Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

A Chart to Measure the Normal Child's Health Behavior.

Dr. Thomas D. Wood, professor of health education in the Teachers College of Columbia University, and Marion Lerrigo have developed a scale for determining whether the behavior of a child in relation to its health is normal and similar to the behavior of other children of its age.

The scales also permit a decision relative to the child's success in health understanding from year to year. Safety habits should naturally have been established by the time boys and girls have completed the sixth grade. Certainly the child should understand early in life the importance of sleep and rest, of proper diet, of fresh air and sunshine, of cleanliness, of the care of the teeth, the ears and the eyes.

As a child grows older, it will have to consider the problems of temperance in relation to stimulants of all kinds and perhaps learn something about first-aid and home nursing. In developing these functions in the child, both the school and the home will have a significant part.

The distinguished educators feel that a child should, before it enters kindergarten, have learned to drink a quart of milk daily in addition to other foods, to drink water several times daily, to eat at regular times, to eat slowly and chew food well, to wash the hands before eating, to use only an individual drinking cup or bubbling fountain, and not to exchange food with other children, or eat it after picking it up from the ground, the floor, or the street.

It should expect to eat what is set before it without fussing, and to expect to have set before it only the things that are known as good foods for children.

A healthful child knows at this time how to play with other children and is willing to take turns in games of all kinds. It can stand erect, sit straight, use the feet alternately in going up and down stairs, throw and catch a ball, lift, carry or pile blocks, was taken ill and removed to Lake Side Hospital at Cleveland, Ohio.

JOHN HOGUE.

Funeral services for John Hogue were held Thursday morning at nine o'clock at St. Joseph's church at Perkins when Rev. Fr. A. C. Coignard was the celebrant at the requiem high mass. Burial was in Perkins cemetery.

INTEREST IN PLANES FELT

Michigan Forges Ahead in Manufacture of Aircraft.

Detroit (AP)—The stimulus of an awakened interest in aviation is being felt in Michigan, through an increased production of airplanes in the many factories in Detroit and other centers of the state, and a flood of orders for planes is keeping most of Michigan's airplane factories working at capacity speed, manufacturers say.

Michigan's airplane factories are working and growing hand in hand with the motor industry, for which Detroit is famous. Much of the increased interest in aviation is attributed by aircraft builders to the impetus given by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in his memorable flight from New York to Paris.

Following the first non-stop flight, which was made, possible by years of preparation and experimentation and development in the aircraft industry, came the increased call for planes, many of them for long-distance flights. A great number of planes now being groomed for flights, or now taking part in non-stop trips, were made in Detroit or in Michigan, a survey shows.

Some of the pilots, with their Michigan-made planes and the routes which they are planning to travel are:

Paul R. Rodgers, who will attempt to break the long distance non-stop record in a flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; in a Stinson-Detroiter monoplane; Edward F. Schies and Billy Brock, pilot, who will start on a round-the-world trip in a Stinson plane; Frederick Giles, English aviator, who will attempt to fly to Wellington, New Zealand, in a Hess Bluebird plane; Phil Wood and Pilot C. A. Schiller who will make a flight from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, Eng., according to present plans, in a Stinson-Detroiter plane. A Stinson plane has been ordered for a proposed London, Ont., to London, Eng., tour.

The use of airplanes is becoming more general daily. Golfers at Henry Ford's golf club, the Dearborn Country club, had convincing evidence of the fact recently when a small plane dropped down from the skies to the course, stopping in a distance of slightly over 100 feet. The flyer climbed out, pulled his golf bag out of the plane, and proceeded without more ado to tee up for a round of golf. When he had finished, he stepped into the plane, zoomed the little craft into the air, and was off for home at a speed of 100 miles an hour. The plane was one of Mr. Ford's flyer planes and the flyer-golfer was Harry Brooks, designer of the small craft.

Aviation fields are springing up all over the country, experts say. At Lansing a large field is being made, and at Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Pontiac and several other cities, large or small fields are in the making. Commercial aviation lines in Michigan are rapidly being developed into a major industry.

