MAY TAX ALL SECURITIES OF STATE, CITY

ASK AMENDMENT TO FEDERAL CONSTITUTION

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press. Washington, Nov. 25.—Although the federal government is not exactly aiming at the extravagance of states and municipalities which since the war have been able to borrow money at low rates because their securities were tax-exempt, the effect may be the same in the end if the recommendation of the treasury to put securities on the same basis with state and municipal bonds is adopted by congress.

REVENUE IS NEEDED

So the federal government is able to reach the matter in another way. In a long time it was not possible to exempt federal securities from taxation because the government needed the revenue and also because the government wasn't able to make too drastic a cut in its interest charges until the money market started downward.

REDUCE EXTRAVAGANCES

It has taken ten years for the treasury to be able to recommend an equalization as between federal and state or city securities but government revenues now are in such shape that it can be attempted. The states and municipalities will not have the advantage they heretofore have enjoyed in borrowing money and their issues will stand much more on their merits than before.

THOUSANDS SEE BURIAL OF FOUR

Victims of Mexican Firing Squad Called Martyrs

Mexico City, Nov. 25—(P)—The streets outside the American embassy today resounded with shouts of "Viva Cristo Rey" (Long live Christ the King), as the funeral procession of Juan Tirado, last of four men executed for participation in a plot against the life of former President Obregon, passed the embassy building.

His three companions, Miguel Augustin Projearez, a Catholic priest; Humberto Projearez, his brother, and Louisa Segura Vilchis, were buried yesterday. Mexico City newspapers reported that Tirado was buried at the same time, but this proved to have been incorrect.

Tirado's coffin was carried on the shoulders of overworked workers, followed by several hundred men and women, all of the poorer classes. Most of them wore overalls and the women wore black mantillas thrown over their heads.

All, seemingly by agreement, turned their heads as they passed the American embassy and shouted "Viva Cristo Rey" at the top of their lungs.

Dwight W. Morrow, the recently arrived American ambassador, was in his private office and heard the cries. He asked "what is the matter?" and members of the embassy staff rushed to the doors and windows to ascertain the cause of the disturbance.

Tirado's body was claimed by friends and relatives, all of the poor and working classes, after it had been announced that he would be given public burial unless relatives claimed the body. The bodies of the other three men were claimed shortly after they were executed.

Mexico City, Nov. 25—(P)—Miguel Augustin Projearez, Catholic priest who fell before the bullets of an execution squad on Wednesday, was buried today as a "martyr."

The men who were executed on charges of having engaged in a plot to assassinate former President Obregon, November 23, were carried through the streets, the crowd crying "Viva la martyrs," while many were weeping.

Then they were lowered into separate graves without ceremony or rites except for the praying and chanting of the masses that lasted until night came and the cemetery gates were closed.

Probably the greatest crowds that ever gathered for the funerals of private persons in Mexico saw the bodies of the four men carried to their last resting places.

Everyone carried floral offerings of some kind, even if only wild flowers plucked along the roadside, and rained these flowers upon the coffins as they passed while they prayed and chanted for the dead "martyrs" and for "Christ the King."

Gather at Father's Home.

More than half and perhaps two-thirds of the crowd were women, most of them wearing black dresses and all with their heads covered with a black shawl or veil. The majority of them were weeping openly and many of them touched the coffins with their flowers so that they might treasure them in memory of the executed men.

Several thousands had gathered at the residence of the aged father of the executed priest when the coffins containing the body of the priest and his brother, Humberto, executed with him, were carried out. In addition, large crowds had passed in and out of the residence all day long in a steady procession.

At the same time large crowds gathered at the home of Luis Segura Vilchis, who also had been executed. Juan Tirado, the fourth man, with no relatives and no friends appearing, was buried by charity in the pauper section of the Panteon de Dolores, the same cemetery in which the Projearez brothers were interred.

general counsel of the veterans' bureau, also was named as a party to the conspiracy. He died more than a year before the trial.

Elias H. Mortimer, the government's chief witness and self-confessed "go-between" and "fixer," testified concerning corrupt transactions with Forbes, described lavish parties given by the bureau director and charged that Forbes had broken up his home. Mrs. Mortimer later obtained a divorce in Philadelphia.

The trial of Forbes and Thompson consumed nine weeks. Neither defendant took the stand to deny Mortimer's testimony. The principal overt act alleged was the payment of $5,000 to Forbes by Mortimer in a Chicago hotel, June 20, 1922. Mortimer testified he was acting for Black.

Was Victim of Circumstances.

Judge Eyan A. Evans, in an opinion when the U. S. circuit court of appeals at Chicago sustained the conviction, summarized the conspiracy as follows:

"The scheme contemplated the selection of sites and building of various hospitals; the submission of bids that would include in each one $150,000 for certain of the officials; and a further division of the profits; the insertion in the bids of a provision calling for early completion of the buildings so that Forbes could let the contract to Black and Thompson though they were not the lowest bidder.

Forbes contended he was a victim of circumstances and of Mortimer's personal animosity.

Forbes was a drummer boy in the marine corps at the age of 12. He served two years and then at the age of 22 enlisted in the signal corps. He deserted, returned and was reinstated, was promoted to a sergeant in the Philippines and received an honorable discharge.

After his army experience, he engaged in the construction business in the Pacific northwest, going later to Hawaii where he rose to be commissioner of public works. There he first met Harding, who as senator from Ohio, was making a tour of the islands.

When the United States entered the World war, Forbes was commissioned a major. He served overseas, won a distinguished service medal and was made a lieutenant-colonel. After the war he went back to the construction business. After Harding's election he appointed Forbes to the veterans' bureau post.

PREMIER'S BODY LIES IN STATE

Will Hold Funeral of Rumanian Official Sunday

Bucharest, Rumania, Nov. 25—(P)—Amid every sign of national grief and mourning, the body of the late Premier Ion Bratianu was removed today to the Antaneneum palace where it will lie in state until his funeral Sunday.

Despite the weather which was wintry, great crowds flocked before the dead patriot, for he was recognized as a great patriot even by newspapers that opposed his general policy. The press of all shades of opinion have voiced their profound grief over the death yesterday of the man who had dominated Rumanian politics for so long.

Tranquility continues everywhere, a sort of political truce being tacitly observed until after the funeral. This means only that no active steps are being taken to reorganize the government, but this does not prevent many informal talks and conferences by the various party leaders and organizations on the subject of future government which seems to be shaping in the direction of a coalition.

Ask for New Election.

The dead premier's younger brother, Vintila Bratianu, meantime is carrying on the necessary duties of administration and at a cabinet council today called to arrange details of the funeral, he described negotiations that had been opened with leaders of opposition parties for such a coalition.

