Hawaii Mountain Flares Sent Up by Flyers?

DEFENSE NEED MAY CONTROL SHIP PROGRAM

WRITER SEES POLICY AS REACTION TO PARLEY.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Aug. 23.—Although the Geneva conference was intended as a step to reduce armament, it may turn out so far as the United States is concerned that the entire question of shipping policy will be reopened on the basis of the needs of national defense.

Admiral Hillary Jones, president of the General Board of the Navy, wants a merchant marine developed as an auxiliary weapon, because the British have opened the eyes of the American naval men to the reliance placed by the British navy on merchantmen which can be converted into scout vessels and commerce raiders.

The contest between the school which advocates government ownership and operation and the school which wants private operation has been at times enlivened by considerations of national defense but the issue has been for the most part incidental.

Police Investigate Double Murder Case

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 23.—(P)—A double murder mystery was indicated to local and state police tonight with the discovery of blood stains on several articles of a woman's clothing found today in a covered lard can near the mouth of an abandoned mine shaft.

News Spurs Searching Crew

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—(P)—Phantom flares and hopes drew the efforts of the United States army and navy farther over the Pacific ocean today in search for the six men and one woman, lost in connection with the $25,000 Dole air race.

While seven destroyers were deployed along a 290-mile front across the great circle steamer lane between San Francisco and Hawaii and the airplane carriers Langley and the aircraft tender Aroostook sent out sea and land planes to scout an 80-mile patch of sea, army aircraft stationed on the Hawaiian islands were dispatched to search the slopes of Mauna Kea, on the island of Hawaii.

Several persons reported having seen a green flare rise and die out about 8,000 feet up on the rugged mountainside Sunday night.

Major Gen Edward M. Lewis, hearing the reports, ordered three of the army's De Havilland airplanes to leave Lake Field, Honolulu, today and search the island of Hawaii, using the Hale Maunau landing field, on Hawaii, as their base.

After ascertaining that no camping parties would be in the vicinity where the flare was seen, Capt. E. R. Block, commander of the Kilisea military camp, informed Major General Lewis of the light. It was deemed entirely possible that one of the Dole planes might have swung south of its course and unaware it had reached the Hawaiian chain of peaks, crashed against Maunau Kea, the loftiest peak in the islands, 13,900 feet high.

Injured, or marooned on a crag, the flyers could only call help with their flares.

Residents of Hilo also reported seeing the flares. So far as the navy's Hawaiian headquarters were concerned the search for the flyers ended today.

The submarine tender Holland and her submarines returned to Pearl Harbor, refueled, reprovisioned and waited. This left the Sunadin and Pelican, the only naval ships out.

This did not include, however, the destroyers and airplane carriers working eastward along the great circle about 1,700 miles out from San Francisco.

War-time scouting formation was being used by the triers of the sea in their search for life rafts or bits of planes that would indicate the fate of Miss Mildred Doran, John "Augsy" Badar, Lieut. Vilas R. Knops, Jack Frost or Gordon Scott, the air racers who failed to reach their objective after hopping off from Oakland, Cal., last Tuesday.

George E. Harvey, Delta county clerk, was elected secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula State Fair, by the board of directors, in session here yesterday.

Small Launch Tips, 11 Fishermen Drown

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 23.—(P)—Eleven fishermen are believed to have been drowned when their small launch capsized in a sudden storm which overcame them off this port.

SEEKS TO OUST TWO OFFICIALS

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 23.—(P)—A petition requesting the removal of Sheriff Joseph Kinsey and Justice Fred Schoepfer of Monroe county has been filed with Gov. Fred W. Green, it was announced today by Circuit Judge George W. Sample of Ann Arbor.

Charges of graft and neglect of duty are made against Sheriff Kinsey and Justice Schoepfer and also charges of drunkenness and blind pig operation and an attempt to bribe a member of the state police.

Both officials deny the charges against them. Sheriff Kinsey declared: "The whole thing is a bootleggers' plot. I have known about it for a long time and will have a lot to say when the time comes. I have sent a lot of bootleggers and rum runners to jail since I have been sheriff and have made a lot of trouble for them here. This is their way of getting back at me."

COOLIDGE SEES PARK'S BEAUTY

Travels Through Yellowstone, Wonderland of America. Yellowstone National Park Wyo., Aug. 23.—(P)—The grandeur of this wonderland of America surrounded President Coolidge tonight as he settled down in the picturesque Old Faithful Inn after a 50 mile drive into the heart of a region of unsullied nature.

His arrival at the Inn with Mrs. Coolidge and their son John was the signal for a long round of applause as they proceeded through the pine rattered lobby and again as the president set out after luncheon on a fishing expedition nearby.

In going to Fire Hole creek for a few hours of angling Mr. Coolidge again upset the carefully prepared program which called for an afternoon of sightseeing. Mrs. Coolidge and John, however, upheld this end of the itinerary.

The president did not put on the high rubber boots he wears when fishing in the Black Hills. He wore a dark grey business suit and felt hat. H. M. Albright, superintendent of the park, carried the fishing tackle and went to the creek with him.

For once, at least, Old Faithful lost its attraction for the hundreds of tourists who crowded the Inn. They waited instead in the large lobby for the president to appear and when he walked through the double line a burst of "hello" and handclapping greeted him. The road which the president and Mrs. Coolidge took to reach Old Faithful Inn brought them through a region of superb scenery.

On every hand towering mountains clad in pine or fir came in to view and now and then from out of the hillsides rose a wreath of snowy mist from the hot springs sequestered among the pines. Snow still was visible on some of the peaks.

The trail wound upwards as the day progressed, each hour bringing the president and his party closer to the continental divide which will be crossed tomorrow. The weather was perfect for such a trip.

DEFIANT MOBS HEAP HATE ON YANKS ABROAD

U. S. CONSULATE IN GENEVA FORCED TO CLOSE.

(BULLETIN) London, Aug. 23.—(P)—Forty persons, including four women, were injured tonight near the Marble Arch when mounted and foot police charged a crowd of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers endeavoring to form a procession in defiance of police orders.

What the sympathizers called a memorial meeting was held in Hyde Park and the trouble occurred when those who attended the meeting began to march.

Geneva, Aug. 23.—(P)—A heavy thunderstorm and drenching rain which started some time after 9 o'clock tonight, led to the dispersal, at least temporarily, of a large crowd outside of the American consulate here in protest against the Sacco-Vanzetti executions.

The building in which the American consulate is situated was completely occupied tonight by some 300 police and detectives. Beginning late this afternoon, the police made their headquarters at the stock exchange on the ground floor. Firemen attached two hose lines to a hydrant in front of the building.

With tonight, a big crowd slowly congregated some real manifestations as well as many curious bystanders. Suddenly the leading rioters began to attempt to force the police lines, shouting imprecations against the United States. A police captain called upon them to disperse. The challenge was refused, whereupon the police charged and arrested about a score. At the same time, firemen turned streams of water on the mob and caused it to fall back, but not to disperse.

In the meantime detectives, by questioning prisoners, got the names of some of last night's riot leaders, and mingling with the mob, picked up some men whose names had been mentioned. These were handcuffed immediately and led to the consulate building which virtually had been transformed into police headquarters.

The consulate was closed this afternoon as a precautionary measure when Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Switzerland, who is here for the international transit conference and S. Pinkney Tuck, American consul, agreed that it would be unfair to ask employees to enter and leave the building.

The police of the League of Nations as well as the American consulate was surrounded with a heavy police contingent and military forces which stood ready for a call.

The federal government at Berne, greatly agitated by last night's rioting when one man was killed and windows in the League of Nations palace were smashed, urged the Geneva government to call out the militia service to protect life and property at the same time hinting that it might send regular federal troops otherwise.

However, the Geneva government, on the promise of Socialist members of the local legislative body that the Socialist party would not join any anarchist demonstrations, decided to content itself by ordering the militia to hold themselves in readiness at their homes for instant call.

Dowagiac Editor on Conservation Board

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 23.—(P)—Harry H. Whitley, Dowagiac publisher and former state senator, was appointed a member of the state conservation commission by Governor Green today. He takes the place made vacant by the death of James Oliver Curwood. Whitley has been prominently identified with southwestern Michigan sportsmen's associations.

STORMS DELAY OCEAN FLIGHTS

Four Planes Strain at Leashes for Atlantic Hops.

Curitiba, Brazil, Aug. 23.—(P)—Fog, rain and wind from here to mid-ocean combined today to make any trans-Atlantic hop until the week-end extremely unlikely.

Four planes which hope before another month has passed to have traversed the airline to Europe were kept in their hangars during the day.

One of the four is ready for the ocean hop, the monoplane Old Glory, but there seemed little likelihood that it would get away either tomorrow or the next day.

The three others are Rene Fonck's Ville de Paris, now being assembled; Edward F. Schlie's Pride of Detroit, scheduled to leave tomorrow for Harbor Grace, thence to fly to London on a race against time around the world; and the Canadian owned Sir John Carling, here for instrument adjustments before attempting a flight from London, Ont., to London, Eng.

The weather bureau predicted fog, rain and winds of gale force between here and mid-ocean for tomorrow and said that on Thursday this area would be under the influence of the tropical hurricane that was developing today off the Georgia coast.

GAS GAUGE BREAKS Southampton, Aug. 23.—(P)—A broken gasoline gauge, discovered at the last moment, late today necessitated postponement of the hop off of Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, who plans to fly to the United States by way of the Azores.

Captain Courtney and his two companions in the projected flight had donned their flying suits and the plane had been filled with gasoline when the broken gauge was discovered.

It is probable that the flight will have to be put off until Wednesday.

ADDRESS EPISTLE TO SACCO'S LITTLE SON, DANTE.

Boston, Aug. 23.—(P)—The last letters of Sacco and Vanzetti written from the state prison death house the day before their execution, were made public tonight by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee. One, a joint communication signed by both men to the defense committee, thanked them for the seven year fight against execution, the other, a 500 word communication from Vanzetti to Sacco's nine year old son, Dante, was a message of explanation, farewell and encouragement to the boy.

The joint letter concludes: "Friends and comrades, now that the tragedy of this trial is at an end, be all as of one heart. Only two of us will die. Our ideal, you our comrades, will live by millions. We have won, we are not vanquished. Just treasure our suffering, our sorrow, our mistakes, our defeats, our passion for future battles and for the great emancipation."

"Be all as of one heart in this blackest hour of our tragedy, and have heart. Salute for us all the friends and comrades of the earth. Bid All Good-bye

"We embrace you all and bid you our extreme good-bye with our hearts filled with love and affection. "Now and ever, long life to you all, long life to liberty. Yours in life and death. Signed, "Bartolemeo Vanzetti. "Nicola Sacco."

Vanzetti's letter to Dante after explaining that his youth prevented a full understanding of the case at present continued: "I would like you to also remember me as a comrade and friend of your father's, your mother's and yours, and I assure you that neither I have committed no robbery and no murder, but only fought modestly to abolish crimes from among mankind and for the liberty of all."

"Remember, Dante, remember always these things: We are not criminals; they convicted us on a frame-up; they denied us a new trial and if we will be executed after seven years, four months and seventeen days of unspoken tortures and wrongs, it is for what I have already told you; because we were for the poor and against the exploitation and oppression of the men by the man."

"The documents of our case, which you and other ones will collect and preserve, will prove to you that your father, your mother, my family and I have sacrificed by and to a state reason of the American reaction. "The day will come when you will understand the atrocious sense of the above written words in all its fullness. Then you will honor us. "Now Dante, be brave and good always. I embrace you. "Yours. (Signed) "Bartolemeo Vanzetti. "P. S. I left the copy of the now for she will like to read it American Bible to your mother and she will give it to you when you will be bigger and I learn to understand it. Keep it for a remembrance. Good bye Dante."

ATTEMPTS AMERICA. Rome, Aug. 23.—(P)—The execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, says the Giornale d'Italia, "proves that the free democratic republic of the United States punishes by death in the electric chair political crimes, not hesitating to carry out its sentences even against the protest of the entire civilized world and even in the presence of doubt about the truth of the accusations and the responsibility of the condemned men."

