GERMANY TO PAY ON WAR DEBT IN 1928

EXPECTED PAYMENTS WILL AFFECT EXCHANGE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Nov. 14.—Armistice Day this year was not unlike the other anniversaries of the past, but the indications are that the tenth, next year, may tell a different story.

For the underlying thought today is how the world shall accommodate itself to the huge payments which Germany is to make in 1928 as a part of the Dawes plan. Already here and in the financial centers of the world the discussion of the strain that will be placed on international exchange through the transfer of money from Germany to the Allies has covered many different phases. Indeed no subject is believed to be more vital and of the American trade outlook, of course, the American production curve.

German bankers in recent weeks have been crowding the council rooms of American banking houses looking for funds not merely to finance their own enterprises in Germany but in other parts of the world. The American attitude has been one of extreme caution, not because of any real doubt as to the merit of these enterprises but the difficulty of assuring American investors that interest payments will be without interference by the reparations commission or rather the so-called transfer commission which may limit the amount that can be exported from Germany so as to keep sufficient funds for reparation payments. Also there is some uncertainty as to the amount of capital levies that will be made to meet the payments to the allies.

This problem is not new, of course. It has been foreseen by many American banking institutions which have been careful to protect their investors. But the further development of German business, especially abroad, is impeded by the uncertainty and until the air is cleared American funds which have been abundant this year will be withheld to a large extent. Only now and then, when interest payments can be assumed to come from sources outside of Germany through the intricacies of international exchange have loans been made with instant success.

Municipalities have been anxious to borrow money. There has been little doubt about the merit of such German loans but the attitude of the reparations commission toward the priority in future years of reparation payments over all else has clouded the situation.

So in the next several months the expectation is that the bankers of the world will exert pressure for a solution. They are not likely to wait till the last minute. Some American economists and industrial leaders like Bernard M. Baruch for instance who was responsible for the economic clauses of the Versailles conference believe that when the payments on the Dawes plan are adjusted to meet the conditions of the hour, the world will go forward to a prosperity unheard of in history.

Hubbard Medal Given to Lindbergh for Paris Flight

ASSASSINATED?

LEON TROTSKY. London, Nov. 14.—(P)—The Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent says a report is current that Leon Trotsky, former Soviet war commissar, now a leader of the Opposition party in Moscow, has been assassinated. Messages from Moscow and Leningrad give the same report. There has been no confirmation, however, from any official sources.

PORTAGE GIRL IS MURDERED

High School Freshman Criminally Assaulted; Then Shot

Portage, Wis., Nov. 14.—(P)—Fifteen-year-old Helen Leng, Portage high school freshman, was murdered and slain when she ventured out after dark alone for the first time in her life. It was revealed today when her body was found in an obscure spot near here.

An all-night search for the girl started when she did not come home after leaving her chum, June Moran, with whom she had attended a motion picture theater Sunday night, ended when William McLaughlin, a watchman, found her body on a grassy knoll near a street which runs under the Milwaukee railroad tracks. Marks on the ground near the street showed evidences of a struggle and indicated her body had been dragged to the knoll.

Shot from a small gauge gun had penetrated the back of her head, her clothes were torn, and her face scratched and covered with blood. Four doctors testified she had been assaulted criminally.

Two high school boys, one of whom is said to have claimed he knew who committed the crime, were being questioned by police tonight.

Harry Leng, the girl's father, said she had never been permitted to go unaccompanied after dark. Her parents always called for her when she had no other company. Last night she did not call them to come and get her after the show. The mother was prostrated.

Says British Dined History Authors to Influence Writings

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(P)—That institution of persuasion and goodwill—the banquet—was employed by the British government to influence 100 American history professors to deal generously with the island empire in depicting Anglo-American relations, the William McAndrews school trial recorded today.

Noted Pilot Lauded by Coolidge

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—The accomplishment of Charles A. Lindbergh in making the first non-stop flight from New York to Paris, brought him to a new pinnacle of honor tonight when President Coolidge, in presenting him with the Hubbard medal of the National Geographic society, eulogized him as "a modest young man of high and unselfish purpose."

Lindbergh not only was honored with this high award, but had the distinction—believed to be an unprecedented one—of being introduced to his audience by the president of the United States.

Taking the rostrum after the president had concluded his presentation address, the youthful hero once more extolled the possibilities of aviation on the same platform in the Washington auditorium where in May he was the guest of the National Press club after his memorable return from Europe, and was presented with more than a score of medals, trophies, and other gifts in tribute to his historic flight.

Lindbergh was lauded by President Coolidge presented the Hubbard medal to Lindbergh, applause rang out from the most distinguished gathering of government officers and foreign officials.

Evangeline Lindbergh watched the homage paid her son with glistening eyes and around her were seated 16 other airmen and the one girl who, encouraged by Lindbergh's example, successfully accomplished perilous air journeys to the shores of Europe and Hawaii.

McCracken Lauds Hero. The dignity which has been noted in Lindbergh's demeanor marked him as he listened to praise from the president for not capitalizing his fame commercially.

The speech was punctuated with enthusiastic applause from the illustrious audience, and as the president concluded he posed for photographers as he pinned the medal on the flyer's breast.

Lindbergh was calm and collected as he faced the audience and made his brief response. He was followed by Assistant Secretary McCracken, one of the delegates.

Between 1918 and 1921 histories were written to include the World war, some authors made extensive alterations in chapters dealing with relations of the United States and Great Britain, Miller asserted.

Under the plea of promoting mutual understanding with Great Britain some of those revisionists defamed, or boldly ignored figures in the founding of our republic, misrepresented the ideals upon which were established our nation, which were established our nation, which were established our nation.

GEORGE REMUS HELPS SELECT TRIAL JURORS

BOOTLEG KING IS CHARGED WITH KILLING WIFE

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 14.—(P)—George Remus, bootleg king, who deserted a promising legal career in Chicago to amass millions by violating the national prohibition law, today helped choose a jury to determine whether he shall die in the electric chair.

Five weeks ago Remus traced down his estranged second wife, Imogene Holmes Remus, pressed a pistol to her body and fired a bullet which resulted in her death two hours later.

At adjournment of court today the jury box was half filled with tentatively accepted jurors. Six of fifteen veniremen examined, two women and four men, were locked up over night. They could be removed only by use of peremptory challenge of which the prosecution had four and the defense sixteen.

Remus Reads Motion. Twice today, Remus acted in his best court manner, which had begun to build him a reputation for capability before he left Chicago, and addressed the court. At other times he advised Charles Elston, his associate counsel.

Virtually at the outset he read a long motion in a sonorous, resonating, clearly phrased voice, which brought into the murder trial nearly every surviving member of Mrs. Remus' family and Franklin I. Dodge, Jr., the former prohibition officer, Remus has charged with wrecking his home after he had brought the conviction which sent Remus to the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

He demanded, and the court acceded, that Dodge, Ruth Holmes Remus, daughter of Mrs. Remus, adopted by Remus; Mrs. Grace Campbell of Miami, Fla., Mrs. Brown's sister, and Harry F. Brown of Windsor, Ont., Mrs. Remus' brother, be commanded to come into court and bring all documents in their possession appertaining to eight distilleries of which Remus was proprietor.

Manollescu was charged with conspiracy to bring former Crown Prince Carol back to Rumania and to restore to him his rights of succession to the throne.

The acquittal of the former under-secretary of state was greeted with tremendous cheers.

Many Help Accused. "This is the beginning of a new era of liberty in Rumania," said Manollescu, who a few minutes previously had told the correspondent of the Associated Press that he expected to be convicted.

Sound of Five Shots Over Telephone Wire Gives Clue to Fatal Shooting

REBUS JUDGE

Circuit Judge Chester R. Shook will try George Remus, former Cincinnati bootleg king, for the murder of Remus' wife, Judge Shook was once a newsboy, went to night high school and college and was graduated from the law school of the University of Cincinnati.

COURT FREES CAROL'S ALLY

Was Charged With Plot to Place Carol on Throne

Bucharest, Nov. 14.—(P)—Mihail Manollescu was acquitted early this morning by a court martial of five judges, who voted three to two to set him free.

Manollescu was charged with conspiracy to bring former Crown Prince Carol back to Rumania and to restore to him his rights of succession to the throne.

The acquittal of the former under-secretary of state was greeted with tremendous cheers.

Many Help Accused. "This is the beginning of a new era of liberty in Rumania," said Manollescu, who a few minutes previously had told the correspondent of the Associated Press that he expected to be convicted.

The prosecutor demanded the full penalty for what he termed a conspiracy against the state which would have been five years imprisonment. One of Manollescu's lawyers, M. Mihalache, drew the wrath of the court by declaring:

"Our present system is balanced on the sharp edge of a sword. If it be the wish of the people, Prince Carol may return not only as a regent but as a king. One can stem a rivulet but not a river. One can express the wishes of the government but not the will of the people."

New Jersey Inventor Is Killed While Talking to Friend

Highlands, N. J., Nov. 14.—(P)—The sound of five shots carried over toll lines to Elizabeth, N. J., 15 miles away, gave the first intimation of the killing today of Herbert Meisterknecht, inventor and former naval officer, who was shot as he sat at his desk talking to a business associate over the telephone.

Police were searching tonight for Alex Schreiber, of Cleveland, Ohio, brother Meisterknecht's second wife, whom he married 18 months ago in the Ohio city, after being divorced two years ago from his first wife. A man whose description tallied with that of Schreiber walked from the inventor's office after she shooting, handed a card bearing Schreiber's name in handwriting, to a workman standing at the curb and said, "I have just shot my brother-in-law."

Killer Had Companion. P. J. Oldo, of Elizabeth, financial partner of the inventor to whom he was talking by telephone, summoned aid by wire when his conversation with Meisterknecht was interrupted by the sound of the shots. Dr. J. H. Rowland, mayor of Highlands, who answered the call, found the body slumped over the telephone desk and showing no evidence of a struggle.

The workman, whom the man believed to have been Schreiber told of the murder, said that an automobile bearing an Essex county, N. J., license plate and containing two men, drove up in front of Meisterknecht's office just prior to the shooting. He said that one man entered the inventor's office while the other waited below and drove his companion away afterward.

Meisterknecht whose 18-year-old son died last summer, and whose young daughter is said to live with his divorced wife in Yonkers, N. Y., their former home, came here two years ago. He was reported to have complained recently to friends that Schreiber disapproved of his sister's marriage because of the inventor's previous divorce. Meisterknecht, his friends say, considered his brother-in-law's opposition to the marriage unreasonable and had threatened to have him arrested on further provocation as a mentally unbalanced person.

Invented New Engine. Meisterknecht was reported to have said that he was a deserter from the German navy and had been commissioned a lieutenant commander in the United States navy and put in command of a destroyer during the World war.

He had recently invented and patented a registering gasoline pump for which he was commended officially by the New Jersey state department of weights and measures.

He was also believed to have developed recently a new type of internal combustion engine designed to use low grade fuel.

Schreiber is said to reside at Cleveland.