When he left the council, M. Bratianu appeared optimistic. He told press representatives that negotiations for a national cabinet were progressing favorably.

Dr. Juliu Maniu, leader of the opposing national peasants party, has demanded dissolution of parliament and new elections which he believes will terminate the domination of the incumbent liberal party.

Titulus Nicholas, former minister, whose serious illness has been contributed to the tense political situation, is reported to be greatly improved but his doctors advise him to remain in doors for several days. There had been some doubt as to whether he could carry out plans to attend the forthcoming conference of the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission but now he is talking again of going.

MAKE REPORT ON CONDITION OF MURDERER

I love you,' and 'Daddy, Daddy, don't do it!' He struck her on the head with his fist.

"I grasped the lapel of his coat and shook him and asked him, 'Do you know what you are doing?'"

"He said, 'She can't get away with that.'"

"Did you see any blood?" asked Sibbald.

The young woman had regained some composure during her long statement, but at the mention of blood, she sobbed anew.

"Did your mother say anything about dying?" she was asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "On the way to the hospital she said she knew she was dying. I said, 'Oh, Mother, no you are not.' She said, 'yes I am; isn't George terrible for doing this?'"

The next time she saw her mother was after she had died, testified Miss Remus with convulsive sobs shaking her slender frame and her face buried deep in her hands.

Must Answer Objection Today.

The report of the alienists met violent objection from Charles H. Elston, co-counsel with Remus who is his own chief counsel.

He demanded that the report not be received into the trial record at this stage.

The defense had not made its representations of transitory mental insanity, he said.

Charles P. Tatt, II, county prosecutor, put in, "No, and they have not heard our rebuttal, either."

"Mr. Remus has said in open court as the record shows, that he would agree to a selection of the personnel of the alienists and would be bound by their report," said Judge Chester R. Shook.

He directed Elston to let him know by the opening of court tomorrow morning "what your attitude is."

"It is absolutely essential," the judge asserted.

Elston later said that by no means would he be bound by the report of the alienists.

Another use of the alienists was found today when Remus moved that they be permitted to appoint a chemist to analyze candy sent to him. Remus was not satisfied with the report of the city chemist who found the sweets contained quinine and not poison.

There will be a single session of court tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

MINING FIELDS REMAIN QUIET

Headway of Governor's Plan to End Strike Not Announced

Denver, Col., Nov. 25—(P)—Gov. W. H. Adams is working on several plans designed to end the I. W. W. strike that started in the Colorado coal fields six weeks ago, but said today he was not ready to announce what headway he was making in his efforts to end the controversy.

In the meantime, two of the largest coal operators of the state frowned on the suggestion that they meet with the strikers to try to arrange a settlement. The Colorado Fuel and Iron company takes the position that there is no strike and that its miners who are not working are idle because of intimidation. Officials of the National Fuel company said they would meet their men direct if they had any grievances and that a general conference such as has been discussed would lead in a circle and get no where.

Officials of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, owners of the Columbine mine where five strikers were killed by state police Monday are reported as willing to agree to any plan suggested by the governor.

Military Order Prevails.

The coal fields were quiet today. In northern Colorado, mines were planning to re-open next week under the protection of the national guard and in the southern field, all of the mines reported increasing working forces.

Col. Paul P. Newton, adjutant general of the state, prepared notices today to post in the northern Colorado coal fields, proclaiming that the territory was now in complete charge of the militia. Inasmuch as Colonel Newton was given practically unlimited powers under the mobilization order signed by Governor Adams last Monday, the new move was not regarded as drastic except insofar as it would inform the strikers of the national guard's authority.

Allegations that he was struck in the face by a member of the state police and shots were fired over his head by others with admissions to "get out and stay out," when he was released from jail at Pueblo, were made to Governor Adams today by A. K. Orr, I. W. W. publicity man.

Orr, in company with R. W. Henderson, I. W. W. attorney of Bakersfield, Cal., and Rev. A. A. Heist, pastor of the Grace Community church here, asked the governor to investigate the charges. They quoted him after a conference as saying he would.

A number of persons were injured in a riot which occurred today when hundreds of Irish residents stormed the Brunswick theater in Melbourne where the motion picture "The Callahans and the Murphys" was being shown.

Father McCarthy of the Catholic church at Melbourne decried the people would "blow up any theatre which showed the picture sky high."

Washington, Nov. 25—(P)—The International Radio conference adjourned today after ratifying the new wireless convention which will go into force January 1, 1929, for a period of five years. Delegates from 79 nations and territories signed the convention which was drawn up during the more than seven weeks of negotiations here.

FEW BOUQUETS ON CASKET OF ACTRESS

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 26—(P)

When Emma Carus was toast of New York's Broadway, the flowers came over the footlights by the armful.

Today only a half dozen modest bouquets lay on Emma Carus' casket in the little church of the friends here and only a few friends gathered for the funeral services.

For twenty years she was a national vaudeville and musical comedy favorite. She died here Nov. 18 after a long illness, and where her friends were even unaware that she was living in southern California.

The few who learned of her illness located her only after death. A year ago she was declared incompetent to manage her own affairs and her last days were spent in a sanitarium.

Some years ago the actress married J. Walter Leopold, her accompanist, but later they were divorced.

BOY LOSES CRIMINAL TENDENCIES AFTER OPERATION ON SKULL

Indianapolis, Nov. 25—(P)

Emmett Brownlee, 13, of Indianapolis, sentenced to the state reformatory in September, 1926, for three to five years for auto banditry and for one to fourteen years for vehicle taking, may be given his freedom by Governor Ed Jackson, following a thirty-day observation period intended to disclose whether an operation a year ago had removed his criminal tendencies.

The boy will be released in custody of his parents with Dr. Albert E. Sterne, who operated on him, conducting the observation.

According to Sumner A. Clancy, attorney for the boy, Emmett suffered a fractured skull in an automobile accident two years before he was convicted. Clancy said the boy began to change, becoming intimate with a group of young men of criminal inclinations and finally was arrested and convicted.

STATE POTATO YIELD LOWER

Delta County Crop Average 100 Bushels Per Acre, Says U. S.

Delta county's potato yield this year averaged 100 bushels to the acre, and the quality was given as 88 per cent, in the November crop report of the United States department of agriculture.

Speaking of the state's potato crop, as a whole, the bulletin says: "Dry weather greatly lessened the yield and fall rains only helped the very late planted fields. Actual digging returns indicate an average yield of 81 bushels per acre which is lower than the growers expected on October 1. This yield gives a total production of 22,599,000 bushels as compared with 29,850,000 bushels last year. It is the smallest crop since 1916, as the United States crop is above the consumption and 44 millions more than last year's, prices are considerably lower than in 1926 with little prospect of a sufficient advance to cover the cost of carrying them until spring."

