AGE MAY SWAY PICKING PARTY FLAG BEARERS

ONE CANDIDATE ARGUES HE IS TOO OLD TO RUN.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Sept. 1.—Will age play a part in the next presidential campaign? One of the candidates has already argued that he is too old to run for the presidency.

Table with columns: Name, Age, Party. Includes Republicans like Frank O. Lowden (66) and Democrats like Evans Woolen (63).

Thus it will be seen that in the republican race Mr. Hoover is the youngest of the group mentioned...

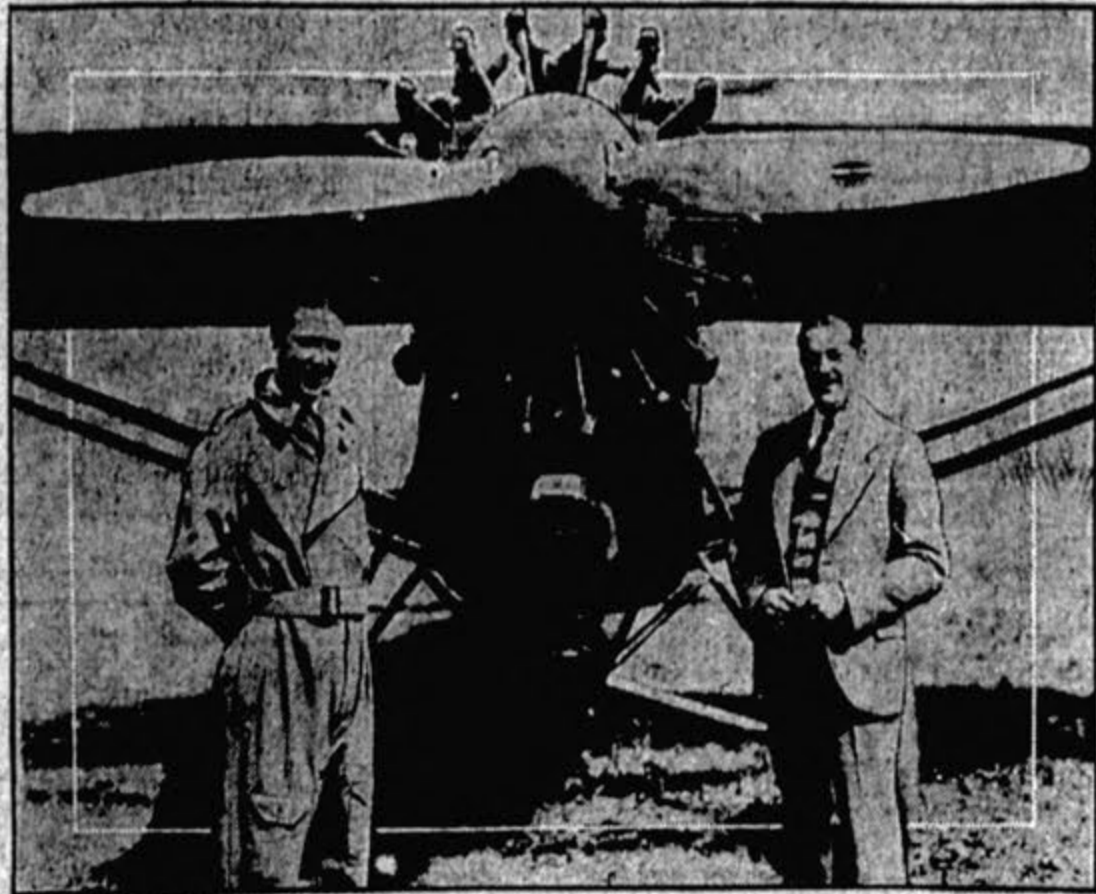

Among the democrats, Governor Smith is just a year older than Herbert Hoover. As a rule the politicians do not pay much attention to the age problem...

With reference to the religious question, the president said: "The religious law has been enforced strictly, and it can be said that the religious conflict caused by the rebellious clergy now has practically concluded for the laws have been complied with despite the futile resistance of the clergy."

BOY HELPED TO PLAN HIS DEATH

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Young Benjamin Goldstein, who was thrown into the waters of Gravesend Bay to drown last week, thought he was a conspirator rather than a victim in a plot to collect $140,000 insurance on his life, the police asserted today.

Thought He Was Conspirator in Insurance Drowning.

When he set out from Coney Island in a rowboat with his two companions who confessed, said the police, to his murder, he thought he was taking part in a plot to circulate a report of his death while he went into hiding; he did not know the report would be true, detectives said they learned from members of the young man's family.

SPEAKER FLAYS FALSE PAPERS

Greater Menace to Country Than Communism, Says Hewart.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Newspapers that misrepresent were pictured as a greater menace to a nation than treacherous communism, propounded by Lord Hewart, lord chief justice of England, and Baron of Bury, in his address before the American Bar Association tonight.

Lord Hewart's speech was the capstone of a day of technical business brought before the convention in reports of 25 committees and sections. He was introduced by William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States.

Lord Hewart's speech was on the subject of common law, but he went into it his references to communism and newspapers. He laid it down as a philosophical principle that the administration of justice is of greater importance to a people than anything else, asserting that confidence in the administration of justice makes people contented and happy.

Justice Kills Communism

"Where there are just laws, administered without fear or favor, by incorruptible and impartial judges, there is not much cause to fear popular outbreaks or revolution," Lord Hewart said. "It is, you may think, principally for that reason that the treacherous propaganda of communism, so dangerous in many other countries, can have little effect in the United States or Great Britain. It is beyond the imagination of any sane person that Americans or Englishmen would wish to change their free institutions for the ghastly tyranny by which the people of Russia are, after a fashion, ruled."

