

SACCO, VANZETTI PAY DEATH PENALTY

Efforts to Save Pair Fail; Execution Takes Place After Midnight

"LONG LIVE ANARCHY", SHOUTS SACCO IN CHAIR; "I'M INNOCENT, I FORGIVE YOU," CRIES VANZETTI.

Charleston State Prison, Boston, Mass., Aug. 23—(P)—Nicola Sacco and Bartolemeo Vanzetti shortly after midnight this morning paid the penalty of death exacted by the state for murder.

Celestino Madeiros preceded them to the electric chair by a few minutes, the world-known radicals following as rapidly as the execution routine would permit.

Madeiros died at 12:09 a. m. for the murder of a Wrentham bank cashier. Sacco and Vanzetti were executed for the murder of a paymaster and his guard at Braintree more than seven years ago. Sacco was dead at 12:19 and Vanzetti at 12:26.

Many Armed Guards.

Inside and outside of the high prison wall stood a small army of armed guards. Waiting also were the press wires to inform the world that the long fight to save the men was at an end.

The fight in behalf of the men continued until the last minute.

Both Sacco and Vanzetti made brief speeches in the death chamber before they took their seats in the chair, Vanzetti protesting his innocence to the last.

Sacco, pale but steady, shouted in Italian: "Long live anarchy," as he sat down in the chair.

Then in broken English he went on: "Farewell my wife and child and all my friends." The straps were being adjusted as he said his last words: "Good evening, gentlemen. Farewell mother."

Calmer of Three. Vanzetti entered the death chamber the calmest of the three men. Shaking hands with two of the guards as he came through the door of the execution chamber, he walked unassisted to the chair and seated himself.

As the guards began the hasty adjustment of straps to his head and body he began a speech. In broken English that characterized his dramatic plea for "justice" when sentence was passed on him in Dedham on April 9, he declared:

"I wish to tell you I am innocent and never connected with any crime, but some time ago you have done for me. I am innocent of all crime not only of this one but all. I am an innocent man."

Then just as the guards put the straps and headcap in place, cutting off further speech, he shouted:

"Forgive Enemies. I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me."

A moment after the official witnesses entered the death chamber Madeiros was led in between two guards. The youth, who had won five respites because of his confession that a gang with which he was connected committed the South Braintree murders, was stolid and expressionless. His eyes wandered about the little group of witnesses as he was strapped to the chair, but he said nothing.

Madeiros came in at 12:02:47. At 12:03:37 the shock was applied. He was pronounced dead at 12:09:35.

Then came Sacco. Apart from the prison pallor the little shoe worker who has become an international figure showed no sign of his long hunger strike. He walked erect between the guards, his eyes flashing brightly about the group in the death chamber as he came. He sat down in the chair, and as the guards began to attach the straps he shouted in a voice that rang strangely through the little white room:

"Viva L'Anarchia." (Long live anarchy.) Almost without pause he continued; this time in broken English: "Farewell my wife and child, and all my friends."

When the work of the guards was almost complete he looked about the group of witnesses again and said: "Good evening gentlemen."

Then just as the head straps were being applied came Sacco's last remark. It was: "Farewell, mother!"

Hardly had Sacco's body been placed beside that of Madeiros behind a screen at the rear of the chamber than the guards appeared again in the doorway leading in from the death cells. This time Vanzetti was in their charge.

Speaks from Chair. He showed no sign of nervousness or hesitation. As he entered the chamber at the rear and to the left of the chair, he shook hands with several guards. Seated in the chair, he launched at once into a brief speech.

"I wish to tell you," he said

HUBBY'S ROLL BUMPED HARD IN FIRST TILT

MRS. CHAPLIN GETS CUSTODY OF TWO CHILDREN.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 22—(P)—Lita Grey Chaplin was granted an interlocutory decree from Charles Chaplin today after the film actor had agreed to pay his girl wife $625,000 as a preparatory settlement and grant her permanent custody of their two small sons.

Into an hour's session of the Judge Walter Guerin's court, at which Mrs. Chaplin played the leading part, were rolled the final gestures to the eight months of marital strife. Chaplin was not present.

A property settlement reached out of court was announced by Edwin E. McMurray, chief of counsel for the suing wife, and Mrs. Chaplin made her own routine case of cruelty from the witness stand. A few corroborative witnesses were sworn, testified briefly and the decree was granted.

A year must elapse before the final decree is granted.

$200,000 Trust Fund. The agreement between Chaplin and his wife provides for the creation of a trust fund of $200,000. The income to be paid Mrs. Chaplin for the support and education of the children. The principal is to go to the children when the younger attains the age of 35.

The trust fund is in addition to the $625,000 Chaplin agreed to pay Mrs. Chaplin.

It was understood that Chaplin also agreed to pay $10,000 as expenses of his wife during their separation, $22,000 court costs and $1,000 a month for the support, maintenance and education of the children for a period of five years pending setting up of the trust fund.

Mrs. Chaplin will receive $375,000 of the total award at once in cash, reliable reports said, the remainder to be paid her over a period of three years, as follows: On September 1, 1928, $100,000; September 1, 1929, $100,000 and on September 1, 1930, the balance $50,000.

Sits on Stand. Within fifteen minutes after Judge Guerin had completed reading a temporary ruling barring certain testimony, McMurray had announced reaching of the settlement and Mrs. Chaplin was on her way to the stand. Rapidly and with finality she answered the questions which McMurray put to her.

Neglect of herself and the children, absence from home at night and cruelty which forced her to leave the actor, were the burden of her testimony.

Not a word was mentioned of the sensational charges which she hurled at the screen jester in her divorce complaint. Almost forgotten in the hectic court session were the references made to motion picture actresses with which the plaintiff wife declared Chaplin had been unduly familiar.

Oratory Display. Gavin McNab, chief of Chaplin's quietest of counsel, dramatically came to the comedian's defense in a five minute display of oratory.

SHOWERS STOP FIRE MENACING LUMBER TOWN

Newberry, Mich., Aug. 22—(P)—Heavy rainfall today checked brush fires near here which until Monday morning threatened to burn the village of Dollarville and do serious damage to standing and cut timber belonging to the Stack Lumber Co., near Curtis. The fire which threatened Dollarville burned over a marsh area of about 2,500 acres. Monday night it was feared that the village was doomed but the fire was effectively checked by the State Conservation Department's crews from Marquette county, and by the Newberry fire truck. Using 1,500 feet of hose, water was pumped from Teaspoon creek and the fire was nearly under control when the first shower of rain came Monday morning.

NAVY TO STOP DISTANCE HOPS

Agree "Something Must Be Done"; No Word of Aviators.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22—(P)—While navy boats and planes searched under an extended "zero hour" Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, a San Francisco visitor, and officials in Washington agreed today that some federal move must be made to prevent a recurrence of the disasters that have befallen the Dole aircrews, crews of the Golden Eagle, Miss Doran and the Dallas Spirit.

Admiral Erbele, acting secretary of navy, in Washington, predicted the enactment by congress of a law to prohibit long distance airplane "stunt flights" except under rigid conditions.

At the same time, Admiral Erbele ordered the 40 naval vessels searching the Pacific for the missing flyers, to continue their efforts until Thursday. The original plans were that the hunt should officially terminate tomorrow night, a week from the date of the start of the Miss Doran and the Golden Eagle in the Dole race.

Extension was given as the result of the disappearance of the Dallas Spirit, piloted by Capt. William Erwin of Dallas, Texas, and navigated by A. H. Eichwald of Hayward, Cal., who apparently dived into the sea nearly 700 miles west of San Francisco Friday night after flashing an S. O. S. call on his radio.

Secretary Wilbur was quoted as agreeing that "some step must be taken by the federal government to prevent future loss of lives in long distance stunt flights."

He declined to comment on Admiral Erbele's prediction.

The secretary said that the president had some power in this respect, but said he was not sure that this was sufficient to cover the situation.

He declared it was sure that some action will be taken to prevent needless loss of life.

That navy men conducting the hunt for the missing men in the Dallas Spirit held little hope for their rescue and reports from Honolulu bore no more hope.

Prohibition Agent Asked to Explain Large Liquor Flow

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22—(P)—Assistant Secretary Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today that an explanation of "why so much liquor still flows into the northwest" would be demanded of Roy C. Lyle, prohibition administrator for Washington, Oregon and Alaska. Lyle was summoned to Washington Saturday for a conference with Lowman and Commissioner Doran. He will arrive Sept. 3. Another subject to be taken up, he said, is whether sums of money have passed between rum runners and enforcement agents. Much of the liquor coming into the states under Lyle's jurisdiction, is smuggled from Vancouver, British Columbia.

LOST EXPLORER STORY 'PUT UP'

Mine Head Says Scheme Invented to "Advertise" Cave.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 22—(P)—O. P. Pile, state mine inspector, today reported officially to Gov. Austin Peay that Lawrence Ashley's disappearance in Nick-A-Jack cave, near Shell Mound, Tenn., was a "fraud perpetrated for the purpose of securing a state highway by the cave."

Mr. Pile's statement charged that Ashley and other inhabitants of the section, including members of the rescue crews which returned with "fabulous stories of wonderful halls in a six-mile long cave were in the plot, the secondary purpose of which was to give the cave publicity and attract tourists.

The cave is not over two miles in length, the statement said, is shallow and the roof has fallen in places, making it unattractive to tourists.

Ashley, Pile charged, did not stay in the cave and did not reappear until Sunday. Mr. Pile said he took a crew of 50 miners into the cave to search it and left one stationed at the door. The party had not gone far, he said, when it was surprised to see Ashley appear from the woods and hurry off towards home without walking toward those at the cave mouth.

The geologist, who told of having been cut off by a rock slide and after wandering in the cave digging his way out, showed no signs of mud on his clothes and boots, Pile asserted, and carried a heavy pack as he walked rapidly away.