Average potato yields, shown in the report, for other upper peninsula counties, are as follows: Baraga, 25 bushels; Chippewa, 125; Delta, 100; Dickinson, 75; Gogebic, 80; Houghton, 72; Mackinac, 73; Marquette, 100; Menominee, 119; Ontonagon, 110; Schoolcraft, 85. The Chippewa average of 125 bushels per acre is the highest in the state. Six of the counties went over the state average of 81 bushels.

The Delta county buckwheat yield is given at 25 bushels per acre.

Other Crops.
The upper peninsula ranks well with the lower sections in the averages of other crops. The figures which follow show the average production per acre:

Crop	State U. P.
Silo corn, tons	5.8 7.2
Clover seed, bushels	4.8 3.7
Sugar beets, bushels	7.5 7.0
Potatoes, bushels	81.0 89.4
Timothy seed, bushels	8.9 7.5
Buckwheat, bushels	13.0 20.2

EDITORIAL

The Escanaba Daily Press A Morning Newspaper Published by The Escanaba Daily Press Company JOHN P. NORTON President and General Manager Office 400-522 Ludington St.

cast-iron sash weight for the purpose of collecting $100,000 life insurance. Is it possible that the court do not realize that Judd and Ruth needed money, and that insurance companies have lots of it?

AN OPTIMISTIC VIEW.

Charles Evans Hughes, in the capacity of special master in the Great Lakes water-level controversy, expressed the belief that, as Chicago progresses with the development of other means of disposing of its sewage, the volume of water drawn from Lake Michigan will be decreased.

Mr. Hughes, it seems to us, is taking an optimistic view of the situation when he regards it as likely that Chicago's sewage disposal plans, the promised deepening works and the metering of water in that city, are to be carried out in the near future.

Chicago, throughout the controversy, has been long on promises and short on operations.

Mr. Hughes points out that congress has authority to permit and regulate withdrawals of water. Congress has passed the buck to the war department. And Chicago has paid about as much attention to the war department's rulings as Chicago gangsters have paid to the laws against peddling liquor.

In that portion of the opinion wherein Mr. Hughes holds that the war department's permit, issued March 3, 1925, permitting the diversion, was valid, Chicago professes to see a victory.

Chicago needed a victory about as badly as it needs a new gang war. That city has done everything it wanted to do in the water case, and apparently proposes to continue along that line.

DOWN COMES CURTAIN. College football will stage its grand finale today. In Chicago, Notre Dame meets Southern California. In New York, Army and Navy will renew their ancient struggle. Traditional rivals in several other parts of the country will have a part in the wind-up scene.

It has been a big year. Stadiums of most of the major college teams have been packed, and the showing of public interest extends all the way down to the small city high schools. While the University of Michigan was setting a new attendance record at Ann Arbor, Escanaba high school was hanging up a new record here.

Now will come the usual flock of all-America, all-conference, all-eastern, all-western, all-whatever. These selections will furnish enough food for fan rumination to last until Christmas. Then it will be nearly time for spring practice.

Truly, football is America's most popular sport.

TOO MUCH HASTE. New York courts have ruled that Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Snyder must go to the electric chair in January. Aren't they rather hasty? Surely no state in this alleged union is contemplating carrying out a death sentence within three or four years after the funeral of the victim.

SCIENCE MARCHES ON.

Scientists working in the world's musical laboratory crossed the guitar with the banjo and produced the ukulele; combined the clarinet with the bassoon and gave us the saxophone; and discovered that hanging an oatmeal carton or a derby hat on the bell of a cornet would make it sound like the wailing of a ghost in a dry cistern.

All these things have been important in the development of the nation's tin-pan opera. But the climax is still far ahead of us. On March the researchers. Down at the University of Illinois, for instance, they've introduced an A-flat clarinet, six inches in length, into the campus band. And they've also added heckophones, sarrusophones, autophones, rothophones, octavones and other oddities to the organization's instrumentation.

"The instruments," says the director, "have been called freaks but we use them because they give a tonal effect impossible to attain without them."

That's fine and dandy! But what protection can the public expect against the possibility that most of the darn things will not be adopted by the jazz bands? That would be well—it's too hideous even to contemplate!

MR. TAFT ON JURIES.

Former President Taft, now chief justice of the United States supreme court, calls for an examination of the way jurors are selected so that "jurors of weak intelligence, of little experience and subject to emotions easily aroused" may be eliminated.

We agree with the chief justice in that several juries lately have given ample evidence of little intelligence or no intelligence at all, but still are not quite ready to subscribe fully to his remedy.

A jury cannot be more intelligent or more experienced than its community, since it is a body of twelve men chosen from among the ranks of the people. Perfect juries could be chosen under Mr. Taft's plan only in perfect communities, and since there are none of those in this country, the suggestion practically either would do away with the jury system or result in "professional" juries.

We are reminded of the story of the Chicago juror who had served as juror twelve times and whose boast it was that he "never lost a case." We don't want that kind of jurymen.

Juries reflect the deficiencies of their communities, whether emotional shortcoming or unintelligence. Thus, in a mining town you hardly could expect to choose a jury with the same I. Q. as a body of twelve men in a university city might register.

A man unbiased, whether he has read anything about the case or not, a man ready to be guided by the evidence in the case, need not be a college professor, we think, to sit on a jury and serve well.

The Blazing Horizon

CHAPTER III Colonel Titus Moore held about 50,000 acres of grazing land in the Cherokee strip and was just beginning to fence some of it. It was wonderful range; much better in his opinion than the stuff he had owned in Kansas, just north of the border, and had sold a few years before.

The colonel was an individual of some character. He had gained his title, and lost an arm, in the Civil War. A Virginian, from Prince William county, near Manassas, he had organized a company of cavalry just before the first battle of Bull Run and offered it to the Confederacy. Stonewall Jackson himself had complimented him after the battle. Later he had ridden with Job Stuart, and it was while serving with the famous cavalryman that he had received the saber cut that necessitated the amputation of his right arm. Appomattox had found him in line for promotion to brigadier general, and at the unbelievable youthful age of 30.

The task of reconstruction was more than one of his impatient character cared to face. He cheerfully turned over his right in the ancestral plantation to his brother, cashed in what he could and turned his face westward, first pausing long enough to marry Katherine Primrose, daughter of an adjoining neighbor.

Kansas and cattle had been kind to him. In less than 15 years he had accumulated a tidy fortune and, what was equally important to him, the finest mare in all the southwest. Now that his herds were fattening contentedly on Cherokee nation grass, the future promised even better things than the past had delivered.