Of newspapers, he said: "What is called 'the freedom of the press' consists simply in the right which every person has to publish anything he pleases, so long as it is not libel. At common law, newspapers have no special privileges in the matter of publication, though by statute they are specially protected with reference to the publication of reports of proceedings in courts of justice and public meetings. Nor, on the other hand, have they any special obligations. The right of freedom of speech, is similarly, the right to say anything, in public or private, which is not either seditious or blasphemous or defamatory of any person."

Urges Accuracy

"I should like very briefly to refer to a change which seems to have taken place in the character and the aims of much of the newspaper press. It goes without saying that if self-government is to be a real and a living thing, the citizens who share the responsibility of governing, that is to say, all the citizens ought at least to have access to information upon public affairs which is both accurate and adequate."

FORCED LANDING

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The monoplane Royal Windsor was forced down at St. John's, Quebec, at 8 o'clock tonight, according to a long distance telephone call to members of the flight committee.

Both C. A. "Duke" Schiller, pilot of the plane which started on a non-stop flight from here, and his navigator, Phil Wood, talked on the telephone.

Because of a faulty telephone connection it was at first thought that they were forced down because a wing of their plane took fire. The flyers said that they had had splendid flying weather right up to the time they passed Montreal. They ran into a severe storm and fog and were forced down.

It was understood that they intended to hop off the first thing in the morning for Newfoundland.

St. Johns, Quebec, the seat of St. Johns county, is 27 miles southeast of Montreal. It is a railroad center for trains operating between New York and Boston and Montreal.

instead of an earth inductor compass to show the way over the long course which the pilots charted for themselves.

Would Avoid Fog.

The flyers originally planned to head away for the Azores, then set a course for Halifax, N. S., thence along the Nova Scotia and New England coasts to New York. By this course the "Bluebird" would avoid fog and bad weather off Newfoundland.

The fuselage of the "Bluebird" is light blue in front, while the rear and tail is greyish brown. The name "Farnum" is painted on the nose in white letters, while "Farnum" is painted in black on the tail piece which also bears the large letters "O. F." The wings are yellowish grey and beneath the underwing is painted "Farnum."

The words "Paris-New York" are painted on both sides of the ship in white letters on a blue background.

"The Bluebird" carries no radio.

First Pullman Was Built 68 Years Ago

Chicago, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Sixty-eight years ago today, "No. 9," the first sleeping car ever built by George M. Pullman, took the rails for its maiden trip from Bloomington, Ill., to Chicago, hitched to the rear of a Chicago and Alton passenger train.

"No. 9," a rebuilt Alton day coach, was finished in hickory at a cost of $1,000 and was considered a great advance in railroad comfort. It was a regulation railway coach of that period. This car was the first to have disappearing upper berths, which were drawn against the ceiling by a pulley. There were eight sections, and the car was heated by stoves.

Sixty years ago this spring the "Pioneer," a "palace" car, was built by Pullman and its first trip was from Chicago to Springfield, Ill., with the widow and children of Abraham Lincoln as passengers. General Grant later rode to Galena, Ill., in it.

So radical a departure from the accustomed lines of coach building was the "Pioneer" that the railroad had to cut off part of every section platform along the way and also remove some bridge banisters and guard rails to allow it to pass.

Pair Incarcerated in Fireman's Death

St. Clairsville, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—William Henderson, 47, negro, and John Heclo, 48, were in the Belmont county jail tonight while authorities continued an investigation of the killing today of A. J. McGee, 40, B. & O. railroad fireman from Wheeling, W. Va.

McGee was shot from ambush in the cab of his engine which was pulling a train loaded with coal mined in the non-union field in West Virginia. Union sympathizers have been active in the area where the shooting occurred.

More than 25 shots were fired at two sections of the train. McGee, fireman of the first section, was killed instantly by a bullet in his head. Shots were fired into the caboose of the first section and into cars of the second section after McGee was slain, but no one else was hurt.

Belmont county authorities found an abandoned mine car about 60 feet from the railroad right-of-way with three empty rifle shells. There was no other clue as to who had done the shooting.

McCray Shuns Graft Inquiry on Return

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Politics and investigations of alleged graft in state government do not interest Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana, who arrived here today from Atlanta federal prison, after serving more than three years of a 16-year sentence for fraud.

All McCray wants is to be left alone, he said, as he joyfully greeted his wife, three children and two grandchildren, none of whom he had seen since he departed for prison. He has no plans for the future and will not consider any until he has rested and renewed his acquaintance with relatives and friends.

"I want to stay as far away as I can from that," McCray declared when asked regarding the Marion county grand jury's investigation of charges of political graft.

It was learned late today that McCray would not be called before the investigating body. Recent newspaper articles charged that Gov. Ed Jackson, who was secretary of state when McCray was governor, offered McCray $10,000 and immunity from conviction on charges of forgery if he would name a person other than William H. Remy as prosecutor. Remy, however, was appointed.

Border Liquor Army Swells

Washington, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Concerned over liquor smuggling along the Canadian boundary, Assistant Secretary Lowman, in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today that the number of agents at Detroit would be increased from 20 to 50 and that "a substantial increase" would be made without delay in the border-patrol between Erie, Pa., and Toledo, Ohio.

The announcement of the treasury official, coming closely after one that the border patrol along the boundary would be increased to 400 men, double its present strength, followed conferences with Thomas E. Stone, administrator for the newly created Michigan enforcement district, and Arthur P. Fenton, collector of customs at Cleveland.

