PANAMA CANAL QUESTION TO BE VITAL MATTER

MAY CHANGE ATTITUDE OF U. S. TOWARD LEAGUE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Sept. 14.—Although there is manifest displeasure here that Panama should have carried her dispute to the League of Nations, the incident may have a significant bearing on the attitude of the United States toward the league.

The friends of the league in the United States have always insisted that there would be no interference with the special interests of the United States in this hemisphere; in fact, that the covenant specifically says nothing shall affect "regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine." If the league takes cognizance of Panama's plea, it will give the opponents of the league idea in America what they would term vindication of their claims. If, on the other hand, the league refuses to listen to Panama's plea on the ground that the question is outside the jurisdiction of the League of Nations, that very action will be used by friends of the league to prove that fears of interference with America's special interests were ill-founded.

Important Decision. The decision is an important one because lately the League of Nations has been showing great interest in the welfare of the countries of this hemisphere and the president of the council of the league recently elected, comes from Uruguay. This is the third time that a president for the council has been chosen from Pan-America.

If the league is to turn a deaf ear to all complaints from Pan-American republics, membership in the league will not be considered worthwhile. On the other hand, the discussion of what the United States considers as her own special interests, will never sit well with the American government. This is not the first time a complaint against the United States has been lodged with the league and in every case heretofore, the league has side-tracked the issue so as to avoid offending the United States.

In view of the declaration from the Department of State that the treaty with Panama is under consideration by Congress there and that no request for modification has come, the conviction prevails that the league will choose to regard the matter as one solely for the United States and Panama to settle by the usual diplomatic methods. It is thought here that the plea of Dr. Morales was made to Geneva in the hope of arousing world-wide opinion and perhaps to influence the course of the Pan-American congress. The new treaty does not differ materially from the old agreement as the principle of sovereignty over the Canal Zone and certain rights in Panama were granted originally when the United States assured Panama her independence from Colombia.

The fact that Latin countries may use Geneva to air their grievances against the United States is giving some concern here to those who take a long look ahead at Pan-American relations. For, without a representative, unofficial or otherwise, at Geneva the United States will not have an opportunity to answer attacks or to express objection to the consideration of matters which were specifically excluded from the province of the league by the covenant. There are other reasons, however, why, at the moment this would not influence anti-league members of Congress, who prefer to see the Department of State take care of America's replies through the press and by means of diplomatic notes directly to the nations concerned.

Three Events on Today's Race Card at Fairgrounds

RICHARDS AGAIN ON TAX COMISH

Governor Completes Appointments for New Commission.

Lansing, Sept. 14.—(AP)—With the appointment today of Melville B. McPherson, farm leader and member of the state board of agriculture, as a member of the state tax commission, Governor Fred W. Green completed his appointments to the new commission created by the 1927 legislature. William S. Linton of Saginaw, also a member of the commission, was named secretary. Two other appointees of Governor Green, John H. Morgan of Detroit, chairman, and Alvin Richards of Marquette, were re-named as members of the new commission. Morgan took office following the resignation of George Lord of Detroit, recently. Mr. McPherson takes office October 1, 1927.

The appointments complete a series of debates which brought forward charges of "political sniping" from Mr. Lord prior to passage of the law and charges on the floor of both house and senate that Mr. Lord was being legislated out of office. In making his appointment, Governor Green has fulfilled earlier promises to the effect that one member of the commission would represent the upper peninsula, one Detroit, and one the farmers. Mr. Linton's duties are considered purely secretarial.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET IN UTAH

Twelve Western States to Send Delegates to Conference.

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Prominent Democrats from 12 western states have promised to attend the conference here September 23 and 24, at which it is understood the availability of Gov. Al Smith of New York as the Democratic presidential nominee will be discussed. It was disclosed when invitations to the meeting were received by mail today.

The New York Herald-Tribune (R) said today that the conference was arranged with the knowledge of eastern Smith supporters and that the announcement of the meeting took the anti-Smith forces by surprise. There is nothing, however, in the invitation to show that the meeting is to be an "all Smith affair." The invitation letter is signed by Joseph Chesno, Ogden lawyer and former state senator, who sets forth he is extending the invitation in behalf of Fred W. Johnson, prominent Rock Springs, Wyo., Democrat.

States from which acceptances have been received include Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Montana, South and North Dakota and Utah.

Governor Appoints Additional Judge

Lansing, Sept. 14.—(AP)—An additional circuit judge, Frank L. Doty of Pontiac, was appointed today by Governor Fred W. Green in conformance to a law passed by the 1927 legislature, in the sixth judicial circuit.

REPORT SHIPS LOST IN STORM

Many Homeless in Mexico; Tidal Wave Wrecks Seaports.

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Thousands of miles of the storm-swept Mexican west coast remained virtually isolated tonight while fragmentary details of the great hurricane of last week added to the picture of destruction on land and sea.

Over demoralized communication lines came reports that two steamships were lost and many thousands of persons homeless at seaports towns, while refugees covered in superstitious horror at high points inland. Uncertainty prevailed as to the probable loss of life, which reports yesterday placed at hundreds.

Reports to the Nogales Herald said many of the refugees feared the visitation of the combined hurricane and tidal waves was the wrath of a patron saint. They had fled to sites further away from the sea when the storm struck along the coast last Wednesday, causing heavy damage at the seaports of Salina Cruz, Manzanillo and Guaymas.

Two Ships Missing. The tanker Utacarbon, her superstructure damaged amidships, lifeboats stove in and part of her cargo lost overboard, wirelessly before her antennae came down in an 80-mile gale that Chief Officer A. Moreland and others of the crew had been injured and were taken to Manzanillo for treatment.

The steamships Navaja and Jalisco of the National Navigation line, as well as a fleet of fishing boats, are missing from their home port of Mazatlan, Sinaloa.

A large number of vessels, said at San Pedro, Cal., to be the biggest parade on record from the canal zone to that port, was in the danger zone, but little anxiety was felt for their safety.

The border town of Nogales remained practically the only channel through which reports of the disaster were available.

MAN TAKEN FOR DEATH OF WIFE

Benton Harbor Resident Arrested for Poison Death.

Benton Harbor, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Sheriff Fred G. Bryant and Under-sheriff Charles Johnson today arrested Arthur Gerndt, ex-Chicago, for the murder of his wife, Beatha Dean Gerndt, 49, who died at the Dean home here July 24.

Wed to Gerndt June 15, a day after she is said to have made a will leaving all her property, amounting to about $11,000 to Gerndt, the bride became ill a few weeks later and expired after a brief illness. The death certificate, signed by Dr. C. V. Spawr, gave stoppage of the kidneys as the cause of death.

Speculating that Mrs. Gerndt had been the victim of foul play a group of friends, headed by Mayor George S. Avery petitioned Justice Ara Weldon to order the body exhumed. The justice complied and after the remains were disinterred the internal organs were sent to the University of Michigan for examination. Wednesday afternoon a report was received from Prof. A. S. Warthin in which the pathologist said poison was found and that death was apparently due to poisoning.

Coroner George H. Slaughter, who received Dr. Warthin's report, communicated at once with Prosecutor George H. Bookwalter, who ordered Gerndt's arrest. Gerndt has been here since his wife's death. He will be arraigned before Circuit Judge Charles E. White.

Child Killed in Auto Accident

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Clyde Bertal, six year old son of Mrs. Florence Bertal, was almost instantly killed when he and Harris Barry, five, were struck by an automobile while coasting down a hill. The automobile was driven by Ray Johnston. The boy's father died less than a month ago. The Barry boy is in a hospital, suffering from internal injuries.

FLYERS DECIDE HOP WOULD BE SURE SUICIDE

"PRIDE OF DETROIT" WILL BE SHIPPED HOME.

Tokyo, Sept. 15 (Thursday)—(AP)—The projected flight of the American monoplane Pride of Detroit across the Pacific on its globe-circling tour was called off here today by its co-pilots, Edward F. Schlee and Walter S. Brock.

The decision to call off the flight followed a lengthy conference with aviation experts here and others interested in the undertaking. Many cablegrams from America urging the flyers to stop at Tokyo also carried weight. Brock and Schlee finally concluded the attempt to negotiate the Pacific would be suicide.

They will take an early boat for the United States and have their monoplane shipped home.

A cablegram from the Schlee children in Detroit begging their father, Edward F. Schlee, to think of them before he attempted to fly the Pride of Detroit over the perilous course to the Midway Islands was largely the cause of the cancellation of the trans-Pacific leg of the flight.

Realization that an attempt to fly over the 2,450 miles of water between Kasumigaura and the Midways would be "plain suicide" was accentuated by scores of cabled messages from relatives, friends and associates of the flyers.

Some of these were most touching. In addition to the cablegram from his children, Schlee received one from a friend declaring that threats had been made against the Schlee family and factory if he attempted the suicidal hop.

Officials Ask Abandonment. J. V. Walker, Tokyo representative of the flight, and the two aviators held a lengthy conference in which Walker pointed out the hazards of a trans-Pacific flight, insisting there was the utmost improbability of success. Even if they located the Midway Islands, which extend only a few feet above the water and have only a few square miles of area, the flyers still would have to wait for fuel and make two long hops, to Honolulu and to San Francisco, it was pointed out by Walker.

It is understood some of the cablegrams urging the flight called off were from high American officials.

Announcement that the flight had been called off came suddenly and followed the repeated declaration yesterday that the flight would be undertaken.

The decision to end the flight of the Pride of Detroit at Tokyo brings to an end one of the most successful long distance flights ever made. Brock and Schlee have flown 12,275 miles since they left Harbor Grace, N. F., on August 27. Their only serious difficulty was encountered in Japan, near Omura, where they were twice forced down by bad weather. They arrived here in good health and good spirits. The plane was in good condition and they were still determined to make the attempt to fly to Midway Islands, 2,450 miles from here.

Could Reach Hawaii? The advice the flyers received was all against tackling the Pacific leg of the trip. Hundreds of cablegrams awaited them here at the American embassy, pleading with them to give up the flight at Tokyo. The opinion of government and private aviation authorities here was against the flight, owing to the difficulty of locating the Midway Islands and landing if they found them.

The flyers realized the possibility of missing the islands and said they could carry gasoline enough to reach Hawaii if they failed to locate the Midways.

WIFE REJOICES. Detroit, Sept. 14.—(AP)—It was with mingled joy and relief that Mrs. Edward F. Schlee learned tonight that her husband and his co-pilot William S. Brock had called off the remainder of their proposed globe-encircling tour. "I am overjoyed," Mrs. Schlee said when told of the decision. "It is what I have been hoping and praying for."

The news brought to an end a long vigil maintained by the operator's wife who during the 19 days of the flight had followed

Middlewest Covered by Blanket of Torrid Air; Many Heat Prostrations

Chicago, Sept. 14.—(AP)—A heavy blanket of torrid air continued to envelope the middlewest today, driving the mercury to record heights and resulting in suffering, prostrations and death.

Chicago, with a temperature of 95, led the list with seven heat fatalities. St. Louis reported four. The total deaths throughout the country were estimated at more than a dozen. Kankakee, Ill., reported 99 degrees, the hottest day of the year here.

The high mark here equalled that of yesterday and was within one degree of the record for the summer, being the highest ever set in September. While city dwellers suffered, farmers were elated over the opportunity for crops to mature.

Snow in Alberta. The schools in Cincinnati were closed when the thermometer registered 92 degrees and in Chicago afternoon classes in portable school buildings were discontinued. Decatur, Ill., announced schools would close at noon each day until the heat spell was broken.

Western Canada experienced a wave of freak weather, southern Manitoba sweating with heat while snow fell lightly in northern Alberta. Saskatchewan had a taste of both extremes. The western prairies were drenched with rain. At Edmonton the mercury sank to 34, while at Winnipeg it was 89, and at Emerson, Manitoba, 92.

