

WELLS POSTOFFICE ROBBER CAPTURED

FIVE SENATORS IN 1928 RACE FOR PRESIDENT

ONLY ONE SOLON HAS EVER REACHED THE WHITE HOUSE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Oct. 26.—The United States Senate which in history sent only one of its members to the White House will have five active candidates for the presidency. Three are seeking the republican nomination in the primaries in their respective states and two are after the Democratic nomination. On top of this is the candidacy of the presiding officer of the senate, Vice-President Dawes.

Senator Norris of Nebraska, and Senator Curtis, of Kansas, republican leader of the senate, are of opposite schools of thought on public questions. Senator Willis of Ohio, republican, is one of the outstanding drys of the senate and in a sense may be regarded as the candidate of forces like the Anti-Saloon League.

Senator Walsh of Montana is also a dry and is looked upon favorably inside the democratic party by the Anti-Smith forces who want to prove that their objection to the New York governor is not on religious grounds. Senator Reed of Missouri is the only wet of the entire senate group of candidates. His main argument is one of attack on Coolidge policies.

Nearly every one of the senatorial candidates has a special activity which will bring him into prominence in the forthcoming session of congress. Mr. Reed is at the head of a special investigating committee inquiring into the Smith and Vane senatorial contests in Illinois and Pennsylvania. Mr. Walsh prosecuted the Teapot Dome case so vigorously that he thinks he has an opportunity for disclosures of public interest in the public utility field. He plans to introduce a resolution to have a special committee appointed, of which he will be the chairman. Indications are that the resolution would be fought which will give Mr. Walsh a chance to speak at considerable length in an effort to force passage of the resolution.

Norris Insurgent Leader. Senator Norris is at the head of the insurgent group of republican senators who are interested in forcing action on farm relief as well as other matters of common interest to the so-called radical group. The Nebraska senator is active in various controversies but there are indications that he too will take a prominent part in the discussion of waterpower and public utilities particularly because of his interest in the Muscle Shoals and Boulder Dam projects.

Perhaps the most significant action that has yet been taken on the republican side is the aggressive attack which Senator Borah has made on behalf of Senator Norris in telegraphing Governor McMullen a demand that he line up behind Senator Norris instead of former Governor Lowden of Illinois.

If there was any doubt heretofore that the western insurgent group were going to desert both Lowden and Dawes in favor of

TO RUN IN 1928?

CHARLES CURTIS

SENATOR WILL BE CANDIDATE

Charles Curtis of Kansas Announces That He Will Be in Race

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The 1928 presidential sweepstakes were formally opened today with the announcement by Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader of the senate, to Kansas friends, that he would be a candidate. The announcement, embodied in a letter to Roy L. Bone of Topeka, Kan., president of the Curtis-for-President club in that city, is the first definite declaration of intention by any of the numerous Republicans who have been talked of as candidates since President Coolidge made his statement last August that he did not choose to run in 1928.

No "Stalking Horse." Counted as an administration stalwart in his capacity as leader of the Republicans in the senate, Mr. Curtis made it clear that he would run only as a candidate in his own right. "I will not allow myself to be used as a 'stalking horse' for anyone," the veteran legislator and former Kansas prosecutor declared. The outspokenness of the Kaw Indian whose blood flows in his veins was apparent when Senator Curtis declared:

"I will not consent to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with the view of voting for me a few ballots as a 'favorite son.'" Almost at the same time with the Kansas announcement, but by coincidence, came another message from the White House, that the president did not wish to be considered as a candidate. After a White House call today, Louis Wiley, business manager of the New York Times, stated that Mr. Coolidge expressed to him the view that there is "plenty of timber" in the party for a presidential candidate without consideration of himself. Coming on the heels of talk among some Republican leaders of drafting Mr. Coolidge for another term, some significance was attached to the declaration of Senator Curtis that he would not be used as a stalking horse for anyone, but he preferred not to amplify the statement.

Duval Must Run Indianapolis With No "Bank Roll"

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Mayor John L. Duval was confronted tonight with the task of running the city of Indianapolis without a bank roll. Treasurer Edward A. Ramsay, acting on advice of counsel, announced he would refuse to honor all city salary warrants bearing the mayor's signature. All school teachers, policemen, firemen and other city employees will be affected. Inasmuch as pay day is next Tuesday, Ramsay's action brought Duval's turbulent administration to the showdown stage. The treasurer determined his stand when County Attorney Clinton H. Given advised him that, in his opinion Duval's official acts since his conviction September 22, of violating the corrupt practices act were illegal. While expressing the belief that the matter would reach the courts on a mandamus proceeding, Mayor Duval said he did not plan any immediate action.

LINER WAS 24 HOURS BEHIND HER SCHEDULE

BOILER EXPLOSION MAY HAVE CAUSED SINKING

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, which sailed from Genoa with nearly a thousand passengers aboard, more than 800 of them Italian emigrants bound for the promised land of South America, lies at the bottom of the ocean off the Brazilian coast. Rescuing vessels, hurrying to the aid of the Mafalda's SOS are believed to have rescued all but some 68, out of a total of 998 passengers and a crew of 240.

The steamer sank about 80 miles from Poorto Segura, a port of the state of Bahia. Whether she struck a hidden reef, or the hull of a derelict, as one report has it, is not definitely known, but long before the liner disappeared beneath the waves, a serious accident occurred aboard, some say a broken screw shaft, followed by an explosion of the boilers. It was about 7:15 o'clock last night when Mafalda's sudden call for aid was picked up by various ships not far distant. It was about the hours when the evening meal having been disposed of, the Italians were making ready to celebrate their arrival on the shores of the new country where they intended to set up their homes.

The sea was calm, fortunately, and the night was clear, and the crippled vessel remained afloat for hours, while rescuing steamers were speeding to the scene. It was not until about 11 o'clock that the Mafalda sank. Boilers Exploded, Belief. The Dutch steamer Alhena, the French Formosa, the British Empire Star, the British steamer Ave-lona, the Italian Rosetti and others joined in taking the despairing passengers off the Mafalda, and picking up survivors who were huddled in small boats or clinging to rafts. The Alhena sent a wireless message tonight that she had 500 survivors aboard and would reach Rio Janeiro tomorrow.