Republican Leaders Endorse Vandenberg

Grand Rapids, Sept. 1.—(AP)—At the annual Kent county Republican barbecue and picnic today, State Chairman G. J. Diekema, Congressman Carl E. Mape and Attorney General W. W. Potter all endorsed A. H. Vandenberg of this city for the next Republican nomination for U. S. senator from Michigan.

Responding to their statements Mr. Vandenberg declared that the matter is being given prayerful consideration. He added that it seemed to be touched with a degree of inevitability. "But what happens to me or to any other individual is inconsequential," he declared. "The important thing is that this next senatorship should be redeemed to the Republican party in order that we may abate the nature-fake of a great and consistently under the Democratic side when the senate divides upon party lines. The Republican redemption of the next senatorship is the important thing. The Republican nominee who is best calculated to warrant that result is the advisable nominee. My promise to you is to best serve the result in whatever capacity the developments of the next few months may recommend."

Flyer Charged With Customs Violation

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 1.—(AP)—By landing in a monoplane at Leaside Field here today without giving previous notification to the collector of customs, Harry Brooks, of Detroit, violated customs regulations regarding the entry of flying machines into Canada, it was charged in a report by the local collector of customs to the customs department at Ottawa today.

The local collector asked for a ruling regarding the monoplane, which is the same ship used last week by Commander Richard E. Byrd in bringing Maurice Boksnowski, French minister of commerce, from New York to Toronto.

League to Consider World Disarmament

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 1.—(AP)—With the opening of the forty-sixth session of the council of the League of Nations today, reports were current that Sweden and some other Scandinavian lands were trying to induce Gustav Stresemann, German foreign secretary, to take the leadership of the small powers in the league in a determined drive at the forthcoming assembly to force a general reduction of armaments in the world.

Their argument is that if Dr. Stresemann directs the disarmament move Germany will become a greater force in the league than if she contented herself with following the lead of her fellow great powers, which would, in the Scandinavian view, weaken the disarmament effort and at the same time curb Germany's international political importance.

The council meeting is preliminary to the convoking of the assembly, September 5.

Foster Loses Hold on Communist Party

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—William Z. Foster, stormy petrel of the Communist organization in the United States, was said to have been defeated today in an effort to wrest control of the party convention from Jay Lovestone, acting secretary and successor to the late C. E. Ruthenberg, as leader of the party.

Although an effort was made to keep the proceedings of the credentials committee secret, it was reported that Foster and Lovestone fought their battle before the committee with the result that Foster's adherents were accorded only 18 votes in the convention while the delegation headed by Lovestone was given 32.

League to Consider World Disarmament

Formal sessions of the convention are scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of five articles on suicide, discussed from a medical standpoint. Tomorrow: Choosing a Way Out.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

From the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C., comes a new consideration of the suicide problem in the United States.

The number of suicides for the years 1920, 1921 and 1922 are recorded as 8,959, 11,136 and 11,053. In the 35 classes of conditions resulting in death, suicide holds sixteenth place, being preceded by such conditions as heart disease, tuberculosis, cancer, brain hemorrhage, kidney diseases, congenital debilities, malformations and violent deaths among others.

About as many people die from suicide as from old age.

The rate for homicide is gradually growing larger, being 2.1 in 1900; 5.9 in 1910, and 8.4 in 1922. The rate for murder among colored people is five to six times higher than that for whites, whereas the suicide rate is approximately one-third of that of the white.

City People Top List.
In practically all countries of the world, more city people commit suicide than do those living in the country. The highest rate of any state or city along the Atlantic coast is that of Washington, D. C., and the lowest is in Pennsylvania.

The state with the highest rate for deaths from suicide of any in the country is California.

Public opinion sometimes credits the Japanese, Chinese and negroes with responsibility for the high rate for this state, but a study of the figures does not warrant such an opinion.

Frisco's Rate Largest.
However, the suicide rates for colored people in California are enormously high. Indeed, San Francisco has the highest suicide rate of any large city in the world, being ten points higher than Leipzig, Hamburg, Berlin, Dresden and Stockholm.

St. Louis is seventh on the list of the cities in the world, but second in the United States, although 15 points lower than San Francisco. Buenos Aires in Argentina has the highest rate in the American continent outside of the United States.

a two weeks' trip to Appleton, Milwaukee and Chicago. He was accompanied by his little niece, Margaret Reider.

George King, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. King, who has been playing with an orchestra in the eastern states, is spending several days in this city visiting at the home of his parents.

Mrs. Joseph Marriero and son Chester are visiting at Green Bay.

Miss LaVerne Norval will leave this morning for South Bend, Ind., where she will enter a nurses' training school. She will visit in Chicago over the week-end.

Miss Doris Stimp, 325 South Ely street, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoes at Bark River.

Miss Irene Dupont of Ten Mile Creek, left Thursday for Big Rapids, where she will complete her course at the Ferris Institute.

CLUB WINNERS TO TAKE TRIP

Will Leave Monday by Motor for Detroit to Attend Fair.

Seven Delta county members of the Boys' and Girls' clubs who won places at the Chatham meeting a few weeks ago, accompanied by Alfred Groos and J. E. Turner, county agent, will leave Monday morning on a trip through Wisconsin, to Chicago and on to Detroit where they will be guests at the Michigan state fair.

The trip will be enjoyed by about 50 upper-penninsula boys and girls who placed in the various judging contests at Chatham. The group will meet Sunday evening at Newport in time for supper. They will leave early Monday morning on the trip, which is to last one week. The tour is under the general supervision of M. L. Wright, of Marquette, assistant state club work leader.

