

CHICAGO PREPARES FOR TITLE BOUT

BELIEVE SMITH ELIMINATION IS PARTY'S DESIRE

STATEMENT OF MCADOO HINTS AT QUESTION.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Sept. 19.—Although the avowed purpose of the statement by William G. McAdoo was really to withdraw from the presidential nominating contest in the Democratic party, the interpretation generally placed on it is that the elimination of Governor Al Smith is earnestly sought by the elements which fought him at the last national convention.

Mr. McAdoo has not been active since 1924 and has not encouraged any of his former managers or followers to keep his strength intact either for himself or for any other possible candidate. Yet the anti-Smith groups in the party have again and again appealed to the former secretary of the treasury to do something which would prevent a repetition of the last Madison Square Garden fiasco.

Want Smith to Quit Mr. McAdoo has decided that the greatest service he can render is by eliminating himself, as a candidate and carrying on the fight as a Democratic leader. So far as can be ascertained there is at the moment no particular candidate on which the anti-Smith forces will concentrate. Their idea is that Governor Smith ought to withdraw and leave the field open.

This comes at a time however, when the Smith forces are enthusiastic and confident of victory. There have been rumors that Governor Smith would at the last moment join the I-do-not-choose-to-run club and retire in favor of a man like Owen D. Young, but recently such rumors have been squelched by political friends in states outside of New York who insist that no such plan is contemplated and they are therefore going ahead with their plans to get delegates.

The Democratic party is much more alive at this time than it has been since the last convention. Political conferences are frequent, discussions are being carried on by letter between the leaders, and altogether there is a spirit of confidence that 1928 will mean victory. This always stir up more interest among the candidates because if there is a chance of winning, the nomination is correspondingly more valuable. Republican leaders insist that there is not the slightest foundation for Democratic confidence and most of them with whom the writer has talked say that Governor Smith is the only Democrat who has a chance to win if President Coolidge does not run.

Keep Prohibition Out of the picture, the Republican view of what might happen is not being accepted by the Democrats. Those who think Governor Smith (Continued On Page Two.)

Girl Summoned But Refuses to Answer Questions Asked

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Juanita Montanya, 19-year-old dancer, who last week fled a $1,000,000 suit against Wallace Beery, screen actor, alleging he attacked her, answered a summons to the district attorney's office today, but refused to answer questions on the ground that it might incriminate her. She was ordered to appear following Beery's denial of the charges that he was the father of her expected child. After a short conference, between Harold L. Davis, chief deputy district attorney, the girl was turned over to the probation officer when it was learned that she still was wanted on a previous charge of petty larceny and peeking through windows of motion picture people in Hollywood.

ADMITS HE IS MISSING MAN

Patient in Grand Rapids Hospital Is Georgia Minister.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Admission that he is the Rev. Willis J. Jordan, missing minister of Columbus, Ga., was made to Chief of Police A. A. Carroll tonight by a man registered at the St. Mary's hospital here as the Rev. Willis F. Gordon. Chief Carroll quoted Jordan as admitting that he is the missing minister and that he had come here to be married, although his wife is living at Columbus. The Rev. Mr. Jordan, who said he reached Grand Rapids last Friday night, was taken to the hospital Saturday night when he developed a high fever and other symptoms of typhoid. Registering there under the name of "Gordon" he gave a Grand Rapids address.

Minister 35 Years Carroll declared that Jordan answered when asked if it was his first marriage. "No. I've got—I had a wife. I have two daughters and a son but they are scattered now," adding that his wife had died. The missing pastor's plan, he further revealed, was to be married as soon as the five days necessary for getting a license had expired. He refused to reveal the identity of the prospective bride, the police head said, but asserted that she is a "conscientious church worker."

The minister added that he was a native of Missouri, had graduated from Scarrett college at Kansas City, had been a licensed minister for 35 years and had conducted revival meetings in several parts of the country. Grand Rapids officials have notified Columbus police, but have placed no charge against the Rev. Mr. Jordan.

Klan Not Concerned Disappearance of the Rev. Mr. Jordan was reported to Columbus authorities last Wednesday night by the pastor's wife. She said that her husband was taken from their home by two men who called presumably to discuss matters relating to church work. Subsequently the Rev. A. V. Noble, former pastor of the church which the Rev. Mr. Jordan served, was held for questioning in connection with the case, but later was released following an investigation of charges that members of the Ku Klux Klan were involved in the disappearance and that Noble himself was a member. Noble admitted to newspaper men that he was a member of the order, but expressed his belief that the organization was not concerned in the case.

Paris, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Leaving the shouting and tumult of their convention behind, thousands of American Legionnaires today reverently set out for the real pilgrimage of their visit to France. They left for the battlefields of Rheims, Lille, and Verdun to visit the graves of their comrades in arms, who fell in the great upheaval. At the Palais du Trocadero they had heard General Pershing and Marshal Foch want their heroic war deeds and later they solemnly placed a wreath at the tomb of LaFayette. Later they were the guests of President Doumergue and still later enjoyed Marshal Foch's hospitality at a garden party. All these events paved the way for the real pur-

TWO KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES

Several Entrants Forced to Drop Out of Running.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The elements frowned on the winged country races today and helped thin the ranks of contestants in the national air derby. As evening fell, after a day of cold rain and stiff winds, only 30 odd planes of the 40 that left New York City were still on their way to Spokane. Tragedy marred the start of the bigger Class A ships today when a plane crashed at Long Valley, N. J., killing the pilot, R. E. Hudson of Marysville, Mich., and his mechanic, Ray Radtke, of St. Clair, Mich. The race then progressed without further incident until a plane, its gasoline supply exhausted from bucking head winds, attempted a landing in a street in the south part of Chicago.

Two in Class Race. An unlucky ice wagon brought the plane to an abrupt halt and Pilot Louis F. Royal of Flint, Mich., and his passenger, Joseph Potten, climbed out unharmed. The plane was so damaged, however, that it could not continue the flight. A nip-and-tuck race developed between Pilots Leslie Miller of Des Moines and C. W. Meyers of Detroit, leading the twenty remaining Class B ships which left New York yesterday. Although succeeding in landing first at Cleveland, Chicago and St. Paul, Miller was beaten into Fargo, N. D., by Meyers, who never was far behind.

Third Section Today. The only woman in the derby, Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Whittier, Cal., mother of two children, was forced down with her husband, Pilot James O'Donnell, on account of engine trouble at Auburn, Ind. The third section of the derby, the non-stop flight, starts from New York tomorrow. The Class A planes are taking a route which covers 2,175 miles and the Class B ships covering 3,350 miles. Both classes are due in Spokane tomorrow.

Twelve of the Class B ships spent last night in Chicago; seven in Bryan, Ohio, and four in Cleveland.

AIRPORT READY. Felts Field, Spokane, Wash., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Host already to nearly a hundred aviators here with their planes for the national air meet, the Spokane airport was ready tonight for the finish of the aerial derby racers from New York tomorrow afternoon.

Conclusion of the long distance classics was awaited to complete the list of entries for the events in the local event. In addition to the racers coming from the east, 11 others are expected from San Francisco in the coastwise air race which starts at 5 a. m. tomorrow.

The contingents of army, navy, marine corps and national guard planes was almost complete at Felts Field. The list of commercial plane entrants will be increased with the arrival of the cross-country racers.

PLANES SCATTERED. Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Scattered throughout the northwest between Chicago and Glendive, Mont., entries in the two transcontinental air derbies from New York to Spokane tonight were resting for the final laps before their tomorrow. The finish of the second day's dash in the class B derby found Leslie Miller of Des Moines and C. W. Meyers of Detroit at Glendive, Mont., maintaining their thrilling fight for first place with (Continued On Page Two.)

Marines, Outlaws Clash; Many Are Reported Killed

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Another outbreak between roving bands of bandits and the American marines in Nicaragua was reported today to the state department with indications that it was one of the most serious since the American occupation. Although neither the marine corps nor the navy department had received official information late today of the battle, dispatches arriving through diplomatic channels declared that one marine and one Nicaraguan national guardsman had been killed and another marine wounded. The bandit losses were placed at 20 killed and 50 injured. The engagement started, the dispatch said, when about 140 members of the Salgado band, well armed with rifles, machine guns and bombs, descended on the garrison of Telpaneca at 1 a. m. yesterday and continued the attack for four hours before they withdrew.

KIDNAPED BOY RETURNED SAFE

Child Let Out of Automobile Near His Home.

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Frankie Jergovich, spirited away from his home here last night by kidnapers who demanded $25,000 ransom from the child's father, a wealthy real estate dealer and saloon proprietor, was found tonight. He was let out of an automobile near his home by the captors. The child had not been harmed.

The child could throw little light on the case. He told of having been approached by two men in an automobile who offered him candy and then carried him away in the machine. He said he was taken to a house where there was a woman. He said he asked the woman for his "mama and papa." The child speaks only Polish. He said the woman responded: "Never mind mama and papa." When he persisted in calling for his parents, the woman spanked him and put him to bed, the child declared. He could give but a sketchy description of the trio.

Police were of the opinion that the kidnapers became frightened when they read of the elaborate search being conducted by authorities. Special details of detectives were assigned to the case and the child's description broadcast. Frankie was kidnaped from in front of his home early yesterday evening. A few minutes after he was taken to the other end of the line hung up the receiver before informing the father where he was to deliver the ransom. A half a dozen suspects were taken in custody immediately after the kidnaping and police believe some of the men will be able to reveal the identity of the kidnapers. The men held, it was said, are believed to be members of an extortion ring, whose activities have come to the attention of police recently.