The Empire Star is reported to have rescued 185, the Formosa 110, and the Rosetti 150. From meagre accounts received from various sources, experts are satisfied that the boilers of the Principessa Mafalda exploded, due either to improper water supply, or to flooding after the broken screw shaft had torn a hole in the side of the vessel. The liner is said to have been 24 hours behind her time, and this is taken as an indication that the machinery might not have been functioning properly, or that the steamer was being forced along to make up for lost time. Reports vary as to when the first call for aid was sent forth by the Mafalda's wireless. One report had it that she signalled at 3:14 in the afternoon that she was in distress 300 miles distant from Bahia. But it was four hours later, according to the best authorities that the steamers at sea picked up her call. See Empty Rafts and Boats. The first to arrive on the scene was the French liner Formosa. She moved in sight at 8 o'clock and immediately began the work of rescue. Other steamers came quickly, and one of them is credited with having put lines aboard the Mafalda in an effort to save the sinking craft. Life boats were put overboard not only from the Mafalda but also from the other vessels, and careful search was made for hours after as many as could be saved were taken aboard the rescuing vessels. One steamer reports that in life search she passed two empty life boats and several rafts, but no sign of survivors? There is reason to believe, however, that those who had occupied the boats and rafts had already been picked up.

Alaskan Earthquake Centered in Ocean

Ketchikan, Alaska, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Further evidence that the earthquake that shook southeastern Alaska last Monday centered in the sea was brought here today by the steamer Redondo, south-bound from western Alaska. Such heavy seas in the Gulf of Alaska accompanied the earth disturbance that a tow line from the Redondo to the Halibut vessel, Seymour, was broken and the Seymour drifted three hours before it could again be taken into tow. Seamen also reported that windows were broken in the Cape St. Elias light station, on Kovak Island, 110 miles southwest of Cordova, and that the whole region was severely shaken. The Cape Spencer station, 80 miles east of Juneau, experienced a lesser shock.

Report 260 Killed When Train Plunges Over High Precipice

London, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. reports that 260 persons are reported to have been killed when a passenger train plunged over a precipice between Sarajevo and Mostar, Jugoslavians.

A narrow gauge and partly rack-and-pinion railway runs through a mountain district between Sarajevo and Mostar. It traverses the ridge of Ivan Planina (3,122 feet) the water shed between the Adriatic and Black Sea by a tunnel, crosses several rivers and then descends through the wild Naranta valley, a defile, and near Mostar passes the precipices of the Velez (6,225 feet).

WATCH-MAKER GETS FREEDOM

Assassin of General Petlura Acquitted of Charge

Paris, Oct. 26.—(AP)—At the end of the eighth day of one of the most remarkable trials ever conducted in Paris, Samuel Schwartzbard, young Jewish watch-maker, who assassinated Gen. Simon Petlura, Ukrainian separatist leader, on a Paris street corner, 15 months ago, was set free this evening by the court as assize.

Schwartzbard was acquitted on all criminal counts but was condemned—as is the custom of French courts—to pay a nominal sum for damages. The verdict, which came after hour and one-half hours of summing up, with Henri Torres, counsel for the defense, taking less than a third of that time, was returned in 32 minutes. On the first of the five counts—"was the accused guilty of striking blows causing the injuries of the victim?"—the answer was negative. Thus the four other counts were dismissed. The president of the jury, in trembling voice, but smiling, announced the acquittal which was greeted with a howl of approval by the jammed courtroom. Schwartzbard learned of the verdict from the Associated Press correspondent as he was being led into the stifling courtroom. The blond young man—he had the excited expression of a child on Christmas morning—had heard the roar of the spectators.

Cheer Jury. "Am I acquitted?" he asked eagerly; then tried to keep a straight face, but the cheers of his adherents were too much for him. Tears welled up in his eyes, and he almost toppled over. Most of the 800 spectators, who had spent the afternoon herded together in a courtroom intended for fewer than three hundred, screamed and cheered, laughed and cried. Counsel Torres was hoisted on the shoulders of a wildly excited group. There were cries of "Long live France! Long live the French jury!" And there were less loud but none-the-less deeply felt shouts of protest from the Ukrainians. Three squads of special guards stepped in quickly and broke up a dozen fist fights which started in the corridors. Downstairs, in the main hall, where several thousand Schwartzbard sympathizers were held back by cordons of guards, the demonstration was even noisier. For several hundred yards from the palace of justice, as far as the old Pont Neuf and the Boule St. Michael, the police had plenty of work separating the excited partisans.

MANUFACTURER HITS SCHOOLS

Elevator Maker Attacks Educational System of Present Day

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Alonso B. See, elevator builder, whose condemnation of women's colleges two years ago drew much adverse criticism, now has launched a $100,000 attack on all American school systems of education in his own book, "Schools." He said today the book would be on the stands about Christmas time. It is to be issued privately, at his own expense and he estimated the cost of producing it at $100,000. "The little red school house turned out better trained youths than the colleges today," the amateur author said. "I attack all the schools, all the colleges. None of them is any good. None of them recognize the ultimate factors of education."

"I've asked hundreds of boys what they learn at school. They tell me 'everything' but none of them can explain what that means. Naturally they do get everything—a smattering of arithmetic and forestry, of biology and algebra—but when they finally leave school scarcely one of them can add up a column of figures." Mr. See said his book would point out that American education "is getting away from the fundamentals." The volume touches upon women's colleges as an incidental phase, he said, but he has changed none of his views concerning those institutions since his wholesale condemnation of them. It took him 10 years to assemble the material and get it down on paper, Mr. See said. The writing was done in his own library when he could spare the time from his business.

STRIKERS SEEK SYMPATHIZERS

300 Miners Make 200 Mile Journey to Fremont County Mines

Denver, Colo., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Coal miners in Colorado found new strength in their strike movement in several fields today, and climaxed the campaign for sympathy with a "pilgrimage" to an area heretofore unaffected by the walkout. Accompanied by their women folk, more than 300 striking miners of the coal properties north of Denver, journeyed 200 miles from Lafayette to Fremont county mines where they planned to make a plea for support in the strike which was called by leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Spokesmen for the I. W. W. asserted the visit would be peaceful and that guns would not be permitted. The caravan of strikers carried food enough for several days and was equipped with camping outfits. Gasoline for the automobiles making the journey was supplied by sympathetic merchants and other persons. It was announced. Vehicles in the line of Journey ran the range from good-looking closed cars to antiquated models. About 75 women made the trip. The Trinidad district in southern Colorado, suffered heavily from the strike today and two more of the largest mines which had previously been unaffected, were practically without men. Mines in the Walsenburg district were either closed or running with depleted forces. Un-Americanism and open defiance of the law were charged to the I. W. W. leaders in a statement issued tonight by Governor Adams.