The Delta county winners who will go are: Veto Herric of Ensign, Leslie Johnson of West Ford River, and Peter Vermorel of St. Nicholas, who won awards in the dairy judging contest; Henry Canfield and Miss Genevieve Hoppe, both of Groos, winners in the potato demonstration contest; Donald Kallman and Ivan Chamberlain, both of Groos, who placed in the poultry judging contest.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—Iron Trade Review today says: While production of pig iron in August continues to decline, for the fourth consecutive month, the decrease was the smallest of any of the four months, suggesting that the low point of the year has been reached and an upturn may be expected in September.

Total production in August was 2,929,020 tons, 25,605 tons below that of July. Daily average output for August was 94,484 tons, or 827 tons less than the July average. August and July each having 31 days, the decline in total output and daily average relatively is the same, 0.8 per cent. The drop in the number of active stacks from 190 in July to 188 in August, was the smallest of any since the recession in production began in May.

The August daily average, 94,484 tons, was the lowest for any month since August, 1925. The total for August, 2,929,020 tons, is 271,703 tons, or 8.5 per cent less than for August, 1925.

Pig iron displays more life, with several leading consumers, including the Standard Sanitary Mfg. Co., having closed for forward requirements, and others negotiating for good tonnage. Furnaces are reducing stocks. Makers represented at Cleveland booked 170,000 tons in August; at Chicago sales ran to over 60,000 tons. Foundry iron on recent tests demonstrated its strength at $17.50, base, valley, while basic eased off 25 cents to $17.25. The Buffalo market is stronger. Foundry coke is in better demand with prices steady, while heating coke shows advances for 50 cents to $1 in some districts.

August is passing with little change in the position of finished steel. Structural bookings have declined somewhat in the past week, due largely to the exhaustion of pending work at New York, but no other finished steel line is so active. These products finding a major outlet in the automotive industry have undergone further contraction both in sales and production. The 1928 rail market is more active and inquiry for locomotives has expanded, but interest in cars is dormant. Steelmaking averages 67 to 69 per cent, with the industry still looking to the middle of September to develop improvement.

With lake shipments of iron ore in August estimated at 8,750,000 tons, the movement for the season to September 1 has fallen behind that in the comparable period of 1926 by approximately 500,000 tons.

A more stable condition of prices is reflected in the fact that Iron Trade Review's composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products stands practically unchanged from a week ago, at $36.27, an advance of four cents.

Election of Chief of Police John J. Tolan to the vice presidency of the Michigan Police Chiefs' association, was a formal compliment to the veteran officer and to the City of Escanaba. AIR ROADS.

Epochal developments move in distinct phases, says the Detroit Saturday Night. Aviation, the paper points out, is now entering its most important phase, that of building, just as motor transportation did some 20 years ago. After motor cars had reached a fair degree of efficiency it realized that they were useless without roads to run them.

The general public is unaware of air roads as just as necessary as roads to automobiles. It means a network of routes provided with the light and radio equivalent of signposts and with flying fields properly spaced and equipped. The airplane is a practical and efficient. Next must have a capital investment in air roads if the airplane is to be a toy and yield adequate return for the effort put on so far, and especially if it is to be a solid industry of importance. This industry will grow as the roads and no faster. Air roads will cost money, much more money, and the taxpayer must be made willing.

The PENNY PRINCESS

Copyright 1927 by NEA Service, Inc. CHAPTER XXXVIII

When Vee-Vee, refreshed by the breakfast which she had taken on a malicious pleasure in watching the Russian prince prepare, entered the second of the two rooms of the mountain shack in which she was being held a prisoner, she was no longer too tired to look about her with lively curiosity.

There was one small window, roughly boarded over with solid-looking strips of weather-stained pine. She dragged a stool, the only sort of a chair that the room offered, to the wall in which the window was set, and standing on it, pounded against the boards with her fists.

She next turned her attention to the door which led into the front room. Vee-Vee had already noted that it swung lockless and latchless, like a swinging door between a kitchen and butler's pantry. There was no way at all by which it could be made fast, to serve as a protection for her against either the kidnappers or the prince, if they should desire to violate her privacy.

Her heart lunged sickeningly with fear, but she quickly conquered it, telling herself that she was not the villain-menced heroine in a western movie. The prince had not intentionally abducted her. His desires were centered on the woman who had been his wife, the woman he had thought he was abducting. Understandable enough, he was angry with her—Vee-Vee, and probably would be as glad as she when the ransom was paid and they were released, or taken within a reasonable distance of New York, however the kidnappers might arrange the details of the ransom. It was silly, to be afraid, she told herself scornfully.

Along one wall were two bunks, built one above the other, as in the front room. Both were neatly made up, with new sheets, and with new brown army blankets. Curiously she turned back the sheets to discover what sort of mattresses the abandoned old cabin had offered its guests, and found that they were not mattresses at all, but the cushions of an automobile. So the prince had a car somewhere near, unless the kidnaper, "Satan," had confiscated it. It had not occurred to her before to wonder how the prince had arranged his own part of the mad adventure, but it was fairly evident that he had either rented or bought a car for the trip. On the folded-back blanket of the top bunk lay a pair of pale blue silk pajamas, as neatly arranged as if the prince's valet had laid them out for him.

When she had taken off her evening dress earlier in the morning and dressed herself in more suitable clothes, she had left her suitcase on the floor, and had hung her dresses on big, rusty nails in the wall opposite the bunks. Although it was broad daylight outside, the room was in semi-darkness, because of the boarded-up window, but her eyes were becoming accustomed to the lack of light and she had no difficulty in finding the prince's suitcase, a huge brown leather affair, almost covered with foreign labels, and which she had pushed it out of sight beneath the lower bunk, as if he had the instincts of a meticulous housekeeper. Vee-Vee dragged it out, lifted it, found it to be heavy, and then dragged it across the floor to the swinging door. She paused only to pick up the prince's silk pajamas, which she stuffed under the lid of the case without examining its contents, then she pushed open the door, and called out, in a matter-of-fact but imperious voice: "Here is your dressing case, Ivan."