One More Day. Temperatures continued in the 90's in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and parts of Texas, one prostration being reported at Kansas City, in addition to two deaths yesterday.

At least one more day of the belated heat wave, which settled over the country in mid-summer fashion yesterday, was promised. "Fair and warm Thursday, probably becoming unsettled Thursday night," was the prediction of Henry J. Cox, official forecaster of the Chicago area.

The greater part of the country, to the Atlantic, is in the path of the torrid wave, the only exceptions being certain lake regions and the New England states.

MRS. ARNSTEIN GETS DIVORCE

Actress Asks No Alimony, Receives None; Given Children.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Fannie Brice, the comedienne, and Jules "Nicky" Arnstein, New York promoter, whose loyalty to each other in the time of adverse vicissitudes once stamped them as ideal lovers, today were separated by divorce. The action was brought by the musical comedy star who charged her husband with infidelity and incompatibility. Arnstein, although denying the charges through his attorneys, did not contest the action.

Will File Suit. Miss Brice told the court that they loved each other as much as ever but that for the interest of their happiness it was best that they should part.

FEDERAL MEN SWOOP DOWN ON ESCANABA

TEN MORE EXPECTED TO BE ARRESTED IN CITY.

A sponge squad, composed of federal prohibition agents, county, city and state officers, mopped up the city's wet spots late last night in one of the most spectacular raids staged in Escanaba. Nineteen men were arrested last night, and early this morning raids were still being made which were expected to net ten more.

The gigantic raid was made under the direction of Acting Deputy Administrator Scully of the western Michigan prohibition enforcement district, who was assisted by U. S. Marshall Martin Brown of Grand Rapids, Sheriff Elmer Swanson, Chief of Police John J. Tolan, T. T. Hurley agent in charge of the Marquette office of the prohibition department, and other members of the various departments. Almost 20 officers participated in the drive against local soft drink parlors.

Charged With Sale. Charges of sale of intoxicating liquor were written in the warrants issued for the arrests. Evidence of sale has been procured by a secret service agent connected with the prohibition department.

The raid was considered by authorities as highly successful because of the fact that many operators of soft drink parlor who had been clever enough to evade arrest for a long time were finally captured last night.

In some of the raids, liquor was found, and it is probable that the additional charge of possession of liquor will be pressed when the cases come up for hearing. Several of the arrested men were taken to Marquette early this morning to be arraigned before U. S. Court Commissioner C. F. Button. Others will be taken before the commissioner today.

List of Men Nabbed. Those arrested up to 1 o'clock this morning when the raids were still in progress are:

Hang 38 Bandits in Mexican State

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Dispatches to the Nogales Herald today said the bodies of 38 bandits hanging singly and in groups from trees and telegraph poles along a railway in Nayarit, bore mute evidence of the Mexican government's efforts to crush outlawry in the state.

Civil War Veterans "Swap" War Stories

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 14.—(AP)—Stirring tales of bravery, under fire, pathetic stories of comrades who have left the ranks here, humorous yarns of the war that would coax a laugh from a sphinx, drew hundreds of the Grand Army members to the armory tonight for the "campfire" meeting. Just a get-together of the soldiers to reminisce over the old days.

The "campfire" was a fitting climax of a day well begun by the parade of the veterans. Approximately 2,000 of the blue ranks marched in review before their commander and though a few were forced to quit the march because of over-exertion and the extreme heat, not one collapsed. Lined up a dozen bands a drum corps the old soldiers stepped over the mile of march with a vigor surprising. It was the last parade for many of them, but the spirit evinced showed that as long as there are two of them able to walk the G. A. R. will parade.

Business Session Thursday. In spite of the ruling that women would be allowed to parade a number of the veterans stepped alongside their wives, daughters or in a few cases, their granddaughters. (Continued On Page Two.)

DANCER DEAD IN ACCIDENT

Isadora Duncan, American Actress, Killed in Strange Manner.

Nice, France, Sept. 14.—Isadora Duncan, the American dancer, was killed in an automobile accident at 9:40 o'clock tonight.

The dancer's body was removed to St. Roch hospital. At that time of the accident, Miss Duncan was accompanied by a newspaper woman, Mary Deste Parks.

This premonition of her doom is only too true. A French chauffeur was teaching her to drive the new car, which was speeding along when one end of the steering wheel was whipped by the wind out of the side of the road.

Fate seemed to have caused calamities to play no small part in the life of Isadora Duncan. On several occasions, she was injured, sometimes seriously in automobile accidents.

Later in 1913 she was seriously injured in an automobile accident, and in May of 1924 was knocked unconscious when her car was in collision with another.

Isadora Duncan was a native of Florida, and the daughter of Arles Duncan, but since the early part of the 20th century she achieved international fame as a portrayal of Greek and other artistic dances.

She had traveled to virtually every part of the world and her life was filled with experiences which took her to the highest reaches of artistic success and the extremity of poverty.

In 1921 she went to Russia at a time when the Soviet government was opening to the world a school in Moscow. Difficulties arose, however, and she soon gave up the idea.

Russia, which before her return to that country under Soviet rule, was described by her as one place in the world where artistic qualities inherent in man could be expressed in their highest form.

FLYERS DECIDE HOP WOULD BE SURE SUICIDE

The progress of the expedition constantly through the medium of the Associated Press.

The long nights when the pride of Detroit was winging its way through the Orient were sleepless ones for Mrs. Brock, maintaining a watch by her telephone she refused to sleep until word of the safe arrival of the plane at its destination was communicated to her.

She dispatched a number of cablegrams to her husband at the various ports of call, including Tokyo, beseeching him to call off the venture.

Mrs. Schlee's anxiety was shared by a host of friends of the two men here and the flyers were literally deluged with cablegrams of a like nature.

If successful in closing contracts with Para, the report says he plans to take 1,800,000 additional acres.

This report follows upon publication of an article in the Brazilian-American of Rio de Janeiro that Ford was about to invest $42,000,000 in rubber cultivation in Para.

RURAL CHURCH FACES CRISIS

Must Help Prevent People From Migrating to City.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 14.—That the rural church is undergoing its greatest transition in the history of America and that a balance must be struck between country life and city life was the consensus of a report placed today in the records of the seventy-second annual meeting of the Detroit conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"The excessive tax pressure," the report said, "has militated against the country church which has given to the city and world at large its most prominent and professional men."

There are about six and one-half million families still residing on the farms," the report continued, "and only by making the living conditions as comparatively good on the farm as in the city can we hope to stem the migration cityward."

Nominations for officers approved in open meeting today were: Secretary, Sidney D. Eva, of Detroit, with assistants, Frank L. Fitch, Pontiac, and Frank C. Walters, Saginaw.

Jury for Duvall Trial Completed; Evidence Today

Indianapolis, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Submission of evidence will begin tomorrow in Marion county criminal court in the trial of Mayor John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, who stands charged in an affidavit with violating the corrupt practices act.

A jury was obtained late today and opening statements concluded. Four farmers, three truck gardeners, a florist, a factory employee, a retired business man, a coal dealer and an insurance agent will determine the case.

Mayor Duvall, whose 21 months administration has been one of the stormiest in the city's history, is charged with having promised William H. Armitage, local Republican political leader, the right to name three appointees to city boards and offices in return for his support in the 1925 campaign.

DOLE MEMORIAL SHIP DEPARTS

Thousands of Floral Pieces to Be Cast Into Pacific.

San Francisco, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Laden with thousands of floral pieces to be strewn upon the sea, the Matson liner Maui sailed out through the Golden Gate for Hawaii today to pay tribute to the memory of the seven flyers lost in the Pacific as a result of the Dole aerial derby which started August 25.

The flowers were blessed during interdenominational services at the pier. Ten thousand persons gathered at the memorial services, singing anthems and following the spiritual leaders in recitation of prayers for the "heroes of peace," as Rabbi Louis I. Newman spoke of the flyers.

While noises of wharf traffic at times drowned out the words of the speakers, memories revived the names of Miss Mildred Doran, the school teacher of Caro, Mich., who flew over the Golden Gate with her uniform spangled with fraternity pins reminiscent of school day romances, and the six men who perished in the same attempt to blaze a trail over the Pacific through the air.

Nominations for officers approved in open meeting today were: Secretary, Sidney D. Eva, of Detroit, with assistants, Frank L. Fitch, Pontiac, and Frank C. Walters, Saginaw.

INJURED WIFE FEARS HAKKI

Declares She Won't Return to Him If She Recovers.

Although the condition of Mrs. Alex Hakki was described at St. Francis hospital as "slightly improved," her attending physicians held out very little hope for her recovery. Her left side is still paralyzed. The skull-fracture caused by the bullet and the splintered bone removed from her brain created a condition which makes hope for recovery futile, the doctors intimated.

Mrs. Hakki regained consciousness for a short time yesterday. Her mind was still centered on the horrible experience through which she passed Sunday, but she seemed to take her recovery for granted. "I will never go back to live with him when I get well," she told a visitor. "I am afraid of him."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT
Louise Fazenda undergoes a complete transformation in "Cradle Snatchers," a Howard Hawks production for Fox Films. In this picture Mr. Hawks wanted a dazzling blonde to play the part of Susan Martin. Miss Fazenda, while dazzling, is not blonde. So the director ordered the smartest blonde wig in Hollywood and told the hairdressers to do their stuff. The result was pleasing, startling and wholly satisfactory. It was the first time the dashing little comedienne had worn such traps.

AT THE STRAND
Mountain and desert backgrounds seldom seen in a motion picture are shown in the Tom Mix picture "The Circus Ace," at the Strand. Dan Clark, Tom's veteran camera chief, took Tom and the entire company to remote sections of Arizona and California for the many dramatic sequences used for the circus locations and the resultant chases. Some of the shots are said to outrival anything ever attempted in a Western production.

VALUE IN ABSENCE.

"Does she live with you?"
"No. She lives in Chile."

DUCK SEASON OPEN FRIDAY

Wardens to Enforce Sunrise to Sunset Provisions of Law.

The duck hunting season will open in Michigan at 5:38 a. m. Friday morning, September 16. District Warden Herman Leisner emphasized yesterday that the "sunrise to sunset" provisions of the law will be strictly enforced and any hunters found shooting before sunrise or after sunset will be vigorously prosecuted.
The sun will rise at 5:38 o'clock Friday morning and will set at 6:10 p. m. on that day. As the season advances, sunrise will come a few minutes later each day and sunset will come a few minutes earlier.
"Banging away at the ducks all night has driven thousands of the birds out of the country before the season got under way in previous years," Mr. Leisner said. "We propose to stop this practice this year. The legal hours will be enforced as vigorously as we can enforce them."
The season extends from September 16 to December 31, inclusive. The big limit is 15 in one day, 50 in possession at one time and 50 in one calendar week.
Seasons on other birds which open Friday morning are wilson and jack snipe, geese and brant, yellow legs, rails, coots and gallinules.
Others Next Month.
The season on prairie chickens and woodcocks will be open October 25 to October 31.
It is unlawful to hunt or kill spruce hens, quail, homing pigeons and mourning doves, partridge, wood ducks, black bellied and golden plover at any time.

Byrns Says Chamber of Commerce Must Be Continued Here

In an interview with a representative of the Daily Press, C. J. Byrns points out the dollars and cents value of some of the activities of the Chamber of Commerce. He said:
"The experience of Escanaba during the past six years has conclusively demonstrated that the best possible method for promoting civic and commercial progress is a strong, well-organized, properly supported Chamber of Commerce. The many outstanding achievements of the Escanaba Chamber should leave no doubt in anyone's mind about that. I have in mind one act alone—securing for the state a 40 instead of a 20-foot pavement within the city limits between Stephens avenue and Twenty-third street—that has saved the city and property owners on West Ludington street approximately $20,000. That is enough to pay for the operation of the organization for two years, not taking into consideration the benefits of the concrete highway west from Escanaba which has also resulted from the activities of the Chamber. The continuance of its work for another three years must be insured."