At the moment he was astride the black Kentucky mare, sitting as straight as a poker in his saddle and watching a horse coming toward him beneath the double burden of a man and a boy.

"Joe Craig's one of 'em," he pronounced. "Now, what do you suppose kept him in Caldwell all this time, Fanny?" he addressed the animal he sat on.

Fanny snorted and threw up her head. She was impatient to be off on a mad dash over the rolling plains.

The colonel checked her with an iron hand. "Behave yourself, Fanny. Where's your manners? Wonder who that is with Joe Craig. Can't be a new hand. Too small."

He allowed the mare to munch grass, and waited.

A few minutes later Joe Craig dismounted before him, helped the boy out of the saddle and paused, a wide grin on his face, to pat the colonel's mare.

"Afternoon, Colonel. I'd like you to shake hands with my friend, Anthony Harrison."

Titus Moore smiled. Explanations would come in Joe Craig's own good time. There was no rushing the fellow. "How do?" he said hospitably, and reached down his one hand to the boy.

"Name's Anthony," Craig continued, "but I call him Tony."

"Indeed, do you mind if I call you Tony?" The colonel turned to the boy, who smiled his grave, shy smile.

SCENE OF SHOOTING AND LEADING ACTORS

These photographs show the stage and the principal actors in the tragic drama that was enacted at Columbine mine, in Erie, Colo., where five strikers were killed and more than a score wounded when state police fired into a crowd that was marching on the mine. The large picture shows the mine itself, with workers and guards grouped around it; in the insets are the leaders of three groups in Colorado's bitter struggle. No. 1 is Adam Bell, leader of the I. W. W. men, wounded in the fight. No. 2 is Louis N. Scherf, in charge of the state police at the mine, who gave the order to fire; No. 3 is Colonel Paul P. Newton, commanding the heavy National Guard forces that were rushed to the scene immediately after the fight.

Introduction of "hot dogs" into England struck a snag recently. High society, at sporting events, is now eating them, and "hot dogs" are becoming as popular as greyhound races.

The couple was attended by Miss Vendela Sundquist and Severte Simonson, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride and bridesmaid wore gowns of tan crepe and carried bouquets of American beauty roses and chrysanthemums.

A six o'clock dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents with covers for thirty guests. The couple left for Chicago on a honeymoon trip, after which they will make their home in this city.

Both are graduates of Escanaba high school and have many friends in this city who join in wishing them happiness. The bride has been teaching in the rural schools, while Mr. Simonson is employed at Wells.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served in the home of the bride's parents in Spurr. Covers were laid for twenty-five.

Saying "Thank You" Is A Pleasant Custom

Saying "thank you" is one of the simplest habits to form, and one that is more conducive to success in life than almost any other. The man who learns early in life that only part of his success is ever due to his own efforts, and that a large measure of credit belongs to his friends and associates, has learned one of the most valuable lessons Life has to offer.

Likewise the success of our store in this community is not due to our efforts alone. It is true we have tried hard to give you honest values—to render service with a smile and save you at least a few cents on every purchase, but we have much to say "thank you" for in the co-operation given us by our good friends and neighbors.

Over 300 years ago a sturdy band of Pilgrims set apart a special day in which to say "thank you." It is a custom we are glad to observe.

Berlin Will Radio Photos to Tokio

Berlin (AP)—Photographs of President Hindenburg or any other prominent German will soon be sent by radio from Berlin all the way to Tokio, Japan. The government radio station at Nauen is soon to receive a new short-wave radio sender with which, it is claimed, wireless photographs can be transmitted almost instantly across Europe and Asia to far-off Japan.

Wireless telephony with the Orient will then also be a reality. A German telephone subscriber will be able to take off the receiver and ask the operator to give him Tokio just as though he were asking for Munich or Dresden.

The German radio stations are getting more and more away from long wavelength apparatus, as the short waves have proven much more effective. At present it is possible to communicate with Tokio on long wavelength senders, but the arrangement is one-sided, in that no Japanese station is equipped to wireless directly with Germany.

SYNCHRONIZING RADIO RELIEF

Caldwell Says Chain Programs Could Be Given Everywhere.

Washington.—The task facing the Federal Radio Commission was described as an engineering problem involving social complications, such as political and religious issues, in an address by Commissioner H. A. Caldwell before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Mr. Caldwell reviewed the efforts being made by the Commission to allocate the 700 radio stations in the United States on the 89 available wave lengths in such a way as to eliminate heterodyne interference or reduce it to a minimum.

He said it was the policy of the Commission not to reduce the number of stations summarily by refusing or revoking licenses, but suggested that relief to some extent might be obtained by synchronizing stations operating on the same channel.

Common Transmitter Used

By such synchronization, possible through wired controls from a common transmitter, Mr. Caldwell said chain programs could operate everywhere on the same wave channel instead of employing different channels for identical programs, which is now the case. This was suggested as a technical advancement.

Mr. Caldwell reviewed the services of Admiral Bullard, chairman of the Commission and praised his efforts to advance the use of radio. The full text of his address was as follows:

You as engineers will recognize that the problem with which the Commission has been struggling is essentially an engineering problem,—that of fitting onto 89 wave lengths some 700 broadcasting stations, big and little, so that there will be a minimum of interference between those stations as received in listeners' sets.

Now, if the problem involved only those physical and engineering aspects, it would be relatively easy of solution. A competent and ingenious engineer might sit down at his library table of an evening and evolve a very workable assignment of broadcast stations, based upon elimination and time sharing.

But the actual radio situation is not so simple. It is complicated by legal questions of personal and property rights, both under the Radio Law of 1927 and the Con-

Should One Believe Gossip Or Rumor?

Paris (AP)—To the question: "Can rumor or gossip ever be trusted?" French scientists who have been studying the psychological aspects of rumor-mongering give an emphatic no.

Their decision is based partially on the discovery that changes in statements of facts are caused not deliberately, but accidentally, by mistakes in enunciation or hearing in the course of transmission of rumors.

This they have learned by studying the application to grown-ups of an old-fashioned children's game of whispering to the ear of one child to his neighbor and so on down the line, of a simple phrase. In a vast majority of cases the original phrase was quickly distorted. For example, in tests on adults the phrase: "The Isola brothers have replaced M. Carre at the Opera-Comique" was finally heard as "M. Zola's brother has replaced M. Poincare as president of the Republic."

'Layoff' Improves Play's Popularity

Berlin (AP)—For the first time in 28 years, "Trollius and Cressida," known as the step-child among Shakespeare's dramas, has been revived this fall in Berlin. It is proving so great a success that it will probably run at Max Reinhardt's "Deutsches Theatre" for months.