OBREGON'S FOE DEAD, REPORT

Presidential Candidate Narrowly Escapes Assassination

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—(P)—Antonio Tirado, one of three men held at police headquarters for the attempted assassination of Alvaro Obregon, presidential candidate, died today from bullet wounds received while fleeing from the scene, according to information in possession of capital newspapers.

Police headquarters, however, refused to confirm or deny the report. They declined to make any official statement other than that investigations are continuing to find if he was one of the men responsible for the attempted assassination of the former president, now a candidate for president a second time.

The men arrested are considered by police to be the tools of others, perhaps political enemies. One of the attackers is said by police to be a shoemaker and another a barber.

Obregon Only Scratched. The only arrest besides that of the two wounded and one unwounded man accused of making the attack is Miguel Alessio Robles, formerly a member of Obregon's cabinet. Robles is prominent in the anti-reactionist political party which opposes Obregon and supported the presidential candidacy of the recently executed Araulfo Gomez. Miguel is a brother of Vito Alessio Robles who delivered the funeral oration at Gomez's burial and at whose residence in Mexico City Gomez's body rested before its burial.

Obregon, who escaped with scratches and powder burns on his one hand and one of his cheeks, received many congratulations from friends who gathered all day long at his residence and campaign headquarters to extend their felicitations. Obregon appeared smiling and happy at his campaign offices. He would not express any opinion as to who was responsible for the plot against him.

A story going the rounds is that Obregon approached the three captured men shortly after their attempt to assassinate him and with a mocking bow said sarcastically, "You are brave men." Whereupon one of the two wounded men straightened up and replied as he gasped painfully: "And so are you, my general."

The body, accompanied by one of his sons, will be shipped to Stanton Tuesday morning for burial.

MANY HURT IN EXPLOSION OF GAS RESERVOIR

MANY BUILDINGS ON NORTH SIDE OF CITY WRECKED

(BULLETIN) Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—(P)—The known dead in the disastrous explosion of a huge gas tank on the north side of Pittsburgh, stood at 21 tonight although there were reports that additional bodies had been seen in the debris by rescue workers. One report had it that seven bodies had been seen in the wreckage of the collapsed building of the Pittsburgh Clay Pot company but officials declined to increase the official death list until the bodies had been recovered.

An entire section of North Side Pittsburgh lay in ruins tonight and the bodies of 21 persons rested in the Allegheny county morgue, mute evidence of one of the most disastrous explosions in the city's history. Death and devastation swept the old Manchester district when a mammoth storage gas tank exploded.

Tonight, as hundreds of victims of the disaster nursed their injuries in hospitals and in other havens of refuge supplied by relief agencies, firemen, policemen and volunteers continued the work of exploring the wrecked district in the belief that other bodies would be found in the mass of twisted debris.

Police on Guard. As nightfall descended upon the stricken region, rescue workers erected emergency lights at vantage points. Many of the debris-choked streets and tumbled-down buildings resisted the efforts of the firemen and they resorted to dynamite in an effort to move masses of wreckage. Police redoubled their vigilance and kept constant watch to prevent looting.

The quiet of a November morning was shattered through out the Pittsburgh district by terrific blasts. For a moment the city held its breath as buildings rocked and windows crashed. At first it seemed that an earthquake had gripped the city. Telephone lines were broken and the fire alarm system was crippled. The city stood still, waiting and wondering what was to come next.

Water Mains Broken. Then a fire alarm box in the downtown district on the Allegheny river front sounded to be followed a minute later by a general alarm.

With the first shock, firemen started the motors of their apparatus and as the clang sounded they rushed forth. The city soon realized that there was a disaster at hand. Automobile trucks, taxicabs, ambulances and all available motor cars soon were rushing through the downtown district bearing the injured to hospitals.

When firemen reached the scene they were halted by the appalling sight. Streets had been heaved into the air, breaking water mains and sewers, and flooding the entire district. Homes, factories, warehouses and industrial plants lay in ruins. Men, women and children, many with blood streaming from faces and other injuries, ran screaming through the streets as if mad.

Tank Blown Skyward. The cause of the disaster was soon apparent for in the midst of the ruins lay a twisted mass of steel, some of the supports of the giant gas tank, said to be the largest natural gas reservoir in the world. Thirteen men went to work repairing the tank at 8 a. m. Forty-three minutes later as the workers handled the blow torches on the steel frame work the shock came. Eye-witnesses said the tank, with a capacity of some 5,000,000 cubic feet, shot into the air like a balloon. A ball of fire traveled higher than the tip of Mt. Washington, across the Ohio river from the scene. Sections of steel framework went up hundreds of feet, to crash in the descent through the roofs of houses and buildings and in the streets.

Within a brief period of time all North Side hospitals were jammed to capacity. Nearly every doctor in the city as well as nurses responded to the call for help. Some of the injured were treated on hospital steps for the corridors and every available inch of space within was occupied.

Victim's Bodies Mangled. Panic-stricken men and women forgot their hurts in their efforts to locate loved ones and several hours after the blast occurred mothers and fathers, their faces cut by flying glass were wandering through the wreckage.

Giles May Hop for Hawaii Today

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—(P)—Captain Frederick A. Giles, British flyer, may hop off from San Francisco for Honolulu tomorrow. The aviator said tonight that if the rain-soaked runway at Mills Field was dry enough to permit a takeoff with his heavily-laden biplane, he would take off on the first leg of his contemplated 12,000-mile jaunt to New Zealand. Fine weather conditions were reported at sea, he said.

Unknown Plane Sighted Flying Over Atlantic

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—Mystery today shrouded the identity of a "white plane headed north and flying high," reported by the liner Ile de France to have been sighted 250 miles south of Halifax. Officials of the French line tonight had received no word from the ship in answer to a request for further details. At flying fields near here no plausible explanation of the plane's presence over the Atlantic could be offered. It was not believed the plane could have been on a trans-Atlantic flight since no trans-Atlantic takeoff had been reported. The Ile de France due here tomorrow, wireless the Radio Corporation of America this morning that she had sighted the plane.

Michigan Bell Co. Founder Is Dead

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—William A. Jackson, who organized and later became the first president of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, died today at his temporary residence in the Fifth avenue hotel. He was 79 years old. A widow, who was Miss Nellie Moore of Moore Park, Mich., and a daughter, Mrs. Henry H. Robinson, survive him. Jackson became interested in the telephone after seeing Bell's invention at Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876, later obtaining a license to use the invention in Michigan. In addition to his activities in the telephone industry, Jackson organized the Detroit Electrical Works and was identified with street railway operation in Detroit.

ing through the wreckage, seeking loved ones. Near the ill-fated gas tank the first victims were found—nine men, their bodies burned and mangled. These were rushed to the morgue. Later the body of a woman was picked up from a sidewalk. The rescuers found almost insurmountable conditions in their path. They carried the injured through water waist-deep. Tottering walls menaced them. Dangling electric wires sputtered on all sides. Yet the firemen, the policemen and private citizens engaged in the work of rescue, forgot their own danger in their feverish effort to rescue others.

485 Injured Treated. When it became evident that the capacity of every hospital in the city was taxed, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army established first aid outside the rim of the devastated area. Here scores of persons were given medical attention. Many doctors braved the perils of the region, and carrying emergency kits, they entered the danger zone to seek out and help victims of the disaster.

A check-up of hospitals tonight showed that 485 injured persons were given treatment. Some were so badly hurt that doctors feared they would not survive. Among the injured were so many school children just about to enter class rooms as the tank, 233 feet in circumference and 208 feet high let go. The pupils were showered with flying glass. The panic-stricken children added to the general confusion. They ran through the streets and were endangered by falling walls until rescuers finally rounded them up, sending the injured to hospitals and the others to residences outside the stricken region.

The disaster gripped an area of about one square mile fronting on the Ohio river and centering in Reeddale street. The section is known as Manchester and is one of the city's oldest districts. It was thickly settled, old-fashioned brick and frame dwellings crowding one upon the other, with factories, warehouses and industrial plants intermingling in the houses for the most part were the families of working men.

Indications that the production of the new horns would reach 25,000 a month within a short time were made by officials. A delivery of 2,500 horns has already been made.

(Continued From Page One.) lined control before his career as wholesale bootlegger was halted. Death Penalty Demanded. The petition recited that Remus was the hands of those mentioned, having been stolen from his Cincinnati home, which was dismantled while he served a term in the Florida prison.

Charles P. Taft, II, Hamilton county prosecutor, son of William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, served notice that the state would demand the death penalty when he asked a venireman for his opinions on capital punishment.

William Raff, Jr., young mechanic, first venireman called, asserted opposition of electrocution was excused immediately as are four others during the day-one of the fifteen questioned admitted an opinion had been formed despite wide newspaper reading.

MEXICAN PLOT BARED, CLAIM

Say Calles Broke Up Parley Seeking Peace in Nicaragua

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—The Hearst newspapers tomorrow in the second of a series of articles copyrighted by the Washington Herald, will print purported facsimiles of documents from the secret archives of the Mexican government showing that the Corinto peace conference arranged by the American state department in October of last year in the hope of ending the Nicaraguan revolt was broken up by President Calles of Mexico.

Fac-similes of documents purporting to show that Mexico financed the recent Nicaraguan revolution were printed by the Hearst newspapers today.

One of the documents to be printed tomorrow is a telegram purporting to have been signed by General J. Alvarez, chief of President Calles' staff, to Aaron Saenz, secretary of the Mexican department of foreign relations. It instructed Saenz to have Mexican Ambassador Cravotto, at Guatemala, inform Dr. Juan Batista Saenz, Nicaraguan liberal leader, that if the peace arrangements at Corinto were not based on arrangements concluded in Mexico City, with liberal elements controlling the executive power, the Mexican government would retire all moral and material aid immediately.

Admitted Mexican Support. Ambassador Cravotto's delivery of the Calles ultimatum to Dr. Saenz in Guatemala city resulted in hurried conferences between Saenz and his advisers, the article will say. Several days were required for Saenz to convince the Liberal delegates of the necessity of breaking off negotiations, but when fully informed of the Mexican government's position they agreed. In discussing the break-up of the peace conference with Laurence Dennis, American charge d'affaires in Nicaragua, the article will say, one Liberal delegate admitted openly that his party had the unlimited backing of the Mexican government and seemed inclined to boast of it.

The following translation of the purported dispatch of Alvarez to Saenz is made in the following article:

(Seal) "Telegram. 'Mexico, Federal District. 'President's General Staff. 'October 23, 1926. 'For the secretary of foreign relations.

"Mr. Secretary: 'By order of the president please by good enough to communicate urgently with Ambassador Cravotto in Guatemala and have him inform Saenz that if the peace arrangements at Corinto are not based on arrangements concluded in this city with Liberal elements controlling the executive power, the Mexican government will retire all moral and material aid immediately. Instruct Cravotto to suspend all financial aid to Saenz if the latter does not reply satisfactorily.

Signature: "Chief of the president's staff. "General J. Alvarez."