Holy Name Rally to Be Held Sept. 25th; Purposes Explained

The following statement concerning the Holy Name Society rally to be held here September 25, was issued yesterday at the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church:

"With pleasure do we look forth to the great event to take place in Escanaba Sunday, September 25. During the past few weeks plans were being made for holding the great Holy Name Rally. The promoters of this great public manifestation of religious respect for the Holy Name of God have been working untiringly to make this rally the greatest in the history of this territory, and the developments to date promise a great attendance.
"There is little need of encouraging all the Catholics of the local towns to take an active part in this demonstration, because let them realize the full significance of such a public act of divine worship, and they will not hesitate for a moment to participate in it.
"This Holy Name Rally is organized for a double purpose—positively to furnish an opportu-

In the Sit-and-Argue clubs which meet to dispose of such weighty matters as the weather and device ways and means of doing something about it, there are plenty of assertions that their never was anything like it. Their memories, however, are less reliable than the weather bureau records. And the books show that "unheard of" weather is heard of every four or five years. It's as hard to break a meteorological record as it is to get a ticket to a Big Ten football game. No, the climate isn't what it used to be. What's more, it never was.

WINTER SPORT. Northern Michigan resort interests have turned their attention to the possibilities of making this area a winter sport center. Tremendous sums of money are to be spent in the northern section of the lower peninsula and at Mackinac Island to develop some of the natural advantages offered for snow and ice pastimes. Many well-informed men believe that the winter resort possibilities parallel those of summer throughout the "Middle North."

MY MICHIGAN! Not so long ago, Michigan indulged in a senatorial election which attracted considerable attention. It was an enjoyable little family affair, lots of fun while it lasted, and forgotten in Michigan almost as quickly as it was over. Other states, however, persisted in shouting uncompromising remarks across the state line, and some of them even went so far as to assume Thank-Goodness-I'm-Pure poses. Among these states were Indiana, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

WUNDER IF YOU KNOW THIS WIFE. I wonder if you know this wife, some member of the clan, who thinks some fellow down the street is just the nicest man? Always speaks so pleasantly to people passing by, a just can't help but like the man, no matter how you try, a rather noble looking, too; there's something she has seen out him that reminds her of some actor on the screen, a certain sort of man, is really rather sweet—always it's some other man, some fellow down the street. I wonder if you know this wife, who knows some fellow near to "must be very, very smart, they do so well my dear, they have a car as good as ours, a home as good as mine; must work very, very hard, they seem to do so fine, has some wrinkles, though, poor man, he looks as old as you; really sorry for the man, he has so much to do." I wonder if you know this wife, the woman now and then tells her husband all about the very nicest men, never swear (in public, no), who never scold (perhaps), see husbands other women have, not ordinary chaps, such a lady is your own, I wonder what is best? Well, keep her happy as you can, don't fret about the rest. I see she has her house and home, her comforts and her car—maybe she tells other men how wonderful you are.

SAVANT SEEKS RARE POTTERY IN ANATOLIA. Insk, Turkey (AP)—An American expedition under command of Prof. Rudolph Riefstahl of New York University has begun investigations in the ancient Christian town of Tanik, formerly known as Nicea, in the hope of bringing to light much early Moslem pottery. Professor Riefstahl has obtained permission from the Turkish government to carry on excavations in this and other Anatolian regions known to be rich in ancient Turkish porcelains. It is the first attempt at a scientific excavation of the many buried and as yet unlocated ovens where in the Seldjuk and Ottoman Turkish centuries ago produced the tiles and other pottery which were the highest expression of Moslem art. The American expedition will carry on its investigations both in this village, famous in Roman and early Christian history for the signing of the Nicene Creed, and also in the Anatolian towns of Amassia, Tokat and Nigde. All the pottery brought to light must, under the terms of the agreement with Turkish government, be handed over to the Turkish Museum.

The Benson Murder Case

CHAPTER I. (Friday, June 14; 8:30 a. m.) It happened that, on the morning of the momentous June the fourteenth when the discovery of the murdered body of Alvin H. Benson, created a sensation which to this day, has not entirely died away, I had breakfasted with Philo Vance in his apartment. It was not unusual for me to share Vance's luncheons and dinners, but to have breakfast with him was something of an occasion. He was a late riser, and it was his habit to remain incommunicado until his midday meal. The reason for this early meeting was a matter of business—or, rather, of aesthetics. On the afternoon of the previous day Vance had attended a preview of Vollard's collection of Cezanne water-colors at the Kessler Galleries, and having seen several pictures he particularly wanted, he had invited me to an early breakfast to give me instructions regarding their purchase. A word concerning my relationship with Vance is necessary to clarify my role of narrator in this chronicle. The legal tradition is deeply imbedded in my family, and when my preparatory school days were over, I was sent to Harvard to study law. It was there I met Vance, a reserved, cynical and caustic freshman who was the bane of his fellow-classmen. Why he should have chosen me, of all the students at the university, for his extra-scholastic association, I have never been able to understand fully. My own liking for Vance was simply explained: he fascinated and interested me, and supplied me with a novel kind of intellectual diversion. Upon graduation I entered my father's law firm—Van Dine and Davis—and after five years of dull apprenticeship I was taken into the firm as the junior partner. At present I am the second Van Dine of Van Dine, Davis and Van Dine, with offices at 120 Broadway. At about the time my name first appeared on the letter-heads of the firm, Vance returned from Europe, where he had been living during my legal novitiate, and, an aunt of his having died and made him her principal beneficiary, I was called upon to discharge the technical obligations involved in putting him in possession of his inherited property. This work was the beginning of a new and somewhat unusual relationship between us. Vance had a strong distaste for any kind of business transaction, and in time I became the custodian of all his monetary interests and his agent at large. I found that his affairs were various enough to occupy as much of my time as I cared to give to legal matters and as Vance was able to indulge the luxury of having a personal legal factotum, so to speak, I permanently closed my desk at the office, and devoted myself exclusively to his needs and whims.

he explained them from time to time. The first case to draw Vance into its ramifications was that of Alvin Benson's murder. The case intruded upon Vance's life suddenly and unexpectedly, although he himself had, by a casual request made to the district attorney before a month before, been the involuntary agent of this destruction of his normal routine. The thing, in fact, burst upon us before we had quite finished our breakfast on that mid-June morning. As I was ushered into the living room by Currie, a rare old English servant who acted as Vance's butler, valet, major-domo and, on occasions, specialty cook, Vance was sitting in a large armchair, attired in a surah silk dressing gown and grey suede slippers, with Vollard's book on Cezanne open across his knees. "Forgive my not rising, Van," he greeted me casually. "I have the whole weight of the modern evolution in art resting on my legs. Furthermore, this plebeian early rising fatigues me, y' know." He rifled the pages of the volume, pausing here and there at a reproduction. "This chap Vollard," he remarked at length, "has been rather liberal with our art-fearing country. He has sent a really goodish collection of his Cezannes here. I viewed 'em yesterday with the proper reverence, and I might add, unconcern, for Kessler was watching me; and I've marked the ones I want you to buy for me as soon as the gallery opens this morning."

Vance was what many would call a dilettante. But the designation does him injustice. He was a man of unusual culture and brilliance. An aristocrat by birth and instinct, he held himself severely aloof from the common world of men. In his manner there was an indefinable contempt for inferiority of all kinds. The great majority of those with whom he came in contact regarded him as a snob. Yet there was in his condescension and disdain no trace of spurlousness. His snobbishness was intellectual as well as social. He detested stupidity even more, I believe, than he did vulgarity or bad taste. Vance was frankly a cynic, but he was rarely bitter; his was a flippant, Juvenalian cynicism. Perhaps he may best be described as a bored and supercilious, but highly conscious and penetrating, spectator of life. He was keenly interested in all human reactions; but it was the interest of the scientist, not the humanitarian. Withal he was a man of rare personal charm. Ever people who found it difficult to admire him, found it equally difficult not to like him. His somewhat quixotic mannerisms and his slightly English accent and infection—a heritage of his postgraduate days at Oxford—impressed those who did not know him well, as affectations. But the truth is, there was very little of the poseur about him. He was unusually good-looking although his mouth was ascetic and cruel, like the mouths on some of the Medici portraits; moreover, there was a slightly derisive hauteur in the lift of his eyebrows. Despite the aquiline severity of his lineaments, his face was highly sensitive. His forehead was full and sloping—it was the artist's, rather than the scholar's, brow. His cold, grey eyes were widely spaced. His nose was straight and slender, and his chin narrow but prominent, with an unusually deep cleft. When I saw John Barrymore recently in Hamlet I was somewhat reminded of Vance; and once before, in a scene of Caesar and Cleopatra, played by Forbes-Robertson, I received a similar impression. Vance was slightly under six feet, graceful, and giving the impression of sinewy strength and nervous endurance. He was an expert fencer, and had been the captain of the university's fencing team. He was mildly fond of outdoor sports, and had a knack of doing things well without any extensive practice. His golf handicap was only three; and one season he had played on our championship polo team against England. Nevertheless, he had a positive antipathy to walking, and would not go a hundred yards on foot if there was any possible means of riding. In his dress he was always fashionable—scrupulously correct to the smallest detail—yet unobtrusively. He spent considerable time at his clubs; his favorite was the Stuyvesant, because, as he explained to me, its membership was drawn largely from the political and commercial ranks, and he was never drawn into a discussion which required any mental effort. He went occasionally to the more modern operas, and was a regular subscriber to the symphony concerts and chamber-music recitals. Incidentally, he was one of the most unnering poker players I have ever seen. I mention this fact not merely because it was unusual and significant that a man of Vance's type should have professed so democratic a game to bridge or chess, for instance, but because his knowledge of the science of human psychology involved in poker had an intimate bearing on the chronicles I am about to set down. Vance's knowledge of psychology was indeed uncanny. He was gifted with an instinctively accurate judgment of people, and his study and reading had coordinated and rationalized this gift to an amazing extent. He was well grounded in the academic principles of psychology, and all his courses at college had either centered about this subject or been subordinated to it. Vance's mind was basically philosophical—that is, philosophical in the more general sense. Being singularly free from the conventional sentimentalities and current superstitions, he could look beneath the surface of human acts into actuating impulses and motives. Moreover, he was resolute both in his avoidance of any attitude that savored of credulousness, and in his adherence to cold, logical exactness in his mental processes. "Until we can approach all human problems," he once remarked, "with the clinical aloofness and cynical contempt of a doctor examining a guinea-pig strapped to a board, we have little chance of getting at the truth." Vance led an active, but by no means animated, social life—a concession to various family ties. But he was not a social animal, and when he went forth into the social world it was generally under compulsion. In fact, one of his "duties" affairs had occupied him on the night before that memorable June breakfast; otherwise, we would have consulted before, and Vance groused a good deal about while Currie was serving our strawberries and eggs Benedictine. Later on I was to give profound thanks to the God of Coincidence that the blocks had been arranged in just that pattern; for had Vance been slumbering peacefully at 9 o'clock when the district attorney called, I would probably have missed four of the most interesting and exciting years of my life; and many of New York's shrewdest and most desperate criminals might still be at large. Vance and I had just settled back in our chairs for our second cup of coffee and a cigaret when Currie, answering an impetuous ringing of the front door bell, ushered the district attorney into the living room. "By all that's holy!" he exclaimed, raising his hands in mock astonishment. "New York's leading art connoisseur is up and about!" "And I am sufficed with blushes at the disgrace of it," Vance replied. It was evident, however, that the district attorney was not in a jovial mood. His face suddenly sobered. "Vance, a serious thing has brought me here. I'm in a great hurry, and merely dropped by to keep my promise. The fact is, Alvin Benson has been murdered." Vance lifted his eyebrows languidly. "Really, now?" he drawled. "How messy! But he no doubt deserved it. In any event, that's no reason why you should repine. Take a chair and have a cup of Currie's incomparable coffee. And before the other crowd a bell-button. Markham hesitated a second or two. "Oh, well. A couple of minutes won't make any difference. But only a gulp." And he sank into a chair facing us. (Friday, June 14; 9 a. m.) John F.-X. Markham, as you remember, had been elected district attorney of New York county on the independent Reform Ticket during one of the city's periodical reactions against Tammany Hall. He served his four years, and would probably have been elected to a second term had not the ticket been hopelessly split by the political juggling of his opponents. He was an indefatigable worker, and projected the district attorney's office into all manner of criminal and civil investigations. Being utterly incorruptible, he not only aroused the fervid admiration of his constituents, but produced an almost unprecedented sense of security in those who had opposed him on partisan lines. He had been in office only a few months when one of the newspaper editors referred to him as the Watch Dog; and the sobriquet clung to him until the end of his administration. Indeed, his record as a successful prosecutor during the four years of his incumbency was such a remarkable one that even today it is not infrequently referred to in legal and political discussions. Markham was a tall, strongly-built man in the middle forties, with a clean-shaven, somewhat youthful face which belied his uniformly gray hair. He was not handsome according to conventional standards, but he had an unmistakable air of distinction, and was possessed of an amount of social culture rarely found in our latter-day political office-holders. When his nature was relieved of the stress of duty and care, he was the most gracious of men. But early in my acquaintance with