ENGLISH FLYER TO START HOP

Plans Flight to Wellington, N. Z.; Leaves Today. Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Capt. Frederick A. Giles, English aviator, will hop off from here tomorrow for Chicago on the first leg of a proposed flight to Wellington, New Zealand, he announced here tonight. The flyer, whose plane was damaged in a forced landing at Hobart, Ind., several weeks ago during his first start on the proposed journey, said repairs had been completed, but that the plane would be thoroughly examined at Chicago by experts from the bureau of aeronautics, U. S. department of commerce, and officials of the Ford airline. Captain Giles plans to stop at Lansing field, Chicago for one or two days for the inspection and then to take off for Omaha. The itinerary also calls for stops at Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Carson City, Nev., San Francisco, Honolulu, the Fiji Islands, Brisbane, Australia, Sydney, New South Wales, and Wellington.

CAL APPOINTS D. W. MORROW AMBASSADOR

FRIEND OF COOLIDGE TO TAKE MEXICAN POSITION.

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Apparently determined to leave no stone unturned toward settlement of the Mexican problem before his term expires, President Coolidge disclosed today that he had drafted Dwight W. Morrow, his friend and college mate and a partner in the New York banking firm of J. P. Morgan and company, for duty as ambassador to Mexico. The appointment was approved today by the Mexican government and was announced immediately at the White House. Mr. Morrow will sever his connection with the Morgan company at once. The president expects him to take up his duties in Mexico City under recess appointments without delay, although the exact date of his departure has not been fixed. He succeeds James R. Sheffield, resigned.

Washington, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Proposals for a special session of congress have been sidetracked by President Coolidge. He also has been advised by Republican leaders here that there is no occasion for a special session of the senate alone, and it was indicated today at the White House that no call for one would be issued.

In reaching a definite decision against calling congress into session before the regular convening date in December, Mr. Coolidge has been guided by the advice of Senator Curtis and Representative Tilton, Republican leaders of the senate and house, who have told him there would be sufficient time in the regular session, convening in December, to enact pending business.

Will Have Time. So far as the Mississippi river flood situation is concerned, the president understands arrangements have been made to care for the relief work until January 1. He has been informed by engineers who are drafting a flood control program that they will be unable to report before November 15, or later.

While some senators had suggested a special session of the senate to thresh out the contents over the seats of Senators-elect Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania, Mr. Coolidge has been advised that the senate will have time to take these cases up and perhaps dispose of them before the Christmas holidays.

RECALLS SCHOOL DAYS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Selection by President Coolidge of Dwight Morrow as ambassador to Mexico recalled today an account in the lives of the two men that occurred more than a quarter of a century ago when the two were carefree undergraduates at Amherst. It so happened back in those college days that an election was held by class members to determine opinion as to the member likely to make the greatest success in life. Mr. Coolidge and all other members except one voted for Mr. Morrow. The exception was Mr. Morrow who cast his ballot for Mr. Coolidge. Also today the foreign post, Calvin Coolidge turned to an almost life time friend. Both were graduated from Amherst in 1895 and have kept up their acquaintanceship since.

Mr. Morrow is a frequent caller at the White House and those who know Mr. Coolidge regard the New York financier as one of (Continued On Page Two.)

AT THE TRIAL OF MAYOR DUVAL

An amazing story of bartering of city hall jobs was related on the witness stand at the opening of the trial of Mayor John L. Duvall of Indianapolis. Duvall, shown above between his attorneys in the courtroom, was accused by William H. Armitage, first witness (shown below on the witness stand), of accepting $14,500 and then breaking campaign pledges.

Defense Closes Case in Trial of Mayor Duvall

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 20.—(AP)—The defense virtually closed its case late today in the trial of Mayor John L. Duvall, of Indianapolis, on a charge of violating the corrupt practices act, with the presentation of testimony that the defendant never signed an agreement to let the Ku Klux Klan dictate at least 60 per cent of his patronage for support in the 1925 political campaign. City policemen, firemen and other members of the mayor's official family, who said they either were or had been klansmen, told the jury that Duvall had not made any deal with that organization prior to the 1925 primary or afterwards, state witnesses, who also were klansmen at the time, had testified that Duvall had taken an oath to adhere to the principles of the organization and had signed an agreement that he would give its members larger representation in the city hall.

The high spot of Duvall's testimony was his explanation of why he had accepted $12,000 from William H. Armitage, local political leader. Duvall said he took the money to keep Armitage from using it in support another candidate and that he never at any time planned to let the donor into the administration. The state subjected most of the defense witnesses to only brief cross-examination.

Approve Bond Issue at Mount Clemens

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A proposal to issue $640,000 in municipal bonds to build a filtration and water pumping plant here to take water from Lake St. Clair was approved at a special election here today, 1,437 to 171. The city at present is supplied by eight driven wells which have proved inadequate. The new plant will require a year and a half for construction, according to plans already drawn up.

Baby Girl Can Stay at Hospital, Says Father

Cleveland, O., Sept. 20.—(AP)—"That baby girl can remain at the hospital forever, as far as my wife and I are concerned, for I won't take it unless doctors can prove conclusively that it is my wife's child," Sam Smith, father of the chief figure in Cleveland's baby puzzle case firmly said today. Mrs. Smith reiterated her refusal to leave Fairview hospital today until she is convinced that the child she nurses is the one to which she gave birth August 22. She continued to maintain that hospital officials participated in a shuffle of babies, giving her a baby girl a week after she had been told a baby boy had been born to her. Although they agreed in a conference with Judge Carl V. Weyandt of common pleas court that medical science could not conclusively prove the parentage of the child, three doctors went to the hospital tonight to make tests of the child's and mother's blood and examine their physical characteristics. Dr. W. B. Glendinning and Dr. T. Wingate Todd, noted anthropologist, were to make examinations of bones, facial and bodily characteristics, of the mother and child, while Dr. Clyde L. Cummer was to make a Wasserman blood test. They were not to make public their findings until they were called for testimony when the case is resumed in court Thursday.

160,000 TO SEE PAIR FIGHT AT SOLDIER FIELD

ODDS TURN TO FAVOR FORMER CHAMPION.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Pre-battle preparations for the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship 10-round match Thursday night at Soldier Field approached a climax today with these outstanding developments: 1—Continued reports of a decided drift in Jack Dempsey's favor with wagers on Gene Tunney down to odds of 6 to 5 in many instances and prospects of even money betting by tomorrow. 2—A new "flood" of counterfeit tickets of all denominations from $5 to $40, announced by Tex Rickard and resulting in increased vigilance by federal and local agents. 3—Conference of state athletic commission with rival managers of fighters on rules, together with reports that the commission had further whittled down the referee candidates to three men, generally supposed to be Walter Eckersall, newspaper man; George Lytton, business man, and David Miller, sportsman. 4—Dismissal in federal court of suit by Rev. Elmer Williams to stop fight on grounds it endangers public morals, and postponement until tomorrow of application for permanent injunction by Coliseum Athletic club, based on claims of prior contract with Dempsey to fight Harry Hills here last year.

5—Retortation by Dempsey of alleged efforts to "frame" his losing battle with Tunney last year, the basis of the ex-champion's now famous "open letter" and assertion that he still was determined to force an answer from the title holder. Although Tunney remained a decided favorite among newspaper critics, more than 1,200 of whom are gathered here from all parts of the country, as well as foreign lands, the indication that Dempsey is in trim for a sensational fight has strengthened his support. This was reflected today in the narrowing of the betting odds, which have been hammered down generally within the past few days to 6 to 5 from 7 and 8 to 5.

Expect "Peak" Thursday. The question "Who do you like?" is heard everywhere as advance throngs arrive from all parts of the world to make up the record-breaking assemblage of between 150,000 and 160,000 spectators and a gate of what may be anywhere from $3,000,000 to $3,200,000. Fully half of the crowd is expected to consist of visitors arriving here by special trains, auto (Continued On Page Two.)

GREEN ASSAILS SINCLAIR LEWIS

Delivers Address at Meeting of Wayne County Medical Society.

Detroit, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Governor Fred W. Green delivered an attack on Sinclair Lewis during an address before members of the Wayne County Medical Society here tonight. "This author, as you well remember, painted a portrait of a business man and the portrait so caught the fancy of the public that 'Babbalanza' no longer is the name only of a novel, but is a new word in the vocabulary of the street to describe a type," he said. "So much is it on the tongues of all that the ardent member of the business world never knows when he is to be insulted by the epithet being hurled at him. 'Lately, this same author has dipped his pen in gall and acid and caricatured the ministry with Elmer Gantry. Many clergymen have felt the pressure of this book and leaped to the defense of their profession. 'Arrowsmith,' written by the same author, was intended as an unlovely portrait of your profession. Doubtless it was put out by the author in the hope that it would direct shafts of ridicule at the career of medicine and doctors in general—it fell upon unresponsive soil. The public thinks too well of you and knows you and knows you all so well by personal experience that the book did not cause a ripple of interest and is now practically forgotten."

The governor urged members of the medical profession to use newspaper publicity in educating the public in ordinary hygiene and the selection of proper physicians.