The Tribune says: "What is most important is that this tragedy has been possible in a country governed by a so-called liberal and democratic system, despite long agitation in the name of liberty and democracy. "Democratic and liberal in theory, the United States desired to show that in practice it does not admit other laws than its own, not even the law of humanity."

Labor Organ Bitter. The labor organ, Lavora Italia, is particularly bitter against America, saying: "We have no resentment against the persons who consummated, or permitted this infamous crime, but we feel immeasurable contempt for the judges, the governor and others responsible, which repels us in disgust from a social system, which under the pompous name of civilization, retains all the worst out forms of barbarism."

While renewing its condemnation of acts of violence and intimidation, the Osservatore Romano

WEATHER

Table with weather forecasts for various locations including Upper Lakes, Michigan, Saginaw, and Detroit.

blames Governor Fuller for accepting the transference of the question. "From one of right and justice to one of prestige and political decorum," thus allowing violence to make the case one of politics, instead of justice.

"That the jurors at Dedham seven years ago condemned for political reasons is uncertain," says the paper, but it is incontrovertible that the final part of the dolorous tragedy unfortunately assumed this dangerous character, always fatal in facing and solving any problem serenely and objectively.

Warranted New Trial.

The Vatican organ intimates its belief that the passage of such a law in the seven years before execution warranted a new trial, even if the evidence seemed to show guilt.

"It is undeniable," says the paper, "that the public conscience which witnessed the death of the condemned men was very different from that which witnessed the trial. It had changed; it was disturbed by doubt. The social reason for condemnation was weakened. It was necessary that the entire act of justice be repeated—trial, sentence and execution—in order to be efficacious."

OMAHA'S GATES OPEN TO FLYER

Curfew Shriek as Chamberlin Makes Stop in West

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23—(P)—All whistles and curfews in the city shrieked their blasts today as Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic pilot, flew over Omaha, and landed at the municipal air field to be welcomed by city officials.

This was his first trip west since he made his famous New York to Germany hop. Chamberlin came here by train this morning from Shenandoah, Ia. He went to Fort Crook field, south of the city, and flew in an army plane to the north side where the airport is located.

Chamber of Commerce bands and speeches occupied the flyer throughout the day. Acting Mayor John Hopkins formally welcomed Chamberlin. Chamberlin called at the home of Mayor James A. Dahman who is recovering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Chamberlin was surprised to find that Miss Alma Christensen was the nurse in attendance. She and the flyer went to school together in Denison.

Boys Cheer Him

At the Masonic home for boys Chamberlin got fifteen "rahs" and a rousing cheer. The flyer told of his reception in various European cities and of the noted men he had met. He also told of his flying off the deck of the Leviathan.

"It's easy to learn to fly," he told the boys, "but it is difficult to land a plane, right side up."

Chamberlin, who carried the first passenger, Charles Levine, in an airplane across the Atlantic ocean, threw several sidelights on the character of the passenger who braced the flight and who now is in controversy with Maurice Drouhin, French aviator, concerning a return flight from Paris to New York.

Mrs. Levine, Chamberlin declared, knew beforehand that her husband was to go as a passenger on the flight, as did Mrs. Chamberlin.

"Levine had plenty of nerve," the flyer related.

Worried About Bills

"As a matter of fact—and this has not been told—he was much more worried about a large roll of bills which he had in his pocket than about himself."

"Before the take-off he had brought with him a large amount of money in bills which was to have been used to take care of his payroll. We were quite a distance out before he remembered that he had forgotten to leave the money behind. When he thought of it he shouted in consternation, declaring that he certainly hated to go down into Davey Jones' locker with all that money on him."

Lindbergh, Chamberlin said, was misnamed the flying fool.

"His trip was very, very well planned, down to the smallest detail," he said. "Lindbergh is a careful as well as a daring pilot."

Seek Dr. Johnson to Treat Ailment

London (P)—They are telling the story these days about an American tourist who asked a Fleet Street bobbie where he could find a doctor.

"Turn—up Hind-court into Gough-square," said the bobbie. "There is a doctor that lives there on the left hand side. I think his name is Johnson. I noticed the name plate one day as I walked by."

The tourist followed instructions and found the house indicated. On the wall was a name plate which read:

In smaller letters were the words: "Author, lived here. Born 1709, died 1784."

You can write your own wise-cracks about the equinoctial storms over Chicago on September 22.

March 4, 1789, was the day set for the opening of the first congress, but the inauguration of the government was delayed until April 6 before a quorum could be found and the votes counted which made Washington president.

GARY'S FAMILY GETS FORTUNE

Will Leaves $2,500,000 for Scholar Awards in Colleges.

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 23—(P)—The widow and two married daughters are principal beneficiaries under the will of Elbert H. Gary, former chairman of the U. S. Steel corporation, filed for probate at the county seat of his country home here today.

The will makes specific bequests of more than $2,500,000, including eight of $50,000 each for the establishment of "Elbert H. Gary scholarships" at smaller colleges and universities, and one of similar amount for maintenance of the Gary memorial church at Wheaton, Ill.

No definite indication is given as to the total value of the estate, which variously has been estimated at from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Having made the bequests and provided for division of the revenue equally between the widow and the daughters, Mr. Gary devoted an entire section of the 19-page document to giving to the beneficiaries sound advice gained from his many years in business. It is evident that the industrial leader, who died in New York City, August 15, sought to prevent the dissipation of the estate through unwise investments and unsound policies.

"I earnestly request my wife and children," he wrote, "that they steadfastly decline to sign any obligations of any kind as surety for any other person or persons; that they refrain from anticipating their income in any respect; that they refuse to make any loans except on the basis of first-class, well-known securities, and that they invariably decline to invest in any untried or doubtful securities of property or enterprise or business. They should reject any representations or opinions of others if involved in any doubt. They would be wise to take suggestions from only those best fitted to give such advice regarding investments."

Servants in the employ of the family are bequeathed $1,000 in securities for each 10 years of service. To Alfred George Fletcher, Mr. Gary's chauffeur, was given in addition $100 a year for each year of service.

Speaker Takes Hint of Wife, Cuts Talk

Philadelphia, Aug. 23—(P)—An usher mounted the stage at the Academy of Music today bearing a folded note. Passed from hand to hand it finally reached Secretary of Labor James J. Davis who as director general of the Loyal Order of Moose was delivering his annual report to the international convention.

"It's from my wife," he confided to the assemblage. "It says: 'Jim, you've talked too long—you've talked two hours, and the delegates are getting tired.'"

"Well, there's an easy way to get along—that's to do the way your wife tells you, and that way you can run your home the way you want to."

Barbers Lose Out in Race With Bobs

Paris (P)—French hairdressers are going back to school because fashions in bobs change so often they can't keep up with the procession without technical instruction.

Their national organization, meeting recently, heard the cry of the provincial hairdressers and decided to enlarge the apprenticeship and training system now operating only in Paris and a few large cities. Barbers from the country will be able, before long, to take short post-graduate courses in the capital, learn the newest wrinkles and by reason of better technical training follow quickly the changes that Paris dictates.

CHIEF'S OUT

Chief Flying Wolf of the Cheyenne Indians, landed at the Oakland (Calif.) airport in a biplane and tried to enter the Frisco-Honolulu race, feathers and all. His application was rejected, however, because he had no entrance money, no backer and a plane insufficiently sturdy for so long a hop.

Appeal Promised to Chaplin's Stewards

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23—(P)—An appeal from Judge Walter Guerin's award of $45,000 to W. I. Gilbert and Herman Spitzol, court receivers, for their stewardship of Charlie Chaplin's property during his marital troubles was promised today from Atty. Kenyon Lee, representing Lita Grey Chaplin.

As the order stands, Chaplin is directed to pay the receivers' fee, but the court was informed that a part of the $225,000 property settlement effected between the comedian and his wife, who yesterday was granted an interim custody decree of divorce released him from payment of more than $10,000 to receivers and obligated Mrs. Chaplin to pay the remainder.

On the request of Lee, Judge Guerin granted a stay of execution of the order for 15 days. At the same time the jurist took under consideration a request by Gilbert that the order for payment of the receivers be made a part of the divorce decree.

As matters were being cleared up in the divorce middle, Chaplin was said by his friends today to be preparing to slip away for a few days' rest. At the studio, it was said, no preparations had been made to resume the filming of "The Circus," interrupted almost a year ago by his domestic difficulties.

Smith Recommends Civil Service for Railway Employees

Detroit, Aug. 23—(P)—Placing of all employees of the municipally owned Detroit street railway under civil service will be recommended to the street railway commission by Mayor John W. Smith, it was announced tonight.

The announcement was interpreted as an endorsement of recommendations of Del A. Smith, general manager of the railway, who urged ousting of all non-citizens employed by the system, which has been concurred in by members of the commission.

The mayor said he believed the street railway should be operated the same as all other departments and that its workers should have the same protection as other employees receive through civil service.

Miss Rogers Admits Ramos Her Fiancee

New York, Aug. 23—(P)—Miss Millicent Rogers, the former Countess Salm, accompanied by her fiancée, Arthur Ramos, arrived here tonight on the liner Olympic.

"Absolutely!" was her emphatic reply when asked if she was engaged to Ramos. She declined, however, to discuss her future plans.

Ramos, who appeared tall, lean and bronzed, like the proverbial Englishman of colonial habits, was equally vague.

"Oh, we'll just hop in a cab and ride about a bit," he said.

With the former countess was her son, Peter, a nurse and a maid.

Neither Ramos nor the former countess had decided, he said, when and where they would be married.

Col. G. H. Rogers, the former countess' father, was not at the pier. Her mother still is in Europe.

DETROIT POLICE FIRE ON YOUTH

Visitor to Town Wounded Badly; Patrolmen Being Held.

Detroit, Aug. 23—(P)—Carl Woodward, 19 years old, of Korea, Va., was shot in the back and wounded by a policeman as he stood in the doorway of his hotel here today. He had been in the city less than half an hour when wounded. The patrolman, E. A. Berry, and his companion, Patrolman Joseph Yagus, are held on charges of assault with intent to commit murder following a police inquiry.

Woodward, who is in the Receiving hospital, declared he was standing in the doorway when the two patrolmen approached. Berry said: "I don't like your looks, boy. Go sit down." When Woodward declined to sit down, he said, Berry lunged at him, shouting, "I am a policeman," and struck Woodward in the jaw, knocking him to the floor. Several blows were exchanged before Woodward sat down in the hotel lobby.

Berry then followed him. Woodward said, and slapped him several times. As Woodward ran from the door, he was shot.

Police Inspector Louis Berg, who traced the patrolmen's trips through several blind pigs, prior to the shooting, declared both had been drinking heavily.

Desperado Carries Guns and Addresses of Wealthy People

New York, Aug. 23—(P)—A man whose pockets were said to have contained an assortment of dangerous weapons, and a notebook with the names and addresses of the Morgan and Vanderbilt families in it, was arrested early tonight in the Brooklyn-Manhattan subway near the Bowery station.

The man, who gave the name of John T. Netzel, 57, of Brooklyn, was charged with carrying dangerous weapons. Carrying a bundle, he was seen to leap from the rear car of a subway train by a guard who reported the occurrence to a detective in the next station, police said.

When arrested in the tunnel, Netzel could not satisfactorily explain possession of the blackjack, chisel, knives, torches and hammer, nor of the notebook he carried. Guards were unable to find the package Netzel is said to have had when he leaped from the train.

Pair Quarrel, Man Shoots Down Woman

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 23—(P)—Mrs. Hazel Badgerow, 34, is in a critical condition at Butterworth hospital and Joseph Rocker, 35, is being held at Central police station following a shooting in the northern part of the city tonight. A bullet, presumably fired by Rocker, entered the woman's back and passed through her body, coming to a halt just below the skin over her stomach.

Mrs. Badgerow had been receiving attentions from Rocker, it is said, and a quarrel between the pair is believed to be the cause of the shooting.

service, the mob call to be sounded by fire bells.

Woman Threatens.

Consul Tuck was walking among the manifestants last night when one of the women rioters approached him and shouted: "We wish to kill this American consul pig!" Mr. Tuck without losing his manner answered quickly: "Yes, he is a rascal," but then decided that prudence suggested he had better go home.

Two Americans, driving an American-made automobile, on leaving their hotel last night, found their car badly damaged, with the windows demolished and a mob surrounding it. They paused an instant, looked at each other, and then walked slowly to the automobile, turned on the lights and started the motor.