When last given 28 years ago, "Trollius and Cressida" did not appeal to the Berlin theatre going public. It was taken off the repertoire after a few matinee performances.

Since then, there has been almost annual talk of reviving it. Reinhardt planned to direct it personally. Leopold Jessner, director general of the Prussian state theatres, also was slated to bring it out. The "Volkebuene" had even begun rehearsals on it last year, then dropped it again. When Erwin Piscator organized his communist theatre a few months ago, it was generally rumored he would bring it out. It has remained for Heinz Hilpert, Reinhardt's right-hand man, to walk off with the glory of staging a winning production.

STUDY HOLES IN SEA FLOOR

Great Canyons in Bottom of Ocean Offer Field for Research.

Washington. — Great canyons in the ocean's floor from two to five miles deeper than the surrounding bottoms, with widths varying from ten to fifty miles, offer a field of investigation and exploration, valuable in seismology and in other fields of science, it was stated orally at the Coast and Geodetic Survey. Study of these gorges in vast ocean depths was recommended at the recent convention at Prague, Czechoslovakia, of the International Geodetic and Geophysical Union. It would be valuable if such study should be made by the United States, according to the Chief of the Survey's Division of Geodesy, William Bowie.

"The deeps" Mr. Bowie explained are those parts of the ocean floor that are three miles or more below the surface of the ocean waters. And below these ocean bottoms, there are in many places gigantic gorges that are from ten to fifty miles in width and from two to five miles deeper than the surrounding bottoms of the ocean. The grand canyon of the Colorado in Arizona is dwarfed to insignificance by these tremendous canyons that drop down to fearful depths below the already deep beds of the sea.

Approximately three out of four earthquakes occurred under the surface of the sea. Of these earthquakes of submarine origin, most of them probably happen in these gorges. There is one of these sub-sea gorges of the Aleutian Islands, there is another of the Philippines, there is one off the west coast of Mexico that follows the coast line for many miles, there is one off the south coast of the island of Java, which has been the subject of investigation by the Dutch Government, and there are many others.

"Steamships passing over the the Aleutian Islands might be of service in investigation of that gorge. Investigation could determine whether there is lava in the gorge, investigation could determine whether there is lava in the gorges, the character of the crustal material underlying the deeps and many other matters that would be useful to the science of today."

Dr. Bowie was one of the American delegates to the convention in Prague. "One of the great problems discussed at the Prague meeting," he said, "was the charting of the oceans. It is rather remarkable that, in spite of the fact that the ocean support, or rather furnish food for millions of people, very little, scientifically, is known about the ocean, the causes of the ocean current, why we have a submerged range along the axis of the Atlantic with only a few peaks rising above the water and islands, and why there are ocean troughs at least six miles deep.

Sonic Sounder Could Be Used "We could easily find out much about the oceans at a very small cost. We have the sonic sounder which will furnish the depths of the water when it is used on a steamer that may be making 20 knots or more per hour. If each of the Navies of the world should send two or three destroyers, each equipped with modern apparatus, we could know the exact configuration of the ocean bottoms within a very few years.

"It is a remarkable fact that nearly all the great earthquakes occur under the oceans, near the edges of the continental shelves and in the great ocean deeps. We need to have a large number of seismological stations which will record the time and the intensity of the earthquake shocks. From such records the exact location of the earthquake can be determined.

Cooperative Study Advocated

"Some of these days we shall have an earthquake map with dots of varying sizes or colors showing the earthquake locations and the intensities of the quakes, just as now we have cyclone and hail-storm maps. All of these studies require the cooperation of men of different countries; the problem cannot be solved by any one nation.

"Cooperation can only be obtained by having the men come together to talk over formally or informally the various problems before them. After the conferences, committees could be appointed which could set forth the various problems to be attacked and outline methods by which these problems may be solved.

"We have the big question as to why we have oceans and continents, or rather, why we have an irregular earth's surface, with broad hollows and wide uplands. This problem has confronted the scientists for generations.

Gravity Observations Taken

"We have found out something about continents and oceans by means of gravity observations but until recently these observations were made only on land.

"A few years ago, a Dutch scientist devised an apparatus which could only be used on a submarine in determining the value of gravity over the oceans. He has circumnavigated the globe in a submarine and he has found that the oceans are in isostatic equilibrium just as previously we had found this condition to obtain under the continents.

"All this means that the material forming the outer portion of the earth, under the oceans, is denser than that under the continents. This may not seem to be a great discovery but it is having a marked influence on geological and geophysical thought.

Sicilian Bootblacks Emphasize Comfort

Palermo, Sicily—This city of almost eternal sunshine has set out to be a paradise for those with dusty or muddy shoes.

While Roman bootblacks are notably efficient and painstaking their Sicilian counterparts go them one better in providing for the customers' comfort. Besides installing comfortable chairs for those who seek their ministrations, they cover those throne-like affairs with brilliantly colored awnings to protect the patron from the sun's rays as his shoes are shined.

Women are Barred From London's Judicial Rooms

London (AP)—Women are taking up positions in almost every sphere of life hitherto monopolized by men, but there is one place in the heart of London where no woman is ever allowed.

This place is judicial chambers in the Law Courts. The work is done by former soldiers and during the general clean-up preparatory to reopening of the courts this week and one of them told an inquirer "no woman is ever allowed to clean out a judge's room, or his library or his court. Not likely."

Before the war, the thousands of rooms, and four and a half miles of corridors were kept by men only. During the war period a certain number of women were taken on, but these have been reduced to about 20 and the rest of the work is divided between 90 male workers or ushers as they are called.

Even during the war period, women were not allowed to enter the sacred precincts of a judge's room, and the flowers in the vases, the curtains and other little domestic details were all done by the hands of male ushers.

FROZEN SAUCE.

Frozen cranberry sauce is a delightful novelty. Make a regular cranberry ice, but be sure it is sweet enough as freezing needs more sugar.

Floating Gambling Planned for Riviera

Paris (AP)—A floating gambling house, not unlike the gambling barges once anchored in the Gulf of Mexico off the mouth of the Mississippi, may next season make its appearance on a yacht moored off the French Riviera.

If a local shipbuilding company which is sponsoring the plan gets the approval of the French government, a yacht will be fitted with gaming paraphernalia as complete as that of the Monte Carlo casino with which it intends to vie in attempting to attract tourist trade. The craft, large enough to accommodate 200 passengers in great comfort, will call at the principal ports along the Mediterranean coast, permitting its guests to combine sightseeing with gambling.

Prices of accommodations will be less than first-class hotel charges, the promoters expecting to make the difference up at the gaming tables, which will operate day and night.