WON'T MAKE REPLY. Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 22—(P)—"I don't care to make any reply to this ridiculous statement at this time," Lawrence Ashley said, when called by long distance telephone and informed of charges by O. H. Pile, state mine inspector, that he had an episode was a hoax. "I won't enter into a newspaper controversy with him, but will take more direct steps to answer him. I want to see what his report carries in the way of so-called proof before making any effort to reply to him."

COOLIDGE AND SHIPPING BODY AT ODDS AGAIN

FRICITION CAUSED BY FLEET SALE ANNOUNCEMENT.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright 1927, by the Associated Press)

Washington, Aug. 22—For several weeks there have been rumors that President Coolidge and the shipping board were again at odds. The differences now have come out into the open. Those interests which insist that the government shall go out of the shipping business have carried their case to the president and have won out. The announcement from Rapid City that Mr. Coolidge favors the sale of the merchant fleet has not come as a surprise but it does blast the hopes of those advocates of a government-owned merchant marine who believed that the profit made by the United States Lines would be the basis for a policy of enlargement or replacement by the government of the existing fleet.

Mr. Coolidge's statement that the United States Lines may have earned profits but not on the original investment of the ships at war time prices will provoke considerable controversy because it is the original capital investment is to be taken into consideration in determining a shipping policy then the shipping board will never be able to dispose of the merchant fleet. Private owners and operators have contended that the government should take a loss on the original capital investment and sell the ships at current prices for tonnage. The shipping board has figured its profit not on the basis of what the ships cost in war time but on the prices prevailing today, the inference being that the government is, actually making a profit on these ships in the transatlantic traffic just as would be the case if private owners bought the ships at a low cost today.

Early Sale Position. The position of President Coolidge in favoring an early sale of the merchant fleet is thoroughly consistent with his previous expression on the subject but the shipping board has always taken refuge in the provisions of the Jones merchant marine act which have insisted that the purchasers must guarantee to keep the American flag on the routes chosen.

Again and again the shipping board has advertised its fleet for sale but the bids have not been sufficient, in the opinion of the board, to dispose of them.

For the last three months the chamber of commerce of the United States has been carrying on a campaign against the continuance of government ownership or operation of the merchant marine. The shipping board, on the other hand, has been pointing to the profits of the United States Lines and has indicated its desire for appropriations to build ships, especially cargo carriers, to replace those now wearing out.

Some of the shipping men who feel that the government should get out of the passenger and freight business and confine itself to regulation of rates and kindred matters of ocean transportation have conferred with the president and criticized the announcements from the shipping board and the merchant fleet corporation.

Buyers Organizing? There have been rumors also that big financial interests have been waiting for the opportunity to buy the government ships at a low cost and float the securities to the public. The names of many prominent banking institutions have been mentioned as behind the plan. So long as no new ships are built, the opportunities of the merchant fleet to develop a more profitable business are limited, but this circumstance in turn is regarded by those who are trying to buy the ships as inevitably compelling the government to sell the ships at a lower price.

Congress next December will have to decide the issue as between more appropriations for new ships or allowing the fleet to depreciate to the point where private interests will get the vessels at the prices they think will permit them to operate at a profit.

State Fears Shortage of Funds; Planning to Employ Rigid Economy

SAGINAW IRON PLANT EXPANDS

General Motors Plans to Operate Lake Boats to Mill.

Lansing, Aug. 22—(P)—Fear that the state will have no funds for improvements or expenditures not definitely authorized by the legislature despite a much higher tax levy unless assessments in operating expenses can be made, was expressed by Gov. Fred W. Green and members of the administrative board finance committee today. A thorough survey of departments and an inquiry into all expenditures is to be made in an effort to economize and hold down the tax levy. A state tax of $26,946,486 will be necessary to meet the tax clause appropriations granted for this fiscal year by the legislature, O. B. Fuller, auditor general, reported to the committee. This is an increase of more than $9,000,000 over the $17,800,000 levy last year. The administrative board, however, has the power to eliminate such tax clause appropriations as it sees fit. The governor and committee members expressed the hope that the prospective increase can be whittled somewhat although they admitted that even if the total amount were raised, plus the approximately $14,000,000 or $15,000,000 of other general fund revenues that may be received, there would be nothing left in the general fund for carrying out non-tax clause improvements unless the state can economize in the operation of departments and institutions.

Budget Ordered. G. R. Thompson, state budget director, was ordered to build up a budget showing precisely what expenditures are demanded and what funds will be available. Auditor General Fuller will compile a report showing funds on hand and the probable total amount that can be realized from sources other than the general property tax.

The committee will meet again Thursday to consider the situation. The state tax probably will be fixed in a week or two. In view of the financial situation the committee deferred action on request from Jackson for $10,000 to help defray the expenses of a crack drill team to the American Legion convention in Paris. The request was submitted by Representative John Simpson and the Jackson city manager.

Delay also was ordered on a request by Senator Normal Horton, for speedy action in releasing appropriations for the Monroe armory and another for $49,000 for a seaplane at Grosse Isle. It was explained the committee will be in better position to gauge the state's condition Thursday.

LIBRARY ATTACKED. Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 22—(P)—Sacco and Vanzetti manifestly demolished the windows of the great Hall of the League of Nations palace tonight. The rioting followed a protest meeting organized by Socialists. The mob first marched on the American consulate, but the police beat them off.

The manifestos then took revenge by attacking the American agency of two picture theatres showing American films. In the struggle with the police, a shot was fired by some unknown hand and killed a bystander. Fire hoses playing streams of water on the crowds eventually dispersed them.

RIOTS SERIOUS. London, Aug. 23—(P)—The Geneva correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co., describes last night's rioting in Geneva as serious. He says the city was in the hands of 5,000 rioters who attacked and severely damaged American shops, raided motion picture houses, where American films were being shown, seizing films starring Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and Norma Talmadge. The films were taken to the streets and destroyed.

"that I am innocent and never committed any crime, but sometimes some sin. I thank you, Mr. Warden, for all you have done for me."

"I am innocent of all crimes, not only this one, but all. I am an innocent man."

Vanzetti paused while the guards continued their grim task of attaching the straps and applying the electrodes to his left leg. Then, just before his eyes were covered he continued:

"I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing here."

Then Current Applied. Then the current was applied. In the case of Maderlos the amperage was from nine to 11 and the voltage from 1,400 to 1,900. For Sacco the amperage was from 12 to 15 and the voltage from 1,800 to 2,000. In Vanzetti's execution the amperage was from 9 to 11 and the voltage from 1,400 to 1,950. It was explained that the greater voltage in the case of Sacco was made necessary by the fact that he was an unusually rugged and vital type.

The men were dressed in blue-striped denim suits, gray trousers, gray socks and black slippers.

The left leg of the trousers had been slit up to the knee to permit application of the electrodes to the flesh.

In each case examination was made by Dr. George Burgess Magrath, medical examiner for Suffolk county, Surgeon-general F. P. Williams, Dr. Joseph McLaughlin, prison physician and two physicians who were present as guests of the warden. These were Drs. Howard A. Lothrop of Boston and William Otis Faxton, Dedham jail physician. The other witnesses were Warden Hendry, Deputy Warden James Hoggatt, Sheriff Samuel Capen of Norfolk county and W. E. Playfair, of The Associated Press.

Perform Autopsy. The bodies were removed from the death chamber shortly after the execution and taken to the North Grove Street mortuary, where an autopsy was to be performed by Dr. Magrath. Arrangements were made last night by Gardner Jackson, representing the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee, to claim the bodies on behalf of the relatives.

The last day was for both Sacco and Vanzetti a busy one. The forenoon brought a visit of Michael Musmanno of the defense legal staff. He remained only a few minutes.

The Rev. Michael Murphy, prison chaplain, then called on them with a final plea that they prepare themselves spiritually for death. He urged them to receive the sacrament and return to the faith which both forsook many years ago. Neither heeded his request, each declaring he preferred to die as he had lived, outside the pale.

Soon after the chaplain's visit although for another crime, arrived. They remained an hour, sitting on the benches and conversing with the prisoners. Mrs. Consuelo Arada, sister of Maderlos, sentenced to die with them, although for another crime, arrived to see her brother.

The men apparently were as cheerful as at any time. They had slept well and apparently were well rested. The men, according to the prison physician, were in good condition mentally and physically.

Leave After Noon. Mrs. Sacco and Miss Vanzetti left the prison when the noon meal was served. The two women then showed no signs of breaking down. They remained with the two men for an hour and a half. When they left, both women showed the effects of the farewell. Mrs. Sacco was crying, and Miss Vanzetti was supporting her, the latter with a handkerchief to her face.

Shortly after the women left, the men were given their supper, the last meal they got. It consisted of soup, beef tea, toast and tea. Both men, as well as Maderlos ate the food.

The condemned men faced nothing in the way of preparations for execution. The clothing which they had worn regularly was unchanged, differing only in the fact that the trousers legs had been slit to receive the electrodes through which the death current is sent. Within the death chamber all preparations had been completed. The chair was made ready several weeks ago for the execution that was then deferred. The executioner, Robert Elliott, whose arrival was secret, was said to have tested out the apparatus.

FIGHT TO FINISH. Boston, Aug. 22—(P)—The seven years' fight for the lives of Nicolo Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti came to an end tonight. With only a few hours' lease of life facing the two men, their attorneys told the Associated Press that the fight would continue "up to the last minute."

Balked in several previous moves today, the attorneys went to the prison late in the day and asked Sacco and Vanzetti to sign a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to be presented to Judge Lowell of the federal district court here. As with a previous similar petition Vanzetti signed and Sacco refused. That counsel would go beyond this they refused to reveal.

Earlier in the day Justice Stone of the United States supreme court had refused, at his summer home at Isle Au Haut, Maine, to grant a writ of execution. Similarly, Judge Wik of the Massachusetts superior court had declined to intervene.

Governor Fuller, who had before sent the day at the statehouse, receiving several delegations and individuals who pleaded for clemency for the two men.