The crowd, taken by surprise by the calmness with which the Americans acted, made way for the automobile without even a murmur and the car was driven off slowly. Among the alleged rioters arrested tonight were four Italians, the rest being Swiss, some of whom came from points outside of Geneva.

The league officials today denied a report that the Woodrow Wilson memorial was demolished by the rioters last night. Officials said that the marble commemorative tablet which is on a garden wall overlooking the quay, is safe and intact and undamaged.

DID ALL POSSIBLE.

Torremaggiore, Italy, Aug. 23—(P)—Answering a telegram sent to Pope Pius by Michele Sacco, father of Nicola Sacco, through the president of the Catholic club in this town, Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary, replied by telegraph:

"The Holy Father received your telegram and has done everything possible with the competent human authorities."

Michele as well as other members of the Sacco family had hoped for clemency from Governor Fuller until the last moment, particularly since they were assured that there was possibility of last minute action.

Brother Gets News.

The aged father was sitting in a corner, quiet and motionless—as he has been for several days—when newspapermen came to the house this morning with news of the execution. The word was first brought to Sabino Sacco, a brother of the executed man, Sabino broke out crying and then ran sobbing to his father, who on seeing him started violently, realizing the truth.

Screaming inarticulately and trembling in every limb, the aged man finally managed to say: "They have killed my innocent"

DETROIT YEGGS IN PISTOL DUEL

Two Injured When Underworld Controversy Flares Up.

Detroit, Aug. 23—(P)—Rivals in an underworld feud shot it out in an apartment of a downtown hotel today with the result that Andrew Potts, 40 years old, and Oscar Bacon, 45 years old, are lying badly wounded in the receiving hospital here.

Potts, who was sought by police in connection with three feud killings, will probably die, physicians said. He was shot through the abdomen. Bacon was wounded in the right hand and a bullet passed through his right hip.

The police arrested Bacon's wife, who is held for further questioning, and confiscated six new revolvers, in addition to drugs, son, and then fell back into his chair weeping and muttering maledictions.

House Slowly Falls.

As Sabino related anecdotes of his brother's life, the house slowly filled with a throng. Every one kneeled as Sabino lighted a lamp which he placed in front of an image of the Madonna, some of the women breaking out in tears.

CREMATION ORDERED.

Boston, Aug. 23—(P)—The bodies of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, who were executed early today at the Charlestown state prison, will be cremated at Forest Hills, Boston, next Sunday, the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee announced tonight.

The ashes of Vanzetti will be taken abroad by his sister, Miss Luigia Vanzetti, who came to this country from Italy to visit him before his death. In making public these plans tonight, Gardner Jackson of the defense committee said final arrangements for the funeral had not yet been completed. A previous plan for exhibiting the bodies of the two men in various American cities had been abandoned, Jackson said, because it was deemed a "physical impracticability."

Instead, he added, funeral processions will be held on Sunday in various cities at the same time as the ceremonies in Boston.

mit in the spring and push the work through to completion in plenty of time for the fair.

The date for the fair will not be set until the annual meeting of the secretaries of the Upper Peninsula Association of County Fairs. Members of the board believe, however, that the third week in September would be an excellent time for it. No definite date will be set, however, until any possible conflicts with other fairs in the peninsula have been swept aside.

August Lundgard of Cornell, chairman of the board, presided at the session. Twelve of the fifteen members of the board attended.

Davis Hits One Man Control of L. O. M.

Philadelphia, Aug. 23—(P)—Radical changes in the executive policies of the supreme policies of the supreme lodge of the world, Loyal Order of Moose, to effect a revision of power and eliminate the dangers of a "one-man" organization, were proposed today by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, director general of the order, at its annual convention.

The proposal followed a review of the history and work of the organization and a plea for expansion that would place lodges in every country of the globe, contained in Mr. Davis' annual report. Action on the recommendation was expected tomorrow, when the annual election will be held.

STOP STREET SIGNS CHANGED

Chief Tolan Outlines New Regulations, Gives Reasons.

In observance of a new state ordinance which provides for the elimination of all arterial "stops" on state trunk highways, the signs have been removed from the west corners of the intersections of Fourteenth and Tenth streets with Eighth avenue and have been placed on the south corners of both these intersections.

This means that any motorist coming into Escanaba on highway US-41 from points south does not have to stop at the Fourteenth street-Eighth avenue south intersection and may go straight east on Eighth avenue across Tenth street without stopping at that intersection. The change, however, makes it necessary for all motorists going west on Eighth avenue to stop at both Tenth and Fourteenth streets.

Cars going north of Tenth and Fourteenth streets will stop where these streets are crossed by Eighth avenue. These stops were not required previously under the city arterial system.

Motorists going south on either Tenth or Fourteenth streets do not have to stop where they intersect with Eighth avenue as these are continuations of state highways.

The stop sign on the south side of the Fourteenth and Ludington street intersection is also being removed. This will mean that all motorists going either east or west on Ludington street enjoy the same privileges as before but that motorists going north on Fourteenth street do not have to stop when reaching Ludington street. Motorists coming south on Fourteenth street must stop at the Ludington street intersection.

Man On Right.
The rule to be followed in these instances where one arterial crosses another without necessitating a stop is that THE MAN ON THE RIGHT HAS THE RIGHT-OF-WAY. Chief of Police John Tolan said yesterday.

The green and red light system is to be installed at all three of these intersections next year or late this season. A strict enforcement of the arterial stop ordinance is to be made by the police department.

Many drivers have acquired the habit of slowing down but not coming to a full stop when they meet an arterial highway. After observing traffic conditions and seeing no approaching cars they go right on. "They are safe from accidents, usually," Chief Tolan declared, "but they are not conforming to the law which requires a full stop and we intend to curb the practice."

JIGGS-MAGGIE SHOW COMING

Current Edition of "Bringing Up Father" Due Here Aug. 31.

A new style of musical comedy has been established in the latest triumph, "Bringing Up Father in Politics" which is to be the attraction at the Delft theatre, Wednesday night, August 31.

The offering, as its title indicates is based on the famous cartoons of George McManus.

Millions of folks have been set a laughing through the antics and exploits of those famous, yet beloved characters—"Jiggs Mahoney," "Maggie," his termagant wife, and "Dinty Moore."

In this up-to-the-second vehicle this trinity of favorites will have plenty of scope to demonstrate their ideas of disseminating fun and adding brightness and joy to the world. "Maggie" has aspirations. She wants Jiggs to be either President, Governor, Mayor or hold some such high office within the gift of the citizens of these United States. So he enters the political arena assisted by "Dinty" who succeeds in upsetting Maggie's greatest dreams, but eventually contributing a satisfactory denouncement.

Laurium Woman Painfully Hurt in Auto Crash
Mrs. Albert Modrok, 424 Hecla avenue, Laurium, was painfully cut about the face by windshield glass when the automobile in which she was riding approached from a heavy truck crossing between Perkins and Trombley yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Modrok's husband was driving as he entered the curve and a heavy truck approached from the opposite direction. In attempting to avoid a collision with the truck, the Modrok car skidded and hit the railroad signal post.

Mrs. Modrok was taken to St. Francis hospital where nine stitches were necessary to close the wounds in her face. Her condition was not regarded as serious last night. Mr. Modrok was not injured. The car, badly damaged, was brought to an Escanaba garage for repairs.

During the recent visit of the Duke of York to New Zealand, the Maoris presented him with 18 carved canes.

Chicago is the real music sales center of America, not New York. And the sports that keep Tin Pan Alley going are such cities as Omaha, St. Louis, Denver, Kansas City, Des Moines, Toledo and other cities that enjoy a healthy home population. These are the places that really establish "a hit."

That goes for the publishing world and the movies as well. In the film industry the "big Broadway premiere" is a fine gesture aimed at giving a film "importance" elsewhere. Every big producing company has a Broadway theater for its outlet. After presentation on the big street, the usual announcement of "Broadway hit" is passed on. But what the producers are really looking for is "the small town hit." That's where their money comes from, and Broadway is merely a big billboard on which to advertise their wares.

Returning for a moment, to the intriguing local of Tin Pan Alley—the average impression is that this song capital of America is flooded with young men grinding out verses. True it is that most of the world tries to write a song, but there are not more than a dozen who rank among the prosperous "big names." Writing a song requires a different technique from any other form of scribbling and, however hackneyed much of the output may seem, it remains that a comparatively few seem able to turn out repeated commercial successes. James Walker, now mayor of New York, knew the trick and turned out best sellers.

It is interesting to note that young college men are among the leaders of the vanguard. There is, for instance, Florenz Hart, a "find" of a season ago. Walter O'Keefe, one of the stars on the Peet staff, came out of Notre Dame not so long ago. A bit of manuscript tucked in one pocket.

Melody writers, on the other hand, are common as speakeasies. There are perhaps a hundred of these to every lyricist.

—GILBERT SWAN.

IN NEW YORK

New York—You're always hearing about "New York hits." As a matter of fact, outside the theaters and phonograph records, there isn't really such a thing as a "New York hit."

Take popular songs, for instance. They're made in Tin Pan Alley, they're "plugged" by Broadway acts and they're ballyhooed from the "main stem," but the publishers actually are aiming at the tens of thousands of smaller cities elsewhere. The amount of music actually bought in Manhattan wouldn't keep a song act in cough drops.

Most of the New York population can't take time to play a piano. They buy a record or turn on the radio.

Harry Archer, who has written a dozen successful musical shows and is one of the "alley's" most prolific hit producers, tells me that he came from the thriving little town of Creston, Ia. His family sent him to Knox college, at Galesburg, Ill., and his compositorial success there attracted the attention of Princeton, which offered him a scholarship to come and write the annual Princeton production.

But he has never forgotten Creston in his success, which is why he is successful. For it is the Crestons of America that still play the piano.

Chicago is the real music sales center of America, not New York. And the sports that keep Tin Pan Alley going are such cities as Omaha, St. Louis, Denver, Kansas City, Des Moines, Toledo and other cities that enjoy a healthy home population. These are the places that really establish "a hit."

Miscellaneous Shower.
Miss Agnes Richer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Richer, 1111 First avenue south, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of her parents Monday evening. Miss Richer will be married the last of this month to Ruben James Marcoe of Hermansville.

A most enjoyable evening was spent in playing cards. Prizes awarded to those with high scores were turned over to Miss Richer. After the completion of the card games a lunch was served. Miss Richer received a number of pretty gifts from her many friends.

Gardner-Gagnon.
Miss Alice Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Gardner of Flat Rock, and Clifford Gagnon of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gagnon of Escanaba, were married Monday morning in Holy Family Catholic church at Flat Rock, Rev. Fr. Geynet officiating.

The young people were attended by Alfred Lebranche and Miss Hazel Ashley. Flower girls were Misses Blanche Boyer and Vera June Gardner, while the ring bearer was "Buddy" Gagnon.

The bride wore a gown of Nile green georgette trimmed with Spanish lace, with a picture hat to match. The bridesmaid wore pea green georgette with picture hat. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Gagnon home, and at noon a wedding dinner at the Gardner home.

The young people will spend a honeymoon in Milwaukee and Chicago. They will make their home in Detroit where Mr. Gagnon is employed.

Birth Party.
William MacMartin entertained at his home, fourteen of his friends in honor of his twelfth birthday anniversary. Games were played and a lunch served. The host received many gifts.

SALESMAN SAM

LABOR DAY

Labor Day is approaching. The Escanaba Trades & Labor Council has made extensive plans for the observance of the occasion and has invited the community, in general, to participate.
This invitation should be accepted. There should be plainly in evidence, the whole-hearted cooperation and friendliness which is vital to the forward progress of any city.

Labor Day is not a class holiday. It has been set aside in honor of all those who labor, and its purposes and its meaning embrace the business and professional man, the office and the salesman and the toilers in all lines of endeavor as well as those who belong to the various bodies affiliated with the central labor body here.

Observance of the real spirit of all holidays has been slipping in recent years. Citizens have settled upon such occasions as mere "days off" from the regular routine of affairs and have been content to let the other fellow carry on the celebrations.