SEND ANOTHER NOTE TO FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20.—(AP)—A renewal American proposal for negotiation of a most favored nation commercial treaty covering trade exchanges has been communicated to Paris in a effort by the state department to avert a tariff war with France. The note was said today official circles to have been framed in the hope that France would not, if possible, once complete definition of the American viewpoint had been presented at the foreign office, to eliminate discrimination imposed against American goods by new tariff schedules. The American hope even extends to the early elimination of these duties pending negotiation of a commercial pact founded on unconditional most favored-nation treatment. The American note is said to be highly argumentative in character and to outline fully both the principles of international relationship upon which the American tariff act is based and specific provisions of that statute. It is conciliatory in language given the pointing out that French proposals for negotiations of tariff reciprocity treaty are wholly unsatisfactory in view of the injunctive laid upon the government by congress for the equal treatment of all nations in tariff questions, provided there is no discrimination by any nation against American goods. Between the lines French officials undoubtedly will find a definite decision by the Washington administration to submit without retaliation to what it regards as discrimination against American goods made effective by the French schedules.

DOCTOR WILLED WIFE PROPERTY

Made Will 2 Months Ago Giving Entire Estate to Her.

Hampton, N. J., Sept. 20.—(AP)—Dr. A. William Lillendahl, retired physician, who was slain on a lonely road near Atison last Saturday made a will two months ago leaving his entire estate to his wife, police said tonight. The document, said to have been written by the physician himself was witnessed by Dean MacGeorge, a member of the real estate firm of Bray & MacGeorge. It was found in a strong box of a local bank.

The authorities declined to reveal the contents of the will except to say that the doctor had left "everything" to Mrs. Lillendahl. In a formal statement tonight, Assistant Prosecutor Hinkle said that Mrs. Lillendahl, who is under $25,000 bail as a material witness in connection with the slaying, had not given a "complete" description of the two negroes she told the authorities had done the shooting. "In tragic moments," the statement said, "the picture of persons at scenes of crime are found to be clearly imprinted on the minds of the witnesses." Mr. Hinkle said detectives had been sent to New York tonight to investigate some angles of the case and that an arrest within two or three days was "possible."

They were here to look upon the little wooden crosses standing row on row, in the former war-torn area where their brothers fought and fell. After all the preliminaries this heartfelt purpose was accomplished for some today. The others will go later. Down to Business. The big parade of yesterday which will go down in French history as a marvel of American organization and efficiency—had placed the visitors from overseas prominently before the population of Paris but today brought the renewal of old acquaintances in towns, villages and hamlets in the hills they knew in the war. DEPARTMENT TO START ACTION

Habitual Criminals Hit by New Legislative Ruling.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 20.—(P)—The department of pardons and paroles is prepared to institute proceedings under authority of the new habitual criminal (Baumes law) act passed by the 1927 legislature. Arthur Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles, has requested the department of public safety to furnish him with a complete list of fourth offenders now serving time in state's penal institutions.

An immediate case under consideration by the department is that of Roy Motel, 33 years old, of Detroit, sentenced last Friday to the Michigan state prison at Jackson for 10 to 40 years for robbery armed. Records disclosed that Motel served two previous terms in jail in Jackson and one in the public house of correction. He is subject to the fourth term act and will stand trial under that law which arbitrarily requires a life sentence upon conviction.

"Many judges are unable to determine the number of previous convictions of the men on trial," Mr. Wood said. "With the assistance of the identification bureau of the state police we are able to check every man's record, in fact have been doing so since the first of the year. In case of one, two or three previous convictions the criminal automatically comes under the provisions of the new law and will face trial."

Mr. Wood explained that in case the criminal remains subject to the previous conviction. "We wish to bring these men to court under the habitual criminal act immediately before the prosecutor leaves office or the case is forgotten in the court trial," he said.

CAL APPOINTMENTS D. W. MORROW AS AMBASSADOR

The president's most intimate friends.

SURPRISES PUBLIC

Mexico City, Sept. 20.—(P)—The appointment of Dwight W. Morrow of New York as ambassador to Mexico came as an entire surprise to the general public today and aroused intense interest in all circles. It was learned that in accordance with the usual diplomatic procedure the Mexican foreign office had been informed of the prospective appointment and had let the United States government know that Morrow would be persona grata to the Mexican government.

The foreign office, however, declined to make formal comment. Present American embassy officials are interested in the appointment but are not in a position to say anything and the first reaction of the American colony appears to be gratification at the selection.

Disorderly Election in Allegheny County

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—(P)—The most disorderly primary election campaign in the history of Allegheny county ended tonight when the polls closed, the record showing that two men met death at the hands of political gangsters, many others wounded, sundry riots occurred, police officers were killed and many election officials were brought before the court charged with violating the election laws. The vote, estimated at more than 150,000, was heavier in state elections, despite the fact that only county and city offices were involved. Most of the fights for nomination were purely local, centering about arm and constables, but in some contests political observers say state leaders seeking to maintain their candidates so as to retain their power in the next general election.

McKay Leads Moore in Mayoralty Race at Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—(P)—With out 45 per cent of the votes in McKay's primary election tabulated, Harry A. McKay, Republican organization candidate for mayor of Philadelphia, had a substantial majority over J. Hampton Moore, who was supported by independents seeking to overthrow party leadership. Returns from 865 of the 1,517 divisions gave McKay 112,101 and Moore 56,951. Organization leaders predicted the nomination of McKay by a majority more than 100,000 votes. This is far below their pre-election estimates.

Judge John Monahan, organization candidate for district attorney, was running ahead of McKay. In the same divisions, Monahan received 114,155 and Fox 49,023 for Charles Ed Fox the incumbent, who independently.

Labor Conditions Good; Living Costs Declining

Babson Park, Massachusetts, Sept. 20.—(P)—In his weekly interview today Roger W. Babson called special attention to statistics which are now available showing considerable decline in the cost of living compared with a year ago. In connection with this interview Mr. Babson refers to wages and labor conditions in general. His complete statement is as follows:

Few Labor Troubles.

"There has not been a time in twenty years when the country has suffered so little from labor troubles as at present. It is true that the bituminous coal strike is still on in Illinois and surrounding territory; but the public is very little affected by this strike. The non-union mines in the east have so increased their production that the country's total output now is nearly up to the total before the strike was declared. Considering the large amount of coal that is in storage, the public has as yet not suffered at all. As the mines are gradually seeing their mistake, the effect on the general labor situation is rather healthy and beneficial. Labor leaders also have not forgotten the disastrous ending of the railroad shop men's strike two years ago and the very noticeable changed attitude toward labor on the part of the general public.

"Labor itself is much more sympathetic concerning capital than it ever has been. High wages and constant employment—due largely to immigration restrictions—have made capitalists out of many wage workers. This has been brought about both through the building of homes and the purchasing of securities. Even the unions themselves have become investors to a more or less extent. Some of the unions, such as the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, have learned from sad experience that investing money and developing property is not as risky and as easy as they anticipated. Hence the Brotherhood and other unions are not only directly interested now in investments but appreciate as never before, that employers render a real service, assume real risks and are entitled to substantial profits when an undertaking is successful. These experiences were doubtless an important reason why most labor leaders took no part in the radical eruption which the Sacco-Vanzetti case developed.

Cost of Living Declines.

"Probably the most fundamental reason for the peaceful attitude of labor today is the constant decline which is taking place in living costs. According to the latest statistics living costs are today somewhat lower than a year ago according to the localities studied. Using 100 as the cost of living in 1913 the year before the war, the Bureau of Labor Statistics presents the following figures as the status of about 75 per cent in fourteen years, yet wages show a greater increase during this same period of time. These figures are:

December, 1914	103
December, 1915	105.1
December, 1916	108.5
December, 1917	118.3
December, 1918	142.4
December, 1919	174.4
December, 1920	199.3
December, 1921	200.4
December, 1922	174.3
December, 1923	169.3
December, 1924	173.2
December, 1925	172.5
December, 1926	177.9
June, 1927	175.6
Raw Materials vs. Manufactured Goods.	173.4

"When studying the statistics on specific commodities compared with a year ago, we find that wheat and corn are higher, but that wheat and flour are a little lower. There has been a decline in the price of pork and coffee, and the seasonal low in the price of eggs was below last year. Butter and sugar are about the same as a year ago. Cotton is 20 per cent higher while hides are 45 percent higher. Wool, silk and silk substitutes are slightly lower in price than last year. When studying the metals we find a 10 per cent decline in steel and iron and a much greater decline in lead, zinc and some other metals. Copper is about one cent less than a year ago but is in a strong statistical position. Rubber and hard coal are a little off, while crude oil is 35 per cent lower. The principal decline in the cost of living has occurred in connection with manufactured products rather than raw materials. Owing to the very keen competition today between manufacturers prices are constantly being reduced in most lines. This is perhaps most evident in connection with clothing and shoes. The greatest price cuts, however, have taken place in connection with motor cars and the cost of electric power.

"Although there has been no decrease in the wages of the building trades, yet carpenters, masons and other mechanics are giving more work per hour of labor than they have for some time. This is partly due to the fact that so many of the men working in the building trades have become property owners themselves and partly because their labor leaders know that building is on the decline and lower building costs are essential to encourage new building at this time. The intelligent labor leaders today are careful students of business conditions. They watch good barometers of industrial and commercial activity. They are posted on current conditions of business and know that greater efficiency on the part of both labor and management is very necessary in order to prolong the present period of prosperity. As labor leaders have their troubles, like the rest of us, they should be commended and encouraged for these efforts to seek the truth and report it to their followers.

Labor Unions Losing Members.

"In view of the general prosperity of labor and the factors noted above, wage workers are becoming careless and indifferent about supporting their unions. Seeing the non-union man getting the same, or perhaps higher wages, than the union man, labor union members tend to forget what they owe to their organizations for past work and drop out. As a result the American Federation of Labor is steadily losing members. In many ways this is to be regretted. Notwithstanding mistakes which labor leaders have made, the unions have done a lot of good and certainly have been a great factor in raising the standard of living in this country. However, the American Federation of Labor is only a man-made corporation and hence must expect to be subject to periods of improvement and decline—of prosperity and depression—like all other corporations. The wheel of fortune is slowly but continually revolving in all industries, all communities, all corporations, and all families.