Chief Justice Taft telegraphed from his summer home in Canada his refusal to intervene because the matter was out of his jurisdiction. In the death house at the state prison, Sacco and Vanzetti and Celestino Maderlos, condemned to die at the same time for another murder, spent the day reading, eating the prison fare and receiving visitors from counsel and relatives. After one of his visits Atty. Michael A. Musmanno said Sacco and Vanzetti both seemed depressed but Sacco still was interested in the legal moves being made. During the day there were several attempts at picketing in front of the statehouse. As fast as a picket line developed the police broke it up. More than 100 persons, some of them women, were arrested.

The response to a call sent out by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee for a sympathetic strike today was small in Boston, where labor union officials had refused to sanction it. Only a few hundred workers left their benches. In Mt. Pleasant, Mass., a large number of workers left the granite sheds and paraded.

Many Echoes Heard. Many echoes of the situation came from outside New England. A state trooper was killed after dispersal of a Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration in Springfield, Pa. Expressions of sympathy with the two men came from many points abroad.

At Washington, the defense petition seeking to have the United States supreme court review the record of the case was docketed for the October term. It required the approval of some justice of that court, however, before it would actually come before the court.

COURAGE PRAISED. New York, Aug. 23—(P)—The courage with which Sacco and Vanzetti met death was praised in a statement issued early today by the Sacco-Vanzetti emergency committee of New York, which described the execution of the anarchists as a legal class lynching, bringing sorrow to millions of workers.

"Their death proves," the statement said, "that the workers of America have little to hope for from the courts and social institutions as long as they remain under the hell of the master class."

The committee declared that the names of Sacco and Vanzetti would become watchwords of the radical cause "to be shouted in all future battles of the class war."

"Death" Watch. About 1,000 sympathizers kept a "death watch" in the community church until they received news of the execution. Among the speakers who addressed this meeting was Representative P. H. Laguardia who centered his attack upon Judge Webster Thayer, the trial judge.

A final telegram, intended to comfort the men awaiting death, was dispatched early in the evening.

Barthelness to Wed Actress in Gotham. New York, Aug. 22—(P)—The New York Herald-Tribune will say tomorrow that Richard Barthelness, film star, and Katherine Wilson, Broadway actress, will be married this fall.

Barthelness, the former husband of Mary Hay, dancer, now is in New York, but will return to Hollywood this week. The couple have known each other for more than three years. After their marriage they will live on the Pacific coast.

Indian Claims That Flowers Are Lovers. London—Flowers have hearts and often fall in love, says Sir Jagadis Bose, Indian scientist, who is lecturing in London.

Sir Jagadis says he hopes to prove that the present teachings of botany are far from correct. He says he can illustrate the effect of drugs on flowers and trees and show how the death of one flower may cause another to pine away and die.

COOLIDGES SEE WEST'S BEAUTY

Enter Yellowstone Park on Week's Sight Seeing Jaunt.

Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., Aug. 22—(P)—With a week of sight-seeing and rest before them, President and Mrs. Coolidge came into Yellowstone National Park today to view its grandeur in a program which might have been arranged for any less distinguished tourists. It called for a steady gait through the cloud-hooded mountains and through valleys bubbling with geysers and hot springs from now until Saturday—a program pretty much "on the hoof" as the president himself views it.

They had scarcely settled themselves for the first night sleep in the spacious mountain residence of H. W. Child, president of the Yellowstone Hotels corporation, when they allipped on heavy overcoats for an automobile drive to Camp Roosevelt to visit the Tower falls region.

Returning this evening they rested in the Child home, across from Mammoth hotel, for the crowded week's itinerary before them.

Even here in this wilderness of nature where everything is peaceful and sparsely populated, large crowds eagerly followed the president's movements. His arrival at Mammoth was a good deal like coming to a gay week-end party where the guests stood in front of the lodge and waved a "hello" in the manner of folks on vacation away from their everyday cares.

And for the president and Mrs. Coolidge this was to be a week of real pleasure—actually the first of this kind Mr. Coolidge had had since he entered the White House. Apparently anticipating its pleasure and joyous. It is not usually his custom to talk much when stopping on trips, but today as his train passed through Montana cities, he sparred verbally with some of the folks who came down to his train and joked with Gov. J. E. Erickson of Montana about a mistaken assumption of Livingston's population. He was on a holiday and seemed to be in a holiday mood.

Frenchman Devises Shorter "Longhand". Paris—Shorter "longhand" said to be adaptable to all languages, is offered by a blind Frenchman.

Paul Remy, blinded thirty years ago, says his experimental teaching has produced in two months' study stenographers capable of writing 120 to 180 words a minute.

Remy describes his system as being fundamentally the elimination of all vowels, the use of ordinary letters for consonants and the substitution of periods, accents and similar marks for diphthongs and whole syllables.

Says Airplane Limit Is Forty-Five Tons. Paris—Commercial airplanes eight or ten times as large as those now built are practical, says Leon Kirate, an expert. Beyond that, he believes, the laws of science will call a halt.

Kirate's calculations were presented recently to the Academy of Sciences. He deduced that the limit of practical total weight of a fully loaded commercial airship is 55 tons. The load limit was put at a little more than nine tons. He estimated the practical flying range of such a plane at about 1,000 miles.

Because of the law forbidding the King of England from traveling more than 50 miles from London with a minister in attendance, George IV had the mile stones from London to Brighton give the distance as "less than 50 miles."

INFANTRY MOBILIZED. New York, Aug. 22—(P)—Six companies of infantry and two machine gun companies were mobilized and held ready tonight on Governor's Island to be used as aides to the police in the event of serious disorder as the result of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. The forces numbered about 900 officers and men.

NOISY DEMONSTRATION. Buenos Aires, Aug. 22—(P)—A crowd gathered in front of a newspaper office on the Avenida De Mayo started a demonstration among the thoroughfares as soon as news of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti was posted. It began around American buildings.

PARADERS ARRESTED. San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22—(P)—One hundred and twenty-seven Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers in a parade here tonight were arrested by police as they passed the Hall of Justice. Bail was fixed at $74 each.

The arrests climaxed a day of unrest, in which three demonstrations were blocked. The first demonstration was a mass meeting at the Civic center. As speakers tried to address the crowd, police without displaying weapons, rushed the assembly.

MOBILIZE POLICE. Flint, Mich., Aug. 22—(P)—A demonstration of 2,000 persons who gathered in a public park here tonight to protest against the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti caused police to order mobilization of the entire force for possible emergency duty.

The meeting was held without disorder. However, police were placed on guard near the industrial plants and public buildings while reserves were held at some points throughout the city.

Coat-of-Arms Marks Oliver Twist Court. London—Persons who pass through Hatton Garden, London's famed diamond center, often wonder at the Royal coat-of-arms fixed in front of Nos. 52 and 53.

This place until 1842 was the old Hatton Garden Police Court, where Charles Dickens sent Oliver Twist to get a three months' sentence for stealing a pocket handkerchief.

WRIGHT TO TRY AGAIN. Joe Wright, Canadian sculler, plans to go back to Henley in 1928 for the diamond sculls championship.

EAST RAIL MEN TALK COMBINE

Five Trunk Lines Will Be Represented at Gathering.

New York, Aug. 22—(P)—Meetings of high executives of the four eastern trunk line railroads, and L. F. Loree, sponsor of a fifth trunk line, will be resumed this fall, it was learned here today, to reconsider the eastern consolidation plan. The meetings probably will begin around the middle of next month, and the initiative likely will be taken by the Pennsylvania which has come off the side lines and is understood to be prepared to enter actively into discussions of the merger scheme.

In the coming conversations the Pennsylvania and Loree interests are expected to line up on the one side, with the New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and "Nickel Plate" interests on the other. Pennsylvania officials have taken the stand that the four system plan now pending will have to be materially revised and must take into consideration the fifth line proposed by Mr. Loree.

A strong effort, it is understood, will be made to break the disagreement which has existed between the Pennsylvania and the three other roads since the consolidation scheme was presented to the interstate commerce commission about two years ago. Eastern railway men have expressed the feeling that unless some program is devised in which the four roads and the Loree interests can work in concert a "commission plan" must materialize which would be unsatisfactory to all the parties involved.

Sword Line Still Holds in Commons. London—(P)—Mr. A. N. Skelton was addressing the House of Commons in the presence of a mere handful of members when he was suddenly assailed with shouts of "Order!"

There was nothing unparliamentary in his remarks and Mr. Skelton was at a loss to know how he had offended until someone pointed to his foot.

The toe of one shoe was about one inch beyond the strip of cloth which runs along the floor in front of the front benches. It is out of order for a member to step beyond that line while speaking from a front bench.

The line is a survival of the days when the members of Parliament carried swords. So long as a member was behind the line his sword point could not reach an opponent opposite.

Princess Elizabeth Is Not Just "Betty". London—Queen Mary does not appear to like to have her granddaughter, the Princess Elizabeth, called "Betty."

She took the occasion of the opening of Crosby Hall, new women's center in Chelsea, to administer a delicate rebuke to those who favored the nickname which has been growing more and more popular with the press.

One of the Crosby Hall rooms was named after Princess Elizabeth. While Her Majesty was inspecting it, someone referred to Princess "Betty." The Queen said nothing, but the next day sent around a photograph of herself and the baby princess. It was significantly autographed: "Mary R. and Little Elizabeth."

Negro Confesses He Drove Bandit Auto

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22—(P)—Major Smith, a negro, confessed to police today that he drove the automobile used by two negroes in the holdup of the Ecorse State bank of Ecorse last Thursday. He refused to name the two negroes who held up the band as he waited in the automobile.

The confession followed the discovery by police of a note written by Smith, in his home. The note instructed the woman and her mother to testify that he was in the latter's home when the holdup took place. Smith's wife had already made such a statement to an assistant prosecuting attorney. Police say Smith tossed the note out of a prison window to Ben Brady, a negro, who was employed at a parking lot across the street from the county jail. Brady has been arrested on a charge of obstructing justice.

The bank was robbed of approximately $7,000.