Labor Day, a day which typifies the essence of American leadership in world affairs, deserves a definite and sincere place on the calendar. This community will be a better community in which to live if all the people join in the Trades & Labor Council's celebration.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

Copyright 1927 by Douglas Malloch

WHEN SCOTTY RAN AWAY

Once foolish Scotty ran away,
And what a fearful world he found!—
The children didn't want to play,
Wives didn't want a dog around.
And even men were mean to him,
For one man chased him with a broom,
And Scotty's sky grew darkly dim,
And all the world was full of gloom.

Then someone found him, brought him home,
And now he sleeps beside the fire;
No longer Scotty cares to roam,
For home is now his one desire.
Poor, foolish Scotty, folks would say,
To leave the folks who hold him dear,
Yet other Scottys run away,
And people seldom call them queer.

The world's a rather rough, old place,
And, if you have a home to live,
Some friend who wears a smiling face,
A floor beneath a roof above,
However loudly sin may call,
Whatever word the tempters say,
Don't leave it all, and lose it all,
Like foolish dogs that run away.

The Piffle Hook

SOME POLITICIANS try to sell through life without friction or jarring contacts while others permit themselves to be appointed to the United States Shipping board. . . . The state now fears a shortage of funds and millions of citizens know just how the state feels about it. . . . An effort should be made to impress Chicago tick-et scalpers with the fact that the Dempsey-Tunney fight will probably be worth slightly less than the Kohlnur diamond. . . . It's a long way back to the time when the sweet young thing put on eight to twelve petticoats before she started for a dance.

College, says a Detroit engineer, should teach men to think. On the other hand, when thinking becomes a part of the college procedure, many of the institutions of so called learning will close their doors for want of raw material.

FEARING SHE WOULD be late, a Connecticut girl made a thirty-five mile trip to a bridge party in an airplane. There's no risk too great for a bridge victim. She would have been shot thirty-five miles from a cannon if it had been necessary.

The PENNY PRINCESS

Copyright 1927 by NEA Service CHAPTER XXX

At the moment when Vera Victoria Cameron, being kidnaped as Vivian Crandall, was stepping gingerly over a stubby field toward a great man-made bird that was to bear her aloft, she knew not whether Schuyler Smythe was standing in the middle of the road, waving his arms frantically to attract the attention of an approaching car.

The car slowed up, hesitated, then shot past him, the driver—a man with a girl sitting beside him—evidently fearing a holdup. Schuyler stamped with rage, but there was nothing for it but to wait until another car came along. Two others sped past his waving arms and he was about to give up in despair when he made one more attempt.

The car—a small coupe—slithered to a stop, and a cheery male voice called out: "Car stalled, young man?"
"Yes," Schuyler answered eagerly. "Can you give me a lift? I'm stopping at the Minnetonka—out for a ride—car gone dead on me—" He was babbling excitedly upon the running board.

"Sure! Hop in! Reckon no one can run off with your car, if you can't make it go. I'm going to the Minnetonka myself. I'm a doctor—Dr. Blessington. Got a hurry-up call from the Minnetonka. Seems that the house doctor is off for the night. I relieve for you, you see."

"You're very kind, Dr. Blessington. He did not want to talk, wanted to give careful thought to the story which he would tell when he reached the hotel. There was no use trying to follow the masked bandits in the doctor's car. They had had more than half an hour start, and the doctor had just said that he was speeding to Minnetonka on an emergency call. He decided at first, in his extreme nervousness, not to say anything to the doctor of his night's adventure, but reconsidered, in a panic.

In a rapid jerky voice he told the doctor what had happened, or as much of what had happened as he could bring himself to admit. He said nothing of his own quarrel with the girl, confining his explanation to the bare facts of their encounter with the masked men.

"Vivian Crandall! My soul in heaven!" the doctor ejaculated incredulously. "Why didn't you do something, man?"
"With one revolver pointing at my head and one at hers?" Schuyler defended himself indignantly. "I couldn't take a chance on her being shot, doctor."

"No, I suppose not," the doctor agreed. "Well, I'll burn up the road getting you back to the hotel. They can send out an alarm—telephone the police of all the neighboring towns."

He bent over the wheel, his keen eyes behind gold-rimmed spectacles trained on the road that the valiant little car swalloved at such a breathtaking rate of speed.

Although it was nearly two o'clock when the doctor's coupe swung into the crescent-shaped driveway before the Minnetonka Hotel, the great, sprawling building was blazing with lights. Flashlights, gleaming like fireflies, were bobbing about the grounds. Voices were hallooing at each other from across the lake, where men in rowboats seemed to be dragging the dark waters on a gruesome quest for the vanished heiress. Women, in evening dress, scurried about in the lanes of light from doors and windows, calling shrill inquiries and making foolish suggestions. A group of men were conferring on the broad front porch when Schuyler descended from the doctor's car.

Thurston, the hotel manager, lunged toward him, seized his arm and half dragged him up the steps. "Where's Miss Crandall, Smythe? For God's sake, tell us what you've done with her? You're the last person seen with her—"

Schuyler Smythe stood blinking dazedly in the strong light that flooded from the entrance hall and from the porch lanterns. "Is this Smythe, the chap that's been beaung Miss Crandall around up here?" A big, frowning-browed, dark-faced man allowed his way importantly out of the little knot of men. "I'm Barr—Detective Barr—of New York, Smythe. Detective Durgan and I came down here tonight to identify Miss Crandall and to ask her to get into communication with her parents. Mr. Crandall sent us. He got a tip this morning that his daughter was here. Now, speak up, man. Where is she?" His tonight. And as for you people, he waved toward the crowd of guests pressing in upon the porch. "If you don't know anything about this case, get to bed. You're gumming up the works."

Half an hour later, during a lull in the storm of telephoning, Detective Barr, who was awaiting instructions from the police in New York, turned upon Thurston, who was sunk wearily in the swivel chair in his private office.

"What puzzles me is how Miss Crandall got that suitcase out of her room without being observed. What did the maid say was missing?"
" toilet articles, pajamas, kimono, two or three dresses, a coat and a green felt hat," Thurston answered, frowning with fatigue and bewilderment. "Looks like that upstart, Schuyler Smythe or Shuler Smith or whatever his name is, was telling the truth and that Miss Crandall was eloping with him. What she could see in him beats me, but any fool wo-

Lumberman Tells How to Restore Lost Forests

The following address by R. B. Goodman, chairman of the committee on forestry of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers' associations, is of interest here because Mr. Goodman is well known in this locality. It is understood that a bill copied after the Wisconsin law will be introduced in the Michigan legislature next year.

One of the most constructive measures passed by the Wisconsin Legislature this year is the Forest Tax Bill. This bill was originally introduced by Senator John B. Chase of Ontario. Its economic importance was recognized by the forestry committee of the Senate and Assembly of which Senator George W. Blanchard is chairman. After extended public hearings and conferences with forest tax experts the amended measure was passed by a large majority of the senate and assembly and on July 29 was signed by Governor Zimmerman.

The bill recognizes that the forest is a growing crop, that the old method of taxing the forest annually placed such a heavy burden on the timber owner that he was forced to liquidate by cutting the entire forest in one operation, leaving idle and unproductive land. To make it possible for him to cut only the mature timber, leaving the young timber to grow to maturity and to make it possible for him to plant trees on cutover land, the bill levies a forest tax, not annually, but when the timber is cut, and the tax is six per cent of the value of the timber severed from the land. Hence this tax is often called a "severance tax."

Old Tax Hardship. It is obvious that such a system of taxation, while correct in principle, would work a hardship to the local taxing districts where the timber is located. These northern towns and counties need money principally for building roads and maintaining schools. They were already suffering under the old tax system. When the timber owner cut down the forest he could no longer afford to pay a land tax on the cutover land and over two millions acres of cutover land in Wisconsin delinquent on the tax rolls of northern Wisconsin.

The new forest tax law provides that the land entered under it shall pay in addition to the 10% severance tax, an annual land tax of 10c per acre. This goes to the local taxing districts and the State advances an additional 10c an acre to these local districts for all lands entered under the act, for which advances the State is reimbursed by its collection of the severance tax when the timber is cut.

This is very briefly the principle of the forest tax law and points a solution to the aggravating tax problem which confronts the northern counties of the state. Under the act the forests which were a disappearing source of revenue will become a growing and increasing source of revenue. Annual taxation of the forest made the growing of trees an impossible commercial enterprise. Under this form of taxation the forests of Wisconsin were rapidly disappearing, but under the act the normal tax to the owner of 10c per acre and the exemption of growing timber from taxation until the mature trees are harvested, makes the growing of trees a commercial possibility and we confidently believe will induce the owners of wild land throughout northern Wisconsin to grow new forests.

Tremendous Value. When this means to Wisconsin may be faintly appreciated when we remember that the sawmills, planing mills, wood pulp and paper mills, and the wood using industries of the state aggregate an assessed value of $423,000,000.00 in real estate, buildings, machinery and inventories, with an annual production valued at $462,000,000.00, and average annual employment of 116,000 persons. This employment supports directly and indirectly about one-third of the state's population. Added to these direct benefits, the restoration of our forests means the preservation of our streams, the regulation of their flow, the maintenance of our water power developments, the preservation of wild life, the added beauty and attraction to the summer tourists of forest regions as compared with the desolation of idle land.

Therefore, I unhesitatingly compliment all of the members of the legislature's forestry committee and the men like Senator Chase, W. R. Wheaton, O. T. Swan, D. C. Everest, W. A. Holt, Professor Hibbard, Raphael Zon and Sherman Brown, and the Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies that have stood behind this measure.

However, I wish to impress every land owner in the State with the significant fact that the forest tax bill will not plant a single tree. All that it does is to open the door of commercial opportunity to you. If you own forests and continue to destroy them completely in harvesting the timber, if you own idle land and allow it to remain idle, you are not taking advantage of the possibilities which this bill offers you. On the other hand, if you undertake to harvest the mature trees of your forest, leaving the younger trees to grow to maturity through future years, and if you undertake to plant your idle cutover land where it is not naturally reseeding, you may do so with a reasonable expectation of a fair return on your investment under the provisions of the act. But the act itself is not a forestry measure and leaves to you the entire problem of how you shall maintain or restore the forests to your land.

Advantages Evident. The problems you must solve are these: First, the owner of mature timber must devise logging methods that will enable him to cut his mature timber without subjecting the remaining growing timber to storm or fire damage. It is possible for him to remove all of the mature timber and leave in actual volume at least 50% of the forest stand for future cutting. Just what trees should be taken is a technical matter requiring close study of his individual forests for himself, not only taking out the largest trees but some of the smallest trees which are defective or diseased and occupying space needed by its more vigorous neighbors. He must leave a sufficient dense cover so that high winds will not slow down the tall slender younger forest trees. It is not necessary for him to burn the slash composed of the branches and tops of the trees for the burning of this slash destroys the humus of the ground and its fertility as well as many of the younger trees, but it will be necessary for him to lop down these branches close to the ground and remove the cordwood, and the market for this cordwood is a separate problem in each locality.

The advantage in selective logging is evident. By taking but half of the volume of the forest, it is figured that this 50% of volume is from 70% to 75% of the commercial value and that the growth in the remaining stand will average from 200 to 300 feet board measure per annum, per acre, so that after a period of fifteen years a second cutting can be made yielding an equal value to the first, and that this process can be indefinitely continued so long as fire is prevented, and during this interval between the first and second successive cuttings, the tax on his growing forest is limited to 10c per acre annually upon the land.

FEDERAL GAME REFUGE ALONG MISSISSIPPI

Birds, Fish Breeding Grounds Are Protected

Rock Island, Ill.—(AP)—Game birds, nesting in the rushes, and black bass, spawning in the byways of the lazy Mississippi, are increasing rapidly on the government game refuge which stretches from here 300 miles up the river to Wabasha, Minn. Adoption of the administrative regulations recently by the federal departments of agriculture and commerce officially completed establishment of the tract as a federal preserve, known as the Upper Mississippi Wild Life Refuge. Although only a few months old, the tract has been found a sanctuary by birds, fish and small game, and the government has started adding 300,000 deer and other big game.