The prince, who was sulkily returning packages of food to the small wall cupboard beside the fireplace, while the kidnaper, "Happy," looked on, grinning with amusement, whirled to face her.

"Leave it in there," he commanded her in a crisp, clipped voice. "I am sure you will find it more convenient to have it here, where you will sleep and dress," Vee-Vee told him evenly.

Before he could reply she had dumped the suitcase upon the floor and returned to the back room. She stood just inside the door; her hand on her heart, her ears straining for his answer.

But he had evidently concluded not to press the point—so early in the morning. She did not undress—could not bring herself to do so, with that door likely to swing open any minute—but lay down in the lower bunk, smoothing her skirt carefully to avoid wrinkling it, and drawing the sheet over her slim body. There was no pillow, but she thought she could not have slept, even if there had been a cushion of down under her tired head. An hour ago she could have slept standing, but coffee and food had revived her body and stimulated her brain.

Surely no girl had ever paid more dearly for her folly in running after a man, she thought bitterly. The memory of Schuyler Smythe and his hideous unmasking in the hour when she had needed him most, had thrown herself on his pretended love, shot through her heart like a red-hot sword. Her whole body quivered with shame for him and for herself. How easily she had been taken in! A pair of sultry, brooding dark eyes, a handsome face, a tall, lean body—it had taken no more than these to turn the head of an efficient business woman like Vera Victoria Gameron, to make her forget everything else and follow a stranger into a Sunday Supplement series of wild adventures. What a fool she had been, what a silly, romantic blind little fool!

She could have saved herself the soul-searing humiliation which Schuyler had brought upon her, could have extricated herself from the whole, foolish situation, if she had only heeded Jerry's pleas in the letter which he had armed her with. What must Jerry be thinking of her now? Was his love, which she had done nothing to hold and which she had valued so lightly because her dreams were fixed upon another man, strong enough to follow her into the peril which she had brought upon herself?

Trades & Labor Council's Holiday Plans Complete

Plans are complete for an unusually interesting and entertaining celebration of Labor Day here next Monday. The Trades and Labor Council has arranged a program which will be of interest to those of all ages and the public, generally, has been invited and urged to participate.

Rev. H. C. McDonald, pastor of the First Baptist church, will deliver the principal address at the meeting to be held in the Deloit theatre in the morning. He is a speaker of ability and, unusual forcefulness and members of the committee believe he will have a message of wide and compelling appeal. Mayor George G. Genesee will deliver the address of welcome. Charles N. Wood will preside.

Other events in the morning will be a concert by the Escanaba Municipal band and several athletic events.

It is expected that many families will partake of picnic lunches at noon in Ludington park. The afternoon program will consist of a lengthy athletic program and a band concert. The races and contests will begin at 1:30 o'clock.

For those who prefer baseball and motorcycle racing, there will be a Delta-Schoolcraft League ball game at South Park, and a speed meet, featuring auto polo at Flat Rock. Dancing will also be available, at night, for those who desire it.

It is expected that a large crowd will participate in all of the day's events.

Richer-Marcoe.

Miss Agnes M. Richer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Richer, 1111 South First avenue, and Ruben J. Marcoe, son of Noah Marcoe, Sr. of Hermansville, were married at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Anne's Catholic church. The Rev. Fr. R. G. Jacques, pastor of the church, officiated. Miss Beatrice M. Richer, the bride's sister, and Thomas B. Richer, a cousin of the bride, were the attendants.

To the strains of the bridal chorus, played by Miss Irene Villeneuve at the organ, the bridal party approached the altar where the ceremony was read by the officiating clergyman. During the ceremony Miss Alta B. Todd sang "O Promise Me." The offertory, Bach-Gounod's Ave Maria, was sung by Mrs. Thomas St. Jacques and solo parts of the mass were sung by Matt Laviolette, attended by a full chorus.

The bride was attired in a white satin dress embroidered with pearls. Her veil was tulle, caught with pearls and she carried a white pearl rosary and a shower bouquet of roses and swansima. The bride-maid's dress was shell pink taffeta with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas, gladiolus and ferns.

A dinner was served at noon in the home of the bride's parents. The guests included twenty of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Mrs. Rose Wilson was cateress. The young people left later for the Wisconsin Dells and Chicago. They will return to make their home in Hermansville where the bridegroom is employed as head bookkeeper for the Wisconsin Land and Lumber company. Mrs. Marcoe was a teacher in Hermansville high school last year.

Out-of-town relatives who attended the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Noah Marcoe, Sr. of Hermansville, parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Ray Carley of Gillette, Wis., sister of the bridegroom, and several friends from Hermansville.

The Woman's Day

BY ALLENE SUMNER

Those who prate about "free love" and easier marriage and divorce laws may be interested in a few figures from new Russia.

NICE FOR SOME. Broad-minded Russia's marital theory is similar to the theory of most of our modern novelists—the theory that marriage should last only as long as love, and that when love cools, marriage is off again, on again.

HIRE A HALL! Mayfair hostesses have received literally the cry of "Hire a hall!" Strictly speaking, instead of hiring halls, they are hiring entire houses for social affairs.

THOU SHALT NOT! The co-eds' ten commandments were recently compiled at a certain sorority convention. The code underwriters said that the ten thou shalt and shalt not sought a neat balance between the ideals of men, mothers and professors.