More than four million copies of the song, "A Perfect Day," have been sold.

JOHN HOLM PASSES AWAY

Death Takes Prominent Resident After Long Illness

Death took John P. Holm, 77, old resident, and prominent in civic affairs of the city for many years, during the first hour of Thanksgiving Day. Mr. Holm passed away at 12:10 o'clock Friday morning at his home, 908 Minnesota avenue, where he had been confined, an invalid, following two paralytic strokes. His death, which came peacefully, ended a long period of suffering.

Funeral services will be the Masonic rites conducted by the Gladstone Lodge, No. 396, F. & A. M. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial in Fernwood cemetery. Members of the Masonic order and of the Kronan Lodge, with which Mr. Holm was prominently identified, will attend in a body.

Palibearers will be E. J. Noreus, John Ohman, Ole Peterson, John Erickson, Casper Elquist and John E. Johnson. Swenson Brothers are in charge of arrangements. John P. Holm was born in Sweden April 12, 1850. He came to this country when he was a young man and settled in Ishpeming where he resided for 10 years. His marriage to Anna Gustafson took place in 1884, and in 1889 they came to Gladstone to reside. Two children were born to them, Ernest, and a daughter, Mrs. Edward Nylander. Both children and Mrs. Holm preceded Mr. Holm in death.

Mr. Holm conducted the Gladstone Bottling Works until his retirement 12 years ago. Held office. During his residence here he was prominent in civic life, holding the office of alderman for eight years; serving on the water board for six years, and holding the office of county poor commissioner and city poor commissioner.

He was also active in lodge work, adding in the organization of Kronan Lodge, No. 25, S. F. of A. He became a member of Gladstone lodge, No. 396, F. & A. M., on April 21, 1896. T. D. Springer, one of his closest friends, who was with him when death came, conducting the initiation.

His thorough performance of his duties in office and his high ideals of character and his kindly interest in his fellowman won him the respect and esteem of everyone with whom he came in contact and his death is a matter in which the community in general feels a personal loss.

THEATRES

AT THE LYRIC.

Buck Jones, hard-riding Fox Film star, will begin a two-day engagement at the Lyric theater today in "Whispering Sage," a tense drama of the Southwest in which the popular Western ace is seen at his best in some hair-raising situations. The action centers about the love and homestead of Mercedes, a charming daughter of a Basque patriarch, who is threatened by a band of desperadoes headed by Hugh Acklin, an unscrupulous rancher with a band of thugs under his control.

AT THE RIALTO.

For the second time within the last few months the lovely Claire Windsor is to be seen opposite Tim McCoy in a historical film drama. This time the charming blonde beauty will be seen as an English noblewoman in McCoy's "Foreign Devils," a story of the Boxer rebellion in China approximately a quarter of a century ago.

Miss Windsor but recently appeared opposite the historical star in "The Frontiersman," a gripping film based on the exploits of Gen. Andrew Jackson during the Creek Indian war. This time she is seen with a background of legation balls and Seventh Heaven temples, instead of the backwoods and log block-houses.

But the fighting is there just the same—the time between the whites and the Chinese at the barricades of the legation compounds. The picture, which was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, is coming today to the Rialto theater. The cast includes Lawson Butts, Cyril Chadwick, Frank Currier, Emily Fitzroy, Sojin, Frank Chew and others.

ALL-BRAN gave him new lease on life when it checked constipation

No matter how chronic constipation has become—no one need give up hope of relief. Read Mr. Williams' cheery message:

"I am on the down-grade in life. Never had any sickness, but of late years have been troubled with constipation. Began to make up my mind that I was about done up. Have taken tablets, eaten fruits, etc., but did not get much help. Began to use your ALL-BRAN twice a day. Have gained 5 pounds. Feel like a fighting cock. Bowels are regular. You have certainly done a lot for humanity."

L. C. WILLIAMS, Bushville, N. Y. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. New York, Nov. 25.—(P)—Heavy buying of U. S. Steel common, which rallied from a low of 142 3/4 to a high of 146 3/8...

Financial interest today was divided, however, between the stock market and the further advance in sterling exchange...

The weekly mercantile reviews continued to report business conditions as "spotty" reports of further trade improvement came to hand from the steel and copper industries...

Pools again were active in a number of specialties and succeeded in attracting a large public following.

Strength of Advance Rumley issues was based on unofficial reports of a merger with other farm implement companies.

The weekly federal reserve report of brokers' loans showed an increase of $25,171,000 to a new high record of $3,481,286,000.

Except for the decline of a cent or so in wheat futures, there were no changes in markets.

Outside of the advance in sterling, chief interest in the foreign exchange market centered in a drop of nearly 15 points in Spanish pesetas to around 16 cents.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 24: Iron Trade Review today says: Confidence in the long pull, which has been growing among producers of steel, received substantial reinforcement this week.

Not only has new business displayed encouraging expansion but fresh and prospective inquiry also has registered marked gains.

Even in those departments of the industry which still tend to drag, the morale is noticeably better.

Heavy finished steel products have been the chief beneficiary of this improvement, with an accompanying tendency toward firmness in price.

The motion is generally seconded by those social queens who hold boxes at the opening night of the horse show.

Then, as the first blizzards sweep over the city, they are established, they are "done" by "anybody who amounts to anything."

At the opera opening one learns not only that the new French "modernist" designs are to "be done" this season, but one also discovers the new people who are to "be taken up."

Faith entered the outer office of Bob's suite, saw that Cherry was not at her desk, and, without thinking of knocking, for she was too excited to be concerned with fine points of etiquette, opened the door of her husband's private office.

"The man's crazy!" Cherry stamped her foot. "He has told me that to do."

"Then let's send for that awful Nils brother of hers," Cherry cried, excitement banishing her anger against Sam Remo.

"Oh, I beg your pardon—" Faith gasped, taking an involuntary step backward into the other room.

"Oh, hello, darling! Come in! I was just telling Cherry a story that Ben Hemingway told me who has been here this morning. I'm working on plans for his country home, you know."

Says Africa Not for Whites. That West Africa has justly been called "The White Man's Grave," the declaration of G. C. Dixon, of London, who recently made an investigation in that country. In his report he says that the dreaded Yellow Jack has been fatal to men at Lagos and has invaded Senegal and Liberia this year. Scorpions 10 inches long, tarantulas six inches across and armies of ants that even penetrate concrete and devour dogs in a night, leaving nothing but skeletons, are described by Dixon. The "Turkish bath-like air," he states, causes clothes to mould, curis pictures and rots books. Butter, yeast bread, ice, milk and good meat can be obtained only in the larger towns, and Freetown is about the only place on the Coast where one may drink water with safety, he declares. He adds that few whites can survive more than 20 years in that country.