TEAMS BEGIN MEMBER DRIVE

Canvass of Non-Resident and Plural Members Launched.

At a meeting of the campaign executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce membership renewal campaign held yesterday noon in the Delta hotel, arrangements were completed for calling on the prospective plural subscribers and non-resident corporations.

The committee was divided into teams of two men each, and a quota of cards assigned to each pair. These workers will complete their canvass this week and make their report before the general drive begins next week. Next Monday night has been set as the final date for reports on all cards taken out.

Members of the executive committee teams are Geo. G. Genesee and John P. Norton, L. J. Jacobs and F. J. Hess, Geo. N. Harder and M. K. Bissell, D. P. MacIrae and Torval E. Strom, W. H. Needham and W. J. Roberge, M. J. Fillon and Coleman Nee, and W. R. Smith and F. O. Beck.

One Team Starts.
One team, consisting of L. J. Jacobs and F. J. Hess, started their work immediately after the meeting adjourned and by 4 o'clock reported at headquarters with fifteen memberships from five subscribers. Other teams will report today.

The major and captains of the team organization will meet with Colonel Joseph L. Nolden this evening to select the lieutenants to fill up the ranks of the teams. Each major has serving under him three captains, and each captain will be in command of a team of six lieutenants. All teams must be filled by Saturday, according to instructions from Colonel Nolden.

On next Monday evening, September 19, the step-off dinner will be held when the entire team organization and members of the executive committee will meet for final instructions and the assignment of districts. Each individual team will be assigned a definite number of prospects in a definite district of the city.

Not Whole Story.
The official statement of the executive committee of the campaign, as set forth in the prospectus that is being mailed to a long prospect list, states that the thirty-four outstanding achievements of the organization as listed "is not the whole story."

"Space will not permit," it points out, "recording the daily routine which involves a multitude of things, such as answering the daily mail, meeting the office callers, rendering confidential and personal services, answering hundreds of requests for information and statistics about Escanaba, helping some to find employment, advising with others in plans for building a home, etc."

"Escanaba is your home city. The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce is owned by the people of Escanaba. It is financed by them. Its work to make a better city in which to live, do business and raise families is bringing lasting and worth-while results."

"The literature of the Chamber of Commerce is all worthy of your attention. Read it and come to us with your suggestions."

"Make your Chamber of Commerce the equal of any organization of its kind in America. Escanaba can afford to have nothing less than that."

Plural Membership Plan.
The plural membership plan will be continued and extended. This method insures the organization and man-power and income necessary for it to function effectively.

"Under this plan the leading firms, corporations and individuals are enabled to subscribe to the cost of maintenance according to their investment in the community, their interest in its progress and the benefits they can receive from the Chamber's activities. It gives them the opportunity to express their realization of the fact that, as leaders, they carry a greater responsibility than the average business and professional man."

"This plan also makes it possible for plural subscribers to assign memberships to young men not in a position to carry their own dues, who through their service in the organization, may receive training for leadership in the years to come."

Membership Dues.
"Dues will be uniform and continue at the rate of $25 per year. Memberships will be pledged for a period of three years as has been the practice in the past. The three-year plan will appeal to all who know that to carry out a comprehensive program of work the plans must extend beyond a single year. Only by insuring the Chamber of Commerce an income for a period of years can it enter upon definite and worth-while community projects."

DIVORCE RATE UP

London—The number of divorces in England is one to every 100 marriages, according to an estimate by the Registrar General. Two of every three men divorced marry again, while only half the women remarry. The divorce rate, though five times as high as it was before the war, still is only one-seventh of the rate in the United States.

WORLD NEWS—IN WORD AND PICTURE

Incubator Baby Is Now Unhappy Girl

MARIAN BLEAKLEY BROWN

By NEA Service.

Kansas City.—Twenty-three years ago a tiny baby lay in one of the incubators at the St. Louis World's Fair, squirming restlessly behind the glass walls of its little coop.

Many thousands of people stopped to look at it during the course of the fair. And always—though no one ever knew just how it started—the rumor would buzz through the little groups in front of the incubator—

"The baby's going to live, but it's always going to have had luck—a fortune teller says so!"

An Unhappy Life.

Today, Mrs. Marian Brown, the young woman who spent the first six months of her life in that incubator, is ready to admit that the fortune teller was right.

As a child she was unable to find much happiness. She was the center of innumerable legal squabbles, claimed by two families, forever being taken into some law court or other to listen to attorneys wrangle over who should have her.

And as a grown woman her efforts for happiness have been balked, too.

For now, only six weeks after giving birth to a baby, Mrs. Brown is going to court to seek a divorce from her husband, Dewey Brown.

Marian Brown was born in a St. Louis hospital. She was so frail that physicians suggested use of an incubator only as a means of postponing what they felt was certain death.

Another baby, born in the same hospital at almost the same hour, likewise was sickly. If, too, was put in an incubator at the World's Fair.

This baby died. And with its death, there began to gather the clouds of tragedy that have hung over most of the life of the other child.

Mrs. Caroline Bleakley, mother of one of the babies, was told that it was her child that had died.

The mother of the other baby disappeared.

Some six months later, Mr. and Mrs. James G. Barclay of Moline, Ill., visiting the fair, fell in love with the little incubator girl and arranged to adopt her. They carried out their plan, and Marian was taken to their home.

Some time later a nurse at the St. Louis hospital where both children had been born called on Mrs. Bleakley. She told Mrs. Bleakley that her baby had lived, and that the child that had died had been the child whose mother had disappeared.

Thus began the long legal battles that overshadowed so much of Marian Brown's life.

TUNNEL UNDER HUDSON READY

Gigantic Engineering Feat Permits Cars To Go Under River.

BY LEE TRENHOLM
NEA Service Writer

New York—Another victory is about to be won in an age-old struggle between the greatest of cities and a mighty river.

Big, blustering New York soon will have triumphed, once more over the quiet, stubborn Hudson.

With the imminent opening of the Holland Vehicular Tunnel to swarming automobiles, Manhattan Island will be linked to the mainland in a manner affording long-sought convenience and rapid movement.

To the Hudson and the harbor at its mouth, New York owes much, if not all, of its commercial supremacy. But the Hudson, too, has been to blame for certain woes—retarded inter-city traffic, wasted time, rasping of travelers' nerves.

There have been the railway and trolley tubes under the Hudson, to be sure, but more and more are people transporting themselves and their goods by automobile these days.

To motorists, New York has been accessible from the "Jersey side"—and vice versa—only by ferry. That method of crossing the river is slow at best, and during rush traffic hours it is a most unsatisfactory one.

Now twin tunnels under the Hudson are almost ready to accommodate automobile traffic to a maximum of 46,000 cars each 24 hours.

Its new triumph over the river cost the city plenty in men and money. Of the three original engineers of the tunnel project, only one remains alive; to the strain and worry of the struggle the deaths of the others were attributed. Workmen were killed and injured in numbers and nearly fifty millions of dollars and seven long years of time were spent.

But that the city held all this cheap as a price of conquest is evident. It is making equally pretentious plans to strengthen the tie to the mainland with the world's greatest bridge. Work on the bridge starts about the time the tunnel opens.

An epic of engineering, as well as land's triumph over water, was the tunnel's construction. It was started by the sinking of four caissons, two on each shore. From these, working shields started boring toward each other, under the river's bed.

Great steel cylinders, subdivided into chambers containing compressed air, backed the shields. This pressure afforded the "sand hogs" the protection of an aerial bulkhead in which they worked in safety while digging and blasting paths for the shields through the rock and muck of the river bottom.

Hydraulic jacks with combined thrust of 6,000 tons moved the shields forward as the tunneling progressed. And as they moved, the twin tubes were constructed behind them, two and a half feet at a time, by means of giant cast iron rings of that width, bolted one to the other until mid-river was reached and the out-moving sections joined. Their junction was exact—to the fraction of an inch.

From the downtown New York mouths of the bores to where they debouch upon the tunnel approaches in Jersey City is 9,259 feet, 5,480 of which lie in the river bed itself.

More than 280 pages of double-spaced roadway was laid, one for east-bound, one for west-bound vehicles. Their twenty-foot widths permit two streams of traffic each, one slow-moving, the other fast.

Through these tubes will pass 46,000 vehicles a day, about 16,000,000 a year. And in their very passage lay an obstacle the engineers found quite as difficult to surmount as the barrier presented by the river itself.

How were the exhaust fumes from so many motors to be removed from the tubes fast enough to prevent it affecting drivers and passengers?

Nearly $3,000,000 was expended in experiments to determine the amount of exhaust gas which would be exuded into the tubes; to measure the monoxide and other poison content of these gases; to ascertain the rapidity and degree of the poison's effect upon human beings.

There ensued a triumph of ventilation. From four pump and power houses situated at the openings, fresh air is to be pumped into the tubes through vents at frequent intervals along the roadway. Vented air is to be drawn out through flues in the tunnel ceiling. This at the rate of 3,761,000 cubic feet a minute, fast enough to change all air in the tubes 42 times a minute and without longitudinal draft.

The three men originally in charge of the tunnel project were Clifford M. Holland, chief engineer; Milton H. Freeman, engineer of construction; Ole Singstad, engineer of design.

Holland and Freeman died while work was in progress. Singstad saw the job through.

In tribute to Holland, the tunnels are named for him.

When the Civil War came Jonathan and Henry Roten left their home in Huntington, W. Va., to enlist—but they chose opposite sides, Jonathan joining the federal army while Henry served with Lee's men. They never saw one another again until a few weeks ago, when Henry learned of Jonathan's whereabouts and traveled from his home in Fort Worth, Tex., to Huntington, where they were re-united. They are shown together here, with Jonathan on the left.

One Divorce Out of Every 5 Marriages Is Chicago Average

BY ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer.

Chicago, Ill.—Chicago, not being content with her fame as a city where gunmen shoot with more skill and on less provocation than any other city in the union, now grabs another laurel. She wins the title of "The Divorce City."

