.

Escanaba White Sox Win Doubleheader

The White Sox defeated the Hawks yesterday afternoon at the South Park diamond in a double header, 2-4 and 6-1. La-Crosse struck out 15 Hawk batters. Batteries were: Sox, La-Crosse and A. Hanson; Hawks, G. Byrns, Gabourie, Roche, Holmes, C. Byrns and Gabourie; second game: Sox, Joint and LaFave; Hawks, G. Byrns and Roche.

COCOA COLAS WIN. The Cocoa Colas defeated the Cat Catchers, 15 to 12, in a hot baseball match on the city park diamond yesterday afternoon.

There are 1,304,200 persons in the U. S. named Smith. The Johnsons are next, with 1,024,200 persons. There are 730,500 Browns, 684,700 Williamses, and 625,800 Joneses.

The fact that a prominent London magazine has seen fit to discuss the possibilities of a change, makes it evident there is an undercurrent in this country that is in favor of the shift.

NOT POPULAR WITH COACHES. Just how strongly the coaches will go in for the lateral pass is a question. No doubt the men responsible for the rule will insist the new idea be played up as much as possible in their respective colleges.

I have talked with perhaps a dozen prominent coaches and only three of them think the lateral pass has any extraordinary possibilities as a ground game. A couple of coaches went so far as to say they really didn't believe they would use it at all.

In all probability it will take considerable time to put the idea over, even if it becomes apparent that the play, worked from various formations, has great ground gaining possibilities.

Regional Net Champ to Receive Trophy

The loving cup to be presented to the winner of the upper peninsula tennis tournament here May 28 and 29 is on display in the trophy case at Escanaba high school.

The cup will be presented by the Michigan High School Athletic association. There are seven regions in the state. A cup is presented to the winner in each region in addition to their being eligible to compete in the state tournament.

Austin Stegath, winner of Escanaba high school's singles tourney, will represent the school in the regional meet.

St. Joseph's high is the only other school that has decided to enter a contestant thus far. If no other school contest, the cup will go to the winner of the match between Stegath and the St. Joe champ who will be recognized as the champion of the upper peninsula by the state association. The St. Joe elimination has not yet been held.

Athletics Stretch Hits, Beat Browns in Slugfest, 10-8

St. Louis, May 16.—(P)—Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns each got 12 hits today, but the Athletics excelled in hitting distance and won, 10 to 8.

The visitors annexed 13 extra bases, including four home runs with two by Simmons and one each by Cochrane and Cobb. The Browns used four pitchers.

O'Rourke was put out in the seventh inning for arguing with the umpire.