"The decline in the cost of living should tend to check any evident decline in general trade. The lower the prices at which goods can be marketed the more goods the public can purchase. In other words; it is the volume of consumption which keeps our industries active rather than the amount of money involved. Thus a decline in the cost of living is a healthy sign and it should be encouraging to retail trade. Furthermore, the general attitude of labor today should be encouraging to retailers. The uncertain element in the business situation is the condition of the installment craze and the amount of outstanding installment obligations. Payments which wage workers are compelled to make each month on their installment purchases must take today a large proportion of the weekly wage. These arbitrary and fixed payments necessarily leave less for cash purchases. This is evidence by the fact that such sections as are today complaining about retail trade are those sections in which installment buying has been most general. However, let me say in closing that this condition is of itself acting as a check and brake on further installment purchases. In addition the labor unions are starting a campaign against reckless installment buying. As a result of all these forces business, as registered by the Babsonchart, is 1 per cent above normal. Let us all do our best to keep it at its present condition and not 'kill the goose that is laying the golden egg.'"

Bill Proposes Closing Up National Capital On Sunday.

Washington.—Legislation directed at greater observance of the Sabbath in the National Capital is to be again sought at the coming Seventieth Congress, it was announced at the office of Representative Lankford (Dem.) of Douglas, Ga. Representative Lankford is now on the Pacific Coast but he has advised his office that he plans to reintroduce a measure for that purpose at the coming December session. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Martin, of Pittsburgh, Pa., of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian church has advised Representative Lankford that steps are about to be taken to get organization backing of the Lankford bill. A conference was held in Pittsburgh on June 21-22, at which a number of those interested in Sabbath observance legislation considered cooperation in the bringing about of a law on the subject. Mr. Lankford has been advised that in this conference an organization was formed called "The United Council to Secure Law for of Nation's Capital."

Personnel of Council

The Council's personnel comprises representatives of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, the American Sunday School Union, the Bureau of Sabbath Observance of the Presbyterian Church, the National Reform Association and representatives of other church and moral reform organizations.

"We are taking up again matters concerning the Lankford bill," Dr. Martin has just advised Mr. Lankford. "I have just written a letter to Dr. Wylie of New York asking him when he expected to call the executive committee meeting of the United Council to help in putting through the bill." Dr. Martin, is the Director of the Bureau of Sabbath Observance of the Department of Moral Welfare of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church of U. S. A. and is also active in the National Reform Association. Dr. Wylie is active in the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, with headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Never Reported Out

A bill (House bill of 10311, 69th Congress, 1st session), "to secure Sunday as a day of rest in the District of Columbia and for other purposes" was introduced by Mr. Lankford on March 13, 1926. After several hearings, it was reported favorably by the subcommittee on the District of Columbia but no final action was taken by the full committee.

Since the last Congress adjourned, Mr. Lankford has issued a written statement warning Sunday observance advocates that "the enemies of Sunday observance are and will continue very active in their fight and the friends of Sunday legislation cannot afford to be less alert." "I feel," he said, in that connection, "that the good citizens of Washington and the nation should make the Nation's Capital not only a city beautiful but a city of righteousness. Those opposing Sunday legislation are extremely busy wiring, writing and petitioning members of the House, the Senators, and members of the various committees objecting to the passage of any sort of a Sunday law for the District of Columbia. It is therefore quite proper for those who favor Sunday legislation to see their representatives, if possible, and urge upon them the necessity of a Sunday law at the Capital."

California leads the United States in number of flying fields, with 100. Texas is second, with 84; Illinois, 64; New York, 50. Chicago has 15, the largest number for a city.

Certainly Mr. McAdoo's statement has cleared the air and forced the fight into the open for the Smith forces insist on going through with their plans there will be no question about formation of an anti-Smith coalition which with the two-thirds rule in existence means that one-third can block a nomination. The Smith leaders are confident that the two-thirds rule will be broken if Smith can assure himself of a majority of the delegates. Mr. McAdoo's statement is the beginning of action inside the Democratic party and may have as much effect ultimately on Democratic fortunes as Mr. Coolidge's renunciation had on the Republican race.

Work men put the finishing touches today to the vast expanse of pine seats, augmenting Soldier Field's concrete stands, while telegraph men took over the job of installing about 140 ring-side wires, a record-breaking number, which will carry the sport stories of nearly 400 ring-side writers. This represents, however, only a third of the total array of writing talent, assigned elsewhere.

The commission's already established rules, governing details of the battle's conduct, were gone over with Dempsey's manager, Leo Flynn, and Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager. Each fighter will be limited to 30 feet of gauze-bandage, 15 for each hand, with enough adhesive tape to hold it. This as well as other equipment will be done under observance of the commission's inspectors.

Concealed Weapon Mailing Law to Be Rigidly Enforced

Strict compliance with existing postal laws and regulations covering the acceptance of all parcel post packages is required of postmasters and postal employees, and special care is to be exercised to prevent the mailing of firearms that are capable of being concealed on a person, according to a bulletin issued by the department at Washington.

Congress, at the last session, passed a law forbidding use of the mails for transportation of all "concealed" guns, except under stringent regulations.

The law is designed to prevent illegal traffic in pistols and other man-killing devices.

Miller still in the lead.

The class A entries, with St. Paul as their first day's goal, were led by E. E. Ballough of Chicago and his 69-year-old veteran air passenger Col. Charles V. Dickinson, who made the long hop from New York in 9 hours and 9 minutes, 19 minutes ahead of the field.

Nine of the 15 starters in the class A derby reached St. Paul, their scheduled stopping place. One other was forced to stay all night in Chicago; another plane with the only woman passenger in the race, was down at Auburn, Ind., two others were wrecked, one causing two deaths.

In the class B derby, the thrilling race between Miller and Meyers continued to hold most interest, the two pilots fighting it out for first position almost since the start of the race.

Meyers held the lead most of the first day only to lose it by a minute at the finish in Chicago. They took off this morning with in 60 seconds of each other and after Meyers had reached Birmingham in the lead, Miller again was a nose in advance when they landed in Glendive this afternoon.

LEGIONNAIRES VISIT GRAVES OF COMRADES

The convention got down to business today and a large dinner tendered by the Legion tonight in honor of President Doumergue ended the official parties and receptions.

The women, too, were free for a time today but time was not a heavy burden on their hands. They had been looking longingly at the shops and today they descended upon them.

Impatient to pay tribute to their dead comrades, a thousand Legionnaires were off for Verdun—cockpit of France—traveling in immense motor cars. It was a subdued and quiet group which went to visit their dead, leaving the carnival spirit behind in Paris.

Stand at Attention.

The Legionnaires were welcomed at the Verdun market place by the Mayor Deputy Schilleter. "Boys" were entertained at a luncheon by the city of Verdun and they moved on to visit Fort Douaumont, Hatton Chatel, Saint Mihiel, Thiaucourt, Pont-A-Mousson, names written in gold on the pages of American history.

On the road from Verdun to Saint Mihiel, two miles from Verdun, is a little cemetery called "the cemetery of the unknowns." The Americans stood at attention for a full minute before the graves of these nameless heroes.

The people of Verdun and Saint Mihiel gave an enthusiastic reception to the Legionnaires. At Rheims a ceremony of thanks was held by the people in expressing their gratitude "to the people of the United States not only for their aid in the war but for their help in reconstruction."

Lille, decked out in flags, gave a cordial greeting to the Americans.

Foch Reception Informal.

The day in Paris was not depressing, although there was much dignity in the beautiful gardens of the Palace Elisee where President Doumergue entertained many of the Legionnaires and their wives. France's

SCIENCE SAVES MAPLE SUPPLY

Birdseye Veneer Company's Creations Prolong Life of Industry.

New and improved processes of treating veneers has prolonged the life of the industry indefinitely. It is declared in an article, written by Charles J. Byrns, of the Birds Eye Veneer company of Escanaba, for the current issue of the Hardwood Record, a leading trade paper.

Mr. Byrns, in his article, says: "Volumes might be written concerning this wonderful wood which grows in abundance in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Northern Wisconsin.

Like all other valuable products of the primeval forests of this country, criminal carelessness has been conspicuous by owners of large tracts of this precious and marvelous timber. It is a known fact that millions of feet of plain, curly and birds eye maple has been cruelly wasted, originally by homesteaders who have annihilated thousands of the most majestic specimens by converting same into cordwood in the belief that it was better fitted for firewood than anything else, and in that theory, they doubtless acted in good faith. As time intervened, large timber holdings were acquired by mining corporations and lumbermen who ruthlessly sacrificed the timber by manufacturing it into lumber with little or no regard as to the possibilities that were in store for them in the years that were to follow. It is especially regrettable that curly and birds eye maple, which today is regarded by many fastidious connoisseurs of chairs and recognized beauty, fell prey to the woodman's axe when the denuding of the forests was in progress, as millions of dollars' worth of this priceless picture wood has been devoured by fire in the theory that maple contained more heat units than any of the native woods.

Day of Reckoning.

"During recent years, lumbermen and woods operators generally, seemed oblivious as to the possible market values of those figured woods and indiscriminately passed them along to the slaughter of the hundreds of circular and band saws, and they were subsequently sold in the market with no advance in price over the plain varieties of maple.