Safety Deposit Box May Belong to Mrs. Remus

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A safety deposit box found in the vault of the Rogers Park National bank here today is believed to have been rented by Mrs. Imogene Holms Remus, recently shot to death by her husband, George Remus, in Cincinnati. The box has been sealed pending court action next week, when Percival B. Coffin, public administrator, will go before Judge Henry Horner to seek an order permitting its opening. Upon discovery of the box today, Mr. Coffin was appointed administrator of the estate of Mrs. Remus, upon the petition of attorney representing the administrator's office. The box which may contain certain assets of the Remus estate, was rented last August by a woman who gave her name as "Mrs. A. I. Holmes." Investigators could not find anyone by that name, but they said they were reasonably certain the box was the property of Mrs. Remus.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT WHEN PISTOL DROPS

WAS CROSSING SOO LINE BRIDGE WHEN HURT

In a bed in a local hospital where he is being treated for a gunshot wound in his left leg, Ora Smith, alias Frank Olson, 33 years old, confessed yesterday to the attempted burglary of the postoffice at Wells Monday night. The wound was inflicted accidentally, Smith told Sheriff Elmer Swanson and Deputy C. L. Tordeur, after an hour's grilling. Following the robbery, Smith related, he walked from Wells to the Soo Line bridge at the upper end of Pioneer Trail park. While he was crossing the bridge, his pistol fell from his pocket and struck the steel rail. The weapon was discharged and the bullet entered the lower portion of his left leg.

After a night of suffering, Smith managed to drag himself to the home of Section Foreman Perry near Larch. He told Mrs. Perry that he had broken his leg and asked her to call a doctor. She summoned Mr. Perry who took the injured man to the hospital, early Tuesday. No report of the incident was made to the authorities until yesterday, however, when Mrs. Perry called at the sheriff's office and told her story. The fact that the section crew had found a pool of blood on the track had led to the belief that perhaps there was something more to Smith's injuries than he had admitted, she believed.

Admits Wells Job. At the hospital, Smith at first refused to talk. Finally, however, after he had been finger printed, he admitted that he had served five years in a North Dakota state prison for grand larceny. Then he confessed, also, that he had staged the attempted robbery of the Wells postoffice, where he was unsuccessful in his effort to release the lock by chiseling off the combination. Smith flatly denied that he had any connection or knowledge of the series of safe robberies which have taken place during the last few weeks in the Upper Peninsula.

Question Him Further. Smith is a physical giant, stretching the tape at six feet, five inches and weighing well over 200 pounds. He says his home is at Marlon in Osceola county, Michigan. He will be laid up in the hospital for some time. As soon as hospital authorities will permit him to be moved, he will be taken to the county jail. In the meantime, he will undergo further questioning about the Wells affair and some of the other "safe jobs" in this locality.

MAY HAVE ACCOMPLISHED. Several new angles presented themselves in the investigation of the Wells postoffice burglary which was continued by Sheriff Elmer Swanson last evening. Finding of articles abandoned by Smith near the Soo Line bridge, the story of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Perry, who live at the section house near the bridge, and other clues in the case gave the sheriff's department the following theories on which to work: That Smith may have had an accomplice in the burglary job at the Wells postoffice. That Smith and his accomplice may have quarreled and participated in some gunplay between themselves, and that Smith's partner either was shot and his body disposed of or that he escaped from the scene. That Smith may be connected with the series of robberies that have been committed all over the upper peninsula during the last two months. This, however, Smith denies.

Find Bag of Foodstuff. Sheriff Elmer Swanson last evening went to the place, where Smith was shot. A pool of blood was found on the right-of-way about 20 feet from the east approach of the bridge. On the side of the embankment, there is a hole, about three feet deep and about 12 feet in circumference, in which were found about five pounds of ginger snap cookies. Mr. Perry delivered to Sheriff Swanson a maroon and black checked macinaw jumper, a blanket and a bag, containing foodstuffs, which Smith had dropped on the track. One of the boys, Mr. Perry said, found a dime alongside the embankment near the bridge's approach and there were evidences that some heavy object had been dragged either up or down the embankment.

Were Gun in River? The finding of the dime and other marks on the ground gave rise to the supposition that Smith may have been shot in the woods a short distance from the bridge, and then dragged himself to the top. Smith told the sheriff at the hospital that he had crossed the bridge from the Groos side of the river. Smith also said that he threw the gun in the river, but his reason for doing this he would not explain.

Paris, Oct. 26-(AP)—Former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania, who is at present at St. Malo, confirms that M. Manolescu, former Rumanian under-secretary of finance, arrested at Bucharest, was the bearer of letters from him to the leaders of the political parties in Rumania, including Premier Brattino.

He asserted that the letters to the party leaders were intended to bring before the public his statement after the death of his father, King Ferdinand, which, he said, had been suppressed by the Rumanian government.

AMUNDSEN GOES BACK TO HOME

Explorer Breaks Contract for Lecture Tour in United States

New York, Oct. 26-(AP)—Leaving behind him a broken contract and mingled emotions of anger, pity and shocked surprise, Roald Amundsen was on his way to Norway tonight after a sudden and mysterious departure variously ascribed to a "row," a "brainstorm" and an unidentified influence.

Amundsen only arrived in this country a week ago Monday and was to have begun a lecture tour next Tuesday which would keep him here until March.

But despite this, Amundsen called on the Bergensford yesterday, his only explanation of his lecture manager and the Explorers' club being telegrams reading: "Am sailing today, sorry I cannot be with you."

As a result, Lee Keedick, who managed the explorer's lectures of 14 years, had to cancel all arrangements for the proposed tour and Rudolph Kersting, secretary of the Explorers' club, dispatched 500 telegrams withdrawing invitations to the presentation dinner.

Keedick replied to this that since coming to the country the explorer had a "brainstorm," but as he said this had happened before, it was not taken seriously until the telegram announcing his departure was received.

FIVE SENATORS IN 1928 RACE FOR PRESIDENT

Complete Arguments Against Three Cent Gas Levy

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 26-(AP)—Arguments in the litigation against the three cent gasoline tax were completed today and the fate of the new act rests with the state supreme court.

With the state defending the law as a necessary because of straightened highway funds and inability to keep up an adequate highway program unless the additional revenue is received and opposing counsel taking exactly the opposite view, argument centered around a section of the law relating to the division of the proceeds.

The plaintiff attorneys insisted the act is unconstitutional because it did not receive a two-thirds vote of the legislature. The money apportioned back to the counties is nothing but a local appropriation and is in no wise an appropriation for a state department or institution, they claimed.

W. W. Potter, attorney general, and Harry Metcalf, assistant, retorted that the three cent tax was necessitated to meet an actual deficit in the state highway fund, the referee is not a local appropriation and is neither unconstitutional nor subject to a referendum. The clear intent of the legislature, they argued, was that the counties receive back not $11,000,000 but a total amount equal to half the weight tax or an estimated $8,500,000 next year.

Ask 77 Warrants After Inspecting Registration Cards

Detroit, Oct. 26-(AP)—Investigation of registrations made recently for the majority election resulted today in the recommendation of Richard W. Reading, city clerk and chairman of the registration commission, for the issuance of 77 additional warrants charging violation of the election laws. To date, 357 such warrants have been requested.