Recover Body from Debris of Building. Los Angeles, Aug. 22—(P)—With one body recovered, rescue squads were digging into the debris of a two-story rooming house and store building which collapsed on Central avenue here today in the belief that three other lives may have been lost. Five injured were taken to hospitals.

The body of A. Accosta, a laborer, was removed from the wreckage shortly after the collapse. Investigators of the fire department attributed the accident to excavations being made for a basement in an adjoining lot, which weakened the building's foundation.

There were unverified reports that two roomers in the building had been trapped and that pedestrian had been buried when the structure crumbled.

He pictured Chaplin as a dutiful husband and father and as a man whose purse was the object of attack.

"Who steals my purse steals trash," McNab quoted from Shakespeare in drawing a parallel "but he who steals my good name takes that which cannot enrich him but makes me poor indeed."

Mrs. Chaplin came into court with her mother, Mrs. Lillian Spicer.

She was smartly attired in black silk, dark bob-haired style hat and a big white fur choker.

Heeded Doctors. The plaintiff testified that she left her husband on advice of physicians when her condition was "hysterical" because of cruelty. During the four months she remained away from him, Chaplin called on her about once a week. During that time he took her to dinner twice.

"Did he take you out at all?" McMurray asked.

"Very seldom and then he would say he was taking me out for appearance's sake only. He used to say that even before I left him."

She testified of a month's trip to Colorado near San Diego during which Chaplin did not visit her. She remained on Santa Catalina island for a month and no calls came from the comedian. Then she told of the trip to Honolulu which preceded the final break; of the party of friends which Chaplin demanded she dismiss and of her leaving for her grandparents' home.

Two Girls Testify. Two girls friends and her mother followed her to the stand. Only a few words came from each of a corroborative nature.

Judge Guerin then announced he would formally grant the decree after a 10 minutes recess during which he would examine the property agreement. The settlement terms were ratified when court reconvened and the decree formally entered.

Italian Entries in Balloon Race Here

New York, Aug. 22—(P)—Italian entries in the James Gordon Bennett cup races, starting in Detroit in September, arrived here today with their two balloons on the liner Roma. The teams consist of Lieut. Col. Ugo Medori, Lieut. Col. Domenico Leone, Col. Aldo Beghi, Capt. Eraldo Fiavi and Annibale Gelato.

The Italian airmen will remain in this city until their balloons are shipped to Detroit when they will leave for the west to make preparations for the balloon races.

During the work attendant to the completion of plans for beautifying The Ed. Erickson store front, the main doors may at times be blocked making entrance at that point inconvenient. During this week egress to the Ed. Erickson Co. store may be made through the side entrance on Eighth Street or through the Ludington Street entrance of L. A. Erickson Co.

The erection of the new front will in no way hamper the interior activities of the store. New Fall merchandise will make its bid for public approval as rapidly as shipments are received.

'Y' SECRETARY LAUDS ROTARY

Visitor in Escanaba Is Speaker at Club Meeting Monday.

That Rotary, in its application and practice, is one of the revolutionary inventions of the day, making the world a better place in which to live, was the statement made yesterday before the Escanaba Rotary club, at the regular weekly meeting of that organization, by Lyle O. Arnel, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at Topeka, Kan., and a guest in this city of Rev. John Crippen Evans, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church.

The speaker compared the development of a world fellowship of business and professional men in Rotary, to the modern investigations of recent years, annihilating space and bringing the people of the world closer together than they have ever been before. He spoke of the advantages of the new conditions and stressed the responsibilities that are developed with them. He referred particularly to the need for the guidance of boys through their formative years.

Mr. Arnel argued that the Rotary club of Escanaba should assume its place with other clubs of the world in formulating and perpetuating a boy's program for the benefit of the youth of this city.

Here's a Welshman Who Speaks Only the Welsh Tongue

London—David Jones, of Triael Blaenpennal, Llanllan, Cardiganshire, has proved that there is at least one Welshman who can speak only Welsh.

Jones, brought before the King's Bench Division in London, began giving his testimony in Welsh, to the confusion of the court. He failed to understand questions put to him by the judge, and a Welsh interpreter had to be called.

Of recent years there has been a concerted revival of the Welsh language throughout Wales, but hitherto Londoners have been unwilling to believe there are Welshmen who know only the language of their fathers.

Germany, in 1926, regained her pre-war status as the greatest steel exporting nation in the world. In that year, Germany exported 4,824,000 tons, while the United States exported 200,000, 000 tons.

ROADS ARE WATCHED FOR CORN-BORER

Patrol Main State Highways in Michigan.

Lansing—Thirty-nine control points have been established on the roads of Michigan at which inspection of traffic will be made to prevent the carrying of the European corn borer from the infested areas into non-infested territory. On the more important roads the watch will be continued night and day; on the others for all but a few hours between midnight and dawn.

Roughly, the quarantine draws a line from St. Joseph county through Kalamazoo, Calhoun, Eaton, Ingham, Clinton, Gratiot, Midland, and Bay, ending on Saginaw Bay north of Bay City.

In St. Joseph county the one control point is on United States road No. 112, where six men will keep a night and day watch.

Kalamazoo county will have control points on U. S. 131, both north and south; U. S. 12 and M. 43 of the national and state number roads. Control points will be placed on Oakwood, West Main street, Revine road and the River road.

In Calhoun county the control points will be on M. 37, M. 50, M. 78, M. 79, and U. S. 27. The Bellevue and Marshall road to the Springport road to Jackson will be guarded.

The County line between Ingham and Eaton has been made the control point on M. 16, M. 27 and M. 39, while U. S. 27 will be guarded at the Ingham-Clinton line. M. 21 will have its guards at the Clinton-Shiawassee line. Other control points along this line will be on the Onondaga-Eaton Rapids road, the Plains road, and the Aurelius road to Eaton Rapids; the Eaton Rapids-Diamondale road; the Kingsman's grove-Eaton Rapids road, and the River road.

The old Dewitt road in Clinton county, the Turner street, Gunsonville and the Park Lake road are the Clinton roads to be guarded.

In Shiawassee county, M. 78 will be watched at Laingsburg, and other points will be established on the Perry-Bath road and the Owosso-Elsie road. The one control point in Gratiot is on the Ridge road, but M. 45 is watched at the Saginaw-Gratiot county line.

On the northern and U. S. 10 and M. 20 are watched at the Bay-Midland county line, and U. S. 23 at a point north of Bay City. Control of the different camps is in the hands of three supervi-

IN NEW YORK

New York.—Since most of New York is made up of one-time residents of the "rural" sections, any amusement that recalls the simple diversions of the past is eminently successful in this town.

And those who did not come from "the sticks" know so little of what goes on "out there" that they look about at the slightest suggestion of "something hick." In fact "hick" and "yoke" are two of the pet phrases in their vocabularies.

Hence all Broadway is stirred up at this moment by the announcement that an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company is being imported to the "big street."

The wise scouts went right into the tent show belt to secure their company and, there selected a "tent outfit" that has been playing the country towns for many a year.

And so the youngsters brought up on the sidewalks of New York will have their first chance to see a real, bona fide Uncle Tom parade, with bloodhounds and little Eva and Lawyer Marks—a sight as familiar as a haystack to any youngster brought up in the great open spaces.

New York youngsters know little about parades. Those that they see are of the "bigger and better" manufactured variety, with silk hats in carriages and plenty of "soup and fish." The sort of circus that has parades does not play Manhattan. Nor do minstrel troupes and other parade-vending amusements.

The boyhood thrill of the silk hats and the blowy bands is unknown to them.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" hasn't appeared in Manhattan for 50 years. Not a single youngster in a generation has enjoyed his country cousin's annual kick as Eliza crosses the ice, with baying bloodhounds at her heels.

What is a commonplace in any small town, thus becomes an event to the metropolis. Sophisticated journalists draw cartoons and newspapers give columns.

Some day I'd like to see New York, J. W. Enright, for the southern part; William H. Crafts, for the central part, and H. G. Rowden for the northern area of the restricted zone.

York youngsters turned loose at a real old-fashioned Fourth-of-July celebration. Or allowed to roam the vast and charming vistas of a country fair.

And, by way of reversal, I should like to see the barefoot lads of the far-away lanes stand with mouths agape at the myriad lights that the roadway street gamins have seen so often that they are oblivious to them.

"Whatta kick!" says the rural visitor as he looks along Fifth Avenue or Broadway.

"Whatta kick!" says the New Yorker as he comes back from a jaunt through the open spaces.

And there you have the whole story!

—GILBERT SWAN.

Daly, president of the American Geographical society, brought back a number of cuttings from the willows which surrounded Napoleon's grave at St. Helena, and planted them in America. They flourished there and grew to a respectable size. It is one of these trees that Reynolds has given to France through the American Embassy.

The PENNY PRINCESS by Anne Austin

CHAPTER XXIX A masked man sprang upon each of the running boards of the roadster which Schuyler Smythe had stolen for his elopement with the girl he believed to be Vivian Crandall. In the dim light their eyes glinted weirdly through the holes in their black masks.

"What does this mean?" Schuyler Smythe quavered. "A hold-up?" His teeth chattered on the words.

"Hold-up is right, buddy," the man who was crouching over Schuyler laughed shortly. "Give me the keys to that car—and make it snappy! Climb out, lady! We're not going to hurt you if you do as you're told."

Vee-Vee felt more like laughing than screaming as she obediently climbed out of the roadster. "I've never been in a hold-up before," she beamed. "It is a thrilling experience, and I am only sorry that I am wearing no jewels with which to pay for my entertainment. These jade earrings are worth not more than $25, unfortunately."

"That'll do!" snapped the man who was standing guard over Schuyler Smythe. "You can't get the car of ours. And no monkey business, either. You escort the lady, pardner." He motioned toward the other man with his drawn pistol.

"Vivian!" Schuyler Smythe called in an agonized voice. "Run for your life! They won't dare shoot!" "Oh, won't we?" the man by his side chuckled.