The day of reckoning, however, is here, our obscured vision has been cleared and at last, those fortunate enough to possess hardwood timber lands cherish this immitable wood which is now being acclaimed queen of the countless species of the world's possessions.

"The writer of this article has been a consistent student of the beauty and virtue of domestic woods in the northwest and has come to know through vigorous research into the archives of forestry, that maple is destined to become the popular wood of the age, especially as chemists in this country and Europe has ascertained that it has greater tensile strength than any wood available, while its receptivity of stains through laboratory tests, have convinced the most skeptical, its beauty is enhanced to such an extent as will ultimately give it precedence over any other character of forest product known.

New Stains Solve Problem.

"Although altogether too much of this timber has been sacrificed, there are countless almost impenetrable forests yet untouched in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan which at the present rate of consumption will be perpetuated for many years to come and will, now that our federal and state governments appear to be alert in the interest of reforestation, be perceptibly augmented for the benefit of the generations that are to follow.

It is universally known; the Birds Eye Veneer Company, of Escanaba, Mich. in its solicitude for the preservation and perpetuity of our domestic woods, has inaugurated a movement looking to conservation through the creating of new

CARRIER FOR PLANES READY

Navy Prepares to Place Two Big Ships in Immediate Service.

The local Navy Recruiting Officer has received word that the U. S. Saratoga, aeroplane carrier, is expected to be completed by October 31. Her sister ship, the U. S. S. Lexington, will be completed about January 5. The Lexington was to have been completed by November 27.

The Saratoga is under construction by the New York shipbuilding company and the Lexington by the Bethlehem shipbuilding company.

A vast screen of airplanes for the American Fleet, even when battling far from home waters, is the end toward which travel experts are now working.

Every fighting ship will carry its quota of planes to supplement those basing on the fleet of aircraft carriers which will be formed with the coming into commission of the Lexington and Saratoga.

Picture Battle

With even the most conservative of the old Navy men realizing that the first task in the sea of battle of the future will be that of clearing the air of enemy planes, experts picture such a clashing of major surface fleets something like this:

With contact established with the enemy there would arise from each American battleship, cruiser, destroyer and submarine, plane after plane, until several hundred were soaring away on their mission.

the combat planes and bombers from the aircraft carrying fleet numbering hundreds more. Battle between the opposing air forces would be staged over the tract of sea separating the surface fleets.

The air force winging to victory, naval experts say, would insure victory for its surface fleet unless there was an overwhelming preponderance of numbers against it.

These experts declare that without aircraft to spot its shots and correct the fire to bear directly on the enemy ships, a fleet would have little chance against another of anything like equal strength having an air force for that purpose.

Then, too, the bombing planes would be free to carry out their operations against the enemy, which would be obliged to divide its attention against air as well as shall fire and torpedo attack.

Some American naval experts contend that the American navy now is at least five years ahead of any other in the matter of equipping its fighting craft with planes.

Long Experiments

They say that this is the result of fourteen years of experiments beginning with a fo'castle deck runway on the old cruiser Pennsylvania, now the Pittsburgh, and leading to the revolving catapult now in use.

Two catapults are to be placed on each of the authorized eight new 10,000-ton scout cruisers, five of which are now under construction.

Experiments are also being conducted in launching aircraft from

The eighteen American battleships now permitted under the naval limitation treaty carry two planes each, while a similar number are carried by the light cruisers of the Memphis class.

Each battleship and each cruiser is equipped with one or two revolving catapults, the advantage of which is that less maneuvering of the ship is necessary to get the plane pointed into the wind for its take-off.

Thursday will be Menominee and Marquette day and Wednesday's program will be repeated for the Twin City visitors.

Friday will be children's day. A pretentious program of stunts for the school children of the county has been prepared by Paul M. Schuyler, county commissioner of schools.

The Hermansville band will furnish music throughout the fair.

expect a box-office "sell out."
Can there be any connection between the letter-writing epidemic and the unexpected apathy of ticket-buyers? Are Mr. Rickard's publicity men attempting to make a grudge fight out of this great pageant?

ALBERT VERSUS WILLY.
Some men have the habit of always running true to form. If they are noble in one thing, they are noble in all. If they are ignoble in one thing, they are ignoble in all. The world has been taught to look upon Albert of Belgium as the true type of the hero-king.

Public opinion has likewise been taught to look upon the former Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany as a bit of a swanking cad. A story just published in the reminiscences of a French ambassador to Belgium before the war shows that the two men always have acted more or less according to the picture world opinion had of them.

The time was 1912. The occasion was the funeral of the Countess of Flanders, mother of King Albert. After the ceremonies, there was a lunch for the royal guests at the palace in Brussels. Albert and Willy found themselves together.

"If Belgium were one day invaded, what would it do?" asked little Willy with the tact for which he is noted.
"Its duty!" said the king coldly.

"Its duty!" said Willy, laughing as if this were something extremely funny. "Its duty! And what with? At least I can hope that you will remember your German blood!"

"I will remember that I am a Belgian," said the king with noble dignity.
All the later epic of the struggle of Belgium against the giant enemy is in that little anecdote.

GERMANS—OLD STYLE.
Some Germans are like the French royal family of the Bourbons—they forget nothing old, they learn nothing new.

Before the war it used to be dangerous for any member of the Reichstag to speak disrespectfully of war or the army. Even today in republican Germany, when most of the people probably are pacifists at heart, the same danger exists, for the reason that most of the men who sit in the cabinets and adjudge the laws are Germans—old style.

In other words, monarchists and army worshippers and kaiser idolaters.
Recently a German socialist paper at Meissen published a children's supplement. Among other things, there was the picture of two little boys playing at soldiers. But the text said: "To be a soldier means to be a professional murderer of one's fellow men."

The minister of war at once took action against the paper for "libeling the German army." The local court promptly convicted the author, a man who lost a leg fighting for Germany. It fined him 500 marks. The higher court at Dresden, of course, upheld the decision. Nothing less was to be expected.

Germany will not be truly republican until all the monarchist fossils have been swept off the legal benches.

WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT?
Mr. Dempsey addresses a dirty letter to Mr. Tunney and Mr. Tunney fires one right back. Men curtail their golf play and other strenuous training the fight and start pounding typewriters. They appear to be very angry.

Then comes an admission by Tex Rickard that he does not expect a box-office "sell out."

The BENSON MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE

CHAPTER VI
Heath, who had remained standing on the threshold, seemed a little impatient.

"There's only one other room on this floor," he said, leading the way down the hall. "It's also a bedroom—for guests, so the housekeeper explained."

Markham and I looked in through the door, but Vance remained lounging against the balustrade at the head of the stairs. He was manifestly uninterested in Alvin Benson's domestic arrangements; and when Markham and Heath went up to the third floor, he sauntered down into the main hallway.

We had just reached the foot of the stairs when the front door opened and two men with a stretcher entered. The ambulance from the department of welfare had arrived to take the corpse to the morgue; and the brutal, business-like way in which Benson's body was covered up, lifted onto the stretcher, carried out and shoved into the wagon, made me shudder.

"I think an interview with Mrs. Platz is indicated now," said Markham; and Heath went to the foot of the stairs and gave a loud, brisk order.

Presently, a gray-haired, middle-aged woman entered the living-room accompanied by a plain-clothes man smoking a large cigar. Mrs. Platz was of the simple, old-fashioned, motherly type, with a calm, benevolent countenance.

"She impressed me as highly capable, and as a woman given little to hysteria—an impression strengthened by her attitude of passive resignation. She seemed, however, to possess that taciturn shrewdness that is often found among the ignorant."

"Sit down, Mrs. Platz," Markham greeted her kindly. "I'm the district attorney, and there are some questions I want to ask you."

"She took a straight chair by the door and waited, gazing nervously from one to the other of us. Markham's gentle, persuasive voice, though, appeared to encourage her; and her answers became more and more fluent."

"The main facts that transpired from a quarter-of-an-hour's examination may be summed up as follows. Mrs. Platz had been Benson's housekeeper for four years and was the only servant employed. She lived in the house, and her room was on the third, or top, floor in the rear."

"On the afternoon of the preceding day Benson had returned from his office at an unusually early hour—around 4 o'clock—announcing to Mrs. Platz that he would not be home for dinner that evening. He had remained in the living-room, with the hall door closed, until half past six, and had then gone upstairs to dress."

"He had left the house about 7 o'clock, but had not said where he was going. He had remarked casually that he would return in fairly good season, but had told Mrs. Platz she need not wait up for him—which was her custom whenever he intended bringing guests home. This was the last she had seen him alive. She had not heard him when he returned that night."

"She had retired about half past ten, and because of the heat, had left the door ajar. She had been awakened some time later by a loud 'detonation.' It had startled her, and she had turned on the light by her bed, noting that it was just half past twelve by the small alarm-clock she used for rising. It was, in fact, the early hour which had reassured her. Benson, whenever he went out for the evening, rarely returned home before two and this fact, coupled with the stillness of the house, had made her conclude that the noise which had aroused her had been merely the back-firing of an automobile in Fortyninth Street. Consequently she had dismissed the matter from her mind, and gone back to sleep."

DAYS OF '48 ARE RECALLED

Vigilantes Committee Curtailed Banditry in Mining Camps.

The stirring gold rush days of '48, when hordes of home seekers, prospectors, gunmen and other lawless characters trickled into California mining camps, are being recalled by the announcement that Detroit county bankers have organized a vigilantes committee for protection against banditry.