Scenery of the refuge has been compared to that along the Hudson river. The Mississippi wanders between bluffs, some as high as 1,800 feet and from one to six miles apart. Quiet side streams cut behind long wooded islands. Bayous, teeming with blue herons, cranes and wild fowl flank the main stream. The current is slow enough for canoeing and motor boating. Just above the refuge is Lake Pepin, some 40 miles long, famed in Indian and pioneer history.

The refuge proper consists of the heavily forested islands and foresters who are working in the state and backed by the larger timber owners in the paper and lumber industries, a bureau which would be able to collect information as to selective logging, tree planting and fire protection, and to disseminate this information to every prospective land owner making entry of lands under the forest tax bill. We can get a great deal of help from what has been done in other regions and from the pioneering work already accomplished in this State and in Michigan. Nevertheless as a whole the field is a new one and the small land owner whose interests do not warrant his employing a forester could obtain from this bureau the information necessary for him to undertake the commercial growing of timber.

It is because of these problems which confront the timber owner and the owner of cutover land which require technical advice, the comparing of notes regarding undertakings which are new in this region, and the general cooperation for fire protection, that I believe this general meeting should adopt a plan looking toward the formation of a tree growing bureau under the direction of men like Mr. Wheaton and Mr. Swan and composed of the the mainland between the channel of the river and the high wooded bluffs of the valley. Extensive fish spawning grounds adjacent to the main channel of the river are believed to be the greatest natural incubator for black bass in the world. Black bass are not successfully bred in hatcheries and when the refuge was first contemplated, extinction of the species in this county had been prophesied. Facilities for collecting bass fry are maintained along the stream and millions of small fish are shipped annually to stock lakes.

The river here is a great migratory highway for wild fowl because of extensive breeding and feeding areas. Wild life includes foxes, wolves, raccoons, beaver, muskrat, otter and other small game. It is a wild life refuge, however, only in part. While refuge areas are provided, "open" areas for fishing and hunting alternate with these. The entire region is open to the public under nominal restrictions, and its value as a scenic playground is regarded as a close second to its value in the preservation of wild life.

Establishment of the preserve was in part due to the efforts of the late Will H. Dig, founder of the Isaak Walton League. The bill creating the refuge was passed by congress in 1924 and purchases of lands has been under way since.

"Will o' the Wisp" to Quit Temporarily

Due to financial difficulties, The Will o' the Wisp will temporarily suspend publication, the editors decided yesterday afternoon.

At a result of this move, the autumn issue of the magazine, which was to have appeared in September, will not be published. The next number of the publication will be the winter number, which will be distributed the latter part of December.

Reorganization of the firm to put it on a sound financial basis is being considered. The appearance of the winter number has already been guaranteed.

The Will o' the Wisp is edited by C. Hjalmar Nelson and J. Gunnar Back of this city. Offices of the magazine are located here and at Madison, Wis.

The Italians have renamed Mt. Blanc Mt. Mussolini, but it would have been more appropriate to rename Mt. Vesuvius, which is famous for the hot stuff it shoots off.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

Two complete Russian villages, with all the quaintness and simplicity that grace the landscape of Russia, were built for Edwin Carewe, director and co-producer with Inspiration Pictures of "Resurrection," the United Artists Picture, in which Rod La Roque is starred at the Delft theater.

Anyone acquainted with Russia and the thatched roof dwellings of its peasant farmers will recognize at once the scenes depicted in "Resurrection." These are exact duplicates, for their construction was technically supervised by none other than Count Ilya Tolstoy, son of Count Leo Tolstoy, author of the story.

These towns were built on a 100-acre tract of land about twenty miles from Hollywood and took 250 men almost two months to lay the grounds, find the proper woods and thatch, dig a stream and supply it with water, and to secure all the minute details peculiar to Russia of the eighties.

With all this work, time and money expended, the amount of footage showing the villages does not extend over two hundred feet.

but at just the proper time it lends the needed effect. Hence, it is worth all the effort put upon it.

AT THE STRAND.

Mischief and Buck Jones are anonymous in the earlier scenes of "Hills of Peril," Fox Films latest drama starring Buck.

He has terrorized Pinon City until the judge and a posse decide he must go. He takes a look at the posse and decides it might be well to "beat it," but bigger he goes he drops a handful of forty-fives into the stove and hurries away.

The cartridges explode and throw the posse into panic. The stove-pipe falls and scatters soot over all in the room and the stove rocks while the cartridges are exploding. After the last of the cartridges have gone off the judge and the posse begin to take stock of the place and slowly come to life to find Buck well on the road out of town.

This latest feature of the Western star will be shown at the Strand today and Thursday.

It is reported that Lindy wants to go back to college. Well, colleges couldn't make him a bigger fool than most of the American people have tried to.

Berlin (AP)—Karl Neher, 70, one of the best known characters of Munich, has married again his former wife, from whom he was divorced 30 years ago. Everyone knows the white-haired newspaper seller, who is called the "Cuckoo" because of his habit of imitating that bird on entering a restaurant to sell his papers. The wedding, which was a popular one in every respect, lasted from noon until well after midnight. Free beer was liberally donated by the Loewen Brewery.

"Big Boy" deliciousness never varies. Same rigid ingredient standards are maintained for each baking. Bakings are made EVERY morning in the year. "Big Boy" is always good.

"Big Boy" contains most wholesome ingredients—its manufacture is consummated under conditions that surpass in sanitation even the strict state requirements.

Give and Take

"Human labor, through all its forms, from the sharpening of a stake to the construction of a city or an epic, is one immense illustration of the perfect compensation of the universe.

"The absolute balance of Give and Take, the doctrine that everything has its price—and if that price is not paid, not that thing but something else is obtained, and that it is impossible to get anything without its price—is not less sublime in the columns of a ledger than in the budgets of states, in the laws of light and darkness, in all the action and reaction of nature."

Thus Ralph Waldo Emerson exalts one of the fundamental laws that govern industry.

The entire business structure of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is based on this law. This Company renders service to the people of the Middle West and is rewarded in exact proportion to the service rendered. There is an "absolute balance of Give and Take."

The concern of the Company is with the "Give." It is the law of the universe that the "Take" will balance. Rewards increase in exact ratio to the service rendered.

The law of compensation makes possible and practicable the high ideals which this Company has held from the beginning.

Twenty-nine thousand men and women are able to devote the best that is in them to the doing of a work for the benefit of others because they are secure in the knowledge that their efforts will receive just compensation.

They are not harassed by uncertainty. They know that their needs will be supplied. Each day they are earning the good things of life by doing useful work that in itself is a satisfaction.

They need not worry about pay in an organization where the natural law of Give and Take functions perfectly. Employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are free to concentrate on the Giving, confident of just reward.

This means that the entire Company is devoting its energy to the giving of better service. Constant improvement is the result. More efficient methods—greater skill of workmanship—better products—new products as they are needed. Prices kept at a minimum by rigid economy and a strict guard against waste.

The people of the Middle West have helped the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to keep prices low by demanding its products in enormous quantities that make necessary mass production and permit greater economy.

The creed of service of this Company is far from a philanthropic affectation. It is an expression of a sound principle upon which business is built—an illustration of what Ralph Waldo Emerson calls one of the sublime laws of the universe in action.

"Grows old along with me, The best is yet to be"

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have learned through their own experience the merit of this dependable medicine are enthusiastic recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

"I had been in bad condition for three months. I could not do my work. One day I read what your medicine had done and just had a feeling that it would help me, so I sent and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had only taken half a bottle when I got up and started to do my work. It gave me an appetite, and helped me wonderfully. I can not praise this medicine highly enough. I surely will advise all women and girls to take it, and they don't have to use rouge to look healthy. My two daughters are taking it now and one is also using the Sanative Wash. I am willing to have you use this testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the medicine."—Mrs. HARVEY TUCKER, R. R. No. 9, Shelbyville, Indiana.

"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books you give away and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel better and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I feel like a different person. At anytime that I don't feel good I take the Vegetable Compound again, as I always keep a bottle on hand. You may use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me."—Mrs. JENNIE BOLLENGER, 611-11th St., Union City, N. J.

INVITE ROGERS TO CELEBRATE OPENING M-94

Following a committee meeting at the court house Tuesday, an invitation was extended to F. F. Rogers, state highway commissioner, asking him to attend the celebration to be held at Hiawatha next week, commemorating the opening of M-94 as a state trunk line highway. An invitation was also to be forwarded to Gov. Fred W. Green.

Business men of Manistique are joining with residents of Hiawatha and vicinity in laying plans for the event, which had its inception only a few days ago. The popularity of the idea has been growing rapidly, and the gathering now promises to include not only those interested in the Hiawatha road, but everyone in the vicinity interested in good roads.

Present arrangements are to open the affair with a chicken supper, a feature which has already been provided for by the Hiawatha residents. Either Mr. Rogers or some other representative of the state highway department will deliver a talk after the supper, and this will be followed by a general get-together of city and country folks. Music has been secured as an added attraction.

The date selected by the committee is next Tuesday evening, August 30, and the supper will start at 7 p. m., fast time, according to the decision made yesterday. A local committee is in charge of tickets, special invitations and advertising, and a ready response is looked for among the people of Manistique. Ladies are especially invited, and Manistique residents will be urged to bring their whole families to enjoy the chicken banquet, the ride over beautiful M-94, the talk from the spokesman of the highway department at Lansing. A nominal fee of half a dollar for the supper will be the only charge of the evening.

LADY "HIKERS" VERY EASY ON SHOE LEATHER

The efficiency of hiking as a means of rapid transit for the fair sex was aptly demonstrated at Manistique this week by two Grand Rapids girls, the Misses Henrietta Balzer and Odella M. Schneider, who arrived in this city Monday at 8 p. m., having left their home town at 9:15 on the previous day via the heel-and-toe route.

Although they claimed the title of "hikers," the two Grand Rapids maidens were allowed to do very little walking on this trip to merit their pseudonym. They "hoofed" about two blocks in Cadillac, and another two blocks or so in Manistique, "not enough to take the polish off their shoes"—as Fred Merwin remarked when they called on him Tuesday morning at the Manistique Chamber of Commerce information bureau. Generous motorists supplied the major part of their motive power.

The young ladies were ready to take off again Tuesday morning, and called at the tourist bureau to register. They said they had spent an excellent night at a Manistique hotel, and bade Mr. Merwin good-bye as they again struck out at 11 a. m., to try for more long distance "hiking" records.

Mr. Arthur Cockram motored to Marinette Tuesday.

Tony LeDuc of Escanaba has charge of the piano sale which started yesterday at the A. S. Putnam and Co., Westside Drug store.

Mrs. Thomas Wilson and son, Richard James, returned Monday by motor from a visit with relatives at Houghton.

A baby girl was born Tuesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Weber at their home on River street.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonia Weber and Mrs. Henry Jahn and daughter, Francis, left this morning by motor for Milwaukee where they will visit with relatives.

John Robert, a former resident of Manistique underwent a very serious operation at the Libby Hospital in Iron River on August 5th. He returned to his home in Stambaugh August 19, but will be confined to bed for some time yet.

POSSE UNABLE TO GET TRACE OF LOST MAN

After combing the woods around Seney for five days, officers reported yesterday that they had as yet found no trace of Albert Richardson, who has been missing from his home since last Wednesday, when he went out in the woods to pick berries. Sheriff and deputies of two counties, together with conservation officers, state trappers and Seney residents have been taking part in the search, which so far has been fruitless. Richardson himself was known to be thoroughly familiar with the district where he has lived, hunted and trapped for many years, and most of the searchers were also men who knew their way about the woods of that section. Up to yesterday, however, they had not found a single clue to the lost man's whereabouts.

WATER TO BE EXTENDED TO RIVERDALE ST.

By unanimous vote, the Manistique city council on Monday evening granted permission for a 250-foot water extension from Alger avenue down Riverdale street, Riverside. Three property owners in this section, Ed Fountain, Joseph Dikos and Patrick Quinlan, were the signers of the petition.

Another project discussed was the improvement of Arbutus avenue, a matter on which no action was taken at this time.

Ordinance No. 6 of 1927, "an ordinance to license and regulate the business of itinerant vendors in the city of Manistique and provide a penalty for the violation thereof," was submitted for the first reading. Under the provisions of this ordinance, all vendors will be required to pay a license fee of $15 for the first day of 24 hours and $10 for each additional day they do business in this city. The license is to be secured from the city manager.