Osteopaths Meet at Jackson; Elect Officers for Year

Jackson, Oct. 26-(AP)—Declaring that osteopathy is a non-drug system, but allows for the use of drugs when any real good can be derived, Dr. George M. Laughlin, of Kirksville, Mo., explained where the profession stood in regard to medicines at the convention of the Michigan Society of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons in session here today.

Dr. Laughlin admitted that there are several drugs that the osteopaths use today and spoke favorably of the use of anti-toxins and serums.

At the business session of the convention, officers were elected as follows: President—F. Hoyt Taylor, Battle Creek.

Two trustees hold over—Beatrice Phillips, Kalamazoo, and E. G. Sinter, Royal Oak.

The society voted to receive back into the organization a group of seceders, who withdrew a year or so ago and started their own state association, under a similar name. It had about 40 members.

ress and the form of lease was being drafted.

John C. Shaffer, Chicago newspaper publisher, told the jury of his applications for a lease on Teapot Dome early in 1921; of Fall's promise to consider his proposal if it were decided to lease the reverse; of his conference with Fall and the latter's suggestion that he confer with Sinclair about containing 200 acres in the Wyoming field.

Shaffer said he conferred with Sinclair to drill test wells, and added that this agreement never was carried out, although the evidence was that Fall prodded the oil operation on the subject of a settlement of Shaffer's claim.

NEW MOTOR IS PUT IN PLANE

Replaces One That Failed in Attempted Hop to Europe

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 26-(AP)—A new motor tonight had been bolted into the place of the one which failed off Sable Island, Nova Scotia, last Sunday, forcing the return of The Dawn, twin-motored amphibian monoplane in which Mrs. Frances W. Grayson hopes to fly to Copenhagen.

The new motor arrived shortly before noon today and mechanics spent the rest of the daylight hours in uncrating, cleaning and installing it in the plane. Tuning and testing the motor on the ground and in actual flight are expected to occupy most of tomorrow and part of the next day, still further postponing any definite date for another take-off.

The three members of the Dawn's crew continued today to avoid further comment on the sharp differences of opinion on continuing the flight which was supposed to have risen between Mrs. Grayson and Pilot Wilmer Stultz of Nova Scotia just before the engine failure forced a return. Mrs. Grayson held several lengthy conferences with Stultz and Navigator Brice Goldsborough.

She declined to comment on their talks, declaring the primary object now was to restore the Dawn to flying condition.

Her manner today led to the belief that there may have been serious talk of postponing the flight until spring, due to the rapidly shortening margin of comparatively safe flying weather. Work was to be rushed, however, on the testing of the plane, and Mrs. Grayson tonight ordered resumption of the radio poll of trans-Atlantic steamers for ocean weather reports.

President Asks Thanksgiving Day Observance

Washington, Oct. 26-(AP)—Declaring that the nation has passed through a year of domestic success and tranquility marked by friendly relations with other countries of the world, President Coolidge called upon the people today to set aside Thursday, November 24, as Thanksgiving Day on which they might consider the " manifold blessings" which have come to them.

"While the country has enjoyed material success," he said, "there has also been an advance in wisdom and spiritual understanding," and an increased desire for "the things that minister to the mind and soul."

Recalling that disaster has visited some states during the year, Mr. Coolidge declared that in continuing to remember those in affliction the country should rejoice in its power to extend a helping hand.

State Asks Bids on New Ferry Boat

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 26-(AP)—Frank F. Rogers, highway commissioner, announced today that bids will be asked for a third boat for the ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac. The new craft must accommodate at least 60 automobiles and probably will cost $250,000 or more, he said.

SAILED FROM GENOA. Genoa, Italy, Oct. 26-(AP)—From this port the Princessa Mafalda sailed for South America, and today the general offices of the steamship company were crowded with relatives of the crew and the passengers aboard, stricken with fear that it was their blood kin who had perished.

In various quarters of the city there were scenes of grief, women kneeling in prayer on the sidewalk. The newspapers containing the largest bulletins sold like wildfire, and some of the news was so indefinite as to bring no relief to anxious minds.

The offices of the Navigazione Generale remained open all night to answer as fully as possible all inquiries.

THREE HURT IN CROSSING CRASH

Automobile Rams Into Tender of Freight Train at Crossing

Three young men were injured and the automobile in which they were riding was demolished about 6:15 yesterday morning when they ramm'd the machine into a Chicago & North-Western locomotive at "Number Six" ore dock crossing in Upper Sheridan road.

The injured men are: Fred Lavigne, 21, 306 North Fifteenth street, who received a cut over his right eye and several bruises and scratches about the face.

Louis Dagenais, 16, face and head bruised and scratched.

None of the boys was regarded as being in a serious condition yesterday.

The automobile was north-bound on Sheridan road. The boys estimated their speed at somewhere between 20 and 35 miles an hour. The locomotive started across the crossing at a slow rate of speed. The car was not in sight when Engineer Earl Taylor began to move the engine across the street, he told officers. Conductor Harvey Heminger and other members of the crew also were on the engine.

The automobile suddenly leaped out of the fog and crashed into the coal tender. Just before the crash, one of the boys shouted at Fred Lavigne, who was driving, to "Watch out!" Lavigne swung the automobile around quickly, but was unable to avoid a collision. "If we didn't hit the engine, we would have rammed into the flagman's shanty," one of the boys declared.

The boys were taken to St. Francis hospital where their wounds were cared for and they were still in that institution last night.

Quality Leadership the Backbone of its Supremacy

Hudson design attains its great margins of supremacy in performance and reliability, only because it is accompanied by an equally pre-eminent leadership of quality in materials and workmanship. The great suppliers will tell you that its material standards are more exacting than many of the costliest cars. Its precision manufacture is carried to limits as fine as automobile practice has ever achieved. And its standards are guarded by inspection as careful, and watchful, as these rigid principles of quality themselves.

High Compression Performance that thrills the most Veteran Experts

By the Automobile Expert of "Automobile Topics"

"It has... all the 'punch' in the world... a smart push in the back every time the accelerator pedal is trod upon. Throughout its whole range, the response to throttle seems to be precisely the same. 'Soft spots' are simply not to be found.

"... it will walk away from the traffic signal faster than anything Hudson has ever built... It will step out of line and jump into the lead from any speed without the slightest hesitation.

"But further, all this is accomplished without a vestige of that tinkle-tinkle business under the hood that Englishmen know as 'pinking' and American engineers as the gas knock, or detonation. Apparently this present Hudson engine just isn't going to 'ping' when the throttle is quickly opened, or when the car is driven hard against a hill.

"Under precisely similar conditions most any other modern engine will detonate when running on ordinary fuel...