This translation of the reply of Saenz to Alvarez is given in the article: (Seal) "Telegram. 'Mexico federal district. 'Department of foreign relations. 'October 25, 1926. 'The general staff. 'No. 1869. 'To the chief of the president's staff:

"Please inform the president that Cravotto today communicated the following: 'Saenz, after a long conference with Zepeda and de la Selva, decided to discontinue peace conference at Corinto and to depart immediately for Puerto Cabezas to establish the constitutional government. At a meeting which I held with the ministers of Salvador, Costa Rica and Honduras and the foreign minister of Guatemala, we agreed to recommend to our respective governments the immediate recognition of Saenz in order to lend moral force to his government. I beg you urgently to call this recommendation to the attention of the president, recommending to him that Mexico should be the first to extend recognition in order to solidify our policy in Nicaragua for the future. I have given fifty thousand pesos to Saenz for preliminary expenses incidental to the installation of his government. 'I communicate this to you for your information and await your further instructions. 'Secretary Saenz."

Discharged Negro Janitor Held for Burning Apartment

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14—(AP)—Working on the theory that the Graystone apartment hotel fire here early Sunday morning was of incendiary origin, police tonight arrested Sonnie Cardon, former negro janitor at the hotel, on a vagrancy charge and held him under high bond. The fire resulted in eight persons being burned to death and 13 injured. Cardon was discharged several weeks ago and because of complaints of occupants of apartments that he refused to keep sufficient fire in the furnaces for heating purposes. The police said. He is charged with having told several residents of the building that he would get even with them by "burning you out one of these days." Cardon was severely questioned. Detectives said he denied being near the building at the time of the fire.

U. S. JUDGE IS SUED

ARMY MULE MAY BE CAST ASIDE

Tractors Threatening to Replace Draft Animals.

The fate of draft animals in the Army will be decided by an Army Board with the issuance of instructions by the Department of War for a thorough study to determine the extent to which automotive power should be substituted in military transportation, the Department announced. The full text of the statement follows:

War Department instructions have been issued for a thorough study to determine the extent in which automotive power should be substituted for animals in military transportation. From several standpoints such replacement seems desirable. For overseas movements, animal transports are difficult to obtain quickly. The cost of maintenance throughout the year of the full allowance of animals for a given unit can be decreased by the use of the reduced amount of motor transportation needed for normal peace-time duty at posts.

While these are the desirable features, other important factors enter into the consideration of the subject, such as the nature of probable theaters of operations, the number and types of commercial vehicles obtainable without delay in an emergency, types to be used (light trucks, heavy trucks, tractors, trailers) and the distribution throughout the country of various makes and types of motor vehicles suitable for Army use. All of these questions must be given careful consideration before a conclusion can be reached as to the extent which motors can replace animals.

Such a study will involve the activities of practically every branch, and service of the Army and will be commensurate in scope to the investigations and experiments indicated to be in progress in some foreign armies.

NEED OF LINE TO AID BACKFIELD PROVED IN WELCH-AMOS DUEL

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Probably in no game this year has the value of a good forward line to a set of fleet running backs been so apparent as in the scoreless tie that Pittsburgh and Washington and Jefferson recently staged. These two teams offered for the All-America backfield two candidates in the persons of "Gibby" Welch of Pittsburgh and Bill Amos of Washington & Jefferson, captains of their respective teams. Two six-yard returns of punts were the best efforts of Amos. Welch also did his best work in returning punts, making three gains of 16, 15 and 11 yards. The two lines were so evenly matched that there was little to choose and each seemed to do its best work when the opposition was in possession of the ball. From a spectacular standpoint as well as ground gaining, this game was the worst exhibition either player has given during his career. Naturally the experts viewing the pair for the first time were not very favorably impressed.

MINERS FLAY GOV. FISHER

Executive Named as Official of Strike-Breaking Firm

Pittsburgh, Nov. 14—(AP)—Gov. John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania, was named today at the conference of American Federation of Labor officials on the coal strike situation as vice president, attorney and director of the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation, which officials of the United Mine Workers termed "a strike-breaking subsidiary of the New York Central railroad."

The naming in that connection of the Pennsylvania executive who declined an invitation to address the labor leaders, furnished a dramatic moment to the conference which had been featured by an intimate picture of conditions in the mining camps as found by mine union officials, and charges of "a conspiracy" on the part of great combinations of wealth to destroy the union. The "conspiracy," of which the Mellon banking interests was named as a part, was said by Philip Murray, vice president of the miners' union, to have extended to the point where pressure was brought to bear upon otherwise favorable mining companies to prevent them from signing the union wage scale.

A committee of 16 labor leaders, headed by W. L. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters' union, was named to draft recommendations containing suggestions as to how the national labor body could aid the miners after the conference had denounced the non-union leader policy of various coal concerns, the activities of coal and iron police and the evictions of striking miners. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was named a member of the committee which will submit a report at the next session of the conference tomorrow afternoon.

Says Dry Agents Kill Hundreds in Cold Blood

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, in an article published today in the December issue of the magazine, Plain Talk, estimated that the toll of lives taken by federal prohibition agents "must run into four figures."

Senator Edwards said that no nationwide research has been made to establish the accuracy of his estimate, adding "as long as prohibition lasts, statistics will never catch up with the number of persons killed by prohibition officers, federal, state and municipal."

Answering the question, "How do men die when prohibition agents shoot," he wrote: "They die, many of them, in cold blood, shot in the back. The reports of the treasury department do not ever say the victim was shot in the back, for it would not look good. But investigate the court records and see what you find and I ask you not to accept my word, but the words of physicians, men of the community, who know that perjury on such a score would be instantly detected."

Obliges as Duelist, Gets Jail Sentence

Oedenburg, Austria-Erich Tyuka, court translator, is in jail for killing Walter Setz, government official, in a duel. Tyuka explained that Setz, having insulted him, explained that he must fight a duel or he could not take his place again in society. Society made no such demands on Tyuka, but he accommodated Setz. Unhappily, his fire was fatal.

HUBBARD MEDAL IS PRESENTED TO LINDBERGH

partment of commerce, who lauded his accomplishments.

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—Awarding the Hubbard medal for conspicuous achievement to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on behalf of the National Geographic society, President Coolidge tonight paid another high tribute to the flyer both as an aviator and a man.

Lindy's flight from New York to Paris stirred the heart of the people, the president said, but it was the flyer's unselfish dedication of himself to advancement of aviation that displayed his clear conception of public service.

"He determined to capitalize his fame not for selfish aggrandizement but for the promotion of the art he loves," Mr. Coolidge said. "He was unmoved by the many opportunities for private gain."

The president declared that as a result of Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic and his subsequent trip to every state in the Union, plans for 1928 indicate an activity "far beyond any dream of six months ago."

Transportation Advanced. The text of the president's presentation address follows: "Fellow Countrymen: Transportation and communication are essential to civilization. Within the year an encouragement has been given to their development that has few parallels in history. The principles of aviation were demonstrated first by Americans, at the turn of the last century. In the intervening years their science progressed both here and abroad. Important flights were made."

"It remained for one of our own citizens in May, 1927, to arouse universal interest in the practical possibilities of travel through the air. His flight alone and unaided from New York to Paris thrilled the world."

"It appealed to the imagination of humanity. How the hero of this exploit was applauded, not as a reckless adventurer, but as an able, sober-minded, modest young man of high and unselfish purpose has not passed into history. What he did to strengthen the cordial relations between our people and Europe is well known. The wonderful and sincere welcome he received abroad, the acclaim that greeted him at home, are still fresh in the public mind."

"Apostle of Aeronautics." "But that was not all. With a clear conception of public service he determined to capitalize his fame, not for selfish aggrandizement, but for the promotion of the art he loves. He was unmoved by the many opportunities for private gain. The flight to Europe was spectacular. It stirred the heart of the people. But foremost in his mind was the permanent good that might come from those having directed thought to human flight.

"This courageous, clear-headed, sure-handed youth, whose character had withstood the glare of publicity and the acid test of hero worshipping adulation, became an apostle of aeronautics. He dedicated himself to advancing the science and practice of aviation."

"Taking little time to recover from the strain of his experiences he started on a missionary tour of over 22,000 miles. Flying in his Spirit of St. Louis, the Spirit of America visited 83 cities in our 48 states. Only once did he fall to arrive on schedule, establishing a record for reliability. He spoke, not of himself, but of airways and airports in 147 speeches and 192 messages from the clouds. Because of what he has said and done we are told aeronautic plans for 1928 indicate an activity far beyond any dream of six months ago."

"Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, it has been the privilege of few to do as much for a cause in so short a period of time. You have richly merited the many honors already bestowed. Tonight I have the utmost gratification in awarding you this further recognition of achievement, the Hubbard medal of the National Geographic society."

OUTLINE AVIATION'S NEEDS.

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—America's leading aviators, who conquered the Atlantic and part of the Pacific by air are agreed on what seems necessary before regular trans-oceanic air travel is launched. It is essential, one after another of them today told a conference on the preparation of weather data, that improved facilities for taking and relaying observations on ships at sea be established.

Meeting at the commerce department with weather bureau officials and other who prepared data to guide the historic flights since last May, veterans of four Atlantic and three Pacific hops told the dramatic stories of their battles with the weather.

At the same time, methods of giving assistance by the weather bureau were explained by Dr. James H. Kimball. Maps given to Lindbergh, Byrd and Chamberlain at the time of their take-offs were similar, he said, because in each instance a wait had been made for a certain map of favorable type. Dr. Kimball revealed that Ruth Elder and George Haldeman had headed over the ocean into a certain storm, because of a misunderstanding of terms ordinarily used for mariners. He stressed the desirability of an agreement between weather officials and oceanic flyers on terminology to be used in air weather maps.

Flyers Recount Experiences. Later Haldeman recounted the struggle experienced with the storm. It was impossible to maintain altitude with engines running at top speed, he said, because of ice forming on the wings which weighted down the plane.

"We came out of black night into full moonlight," he added, "but our oil pump failed and our engine was breaking up, so we had to go down."

In an equally matter-of-fact way, Baichen told of the Byrd flight, Chamberlain of his hop to Germany and Brock and Schlee of their jump to England. Then Maitland and Hegenberger outlined their maneuvers through clouds from California to Hawaii to be followed similarly by Goebel and Bronte.

When all were done, it was noted that opinion had been practically unanimous regarding future steps to minimize danger for trans-oceanic air journeys. These steps developed cooperation of shipping, improvement of facilities for gathering data abroad, improvement of the radio beacon for guidance and more accuracy in wind and barometer readings.

OCEAN FLYERS' CLUB.

Washington, Nov. 14—(AP)—The first club in history of trans-oceanic flyers was formed here tonight at a reception given by Assistant Secretary MacCracken of the commerce department. The club said Lieut. George Haldeman, pilot of the American Girl, was named International Trans-Oceanic Pilots' association. Its first president is Charles A. Lindbergh, while Ernest Hegenberger, one of the two who first flew from California to Hawaii was named vice president.

Edward F. Schlee, who flew with Walter S. Brock to England said Haldeman, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The club includes as charter members all of those who in the past year have survived trans-oceanic flights, including Miss Ruth Elder.