"Where are you taking Miss Cran-Miss-Cameron?" Schuyler sputtered, but he made no effort to get out of the car and follow her. "Don't you wish you knew?" the masked man mocked him.

"Don't worry about her, buddy. Your sweetie's going to be safe enough, if she behaves like a good girl. Somebody'll come along after a while and rescue you, sheik. But don't make the mistake of giving a passing car the high sign for at least half an hour, see? Not that we'll need that, my partner and me, but we don't like to be hurried, especially when we're out driving with a pretty girl."

As Vee-Vee took her seat in the tonneau of the sedan, closely guarded, she still felt strangely free of fear. It was certain that they would not take her back to the Minnetonka or anywhere near it. If they were merely highway robbers they would turn her loose when they had satisfied themselves that she had only $10 in her vanity case and no jewels of value on her person. But—if they were bandits, why hadn't they gone through Schuyler Smythe's pockets? He certainly looked like a gentleman of means, and they undoubtedly knew that he was a guest of the fashionable Minnetonka hotel.

A sudden thought made her turn faint, wiped the mocking, unconcerned smile off her beautiful mouth. "Are you detectives?" she asked.

"Detectives? Hey, pard, that's good! She wants to know if we're detectives!" the man she had addressed sang out to the one at the wheel.

"Sorry miss, but we ain't detectives—that is, if you'd like to meet up with a detective or two."

"No," Vee-Vee laughed with relief. "I much prefer bandits to detectives. But don't you think it would be wiser to take off your masks? If a passing car flashes its headlights at you, you'll be in a new situation, unless you can convince the occupants that you are protecting yourselves against influenza germs. You know," she added, in a cheerful, conversational voice, "I've always believed bandits wore masks only in detective novels. It's a pleasure to find out I'm wrong. I never expected such an exciting end to a perfect day."

"You're a good sport, miss," the man beside her laughed, as he raised his hands to unknit the black handkerchief. "Me and my pardner ain't much on looks, nothing to compare with that sheik of yours, but I'm afraid you've got to take us, since you can't leave us alone."

Vee-Vee laughed politely as she studied the face which the man beside her revealed with the removal of his mask. In the faint light it was hard to distinguish his features clearly, but she saw that he had a face as round as a tonight. No, lady, pipe down and be nice! Ain't no use pulling that gag on us! We know our onions! She saw then that it was quite useless to try to convince them. No one would believe her, no one had believed her from the first. She lay back against the cushions of the stolen sedan—she had recognized it as belonging to Mrs. Fowdick, a fact which seemed faintly ironic to her, though she could not have said why—and closed her tired eyes. "Don't cry, lady," the moon-faced man urged with rough kindness. "We ain't going to hurt you. All right, pardner. This is the lane where we turn in. Or shall we leave the car here?" "Leave it here, I guess," the driver grunted, as he killed the engine. "All right, step lively, miss. Ever been up in a sky buggy?—But I guess an airplane ain't no novelty to you. Bring that bag with you, pardner," he called to the moon-faced man. "An airplane!" Vee-Vee echoed. Then, curiously, a little thrill of anticipation fluttered in her heart. She had always wanted to ride in an airplane, but she had never dreamed that the experience would come to her in this bizarre fashion. (To Be Continued) In the meantime, Schuyler Smythe gets back to the Minnetonka, where an alarm has been raised over Vee-Vee's disappearance. Read the next chapter.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

TEMPORARY RELIEF.

While the Escanaba city administration has shown both a commendable spirit and energy, in seeking at least a temporary solution of this city's sewage disposal problem, the work now being carried out in connection with the present plant cannot be accepted as an all time remedy. It is in the nature, rather, of temporary relief from an intolerable condition and does not mean that the city manager and officials must continue to give to this problem their closest study until a permanent sewage disposal program can be worked out.

The immediate problem facing city officials was the development of plans that would permit the present plant to handle Escanaba's sewage flow with some degree of efficiency and eliminate the highly offensive odors that have hung over the vicinity of the plant for several months. It is believed that work now being carried out will completely do away with the odor nuisance and will also permit the plant to operate more efficiently than it has in the past.

Eminent sanitary engineers, consulted by the city, unanimously agree, however, that Escanaba's sewage disposal problem will not be permanently solved until the sewage treating plant is moved well outside the limits of the city. Such was the recommendation made to the city in the Hoad, Decker report, received by the municipality after a lengthy and thorough investigation conducted by that company in this city two or three years ago. It is admitted that such a program would call for the expenditure of a large sum of money and it is also admitted that Escanaba's finances are not at present in condition for such a burden, if the expenditure can be delayed with some degree of safety. It is believed that present work now in progress will meet the immediate situation but will not permanently solve the problem. The major program still remains to be faced.

THE MORBID SOUVENIR HUNTERS.

Psychologists have never explained and perhaps never will explain the peculiar twist of human nature which sends myriads of morbidly curious to the scenes of great disasters, to scenes of suffering. News from Bath, Mich., calls attention to the latest manifestation of this inexplicable complex. The residents of that little community are all too eager to forget the May-time tragedy in which a maniac placed bombs in the public school and caused the deaths of over forty children, but swarms of sightseers, insatiably hungry for sensationalism, sweep into the city on all occasions and will not let the mourner forget.

Whittling fragments from timbers of the wrecked school building, carrying off loose bricks, prying even into the houses of those families whose children were killed or injured in the explosion, the fly-minded curious

MAKING SPEED SAFE.

One of the rather unexpected advantages gained from the installation of automatic traffic signal lights now in general use has been a curbing of the speed mania on through highways. By timing the lights so that they operate progressively and permit traffic to move continuously at fixed speeds, they are serving the double purpose of making the slow-pokes step on the gas a bit, and forcing the sixty-mile-an-hour drivers to slow down if they wish to avoid shifting gears at every light.

AERIAL SIGNPOSTS ARRIVE.

The Federal Department of Agriculture's highway bureau is now at work putting up its uniform system of road markers to replace the hodgepodge fingerposts of confusion which could be found when each separate ball-wick marked its own cowpaths in its own distinct and individual manner. The department of commerce, apparently, is to prevent any such mixup in the tacking up of aerial signposts, for from the bureau of aeronautics in Washington there have been sent to all chambers of commerce instructions for a uniform system of marking aerial routes and designating the direction and distances to airports.

In putting up these aerial signposts, the department should have the fullest cooperation of every community. Fliers going over unfamiliar country have recently complained that their only way of making sure of their location was to fly low over towns and pick up the name from signs on railroad stations. This is hazardous for pilots and villagers alike, and definite airway markings will reduce the risks of flying considerably.

The costly business of remarking every road in the country is excusable and explainable on the ground that the problem was new and unforeseen, but there is no need for making the same mistake in charting the air.

Delegates to the Geneva naval conference concluded that nothing reduces cruisers so effectively as a war.—Omaha World-Herald.

LYRICS OF LIFE By Douglas Malloch

THE HAPPY. There's nothing as foolish as foolish fear. And nothing as smart as smiling. No word is wise if it starts a tear. Or cute if it brings reviling. The frowning face is not really wise. The voice that is cold and snappy. For only the happy are the wise. The truly wise are the happy. On the road of life there is more to find Than the things that we learn in college; A thousand thoughts may enrich the mind. But the heart has its store of knowledge. We must learn the world, we must learn its needs. We must study our human duty. For our kindly words and our helpful deeds Are all that will give it beauty. There is much to learn: I would like to know The worth of the things around me. Perhaps the things that I value so. Are the poorest things I have found me. I would like to learn as the road I went. Learn more than the books and chatter. As I walk the world I would learn content— Then none of the rest will matter.

LAWYER FLAYS COURT SYSTEM

H. Clancey Outlines Plan for Reform of U. S. Procedure.

Characterizing the habitual criminal as "a rat who deserves no more sympathy than any other vermin," and declaring that the place for him is "either eternally behind prison bars or at the end of a hemp rope," James H. Clancey of Detroit, former Escanaba attorney, pleaded with the Kiwanis club yesterday to help in the nation-wide campaign to simplify criminal court procedure so that "justice and common sense can find its way, once more, into American courts."

The criminal class constitutes less than one per cent of the country's population, Judge Clancey said. "There is no reason why society should compromise with him, make terms with him or give him a quarter. The mass of technicalities, arising from a worn out and cumbersome common law have made it possible for crime waves to flourish and small groups to terrorize whole communities of law abiding people."

Seven Years Delay. "We are hearing a good deal about Sacco and Vanzetti these days," said Judge Clancey. "Seven years have dragged themselves out since these men were arrested. The delays, the red tape, the handling of this case in general has made us a joke in the eyes of every other civilized nation. There is no reason why the case should have dragged seven years. But it isn't unusual in this country. In any other country, if the men were innocent they would have been freed; if they were guilty they would have been executed. No one whose name on earth could be thought of as happened."

"The whole terrible mess is chargeable, entirely, to the lawyers and to the courts themselves."

"Why, down in Illinois, the chief of counsel for Birger, the Williamson county bandit, is bragging that he has defended 181 men for murder and has never lost a case. Think that over! And remember that it is every probable that all of his clients were guilty."

Campaign Progressing. "It is such conditions that caused Mr. Clancey to quit the practice of law and devote all of his time to his campaign for reforms of court procedure," he told the club members.

"The campaign is making progress," he declared. "There was a time when it was regarded as a sort of radical on this subject. Many lawyers and judges told me so. But I have not said a single thing that has not been reiterated by such lawyers as William Howard Taft and Elihu Root who, in a report to the American Bar association, declared that: 'The common law in America prevails exclusively. It serves no purpose save to defeat the ends of justice and make the law a reproach and a mockery.'"

"Oh, of course the lawyers and the judges generally, are opposed to reforms. They regard the litigation of this country as their business. Well, it isn't. It is the business of the litigants. It is your business."