In those hectic boom days of California and Colorado mine camps, notably the Cripple Creek layout, the law was unable to cope with the bad men, who preyed upon those unprotected pioneers. Consequently, the decent citizens of the boom towns organized auxiliaries to the law enforcement officers, and called themselves the Vigilantes.

Although in these modern times, there is lacking the rough conditions of the past century, there are times when a bandit gang invades a small city and stages a real wild west holdup, looting banks and department stores. It was for this purpose that bankers of various counties in Michigan organized the vigilantes committee to co-operate with the sheriff's and police departments in time of emergency.

Why Jack Wants to Regain His Championship Crown

BY ALLIENE SUMNER NEA Service Writer

Lincoln Fields, Crete, Ill., Sept. 20—"Mr. Dempsey," I assailed the champion who sat on the tiny orange flowered cretonne love seat in his private lounge, in the pose of a good little boy all dressed up with no place to go.

"Mr. Dempsey, has it hurt your pride before Estelle not to be champion this past year? On the low-down, is that really one of the main reasons why you want so badly to win? Do you think that when a man's wife is a professional and in the public eye herself, it's especially bad business for her husband to fall from his own lofty perch a little?"

But before Jack could assemble his own defense, Leo Pestiferous Flynn, who had been busily engaged in toying with a silver salver of pearls and peaches, but who was inhaling my every word and accent, advanced with the hushers and muffers.

Jack waved off his Leo and dived into his answer with no assistance—"No, there's nothing in that husband-hero stuff. Estelle doesn't care for herself. She thinks of me and my job as two separate things. She'd feel just the same if I were a shoe clerk."

I had hurried the personal question at Jack, mindful of some remarks Estelle Dempsey had made the night before on the same subject. "I want Jack to win because he seems to think he must be ashamed before me if he doesn't," she had said.

"If we pass through a crowd and somebody yells something mean at Jack because he's no longer champion, he winces and looks at me to see if I've heard. I always pretend that I haven't, just for his sake—it doesn't bother me at all, for I know that no man in the world is so generally loved as Jack."

"You see," the great Jack said, "Estelle and I are really happily married, and in a case like that such things don't matter. I just want to win for the sake of success itself. I don't want her or myself to have to admit that I'm done for and couldn't come back."

I raved about Jack Dempsey a year ago when he did his training stuff in an environment far less palatial and exotic than where I found him this year.

But, pale pink water carafes or no, I insist on raving again. "Boyish" is the adjective one thinks of most frequently. His "yes, ma'ams" and "no ma'ams" come out as though from a little boy in starched Peter Pan collar, sitting on the back step all dressed up in his Sunday clothes, and told to be "kind and good to dumb animals and old ladies."

—IN A PETER PAN COLLAR

Jack Dempsey... "like a boy in his company clothes."

Jack showed me over his camp, a bit abashed at the four-inch thick velvet carpets, dainty cretonnes, rose-trimmed painted furniture and dainty bath rooms.

No pasha ever lived thus. The dining room was a symphony of jade and cream with cretonnes of flower design and silver salvers of fruits all about.

Laquer and wrought brass, more flower-garlanded chairs, and the fighter's bed itself was of black laquer garlanded with orange-colored fruit clusters. A pea green divan and cream and green curtains gave a dainty touch to the 200-pounder's room.

The tender lullaby of "Liebestraum" was the record on the expensive radio-phonograph, Jack confessed that he liked "soft, sweet music."

Jack's Beauty Lotion.

A huge pall full of brine which makes Jack's face the skin his trainers love to touch stood in a bathroom corner along with the fighter's other beauty lotions.

I toured the huge camp kitchen with its vast refrigerators to which only Leo Flynn and head chef Paul La Haye hold the keys.

Great kettles of apple sauce were bubbling away, and La Haye proudly showed me pies and pastries of a dozen kinds, guaranteed to be just what "the chomprun" needed.

FUNERAL HELD ON TUESDAY

Body of Mrs. Platt Barnum, Widely Known Here, Laid to Rest.

In a church filled to the doors with people from all parts of the community, final respect was paid Tuesday afternoon to the memory of Mrs. Platt Barnum, esteemed resident of Gladstone, whose death came Friday evening after a long illness.

Short services at the home in the flower-filled room in which the body lay, were conducted at 2 o'clock and the body was then taken to Alice Memorial M. E. church where Mrs. Barnum faithfully attended, for the church services.

The services were conducted by Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor of the church, who in his sermon, paid high tribute to Mrs. Barnum's character as an example of the highest type of a true Christian life.

During the services, two hymns were sung by Mrs. Ed Foster, "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," and "Asleep in Jesus."

At the close of the services the funeral procession made its way to Fernwood cemetery where burial was made.

Palbearers.
Former members of the Kings Herald Missionary society which Mrs. Barnum aided in organizing 12 years ago, served as palbearers. They were Wilbur Powell, Willard Passer, Fred Siebert, Earl Potter, Gerald Madden and Eugene Stewart.

The Gladstone library's doors were closed from 2 to 3 o'clock during the time of the services in respect to the memory of Mrs. Barnum, who served as assistant librarian there for three years.

Indians Build Hall for Tribal Rites

Tower, Minn.—Nature's limit, less theater has given way to a snugly-heated hall for the Indian's savage dances.

Poets have sung of the beauty of the Indian dance performed on the rolling plains, against a background of towering trees and mayhap a twinkling lake or two. But when the Chippewa Indians in the Lake Vermillion country of Minnesota get ready to observe the change of the seasons with savage steps, they repair to a well-lighted and heated hall, take down their clubs and head dresses from neatly labeled hooks around the wall, and do the dances of their forefathers in comparative comfort.

They erected a building just for that purpose—because it's more comfortable.

There is a concrete floor and a pit for the drummers. John Wauwagan, son of an old chief and one of the drummers, explains that when the dances were held outdoors, the dust from the terpsichorean grind, which frequently ran into days, all but smothered dancers and drummers.

An "orchestra pit" in the center of the hall accommodates the drummers. Head dresses, beads, bells, sashes and war clubs are hung around the wall with a peg for each person.

Dances soon will be in full swing in observance of the fall harvest of wild rice and blueberries.

Rev. H. W. Colenso Returns From Annual Meeting

Rev. H. W. Colenso, pastor of Alice Memorial M. E. church, returned to Gladstone Monday evening from Port Huron, Mich., where he was in attendance at the Detroit Area Conference of Methodist Episcopal churches.

The seventy-second annual conference opened the first part of last week and came to a close late Monday.

Included in the appointments, as announced at the conference, were the return of Reverend Colenso to the Gladstone parish of Alice Memorial M. E. church, and the return of Rev. R. C. G. Williams to Escanaba at the First M. E. church there.

Announcement made several days ago that Reverend Colenso was returning to Gladstone for his sixth consecutive year was generally with satisfaction, and the official confirmation made at the conference will be of interest.

Apartment living is riding a high wave of popularity here. Buildings featuring the one and two rooms with kitchenette are springing up in great numbers.

THEATRES

"THE SCARLET LETTER"

"The Scarlet Letter," one of the world's most dramatic romances, and one of America's literary classics, is the newest starring vehicle for Lillian Gish, famous for "La Boheme," "Romola," "The White Sister," "Birth of a Nation" and other celebrated screen plays that made her one of the greatest figures in the screen world.

The new play, an elaborate filmation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's story, will be presented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the Lyric Theatre commencing today as one of the studio's biggest features of the screen season.

The story, known wherever the English language is read, is the gripping tale of a woman who, to save the man she loved from disgrace, carried a letter of shame on her breast throughout a lifetime. It is laid in the days of the early Puritans, whose intolerance is the guiding motif of the powerful story.

Powerful Role
Miss Gish plays the role of the ill-fated "Hester Prynne," one of the most tragic and still most powerful figures in literature.

Lars Hanson, the famous Swedish screen star, makes his American debut as "Arthur Dimmesdale," her clergyman lover.

AT THE RIALTO.
"Lady Windermere's Fan," the Ernst Lubitsch production for Warner Bros., which is coming to the Rialto theatre today and tomorrow, is regarded by Lubitsch as one of the most perfect plays ever written. In his direction of this film version of the famous Oscar Wilde play, he has of necessity discarded the brilliant epigrams of Wilde and substituted action. The audible wit of Wilde will be seen changed to the visible wit of Lubitsch when the picture opens with one of the most sparkling casts assembled for any production.

Irene Rich plays Mrs. Erynn, the sophisticated charmer who returns to London after many indiscretions, determined to enter society. May McAvoy plays lady Windermere, and Bert Lytell Lord Windermere, whose marital happiness is threatened because he is kind to the fascinating Mrs. Erynn. Ronald Colman (by arrangement with Samuel Goldwyn) will be seen as Lord Darlington, and whose schemes to separate her from her husband, are frustrated by the fascinating Mrs. Erynn. Edward Martindel plays Lord Augustus and Helen Dunbar, Carrie Daumery and Billie Bennett are seen as three duchesses.

WASA ORDER HARVEST AND DANCE TONIGHT

Members of Wasa Order will entertain at their annual harvest festival market and a dancing party this evening at Wasa hall.

ONE OF TWIN SISTERS DIES IN CAR CRASH

Enroute to her home at Ann Arbor from Grosse Point, Miss Jean U'Ren, 20, formerly of Manistique, was killed when the automobile in which she was a passenger skidded and struck a tree. Miss U'Ren was the only one of several occupants of the car who received fatal injuries.

Miss U'Ren and her twin sister, Ruth, were well-known here, and attended Manistique schools together until the family moved to lower Michigan about four years ago. Always inseparable, they recently finished courses at Ypsilanti normal together, and by good fortune both secured positions to teach this fall at Grosse Point.