OLD MASTERS

The gray sea and the long black land; And the yellow half-moon, alge and low; And the startled little waves that leap in fiery ringlets from their sleep, As I gain the cove with pushing prow, And quench its speed in the slushy sand.

Then a mile of warm sea-scented beach; Three fields to cross till a farm appears; A tap at the pane, the quick sharp scratch And blue spirit of a lighted match, And a voice less loud, through its joys and fears, Than the two hearts, beating each to each!

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

IF YOU MUST TRAVEL WITH THE BABY, BE CAREFUL. Most specialists in diseases of children when asked about traveling with a baby are likely to say, "Don't." However, if the mother persists, the doctor is willing to help with instructions for the proper care of the infant and its food during the progress of the journey.

Whenever possible, the baby is to be kept on its usual diet. This is simple if the mother is nursing the baby even during a few feedings, but most difficult if the infant is fed entirely on artificial mixtures. If it has been fed on a raw milk mixture the milk is to be boiled before the trip is started. If it is impossible to carry milk in fluid form, evaporated or powdered milks may be used.

Irish Clash With Southern California Today

110,000 WILL WATCH BATTLE

Trojans Seek Revenge for One-point Defeat of Last Year

Chicago, Nov. 26—(P)—The University of Southern California which has only a tie with Stanford to tarnish its brilliant record this season, will engage Notre Dame of Soldier Field tomorrow in the first eastern invasion of a California team.

The battle will be witnessed by another throng of 110,000 spectators, thus equalling the football attendance record for all time set when the Army played the Navy on the same field a year ago. The demand for seats has been just as great as the spectacular clash and if Soldier Field could accommodate 250,000 persons all of them would be trying to squeeze in.

Weather indications tonight point to a mild afternoon with a temperature considerably above freezing. As a result the gridiron will be dry and fast, assuring a firm footing. The field has been well protected for a week with a coating of hay.

The Trojans, perhaps the strongest team on the coast and possessing individual stars as well as a powerful machine, are actually engaging in more than a football game with Notre Dame. They are pioneering among California eleven, in coming into midwestern territory to play a game and the result of this sort of intersectional play will be watched with interest by football followers throughout the land.

Previous intersectional games involving California teams and those on this side of the Rockies have been confined to games in which the burden of lengthy travel and climatic changes have fallen on California opponents.

Twice in recent years the Notre Dame teams have made long jaunts to the coast and twice they have returned victorious.

Rockne is Quiet. The Trojans, possessing power and more power, will attempt tomorrow to wipe out the point victory scored over them last fall. With Morley Drury, their contribution to All-American fame, acting as the spear-head of their attack, the Californians believe they can add another victory to their season's strike, defeating Notre Dame after the fashion that the Army ran over Rockne's rambles.

Notre Dame, while grimly confident, refused to make any advance claims to victory. All Rockne would say was: "Tomorrow's game certainly is not going to be a peanut rolling contest."

The Southern California eleven, splendidly coached by Howard Jones, is represented as being a football team whose strength is predicated on power, its attack masked efficiently to bother even those football geniuses wearing the colors of Notre Dame. It carries a quota of effective reserve material but with the edge in reserves obviously going to Notre Dame.

Use Same Lineups. Notre Dame is made up of rough and ready youngsters, who are sent in with a view of taking the edge off the opposition if possible.

The Californians arrived here today, stretched their legs with a short workout this afternoon with the Notre Dame squad coming in tonight after taking final workouts at South Bend.

More than 2,000 followers of the Southern California teams trailed the team here from Los Angeles.

Couch Jones said he intended to start the same team that has beaten everything in sight on the Pacific coast, except Stanford.

Rockne also knows the combination which will take the field with the kickoff of Notre Dame.

Certain flowers will not bloom if they are subjected to continuous light.

DRURY SETTING HOT GRID PAGE

Southern California Star Is Having Brilliant Season

Morley Drury, captain of the Southern California football team, is this season reaching the dizzy heights often predicted for him before when injuries put him out of the running at such times.

Morley is known as the "hard luck" player of the Pacific coast. Last season was his worst year, a knee injury for a time threatening to ruin his career.

It must have been a great source of satisfaction to him, when in the recent clash with California, hated rival, Drury had the greatest day of his career. His remarkable performance played a big part in the decisive 13-0 victory the Trojans scored over the Bears.

All young Mr. Drury did against California was to gain 243 yards from straight formations, make five spectacular tackles, nipping California rallies, and stop the opposition's greatest threat by intercepting a forward pass and returning it 50 yards.

Fame came quickly to Drury in his sophomore year, he being the only member of that class to make the varsity as a regular. A triple threat man, he soon earned the name "Sticky Fingers" because of his ability to receive passes as well as punt and gain through the line or around the ends. It is said he has never muffed a pass that he received squarely in his hands.

During the 1926 season he was injured in the third game of the year against Washington State and wasn't able to play again during the remainder of the regular season, finally managing to recover sufficiently to perform against Notre Dame in the post-season contest.

Noted for his ability to kick goals from the field, Drury, because of his leg injury, didn't try to turn the trick in the game against Notre Dame. Both were missed, Southern California losing, 13-12. Earlier, Stanford won over Jones' team by the same score because the substitute kicker failed in both attempts to score a point after touchdown.

This year, essaying a comeback after nearly a year of idleness on the gridiron, he is performing in sensational style and bids fair to be a serious All-American candidate.

On form, Southern California and Stanford look like the class of the Pacific coast, although Washington is deserving of serious consideration. For that reason, the game scheduled with Notre Dame at Chicago on Dec. 6 looms as one of the choice grid tidbits of the season.

So far this season Drury's knee injury hasn't in any way handicapped him and it is hoped that his good fortune will continue on to the end of the season.

The Caldwell case, however, should serve to make the leading colleges look closely into the pedigree of their athletes from now on.

Brown Beaten Often. What a tough year this has been for Brown—and next year it will be even tougher in several respects.

Brown has taken six trimmings in a row. Defeat at the hands of Pennsylvania, Yale, Dartmouth and Harvard carries no disgrace but trimmings from Temple and Lebanon Valley are difficult to explain.

On top of this comes the announcement that Brown may lose several of its best attractions for next season. It is said Brown will not be on the schedule of Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth in 1928. It will be hard to replace this trio of big games.

Brown has been a factor in eastern athletics for so many years that it is certain the alumni will step into the picture and try to straighten out the situation.

MICKY WALKER WINS DECISION

Fails to Score Knockout Over Paul Berlenbach

Coliseum, Chicago, Nov. 25—(P)—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, failed to knock out Paul Berlenbach, one-time world's light heavyweight champion, but had no trouble winning the decision in ten savage rounds tonight.