"Every successful criminal lawyer in this country dictates the testimony—true or false—which his client gives. How can the facts compete with such tactics? And remember, when a guilty man is freed, society has committed another crime. That's where the public gets into this fight. Society has a right to protect itself from the criminal—and from the criminal's lawyers."

Wipe Out Pleadings. "What we propose to do is to wipe out entirely the system of pleadings. Such pleadings, if any, as shall prevail, shall be authorized by the judge who shall draw them up and be responsible for them."

"Borrowed our system of pleadings from the English courts. They have repudiated every thing in our present system of pleadings. The result has been that England has much less crime and a much higher percentage of convictions."

Judge Clancey reviewed, briefly, some of the happenings when he was a young lawyer in Escanaba, nearly 40 years ago. He served as prosecutor of Delta county, as city attorney, and enjoyed an extensive law practice in this city. He has been in the lecture field for the last five or six years.

Suicide Attempt by Gladstone Man Proves Failure

Apparently tired of life, Tony Katiek, age about 45, of Gladstone, attempted suicide by slashing his throat with a pocket knife Sunday evening about 6 o'clock.

Little is known of Katiek except that he had been living near the "Skeleton" road at the base of the bluff. Passers-by saw him near highway M-35. Blood was streaming from his throat. Members of the Gladstone police force were called and the man was rushed to St. Francis hospital where the wound was dressed and sewed. He was resting easily yesterday.

Katiek has been acting in a rather peculiar manner it was learned. He was committed to the state hospital at Newberry where he will be taken this morning.

FAIR MANAGERS GATHER TODAY

Many Important Topics to Be Discussed by Board.

Members of the board of directors of the Upper Peninsula State Fair will meet at 11 o'clock this morning in the Delta hotel here to consider a wide range of topics in connection with the plans for the first annual upper peninsula exposition to be held in Escanaba next year.

One of the chief items of business will be the detailed recommendations for enlargements, improvements, alterations and repairs, made to the executive committee recently by Fred Chapman, manager of the Michigan State Fair at Detroit. Mr. Chapman made a careful survey of the grounds and improvements here and offered many concrete suggestions for their betterment. These suggestions, it is predicted, will be recommended to the board by the executive committee and immediate steps towards carrying out many of them are expected to be authorized.

The election of a secretary-manager of the fair will be another matter to receive the board's attention.

August A. Lundgard, of Cornish, chairman of the board, declined yesterday to make any predictions as to what might take place. "I am not at liberty to discuss any possibilities," he said, "until the entire matter has been threshed out by the board."

The directorate consists of one representative of each of the fifteen counties of the peninsula.

Jersey Cattle Men and Families Will Meet at Picnic

All Jersey cattle raisers and their families of Delta county are invited to attend a meeting and picnic to be held Wednesday, August 24, on Mrs. Andrew Johnson's farm at Ogontz. H. E. Dennison, field agent for the American Jersey Cattle club, will be present and will address the group on the Jersey breed.

This is Mr. Dennison's annual visit to this section of the peninsula. Last year he met each Jersey cattle raiser individually but it is believed that the meeting will be more beneficial as questions of a wider range gained through experience in handling the breed may be discussed.

The farmers and their families are to bring their own lunch which is to be served at noon. Coffee will be served at the farm.

NEW FLAVOR.
If you will add Gruyere cheese, instead of just plain cooking cheese, an egg souffle will achieve an exotic, tantalizing flavor.

SOCIAL

Surprise Party.
Alfred Holland was pleasantly surprised at his home, 208 North Fifteenth street, Saturday night when a group of relatives and friends gathered to honor him on his birthday anniversary. Cards were played. Prizes were awarded to the following: Mrs. William Reiffers, first; Antoine Roberts, second; Miss Josephine Reiffers, third; Emil Derouin, consolation. Mr. Holland was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Celebrate Anniversary.
In honor of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Swanson, twenty-nine of their friends surprised them at their home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Swanson received many exceptionally useful gifts. The large crowd played cards and enjoyed varied amusement throughout the evening, after which a lunch was served. Mr. Swanson was presented with a large, hand-made metal star, signifying the tenth wedding anniversary celebration and his holding the office of Delta county sheriff.

Those who were present are: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer LaPlante, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. George Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Backenham, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bourdelais, Mr. and Mrs. John Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Greenhaus, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Villiers, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Salvo, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William Champney, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breault, Mrs. Ira Farrell, C. ### GIRL INJURED BY AUTOMOBILE

Child, Aged 5, Struck by Car on Stephenson Avenue.

Miss Dorothy Doucet, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doucet, of Toledo, Ohio, formerly of Escanaba, lies in a critical condition in St. Francis hospital from injuries sustained when she was run over by an automobile in the 800 block on Sheridan road Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

The large sedan which hit the little girl when she ran out into the street was driven by Charles Olson, 227 North Twentieth street, Escanaba. Testimony submitted by two eye-witnesses in addition to that of the little girl's mother, completely exonerated Olson of any blame.

The little girl had been playing near an automobile parked in front of a residence at 830 Sheridan road. Without warning she ran out into the street, with the Olson car only a few feet away. Olson was unable to avoid hitting her. He stopped his car within a few feet after two wheels of the heavy sedan had passed over the child's body. Olson ran back to get the unconscious child who had been picked up by her mother. She was taken to St. Francis hospital where it was found that she was suffering from a fractured skull and injured kidneys.

Mr. and Mrs. Doucet are guests at the home of Miss Lena Finstrom during their stay here. Mrs. Doucet was formerly Miss Alma Finstrom of Escanaba.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
In the film version of Tolstoy's "Resurrection," which will be shown at the Delt again today and Wednesday, every human emotion described in Tolstoy's immortal classic of love lost and regained is depicted in pantomime. Rod La Roque is the star and Dolores del Rio the featured player.

Edwin Carewe, director, was assisted by Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of the author of "Resurrection," in filming the classic novel. The joyous, care-free spirit of youth is to be found in the opening sequences wherein the Prince falls in love with the peasant ward of his aunts, and before the first reel is over that white love has turned to purple passion. Then in rapid-fire succession come despair, abandonment, buoyant humor and utter indulgence, life, death, spiritual rebirth following vile degradation, imprisonment, exile, bitterness and yearning, sacrifice and "Resurrection" itself. The gamut of emotions through which Blanche Walsh on the stage and Mary Garden in opera have swept in the part of Katusha Maslova is now the course of Dolores del Rio in "Resurrection," while Rod La Roque loves and leaves and loves again in the dramatic role of Dmitri, the part which Sir Herbert Berghom-Tree created in London in 1903.

AT THE STRAND.
The patrons who like their thrills served "hot" will enjoy the treat in store for them at the Strand today when they see "Roaring Fire."

The story from the pen of A. B. Barringer, is a melodrama which contains romance, villainy, humor, pathos, drama, thrills and plenty of action.

When Paddy Flynn drives his horses in a race against the new, motorized fire apparatus and all but wins, you will be gripping the edge of the seat in your excitement.

The star cast includes Alice Lake, Roy Stewart, Lionel Belmore, Spottiswoode Aitken, Bert Berkley, Raymond Turner and Calvert Carter. The picture was produced and directed by W. T. Lackey.

Jail Attendance Records Broken

All attendance records in the Delta county jail for any single night in the month of August were shattered Sunday when 27 prisoners were looking out through the bars.

An unusually large crop of weekend drunks and drunken drivers, awaiting arraignment, filled the bastille almost beyond capacity. The men behind the bars were charged with law violations ranging from plain drunkenness through wife desertion, and drunken driving.

After 2,000 Miles Iso-Vis Body Unchanged

The letter below tells a story of motor oil performance that is no longer unusual. Iso-Vis has set a new standard.

Whatever oil is used it is good practice to check the oil every one hundred miles and keep the crankcase at least three-quarters full.

With Iso-Vis in the crankcase you need change the oil only once in a thousand miles. If your car is new and equipped with an effective oil filtering device, draining the crankcase once in two thousand miles is sufficient.

Iso-Vis gives such unusual performance because it is a constant viscosity motor oil. It does not lose its body. The writer of the following letter is one of the many thousands of motorists in the Middle West who have discovered this amazing and significant fact.

Attention Mr. C. W. Clements

My Dear Sir:
Having charge of the Radio Department of this Company, am on the outside most of the time. Travel through the country most of the time in all kinds of weather and over every kind of road. Recently I purchased a new Overland "Whippet" car, and since purchasing it have covered 2,000 miles.

It is in this connection that I am writing you. I want to tell you of the remarkable service I have secured in using your Iso-Vis Oil, having changed it after covering these 2,000 miles to find that it had not changed in body, and only showed one quart less than the original fill. All the time during this mileage the pressure gauge never changed, which speaks very highly for this wonderful product.

I will be very glad to recommend Iso-Vis to anyone that might desire information.

Cordially,
L. G. Eaton

It is a big satisfaction to examine Iso-Vis at the end of a 2,000-mile trip and find the body as good as it was at the beginning. It is definite proof that the motor has been protected from wear and tear—cushioned with oil—perfectly lubricated all the way. Your motor will have a longer and a smoother life if you use Iso-Vis.

PABST MALT SYRUP

THE SAME OLD NAME SINCE 1844

UNION MADE

Wood smoke —
fragrant pine —
sweet earthen oven

That wonderful flavor of the old-time Maine woods beans is now reproduced in BEAN HOLE BEANS

From the lumber camps of the Maine woods has come an old-time recipe for baking beans.

These beans were famous for their wonderful flavor—a flavor that caught the fragrance of pine forests, the tang of wood smoke, the sweetness of fresh earth.

They were baked in a peculiar way. The big iron bean pot, full to the brim, was buried deep in the earthen oven called the "bean hole" and there it cooked all night in a bed of burning pine wood.

Everyone who heard of these old-time "bean hole" beans wanted to taste their delights. But of course it was impossible to bake beans this way at home.

So a maker of fine food products began to try to reproduce that flavor. And he was successful! In Bean Hole Beans he has caught the very flavor of those original baked beans.