"The Hudson motor does what it does on any old fuel at all, it is said, and assuredly does it on the run of pump fuel that is sold at base prices everywhere."

FIGHT FILMS IN THE THEATRES
Federal Judge Goddard, of New York, responding to questions by members of a grand jury, said that New York theatre owners had committed no offense in showing pictures of the Dempsey-Tunney fight and that film dealers have committed no offense in handling them, although both owners and dealers knew that the transportation of the films was illegal.

The Benson Murder Case

Markham sat up suddenly; then sank back with a shrug. "Even if it was," he said, "I don't see how that helps us. Unless the Major knew the package had nothing to do with the case, he would not have suggested to his secretary that she omit telling us about it."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
A study in characterization, with a fidelity of purpose in close-by adhesion to the very fundamentals of that characterization, is quickly noted in the work of John Gilbert, Karl Dane and Tom O'Brien, as the central trio in King Vidor's remarkable picture, "The Big Parade," which closes its stay at the Delft today.

These three very capable actors essay, respectively, a young American of wealth, an iron worker of Swedish extraction and a former Bowery bartender. They all join the same unit and become "buddies" throughout the world war.

All through the denouement, from enlisting in the field to the end after the Armistice, we see in Gilbert the boy who has had the best of everything and who never once comes to understand really why the discomfort and the uncleanliness.

The tall, angular riveter or steel worker goes right through the war with a reckless abandon. It means nothing to him but a job; he sleeps when others tremble and laughs when others weep. For a fellow who has been hanging on to frame work on twenty-story buildings, this is the natural thing.

O'Brien draws a striking characterization and his part must have impressed him deeply. In the outset you find him presiding behind the bar of a Bowery gin-mill and ordering the hangerson about. Here he is the natural stuff from which political bosses are made; a born leader among his own. As "Bull O'Hara, corporal," he carries this dominating spirit right through France. He is boss and knows it.

AT THE STRAND.
"Tip-Toes," the Broadway stage success, to be seen again today at the Strand, went to England, turned motion picture and was brought back to America by Paramount. Dorothy Gish, Will Rogers and Nelson Keys play "The Three Kayes." The story now goes that AL and HEN, the third-rate vaudevillians, are dead broke in London. They plot to marry Tip-Toes, their pretty dancing partner, to the wealth and title of one Lord William Montgomery, innocent lordling who falls in love with her. But vaudeville managers and back stage slang arouse the objections of his lordship's aristocratic family. International social relations crack! Jail threatens! "The Three Kayes" plan one last fling—then their getaway!

The night of the party, Lord William's yacht seems to Al and Hen to float in a sea of champagne. When the gaily reaches its climax, Lord Bill suddenly denounces "Tip-Toes." The truth is out, the jig is up! But "Tip-Toes" loves truly by this time. She manages to convince his lordship of her love. That changes their whole lives.

Al, Hen and Tip-Toes, now Lady Montgomery, still reside in England. How did she do it? See the picture.

Students of High School Interested In Music Classes

That Escanaba high school musical organizations are popular can be seen from the number of students interested in the various organizations. The high school band has 34 members, the symphony orchestra has 40 members and meets three periods a week. The girls' glee club with 36 voices and the boys' glee club with 48 voices each meet twice a week, separately, and then meet together once a week for mixed chorus practice. The freshman class has a 60 voice girls' glee club that also meets twice a week. There is a twelve-piece jazz assembly orchestra and a seven-piece string ensemble at the school. A string quartet meets twice a week. The grade school boys of a thirty-piece orchestra that is a feeder for the high school band.

Besides all of these active organizations, the musical department has a music class that meets five days a week and for which a full credit is given. There are 22 pupils in the class and are taught elements of music, history of music, music appreciation, and instrumentation. There is also a class in harmony, with eight members that meet three times a week. All of these organizations and classes are taught by R. W. Nordling, music professor at the school.

Mr. Nordling says that the cornet is the most popular instrument in the band, but that his pupils have cooperated with him in playing many other instruments to round out the band. The smaller band instruments are purchased by the students but the larger and more expensive instruments are purchased by the school. The school now owns two bass helicons, one euphonium, two melophones, one cello, one viola and one bass viol.

Work on Festival Progresses Rapidly

Work on the Orange and Black Hallowe'en Frolic has been progressing very rapidly, according to the latest word from Mr. Soderberg, director of the affair. Mr. Day, high school faculty pianist, will be the accompanist for the songs at the minstrel.

The ticket sale has been very brisk and advance indications are that the usual packed houses will witness the affair again this year. The proceeds from the frolic will be used to purchase kettle drums for the symphony orchestra. As this is the first activity of the year in which the Orange and Black society has been implicated, the interest in the affair has been very great.

BAN JOHNSON DESERVES TREMENDOUS CREDIT FOR HIGH PLACE OF BASEBALL.

Veteran Umpire Tells of Working Under Johnson For Twenty-two Seasons

B. B. Johnson has resigned as president of the American League.

The retirement of Ban Johnson from baseball marks the passing of the man who more than any other person has placed baseball on its present high plane.

The deed and the work of President Johnson will be far more appreciated 20 years from now than they are today.

Like all great men, Mr. Johnson had the courage of his convictions, a very definite opinion on all things and a willingness to express it, regardless of whose toes he stepped on.

Being human, he made mistakes. At times he might have been more tactful; but that wasn't the way of B. B. Johnson. He didn't believe in handling drastic situations with kid gloves.

He passes from the game still boasting a legion of friends and admirers who appreciate what he has done for it. Likewise he has made enemies. Men with the courage of their convictions always do.

After serving 22 years under President Johnson, as a member of his staff of umpires, I want to go on record as saying I always have found him a square shooter.

Gave $500 Extra to Umpires

During those 22 years I have had my arguments with President Johnson, often because I thought my contract called for less money than I expected. Yet, in the end, I always found him manifestly fair.

I recall one season I argued over a matter of $500 expense money. At the close of the previous season, in a chat I had with Mr. Johnson, I took it for granted that I was to get such an additional amount. In the spring my contract didn't call for it.

I stood pat on the situation. Mr. Johnson finally admitted that he had recollections of the discussion and gave me the extra money I had been promised.

"I guess all the members of the staff would welcome an extra $500, so I will make the increase general," was the way he dismissed the dispute.

Since he gave me an additional amount for expense, in fairness to the rest of the staff, he added it to their salary also. This, too, my late arrival.

He hired me, asking what train I had taken, and when I replied the midnight choo-choo, it cost me $50 in a fine for disobeying orders. I worked about 130 games alone that year for a comparatively small salary and didn't like the idea of losing the money. Jack Sheridan, dean of the staff, said he would have Mr. Johnson return it. He didn't. However, at Christmas time he sent me a check for $300.