BARK RIVER WOMAN DIES

Mrs. John Dahl Was Resident of Community for 40 Years

Mrs. John Dahl, 62, a resident of Bark River for about 40 years, died at the family residence at Bark River Sunday morning following an illness of two weeks' duration.

Mrs. Dahl was born in Sweden, and came to the United States when she was a child. She was one of the pioneer members of the Swedish Lutheran church in Bark River, and took a prominent part in the church's activities. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors' lodge of Bark River and the Morning Star society of Escanaba.

Besides the husband, she is survived by six daughters and five sons: Mrs. Ed Peterson, Bark River; Mrs. Erick Lindahl, Gladstone; Mrs. Carl Pierson, Evanston, Ill.; Mrs. R. Lawson, Escanaba; Mrs. Theodore Hennings, Washington Depot, Conn.; Edna Dahl, Bark River; Oscar, Adolph and Albert Dahl, all of Bark River; Arthur and Gust Dahl, both of Escanaba. Four sisters also mourn her death. They are Mrs. Anna Larson, Sister Bay, Wis.; Mrs. Lagerquist, Sister Bay, Wis.; Mrs. Emma Rudoen, Stromberg, Neb., and the other residing in Sweden.

The body was taken to the Boyle undertaking parlors to be prepared for burial, and was returned to the family home yesterday. Funeral services will be held at the Bark River Swedish Lutheran church at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. C. E. Olsson of Gladstone officiating. Burial will be in the family lot at Bark River cemetery.

Knights of Pythias Meet at Menominee in June Next Year

Menominee, Nov. 14.—(P)—A two-state convention and roundup of Wisconsin Knights of Pythias, the first two-state convention of the order ever attempted, will be held here in June of 1928, under the auspices of the Upper Peninsula Pythian League. L. O. Bowman, president of the league, announced today.

The greatest gathering of Pythians ever assembled is expected, Bowman declared, since there has never been a national convention of the order. Charles Folio, Escanaba, is vice president of the league and D. G. Wilson, Menominee, is secretary.

The convention, it is planned, will last an entire week, and while the main purpose of the meeting will be to present educational programs, extensive preparations are already being made for entertainment. Degree teams from both Wisconsin and Michigan lodges will be present. The Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan will

Upper Peninsula Now Has Two Members of Congress for First Time in History

BY C. C. SCHILLING
Washington, Nov. 14.—(Special)—When the seventieth congress convenes less than three weeks hence that part of Michigan which is commonly called the upper peninsula will have two of its residents among the thirteen members of the Michigan delegation in the house of representatives. It will be the first time in the ninety-one years Michigan has been one of the United States that such a situation existed.

The opportunity for the upper peninsula to have two members in the lower house presents itself by virtue of the election of Dr. Frank P. Bohn of Newberry as representative from the eleventh district. The other member is W. Frank James of Hancock who has represented the twelfth district for the past fourteen years.

While Dr. Bohn also represents nine counties in the lower peninsula since he maintains his legal residence in Luce county he is considered for all purposes an upper peninsula man.

Two is Maximum.
Two members is the most that will ever represent the upper peninsula in congress. There was a time back in the eighties when there were none. Even if there is a reapportionment within the next two years and Michigan is given the two additional members it asks in all probability they will come from Detroit or vicinity and the best that could be looked for so far as the upper peninsula is concerned would be the division of that section into two congressional districts, giving it two members in its own right. In other words one of the congressmen would not be called on to represent any lower peninsula counties which is the situation now.

Dating back to the early seventies when there were only nine districts in Michigan, the only available records of congress show that since that time only seven cities in the upper peninsula have sent a man to congress. One of those cities sent two men, giving both their ceremonials and the Pythian Sisters will also attend. Each lodge in the two states will be asked to bring some feature for the parade which is planned. Competitive drills will be put on at Walton Blesch field here.

the upper peninsula eight congressmen since 1872.
The cities are: Houghton, Sault Ste. Marie, Menominee, Ishpeming, Calumet, Hancock and Newberry. It is interesting to note that the Copper Country, with the exception of about ten years, has always had a representative in Washington and Houghton is the only upper peninsula city that can boast of having had two members.

Hubbel Was First.
Back in 1872 Jay A. Hubbel of Houghton was sent to congress as a representative of the ninth district. In the early eighties Michigan was allowed eleven representatives and Henry William Seymour of Sault Ste. Marie was elected to represent that district. He served until 1888 when Samuel M. Stephenson of Menominee was elected. In Stephenson's time Michigan was given twelve representatives and that time only 29,000 votes were cast in the entire upper peninsula.

The next man was Charles D. Sheldon of Houghton who was elected to the fifty-fifth congress and remained for six years when the Copper Country candidate lost to H. Olin Young of Ishpeming who held office from 1903 to 1913, the end of the sixty-second congress, when he was defeated by William J. MacDonald, a Progressive from Calumet.

MacDonald served but one term and Frank James was elected and has held office ever since.

Bohn is Eighth.
The year of James' election Michigan was reapportioned and the eleventh district was re-created, leaving James representing the twelfth district and dividing the eleventh into seven counties in the upper peninsula and nine in the lower. Frank D. Scott of Alpena was the first representative from that newly created district and held office from 1914 until 1927 when he was succeeded by Dr. Bohn, the eighth upper peninsula member of congress.

The important upper peninsula cities which have never had a member of congress include Escanaba, Ironwood, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Negaunee.

Hard-Hitting Back.
"Bullet" Booth, Pittsburgh back, is said to be one of the hardest-hitting backs playing football today.

Matt Walter states that Leo Spielmacher who has been driving the former's truck, collecting cream through the Garden Peninsula for a Soo creamery, made the last trip Friday. The cream supply is falling off and roads are getting bad. From this time Garden Peninsula farmers will ship their cream by stage to the local depot.

Stanley Czajkowski of Garden was a business caller here Friday. A party of six hunters who spent the past night at the Leveille hotel left here Saturday morning for the Copper country.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Minor and two children of Manistique were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Minor Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Minor and children were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeSaulte Friday.

An unusual accident happened to Russell Minor Tuesday while following his employment. He was striking on a chisel with a spike maul, cutting through a bolt when a piece of steel about the size of a small pea broke off the chisel, pierced the leather mitten with its woolen liner, went through the right hand at the joint of the finger and thumb and embedded itself in the flesh three inches from the point of entrance. He went to a Manistique physician who had to administer ether to take out the steel. The hand is healing nicely and no serious results are feared.

Mrs. Andrew Houghton and family of Manistique were guests Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Deuparo.

Mrs. Nellie Coustino of Grand Rapids spent Friday at the home of Mrs. William Deuparo. She expects to leave Cooks Monday for her home city.

Joseph Baker is moving to Shingleton and will be employed through the winter at the O'Dell and Aldrich camps. He will accompany the Bailey family there. While still very sick, the condition of Milton Williams, former Supervisor of Inwoods township is slightly improved.

You've met those beautiful cakes with the flat, unsatisfactory taste. You don't want that—you want a cake that tastes as good as it looks. The BENSON MURDER CASE

BY S. S. VAN DINE CHAPTER LIII

(Thursday, June 20, 10:30 a. m.) The Chatham Arms, where Major Benson lived, was a small exclusive bachelor apartment-house in Forty-sixth street, midway between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

The entrance, set in a simple and dignified facade, was flush with the street, and only two steps above the pavement.

When we arrived two youth in uniform were on duty, one lounging in the door of the elevator, the other seated at the switchboard.

Vance halted Markham near the entrance. "One of these boys, I was informed over the telephone, was on duty the night of the thirteenth. Find out which one it was, and scare him into submission by your exalted title of district attorney. Then turn him over to me."

Reluctantly, Markham walked down the hallway. After a brief interrogation of the boys, he led one of them into the reception room, and peremptorily explained what he wanted.

Vance began his questioning with the confident air of one who has no doubt whatever as to another's exact knowledge.

"What time did Major Benson get home this night his brother was shot?"

"The boy's eyes opened wide. "He came in about seven—right after show time," he answered, with only a momentary hesitation.

(I have set down the rest of the questions and answers in dramatic-dialogue form, for purposes of space economy.)

VANCE: He spoke to you, I suppose?

BOY: Yes, sir. He told me he'd been to the theatre, and said what a rotten show it was—and that he had an awful headache.

VANCE: How do you happen to remember so well what he said a week ago?

BOY: Why, his brother was murdered that night!

VANCE: And the murder caused so much excitement that you naturally recalled everything that happened at the time in connection with Major Benson?

BOY: Sure—he was the murdered guy's brother.

VANCE: When he came in that night did he say anything about the day of the month?

BOY: Nothin' except that he guessed his bad luck in pickin' a bum show was an account of it bein' the thirteenth.

VANCE: Did he say anything else?

BOY (grinning): He said he'd make the thirteenth my lucky day, and gave me all the silver he had in his pocket—nickels and dimes and quarters and one fifty-cent piece.

VANCE: How much altogether?

BOY: Three dollars and forty-five cents.

Box of Gold Given to London Hospital

London (AP)—The box of gold is not so much a dream of the past as most people think. Such a gift from an anonymous donor has just been handed in at the Queen's hospital for Children.

A woman in black handed a small cardboard box in at the secretary's office and hurried away. The box was opened and found to contain $1,000 in sovereign and half-sovereigns. On a piece of notepaper was a message stating that the money was a donation for the hospital "with every good wish."

Half the world doesn't know how its better half lives.

THE MYTHS OF THE THING.

The truth, according to Biblical authority, is to make men free; yet there are times when it might be better that certain truths could be concealed.

For example: a few days ago grand nephew of John Howard Payne, author of "Home Sweet Home," tossed a monkey wrench into the plans for raising funds to preserve the Long Island home where the immortal song was written by announcing that Payne really wrote the song in Paris, and that he never lived in the Long Island house at all.

All of this is a severe blow, no doubt, to many trusting souls. Part of the charm of the song, "Home, Sweet Home," for this writer, at least, has been the thought of that picturesque, comfortable-looking house on Long Island; the thought that this was the home which Payne loved, the home about which he poured out his heart in that simple, appealing song that made him famous.

And now we find out that it isn't so! Such truths ought not to be giving general circulation. Whoever has a real legend that was not several degrees nicer than cold set? A myth, especially when hasn't been denied so often but that one is able to pretend he really believes it, is a warm, nourishing thing; a thing that can make other things more real, more precious, more valued.

The truth-tellers have been persistently active of late. For some time now they have assured us that George Washington did not, really, cut down the famous cherry tree. They have told us that Buffalo Bill really killed only two Indians in his whole life. They have insisted that the Empire of Montezuma, conquered by Cortez, was in reality little more splendid than imposing than the ordinary shambles of our own southwest.

The truth always is a fine thing, but there are cases where it is not at all of place. For example: in that part of Illinois where Lincoln once lived it is reported that a thrush will ever sing on the anniversary of Lincoln's death. Of course, that possibly may not be true; but aren't you glad to pretend to believe it, at least?

Let's keep our legends. Let's more this statement that Payne did not live in that delightful old Long Island house. Let's reaffirm our faith in the cherry tree story and in Buffalo Bill's blood-thirstiness. Let's continue to believe that the Aztec Empire was that the Spanish romancers did it was.