They had been staying together in an apartment, occasionally going to Ann Arbor to spend a week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. U'Ren, and their brother, Lawrence. It is thought that they might have been enroute to the home of their parents when the road tragedy occurred, but word received from Ann Arbor did not state whether the sisters were together when the accident took place.

According to the message received by Manistique friends of the family, the funeral will be held at Ann Arbor on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

'SPECIAL' MAIL USES OUTLINED

Post Office Department Tells Public How to Get Service.

Washington — Postmasters have been advised to acquaint the public with the exact value of using special delivery stamps by the Postmaster General, John H. Bartlett, according to a statement just issued by the Post Office Department. Where haste is important, it is said, a special delivery stamp should be used.

The extent of the Department's statement follows: "We have various indications from time to time that the public do not fully appreciate the exact value of a special delivery stamp on a letter or parcel and do not fully understand in just what instances it hastens the delivery and in what cases it makes no great difference.

"Postmasters in such ways as are available to them should make an effort to instruct the public along these lines. Some Advantage in All Cases. A letter bearing a special delivery stamp has some advantage in practically all cases, but where such a letter arrives at the office of destination after the last trip of the regular carriers in the afternoon, namely, after about 2 or 3 o'clock p. m., in most cities, the special delivery stamp provides a delivery that afternoon or evening up until 11 o'clock. Without such stamp it will remain in the office until the first regular delivery the next business-day morning. Each postmaster can give his own patrons the exact hours in these particulars.

"Then again, on some Saturday afternoons, Sundays and holidays, including Christmas day, special delivery mail is specially delivered once, although the general mail lays over until the following regular business day, when regular deliveries are resumed. It would seem reasonable that the public should pay extra for this extra service on Sundays, holidays, and in the evening.

"In other words, the delivery service itself is practically continuous but a greater charge is made for it on those days and during those hours when the regular service is over or is suspended. Of course the sender of a letter or parcel does not always know at what hour it may arrive at the city of its destination and therefore cannot always tell whether a special delivery stamp will facilitate its delivery or not, but when in doubt, and where haste is important, a special delivery stamp should be used.

DOORS OPEN AT THE COUNTY FAIR TODAY; PROGRAM WILL START AT 1 O'CLOCK SHARP

A rainy entry day slowed up preparations for the Schoolcraft county fair yesterday, but exhibitors and officials were optimistic, and predicted clear weather and sunshine within a short time. Today, the first big day of the annual Schoolcraft county exposition, has promises of fair weather, and the various departments are ready to make their first bow to the visiting public this afternoon.

As in previous years, horse racing has a prominent place on the afternoon program, and the events scheduled are a 2:30 trot or pace, a 2:14 trot or pace, and a running race for the ponies. In addition, the free entertainment schedule offers, Reynolds, the daredevil balloonist and triple parachute jumper. The Three Worcesters, and the Raymond troupe. Interspersed will be selections by the Manistique W. O. W. band.

Entries ranging from an armful of hay to a carload of cattle formed a steady stream into the grounds yesterday afternoon, and the heads of the various departments were kept busy cataloging the exhibits. Cars and trucks filed out and in at the gate in endless procession as the weather cleared away Tuesday and the business of entry day got under way.

The program this afternoon will open with the races at 2 p. m., fast time, 1 o'clock standard time. Additional entries in the speed events reported yesterday by Supt. O. W. Hupfer were two Green Bay horses, Greenwood Boy and Tramright, owned by F. Greenwood, who were late arrivals. Cassegrande of Crystal Falls was also delayed on the road, but arrived Tuesday evening with his racers.

For example: I have been an off-and-on visitor at the passport office these days, preparing for a visit to Paris. I had taken as my witness a chap who had newspapered with me in San Francisco. Through the marble corridors milled the usual crowd of Americans going abroad and foreigners returning home. At the information desk, the most patient girl I have ever beheld was explaining problems to this person and to that.

Just ahead of us was a fellow of about 30. Obviously he was not of New York. His skin was tanned to the shade of old parchment. His clothing showed the marks of much traveling. He seemed one who had wandered much. In a moment he was eagerly pleading with the clerk. "You see," he said, "my birth certificate was lost in the fire. . . . My witness and I exchanged glances. "The y are," he had said. We nudged one another. We knew the high-sign. He hadn't said "the quake," he had said "the fire." A fellow San Franciscan!

At once we interrupted, recuing him to explain a few pointers gained from the experiences of friends. We were engaged in animated conversation. "Where'd you live?" asked my witness. "Polk street . . . by the way, my name's Hicks. I engineer. I'm headed for Peru. . . the nitrate outfit . . . Chile last year, but got my passport west where somebody knew me . . . too high there, though . . . had to work in an altitude of 18,000 feet."

Where'd you go to school . . . remember the old pool hall over at . . . Say, whatever became of Pisco John's . . . Were you there in the fire. . . . In a second we had traveled back down the years and over the rails back to a hillside dipping down to the Hayes Valley. All about us haggled the groups of travelers, some babbling in broken English, some undergoing a cross-examination. Time and place disappeared and we were all back in the "home port," when the curt voice of a clerk brought us the message of the present and reality.

"Wanta hold up this line all day?" Of course we didn't. As we walked away from the desk I looked around. In three places I saw old cronies meeting and greeting and slapping on the back. The girl at the information desk smiled: "We're used to it. It happens at least once an hour. This is a place that makes you realize how small the world it."

Elks of 2 Cities Clash On Links Again Saturday

Signs that say: "Please replace turf" will be in order at the Indian Lake Golf course on Saturday, the date of the return match between the Manistique and Escanaba Elks.

The delegation from the Delta capital, 30 or 40 strong, will invade this city with their warblers Saturday afternoon, mixing with the local golfers in a match scheduled for 2 p. m., fast time. Mike Mead, exalted ruler of the Manistique lodge, is acting as mediator for the brothers, and has urged every member of the home club who can hold a club to turn out Saturday and stem the tide of the invading army with a barrage of birdies.

Cups On Display for Golf Match

Cups to be awarded to the winners of the Indian Lake championship golf tournament or on display in the jewelry window of the A. S. Putnam & Company store, together with a list of the pairings in the two flights. One cup will go to the winner of the championship flight and another to the winner of the first flight. The opening matches are to be played off by Sunday at the latest.

Following are the pairings for this week's matches: Championship Flight. Gustafson vs. J. Quick. Mead vs. H. Cockram. Nelson vs. Webster. Herbert vs. Munger. Southard vs. W. Crowe. S. Crowe vs. G. Ekstrom. Hall vs. Smith.

First Flight. P. Gero vs. G. Johnson. Prine vs. Baldwin. Bolitho vs. Isaacson. N. Johnson vs. B. Gero. Yalomstein vs. Tucker. R. H. Wilson vs. E. Hruska. Bouschor vs. Danielson. A. Cockram vs. G. Miller.

Regular Meals at Main Dining Hall

The main dining hall at the Schoolcraft county fair grounds this season is in charge of the Swedish Lutheran Zion church ladies, who are serving at regular hours. Breakfast is served at 7:30 a. m., dinner from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m., and supper from 5 to 8 p. m. In addition to the regular meals, hot coffee, tea, light lunches, lemonade, pop and ice cream will be served during the afternoon and evening.

SCOUTS AT LAKE

Four of the K. I. D. Scout Troop, including Marjorie Gooch, Beulah Bratschi, Jeanette Sigler and Waneta Hancock, spent the week-end at the Gooch cottage on Starfish Beach. The group attended the football game on Saturday, returning to the lake to stay over until Sunday night.

FEEBLE-MINDED CLASS GROWING

State Institutions Show Increase in Population Since 1923.

Washington, Sept. 20.—Steady increase in the number of feeble-minded and epileptic patients under institutional care in the United States is revealed in the annual report on the State and Federal institutions of this kind for 1926, made public by the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

Covering 36 states and 60 institutions, the report shows that the number of such patients under care increased from 47 per 100,000 of the general population in 1923 to 54.7 in 1927. The State of Michigan had 3,344 feeble-minded an epileptic patients in its institutions on Jan. 1, 1927, as compared with 3,222 at the beginning of 1926 and 2,658 on Jan. 1, 1923. The increase is from 67.4 per 100,000 in 1923 to 75.3 per 100,000 at the start of this year. The average for the nation is 54.7 per 100,000.

Bureau Figures

The census bureau statement says: "Complete return have been received from 36 states, covering 60 institutions out of a total of 75 State institutions for feeble-minded and epileptics which were in operation in 1926. These 60 institutions had a total of 7,203 first admissions during the year 1926, as compared with 6,633 in 1925, or an increase of 8.6 per cent. These first admissions represent patients received during the year, who had not previously been under treatment in any institution for feeble-minded and epileptics.

"For the 36 States represented, there were 7.6 first admissions per 100,000 of the general population, as compared with 7.4 first admissions per 100,000 in 1925. In other words the number of first admissions has increased only a little more rapidly than the general population.

"In comparing the figures for first admissions in individual States, it should be noted that the number of admissions for a given State is affected, not only by the number of feeble-minded and epileptic persons in the State, but also by such factors as the capacity of the institutions in the State and the effectiveness of the local machinery for bringing mental defectives under the care of the institutions. Where a State shows a large increase in the number of first admissions, or in the number under care at a given time, the increase usually represents an expansion of the capacity or facilities of the institutions.