In thanking him, I told him he could fine me $50 any old time, provided I got $300 in return. That, however, was the last time I failed to take transportation on the train arranged for me.

Fined for Taking Late Train

I recall one year, it was the season of 1908 I believe, that I was ordered to take a certain train from Detroit to St. Louis. I had a social engagement that I couldn't fulfill if I took the early train. I decided to take a chance on one leaving at midnight.

The train I took, if it arrived on time, got into St. Louis at 2:30 p. m., while the game that day started at 3:15. Of course the train was late.

By donning my umpire clothes on the train and jumping into a taxi, I managed to arrive at the park about three minutes before starting time. Even though I got the game away exactly on time, word got to President Johnson of Paris—After the confusion of learning street names has worn off. After the eyes have grown accustomed to the romance of buildings and the color of sidewalk cafe crowds.

And then, one day, to your surprise, you are confidentially informed that America must be a very naughty place, in fact, you gasp and ask how come.

There really is no use arguing. I tried it and my French friend walked to a news stand and bought a Berlin and French magazine devoted to the publication of pictures of undressed girls.

The interesting thing is that Europe cannot get accustomed to our traveling American girls. They cannot understand girls being allowed to leave home unescorted to roam the far places of the world.

Walter Johnson to Manage International Club

MINOR LEAGUE NEW VENTURE

Veteran Senator Pitcher Expected to Go to Newark

Washington, Oct. 26—(AP)—Walter Johnson, veteran Washington pitcher, announced over the radio tonight that he had "about decided to accept a managership in the International League," and that he was looking forward with pleasure to his new venture in the minor league.

While he did not mention any particular club in the league, Johnson, who has been given his unconditional release from the Senators, is believed to have decided to accept a contract offered him yesterday by Paul Block, owner of the Newark club of the International League.

Speaking in the interest of the "Boys' club" of Washington, the veteran pitcher said he had several offers from both major and minor leagues, but the Newark club is the only one thus far publicly identified in negotiations with Johnson.

"I expect to stay in baseball," Johnson said. "I don't believe I could quit if I wanted to. My greatest regret, however, will be that I will have to leave Washington."

While no terms have been mentioned in connection with the contract offered Johnson by Mr. Block, it was understood here that it was for two years. In addition to managing a team, Johnson has indicated that he might attempt to pitch a few games, as he believes he still has a few victories left in the arm which he has used for 20 years with the Washington team.

Early African Culture Proved by Rock Carving

Cologne (AP)—Most prehistoric carvings discovered during the past year on cliffs and in caves on the northern outskirts of the Sahara desert date back 11,000 to 9,000 years before Christ. Professor Herbert Kuehn told the Congress of the German Anthropological society recently.

This fact, Professor Kuehn claims, has been established by his excavations at the foot of rocky walls with such carvings, in the course of which numerous stone-cutting implements were found and identified with the later glacial period. He was generally supported at the congress in his theory that these implements prove the existence of an African culture during the glacial period similar to that which has been established in Europe.

The similarity between the inscriptions found in the Atlas mountains and those in upper Egypt is considered the first proof of some continuous cultural development in northern Africa from the glacial period to the present era of history. The African carvings differ from those in Europe insofar as in them all attention seems to be centered on the contour of animals in formidable beauty and vividness, whereas in the European reproductions contour seems to be of secondary importance, the main interest being concentrated on motion and dramatic portrayal.

In the African glyptic many of the reproduced animals are perforated with holes from mistletoe, which, by reason of the magical element manifested everywhere, is interpreted as evidence that it was the custom of magicians to shoot at portraits of such animals, that hunters had gone out to kill in the hope of bringing the hunter good luck.

Last Hard Workout Held by Spartans

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 26—(AP)—Darkness ended the final hard workout of the Michigan State college football squad today, preparing for the important homecoming game with the University of Detroit Saturday. Under the direction of the three varsity coaches and three former college football stars the squad and individuals were driven through drills ending with a scrimmage session against the freshmen.

Using the University of Detroit plays the freshmen backfield was successful in gaining considerable yardage against the first string men. But at the close of the scrimmage the varsity stopped the plays without difficulty.

SAINTS PLAY NEWBERRY NEXT

Celery City Crew Comes Here With Unblemished Slate.

St. Joseph's parochial high school football team will have Newberry high as its guest and adversary at the school athletic field next Saturday afternoon.

Newberry high has defeated Gladstone and the Sault and tied the speedy Munising aggregation, as well as winning its other games. It is a heavy- and well-coached team, capable of giving the Saints a real battle.

The parochials are in good condition. Coach Brunelli dished out several new plays last night and the boys were clicking them off with speed and precision. Brunelli probably will introduce a couple of new faces to the fans Saturday afternoon, and there may be some shifts in the regular positions.

The game will be the only one in this section. Escanaba high will go to Sault Ste. Marie and Gladstone high will play at Norway. It is expected that the Celery Eaters will draw a big crowd through the athletic field gates.

How to Bowl

OUTLINE OF BOWLING. By Jimmy Smith.

STORY I. In this article I shall give you only a general outline on the subject of Bowling. Lack of space prevents me from specifically treating each angle of the game that can possibly be regarded as assistance to those who wish to bowl good scores and to explain how participation in this recreation results in great physical benefit whether you bowl good scores or not. On this latter subject I have in mind the old maxim "Bowlers never get appendicitis." I have never known a bowler to be so troubled, but I do know a well-onticated case where a bowler who had quit the game temporarily was so stricken and after his recovery he became one of the greatest enthusiasts I have ever known.

The cultivation of patience, perseverance and good nature is to be admired at all times, and I do not know of any sport in which these qualities are more necessary or better developed than in bowling. All three are absolutely essential when in a hard contest the other fellow is ahead and you want to pull out a victory, particularly so when a big crowd of rooters are pulling for your opponent.

If I was speaking an apt illustration of how bowling will make you well and keep you well, I can refer to many old-timers who have seldom failed to bowl a game or two every day for at least 20 to 30 years, and these fine old men of the game who were stars 30 years ago are today perfect specimens of good health and possess what is equally desired—good nature.

Following all my exhibitions and during my stay in a city, I make a practice of instructing all bowlers who come to me for advice. I welcome and solicit bowlers, especially the beginners, to come to me for any advice I am able to give them to help improve their game.

Bowling Set to Music. Many have come to regard bowling purely as an indoor winter pastime. This is a mistaken idea. I would like to say a word or two to correct such a false impression. The fact that the beginner makes a strenuous exercise of what is really a mild exertion is no doubt responsible for the idea that winter weather is needed to enjoy the sport.