Have you eaten Bean Hole Beans? If not, you have a new pleasure in store. You'll say you've never known real baked-bean flavor before! Your grocer has Bean Hole Beans. Two sizes—medium and large.

MANISTIQUE IS WINNER OVER THE BUCKEYES

Assertions made by Manager A. J. Smith that he had the fastest baseball team in the Delta Schoolcraft league again proved correct on Sunday when the Manistique aggregation whipped Gladstone, 4 to 2, in a 10-inning encounter, said to have been the fastest league tilt of the season, adding another win to Manistique's broken string of victories.

The Buckeyes, acclaimed as the speediest team in the league, had Gibbs for their hurler in the Sunday matinee, while Bill Vassau, the reliable, tossed for the Smithsons. Vassau also proved himself a batter of no mean ability, when he hit a home-run in the second inning. Howland's two-bagger in the tenth brought in Vassau and Leonard, deciding the deadlock.

The lineup and box score is as follows:

REPORT AGED MAN MISSING; SEARCH WOODS

Search was renewed yesterday by officers of the conservation department and sheriff's forces of two counties for an aged settler reported to be missing near Shingleton.

According to information received by Sheriff J. M. Hewitt, the lost man went out in the wilds to pick berries, and did not return. He was thoroughly familiar with the section, and is believed to have met with an accident.

The searching party was increased yesterday by volunteers from the Shingleton district, in addition to the state trappers and other officers.

ELKS PREPARE FOR INVASION INTO FAYETTE

Elks of Manistique are earnestly urged to turn out tomorrow for the joint stag picnic of the Manistique and Escanaba lodges, to be held at Fayette. A half-day holiday is all that is required to get the full benefit of the big event.

Manistique cars leaving here at 11:30 or 11:45, fast time, on Wednesday morning, should arrive in Fayette by 1 p. m., just in time for the noon-day dinner which has been arranged for the inter-city gathering at the Fayette hotel.

About 10 cars are anticipated in the Manistique caravan. Those who haven't transportation of their own are advised to call H. L. Mead, exalted ruler, and they will be assigned to machines making the trip. Alleged soft ball players in the Manistique contingent should be prepared to play a game with the Escanaba lodge members, who have taken up the brass-bound challenge thrown out by the Schoolcrafters.

A tug of war, whistling contest and horseshoe tourney are on the program for the day. In both the first and last events, Manistique has the apparent monopoly, for Tony Buch is a past master in the art of pitching ringers, and as for the tug-of-war, the Manistique lodge has a half dozen men that are practically immovable. Included on the list are J. H. Van Dyck, A. C. Ludlow, John Schuster and J. J. Hruska. In the matter of horseshoes, it has been announced that Escanaba may discard their magnetic quoits, for only wood pegs will be used.

Manistique may acknowledge Escanaba's superiority in bowling both in throwing and pulling—no, Ah, No!

The invasion of Fayette promises to be a lively afternoon, and Manistique Elks are asked to take a half-day off and enjoy the opportunity for convivial recreation.

NEXT TUESDAY GALA EVENT ON HIGHWAY M-94

Commemorating the adoption of the Hiawatha road as a state trunk line highway, a committee of Hiawatha residents, in cooperation with business men from Manistique, is arranging a big celebration for next Tuesday evening, August 30, at the Hiawatha Grange hall.

"We just want to show our appreciation of the fact that we've got M-94 for keeps," declared one Hiawatha resident, announcing preliminary plans for the program next Tuesday.

A chicken supper, a la M-94, served by the good cooks of Hiawatha, will be the opening attraction of the gathering at 7 p. m., fast time, 6 o'clock standard-time, according to present plans. Selection of this hour will give Manistique residents ample time to motor out to the Hiawatha grange hall, about a half-hour drive, in time for the supper. After the supper, there will be a program, in which prominent speakers will take part.

The Elks of Manistique is cordially invited to take a trip over the new trunk line on this occasion and join the Hiawatha folks in their celebration.

GAS AND GROG COST DRIVER HIS LICENSE

Suspension of his driving privileges for a period of three months, together with a fine of $50 and costs, was the penalty paid by John Johnson, 35, of 730 Oak street, who pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

Johnson was arrested at Manistique Sunday by John Stephens, west side officer, and was arraigned before Justice W. A. McKinney Monday morning. He admitted the offense, and paid a total of $57.

Complaint was made against him after he had driven his Overland touring car from Deer street to the Gero golf course, narrowly averting a serious collision when he struck another car and bumped a fender. His operator's license has been revoked for 90 days under the provisions of the state law.

LEMONS WHITEN THE SKIN

Better than "Bleaches" for Freckles, Tan, etc.

The juice of two lemons squeezed into a bottle with Orchard White, will soothe sunburn, and clear up freckles, tan, discolored skin quicker than anything you can buy already prepared, and it doesn't cost you near as much.

Any druggist can sell you Orchard White, and it only takes a minute to mix it with the juice of two lemons.

Then you have enough to last you all season.

It makes a delightful lotion which you can put on your face, neck, arms, or hands at any time, and it will keep them nice and white. Mix a bottle now, so you will have it handy to use should your skin begin to turn dark, or rough.

MANISTIQUE WINS IN 10TH

Holland's Double, Scoring Two, Breaks Tie.

Gladstone lost a ten inning game to Manistique Sunday afternoon, the Schoolcraft county visitors winning 4 to 2.

The score was tied, 2 to 2 in the sixth and remained that way until the tenth when Holland's double, scoring two men ahead of him, brought in the winning runs. Gladstone still retains its lead in the league but yesterday's defeat brings in the possibility of a tie with the Independents of Escanaba. The score upset all hopes on the outcome of the game, fans looking for an easy Gladstone win in view of the 13 to 1 trimming the Schoolcraft team received at the hands of Gladstone two weeks ago.

The visitors scored first, bringing in two runs in the second inning. Williams singled, Vassau hit a three bagger scoring Williams and Vassau scored when M. Kircher threw wild to third.

Gladstone scored one in the third. Switzer singled, went to third on the catcher's wild throw to second when he started a steal and scored when the short-stop, Farley, missed A. Kircher's grounder.

In the sixth M. Kircher singled and scored on Buddy Gibbs' two base hit.

"William F. Girard, world's champion log roller, thrilled a large crowd at Sea Breeze park yesterday afternoon and evening, with an exhibition of trick and fancy log rolling. He was aided by George Glazier, former world's champion log roller.

"The pair appeared in a log rolling match in the evening for two out of three falls. Girard was victorious.

"The pair loop the loop, play leap frog and skip the rope while bringing a log at a furious pace, with all the ease of the same maneuvers on land.

"Girard weighs only 118 pounds, but his feet are deft and sure when he is in action.

New York, Aug. 22.—(P)—Price movements lacked uniformity in today's stock market but the general trade was held at strong levels. Trade centered largely in shares of corporations whose current earnings are favorable or hold prospect of special dividend action.

Except for the increase from $3.50 to $5.00 in the annual dividend in Hudson Motors, which was announced after the market closed Saturday, there was little closed business news over the week-end. Credit conditions continued easy with a plentiful supply of funds available all day at the renewal figure and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Estimate of new record high levels by U. S. Steel common at 155 1/2 and General Motors (old stock) at 235 attracted widespread attention. Although the recently proposed two for one stock split-up of General Motors has not yet been approved by stockholders, gossip is already current of a further stock distribution around the end of the year. At its top price today, General Motors old stock was up 4 points while the new issue moved up more than 2 points to a new peak at 120 1/2.

The delay in the marketing of the new Ford car is one of the reasons given for the revival of activity in the motor group. Chrysler touched another new high at 58 1/2, but lost all its gain. Hudson moved up more than 2 points but lost about half of the advance profit-taking. Rumors still persist of a merger of several small mergers this fall, but no official confirmation is available. Further weakness cropped out in the Yellow Truck issues, the preferred breaking 5 points to a new low while the common sold down nearly three points.

Among the many issues to reach new high ground were American Bank Note, American Telephone and Cable, Dupont, Goodrich Rubber, Kennecott Copper, Pullman (new), Washworth and Wright Aeroplane. On the other hand, American Cement sank to new low levels. Although the July railroad earnings statements now being published are expected to show aggregate net operating income well below that of the same month last year, good buying developed in the high-grade carriers.

Return of the Canadian dollar to parity after selling at a discount for some time, was one of the new features in the foreign exchange market. The principal European rates were slightly easier with demand sterling quoted around $4.85 25-32, and French francs around 3.91 13-36 cents.

Saint and Sinner
By Anne Austin

Cherry was on her knees instantly, her arms flung about Faith's waist, her frightened little face raised pleadingly. "Don't, Faith, darling! Don't be so frightful! I haven't done any wrong. I swear I haven't! If Chris was really spying on me, he saw nothing that could be used in court against me. I swear it, Faith! Glenn kissed me—yes, but they can't say I'm not a fit mother for my baby just because I let a man kiss me. Don't cry so, Faith, dear!" she begged, tears streaming down her own cheeks. "He'll lie, Faith answered dutifully. "He'll swear he saw more than—just a kiss. Oh, Cherry, Cherry! Why couldn't you be careful?"

"I suppose," Cherry confessed humbly, her defiance conquered for once, "that it's because I'm me, Faith. I can't be good and discreet, like you. And, oh, Faith, these last terrible, long months have been dreadful for me. You haven't realized, snug in Bob's love as you are—"
"Maybe I've realized more than you knew I did," Faith answered tremulously, her love for her sister rushing up in a hot flood. "Poor darling! If you've once known love, it's terribly hard to do without. I know that—now. But what's to be done, honey? What are your plans?"

Cherry's small face hardened. "When I tell the judge what Chris said and did that night, I'll get my divorce on mental cruelty all right. If the judge has an atom of manhood in him."
A knock on the door interrupted them. Faith rose from the bed, and called out with forced cheerfulness: "Just a minute, dear. There's some ginger ale in the ice box and a plate of sandwiches. You'd better eat something before you go to bed."
"Grand idea!" Bob sang out.