COLONEL'S LADY. When the state of Texas thought that Governor Moody's pay should be raised he vetoed the amendment which would raise his pay from $4,000 to $10,000.

THE PLUS SEX. Woman, as "the plus sex," the stronger sex, has appeared much of late in the public press, answering other recent outbreaks about woman as a weakling and physical incapacity.

PIPE DOWN! I doubt if women enjoy such revelations. If the truth becomes known, we will be expected to yield our seats in street cars to frail males; to stoke the furnace and mow the lawn, to say nothing of beating rugs; to open cans and screw in new light bulbs—in short, lose many of our perquisites because of our traditional "frailty."

respect, at least, have much in common. Their common bond is a shunning of the limelight of publicity and a belief that their husbands' jobs do not make them, the wives, public characters.

Is Mrs. Coolidge's Successor In This Group of Ladies?

Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Hiram Johnson, Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Mrs. William E. Borah, Mrs. Herbert Hoover

BY ALLENE SUMNER, NEA Service Writer. Washington—Who is going to be our next First Lady? The Colonel's Lady and Judy O'Grady may be sisters under the skin, but when one or the other is to be First Lady, the surface skin stuff begins to look rather important.

There are six ladies who, because of a recent famous sentence containing the verb "choose," are billed for stellar roles in that great quadrangular comedy entitled "Our First Lady."

She is a beautiful girl, wooed by foreign princes, and shocked everyone by her marriage to just an aspiring young attorney. She is characterized as "a man's woman," the sort of woman with whom men delight to talk. Efficient, a good business woman, she has managed her own money, her home, her children, and says her life is full enough without assuming further responsibilities.

—ETHEL—

HOW DO THEY GET THOSE WAYS?

THE PRESENT-DAY FEMALE WANTS TO LOOK LIKE A MAN

Mrs. Longworth, it may be recalled, has been herself since the days she smoked the first cigarette smoked by any woman in the country, rode a sacred elephant at Stam, and stood on her head at state receptions.

Here would be the return to the White House as First Lady of the Princess Alice of the Land. Mrs. Hoover will talk on only her pet child, the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Lowden will discuss home, motherhood, and the job of being wife to a public official, and delightful little Mrs. Borah, who can refuse few people anything, will "help the newspaper girls out because she always wanted to be one herself."

These six possible First Ladies might be classified thus—Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the youngest, the prettiest, the most politically minded. Mrs. Lowden, the most cosmopolitan. Mrs. Johnson, the most modest and retiring. Mrs. Dawes, the sweetest. Mrs. Hoover, the most intelligent, the leader type. Mrs. Borah, the best company, the wittiest and the best friend of the newspaper girls.

Several Tasty Salads

- Potato Salad: Six medium-sized cold boiled potatoes, 1 green pepper, 1 cooking fat, 1 hard cooked egg, 1/2 onion, 4 small cucumber pickles, 1/2 cup chopped pecan meats, cooked salad dressing, hearts of lettuce. Any fish, lobster, crab meat, shrimps or halibut is good combined simply with celery. If it is necessary to "stretch" the fish, cold boiled potatoes, green peas, cucumber or green pepper can be used.

Chamber of Commerce Names Stock-Taking Committeemen

The membership renewal and stock-taking campaign of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce got underway yesterday when Lawrence Jacobs was appointed general chairman at a meeting of the board of directors, held at noon in the Delta hotel.

The three-year period, for which the memberships were subscribed in the campaign three years ago, expires on September 30, next. For that reason the board of directors have decided to conduct a campaign this month to renew all present members and to add many new ones from the business and professional men and women who are not now identified with the organization. To assist in this work the board has employed the services of the American City Bureau of Chicago, which rendered a similar service here in the campaigns six and three years ago. Courtland Yount, campaign director, has been here since Monday, working with Secretary Bander in handling the preliminary steps of the movement. He will be joined next Monday by Charles E. Watkins, educational director of the bureau, who will appear before various meetings and organizations of Escanaba during the next week. Mr. Watkins is a nationally known speaker and has worked in movements of this character all over the United States east of the Rocky Mountains.

Chairman Jacobs is now busy forming an executive committee to direct the movement, and appointing several officers to handle the various phases of the campaign. The personnel of these committees will be announced as soon as their acceptance is secured.

The campaign will cover a period of four weeks, closing with an intensive solicitation for members during the week of September 19. The first three weeks will be devoted to a publicity program, setting forth the accomplishments of the organization during the past six years and plans for its activities over the next three years. During this period a large number of committees will be organized and their work planned in detail.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
 Rin-Tin-Tin, the famous dog star, will be featured on the Delft's picture program Friday and Saturday in "The Night Cry," his latest picture. Although his previous screen successes have stamped him as a true artist, Rin-Tin-Tin is said to be at his very best in this vivid story of a dog's loyalty and devotion to his master in the face of persecution and danger. Herman Raymaker directed the picture. June Marlowe and John Harron play the leading supporting roles. "The Night Cry" is said to be humorous and exciting and grades high in entertainment value.

AT THE STRAND.
 George Walsh in "His Rise to Fame," will occupy the principal position on the Strand's Friday-Saturday program. Walsh is said to demonstrate anew, his athletic wizardry. He becomes the champion of the square circle, a prize fighter without a peer. At home in every form of athletic activity, Walsh is in his element with the padded gloves. Peggy Shaw is Walsh's leading man in the picture and the cast contains several other well-knowns.

GOLDEN BLOW-OUT.
 Kalspell, Mont.—Picking up gold on the run is the latest in Montana. R. C. Greenland, of Kalspell, had a blow-out on his car and the casing picked up gold for him. The only thing to worry about is if the gold is sufficient to pay for fixing the flat. The gold was discovered by the repairman at a local shop while he was fixing the tire. Small, glittering, dust-like quantities were scattered along the inside.