According to a report from the department of commerce, between 4,000 and 5,000 planes are now engaged in commercial service in the United States. The air mail poundage during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, was $60,285, and during the year ending June 30, 1927, it was 1,144,595 pounds, the report shows. The death rate from aviation accidents, despite the great increase in flying, has decreased remarkably each year, figures show.

To man and miss
Who seek for joy
And search for bliss:
That birds that sing
Soon take to wing
When foolish folk
Their cages bring;
And joy's a bird
As sweetly heard
That frightens at
Some selfish word,
Yes, swiftly flies
When someone tries
His joy to count

IN NEW YORK

New York—Young New York takes its love where it finds it. Having no country lanes to depend upon, finding travel to a park a bit far oftentimes and, the Hudson River walkway being somewhat congested, it invents strange lover's lanes.

The tops of Fifth Avenue buses after nightfall provide an exceptionally popular, if precarious, trysting place. Oblivious to bumpings and lurchings, young love carries on blantly, freely and, to some, vulgarly.

Sometimes it is the bench of the subway station; sometimes one of the old-fashioned horse-driven vehicles of the avenue; sometimes one of the most crowded corners.

Visitors invariably comment on the open and brazen nature of Manhattan necking parties.

But the poor children have no choice. It's either a dark corner of a movie theater, the top of a bus or a curbstone.

Of all the incongruous places for courtship, the American Museum leads the list.

Here, beneath the shadow of a brontosaurus, or just beyond the skeleton of a dinosaur you may come upon a score of incipient romances.

The ghosts of a terrifying past have no deterring influence, apparently. They read no sermon on timelessness and change; they have come to hold hands and exchange calf-eyes — and that's that!

They tell me that "Jim" Mc-hattan's oldest caddy, has retired at the ripe age of 82. For many years he was stationed just outside of Central Park, refusing to drive in the hurry and scurry of busy traffic. If a fare insisted on going some place other than the park, Jim would refuse to drive. He would not submit his horse to the competition of taxis and the dangers of accidents. A cab held for him a dignity that reflected a dead man.

In his time Jim had driven the Astors, the Goulds and the Belmonts.

Almost every Fifth Avenue church displays a sign reading: "Come in and rest."

Several times I have peered within during the height of a day's rush, but few seem to take advantage of the offer.

A constant surprise, however, is to be found in the number of shoppers who attend the "noon prayer services," also held daily in many of the avenue churches. Frequently I have seen the churches more than half-filled while the bundles piled upon the pews indicated a busy morning's shopping.

There are "some" New Yorkers who still find time to go to church on days other than Sunday.

What Doctors Say About Smoking and Throat Protection

Mary Lewis

"Can I really smoke without irritating my throat, even if my throat is unusually sensitive, and even if I smoke as much as I please?"

A number of physicians, many of them leading physicians, in various parts of the United States, were recently asked these two questions

Q1—In your judgment is the heat treatment or toasting process applied to tobaccos previously aged and cured, likely to free the cigarette from irritation to the throat?

9651 doctors answered this question "YES".

Q2—Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES".

You have noticed in the newspapers and magazines the opinions of many whose voices must be maintained unimpaired—opera singers, actors and actresses, men prominent in public life, radio announcers. These opinions are confirmed by the opinions of those whose business it is to know.

The Brand Is Your Insurance

THERE is an overproduction of crude oil. This has encouraged the opening of numerous small refineries. Many of these are operated by men unskilled in this work. The consequence is that in gasolines there is a wide variance in quality and performance.

Red Crown Ethyl is a new gasoline built upon an old, established brand. Red Crown Gasoline is the peer of any motor fuel made from pure petroleum. By adding Ethyl anti-knock compound to this splendid fuel, Red Crown Ethyl is produced.

Red Crown Ethyl does away with that annoying knock—the engine delivers a steady, smooth, flexible flow of power—it gives the car a snappy start, a quick pick-up, and enables it to attain any speed the machine is capable of developing.

It has made the high-compression engine possible—and it makes your engine perform better.