Taking an unfair advantage of a little city, and forgetting the old admonition to "pick on somebody your own size," Chicago, big, robust, corn-fed gal of a city that she is, walks up to spindling little Miss Reno, and knocks her for a loop as she grab's Reno's fame from off her pallid brow.

Reno is 'Way Behind.

Miss Reno is runner up. For it is Chicago that now has more divorces to every marriage than any other spot in the country.

The lid was lifted from Chicago's bubbling divorce caldron by a native son. Circuit Court Clerk Thomas O. Wallace has issued a report which proved that Chicago's divorce rate, always big enough, increased by 100 per cent last year.

America's present divorce rate is now almost one divorce to every seven marriages.

Chicago's rate last year was one divorce to every five marriages. There were 40,000 marriages in Chicago last year and 8,000 divorces.

There were 80,000 marriages in the entire state of Illinois in 1926 and 14,000 divorces, meaning that half the marriages and 58 per cent of the divorces occurred in Chicago.

Chicago is speeding back to the day when she was regarded as a divorce mecca. But if she was a mecca then, she is three of them now. For in those past days of divorce fame her rate was 10 per cent of divorces to marriage. Today it runs 80 per cent.

13,000 Still Pending.

Four thousand divorces have been granted in Chicago in these first seven months of 1927, and there are more than 13,000 cases pending.

Of these 4000 1927 divorces, 2500 were granted to couples married in Chicago.

Half of Chicago's 1926 divorces gave desertion as first cause. Cruelty came next.

Eighty per cent of the divorce petitions were filed by women. Seventy-five per cent had children, and 70 per cent asked for no alimony. One million and a half dollars in alimony, however, were settled upon Chicago grass widows.

One thousand of the 4000 divorces granted this year went to elopers.

Chicago judges do not gloss the seriousness of the situation.

"We are approaching a marriageless age," says Judge Thomas J. Lynch. He blames the extravagance of the age, and the wife's extravagance, especially.

"Women dress far beyond their means and the husband can not foot the bill," he says. "Then the crash comes."

Calls It a Joke.

Judge David assails the Chicago situation even more vehemently.

"Marriage in this city has become a joke," he says. "I can see little more to marriage as practiced here than the practice of spending $5 on a wife for a day or so and then asking for the money back. Twenty-five per cent of all divorces granted here are fraudulently obtained."

Judge George Fred Rush, who has handled thousands of divorce cases in his nine years in this

A VERY SPEEDY STENOGRAPHER

A world's record for speedy typing was set by Miss Mae Zabortsky of Chicago, when she whacked off 527,760 key impressions—approximately 280 pages of double-spaced copy—in four and a half days.

One Divorce Out of Every 5 Marriages Is Chicago Average branch of the court, believes that Chicago's high divorce rate is but a symptom of a general social condition.

"You will find about the same rate anywhere this coming year," he says. "And if Chicago is higher it is not Chicagoans themselves who make it so much as the whole middle west which floes to this geographical center."

The man is always to blame in divorce, according to Judge Rush. "We are just boobs, just animals," he says. "It is women who try to convert us from the animal to the human. It is women who with their stronger sense of moral responsibility rebel at men who have none."

The woman-championing judge admits, however, one fault of women in divorce cases. But even at this point he blames a condition rather than her own sweet self.

Blames Movies.

"The movies and the cheap literature of today foster divorce," he says. "They paint a sticky, sugary, sentimental, false picture of love and marriage, and when a girl finds that her husband is no Don Juan and her marriage no romantic bed of roses she thinks herself abused, when she is only living the average normal married life."

Judge Rush will not even give one little spank to the working wife, as many of his colleagues do.

On the contrary, he believes that the wife who works for wages outside the home is one big reason why the divorce rate is no higher than it is.

"Husband and wife don't see so much of each other if both are away working and if both have interests outside the home," he says.

"Then, too, the money problem is taken care of, and more married misery is caused by lack of money than anything else."

Must America, Chicago especially, revive the old medieval divorce tower? Some judges here admit that the idea has its points.

The Divorce Tower.

The first divorce tower once stood on the shores of Lake Zurich in Switzerland. It towered hundreds of feet into the air and contained layer after layer of little cells.

When a couple announced to the proper officials that they could no longer live together, they were locked in a cell in the tower for several weeks to see if a reconciliation were not possible.

Sometimes when the cell was unlocked they found one or both dead. Neither party was permitted to leave the tower until a judge was assured that there would be no further discord, and none of them ever came back to the tower for a second test.

Honking Taxi Horns Under Investigation

Paris (P)—The bedlam of honking horns on taxis and motor vehicles, the visitor's first impression of Paris, is to be diminished. Paris is to toot in one tone and toot less often if the investigation of the French board of inquiry into traffic problems comes to anything.

All kinds of noise-makers are to be examined. One will be chosen for all public vehicles, M. Chiappe, newly appointed prefect of police, declares that at present the noise makes conversation almost impossible on Paris boulevards.

GIRL "BUMMED" For "Sweet Adeline" 10,000 MILES

Hobnobbed With All Of The Hobo Fraternity In Man's Garb.

By NEA Service

Beaver, Pa.—All this talk about the "new freedom" that girls of the present day are enjoying may mean something and then it may not. But—

Miss Mildred Zubaly, pretty stenographer, can't see any earthly reason why a girl can't step out and see the world and its adventures just as well as a boy.

Accordingly, Miss Zubaly has just returned from a 10,000-mile hobo trip—a trip wherein she dressed as a man, mingled with tramps of all varieties, sizes and degrees of raggedness, rode the brake beams and the blind baggage, ate stew out of a tin can and bummed her way completely across the continent twice.

Glad to Get Back.

And, having had this taste of adventure, she is perfectly satisfied to return to her home and spend six days out of every seven clicking the keys of her typewriter at the old job.

Miss Zubaly had always wanted to travel. But a stenographer's salary doesn't permit wandering so very far afield. So she decided to ride free.

Dressed in man's clothing, her closely-bobbed hair tucked under a rough cap, she was off. Seventeen days later she was in Los Angeles.

There she had an adventure not on the schedule. She was hit by an auto and suffered a broken arm. For nearly a month she was in a hospital, recovering. Then, the arm sound again, she began considering where she would go next.

"I met a girl there by the name of Hester Stout," she explains. "She was part Choctaw Indian. I told her how I had bummed my way west, and she got interested. She proposed that we two go from Los Angeles to Miami, Fla.

"I consented. In a day we were on our way—traveling most of the distance on the brake beams. I tell you, it is a real sensation to be huddled on the rods beneath a passenger coach whizzing along at a mile a minute, with the roadbed only a few inches under you."

In 26 days the two were in Miami. They saw the sights—and headed back for Los Angeles again. This time they abjured the brake beams in favor of empty gondola cars and box cars.

In Los Angeles they separated and Miss Zubaly headed slowly back home, traveling alone.

Once she came upon a pair of honeymooning hoboes.

"When I first saw them I was scared," she says. "I was hiding in a refrigerator car waiting for the train to pull out. A few minutes before the train was due to leave I discovered I was not alone. Nearby were two persons, apparently two men.

"Then I found one of them was a girl—the wife of the other one. I then disclosed my own identity, and we had a nice chatty time during our ride together. They told me they had been married a short time before and, lacking the funds for a more conventional honeymoon trip, had decided to take a six months' cruise around the country as hoboes. They were enjoying it greatly, too."

Miss Zubaly is proud of the fact that through all her travels her sex was never discovered—except on the occasions, like the encounter with the honeymooners, when she met other girls and voluntarily "fessed up." Frequently she was at hobo camps with fully a score of "knights of the road," talking with them, sharing meals with them, but never did any of them suspect that she was anything but a rather frail boy.

Lots of Girl Hoboes.

Miss Zubaly says she met many other girl hoboes in disguise.

"There are lots of them—especially on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad," she declares. "However, most of 'em only travel for short distances. There are hardly any transcontinental girl hoboes."

Among her varied experiences was an encounter with a policeman.

"In Topeka, Kas., I was arrested," she says. "The policeman started to take me to the nearest station house. On the way there he evidently took compassion on me and decided to let me go with a warning. 'Never try to fool a policeman, boy,' he said. 'I promised I wouldn't!'"

Now that Miss Zubaly is back home she is willing to stay. Her one hobo jaunt was, enough.

"Hoboling is great sport—but home is better," she admits.

For "Sweet Adeline" Author Given $4,000

Writing the world's most-sung song netted only $4,000 for Richard H. Gerard, pictured here. But as he works in the New York City post office, he has visions of turning out another big hit some day and then of being able to retire.

Richard H. Gerard, author of "Sweet Adeline," is pictured here. He has visions of turning out another big hit some day and then of being able to retire.

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

New York—In the New York post office building, bending over a desk figuring accounts, is a friendly, rather stocky man with a shiny bald head.

You might suppose he had spent most of his youth and lost his hair worrying over figures—unless you saw his visiting card.

After a look at his card, the man takes on color and romance. Retrospection floods your brain. . . . summer nights beneath the moon . . . college nights . . . nights leaning over a polished counter with a foot on a brass rail. . . . nights you couldn't sleep and yearned for a brick. The card—

Author of
The World Famous Song
"Sweet Adeline"

Gerard long has used his pen for lyrics as well as for ledgers. He has co-authored many songs, but never got into the spotlight with a bang until he and Harry Armstrong produced that national anthem of the inebriated, "Sweet Adeline."

Adeline now is 25 years of age.

She seems so much older at first thought.

Our Adeline, according to Gerard, was puny and unhealthy in her early years.

Had her babyhood been less anemic, Gerard might today be riding in a limousine instead of modestly taking the subway home every night. It has been estimated that Adeline sold 50 million copies. But Gerard got only $4000.

Just "So So" at First.

"At first it seemed to go about like lots of other songs," Gerard explained, "just so-so.

"I held on for five years, then sold for three thousand. Already I had received a thousand in royalties. That's all I've profited on the most-sung song in the world."

Right here, with preferred blondes cleaning up in the market, let me say it was a brunette who inspired Sweet Adeline.

"I was a kid when I wrote it," Gerard recalled, "and in love most of the time. But the flower of my heart was a little black-eyed girl. Yes sir, I did pine for her. She married another. The girl in the first draft of the song we wrote was Rosalie instead of Adeline, but just ahead of us another writer put out a 'Sweet Rosalie,' and we rechristened our child Adeline.

WOMEN AID STRIKERS

SIDE LIGHTS OF THE STAGE and SCREEN

Los Angeles—Chosen from more than 14,000 college men, a Princeton and a Chicago University man, have been awarded five-year contracts with First National.

The two, John Westwood of Princeton and John Howland Stambaugh of the University of Chicago, won in a contest held among 37 leading American colleges and universities by College Humor.

Two screen units—director-camera-man, make-up expert in each unit—visited the 37 campuses and filmed ten men at each after preliminary tests.

Film was then sent here and from the 400 selected college men a jury of newspaper men, sports writers, editors of College Humor and officials and directors of First National selected ten men for eight weeks' probationary contracts for the movies.

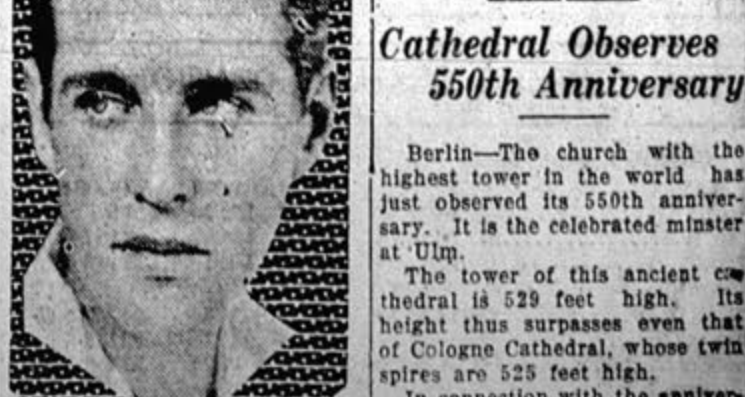

Now Westwood and Stambaugh will stay permanently on the lots with a promising future. They are featured in "The Kick," with Richard Barthelmess, as their first picture.