In the matter of sending Chief of Police John A. Peterson to Lansing for the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, August 30-31, decision was left to the city manager.

Another matter left to Manager Wesley Orr was a request from R. S. McKinley, local sign painter, asking permission to erect a scaffold at the Weber building, River street, for completing a sign job.

Bills amounting to $1,684.39 were allowed and ordered paid at this meeting of the council.

Former Pastor to Preach on Sunday

Rev. R. S. Sidebotham, former pastor of the Church of the Redeemer at Manistique, who is here on a vacation, will deliver the Sunday sermon at the local Presbyterian church on August 28.

SEEK FEWER ACCIDENTS ON STATE ROADS

Maintenance Men Asked to Aid in Work

Lapsing—(P)—Increased efforts to eliminate dangers for traffic on state trunk line highways are being made by maintenance men, following orders from Frank F. Rogers, state highway commissioner, it was announced. The increased number of accidents, many of them fatal, on highways of the state during the last month brought about the order for the safety campaign. Commissioner Rogers stated:

Sharp turns on highways contributed to the fatalities in many cases. It has been shown, and the elimination of sharp curves on trunk line routes has been ordered, the work to be taken care of as rapidly as possible. All highway department division engineers in the state have been instructed to give increased attention to safety measures. Narrow bridges on trunk lines, sharp turns in the road, grades of high and insufficient width, rough shoulders and other dangerous spots on the highways are either to be remedied or marked with special signs, according to instructions issued by the engineers. Division engineers have been requested to submit reports of the most dangerous locations on their routes. The reports will be listed in the order of their importance and an estimate will be made at once of the probable cost of correcting the situation. G. C. Dillman, deputy commissioner chief engineer of highways has announced. Maintenance equipment may not be operated on the left

MISS WOLF IS BRIDE OF RALPH O'NEIL

Ceremony Performed Monday Morning At Appleton

The marriage of Miss Elsie Dorothy Wolf, daughter of Mrs. F. W. Stellwagen of this city, and prominently known here, and Mr. Ralph Alden O'Neil, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. O'Neil of Kilbourn, Wis., took place Monday, August 22, at Appleton, Wis.

The ceremony was performed at 11 o'clock Monday morning at the First Congregational church in Appleton, the Rev. Dr. R. J. Wilson officiating.

Miss Lorna O'Neil, a sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Mr. O'Neil was attended by his brother, Claude O'Neil.

The bride wore a gown of heavy rose-blush crepe satin, and a picture hat of sand colored georgette. Her flowers were a bridal bouquet of roses, sweet peas and baby's breath.

The bridesmaid's frock was of peach-colored georgette and her picture hat was of the same shade. She carried an arm bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served followed by a reception held in the Blue Room of the Conway hotel. The dining room and the reception room were both beautifully decorated with ferns, palms, bridal roses, sweet peas, bridal morning and baby's breath, attractively arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil left after the reception on a wedding trip to the Black Hills and Yellowstone National park.

They will be at home in Nellisville, Wis., after September 15. Conservatory Graduate.

Girls Return from Motor Trip East

Miss Flora LaRoche of this city and Miss Alice Garrett of Gwin have returned from a motor trip to Rochester, N. Y., and other eastern points. The trip was made without motor or tire trouble. Miss LaRoche driving the entire distance. The girls took tourist equipment and camped along the way. They made the trip east by way of Canada and returned by way of Chicago, visiting there with Miss LaRoche's parents.

IKE WALTON LEAGUE WILL MEET TONIGHT

A number of important business matters will be taken up at the regular monthly meeting of the Isak Walton League, Gladstone Chapter, this evening.

The meeting will be held at the city hall and will be called to order at 8 o'clock. It is requested that all members of the league attend.

Gentle Juries Are to Blame for Love Crimes in Paris

Paris—Sentimental juries and French sympathy with "crimes of passion" are creating quite a stir among those who think a few executions and plenty of long prison terms would make life safer.

It is even suggested that murder cases be taken from juries and tried by judges who generally pay more attention to the law and the evidence than they do to the anguish of heart-throbs that move many. J. H. Rosny, novelist, is among those who feel French criminal jurisprudence has about broken down. Juries, says Rosny, citing recent instances, are more lenient toward those who kill than those who wound. He gives it as his observation that assault is more severely punished than murder, on the average.

SCHEDULES ARE CHANGED

Enrollment Necessary; High School Faculty Announced.

Announcement of changes in the Gladstone high school faculty for the coming year was made Tuesday by Prin. C. C. Strickland in connection with preparations for the opening of the fall term. The changes in the high school schedule which will mean a change in enrollment for over one-half the high school students, are as follows: Physics for seniors only, chemistry for juniors only, biology for sophomores only.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE MARRIED IN CHICAGO

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday morning at the St. Thomas Aquinas church of Chicago, when Miss Lucille Dumas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dumas of this city, became the bride of Owen Alton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alton, Sr., also of Gladstone.

The wedding took place at a high mass at 9 o'clock, Rev. Fr. Henry Fitzgerald officiating.

The attendants were Miss Leone Schmidt of Chicago, a close friend of the bride, and Wallace Fallie, of Chicago, a cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a lovely gown of grey French georgette chalet and a hat of grey chiffon velvet. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid wore midnight blue georgette with a hat of beige and she carried roses and baby breath.

The bride entered the church with her cousin, Hugh Fallie of Chicago, and her bridesmaid, and the wedding march from Lohengrin was played joining the bridegroom and his attendant at the altar where the ceremony was performed.

During the service, a solo, "O Promise Me," was sung. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunts Mrs. Emilie Fallie, 5090 West End avenue. Covers were laid for 15, members of the bridal party and close friends.

Immediately after the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Alton left by motor on a wedding trip, arriving Sunday morning in Gladstone.

They were guests here at a wedding dinner served Sunday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dumas, 1105 Delta avenue. Arrangements for the dinner were in charge of Mrs. Thomas McGee and her daughter, Dolores, close friends of the young people. The guests numbered 30 relatives and close friends.

Out-of-town Guests.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Mose Tongway of Wisconsin; Mrs. Arthur Tongway of Peabody; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lynch of Rapid River; Mr. and Mrs. Axel Hagan of Kipling, Minn. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dumas of Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton will spend two weeks here and will be at home after September 6 at 3342 Walnut street, Chicago.

Mrs. Alton attended school here and for the past three years has been employed as a stenographer in the offices of Butler Brothers. Mr. Alton, who also attended school here, is an employe of the Advance Pattern & Foundry company of Chicago.

Both young people have a wide circle of friends here and they received congratulations and best wishes as well as a large number of beautiful gifts.

THEATRES

"THE FIRE BRIGADE." "The Fire Brigade," coming to the Lyric theater today and Thursday, might easily be called a picture of highlights, so full of thrills it is.

This production does for the fireman what "The Big Parade" did for the American soldier, and brings before the public in an arresting manner the necessity of fire prevention without at any time becoming a preachment on the subject.

A gripping, dramatic story has been woven against a background of fire and fire-fighters that holds the spectator from beginning to end. The story tells of "Terry O'Neill," descended from a long line of fire-fighters, his initial enthusiasm, his love for the daughter of a wealthy man whom he later discovers to be the head of the whole city government, his disgust at this man's crooked methods, and the consequent quarrel with his sweetheart over her father, his heroism in a spectacular orphanage fire caused through the neglect of the politician, and the final reconciliation with the daughter and his later public recognition for his heroism.

The studio had the expert cooperation of the International Order of Fire Engineers in the making of the picture, and the fire scenes were all staged by the Los Angeles fire department under the supervision of Fire Chief Ralph Scott of that city.

"The Fire Brigade" is the first directorial effort of William Nigh for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and places him in a similar position to that of King Vidor after he had triumphed with "The Big Parade."

Charles Ray is noted in the role of "Terry O'Neill." Noted for his humanness, the actor has excelled himself in the delineation of this character. It is one that allows for considerable comedy, yet depends principally upon drama for its appeal.

Trainmen Auxiliary Meeting Thursday
The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. M. J. Neveaux, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. A pot luck lunch will be served. Coffee, sugar and cream have been donated for the lunch.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. William Knight and daughter, Helen, returned Sunday from a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Knight's sister, Mrs. V. B. Rosenfeld.

Mr. and Mrs. Deores Ehman and Mrs. Edward Hillman of Milwaukee and Mrs. Anna Hillman of this city, who drove here from Milwaukee two weeks ago returned Sunday morning after a visit with relatives and friends. They were accompanied by Carl Hillman who will visit there.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Poltras and daughter, Ethel, and Theodore Feldt left this morning for Painted Post, N. Y., after a visit at the home of Mrs. Pontras and Mr. Feldt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Feldt of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Poltras and daughter, Ethel, Miss Erna Feldt, Theodore Feldt and Miss Bernice Swan spent the week-end in Sault Ste. Marie where they visited Elmer Feldt at Fort Brady.

Kenneth Foster and John Tyndall of the Chemical Plant location left Tuesday morning on a motor trip through lower Michigan. The boys plan to visit relatives in Bay City while on the trip.

Mrs. Alphonse DeSmet, daughter, Josephine, and sons, Joseph and Albert, and Clarence Dhondt left Monday for Chicago where they will visit before returning to their home in Detroit. They spent the past two weeks visiting relatives and friends here. The DeSmets are former Gladstone residents.

Phit Hupy left Tuesday morning for Mesomies, where he spent the day attending the Michigan Insurance Agents' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weydemann who are visiting at the August Van Gysel home spent the latter part of the week with their cousin, Julius Van Gysel, at Escanaba.

Mr. and Mrs. William Balko are the parents of a son, Norman Herbert, born August 20.

AUGUST OLSON HONOR GUEST AT PARTY

August Olson was pleasantly surprised Monday evening when a group of 23 friends met at the August Johnson home, Minnesota avenue, for a party in honor of Mr. Olson.

Cards were played and a delicious lunch was served. Mr. Olson was presented with a purse as a mark of the esteem of his many friends.

The party was planned by Wassa Order with a committee of Mrs. Charles Erickson, Walter Larson and August Skogquist in charge.

Lutheran Aid Meets Thursday

LOST

Tan Kasha Cloth Belt with lavender buckle, Saturday evening. REWARD CALL PRESS OFFICE AT GLADSTONE

Work on Sixteenth Street Completed by City Force.

The work of installing a six-inch cast iron water main starting about 130 feet from the Fourth ward voting booth, connecting with the hydrant now in front of the booth and extending about 390 feet south on the east side of Sixteenth street to connect with the now existing two inch main, has been completed by the city crew.

The installation was made to remedy the lack of pressure in the two inch line.

The work, which saves replacing four blocks of the two-inch main, which would cost in the neighborhood of $2,800, was completed as an estimated cost of $650.

In addition to saving the cost of replacement, the installation will give a continuous circuit of water, which will mean a better grade of water; it will permit further extension on Sixteenth street and provides for another fire hydrant at the junction of the two inch pipe and the new main, which increases fire protection for the Beverly Hills addition.

MEETING HELD AT WOODHALL HOME MONDAY

Members of the Standard Bearers' Missionary society, Alice Memorial M. E. church, met Monday afternoon at the home of the president, Miss June Woodhall, 702 Minnesota avenue.

The program was led by Mrs. I. N. Bushong and Miss Woodhall. Another chapter of "Picture-quest Interviews with Christ," dealing with the "feeding of the five thousand," was studied and Mrs. Bushong led a discussion of the "Mosaic World."

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

The date of the next meeting has not been definitely set, but it will be announced by Miss Margaret Blodgett, who will be hostess.

Also Comedy, "Alice Falls the Pirates" Shows 7:30 and 9:00. Admission 15c and 35c

Jones Leads Amateur Qualifiers With Flashy 67

SCORE OF 142 EQUALS RECORD

Bobby Low Medalist in Meet Third Successive Year.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 23—(P)—Bobby Jones showed again today that golfing chickens cannot be counted until he has hatched his brood. The British open champion stepped out in his second qualifying round of the National Amateur championship to shoot a 67 that left him with a score of 142, making him medalist for the third year in succession and placing him in a tie with D. Clarke Corkran for the best qualifying score ever made in the amateur.