GIRLS BEST RIDERS.
 London.—An international motorcycle reliability tour has resulted in the defeat of picked teams of men by three English girls. The English team was the only one not to lose the course in driving rain and mist.

Mrs. Cora Hicks Brace will be in the city the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of September to arrange for and begin lessons with piano pupils for the coming season. Communications may be mailed to Ludington Hotel.

NOTHING BUT THE BEST
 In addition to selling the world's best tires, the garages and service stations listed below are ready to fuel your car for that Labor Day trip with the very best oils and gasoline available anywhere. Drive around and get acquainted with real service.

Extra Goodyear Tubes

There's nothing like a Goodyear Tube for making a casing deliver its full mileage. Goodyear Tubes hold the air; your casing is properly inflated and so gives proper service. Many car owners ruin expensive casings by using old, or worn tubes. This is a good time of year to have your tubes looked over. They've been through the hot weather and may need attention. We have a complete line of genuine Goodyear Tubes and Pathfinder Tubes—priced right, of course, and each guaranteed to be a genuine first without defects.

FREE SERVICE
 Along with every tire we sell goes exceptional service. We put on tires FREE. We inspect tires for uneven, or unequal wear FREE. We make repairs, in case of accident, quickly and thoroughly. Throughout the life of the tire we do everything we can to bring you back when you next need new tires.

IN NEW YORK

New York—Manhattan snapshots: a catch-penny peddler turning loose mechanical mice under the feet of girls in a crowded subway.

The German in the Russian uniform who opens taxicab doors in front of the Chinese restaurant.

A dozen ex-fappers looking like mouling birds as they let their bobbed hair grow.

Otto Kahn, perched on a barrel in a seatless hall watching the preparation of a new musical comedy.

Very amusing are these sceneless, costumeless, chairless rehearsals in bare halls.

Even the taxi drivers who gather in front of the burlesque house, refuse to haul visitors back up-town.

These are the Manhattan variants of the "hey rube" who, in years ago was depicted coming to town.

The entertainment is dished only for those who like their amusement in the raw.

These are the Manhattan variants of the "hey rube" who, in years ago was depicted coming to town.

Kids still drink ice cream, hot dogs and orange drinks in the aisles and one can eat peanuts to his heart's content.

For, as the bromidists point out, human nature doesn't change much—whether in Podunk or Second Avenue, New York.

"BIGGER AND BETTER" NO FICTION WHEN SPEAKING OF SCHOOLCRAFT COUNTY FAIR

In preparation for the horse-racing program, which will be one of the drawing cards for the Schoolcraft county fair on September 21-22-23, officials of the local fair association are preparing to make immediate repairs and improvements on the local track, now known as one of the fastest in the peninsula.

Paris Is Generous With Fashion Ideas

Paris—(AP)—After the haze of bewildering lifts from the dress making world, where half a hundred designers of original models showed their winter style collections, the experts can simmer down the evidence of what's what for next season.

They find two types of clothes being shown. For street, sport and morning wear styles have not changed much except that skirts are from one to two inches longer, belts are a little tighter and higher and fabrics have changed.

In the hours of the day and night when they need not be "practically" dressed, women will wear frivolous clothes.

Skirts are sometimes many yards around. Many evening dresses show tight little bodices as snug as old-fashioned basques.

The length of skirts is so varied that no woman can excuse herself for wearing skirts of the wrong length next season.

Waistlines follow much the same rule. They are placed anywhere, from the hips, as many of them are at Beer's, to under the arms, Empire style.

Sleeves have a way of their own in the new styles. They are often flaring or coat styles.

Several dressmakers show sleeves embroidered or ornamented two-thirds of their length regardless of whether the sleeve is tight, or semi-loose.

Washington—The growth and expansion of influence of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has so multiplied the task of its officers and employees that the new president, Lewis E. Pierson of New York, has created the post of assistant to the president to coordinate its widespread efforts.

To fill that post he has chosen one of the chamber's younger executives, Chauncy D. Snow, who in seven years has developed the foreign commerce department into a highly useful agency for American business.

Mr. Snow, who in 1911 he was a special investigator in Europe for the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to delay in receiving the copy, yesterday's chapter of "Saint and Sinner" was omitted.

Young Mrs. Minnock came to summon Faith and Bob to breakfast, but Faith refused food, pleading so hysterically to be left alone to think that Bob did not insist.

"If I were Chris—" she began painfully, but for a disarming length of time the conception seemed fantastically impossible of realization. Chris Wiley, cowardly, conceded of his power over women, doggedly determined to have the only woman who had resisted his charms his own wife; Chris, evil-minded, unscrupulous, cunning, audacious. How could she imagine his mental processes? But she must do it. She had saved Cherry once before, had saved her very life, when she was on trial for the murder of Ralph Cluny, whom she had lured to marry Chris Wiley.

"If I were Chris," she forced herself to reason calmly, "I would be doing this awful thing to force Cherry to come back to me. I wouldn't know what to do with the baby, once I had it—if I were Chris, I would be angry when the baby cried and bewilderment when it was hungry or needed fresh clothes. So—if I were Chris—I would get a woman to help me. Of course!" she drew a deep shuddering sigh of relief.

She dragged herself from her bed and ran to Cherry's room. "Cherry, has Chris any relatives here? Please think! Any woman relative?" Faith went to her sister and fixed Cherry's blank, golden eyes with her burning brown ones.