Away with these little truths; legends are better.

OUR UNKNOWN HEROES.

Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, strolled about the Union Depot in Albany, N. Y., half an hour the other day without being recognized. Not even newboys knew him.

This seems to us an unprecedented occurrence. Since the days of John L. Sullivan we never have heard of a boxing champion going anywhere unrecognized.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch

THE FELLOW WHO MOVES TO ADJOURN. He's usually old and he's generally gray. And plenty of speeches he's heard in his day. He sits in the middle, and well down in front. And holds his remarks to a nod or a grunt. But when some longtimer has used the last note, He hitches his chair and he clears out his throat. And then, with a voice neither kindly nor stern, He looks at the chairman and moves to adjourn.

I know what he's there for. I know why he comes. Why three solid hours he will twiddle his thumbs: It isn't to tell what he knows, and some more. To offer amendments or ask for the floor. The people who know him will smile now and then. He's kind of a joke to the rest of the men. But the very best speech, you will frequently learn, Is made by the fellow who moves to adjourn.

Yes, some say he's funny and some say he's queer. But I thank the good Lord that he always is here. Go look at the minutes, and what do they say? The same fellow moved that we call it a day. The man with a message is all very well. The yap with a story he's yearning to tell. But here's to the worm with the courage to turn— Yes, God bless the fellow who moves to adjourn!

CHURCH NEEDS MEN—LEONARD

Declares Dogma Has Obscured Ruggedness of Religion.

Organized religion has suffered because its fundamental principles have been obscured by a great mass of dogmatic theology, misconceptions and sanctimoniousness, the Kiwanis club was told yesterday by Dr. Frank L. Leonard, district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"Men have been permitted to go on believing that religion is something to be run by the women—that it's sort of effeminate and that it isn't a thing that the real, red-blooded man's man wants to bother his head about," Dr. Leonard said. "The salient facts in the life of Jesus, and his teachings have been neglected."

"We hear a lot these days about fundamentalism. I do not believe that the things the fundamentalists are emphasizing are really fundamentals at all. To me the outstanding fundamentalist in America is Harry Emerson Fosdick. He has discarded everything except the one fundamental of Christianity—Jesus Christ—and is stressing the things Jesus Himself did and taught rather than the things folks have said about Him."

"Christianity from the very beginning has had to combat the hypocrisy and the blunders of those within its own ranks. Even before the Crucifixion there was a betrayal and a denial among the men closest to Jesus. We can not afford to blame the Church for the failure of some of its leaders today to meet the tests any more than we can blame all Christendom for the weaknesses of the two disciples.

Need More Red Blood

"We need more preaching of red-blooded Christianity. We ought to talk more about the ruggedness, the courage, the superb dignity of Jesus—the outstanding manly figure of all history. We can get along with less talk about meekness and sorrow."

Dr. Leonard was introduced to his old friend, Lloyd Walker, who introduced the speaker as "a hunter, a fisherman, a splendid horseman, and all-around man's man."

LIKED JAIL BETTER.

Kokomo, Ind.—When he was arrested for trespass and given a $16.50 fine or a 15-day jail sentence, P. J. Flannery chose to go to a cell. Later, officers found $87 in Flannery's clothes, took out the fine and kicked him out. Angered by this inhospitable treatment, Flannery started action to compel authorities to allow him to finish the sentence.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

In "The Cat and the Canary," now playing at the Delft theatre, a love theme of absorbing interest, interwoven with the thread of drama on a background of intrigue, mystery and serio-comedy, has been transferred to the celluloid by the genius of Paul Leni.

An all-star cast supports Laura LaPlante, the petite blonde who has flashed across the cinematic heavens as a star of the first magnitude.

Throughout the action of the photo-drama runs the age-old story of love, the lure of money, thwarted desires and human passions. Down to the very last foot of film you will be sitting on edge awaiting the startling denouement.

The elements of comedy, which, paradoxically enough, often tinge the starkest tragedy, are by no means neglected, serving but to augment the intensely dramatic sequences. The lighter moments are played up to their fullest possibilities by Creighton-Hale, Flora Finch and Gertrude Astor.

Arthur Edmund Carew, Tully Marshall, Forrest Stanley, Lucien Littlefield, George Siegmann and Martha Mattox, in the featured supporting roles, give sterling performances in this screen adaptation of the outstanding stage success from the imaginative pen of John Willard.

AT THE STRAND.

Wm. James Craft, director of "Poor Girls," the night club drama now playing at the Strand, was assigned to this production following his good work on "The Wreck" and "Birds of Prey," previous Columbia successes.

"Poor Girls," the story of a young girl raised in luxury, who runs away from home and tries to earn her own living when she discovers her mother is a notorious night club hostess, gives Craft wide scope for his directorial ability.

An elaborate night club provides the setting for the dramatic climax, while the remainder of the action finds itself against the contrasting backgrounds of fashionable boarding school, smart apartment and dingy tenement. Included in the cast are Dorothy Revier, Edmund Burns, Ruth Stonehouse, Lloyd Whitlock and Marjorie Bonner.

MAY TRANSFER EYES.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Medical science of the future may make possible the successful transfer of human eyes. Dr. Lucien Howe, of Buffalo, has spent 20 years in research on the problem and has succeeded in shifting eyes from the lower classes of animals to those of the same species which are blind. He believes this eventually may be done with humans.

ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED

Methodists Hold "Birth-day" Services Here Sunday.

Completion of fifty-eight years of Methodism in Escanaba was celebrated Sunday with splendid services in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

At the morning service, Dr. Frank L. Leonard, district superintendent, preached the anniversary sermon, his subject being "The King's Taste." He based the address on the promise of ancient kings of "even to the half of my kingdom," to those who accorded unusual service, and pointed out that men always have been willing to pay almost any price for the things they most desire. He urged his audience to "pay the price" for the things which are most worth while.

The first quarterly conference of the year was held during the afternoon. The pastor, Rev. R. C. G. Williams was granted a leave of absence for three months during the coming summer to visit his old home in Europe. The church's contribution to the Methodist World Service fund also was materially increased.

"Antatta Presented

A cantata, "The Two Harvests" was presented at the evening service under the direction of Mrs. Edward Lucas. The program was said by many to have

WOMEN—FREE!

You BUY 2 Boxes of Kotex for 98c

You GET One Full-Sized Box FREE

Thus you receive 3 boxes on payment of only 98c—Offer Limited—Act Promptly

Made to acquaint all women with the remarkable protective features of KOTEX—features found in no other sanitary accessory known

To show women the remarkable difference and vastly greater protection of Kotex over any other sanitary accessory known, this unique offer is made... three regular 65c boxes of Kotex, a $1.95 value, on payment of 98c.

Go today to any store in this city, or out of town, where Kotex is sold and take advantage of this opportunity. But do not delay. All dealers' stocks are limited. If you come late, you cannot be supplied.

The difference between Kotex and other sanitary pads

Kotex is utterly different from all other sanitary pads. There is no other "like" Kotex.

Kotex is the one and only sanitary pad filled with the super-absorbent Cellucotton wadding.

Thus Kotex has the amazing power of absorbing 16 times its own weight in moisture! Thus Kotex has 5 times the absorbency of the ordinary cotton-filled pad! Think what this means in protection.

Because of these exclusive features Kotex has changed the hygienic habits of the world. It has made sheerest frocks safe under the most trying hygienic handicap women know. Eight in ten better-class women of America have adopted Kotex—for health's sake and for peace-of-mind.

Discards like tissue—No disposal problem

One uses Kotex, then discards it—as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry. No problem of disposal. Think, too, what this means.

Deodorizes while it acts

Another factor is that KOTEX is scientifically permeated—under a process applied to no other sanitary pad—with a highly effective deodorant.

That means that Kotex deodorizes thoroughly and absolutely as it acts. Which banishes another old-time fear of women.

More than a "sanitary pad"—True Scientific Protection

Kotex comes as the result of years of scientific experiment.

It is made under hospital standards of sanitation and safety.

It embodies scientific protection that is sure and positive... features unknown to any other sanitary accessory in the world today.

Accept this offer

Today accept the remarkable offer named above on Kotex.

Find out for yourself why millions of women use it. Find out why experts say, "Only Kotex itself is 'like' Kotex—Only Kotex itself is Kotex."

This amazing bargain now on display at your favorite store. Take advantage of this offer today

IMPORTANT!

Why gamble with substitutes hospitals have tried and rejected?

More than 75% of all recognized hospitals in America use Cellucotton absorbent wadding in their surgical departments—the same material that is used exclusively as a filler in Kotex pads.

Many hospitals have tried substitutes for Cellucotton wadding, but have returned to the exclusive use of this marvelous absorbent, which towers above all low-quality absorbents.

Good hospitals and reputable surgeons take no chances with their patients. Why then should you allow any merchant to substitute a pad made of inferior material when you wish the only original Kotex?

In spite of cheaper substitutes, hospitals have purchased at regular prices 1,441,152 Kotex pads this year for their patients. Doctors insist on Kotex for patients. Will you accept less?

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

HEALTH EXAMINATION BEFORE MARRIAGE

For many years, indeed ever since medical science discovered definite means of diagnosing hereditary defects, eugenicists have urged physical examination before marriage as a means of preventing the development of mentally defective people and of protecting the healthful person against the infected one.

Several states now have laws requiring various kinds of physical examinations before marriage, varying from an attempt to determine the presence of tuberculosis, mental and other diseases, to complete examinations. In many places a mere declaration under oath that the person concerned is not infected is accepted as sufficient.

Thousands of records are available, in the case histories kept by physicians, of young wives who have contracted diseases from their husbands, in many instances the disease being such as necessitated surgical operation after marriage.

It has been urged that such examinations are not desirable because they would interfere with marriage, that they offend modesty and that they might destroy sentiment. Blood tests are necessary and more complete examinations are called for when the blood tests indicate their importance.

In some countries special clinics have been developed for making physical examinations before marriage and for providing suitable certificates. The argument of sentiment should not be permitted to sway anyone as to the importance of such an examination in view of the terrible results of communicable disease present in either of the persons to be married.

The time would seem to have come when the public should be educated regarding the right of the prospective husband or wife to be assured that the opposite partner does not have tuberculosis, epilepsy, St. Vitus' dance, or other disease.

Acid Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly. For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. GRAIN TRAFFIC HEAVY AT SOO

66 Million Bushels Are Carried by Boats Through Locks

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 14—(P)—Sixty-six million bushels of wheat were moved in October by Great Lakes steamers from the head of the lake ports to elevators in the ports of lower lakes, the monthly report issued by the engineering division of St. Mary's falls canal reveals.

The movement, one of the greatest in October history of shipping here, is greater by 15,000,000 bushels than the wheat shipments last year in October. The total grain movement is also greater than in October of last year. The report shows that in October of last year 51,818,768 bushels of grain, including wheat, passed the locks and this year the movement was 89,873,555.