Cathedral Observes 550th Anniversary

Berlin—The church with the highest tower in the world has just observed its 550th anniversary. It is the celebrated minster at Ulm.

The tower of this ancient cathedral is 523 feet high. Its height thus surpasses even that of Cologne Cathedral, whose twin spires are 525 feet high.

In connection with the anniversary the city museum has arranged a minster exposition—"Ulm Art from 1530 to 1700"—which will remain open until October. It includes paintings and plastic and applied art, with particular reference to the history of the minster.

John Westwood (top) of Princeton University, and John Howland Stambaugh, of the University of Chicago, are new faces in the movies.

SMITH TOSSERS PLAN INVASION OF CHEBOYGAN

Seeking more fields to conquer, the Manistique baseball team will take their first trip out of the peninsula next Sunday, when they play a post-season game at Cheboygan.

The locals closed the regular league season with a string of victories, and since the end of the schedule have started a little barn-storming tour.

Under the rules of the university, any citizen may make application for tickets, using the special application blanks provided.

So far, the only game reported sold out is the Michigan-Ohio classic scheduled for October 22. Try-out towns are the homes of the real "first-nighters." What happens on one or two later on Broadway is very likely to be the result of reactions of a tiny handful that boasts no more than a few hundred citizens.

Yet, since they have played the role of the "dog" so long they become even more discriminating than the Manhattan play-goer.

Here the anonymous critic of a small town paper may blast the hopes of an optimistic producer, even though he does not halt an eventual Broadway production.

These obscure penmen of commuter colonies have often caused an entire production to be altered before it appeared on the bright lights street.

The most popular try-out towns are Great Neck, because it boasts a population of writers, artists and actors; New Haven, because it has developed a discriminating group of critical attenders and is a city of more than average size, and Long Branch, because of its society colony.

Here, on the eve of a performance, one may come upon frenzied actors, pacing up, and down the lobbies trying to memorize lines. Here one sees the shrewd "show-dog" laying in wait with his artificial respiration instruments.

Here you find a certain middle-aged man whose judgment is considered final by half the producers of Manhattan and who will travel as far as Buffalo to "catch" a performance and give his expert opinion on its chances for survival.

THEATRES

AT THE BIALTO A highly-entertaining and fast-moving farce comedy is "The Love Thrill" the Universal-Jewel production which opened last night at the Bialto theater, with Laura La Plante as the star.

With each successive picture, the blonde Universal star has shown a marked improvement and as Joyce Bragdon in "The Love Thrill" she has scored the outstanding triumph of her career.

The action of the picture hinges around the attempt of Joyce to sell an insurance policy to a wealthy man who refuses to listen to her argument.

Joyce masquerades as the widow of Creelman's best friend, who is supposed to have been killed in Africa. Creelman after one look at Joyce, forgets to grieve over his friend's death and spends his time consoling the widow.

AT THE LYRIC A page from the life of an average American girl was flashed across the screen of the Lyric theatre last night when Fox Films comedy-drama of metropolitan life, "Ankles Preferred," started a two day run.

Madge Bellamy—that beautiful creature of "Summer Bachelors," "Bertha, the Sewing Machine Girl" and "Sandy" fame—heads the excellent cast, playing the part of a young miss who is blessed with a pair of ankles too pretty for her own good.

Her ankles get her into all types of complications, affording opportunity for some brisk and hilarious scenes.

Playing opposite Miss Bellamy is Lawrence Gray, hero of many screen successes. He plays the chap with the flivver who comes in ahead of the man in the limousine in the race for the heart of the heroine.

J. Farrell Macdonald, remembered for his unforgettable performance as Corporal Casey in "The Iron Horse," appears in "Ankles Preferred" in a somewhat different role, that of a proprietor of a gown shop.

AUXILIARY MEETING. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will hold its regular meeting tonight at the home of Mrs. Sherman Sword, 1204 Michigan avenue. A pot-luck lunch will be served. Coffee, sugar and cream have been donated.

ENTERTAINS AT Slumber Party Miss Blanche Mathison entertained at a slumber party Monday evening at her home. The following guests were present: Evelyn Johnson, Lucille Foster, Margaret Cornell and Violet Struble.

Deaf worshippers in a Fulham church are now supplied with earphones so that they can hear and join in the service by means of a microphone.

Bunched Hits Help Senators Defeat Tigers, 3 to 2

RALLY IN 3RD SCORES 3 RUNS

Errors Help Washington; Detroit Scoreless Until Fifth.

Washington, Sept. 14—(AP)—Bunching hits in the third inning, the Senators scored three runs, enough to win today's game from the Tigers, 3 to 2.

In the third, Rice, after a triple, scored on Harris' single. Speaker's double scored Harris. Goslin beat out a hit to Blue. Speaker coming home when Blue threw wild to Whitehill.

After the Tigers had scored their second run in the eighth, Fothergill, with two on base, lined out to Rice, who made a beautiful running catch.

Blue's bobble in the third was his second for that inning. Harris, after singling, attempted a double steal and was safe when Blue threw wild to Tavenner. In addition to the Tiger captain's two errors, Whitehill and McManus added one each.

Two scoreless innings intervened after the Senators' scoring in the third before the Detroit team could get into action.

Helimann began the fifth by singling to left centerfield for the first hit Hadley yielded. Fothergill's double sent him to third from where he scored when McManus was thrown out by Blue.

Fothergill went to third on the play, but he was held there when Harris tossed out Tavenner. Bassler struck out to end the inning.

Used 17 players. Manush, batting for Whitehill, and one of six pinch hitters and runners used by Moriarty during the game, opened the eighth with a double. Wingo batted for Blue and fouled out down the third base line. Rubie, playing centerfield in the place of Manush, contributed the second out with a fly to Goslin, but Gehring scored Manush for the last Detroit run with a single. Gehring then stole second and Helimann walked, but Fothergill's liner to Rice ended the game.

Moriarty used a total of 17 players in the game, including the pinch hitters and runners and Owen Carroll, who hurled the last inning.

Detroit, as to players and teams, has figured in the most reversals of form. The Tigers hold the longest winning streak of the year, 18 consecutive victories, after a slow start.

MOORE PRAISED HIGHLY.
The New York Yankees have a mighty appropriate name for Pitcher Wiley Moore, who has done some mighty fancy hurling for the champions.
The other day, as Manager Miller Huggins waved to Moore, warming up in the bull-pen, to hurry to the rescue of one of the faltering veterans, Charlie O'Leary remarked to me:
"Well here comes the 'Big Needle and Thread Man' again." I waited for a further explanation, but getting none, asked: "Who?"
"Why the 'Big Needle and Thread Man'?" He sews up all the ball games for the Yanks."
Moore has already been in over 40 ball games for New York. He is credited with 16 wins and O'Leary tells me he has held the lead for other pitchers in just about as many games, literally sewing up the games.
"We can already thank Moore for at least 25 of our victories," says O'Leary.

HOW DOPE CRACKS.
Strange how the dope of April is often scattered by the winds, completely turned over, by the results of September.
A perusal of the averages of the major leagues reveals these facts:
Heinie Manush, batting champion of the American League of last year is struggling to keep from dropping below the .300 mark.
Charley Gehring, rated substitute for Marty McManus at second base for Detroit, has won the job at that position, leading the regulars in batting with a mark better than .300.
Johnny Neun, who for several years has subbed for Lou Blue at first for Detroit, given a chance to show his worth, ranks next to Lou Gehrig among the first sackers in batting, has played brilliantly in the field and won for himself a place in the hall of fame by making a triple play unassisted.

PIRATES WIN DOUBLEHEADER

Braves Lose Two Games to League Leaders, 6-2; 3-0.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14—(AP)—The league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates ran their string of victories to seven straight today by grabbing both games of a doubleheader from Boston, 6-2 and 3-0. The Braves now have lost 10 straight.

Ray Kremer and Johnny Miljus turned in excellent pitching performances for the Pirates. Kremer allowed only six hits in the first game and Miljus limited Boston to a similar number in the second, only one man reaching second base.

Lloyd and Paul Waner collected eight hits between them in the two games.

MOORE PRAISED HIGHLY.
The New York Yankees have a mighty appropriate name for Pitcher Wiley Moore, who has done some mighty fancy hurling for the champions.
The other day, as Manager Miller Huggins waved to Moore, warming up in the bull-pen, to hurry to the rescue of one of the faltering veterans, Charlie O'Leary remarked to me:
"Well here comes the 'Big Needle and Thread Man' again." I waited for a further explanation, but getting none, asked: "Who?"
"Why the 'Big Needle and Thread Man'?" He sews up all the ball games for the Yanks."
Moore has already been in over 40 ball games for New York. He is credited with 16 wins and O'Leary tells me he has held the lead for other pitchers in just about as many games, literally sewing up the games.
"We can already thank Moore for at least 25 of our victories," says O'Leary.

HOW DOPE CRACKS.
Strange how the dope of April is often scattered by the winds, completely turned over, by the results of September.
A perusal of the averages of the major leagues reveals these facts:
Heinie Manush, batting champion of the American League of last year is struggling to keep from dropping below the .300 mark.
Charley Gehring, rated substitute for Marty McManus at second base for Detroit, has won the job at that position, leading the regulars in batting with a mark better than .300.
Johnny Neun, who for several years has subbed for Lou Blue at first for Detroit, given a chance to show his worth, ranks next to Lou Gehrig among the first sackers in batting, has played brilliantly in the field and won for himself a place in the hall of fame by making a triple play unassisted.

Hennessey Beats Cochet in Sensational Contest

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 14—(AP)—John Hennessey of Indianapolis rose to the heights of tennis greatness today in achieving a sensational victory over Henri Cochet of France in the third round of the national turf court championship.

He won on sheer grit and staying power in a furious five-set match, 6-4, 6-4, 6-6, 3-6, 6-1.
To everyone but Hennessey the defeat of the dour little Frenchman seemed impossible before the match, but the slender youth knew it could be done and was headed for victory from the start. To him the fact that Cochet eliminated Tilden in the fourth round of last year's tournament, won the English championship after beating Tilden again, and downed Johnston in the Davis cup matches last week, was ancient history and of no account today.

As a result of the upset, Hennessey and not Cochet will meet Francis T. Hunter in the quarter finals. Hunter today entered the bracket in easy fashion by downing Jean Wassy, Belgian champion, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.
Tilden, however, will clash again with a member of the French Davis cup team. The lanky Philadelphia, victorious today over Elmer Giffin of New York, 4-6, 6-1, 11-9, 6-0, will take on Jean Brotra.

The "bounding basque," like Tilden, had a hard fight for the bracket, but finally won at 2-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3 over Jerry Lang, ex-Columbia university star.

Manager Derouin has the following old-timers on his list:
Catchers—J. J. Walsh, J. L. Loell, Bert Perrow.
Pitchers—George Jermain, Eddie Schwartz, Frank Hess, Buck Nolden, Jimmy Smith.
First base—Mike Walsh, John Bartella.
Infielders—Cully Lantz, Pete Derouin, Fred Hira, Ed Hira, Murray Boyle, Fred Olmstead, Ben Young.
Outfielders—Ching Flath, Dutch Flath, Joe Hoffman, Ernie Burke.