Jones' total of 142 was made up of his 67 today added to a 75 yesterday. While Bobby was burning up the course, George Von Elm, the champion, who defeated the Atlanta ward for the title last year, was struggling desperately and wondering if he was to be left on the outside looking in when match play starts tomorrow. He finally collected his game to score 75 for a total of 154, which eased him into the select circle.

Not Much Better. The title holder today was not much better than he was yesterday when he scored 79. He found consolation in reflecting that he took 159 to qualify last year when he went on to victory. Contrary to expectations among some of the veterans who still deny that youth must be served occasionally and in some measure, the youngsters refused to crack today.

The oldsters did their best. Three former champions in addition to Jones won their way to match play, Chick Evans, Francis Outmet and Max Marston, while three others, William Fownes, Jr., Robert A. Gardner and Findlay S. Douglas, failed to qualify.

155 Qualifying Score. A score of 155 for the two days' play was necessary to qualify without a struggle, while the 32 places were completed by a playoff of those scoring 155.

Dave Ward of Big Rapids was the only member of the Michigan contingent to get into the playoff. Ward had totals of 78 yesterday and today for a 156.

Johnny Malloy of Ann Arbor turned in today at total of 169 and failed to qualify.

Players qualifying and their scores included: Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, 142; Morrison R. Johnston, Minneapolis, 145; Phillip E. Finlay, New York, 147; Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N. J., 148; D. Clarke Corkran, Philadelphia, 148; Arthur Sweet, Rochester, 148; Paul Heiland, Bridgeport, Conn., 151; George V. Rotan, Houston, Texas, 151; Don Carrick, Toronto, Canada, 151; Francis Outmet, Boston, 151; Richard A. Jones, Jr., New York, 152; Max Marston, Philadelphia, 152; Allen Moser, Los Angeles, 152; Billy Sixty, Milwaukee, 153; Harry G. Legg, Minneapolis, 153; John McKinlay, Jr., Chicago, 154; George Von Elm, Los Angeles, 154; Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., 154; H. DeWitt Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 154; Roland B. McKenzie, Washington, 155; George Thomas, Chicago, 155; Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 155.

Sun Blinds Players. With a setting sun retaining enough of its glory to blind players and gallery which would not give up and went on to the expedition promising to end only with darkness, the eleven players, who had scored 154 set out on the play-off.

On the first hole, Eddie Held, St. Louis; Maurice McCarthy, New York; Frank Dolph, Portland, Ore.; Ellsworth H. Augustus, Cleveland; and David Ward, Big Rapids, qualified.

Rudy Knepper, Chicago; Watta Gunn, Atlanta; John Vavra, Cedar Rapids; Edward Walton, Chicago; Albert Brodbeck, New York; and John W. Dawson, Chicago, went on to the second hole seeking the two vacant places. Knepper qualified at the second hole and Dawson and Vavra were eliminated, leaving Gunn, Brodbeck and Walton to fight it out at the third hole for the single place left to complete the 32 to place.

Walton Sinks Putt. Walton got a long putt down for a birdie two at the short third, and completed the select class, leaving Gunn, the intercollegiate champion, and Brodbeck out after a struggle. Two of the first ten in the ranking list of the United States Golf association failed to qualify, Watta Gunn, No. 5, and Bon Stein, amateur, No. 6. In the second ten, George Dawson, James Manion, Fred J. Wright, Jr., George J. Voigt and William C. Fownes did not make the grade.

Phillips Finlay and Eugene Homans, school boy golfers and fast friends, who were a stroke apart at the close of yesterday's play, with Homans leading, 71 to 70, were still a stroke apart after the second round, but their positions were reversed.

Finlay finished with 147, while Miss Helen Jacobs, right.

TROUT SEASON CLOSES SEPT. 1

"Ike Waltons" Turn to Bass and Pike for Amusement.

With the closing of the trout season in Michigan only a week hence, a majority of fishermen have stored their rods for the winter months or have turned to other game fishing for the remainder of the year. The brook trout season closes at midnight, September 1.

Although fishermen in this vicinity met with fair success in general during the earlier part of the trout season, which opened May 1, the size of the catches have been falling off gradually and during the past few weeks only occasional rewards have been paid to those who drove to the streams to enjoy the sport.

The season for large and small mouth bass, which opened July 1 in the upper peninsula, will remain open through January 1 and it will be legal to take wall-eyed pike until the second day of February. Bluegills, calico bass, rock bass and crappies may be taken until March 31. Perch, sunfish, white bass and suckers may be taken during any season of the year with hook and line.

Sliding Doors Are Popular in Paris

Paris (P)—Sliding doors have been built throughout in a dozen modern homes by a Parisian architect. His view is that the hinged door is an antiquated waste of space. This view has found a good deal of support.

Those commenting on the idea express surprise that people never have rebelled against the swinging door.

"How ridiculous it is," says one, "to have to step backwards to open or close a door!"

The old-fashioned door destroys the harmony of a room if left open at right angles to the wall, says another, and it is ugly and kills good wall space if it is swung back against the wall.

Steeplechasing in Gasoline Vehicles Is New French Sport

Paris (P)—Automobile steeplechasing is a new sport shortly to be demonstrated in a match between a horse and Andre Mercier in automobile.

Mercier, in trials, has sent his car over the jumps with ease and without accident. His biggest jump recently was 67 feet, during which his car rose seven feet above the ground.

Mercier jumps by driving at speed up an incline, as has often been done in circus performances. He has calculated the angles and speeds so nicely that he believes he can make the series of hurdles in a race without great difficulty.

Five Pirates Sit on Top of Batting List in National League

Chicago (P)—The perfect ball player, in the opinion of Manager Donie Bush of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is Lloyd Waner and Brother Lloyd, smugling Brother Paul, climbed into the list of leading hitters of the National League. Lloyd's entrance gave the Pirates half of the first ten hitters in the circuit, with the "three musketeers" of the Pirates still perched securely on top. Lloyd was the first National League hitter to reach the century mark in runs, reaching 100 on Wednesday.

Frankie Frisch is making another threat at third place, being only two points behind Clyde Barnhart, the lowest of the Pittsburgh trio.

The hero of last fall's world's series, Grover Cleveland Alexander, who was sold down the river by the Cubs to the Cardinals for the wily price, is demonstrating that his efforts in landing the world's championship flag for St. Louis were not the final flash of form. "Big Pete" as his comrades of the Cubs used to call him, is within the first five fingers of the National League, in averages compiled, including Wednesday's games.

Alex has won 16 and lost 7 this year for the Cards, and only two pitchers top him in victories. Old Jesse Haines of the Cards, with 15 wins, is one of these and Charley Root of the Cubs is the other with 22.

Cy Williams' home run bat has been idle at the 23 mark for a fortnight, and meanwhile Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson have combined up to 30.

Frisch, while waiting for one of the three leading Pirate clouters to slide down the ladder past him, was as active as usual on the paths, adding two more stolen bases to his string to reach 33.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The three-time batting champion of the American League, Harry Heilmann of Detroit, seems on his way to a fourth title. He is tied today for second place in the batting standings in games including Wednesday, with Columbia Lou points but Al has not played for a letics still tops these two by fifteen points but Al has not played for a month now.

Swinging from the heels, to keep ahead of Babe Ruth in the home run race, Gehrig has dropped to 379 now, while Ruth is just twenty points lower. The Babe tied up the home run race Wednesday at 25, making his second homer in the Chicago White Sox series.

While the other batters are succumbing to shrinkage of the batting average, Tris Speaker is standing like a stonewall and the leaders have slid past him, all except three so that Tris ranks fourth with his .363.

Johnny Neun, the Detroit first sacker, gained one stolen base on George Sisler this week, and is but two behind Sisler's mark of 23 now, Whispering Bill Barrett of the Sox also picked off a couple and has two scores now.

Like the Pirate trio holding the batting honors of the National League, the Yankees have a pitching trio atop the list of the junior circuit. Hoyt, Reuther and Phipps lead the league in that order, and Hoyt is within one victory now of Ted Lyons' mark of 18.

Another heavy hitting record, the two base hit mark, seems safe this year as George Burns, the title holder, has only 44 this year toward his high total of 64.

Leading American League batters are: Simmons, Philadelphia, .394; Gehrig, New York, .379; Heilmann, Detroit, .379; Speaker, Washington, .363; Ruth, New York, .359; Schang, St. Louis, .359; Fothergill, Detroit, .353; Goslin, Washington, .348; Meusel, New York, .348; Combs, New York, .346.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

In the shuffling which rearranged the ten leading batters of the American Association, Reb Russell bobbed up on top today, for the second time this season.

Ossie Orwoll, working hard to beat the Hens in a critical series, did his best work on the mound and slumped just enough with the hickory to drop to second place, and none too far ahead of Grimes of Toledo at that.

Earl Smith's bid for a place among the leaders fell short, and the Minneapolis fly chaser dropped back from 11th to 15th, in averages compiled, including Wednesday's games. He got but six hits in seven games, and the first ten remained undisturbed though there was considerable changing of chairs among them.

Palmer, the Association's leading twirler, dropped his game this week, but his score of 10 wins and two defeats was enough to keep him in first place, with Orwoll next. Ossie won his turn on the hill. So did Sheehan of Kansas City, who now tops the Association in victories with 19.

Frank Emmer, the Millers' heavy clouting short fielder, failed to hit any out of the park, Hauser of Kansas City doing the major share of the home run hitting this week with three. This puts him into a tie with Earl

Smith at 17, runners up to Emmer's 20.

Dewitt Lebourveau, picked off one stolen base to make his total 20, but remained in 10th place among the hitters with only a one point gain in percentage. McMillan of the Saints with 27 is far in the lead in the circuit in base stealing.

Leading batters of the American Association are: Russell, Indianapolis, .391; Orwoll, Milwaukee, .387; Grimes, Toledo, .385; Kirkham, Columbus, .371; Yeach, Toledo, .369; Hauser, Kansas City, .366; Riconda, Milwaukee, .350; Duncan, Minneapolis, .358; J. Kelly, Toledo, .358; Lebourveau, Toledo, .354.

WESTERN LEAGUE

The baseball world's only 400 average is in danger of disappearing. Pete Casey, the Tulsa slugger of the Western League, the holder of the mark, is back in the game again after a long layoff from a "bean ball." But in two games he combed out a mere single, which brought his percentage down to .405.

Langford of Des Moines, the league leader among the regulars, was within five points of the famous figure a week ago, but slid back a bit this week and has .392 in averages compiled today including Wednesday's games.

With the mighty Casey's home run club idle, Munson of the Oilers has taken up the four base knocking burden and drove out four this week. He now has 29, a margin of 10 over his team mate on first base, Sturdy, and twelve better than Casey had achieved when he went out of the game six weeks ago.

Joe Rabbit of Omaha, the greatest base stealer in the game today, added another to reach 33, but his weekly home run effort fell short by one base, and he still has but 16.

George Blselder, the outstanding pitching star of the Western League, got bumped in his two starts, and one of them was charged against him as a defeat. His score now is 22 wins and 8 losses. Black, the Oiler flinger leading the circuit on a percentage basis, broke even in his two starts, and sustained the first setback of the season. He has 10 victories.

Leading hitters of the Western League are: Langford, Des Moines, .392; Comorosky, Denver, .391; Munson, Tulsa, .383; Bennett, Tulsa, .379; Sturdy, Tulsa, .372; Cunningham, Des Moines, .358; Wingfield, Amarillo, .354; Reagan, Denver, .352; Rabbit, Omaha, .349; Kress, Tulsa, .346.

Major League Nines Hit Four Home Runs

New York, Aug. 23—(P)—Four homers were whacked out in the majors today, all in a lone game between the Cards and the Phillies, the rest of the clubs being idle as a result of open dates and rain.

The Yanks' home run, twins had to while away an open date and consider a campaign for breaking Ruth's 1921 banner mark of 59. As the Huguen had 35 more games to play off, including a tie, the Babe with his present total of 40 will have to bang a little better average than a homer every two games to equal his outstanding record.

Home runs went to Blades, Sherdel, Hafey and Schuble of the Cards.