Despite the enormous grain movement, however, the tonnage in October fell below the tonnage of October last year by 1,500,000 tons, due principally to reduced iron ore movement, which fell from 8,935,947 last year to 6,606,923 in October this year. The tonnage through the American and Canadian locks last month was 11,230,792 as against the 12,879,275 tons in October last year.

The tonnage of the season thus far is 1,000,000 tons below the tonnage for the first seven months of the shipping season last year, the comparison being 76,122,143 tons last year to 75,238,453 tons this year.

The eastbound freight included 1,474,140 barrels of flour, 66,595,590 bushels of wheat, 23,277,765 bushels of grain other than wheat, 9,937 tons of copper, 6,606,923 tons of iron ore, 13,906 tons of pig iron, 1,860 tons of stone, 10,979 tons of general merchandise. Westbound freight included 1,354,872 tons of soft coal, 195,930 tons of hard coal, 16,504 tons of iron ore, 10,130 tons of manufactured iron and steel, 9,114 tons of salt, 22,231 tons of oil, 112,360 tons of stone and 108,562 tons of general merchandise.

Westbound passengers numbered 344 and westbound 287. Vessel passages totaled 2,586 as compared with 3,221 in October of last year.

Ferries Haul Across Many Automobile Loads of Hunters

The deer hunting season opened today with hundreds of hunters in the woods of upper peninsula eager to shoot the elusive buck, and no doubt before nightfall today reports will be received from those who were successful in filling their licenses the first day out. The season will remain open until November 30.

Reports from St. Ignace are to the effect that the ferries for the last week have been transporting across the straits hundreds of automobiles filled with lower Michigan hunters. The steady stream of cars on the road from St. Ignace resembles the cavalcades which daily were seen during the summer tourist season.

Yesterday, the county clerk's office and sub-agents were busy taking care of requests for deer licenses, and stores in the city reported such activity in the buying of brightly colored macinaws, caps and other wearing apparel.

Weather conditions for the hunt are considered favorable. The forecast for today was slightly colder and a light snowfall.

Another important step for the successful regulation of the forthcoming hunting season is the addition of more than 50 extra wardens to patrol the northern woods. Many of these men will be transferred from the lower peninsula, where they are now on duty, and will be distributed throughout the areas most popular among the hunters in the upper peninsula. Careful inspection will be made of all cars crossing the straits, and also the Wisconsin boundary from the upper peninsula. A sticker system will be employed at the straits, to protect the car owner from a second inspection and unnecessary inconvenience or delay.

Relative to the regulation on dogs, it is emphasized by the authorities that the presence of dogs in or near a hunting camp will be accepted as evidence that the animals are being used by the hunters, and arrests will follow according to the provisions of the law.

Following are the more important regulations governing the hunting of deer:

License—Residence, $2.50; non-residents and aliens, $50; camp license, $3.

Limit—One male with not less than three-inch antlers. One male deer with not less than three-inch antlers will be permitted on a camp license.

Possession—Unlawful to have in possession more than 30 days after the close of the season.

Restrictions—Unlawful to use artificial light or dogs in hunting, or to kill deer in red coat, or while in water, or any female deer.

Des Moines, Iowa—Des Moines has a jewelry store so small that customers have to stand on the outside when making purchases. The "hole in the wall" is in the downtown section and the owner says he does an annual business of $8,000, so sees no need for enlarging his store.

INGROWN NAIL Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. How ever, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. Adv.

GEYSER BREAKS BONDS.
Fallon, Nev.—After spouting boiling water for many years through its valve and casing, the hot water geyser at Stillwater near here, broke its bonds and ran wild. Albert Lebau, owner of the geyser, offered $500 to anyone who could put it under control again, for he plans to build a bath resort on the site.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect. To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr. F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them "Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets." Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dull eyes, coated tongue, throbbing headaches — all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly. They act smoothly and without gripping. . . . How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.—Adv.

Vagrant Arrested Here Served Time, Police Notified

Joe Dennis, arrested by police several days ago for vagrancy, served a term in the state reformatory at St. Cloud, Minn., according to word received from the department of justice at Washington by police yesterday. The fingerprint records at Washington revealed that Dennis, under the name of Roy Bergerin was received at the reformatory on January 12, 1918, from Hennepin county, Minn., following conviction on a charge of grand larceny. Questioned at the county jail, Dennis admitted Bergerin was his real name and he said he was convicted in Minneapolis for robbing a drug store and was sentenced to serve one to ten years. Dennis said he was released after serving about two years, but police are awaiting verification from the Minnesota prison officials.

THEATRES

AT THE LYRIC. Sandow, a dog, carries off the honors in "Avenge Fangs," the photoplay attraction which opened Monday at the Lyric theatre.

He is the star of this Pathé production and he allows no mere human to usurp his right to screen fame.

The story, an excellent one with many dramatic moments, opens with a murder. The solution of the mystery is the central theme and, needless to say, Sandow is of great assistance in bringing about the downfall and capture of the criminals.

The picture has been done in a logical manner, and the actions of this wonderful dog actor have been so directed that no event takes place which stretches the imagination.

From the opening title to the final fade-out, the picture moves along at an entertaining pace. Sandow is excellent and the human cast in support, does very well in the various roles. Kenneth McDonald and Helen Lynch are the two leads, while others include Jack Richardson, Max Asher and Lafe McKee. Ernest Van Pelt was the director.

Michigan and Minnesota Will Clash Saturday

ELEEVENS ARE WELL MATCHED

Gophers and Wolverines Have Strong Lines and Backfields

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14—(AP)—The University of Michigan and University of Minnesota football teams end their season's battles here Saturday on a comparatively even basis, with both teams credited with powerful backfields, strong lines and field generals of ability.

Michigan has been defeated once, by the conference leading Illinois team and Minnesota has suffered two ties, by Notre Dame and Indiana. Harold "Shorty" Almqvist, leading point scorer of the conference, and Louis Gilbert, runner-up, will meet in their final conference competition.

Stars to End Careers.

Both teams have been forced to disclose, apparently, their full offensive and defensive strength, Michigan against the Navy and Minnesota against Michigan.

Michigan emerged victor in her battle with the fighting versatile Navy team without serious injury to their players. Minnesota took it easy last Saturday, practicing against Drake.

The great "Herb" Joesting, captain and fullback of the Gophers, and Bennie Oosterbaan, Michigan captain and end, both All-Americans, who met twice last year, will conclude their collegiate careers in the season's final. There has been a barren stretch of years for Minnesota seeking to carry away the "brown jug" which the Wolverines have defiantly protected.

Minnesota has had the reputation of developing slowly. It should be at its peak when four hard-hitting Northmen, Almqvist, Nydahl, Barnhart and Joesting, start their drive against the Michigan forward wall. Baer, Schoenfeldt, Palmeroll, Pommerening, Gabel and Gabel, and the ends, Oosterbaan and Heston, should expect a bad day.

Michigan Backs Powerful.

To counteract the driving power of Coach Spears' backfield, Michigan has within the past three weeks developed their own driving machine. Rich, Miller, Puckolwart, Oosterbaan, Hoffman and Gilbert all took their turn last Saturday, tearing off tackle and straight through the Navy line for devastating gains. Rich started a doleful Michigan public in the Illinois game by his line driving ability. He continued piercing the opposing walls in the Chicago and Navy games.

This new offense of Michigan coupled with its ever-ready passing combinations, particularly the famous Gilbert and Oosterbaan team, will trouble the Gophers as the Gophers will trouble the Wolverines.

DRILL IN SECRET

Chicago, Nov. 14—(AP)—The contenders in the two leading western conference football games next Saturday began preparations today under strict secrecy, with virtually all the regulars in fine condition at Illinois, Ohio State, Michigan and Minnesota.

Two of the four, Ohio and Minnesota, had easy games on the program last Saturday, and Illinois was hardly expected to win its affair with Chicago. Michigan exhibited a brilliant all-around game in defeating the Navy but the Wolverines began working on some new tricks today for Minnesota.

All omens point to an Illinois triumph at Columbus and a clean cut conference championship, but there have been no notable upsets before in this season and the Buckeyes might spring up just as hard as they fell.

Zuppke Fears Over-Confidence.

Coach Wilcox of Ohio sent his regulars through a particularly rigorous workout today, with only George Fouch, one of the regular quarterbacks, withheld from scrimmage. Fouch has a badly bruised leg from the Denison massacre Saturday.

Coach Zuppke's hardest task with his all-conquering Illini this week is to fight the evil of over-confidence, and he accomplishes this by jerking his players out of both scrimmages and big games with a frequency nearly equal to Knute Rockne at Notre Dame. None can match the Illini this year in wealth of well-balanced material.

Just as he said he would, Coach Wiseman of Michigan mixed in a plunging backfield with his famous passing threats and since none of the Wolverines suffered much from the Navy clash, the Minnesota squad can expect to look at more of the same at Ann Arbor Saturday.

Rain and a promise of a cold snap greeted the Chicago and Northwestern squads today. Iowa decided to resign as doormat of the conference and the dash and power the Hawkeyes showed against Wisconsin Saturday will be a reminder against Northwestern's crippled Wildcats by the inspiration of victory over Wisconsin.

Oxford Developing All-English Crew

Oxford, Eng.—Oxford is seeking to develop an All-English crew this year, in an effort to beat Cambridge, and wipe out the rather poor record of the past two years. Americans stand little chance of making the eight.

H. T. Kingsbury of Yale, who rowed "six" in the crew last year and has been called one of the five best oarsmen Oxford ever produced, returned to the United States accompanied by America's only other hope, Jack Merrill, Kingsbury's departure leaves quite a hole to fill, since it is considered difficult to find good heavyweights to occupy the middle seat.

BILLY EVANS

BEST PLAYER IN DIXIE

Bill Spears of Vanderbilt is perhaps the greatest player in the south. In that section everyone is familiar with his gridiron prowess. It seems that Bill Spears turned down an appointment to Annapolis in order that he might attend Vanderbilt.

While Bill Spears is fairly well known nationally in football circles, had he decided to become a rear admiral he would have been one of the most widely advertised players in the game. No All-America would have been complete without him.

There is no getting away from the fact that the selection of a college has considerable to do with the prestige that the outstanding star gets.

Colleges located close to the bigger cities in the United States invariably get more attention from the noted experts of the grid game and naturally the stars of such teams profit thereby.

I am positive that all the teams in the Southern Conference greatly regret that Bill Spears passed up the Annapolis appointment.

Has Gained Plenty

Spears is the ideal triple threat man. He is without a peer in the south as a passer, has developed into one of the most feared runners and can more than hold his own in the kicking game. As a concrete proof of the above statement, I offer these statistics. In the first six games of the season he gained a trifle better than 600 yards from scrimmage. This figure does not include the several hundred additional yards he gained in running back punts and from kickoffs. In only one game did he play the full 60 minutes.

A 90-yard return of a kickoff, an 80-yard run after intercepting a pass and a 77-yard run through a broken-field, are Spears' three best performances of the year.

What Publicity Can Do

Getting back to the original thought that the publicity a player receives for meritorious performance is largely decided by the geographical position of the college he attends is proved by the case of Bill Spears.