Other old-timers are urged to turn out. All of them will get a chance to strut their stuff during the afternoon. The veterans will practice at the ball park Saturday afternoon.

PHILLIES GIVE REDS SURPRISE; WIN 7-6

Object to Jack's Secret Workouts; Sharkey to Challenge Winner.
BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Sept. 14—(AP)—Newspaper correspondents felled in the attempt to crash the gate and watch Jack Dempsey in his moonlight maneuvers, held an indignation meeting with Promoter Tex Rickard today, protesting because Dempsey had refused to train in their presence and had elected to do his training at night instead of the afternoon.
Rickard refused to intercede for the correspondents, declaring it was Dempsey's business to get himself in the best possible condition, and he would not give him any advice as to the way this should be done.
"Dempsey and Flynn know their business and I'm not going to interfere," Rickard said. "It is my idea that Dempsey is boxing at night with nobody around to get his eyes accustomed to the glare of the lights. That sounds all right to me."
Rickard declared that it would be suicide, in a pugilistic sense, for Dempsey to train in the afternoon in the terrific heat now prevailing.
Rickard today received reports of the appearance of counterfeit tickets from several eastern cities, and warned the public not to make any purchases except at railroad stations and accredited agencies.
Rickard said he received word from Jack Sharkey that he would arrive next week to challenge the winner.

KINNEAR TAKES MICHIGAN TITLE
Al Watrous of Grand Rapids Defeated 2 and 1.
Detroit, Sept. 14—(AP)—Jimmy Kinnear of Wise's, came from behind today to defeat Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, 2 and 1, and take the championship of the Michigan P. O. A. in the 38-hole final over the Indianapolis Golf and Country club course.
Kinnear was two down at the end of the morning round, but coming back for the afternoon round shot the first nine holes in 34. With two of them birdies, he took four threes successively, beginning with the second hole, giving him a lead of one up at the final turn. Birdies on the eleventh and twelfth increased his advantage.
Watrous at this point attempted a comeback, taking the thirteenth with par three and the fourteenth with a birdie three. The next two holes were halved in pars, but Kinnear ended the match at the seventeenth with a good shot from a trap, after Watrous, who also had missed the green, dubbed his second shot and was short.

GENE BACK TO TRAINING CAMP
Champ Will Have Three More Workouts Before Fight.
BY E. J. NEILL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Tunney Camp, Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 14—(AP)—Gene Tunney was back at his training camp tonight after a three-day vacation with friends in Lake Forest, 30 miles away. Tomorrow the heavyweight champion will box in the first of three final workouts which Gene believes will round him into perfect trim for the title bout with Jack Dempsey at Soldier Field, September 22.
Refreshed and relaxed by the rest, Tunney returned to the Czar-Crest Country club late this afternoon. The champion grabbed a book as soon as he had changed clothes and wandered out on the lawn to read until dinner.
Tunney is satisfied with his condition at the present time and believes he could enter the ring tomorrow close to his best fighting weight. In fact, Gene did most of the heavy training work at Speculator, N. Y., in five months of 'leisurely' boxing. Returning to the camp today, Gene reiterated that he was "ready" and had little more training to do before facing the ring for his first title defense.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

HEINIE WAGNER TALKS.
"More ball games are lost around second base, between the shortstop and second sacker than in any other spot on a ball club."
The speaker was Heinie Wagner, in his day a great shortstop, now acting as assistant to Manager Bill Carrigan of the Boston Red Sox. We were discussing the difficulty of getting together a winning team.
"We have lost so many games this year it is hard to keep track of the reasons, but I do know this much more of them have been lost around second base than in any other way."
"Failure to make double plays, when two-ply killings would get the pitcher out of trouble, slowness in covering the bag, lack of precision between the shortstop and second baseman, are just a few of the many ways enough runs can daily be tossed away to make the difference between victory and defeat."
"We have tried a half-dozen combinations, but as yet are still in the experimental stage."
There is no denying Wagner's logic. There have been few great ball clubs without stars at short and second. Most of the important plays revolve around that spot in the infield.

HOT WEATHER SLOWS DRILL

St. Joe Eleven Working Hard for Baraga Game, However.

Hot weather has slowed up the practice of the St. Joseph football squad, Coach Leo Brunelle reports, but out of necessity the boys have not been allowed to lose their enthusiasm because a tough battle awaits them Saturday afternoon with the Baraga parochial eleven at Marquette.

There are no practice games for Brunelle's eleven this season. After they dispose of Saturday's game, they will meet on successive Saturdays the strong Gladstone and Escanaba grid squads.

The Jinx has put in his appearance already at the St. Joseph camp. Clayton LeDuc, fullback upon whom Coach Brunelle was relying to bear much of the ball-carrying burden, wrenched his knee Tuesday during the practice session, and probably will not be available for any great length of time in the Baraga game.

Stafford LeDuc, who has been on the sick list all week, returned to the practice field yesterday. The St. Joseph mentor is hopeful that he will be in shape by Saturday.

A scrimmage will be held this afternoon when the squad will try out all its plays. Signal drills, passing and kicking will make up the lighter program on Saturday.

Two good prospects for regular duty have been found in Ernie LaCrosse, sophomore, and Red Fitzharris, a junior. Coach Brunelle is working LaCrosse at halfback, while Fitzharris is showing up well at the quarter's post. Another newcomer, who has been working hard and who is likely to see action in Saturday's contest, is Mike Stern. He is being tried out in the line, and has been giving a good account of himself, considering that it is his first appearance in a St. Joe uniform.

DEMPSEY SEES RACE CLASSIC

Attends Washington Park Track Program in Afternoon.

BY FRED DYE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Homewood, Ill., Sept. 14—(P)—Waiting for darkness to fall and send him back to his night preparations for his attempted comeback against Gene Tunney at Soldiers' Field, September 23, Jack Dempsey took the afternoon off and attended the races at Washington Park.

He stood in the steward's stand during the running of the "Jack Dempsey handicap" with the call for him and the winner of the race, F. M. Grabner's colt "Chicago," about equally divided. Chicago was an odds on favorite and ran like one, setting a new track record of one minute, 24 1-5 seconds for the seven-eighths of a mile. Chicago paid only 74 cents to a dollar.

The former champion presented the veteran jockey, Earle Pool, rider of Chicago, with a huge bunch of American beauty roses, while photographers recorded the event for posterity.

Dempsey left the stands amidst a wild rush to see him at close range, and cheers and shouts of hope that he would regain his lost laurels in the Tunney set-to.

Dempsey, nattily attired in a sports outfit with green coat and white trousers, spent the afternoon in the clubhouse enclosure. He was closely attended by Manager Leo P. Flynn, and a retinue from his training camp at the Lincoln Fields race track, a few miles south of here.

Just what luck the former champion had in wagering on the "bang-tails" was not made known. A crowd somewhat larger than customarily attend the mid-week racing, was attracted to the new track by the presence of Dempsey.

Hydromel, former Senator Johnson N. Camden's colt, was second in the Jack Dempsey handicap, and Prince Ronald was third. All were short priced favorites.

BRITISH TEAM DEFEATED, 8-5

American Polo Players Defend International Trophy.

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 14—(P)—America's "big four" successfully defended the international polo cup today by defeating the British challengers, 8 to 5, in the second and deciding match. Three goals by Tommy Hitchcock in the first period gave the Americans a lead they held in spite of a spirited comeback by the invading four.

The reorganized British lineup, with Captains George and Denning in the forward line, gave the cup defenders a sensational battle, but it was an uphill and unsuccessful fight after Hitchcock's brilliant start.

The match was far from the rout which marked the first match, last Saturday. Through the last seven chukkers, in fact, the British four, carrying the attack to their opponents at every turn, played the Americans to a standstill. Hitchcock got loose only at intervals after the opening period. He missed numerous shots by close margins while the British, with George and Denning doing some nice hitting, persistently threatened the American goal.

After the match, the historic old Westchester cup, now the international cup, was presented to the winners by Tommy Hitchcock's mother, Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Sr. It was the third straight victory for the Americans and assures them supremacy for at least three more years. They have won six of the nine cup contests since 1886.

ESKY ELEVEN DRILLS HARD

Idle Next Saturday, But Are Preparing for Manistique Game.

Although the Escanaba high school football squad will be idle next Saturday there will be no letup in the training grind at the athletic field this week.

Reports emanating from the Manistique camp indicate that Coach Cook is faring better this year in the way of material for a football eleven. The Schoolcrafters are reported to be heavier this year and have a goodly number of last year's regulars in the lineup this season. Coach Cook will bring his squad to Escanaba on September 24 to meet Coach Roels' men in Escanaba high school's first game of the 1927 season. Manistique high opens its season against the Manistique high school next Saturday at Manistique. The outcome of this contest will reveal partly just how strong a team Escanaba will meet on the following Saturday.

The building up of a strong defense is occupying the time of Coach Roels this week. Yesterday afternoon, the line received some practice in blocking and charging. A light scrimmage is on-the-program for this afternoon.

Gustafson and Bemars have been working out at fullback, and both have been making a creditable showing. Captain Snyder, who was shifted from his regular end position to show his wares at half, is adapting himself to his new surroundings, and Coach Roels expects the change will work out excellently. Snyder is filling the halfback position made vacant by the loss of Smith, who moved with his parents to California since last season. Gabourie and Erickson are the other members of the back-field personnel.

The quarterback work is being handled by Gunderman and Stegath. Powers and Beath are now being used at ends; Labre, Erdman and Mathews at tackle; Vandenberg and Brown at guard and Olson and Breitenbach at center.

Godfrey Scores Kayo Over Munn in Fourth

New York, Sept. 14—(P)—George Godfrey, Philadelphia heavyweight, scored a technical knock-out over Monte Munn, former Nebraska legislator, in two minutes and 20 seconds in the fourth round of their 12-round fight tonight at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

Referee Lou Magnolia stopped the bout with Munn hanging on, groggy and helpless. Munn was outclassed from the start, landing only a few blows and those without great force.

In the third round he went down for a count of nine and after getting up again was in great distress, the bell saving him.

Munn came out in the fourth to face the hopeless task of beating a man who was fresh and more experienced. He took a severe drubbing, his nose bleeding and his arms hanging futilely at his sides.

Godfrey trailed his man to the end, pummeling him without cessation. Munn was outweighed 17 pounds. He tipped the beam at 211 1/2, and Godfrey 228 1/2.

FISH HOOKS CURE FOR PICKPOCKETS

St. Joseph, Mo.—Tony Augustine, of St. Joseph, is a bolder traveler abroad, but not so affluent but that he is careful of his money. Tony had his pockets picked while he was in Warsaw, Poland, recently, and was greatly irked. So he went to a tailor and had him sew 60 fish hooks in the two pockets where he carried his money.

Leaving Warsaw for Bremen, Germany, two men jostled Augustine, and slyly slipped their hands into his pockets. Loud yells gave evidence that the thief catchers were at work and the entire pockets had to be cut from his clothing before the two men could be released. Tony stayed two days to prosecute them and was given a reward of $500.

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
Chicago—(P)—The prospect that the heavyweight championship battle at Soldier Field, September 23 will be fought to the tune of a $3,000,000 "gate" marks the climax of Jack Dempsey's career as the greatest "money fighter" the ring has ever known.

Whether the Manassa Mauler wins from Gene Tunney or loses, he will have completed a record as a drawing card that Tex Rickard believes may never be surpassed.

Eight years ago, Dempsey won the title from Jess Willard at Toledo with gate receipts of nearly $500,000 involved, a record at that time even though a disappointment to Rickard's hopes. Two years later, in 1921, Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City was the scene of another record-shattering spectacle, a gathering of 90,000 fans who paid over $1,600,000 to see Dempsey knock out "Gorgeous" Georges Carpentier.