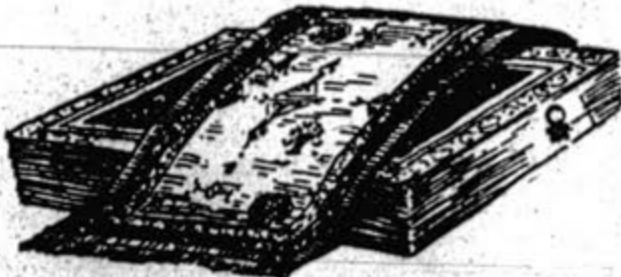

Take no chances with your car—fuel it with Red Crown Ethyl. The brand is your protection.

Remember carbon in your cylinders decreases the space in the firing chamber, and of course increases the compression. But to hold this compression, thus enabling the carbon to work for you, be sure that your valves are clean and are seated properly—then Red Crown Ethyl will sing you a song that will delight.

FEDERAL ROAD EXPERT HERE

Government Man Inspects Proposed Gladstone Routes.

H. W. Brooks, of Chicago, inspector for the federal department of highways, was in Escanaba yesterday, discussing federal aid road matters with members of the county and state highway staffs. Mr. Brooks is on a tour of inspection of all of the federal aid roads of the Upper Peninsula. He was accompanied to this city by H. L. Brighton of Lansing, survey engineer of the state department.

One of the purposes of the visit here was the checking up of proposed routes for the new concrete highway to be constructed between Escanaba and Gladstone. This will be a federal aid project and the government's idea as to the proper location will quite naturally carry considerable weight. The proposed routes were carefully inspected by Mr. Brooks.

The federal inspector came to Escanaba from the east. He left for Menominee and Crystal Falls after his work here had been completed.

Vigilante Plan Will Extend Throughout Upper Michigan

Detroit.—(AP)—The vigilante plan of protecting Michigan financial institutions from bandits, now in practice in many parts of the state, will be extended to Houghton, Keweenaw and Baraga counties in the course of a few days, according to officials named to organize the protective divisions in that area. Joseph Rylands, director of the organization in Michigan, spent several weeks in the Copper Country explaining the plan to bankers, and aiding the sheriffs of the three counties to co-operate in the plan.

C. H. Frimodig, of Houghton, was named chairman of the Houghton county committee; A. C. Messner was named chairman at Keweenaw, and Thomas D. Tracy at Baraga.

A unit of the vigilante system at Alpena is nearing completion, and 15 men have been named as deputy sheriffs for their part in the organization, and the requisite number of those who are daily at work in locations close to the city's banks have been named for duty.

Bankers of Tuscola also have completed plans for the system of protection.

Menominee bankers have organized and adopted the vigilante plan, and cashiers and officials of all the banks have been gathered together in an organization to prevent robbery of banks and to aid in speedy capture of bandits should robbery occur.

Manistique bankers are making plans for the adoption of the system, and within a year it is believed the vigilante system will be almost universal in both the upper and lower peninsula of Michigan.

Detroit.—(AP)—A new 600-horsepower airplane motor, designed to run in an upside-down position, so that the oil may be cooled and contained within the motor, is being tested here by U. S. army engineers. The motor was designed by engineers of the Packard Motor company here.

The design, it is said, will do away with breakage of oil lines, which have resulted in many interrupted flights during the past. Increased speed is assured by the motor, designers say.

Iowa's Corn Crop Due to Hot Winds

Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—Hot winds, the greatest of crop scourges in Nebraska and Kansas, are responsible for corn being king of crops in Iowa.

Agricultural experts of Iowa State college have come to that conclusion after a survey of each county's acreage, climatic and soil conditions.

It was disclosed that the greatest corn areas are along the Missouri river in western Iowa, where the acreage runs as high as 59 per cent. In that region, farmers have found the hot winds too great a menace to oats and other small grain crops.

A popular idea that corn acreage is uniform in the tall corn state is disputed by the survey, which discloses that some counties have less than 20 per cent of farm land in corn.

CHEVROLET USED CARS

"with an OK that counts"

Look For The Red "O. K." Tag

After we have thoroughly reconditioned a used car, we attach a red "O. K." tag to the radiator cap.

This tag certifies that the vital units of the car have been gone over completely by expert mechanics and put in condition to give thousands of miles of additional service. It takes all the "guess-work" out of used car buying.

Look for this tag when you buy a used car—for it is your guarantee of quality and value!