"No—I don't know," Cherry shook her head in grief-dulled bewilderment. "Why, Faith? Oh, I can't think!" she wailed. "You've got to think!" Faith sat down by Cherry and put her arms about her. "Please try to think if there is some woman to whom Chris might have gone for help in hiding and taking care of Hope."

Cherry's golden eyes few wide, became warm and human again. "Oh, Faith! You're going to help me! I knew you would. Let me think!" Her little hands clasped tightly, her white forehead, with its wing-like bronze brows, knitted in a frown of concentration. "Of course! What's the matter with me? Old Aunt Chloe! She's an old colored woman, Faith, that Chris thinks the world of. She was his nurse and later his father's housekeeper after his mother died. Chris took me to see her once. He supports her—the only kind thing he's ever done."

"Quick, darling! Where does she live?" Faith cried her arms August 19, 1927, September 2, 1927. STATE OF MICHIGAN. The Probate Court for the County of Delta.

CHICAGO GIRLS INVADE ISLAND

C. H. Thorderson, Chicago manufacturer of electrical and scientific apparatus, will bring thirty of his girl employees to Rock Island for an over Labor Day outing. It was learned here yesterday. The girls will come to Menominee or Escanaba in a special Pullman. The island and its $300,000 worth of improvements, installed there by Mr. Thorderson during the last two years, will be turned over to the party without interference by men.

The party will be the first of a series Mr. Thorderson is arranging for his employees. His manufacturing properties employ 500 girls and many of the others will be brought to the island for outings in the future, it was said.

A scientific laboratory is also being built on the island where those in the experimental section of the plant will be given a chance to work.

Knights of Columbus Elect New Officers

Dr. W. A. Lemire was re-elected head of the Escanaba Council, No. 649, Knights of Columbus, at the annual election held at the clubrooms last night. All other officers were re-elected with the exception of two. R. E. Finley succeeds M. J. Tonkin, as treasurer, and Leonard Murray succeeds Frank C. Stolk as trustee.

Master Barbers of Escanaba Organize New Association

Organization of a Master Barbers' association, comprising the proprietors of Escanaba's barber shops, was completed here Wednesday night. A. W. Gilbert, national organizer, was present and assisted in the formalities.

Sam Rogers was elected president of the association; Alec Perrin, vice-president; George Walker, secretary-treasurer; James Anzalone, sergeant-at-arms; Joseph Beland, doorkeeper, and Joseph DeLorier, chaplain.

Only proprietors who employ other barbers are eligible to membership. An effort will be made to interest "boss barbers" of Gladstone, Manistique and other cities in the association which will have state and national affiliations.

The object of the organization is

Children Break Into Residence

Curious children, more interested, it appears to police, in looking around than in actually taking things, broke and entered the home owned by Mrs. Nancy Thomas at 700 Bay street sometime during the past few days. The house has not been occupied since Mrs. Thomas left Escanaba a few weeks ago to take a position as head librarian at Birmingham, Mich. A window in the back door was broken and the lock opened from the inside. After walking around in the house and finding just what was there the prowlers left again without disturbing anything. A check on the furnishings showed nothing missing.

Resurfacing of Sixteenth street North and South, and Second avenue north between Fourteenth street and Stephenson avenue has been completed by the city. The streets were among those included in the present year's street improvement program. Work on other streets in the program will proceed as rapidly as possible.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Marriage Licenses—The following have filed an application for a marriage license in the office of George E. Harvey, county clerk: Harry Somerville and Miss Mylva Atkinson, both of Wells.

Priscilla Circle—The Priscilla Sewing Circle of the Norwegian Lutheran church will hold a regular meeting at the Louis-Erickson home, North Escanaba, beginning at 8 o'clock tonight. Every member is asked to attend.

Christian Endeavor Meeting—The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a rally at the church Sunday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. This will be the first important meeting following the summer vacation. A business and devotional session will occupy the time. Every member is urged to be present.

Luther League—The Bark River Luther League will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at the Ernest Lagerquist home, Bark River, at 8 o'clock. There will be a program followed by a marshmallow roast.

Percy Burgess—The police have a letter, sent in their care, to Percy Burgess. Relatives want to get in touch with him immediately on an urgent matter. They had not been able to locate him last night, but the letter awaits him at police headquarters.

Property Owners File Objections to Marble Plant

A petition from 50 property owners, received by the city council last night, objected to the proposed locating of a monument and marble cutting plant at the corner of Ludington and South Nineteenth streets. Since the city at the present time has no zoning ordinance, the council is powerless, legally, to stop the owner of the lot from using it for the purpose set forth in the petition, but the council promised to see what could be done to keep the industry out of a residence district.

"to protect and promote the welfare of the barber business, generally; to improve sanitary conditions; to attain higher standards of service and workmanship," according to the local officers.

HOLD FUNERAL AT ESCANABA

Funeral services over the body of O. P. Chatfield, prominent in Gladstone civic affairs for a number of years, were held at the chapel of the Anderson Funeral Home at Escanaba at one o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. R. E. Colenso of the Alice Memorial church, Gladstone, officiated.

From the funeral home, the cortege made its way to Forest Home cemetery in Marinette, where burial took place.

The pallbearers were A. E. Ellsworth, D. A. Brotherton, C. R. Lambover, August Blomstrom, Marcus McNabb and Charles Follo.

OBITUARY

MRS. PAULINA BITTNER.

The body of Mrs. Paulina Bittner, 74, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Cholger, was taken to the home of Mrs. Cholger at Ford River Switch yesterday afternoon.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home, and at 2:30 o'clock from the German Lutheran church at Ford River Switch. Rev. Arthur Genz of Powers will officiate. Burial will be in the West Ford River cemetery.