That mark, it seemed, would stand the test for some time to come but Rickard moved another step up the promotion scale with a "gate" of nearly $2,000,000 for the first Dempsey-Tunney battle in Philadelphia's Sesqui-Centennial Stadium last September. And now comes Chicago with the "Battle of the Three Millions." At least it is being ballyhooed as such, and it seems certain to eclipse Philadelphia's figures.

The heavyweight championship is always the biggest of ring magnets. It draws patronage from classes that never or seldom see other fights. It is a social as well as a sporting spectacle. It is in the same class with the world's series from the viewpoint of national interest, but alone when it comes to commanding world-wide attention.

But Dempsey, the colorful even if uncertain figure, a slugger of the old school, is and has been chiefly the cause of "packing 'em in" at Rickard's fistic festivals. Jack came to the ring with a fighting personality made to order for Tex's ballyhoo.

Dempsey has figured in eight fights in as many years, the gate receipts of which aggregated $1,875,000. His end of the purses has totaled over $2,365,000, although probably less than half of that sum has actually gone to Dempsey. Jack Kearns worked on a "50-50" basis when he managed Dempsey, and there have been numerous "cuts" or expenses besides that.

Tunney, if he stays in the "racket" as long as Dempsey, may do even better. "Gentleman Gene" has made a running start by appearing in one $2,000,000 spectacle and preparing to take a leading role in a $3,000,000 show. Whether he would draw as much with any opponent other than Dempsey is problematical. Attractive as his personality may be, Tunney, the experts contend, never has had the so-called "color" or "mob appeal" that Dempsey possesses.

REPORT MADE ON MILK TEST

City Supply Fairly Good, State Dairy Inspectors Find.

During the past week, Arthur R. Schubert, dairy inspector, and Lucy Dell Henry, bacteriologist, both of the state department of agriculture, have analyzed the milk supplied by dealers of Escanaba and Gladstone.

This survey shows the milk to be fairly good, yet analysis proved some of the milk to be unclean. Two samples showed to have a bacterial count higher than 300,000 per c. c., the maximum allowed by the rules and regulations of the state department of agriculture, and one to contain less than three per cent butterfat. In the latter case, the dealer answered to a complaint on said charge and paid a fine and costs.

"If all milk sold in these towns could be assembled and handled in a few large, well-equipped and well-managed dairies the results would be much better," declared Mr. Schubert. "As it is there are too many small dealers, handling milk in small quantities, without proper equipment and selling direct to the consumer. It is difficult to supervise or control the conditions in these small dairies.

The figures listed are based on one examination only and therefore are not as representative as an average of similar tests made at regular intervals over a period of time. Nevertheless, the figures show the necessity for frequent and regular inspection, and analysis with the view of supplying the general public with a cleaner milk."

The report of the analysis follows:

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Now Science Keeps Most Premature Babies Alive.

Everyone remembers the old time incubator exhibition in amusement parks. The populace wandered through and gaped in amazement at the human beings who were being kept alive by the marvels of modern medical science. Nowadays so much has been learned about the care of premature babies that their handling is almost routine.

OLD MASTERS

By the rude bridge that arched the flood,
Their flag to April's breeze unfurled,
Here once the embattled farmers stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world.

The foe long since in silence slept;
All like the conqueror silent sleep;
And Time the ruined bridge has swept
Down the dark stream which seaward creeps.

On this green bank, by this soft stream,
We set today a votive stone;
That memory may their deed redeem,
When, like our sires, our sons are gone.

Spirit, that made those heroes dare
To die, and leave their children free,
Bid Time and Nature gently spare
The shaft we raise to them and thee.

—Ralph W. Emerson: Concord Hymn.

Building Boomed In Michigan During The Month of July

Detroit (AP)—Nine Michigan cities stood above the $100,000 mark for building construction during July, 1927, according to the results of a building survey conducted in the cities of the state. Detroit, leading with a total of $13,218,000, was followed by Pontiac, with a building volume of $8,318,700 for the month of July. Pontiac's total for July, 1926, was but $316,000. The construction of the new Yellow Coach factory at a cost of $5,000,000 brought the enormous total for that city, it was explained.

Flint was third on the list with a total of $1,583,300 in construction volume, the 1926 total being $1,583,300, while Grand Rapids came fourth with $593,800 for July, 1927, and with a total of $1,408,200 for July, 1926.

Other cities, listed in the order of their volume of building construction, were as follows:

- Lansing, $426,900 in July, 1927, and $300,900 in July, 1926; Jackson, $257,400 in July, 1927, and $115,800 in July, 1926; Kalamazoo, $208,200 in July, 1927, and $138,600 in July, 1926; Saginaw, $189,200 in July, 1927, and $308,800 in July, 1926; Battle Creek, $120,700 in July, 1927, and $271,300 in July, 1926.

Bay City showed a building volume of $42,800 for July, 1926, with a July, 1926, total of $79,200.

DERBY DRAWS GREAT PILOTS

Aviators of Many Nations to Compete in Air Races at Spokane.

Spokane (AP)—Representative pilots of the nation will match airmanship and swiftness of speed here September 23 and 24, in the races of the National Air Derby association.

Darting military planes of fastest type will hurtle around the course. Big transport ships—freighters of the air—will roar from pylon to pylon. Sport planes, commercial ships, national guard machines, low-power machines and large capacity military ships all will be matched in the program of races.

The contests will see the presence of such pilots as E. Hamilton Lee, senior pilot of the United States air mail, who will fly to Spokane in the national air derby, and James G. Ray of Philadelphia, holder of the trophy of the Aviation Club of Detroit and a prize winner in the Detroit News air transport trophy race last year.

One feature race is the novelty relay race for commercial planes, for teams of three planes each, racing around a triangular course. As the first planes sweep around the last lap of the 12-mile course, the second relay planes will be in the air to take up the flight. Similarly, the third set of planes will relieve the second set after they have raced around the course.

Civilian sport planes will race for 60 miles for the Aero Digest trophy. Airplanes of the light commercial class will compete for the Aviation Town and Country Club of Detroit trophy.

There will be a free-for-all race for low-powered planes around an 84-mile course, and the little fellows will get their chance in a 50-mile race for the Dayton Daily News light airplane trophy.

Military airplanes will compete in a 146-mile race, and larger army and navy machines will enter an event for large capacity airplanes, capable of carrying a "pay load" of a ton or more and maintaining an average air speed of 85 miles an hour or better during the 120-mile race.

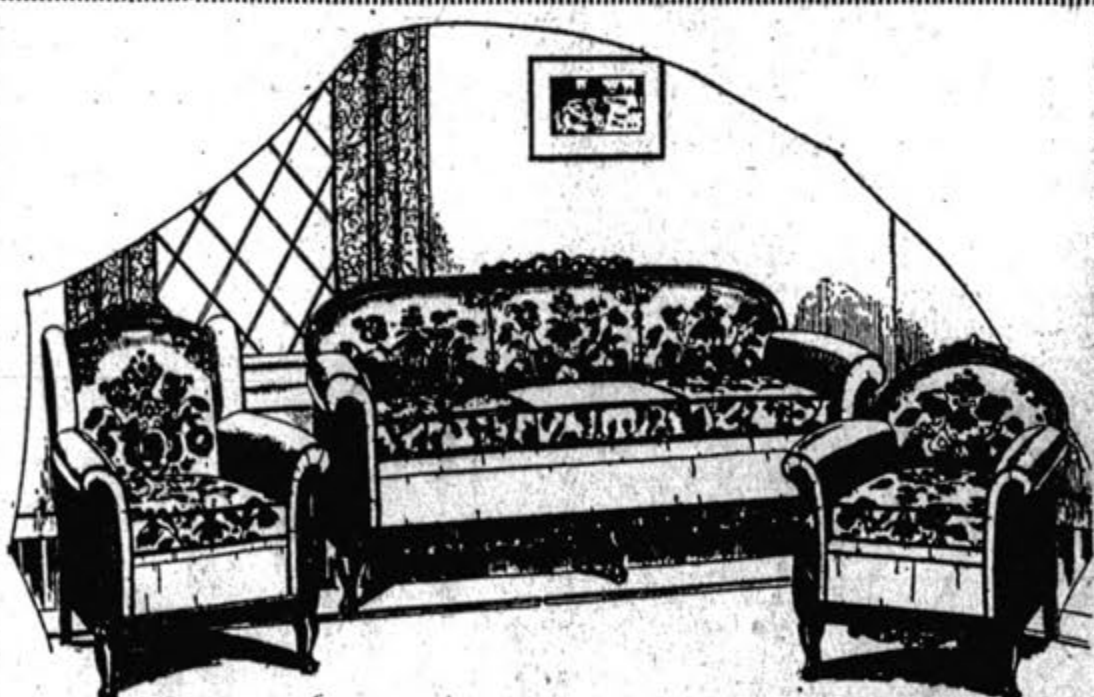

National guard pilots will have their own race, and commercial air transport machines, capable of carrying a load of half a ton in addition to pilot, fuel, oil and water

Back to the home

With September marking the arrival of Fall thoughts naturally return to the home and preparations necessary to make it cozy and attractive for the indoor months. In anticipation of the fall home tide we have secured and are now displaying some mighty interesting home furnishings. Hardly a day passed during the past few weeks that incoming trains did not have a car or a portion of a car loaded with fine furniture for this store.

And now with our Fall displays virtually complete we take extreme pleasure in bidding you a cordial welcome—whether you come to buy or just to look.

Every corner and every aisle of our floor is alive with splendid suggestions, and prices are far from doing adequate justice to the character and style of these new arrivals.

After interviewing different business houses along the street, we find that the majority will be open all day as usual. Many of the stores running special ads in the Daily Press announcing the opening of Special Fall ailing events.

Managements of several stores interviewed stated that they had made provisions to permit any of their help to attend the races this afternoon if they desire to do so.

will seek the Detroit News air transport trophy. Prizes totalling $15,000 are to be divided among the leaders in the commercial and national guard races. Following the policy pursued last year, only individual trophies will be awarded in the regular military event, it being held that the cash prizes should go to the civilian contestants who must finance their own entries.

The NUT CRACKER

by Joe Williams

An M. D. says baseball leads to insanity. Just trying to guess what Joe McCarthy is going to do next, might account for a lot of cases.

Speaking of insanity we know a dub who likes his golf because it takes him to "such soothing secluded places."

Ruth says he was embarrassed three times in his career tearing his pants sliding into the plate. All together, now, boys, "Home, home, seat home."

Giants Go to Sing-Sing," reads sport headline. And the Cubs hope it is for nothing trivial.

Estelle cannot understand anyone's enthusiasm for fights. Why, Mrs. Dempsey, of all people!

One of the Chicago boxing promoters is a big burlap manufacturer, but we hardly think the thing's in the bag.

Ernest Von Trotter Vierkoetter won the Ontario swim marathon and it sounds as if he swallowed a considerable amount of water.

We know a gent who has a $10 seat on the edge of the big fight. It seems he is not going to bring any glasses along. He likes to drink right out of the bottle.

Outside of the Smalca Kid and Reading who are still taking them on the chin we cannot think of another name synonymous with consistency unless it is Sir Thomas Lipton.

"Massachusetts Horse Walks in Sleep." That last nag we bet on doesn't even walk.
The only encouraging thing about Dempsey's workouts at Lincoln Fields is the experts think they are terrible.
"No seat diagram," says Rickard. Judging from the prices the boys are paying sight unseen, few of them would have brains to figure a diagram anyway.
"Only an act of Providence can stop the Cubs." Huh, Providence is only a bush league team in the Eastern loop.
"Attention to the bastis of pitching is responsible for my success," says Cubs' star hurler. He gets right down, it seems, to the Root of things.