The Ruth-Gehrig standing: Games Homers Ruth, 1921 ..... 120 48 Ruth, 1927 ..... 120 40 Gehrig, 1927 ..... 120 39

Tilden Beats Owen in Straight Sets

Newport, R. I., Aug. 23—(P)—In a match played in spite of a drizzle and thick fog from the sea, William T. Tilden today proved himself a much better tennis player than George Owen, former Harvard football star. Big Bill won at 6-1, 6-0, and with the aid of a bye reached the third round of the invitation tournament in which he was the victor a year ago.

Rain fell as the match ended and all hope of playing the 40 other singles and doubles matches scheduled for today, soon vanished. Forty-seven matches were set down for tomorrow with play to start at 10 a. m.

Fewer Frenchmen Buy Garlic in Fair

Paris—The Frenchman, because of the economic crisis, is apparently putting less garlic in his stew.

The traditional Garlic Fair, one of the events of the year in the Tours region, has just closed. It was much livelier than usual. Growers expected a heavy sale. The crop was abundant and prices were low, varying from 25 to 50 cents a hundred head, according to pungency. But while there were plenty of spectators, there were few buyers, and only in small lots.

WELLS CARDINALS WIN

The Wells Cardinals defeated the Blue Eagles 13 to 7 in a baseball game yesterday.

DEMPSEY CAMP INACTIVE; RAIN

Jack Forced to Abandon Road Work Program for Day.

Chicago, Aug. 23—(P)—Hard rains during the night and early today turned the Lincoln Fields race course into a chilly, uninviting place for Jack Dempsey today. As a result, the former world's heavyweight champion was forced to abandon his plans for road work, but he managed to get in a little light exercise.

Dempsey, using a walking exercise, a device similar to a treadmill, figured that he had it about three miles while picking his feet up and laying them down again on this contrivance. He also went through some limbering-up exercises before calling it a day for his first workout in camp.

The challenger was eager to get to work in the form of socking the leather bag and shadow boxing but when wet weather interfered, got rid of some of the eagerness by forcing the carpenters to lower the ring in which he will do his boxing and other work, to ground level.

Dempsey discovered the ring was built three feet off the ground, presenting a situation that might cause an injury if he should be knocked out of the ring or fall out of it, or knocking his sparring partners out of the enclosure as he has done in the past.

Dempsey apparently is out to the Lincoln Fields course to stay. He donned his regular camp regalia, consisting of white trousers, white shirt and a white sweater jacket. He looked the picture of supreme confidence in this outfit, displaying the ruggedness which characterized his old-time ring days.

BILLY EVANS

THIRTY WINS IN YEAR.

It has been a long time since a major league pitcher has been able to win 30 ball games in a season.

Charley Root of the Chicago Cubs is the only hurler who has a fair chance to turn the trick this year. Root has already passed the 21st milestone.

If my memory serves me correctly, Jim Bagby was the last American League pitcher to turn in so remarkable a performance. In 1920 he helped Cleveland win a major league pennant with his 31 victories.

Grover Cleveland Alexander was the last National pitcher to win 30 ball games. That was in 1917. At that time Alex was at the height of his game. His 30 wins of 1917 were preceded by 33 victories in 1916 and 31 in 1915, a matter of 94 games won in three consecutive years. Some pitching!

The ball has been getting livelier every year since those days and the 30 mark hasn't been seriously threatened, unless you care to consider 27 victories as such a threat.

ROOT HAS CHANCE

Despite the remarkable ball which Root has pitched for the Cubs this year his chance to reach the mark is just a remote one.

The day that Root won his 21st ball game of the year, there remained to be played 48 games on the Cubs' schedule of 154 contests. Figuring Root to work every fourth day, he is due to start 12 of those 48 games. That means he must win nine of the 12 starts to win 30 games.

However, if Manager McCarthy is pressed and Root can stand the work, he may be used oftener than every fourth day. In all probability, he will be pressed in to service as relief pitcher in some close score games.

While the chance is rather remote, Root can make the grade if he continues to pitch in the home stretch as he has in the first 100 games of the season. Here's hoping he does. It would be a fitting climax to a great year.

To win 80 ball games a pitcher must get more than his share of the breaks. He must be well backed in the field and at the bat.

BREAKS MUST COME

The breaks can come in many ways, but there is no more decisive manner than the timely basehit.

Well do I recall the year Jim Bagby won his 31 games for Cleveland. Those of the big league fans who remember Bagby, will tell you he had just ordinary stuff but pitched smart baseball. His fast ball was nothing to brag of but he had one of those sneaking curves, a fine change of pace and uncanny control.

Any time Bagby worked for the Indians during the season of 1920, it seemed his teammates always turned in enough runs to win. If the opposition tallied six times off Bagby's delivery, Cleveland made seven or more. When Jim blanked his rivals, Cleveland would get one or more runs.

Bagby got from the Cleveland

Downpour Postpones Tiger, Solon Game

Detroit, Aug. 23—(P)—The final game of the series between the Detroit Tigers and Washington was postponed today due to a steady drizzle of rain. The game probably will be played off at Washington inasmuch as this was to have been the Senators' last appearance at Navin Field.

The postponement left the Tigers with a four-game lead in their hold on second place and victors in three series, the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox and Washington. In addition Washington and Detroit played 15 innings to a 6 to 6 tie. The 13 successive victories helped Harry Heilmann into second place in the American League batting average column, three points behind Al Simmons of the Athletics. Simmons is out of the game with injuries.

A Rat Free Future Predicted for U. S.

Washington (P)—"Public concern" is to be America's Pied Piper.

General interest in rat control, say federal biologists, has been stimulated by better knowledge of facts concerning the spread of communicable diseases.

The person who allows rats to increase on his property is directly responsible for the menace in his neighborhood. Permanent exclusion of the rodent may be brought about by rat-proofing all structures commonly inhabited, by removing all possible shelter, and by cutting off food supply.

Decrease in rat population is only beginning to be apparent.

SON SOUGHT IN MOTHER'S DEATH

Police Discover Woman's Body Under Floor of Basement.

Chicago, Aug. 23—(P)—The movements of Harry Hill, 22, sought following the discovery of his mother's body at Streator, Ill., today were traced to the home of a Chicago friend where he had spent last night. He dropped from sight after telling the friend, William Brydges, he was going to a barber shop.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hill's body was found buried under the brick floor of the basement to her home by her estranged husband, Dr. H. C. Hill, wealthy occultist of Streator, and a party of officers. She had last been seen three weeks ago.

An autopsy revealed that the woman, who was 55 years of age, had been shot by a pistol bullet piercing her brain. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Chicago police, following the trail of young Hill after he left Streator yesterday morning, found that he drove here, visited his former employer and spent last night with Brydges. Brydges said he had known the Hills in Streator.

The absence of Mrs. Hill did not excite her neighbors as she was somewhat of a recluse. Last night her husband went to the home with a friend and during a search of the house noticed the disturbed condition of the basement floor. He notified the police and they found the body. The authorities then sought to question the son, who had been seen at the house since the mother disappeared. He could not be found.

Formal charge of murder against Hill was made tonight by State's Attorney Russell Haffen.

"I am so well convinced that young Hill committed this slaying," he said, "that I feel justified in my action."

Tonight police learned that several days after his mother had disappeared, the son told his father and friends that she was away on a vacation. About the same time Hill, who police said was known as a reckless gambler, forged five checks approximating $1,250 on his mother's account.

The boy explained to friends that his mother was away on a vacation and had given him authority to use her signature.

Haffen said he believed Hill had become infuriated at his mother's objections to gambling and had slain her.

Grand Jury Indicts Judge in Floggings

Wedowee, Ala., Aug. 23—(P)—Impeachment of E. M. Moore, probate judge of Randolph county, was recommended by a special grand jury which yesterday investigated recent floggings in the county.

The jury charged that evidence had been submitted to show that Judge Moore was "intemperate in the use of intoxicating liquors to such an extent that he is unfit for the discharge of his duty," that he "has wilfully neglected his duty," and for alleged incompetency.

Although 45 other true bills were returned, the grand jury reported that insufficient evidence was found for flogging indictments.

An American captured by Mexican bandits was released for only $10 ransom. We can remember the time when Americans used to bring at least $1000 any day, but, as the reformers say, we've gone to the dogs terribly.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Since the earliest times, water has been much used in the treatment of disease, including not only the hot and cold bath, but also special applications such as alternating, sudden sprays, continuous flow and similar modifications. The first action of either hot or cold water is probably stimulating, particularly if suddenly applied. Surf bathing, as pointed out by Dr. Guy Hinsdale, is a helpful exercise, since it stimulates the body to react against the cold water and the force of the wave. The secondary effect of a surf bath is to make the bather quite sleepy and to rest him greatly.

A bath ranging in temperature from 94 to 95 degrees Fahrenheit is called an indifferent bath, since it does not place any toll upon the heat regulating apparatus of the body.

The carbonated water of the Naubelm bath, named for the springs in Germany, is a tonic bath, used particularly for its effects on the heart and blood vessels. These baths are not given unless under competent supervision, but they are gradually increasing in their use and are applied at many special resorts in the United States and in the hospitals at many institutions.

In the treatment of many conditions in which it is desired to encourage elimination, patients are submitted to the heat of incandescent lamps or steamed in a cabinet in order to induce free perspiration. Following this, a spray of cool water is thrown over the body with the result that the action of the blood vessels is stimulated.

Buyers Have Near View of Models

Paris—Beauty standards for Paris mannequins have been so raised in the past few years that some of the girls would now do credit to the first row of a Ziegfeld Follies. Most of the customers, therefore, approve the closer view which is afforded them by the greater intimacy of the modern showrooms.

One dressmaker has ripped out the little theater which has been a characteristic of his salons, and substituted a long low runway which permits closer view of the styles. The change, made at the sacrifice of 50 seats, is necessitated, he says, by the new models, who require very close scrutiny for maximum appreciation.

Other Nations to Follow America's Example, He Believes.

Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 23—(P)—Expressing the confident belief that the day is close at hand when other nations of the world will follow the course of the United States in banishing liquor and the flag of civilized nations will no longer fly over a brewery, a distillery or a drinking hole, William E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, international representative of the World League Against Alcoholism, tonight delivered the address which marked the end of this year's congress at Winona Lake.

"Go back to your homes and say that America is not going to lie down to be walked over by the scouring of the former liquor system," declared Mr. Johnson in addressing the delegates. "Tell the world that America has settled this problem."

Declaring that the liquor problem is not one of modern times but started back almost with the beginning of time, Mr. Johnson reviewed the progress of prohibition moves since the time of King Hammurabi, who ruled Babylon, 4,200 years ago, to the present time.

Mr. Johnson declared that approximately 700,000,000 people in the world have been taught for thousands of years by their religions that drinking is harmful. These people, most of them in the Orient, were quick to see that with the adoption of the eighteenth amendment the United States, the greatest of all nations, not only adopted their original principles of liquor, but actually made these principles a part of the fundamental law of the land, he said.

It's a safe bet that the Oklahoma man who stabbed to death a 100-pound catfish couldn't emerge unscathed from a battle with a can of sardines.

When a pedestrian succeeds in getting across a busy street unscathed he's so surprised you could knock him over with a fender.

OBITUARY

DOROTHY DOUCETTE.
Dorothy Doucette, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doucette of Toledo, Ohio, died yesterday afternoon at St. Francis hospital as the result of injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile on Sheridan road Sunday afternoon. The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery. The parents of the child had been visiting in Escanaba, Mrs. Doucette being the former Miss Alma Finstrom of this city, and were preparing to return to their home in Toledo when the tragic death of their child occurred.

JOSEPH STANICK.
Joseph Stanick, age 39, of 704 Delta avenue, Gladstone, died at his home at 8 o'clock yesterday morning after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Stanick had been a resident of Gladstone for more than 20 years and was well known here. The body was removed to the Allo Funeral Home where it was prepared for burial. It will be brought back to the family residence in Gladstone this morning at 10 o'clock. No definite funeral arrangements had been made at a late hour yesterday afternoon. Besides his wife Mr. Stanick is survived by two daughters and two sons: Rusica, Alga, Emil and Ernest.

A Book That Grows Better Every Time You Read It

Know what it is? A Savings Book, of course. It grows better every time you read it because, if you do your part by making systematic deposits, it is constantly increasing in value.

If you haven't such a book now, why not come in and get yours today? One dollar is enough with which to open an account.