Progressive Increase

"The extent to which provision has been made for the institutional care of feeble-minded and epileptics is perhaps best indicated by the number of patients in the institutions on a given date. In the 36 States covered by this statement the number of feeble-minded and epileptic patients under institutional care shows a steady increase, as indicated by the figures for the dates at the beginning and the end of the two most recent years for which data are available, which are as follows: January 1, 1922, 38,596; January 1, 1923, 42,164; January 1, 1926, 48,788; and January 1, 1927, 52,043.

"The number of such patients under care per 100,000 of the general population increased from 47 on January 1, 1923, to 54.7 on January 1, 1927. For the most part of the figures for the individual States show similar increases.

To Survey Insane

"The number of patients present in the institutions are shown for the 36 States separately in the table. The figures are based on reports furnished to the Bureau of the Census by the institutions, through the cooperation of the State agencies in charge of such institutions. The figures for 1926 are preliminary and subject to correction.

Similar preliminary statements covering State hospitals for mental disease ("insane hospitals") and State penal institutions will be issued shortly. Upon the completion of the census final statements will be issued covering all institutions in each of the three classes.

CAMPAIN FOR MEMBERS.

Men and women members of Manistique Golden Star lodge are opposing teams in the annual membership contest now in progress. The contest will close October 21. After the 1-words are counted, the losing team will be required to pay the winners some forfeit, the details of which have not yet been decided upon. Last year, the winning team was given a banquet by the losers.

STRATEGY WILL HELP CHAMPION

Tunney Pledged to Use No Definite Style of Fighting.

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Lake Villa, Ill., Sept. 20.—(P)—The self-same strategy that carried Gene Tunney to the heavyweight throne in the battle of the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia last fall will guide the big marine in defense of his heavyweight crown against the former champion, Jack Dempsey, in Soldier Field Thursday night.

BENGALS WIN DOUBLE HEADER

Red Sox Take Short Ends of Both Scores, 4-3, 5-3.

Boston, Sept. 20.—(P)—Detroit won both ends of a double header from Boston today, 4 to 3 and 5 to 3, closing the season's series between the two clubs. The Tigers won 17 of their meetings with the Red Sox this year and lost five. Regan's hitting and the fielding of Ruble and Blue featured today's contests, which the relief pitching of George Smith pulled out the second game for the visitors.

ROBINS TRIM PIRATES, 3-0

League Leaders Suffer Second Defeat at Brooklyn's Hands.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20.—(P)—The Robins handed the league-leading Pirates their second consecutive shutout defeat today, 3 to 0, as Bill Doak, veteran flinger of spitballs, held the Corsairs to two hits. Only one Pittsburgh player reached second base. The reversal cut the Pirates margin on the peak to three games.

Use of Milk Is On the Increase

Evidence that the war on bovine tuberculosis has not turned the public against milk, dairy experts say, is seen in the fact that annual consumption of milk in the United States has increased more than 49 quarts per capita since 1918. During 1926 the public consumed 56 billion pounds of milk and cream, an increase of two billion pounds over the quantity consumed in 1925.

Use of Milk Is On the Increase

Evidence that the war on bovine tuberculosis has not turned the public against milk, dairy experts say, is seen in the fact that annual consumption of milk in the United States has increased more than 49 quarts per capita since 1918. During 1926 the public consumed 56 billion pounds of milk and cream, an increase of two billion pounds over the quantity consumed in 1925.

Chamber of Commerce Men Turn in 174 Membership Cards on Opening Day

Drive Will Continue Today; Good Start Says Colonel.

Teams in the Chamber of Commerce membership renewal campaign got under way to a good start yesterday with a report of 174 memberships and $2,055 in dues collected. Every team had a report and when each captain called off his figures to be chalked up on the big black board, he was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

When the totals had been tabulated, Col. Joseph L. Nolden awarded several prizes. Major O. Sundquist's division won the flag for the best report in memberships with a total of 30. Major C. W. Stoll's division captured Escanaba pennant for the best showing in dues collected with a return of $275.

In the contest between individual teams, Capt. E. G. Bennett's cohorts won the box of cigars for reporting the largest number of memberships, having turned in a total of 12. Capt. August Bloomstrom's team took home the bacon for reporting the largest amount of dues collected.

Girard to Have Partner in Act at Bathing Beach

William F. Girard of Gladstone who will give a log rolling exhibition at the Ludington Park bathing beach late next Sunday afternoon, has announced that he will have a partner with him so that he will be able to stage a real match, rolling for two out of three falls, as is done in the official tournaments.

Girard is negotiating with several log rollers to come to Escanaba for the event, but as yet has not been able to reach an agreement with any of them. With the arrangements to secure a partner under way, those who view the exhibition next Sunday are promised a real treat in the log rolling sport. With the aid of a partner, Girard will be able to make his act twice as interesting.

George P. Britz vs John Novack, appeal; George Schrader vs Johnson and Gust Blomstrom, trespass; Samuel W. Randolph vs Spokane Steamship Co., and the First National bank, Gladstone, garnishment; Charles McKoskey vs The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railway Co., trespass; Application of Delta County Agricultural society, statutory action. There are 13 chancery cases on the calendar, 10 of which are divorce actions.

with $162.50 to their credit. Colonel Nolden instructed all workers, majors, captains and lieutenants to be at work in their respective districts this morning at 9:30 o'clock, and to report back at the Ludington hotel at 12:15 o'clock for the second report luncheon.

"We are on the way, with 174 memberships and $2,055 for the first report," said Colonel Nolden. "That is good work for the first day and you are to be congratulated, but this is only a start. Let us have every worker on the firing line Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock."

WARN GIRLS OF AUTO PICK-UPS

"Girls, who accept rides from strange motorists, are inviting a lot of trouble, warns Sheriff Elmer Swanson, who yesterday was called to investigate the attacking of a young Wells girl by a stranger.

The girl was walking to her home at Wells last Wednesday afternoon, and accepted a ride from a motorist at the ore docks. Instead of driving her home, the young man drove on to Pioneer Trail park, where the alleged assault was committed.

She told Sheriff Swanson that the man was about 25 years of age and that he drove a dilapidated Buick touring car, which had been repainted in green color. The sheriff's department is making a check-up of cars of this description.

If London continues to grow at the rate it has maintained during the past century, there will be a population of 20,000,000 by 2000.

The heaviest rain ever recorded in the United States was at Taylor, Texas, in September, 1921. During a day and a night, 23.11 inches of rain fell.

NO CLUES ON FAIR ROBBERY

All surrounding cities in Michigan and Wisconsin have been notified of the looting of the Fair Savings bank department store here early Sunday morning by robbers, who escaped with $2,000 without leaving a clue.

There has been no response locally from anyone who might have valuable information concerning the robbery, and the only outside reports received were those from Wausau, Wis., and Ironwood, Mich., where department stores had been entered by robbers using the chiseling method. Wausau and Ironwood authorities could offer little information that would assist local police in rounding up the burglars as they had made clean get-aways there also.

The police and sheriff's department were unable to unearth any new clues in connection with the entering of the high school buildings in Rapid River and Escanaba. At the Escanaba high school, the prowlers made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the office vault. At Rapid River, it appeared that someone was searching for papers in the superintendent's desk as ten dollars, which was left in plain view was not touched.

Oriental Mystics Coming to Delft Last Half of Week

"Thurman the Great" and a company of mystic entertainers will appear at the Delft theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. There are six persons in Thurman's company including Glenda Lobdell, pianist; Katherine Dye, oriental dancer; Gilah Gardner, singer, and Charles Albert, assistant to Thurman.

The company has scored heavily at Iron Mountain, Menominee and elsewhere in this territory. The program consists of magic, mind reading, crystal gazing, singing and dancing. Thurman promises to answer any question his patrons desire to ask him.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

"There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight!" This refrain echoed through the hackberry and pecan trees that fringed the encampment of the Rough Riders in 1898. It reverberated through the streets of San Antonio, Texas, in the stirring days of the Spanish-American War when Roosevelt recruited his famous regiment.

Recently the same song echoed through the trees as scenes of an earlier day were re-enacted in the filming of Paramount's stupendous production "The Rough Riders" based on Hermann Hagedorn's story.

And with this old-time number were a score or more other songs of the same vintage, including "A Bicycle Built for Two," "Just One Girl," "Dolly Gray," "Blue Bells," "Starlight," "Break the News to Mother," "Two Little Girls in Blue," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "The Mosquito Parade."

At the Delft Theatre these same songs will be featured in the special musical score accompanying Victor Fleming's picture "The Rough Riders" which ends its local stay today.

AT THE STRAND.

A director of simply told screen stories—that is the modest title William K. Howard would assume. He doesn't pine to do the tremendously ornate or the fluffy, crepe de chine style of romantic drama—just a plain story of human motivations; tears, laughter and hope.

In "White Gold," his latest picture with Jetta Goudal as the star, which comes to the Strand today, he has achieved just that simplicity of story continuity and character delineation he has often wanted to do.

Although the picture is basically a story of a calculated hatred successfully destroying a romantic love affair, the difficult material was so simply handled by Howard that high praise was given his efforts by a score of nationally known reviewers who saw the picture at a special studio showing.

Among those who were unanimous in acclaiming it, was James Starr of the Los Angeles Record; Doris Denbo and Eugene V. Brewster of the Brewster publications; Herbert Moulton of the Los Angeles Times and such widely read syndicate writers as Monroe Lathrop, Jack Woolridge and the wire service representatives.

Kenneth Thomson, George Bancroft, George Nichols, Clyde Cook and Robert Perry are in the cast. The scenes are laid on a sheep ranch in the west and are said to be dramatic and tenseful.