In many respects, bowling is almost the counterpart of swimming and dancing and no one calls these recreations strenuous. The same co-ordination of the eyes, feet and hands and other muscles of the body are as essential in bowling as other pastimes. You may smile at the idea, but bowling could almost be set to music; indeed, I am sure if an orchestra could be introduced at a bowling match the scores would increase.

I have bowled in many 24-hour endurance contests and many matches of 20 or more continuous games and have left the alleys comparatively fresh and not showing any great amount of perspiration, heavy breathing or heart flutter. This is because I bowl naturally. When you have learned to swing and deliver the ball properly, the 16-pound sphere will not appear as heavy as a 16-pound hammer.

Learn to Imitate Stars. Summer and winter I keep up my bowling, but, of course, do not do quite as much in the very hot months as in mid-winter, not because I do not want to, but because it has come to be regarded as the "off season" and consequently I have not as much opportunity. I really believe if there were outdoor alleys they would receive plenty of summer patronage; this is proven by the fact that many summer resorts have found it profitable to install alleys, usually in buildings which permit all sides being thrown open.

One of the greatest difficulties I have found in trying to instruct beginners in bowling was to get them to follow implicitly the directions of the teacher. Some times, I think the best way to learn to bowl is to take a seat near the alleys and pay close attention to some man who is really a good bowler and then try to imitate him in every respect.

There should be no hesitancy in imitation. I merely refer to it here while I have in mind a very apt illustration.

Some years ago when an eastern bowler was beginning to attract attention as a bowler I happened to be in a league game one evening over in Jersey. I think it was, and this bowler was bowling on the same alley. I noticed he delivered the ball with his right foot nearest the foul line.

One Glaring Fault. For a right hander, this is a glaring error in bowling and after the game I mentioned it to this bowler and he accepted it graciously. Later he told me that in trying to correct this fault he found his bowling average went down fully 25 per cent.

However, he knew I had given him the right dope and he stuck to it until he mastered his fault when he not only increased his average but became one of the greatest bowlers of the country and won the Greater New York Individual championship in which he set up a world's record of 271 1-3 average, for six games.

In this Greater New York individual competition this bowler gave me one of the hardest contests I ever had and all because he gave heed to a teaching and stuck to it until he had overcome a faulty way of bowling.

UNFAIR TO HER. JOHN: What do you mean, dear, when you say I've been deceiving you for years? HELEN: I've just found out that you get $2000 allowance on your income tax return for being married, and you only give me a miserable $10 a week.—Pathfinder.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS: The game between Northwestern and Missouri is looked upon as another ditch to gap as both teams prepare for duty. Hard practice has been the program all this week. The visit of Denver to Iowa Saturday has the Hawkeyes somewhat up in the air over just what to expect.

PRACTICE MANY PLAYS. Urbans, Ill., Oct. 26—(AP)—A wide variety of plays ranging from line plunges to long forward passes featured the protected workout of the Illinois football squad today preparing for their game with the University of Michigan here Saturday.

Two varsity teams appeared on the field to charge the reserves and open up a successful aerial attack. But little rest was given the varsity teams who scrimmaged for an hour and a half with Coach Zuppke coaching the backfield to the exclusion of the line.

It appeared probable that there would be no change in the line which faced Northwestern last Saturday.

JIMMY SMITH COMING HERE

World Famous Bowler to Appear at Arcade Next Week.

Jimmy Smith, the famous ten pin star, has been engaged to bowl exhibition matches at the Arcade alleys November 2 to 4. He will bowl his series of games against the best local talent.

Smith is generally conceded to be the best in the game and is rightly styled the grand old man of bowling. He started his career setting pins in New York and learning the rudiments of the game there, has advanced until now at the age of 47 he is rolling the best game of his career.

He is now on his third successive season's tour of the United States and Canada. He has been playing ten games a day since the tour commenced, September 1, and will continue this routine until late in May.

He is holder of many records, the most enviable of which is probably the fact that he has 16 perfect games to his credit. He also holds the record for thirty consecutive games, 7,311 pins, for an average of 243 pins per game, rolled in Denver, Colo., during the tour of 1925-26. He was twice all-events champion of the American Bowling Congress which is the real world's championship test. He is one of only two bowlers who have ever accomplished this difficult feat. He also has been champion of the Middle-west Bowling association, twice champion of Wisconsin and champion of Greater New York seven successive years. In 1911, at Toronto, Canada, he rolled the world's record tournament series in the Canadian Bowling association tournament, totaling 771 with games of 279, 236 and 256.

Smith keeps in training through the entire year, by bowling nine or ten months and by a systematized routine during the two off months when he does not bowl. During these months he keeps himself in trim by swimming, hiking, boxing and with calisthenics. He considers his long hike in the morning followed by a chilly dip his best conditioner as the hike keeps his legs in condition and the swimming keeps all muscles active especially the abdominal muscles, which makes it more like bowling than any other exercise.

Really Likes to Bowl. Smith bowls because he likes it. He urges everyone to try it because it keeps one in good physical condition in addition to a lot of fun and social contact. Self confidence and practice of the big factors, he claims. He advises starting with the idea of reaching the top and of dismissing the idea that one is a "dub." He says that no special physical requirements are necessary to master the game and can name many of the world's best bowlers who are small in stature. He adds that it is a game for both old and young of both sexes and that he knows of no game that is better for keeping one in youthful condition and appearance with advancing years.

Does Not Gamble. Smith says that gambling has no place in the bowling game and he refuses to indulge in it and discourages it in others. He says that the gambling fever never had much of a hold on bowlers and that the so-called "pot-hunter" of old is in disrepute today.

Used Body Attack. The only effective punch the Cleveland fighter showed in this season was a right-hand wallop to the chin as the round ended. Heehey continued to pile up points in the fifth, taking the honors by a wide margin. Risko fought willingly in the sixth but the majority of his blows curled harmlessly around Heehey's neck.

Heehey dropped left hooks to the chin in the seventh, with the crowd cheering for him to score a knockout. Risko opened up with a short spurt near the close of the round, but it availed him nothing. Heehey directed his attack to the body in the eighth, with Risko trying to

Williams' 254 Is Week's High Score

The high score for this week at the Arcade bowling alleys is 254, rolled by Gene Williams. Last week's high score was 257, rolled by Earl Taylor, who also holds high score for the month. Many new teams are practicing each night for the league which will be started in this city.

Heehey Gets Referee's Decision Over Risko in Rickard's Tournament

Detroit, Oct. 26—(AP)—Tom Heehey, the New Zealand heavyweight, who hopes to wallop his way through Tex Rickard's tournament and win a match with Gene Tunney, won a referee's decision over Johnny Risko, the Cleveland trial horse, in a 10-round bout here tonight.