Had he gone to the Navy and played for that team the brand of football that he has turned in for Vanderbilt, he would be the talk of the country, a headliner in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and scores of other newspapers.

"Red" Grange doing the same stuff he did for Illinois for some team not so centrally located wouldn't have gotten the space he did on the sports pages for three years. I might add that in Mike Tobin, "Red" had the advantage of one of the best publicity directors in the country.

This effusion is dedicated to Bill Spears in an effort to spread his fame and deeds to any of the localities where the young man isn't so well known.

W. & J. Has Guard Weighing 267 Lbs.

Washington—Frank Paul, looms as perhaps the heaviest football guard in the United States this season.

With one-eighth of a ton of muscle and bone, this giant in the Washington & Jefferson college line combines real ability to play football. He is more than six feet tall and weighs 267 pounds.

Despite his weight, he has speed when he needs it in running interference and the man he picks out stays out. But his forte is ripping through the opposition line. He has played regularly for several seasons, having been a high school star.

Paul figured in a story told about a Washington & Jefferson game played on a rain-soaked field. When the final whistle blew his teammates were anxious to know just how much poundage he had picked up during the battle. The scales showed a gain of 45 pounds, the weight of the mud and water in his uniform and shoes.

DANES USED TO PLAY FOOTBALL

Took Skulls of Vanquished Englishmen to Toss Around

FOOTBALL IN THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY. They get a ladder and blow it great and thin, with many beanes or peason put within.

It rattleth, soundeth and shineth clere and fayre, while it is thrown and cast up in the ayre.

Eche one contendeth and hath great delite With foote and with hands the bladder for to smite.

If it fall to the ground, they lift it up agayne, This wise to labour they count it for no payne.

Renning and leaping they drive away the colde, And sturdy plowmen lustie, stronge and bolde.

Overcometh the winter with driving the football, Forgetting labour and many a grievous fall.

—Alexander Barclay, a monk-poet, in 1509.

Des Moines, Ia.—On the plains of England, in the tenth century, victorious Danes, using the skulls of vanquished Englishmen played the first known game of football.

So says Charlton G. Laird, professor of journalism at Drake university, Des Moines. He has traced the history of the game down through the dim ages of antiquity and he says his research showed that hard fighting Danes tossed the krisly battle mementoes around in the world's first known gridiron contest.

Later on pumpkins and gourds were used by farmers of the British Isles. They carried the garden truck through a line of opposing players in a game much similar to the present gridiron sport.

Laird devoted long and earnest effort to rounding up his history of football and ran across facts never collected before, he says.

Capt. John Smith of the Virginia colony, he says, made the first known reference to football in America. The captain and other settlers frowned upon it as "one of those sports in which English dudes indulge," related Henry Spillman, an historian.

By 1829, the colleges had taken up football and the first Monday of the year was known as "bloody Monday" at Harvard when a game was indulged in as the annual class scrap. By 1860, the faculty ruled the game too brutal and abolished it, Laird said.

Gen. Phillip H. Sheridan of Civil war fame appeared on the delinquency list at the West Point Military academy for "kicking football in the vicinity of barracks."

The records showed that Princeton won the at-home game, but Rutgers, with its own rules and on its own field, reversed the process the next time.

CHICAGO RACE TRACKS PAYING

Legalized Betting in State Causes Sport to Prosper

Chicago—The first year of legalized horse racing in Illinois, with pari-mutuel betting sanctioned, closed with a success far beyond even the dreams of the promoters, who were favored by the weather and enthusiastic turf fans, in addition to the law.

The state treasury of Illinois received nearly a half million dollars in license fees and direct taxes. Each track paid $2,500 a day since the law became effective July 1, and 20 cents on each admission. Many a million dollar day was recorded on the mutuel machines, which were restricted to a profit of 6 1/2 per cent for the track operators.

Racing on the five Chicago tracks ran for 172 days, without a break except for Sundays, and without a hint of dispute over racing dates, due to the organization last winter of the Illinois Jockey club, which included representatives of all the racing plants in the state.

Two old established tracks, at Aurora and Hawthorne, shared the season with the two new ones at Lincoln Fields and Washington park, until H. D. "Curly" Brown and his associates completed a $2,000,000 course at Arlington Heights just in time for a 19-day meeting to wind up the turf year.

An unprecedented Indian summer, with temperatures up in the 80's for most of October, added greatly to the success of the sport this fall. Society took an active interest in horse racing, both from the standpoint of spectators and stable owners.

Stuyvesant Peabody, coal magnate, bought Flat Iron in time to see that veteran campaigner carry his silks to victory in several important races. Fred M. Grabner's Chicago won 12 of the important stakes of the summer.

Mrs. John D. Hertz, wife of the Chicago taxicab king, discovered on Illinois tracks that she had two of the greatest two-year-olds of the year in Reigh Count and Anita Peabody.

Two new stars in the riding colony came into the spotlight on Illinois tracks this season. Lee "Longshot" Hardy, an Indiana lad of less than two years' experience in the saddle, rode 200 winners, a mark exceeded only twice in American turf history.

Hurst "Shasta" Philpot, a Nebraska boy claiming to be 18, but looking more like 14 years of age flashed to the front in the closing days, when he rode four winners in seven races and wound up the year by riding the winner of the closing race on eight successive days.

Heading the Illinois Jockey club, which steered an even course among the five competing tracks, was Peabody, with Matt J. Winn of Churchill Downs fame as the managing executive. A turf war loomed when Brown launched his Arlington project, turning out one of the most pretentious plants in America, but the other tracks conceded a few days from their programs, and Brown was given a 19-day meeting to close the season, which under the law must end before November 1.

SOUTH SIDERS DEFEAT RAILS

MacGill's South Siders won a hard-fought football game from the North-Western Railroaders Sunday by a 24 to 0 score.

All South Siders' touchdowns were scored on passes. Eddie Berrigan snagging two passes for scores, Hamelin grabbed one and Audrey Andrews speared the last one. Andrews' score came in the fourth quarter after he had intercepted a pass and was downed after a beautiful 85-yard run. He scored on the next play.

The large crowd of fans who saw the battle were pleased to see in action once more such stars as Hamelin, E. Berrigan, Raymond, "Tarzan" Johnson, Johnston, Aley, former Hilltop gridmen, and Bloomstrom, Frasher, ex-St. Joe stars.

The game was played at South Park on a muddy field that slowed up the game considerably.

Bill Thompson referred the game in an efficient and satisfactory manner. Leo Brunelle was head linesman.

Take fragrance, for instance. P.A. has 'em all stopped there. Every time I open the tidy red tin, I get a brand-new thrill. A tobacco that smells like that would have to be good, if you ask me. Yes, Sir!

And then take taste. Every puff tells a man that P.A. is cool and refreshing, with a mellow-mildness that is a revelation. Mild, yes, but not wishy-washy. P.A.'s rich, full-bodied flavor balances its mildness and makes it a smoke!

But all the talk in the world won't do a man any good, unless he acts on it. A load of long-burning P.A. in the bowl of his pipe will tell him volumes—and in language he likes. It's the personal test that counts, after all. I don't believe I can add to that.

HOCKEY RACE TO BE CLOSE

Good Players Well Distributed in National League

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Several important player trades and acquisitions from the amateur ranks, and the injection of new managerial ability into the National Hockey League, are expected to provide a close fight for the 1927-28 championship race, which starts November 15.

Although Reginald "Hooley" Smith, one of the stalwarts of the world's champion Ottawa Senators, has been sold to the Montreal Maroons, this change is not expected to handicap the Ottawa machine, which is again regarded as capable of overcoming the opposition of the other nine contenders.

Harry "Punch" Broadbent went back to his alma mater, Ottawa, in the Smith deal, which also involved $20,000. Broadbent and Frank Finnegan will share the right wing berth vacated by Smith. Otherwise the championship team of 1926-27 is intact. Broadbent helped the Senators win the world's title several years ago.

Chief opposition to the Senators in the international group doubtless will come from Montreal Maroons, and Les Canadiens of Montreal, both of which have strengthened their lineups considerably with new talent. The Toronto St. Patricks and New York Americans are expected to improve with the addition of new players and new managers, Connie Smythe and Wilfred "Shorty" Green, respectively.

Harry "Patson and Beattie" Ramsey, Princeton hockey coach, both members of the 1924 Canadian Olympic championship team, will wear Toronto sweaters this winter. Art Dundas, who managed Detroit last season, has also been signed. The acquisition of Joe Miller, star St. Paul goalkeeper, Billy Boucher and Martin Barry, a Montreal amateur, is expected to bolster the Americans.

New York Rangers and Boston Bruins are regarded as the strongest aggregations in the American group. Both have the lineups which carried them into the group final last season, and the addition of several amateur stars and players obtained in player deals will improve their substitute strength. The Rangers led the group all through last season, but were defeated in the group final by the second-place Bruins who previously had eliminated the Chicago Black Hawks, third place club. Ottawa defeated the Bruins for the Stanley cup.

The Black Hawks, under the management of Barney Stanley, who piloted Winnipeg last season, have only a handful of last year's players and a platoon of new ones with which to build a team. Hughbie "Eagle Eye" Lehman, who has guarded nets for two decades as a professional, will be replaced by Charlie Gardiner of Winnipeg.

The Hawks are strengthening their defense, which was lamentably weak last year and negated the sharpshooting of their front line, which displayed the best scoring punch in the league. Cecil Browne and Nick Wasniak of Winnipeg, as well as Taylor, Wentworth, Graham and Burns are all new members with minor league background.

The Pittsburgh Pirates have made no outstanding changes so far, but the Detroit Cougars, under the management of Jack Adams, substitute center player for Ottawa last year, have cemented their back line with the addition of Stan Brown of the New York Rangers and Bill Brydges of Toronto, who went to Detroit in exchange for Duncan.

Ransford of Navy Was Too Fast for Oosterbaan Sat.
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14—(AP)—Western conference and non-conference football teams have shown a great reluctance to waste downs running Capt. Bennie Oosterbaan's ends this season. Very few have been made at Michigan's left end despite the fact that Wisconsin, Ohio State, Illinois, Chicago and Navy have all directed plays in that direction.

But one feet and slippery Navy back astonished spectators at the Navy-Michigan classic last Saturday when Ransford, 153-pound back, escaped from the long arms of Oosterbaan. A perfect pivot, side-step and speed once left the rangy Michigan captain clutching at the air in Saturday's game while the fleet Ransford scurried into Michigan's secondary defense. Time after time in the fourth period Ransford, the lightest man on the field, clicked off several gains by his ability to pivot and squirm out of the grasp of the Wolverine forwards.

When Michigan stopped him usually it was behind the line or when a group of blue jerseys fell on him. It has not been explained why Coach Ingram waited until Michigan had run up 27 points before sending in the fast stepping Ransford. In addition Ransford was present two years ago when the great 1925 Wolverine machine scored 54 points against the Navy.

STILL PLAYING FOOTBALL.
Morton Kaer, Southern California's famous back last season, is playing with the Olympic Club in San Francisco this year.

Dixie Stars to Meet All-California Team

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—With the football season running into the home stretch, speculation is plentiful as to the Dixie stars who will meet an All-California team in Los Angeles on Christmas Day, but only two players to date appear certain of berths.