OLD MASTERS
I know a thing that's most uncommon;
(Every, be silent and attend!)
I know a reasonable woman,
Handsome and witty, yet a friend.

Not warped by passion, awed by a rumor;
Not grave through pride, nor gay through folly;
An equal mixture of good humor
And sensible soft melancholy.

"Has she no faults then (Envy says), Sir?"
"Yes, she has one, I must aver:
When all the world conspires to praise her,
The woman's deaf, and does not hear."

Tiger's Winning Streak Grows, Cop Double Header

BATTING ORGY BURIES SOLONS

Heilmann, McManus Home Runs in Second Tilt Big Boost

Detroit, Aug. 22—(AP)—Detroit's winning streak grew to 13 games today as the Tigers defeated Washington in both sections of a double header, 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. Sam Gibson held the Senators to five hits in the opening half and deserved a shutout.

Both of Washington's runs were due to Pothergill's failure to hold McNeely's line drive in the fifth.

Home runs by Heilmann and McManus off Walter Johnson in the fourth inning of the second game, put the Tigers ahead after Washington had taken a two-run lead in the second game.

Heilmann with a home run, a double and two singles in his official six times at bat in the two games ran hit batting average to .390 or within three points of Simmons of the Athletics, the American League leader.

The big rightfielder drove out his home run in the second game when the bases were empty but McManus' homer in the fourth drove in Fothergill who had singled.

Put Tigers Ahead.

The three runs that resulted from the drives put the Tigers ahead and they clinched the verdict in the final inning, the fifth, when they grouped two hits and two errors for three more runs.

Hadley pitched the first game for Washington and lost through an error. McManus' double drove in two runs in the fourth and in the sixth the Tigers scored on Heilmann's double and Fothergill's sacrifice fly. Their last run came in the eighth on Blue's triple and Heilmann's fly to Rice.

When "Rip" Collins was removed from the second game in the third inning it marked the first time in seven games that the Tigers have changed pitchers. Collins was hit hard for seven of Washington's 10 hits during his three innings' stay. George Smith relieved Collins and held the Senators to three hits, without a run, as Johnson weakened.

Jack Tavener, the Tigers' much missed shortstop, made his first appearance in the lineup in over five weeks when he batted for Collins in the third inning of the second game. Tavener is still suffering from an injury to his right hand.

INDEES DEFEAT NAHMA, 9 TO 7

Locals Come From Behind to Win See-Saw Tilt

The Escanaba Independents defeated the Nahma team in the Delta-Schoolcraft Amateur League Sunday by a score of 9 to 7, the Indies coming from behind to gain their two-run margin in the eighth frame.

Tebo, on the hill for the visitors, pitched excellent ball for six innings. In the seventh, however, the Indies got to him for enough hits to score three runs and tie the score.

Burns twirled well but misplays on the part of his teammates, at several stages, were costly.

A feature of the game was a home run by Ranguette, Nahma's third baseman.

Babe Ruth hit his fortieth home run of the season with no one on in the sixth inning, taking the lead of one over Lou Gehrig in a race for distance clotting honors.

Jack Dempsey Sets Up Training Camp at Lincoln Field

Chicago, Aug. 22—Jack Dempsey moved bag and baggage to the quiet and expansive environs of the Lincoln Field race course today to settle down to the business of preparation in his quest of regaining the world's heavyweight championship from Gene Tunney in their battle at Soldiers' Field September 22.

By moving out to the race course training camp, Dempsey will have just a month to the day to whip himself into shape for the battle, for it is just a month from tonight that Dempsey and the champion will whale away at each other in the great memorial stadium.

Dempsey did no work today but busied himself in getting established in the living quarters at the clubhouse.

The outdoor ring has been erected on the lawn between the clubhouse and rail of the track, and when rain interferes Dempsey will work in a ring built in the grandstand.

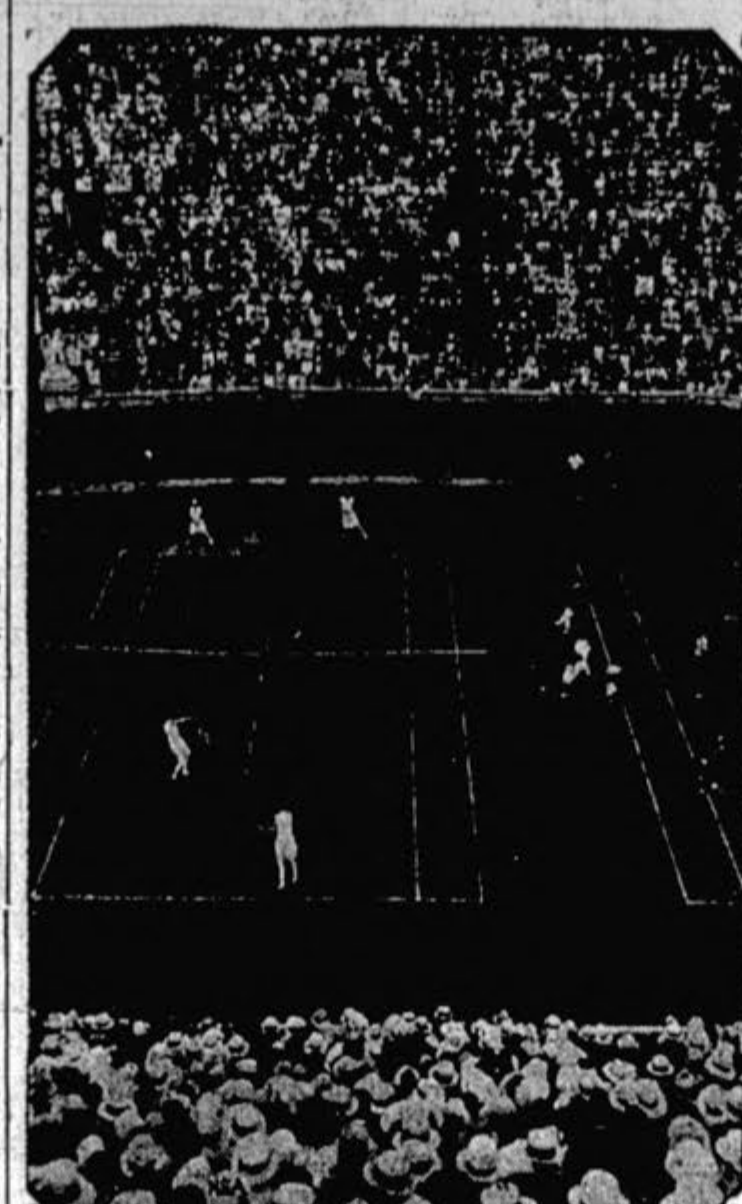

The former world's champion intends to start light training tomorrow with the gates closed to the public.

Boringer to Become U. of D. Grid Coach

Detroit, Aug. 22—(P)—"Bud" Boringer, last season's choice as all-American center of Notre Dame, arrived here today to assume his duties as line coach at the University of Detroit. His arrival is the signal for action and the announcement was made by Coach Dorais that he would issue his first call for football candidates Tuesday.

Coch Dorais expects to take at least 40 men to Camp Ozanam where the first practice is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 3.

Boringer, who received an almost unanimous vote of newspapers and sport writers for the center position on the mythical first squad last year, will train his linemen against his old mates who meet the U. of D. early in the season here.

A striking scene from the doubles match won by the American stars, Mrs. Wightman and Miss Wells, shown in the background.

HOPES REST ON SPEED

Manassa Mauler Is Staking All on Expert Foot-work.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

Los Angeles, Calif.—"If I catch Tunney in the ring, I'll knock him out."

That was what Jack Dempsey, past and future (maybe) heavyweight champion of the world, told the writer shortly before leaving here for his training camp near Chicago.

If the former champ's prediction is fulfilled, he will NOT defend with the crown. He will defend it at least once—maybe two or three times.

"I'm not an old man yet—I am only 32," declared Dempsey. "I should be good for at least two or three more years after I hurdle Tunney. And why should I retire when Tex Rickard will pay me anywhere from half a million to a million dollars a fight? Sure, I have all the money I need, but I pursue of that size aren't to be laughed at. I want another shot at Sharkey to erase the blot on my victory of a few weeks ago."

Dempsey Not Cocky.

Dempsey doesn't take after his namesake, Jack Sharkey, in being cocky. He is just confident that after the night of Sept. 22 he will again wear the crown which rested upon his head for seven years. Perhaps his confidence is not without reason either. Jack fought the ex-marine when the latter was at his best and he was at his worst.

"It will be a different story when the gong rings in Chicago," said the ex-champion. "In our last fight, Gene was fresh from several tough battles while I had a long lay-off. This time it's Tunney who has had the lay-off and I have a fight under my belt. I know Tunney can't hit hard enough to knock me out. That was proved at Philadelphia. And when I get past his defense he'll go down for the count."

It might be noticed that Dempsey didn't say "IF I get past his defense." He said "WHEN I get past his defense." There's no doubt in his mind that sometime during the ten rounds he will get an opening.

"In what round do you think you will knock him out, Jack?" I asked.

"I can't say what round it will be," he responded. "That would sound too much like Sharkey."

Condition O. K.

Dempsey is in excellent condition now. The cuts above his eyes, sustained in the Sharkey battle, have practically healed. He has gained about seven pounds weight which he explained will come off again as soon as he goes into intensive training.

His training here consisted of road work every morning, frequent golf games, gymnastics and occasional workouts, all with a view of speeding his work with sparring partners. Jerry the Greek, his trainer, keeps a watchful eye on the "champ" to make sure he doesn't get down too fine. The Manassa Mauler already is in fighting trim. All he must do is stay there, and improve his speed all he can.

In another few weeks, fight experts from the four corners of this United States will start picking the winner. They cast my vote now for Jack Dempsey on the ground that he is about four hundred per cent better than he was in Philadelphia and also that he knocked out Sharkey, a real good fighter.