The match opening Detroit's new Olympia arena, patterned after New York's Madison Square Garden, drew a capacity crowd of 17,000 to 18,000 with receipts around $78,000.

There were no knockdowns and neither was seriously damaged. Heehey was credited with winning six of the ten rounds, with Risko taking three, while one was even.

After a tame first round, Risko jumped into the lead in the second round by forcing the fighting. He clipped the Australian with a left hook that shook him to the knees and others hailed him around. Risko held Heehey fairly even in the third, trading punches to the body at close range. Heehey stepped out in the fourth round, nailing Risko with solid smashes in the chin.

whip over a left hook. He swung so desperately once that he fell to his knees.

They slugged like a pair of long-shoremen in the ninth with Heehey scoring the cleaner punches, although Risko was aggressive and willing to trade wallops. Risko tried to land a right-hand punch in the final session, but Heehey connected before he did, crossing a right to the chin. Risko fought back gamely, driving both fists to the body as the bout ended.

Detroit Bantamweight Wins. Archie Bell, the Brooklyn bantamweight challenger, defeated Johnny Vacca of Boston in another 10-rounder. Bell, the superior boxer, dropped Vacca for a count of nine in the second and had no trouble in winning nine of the ten rounds.

Carlo Mazzola, Detroit bantamweight, knocked out Dixie Davis of Terre Haute, Ind., in the third round of a scheduled four-round bout. Davis was helpless after three knockdowns and the referee ended it.

Clarence Rosen of Detroit won from Steve Nugent of Cleveland in 10 rounds, although the Cleveland boxer put up a stiff opposition. Rosen weighed 110 pounds and Nugent 121.

Joe Lucas of Detroit, won on a foul from Bennie Gershe, Cleveland, in the fourth round of the semi-windup, when the Cleveland featherweight sunk a left hook into the groin that made Lucas sink to the floor. He was unable to continue. The first two rounds were fairly even, but Lucas won the honors in the third.

Michigan Expected to Use Overhead Attack in Game With Illinois

Chicago, Oct. 26—(AP)—Indications are that the Illini will be deluged with footballs Saturday when they meet Michigan in their annual Big Ten classic.

Everyone on the Wolverine squad is being drilled in either kicking or passing. Tonight, Oosterbaan, Miller and Rich punted, while Gilbert and Geister worked at place kicks. Those not kicking were drilled at passing and breaking up passes, fashioned after the Illini's short air attack.

The Illini were losing no time in preparing for the invasion with Coach Zuppke spending his session drilling on his pet plays.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin struggle has become a serious proposition in both camps. Both coaches are working for a strengthened line and Minnesota is developing a series of new plays in hope of surprising the Badgers.

The clash between Ohio State and Chicago is developing into an important contest with Ohio preparing to avenge its two previous Big Ten defeats, while the Maroons seek to maintain their string of victories.

Michigan will go east with Harvard and will go east with high hopes of handing Harvard its second Big Ten defeat of the season.

The game between Northwestern and Missouri is looked upon as another ditch to gap as both teams prepare for duty. Hard practice has been the program all this week. The visit of Denver to Iowa Saturday has the Hawkeyes somewhat up in the air over just what to expect.

MAYOR DEFENDS AMERICANISM

Former Congressman Supports Action of Thompson

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(P)—Mayor Thompson was described as a defender of Americanism and not anti-British, by John J. Gorman, former congressman, who appeared as a witness against William McAndrew, suspended superintendent of schools, at resumption of McAndrew school board trial today.

"Mayor Thompson is fighting for pro-American histories," asserted Mr. Gorman. "He is not anti-British but is pro-American. He is fighting no one."

Books which the mayor would have banned from the Chicago public library would be only those minimizing the action of the colonists to the glorification of the British, said Gorman.

Mayor Thompson yesterday issued a denial of any intention to have questionable books burned, and he got support today from Dr. Preston Bradley, chairman of the library administrative committee.

"As long as I am a member of the library board there will never be a book burned, because I believe in fair play and I do not think Mayor Thompson ever intended to burn any books," said Dr. Bradley.

The book-burner idea originated with U. J. "Sport" Herrman, theater owner and member of the library commission, who was requested by Mayor Thompson to report on pro-British books in the great civic institution.

Mr. Gorman, as a witness, renewed his attack upon an American history by Arthur M. Schlesinger. The textbook was so violently pro-British that it caused revolt among Chicago school teachers, who were attending a history class at the University of Chicago in which it was used, Gorman said.

Steamer Rescues Crew of Schooner

Montreal, Que., Oct. 26.—(P)—The Canadian transporter today rescued the captain and crew of the three-masted schooner, Santa Rosa, of Pensacola, Fla., 400 miles east of New York, and afterwards set fire to the vessel which was water-logged and had lost her rudder.

The Santa Rosa was a three-masted schooner of 695 gross tons. She was built in 1915 at Milton, Fla., and was owned by the Citizens and Peoples National Bank, Inc.

The steamer Canadian Transporter sailed from Montreal last Saturday for Australian ports.

The point at which the rescue was reported to have been made is almost due south of Halifax and about 400 miles due east of New York.

5 AUTOS ARE IN SMASHUP

Five automobiles participated in a smashup on the new highway US-2 two miles south of the city limits about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in which one motorist received serious injury to his right arm. Clarence Wright, 210 North Thirteenth street, is in St. Francis hospital suffering from several deep gashes into his right arm, severing an artery.

The melee started when Romer LaCasse of Bark River, driving a Chrysler sedan, collided with a Jewett sedan driven by Loren Johnston, 536 North Nineteenth street, damaging the fenders and bumpers of LaCasse's car considerably. Johnston's car was virtually demolished, the doors torn off, motor shoved back, fenders and running boards crushed. Then Peter Stovka, Niagara, Wis., came along and not being able to stop in time, rammed into the mixup.

While the wreckage was being cleared away, Clarence Wright drove his car against the wrecking car of the Wolverine Motor company. His car was quite badly wrecked, and he was taken to the hospital. Owen Davis, a companion of Wright, was not injured.

The accident was investigated by members of the police force, undersheriff Joseph P. Carney and Deputy Sheriff Edward Packenham.

Bowman, in issuing the order, asserted he is not a crank on the fight subject, but cited the existence of the law and his duty to uphold it.

Motorist Victim of Youngster's Jest

He was driving at a moderate rate of speed and his brakes were in good order. Suddenly he saw a human body lying in the pavement in front of him. He applied the brakes so suddenly that the car skidded and almost collided with another machine. It did not ease his nerve a great deal to learn that the "body" was a few old garments stuffed with leaves, placed in the street for the purpose of frightening motorists.

As a practical joke, it was perhaps funny to the youngsters who planned it, members of the police department said yesterday, but it might have led to a serious accident.