These are Freddie Pickhard, captain and tackle of Alabama's Crimson Tide, whose fine playing against Stanford, in the Tournament of Roses, a year ago, caused him to be selected to head the new invading team, and Billy Spears, Vanderbilt's All-American backfield nominee.

The game is sponsored by five Los Angeles newspapers and the Southern and Pacific Coach conferences. The proceeds will go to charity. The Southern Conference, in approving the contest, specified the Dixie players should be selected from seniors on the several teams.

In the south, Wallace Wade, Alabama; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech; and Dan McGugin, Vanderbilt, all coaches, will make the selections, while the California team will be picked by "Pop" Warner, Stanford; Howard Jones, University of Southern California, and William Spaulding, U. C. L. A.

Pickhard's selection to captain the team is definite, while Spears' sensational playing at quarterback has caused him to be regarded as a certainty.

Elmore, of Tennessee, is another quarterback receiving mention. For halfback honors, Brown of Alabama and Howe of Washington and Lee, McDowall of North Carolina State, Thomas of Maryland, Barnes of Virginia Military Institute and Mattox of Virginia Poly have shown much, while Meville of Tulane, Godfrey of Louisiana, Snyder of Auburn and Hartness of Mississippi A. & M. also are strong players. Middlekauff of Florida, Cohen of Mississippi, Shuford of Maryland are fullbacks who have given good accounts of themselves. Middlekauff is one of the hardest line plungers in the south.

For ends, Georgia presents Nash and Shivers, regarded as two of the greatest players in their positions the south has ever developed. Sharp of Vanderbilt, Patterson of Auburn and Butcher of Tennessee are a trio of centers who have played consistently well three years.

Barnhill, Tennessee guard, who won All-Southern honors last season, Major of Tulane and Smith of Mississippi are three likely guards. Caldwell of Virginia, Brunson of Mississippi A. & M. and Kimbrough of Sewanee are among the hardy tackles who will receive consideration.

Immediately after the Southern Conference season closes, December 3, the selection of approximately 24 men will be announced. The squad will assemble in Tuscaloosa December 17, and leave immediately for the coast, working out at drills at Los Angeles.

BOXING

Philadelphia, Nov. 14—(AP)—Tommy Loughran, recognized by Pennsylvania boxing authorities as the world's light heavyweight champion, battled his way to a judges' decision in ten rounds over Pat McCarthy of Boston at the Arena tonight. The fight was full of action with Loughran doing most of the leading. Loughran weighed 178; McCarthy 186.

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Clyde Hull, Dallas welterweight, knocked out Johnny Indressano of Boston in the first round of a ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. An overhand right fractured Indressano's jaw just before he was counted out. Each weighed 147½.

Boston, Nov. 14—(AP)—Illness of Red Chapman, featherweight contender, forced the postponement of his scheduled ten-round bout here tonight with Tony Canzoneri. A new date for the fight has not yet been set.

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—Hilario Martinez, sensational young Spanish junior welterweight, continued his drive toward a title bout by whipping Andy Divodi, crack New York youngster, in a 10-round feature match at Madison Square Garden tonight. Martinez scaled 144 pounds, two more than Divodi.

Smith is attending Pasadena high school this year but was ineligible for football because he was not a pupil there last semester. He does not graduate this school year, however, and great things are expected of him next fall. Smith was an All-Upper Peninsula half back last season and an all around athlete. Dunphy played a wing position on the undefeated 1924 eleven coached by Glen Thompson and again played end in 1925 when he captained the Escanaba eleven. Dunphy will enter the University of Southern California in February.

Delaney to Fight Heeney on Friday; Sharkey Disabled
Bridgeport, Nov. 14—(AP)—Jack Delaney will meet Tom Heeney in Tex Rickard's heavyweight elimination tournament at Madison Square Garden Friday night, replacing Jack Sharkey of Boston, who was today reported suffering from a fractured wrist, according to an announcement here tonight.

Delaney was notified by his manager, Pete Reilly, today that he would replace Sharkey, providing Heeney was willing to meet the former light heavyweight champion. If Heeney was unwilling, Reilly said, the Bridgeport boxer will meet some other likely opponent on Friday's card.

PUCK SEASON OPENS TODAY

National League Hockey Teams to Start 1927-28 Race

New York, Nov. 14—(AP)—The big league hockey season for 1927-28, giving every promise of making record-breaking records, starts tomorrow night on three American and two Canadian rinks.

The ten clubs of the National Hockey League will take up the battle for the Stanley cup and the world's professional championship that goes with it, now in the hands of the Ottawa Senators.

The opening games will find the title-holding Canadians opposing the New York Americans at Madison Square Garden, New York Rangers playing the Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto, Chicago's Blackhawks starting the season at Boston and Detroit chasing the puck at Pittsburgh.

As last year, the league will be divided into two divisions, one known as the International group and including the four Canadian outfits, along with the New York Americans. The other five clubs are in the American division. Teams finishing first and second in each group play off at the end of the season to decide the inter-group contests for the Stanley cup title scores.

Two Former Esqy Football Pilots Now in Pasadena

Two former Highlander football captains are now residing in Pasadena, Calif. They are Harold Smith, last year's captain of the undefeated Escanaba squad, and Adolph Dunphy, 1925 captain.

Smith is attending Pasadena high school this year but was ineligible for football because he was not a pupil there last semester. He does not graduate this school year, however, and great things are expected of him next fall. Smith was an All-Upper Peninsula half back last season and an all around athlete. Dunphy played a wing position on the undefeated 1924 eleven coached by Glen Thompson and again played end in 1925 when he captained the Escanaba eleven. Dunphy will enter the University of Southern California in February.

A PERFECT MATCH.
London—A coat of mink, shown in a London autumn display and priced at $10,000, is the result of many years of careful searching for faultless skins. Some of the pelts were found in Rumania and Bulgaria, and some were found elsewhere. But they match perfectly, and the finished coat is one which furriers say might not be equaled in color, marking, and quality in several generations.

HORNSBY DEAL IS CONSIDERED

Major League Advisory Council Meets in Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 14—(AP)—The major league baseball advisory council, established when K. M. Landis became commissioner but operating only spasmodically while Ban Johnson remained head of the American league, reorganized today with E. S. Barnard in Johnson's place, and John K. Heydier representing the National league.

The Rogers Hornsby-St. Louis Cardinals stock controversy was settled by the two league presidents and Judge Landis by annulment of a rule that no player shall retain stock in one club after his transfer to another club in the same league or else he becomes ineligible either to play or manage on his new club.

A player can hold stock in the club for which he is playing, the rule continues, only under a specific agreement approved by the advisory council.

Hornsby, traded to the New York Giants last winter in return for Frankie Frisch, valued his shares of stock in the St. Louis Cardinals so highly that Sam Bredon and associates refused to pay the price Hornsby asked. The controversy raged all winter, and then died down when the season opened, but Hornsby still holds his Cardinal stock, partly presented and partly purchased with his profits and salary as manager of the St. Louis National leaguers.

The new rule formulated by the advisory council must first be ratified at the joint meeting of major club owners at New York next month but when that formality is completed Hornsby will become ineligible.

Moisture penetrating the insulation had caused the line to go dead.

CARDS' NEW BOSS

BILL McKECHNIE

Bill McKechnie has been appointed 1928 manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. He succeeds Bob O'Farrell, manager last season, because the St. Louis owners, while granting that O'Farrell had a successful year, thought his work as catcher would be much better if he was not worried with the managerial troubles. McKechnie piloted the Pirates to a world's championship in 1925.

Rest-Play Method New in Basketball

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 14—(AP)—Athletic officials at the University of Illinois have instituted a method of playing basketball which they believe may be the basis for a new regime in the court sport, at least in practice.

Three minutes of rest are provided after each ten minutes of play.

Under the direction of Cord Lipe, freshman basketball coach, C. R. Griffith, director of psychological research in athletics, and G. T. Stafford, professor of orthopedics, have undertaken a comprehensive study of the court game, with the three-fold object of obtaining better players, better students and better athletes.

Under the rest-play plan, Lipe said, players seem to grasp the fundamentals of the game much more quickly. They are required to lie flat on the floor. Conversation is not permitted.

OBITUARY

MRS. SARAH BEDARD.
Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Bedard of Ford River were held Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock at St. Patrick's church with Rev. Fr. John Mochler as celebrant at the requiem high mass.

Many floral and spiritual offerings were received at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carr, 1402 Sheridan Road, son-in-law and daughter of the deceased where the body lay pending the hour of the funeral services and where scores of friends called to extend their sympathy to the members of the bereaved family.

The casket was borne to and from the funeral car by four sons Joseph, Felix, Val and Louis Bedard, a grand son, Roland Bedard and a nephew Louis Carr.

NEW REVENUE BILL STUDIED

Tax Cut of 225 Million Maximum Possible, Smoot Thinks

Washington, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Retention in the new tax bill of present provisions for taxing capital losses tentatively was decided upon today by the house ways and means committee. This action was taken at the first of a series of executive meetings during which the committee will draft the new revenue measure that will be presented to congress when it convenes.

Chairman Green in making the announcement said that the committee adopted as the basis of its work the two score or more recommendations for simplification of administration of the tax laws recently presented by the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

The chairman, who earlier in the day visited the White House, declined to say what he had discussed with President Coolidge, nor would he indicate whether he believed the committee would adhere to the treasury recommendation to limit total tax reduction to $225,000,000.

In this connection he differed from Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee who also was a caller at the White House. Senator Smoot afterwards said that he now believed the treasury estimate represented the maximum cut possible although at one time he had believed that a slash of $300,000,000 could be effected.

The senate committee chairman feels that $50,000,000 at least will be needed for the first year's work of controlling the Mississippi river and he also would favor appropriation of $250,000,000 in some farm relief bill.

Trading in Stocks Made College Study

Peoria, Ill.—Bradley college students in the class of financial organization learn how to buy and sell securities on the stock market.

The course was inaugurated by Dean Loyal G. Tillotson. Each student is given an imaginary $10,000. He "buys" and "sells" stock each day, using the New York exchange prices, and his grade depends upon his success as a trader.

The course is unusually popular.

Caught Cold at Noon; Sang that Night!

Trust a professional singer to know what to do for a cold! Give him five hours, and he can knock out a cold that would have prevented his singing one note. The secret of going a whole season without a serious cold is something everybody ought to know. A simple compound does it, and it is obtainable in tablets. Just one will stop a cold with the first sniffle; several will break up a cold that's even reached the stage of grippe! Pape's Cold Compound costs but 35c at any drugstore.

26 Jews in Poland Quit Christianity

Warsaw, Poland (AP)—Twenty-six Polish Jews, who were previously converted to Christianity, have this year renounced their adopted faith to go back to the religion of their forefathers.

The Warsaw Council of Rabbis, which announced this fact, said that one of these persons was an officer of the Polish army who became a Christian in 1914 before entering the Legions of Pilsudski.

Another interesting case is the passing back to Judaism of a girl whose parents became Christians 30 years ago.