The match, fought in the Coliseum, drew 9,000 with gate receipts of $52,000.

Walker, conceding 114 pounds in weight, gave Berlenbach an unmerciful beating, winning every round. He floored him in the fourth, falling on top of him, when he followed through on his terrific left hook to the chin.

From then on, Berlenbach was on the receiving end. Walker rarely missed left hooks to the body. His rights cracked against Paul's chin with distressing effect.

Paralyzing Paul made occasional flurries, for the most part he blindly plodded forward, absorbing those terrific wallops without batting an eye.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

USED PLAY OF CORNELL

Bill Roper of Princeton is one of football's foremost coaches. Tiger teams are always well tutored in the strategy of the game as well as the fundamentals.

Bill Roper is a great coach because he is always willing to learn, not too proud to accept the grid wisdom of others.

In the Yale game, Princeton used a short forward pass behind the line that didn't seem to travel but a few yards. It was very deceptive and resulted in a number of early gains that helped Princeton to its only touchdown.

Later while talking to one of Roper's assistants, I commented on the deceptiveness of the short pass.

"We picked that up from Cornell," was his reply. "Our team had trouble solving it and Roper decided it would be a good play to use against Yale. We worked on it for a week and had it moving smoothly."

All of which is proof why Bill Roper is one of the game's greatest coaches. He is always willing to learn, doesn't feel that he knows it all.

Know of Other Cases. While watching Yale and Princeton take their preliminary workout prior to the start of the game, it was natural that the absence of Caldwell from the Yale lineup should be discussed. I expressed regret that some one had to spill the beans at a most inopportune moment.

"There hasn't been any secret about Caldwell and his playing at Brown as a freshman," replied the scout, a former eastern star.

"His case didn't seem to come under the transfer rule, so no one objected to his playing with Yale."

"As a matter of fact, I can name you three other stars on prominent eleven, whose cases are similar to that of Caldwell, yet no attention has been paid to them."

"Since none of the players started as freshmen and no persuasion or inducements were offered to them to change, their cases are hardly identical with the star who shifted college because pressure was brought."

The Caldwell case, however, should serve to make the leading colleges look closely into the pedigree of their athletes from now on.

Army and Navy Elevens Clash This Afternoon

New York, Nov. 25—(P)—A powerful seasoned squad of football stalwarts in Army gray and a younger band in the Navy's blue encamped tonight on the outskirts of this city for their thirtieth annual "private fight" at the Polo Grounds tomorrow.

Legions and battalions of supporters drawn by the prospect of one of the most colorful spectacles in sport meanwhile were converging on the city and taking it by storm. Of the estimated 700,000 persons who sought seats for the game this year, only 78,000 can be served and tickets were reported as selling from $75 to $150 in the sub-rosa marts along Broadway.

Although far from matching the gigantic spectacle at Soldier Field, Chicago, last fall, tomorrow's battle will rank with the most colorful of these service clashes. President Coolidge will not attend but Secretaries Davis and Wilbur will be there to represent the rival war and navy establishments, along with scores of high service officials and prominent figures in national, state and city life.

On its record of only one defeat this year and that at the hands of Yale as well as on its imposing array of veterans of last season's 21-21 tie, the Army ruled a decided favorite. Odds which at one time were quoted at 2 to 1, however, showed a tendency to shrink.

Comparative scores of the games played against Notre Dame—the only opponent met this season by both service elevens—added to the paper margin in favor of the army team.

While the Navy was trampled by the light cavalry of Notre Dame by a 19 to 6 score in its third game of the season, the Army astounded the dopsters just two Saturdays ago by spilling the same mighty eleven, 18 to 0.

Army's defeat by Yale and the setbacks of the Navy by Notre Dame and Michigan will rob the 1927 classic of any complete bearing but can take away none of the glamor of this service fray which rings down the curtain upon the eastern football campaign.

Who won the basketball championship of the Rock Mountain conference last year?—F. N. J. Montana State.

3 BIG BATTLES ON CARD TODAY

Army-Navy Scrap Feature of Eastern Football Tussles

New York, Nov. 25—(P)—Three major intersectional battles headed by the Notre-Dame-Southern California games at Chicago, and several traditional tussles featured by the Army-Navy clash in New York, furnish the climax to the national college football season tomorrow.

International sectional contests include two Pacific coast, one between Drake and California and the other between Oregon Aggies and Carnegie. Other traditional affairs include the game between Holy Cross and Boston college at Boston.

The prospect is that only the championship races in the southern and Pacific coast conferences will remain to be settled after tomorrow. Four already have been decided while a fifth in the Rocky Mountain conference, likely will be settled when the two leaders, Colorado Aggies and Colorado college meet. Here are the situations:

Championships decided: East: Pittsburgh and Yale at top, each with strong claim to mythical sectional honors.

Western conference: Won by Illinois with five straight victories.

Southwestern conference: Won by Texas Aggies with four victories and one tie.

Missouri Valley conference: Won by Missouri Valley with five triumphs and one defeat.

Championships to be decided: Rocky Mountain conference: Two leaders, Colorado Aggies and Colorado college meet tomorrow.

Pacific Coast conference: Stanford, Southern California and Idaho all undefeated; final standing hinges on game between Southern California and Washington, December 3.

Southern conference: Georgia leading with best record, winning straight games from all opponents, but meets Georgia Tech on December 3.

JOHNNY RISCO BEATS UZCUDUN

Fights to Front Ranks of Heavyweights in 10 Round Bout

New York, Nov. 25—(P)—In a furious and bruising heavyweight battle, Johnny Risko of Cleveland fought his way to the front ranks of title contenders with a clean-cut ten-round victory over Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain, at Madison Square Garden tonight. Uzcudun weighed 198; Risko, 192.

For almost every minute of the struggle, a slashing, bruising combat that found both exhausted at the close, Risko, the baker boy, met the Spaniard at his own game and outslugged him. There were no knockdowns, but Paulino, victor over Harry Wills, Tom Henay and Kaut Hansen during his American invasion, was groggy and reeling at the close.

In each of the ten rounds Risko chose to stand head to head with the Spaniard, pouring in a steady volley of rights and lefts to the head, while Paulino concentrated his fire on the body and 15,000 fans rocked the Garden with their roars. There was no question of the winner at the close, a majority of the ringside critics crediting Risko with seven rounds with two for Paulino and one even.

Yale Okun, New York light heavyweight, won a bruising 10-round bout from Harold Maye of Bayonne, N. J. Okun weighed 174; Maye, 180.

The station is owned by King Ellis and George Burke of Honolulu. Mr. Burke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, 501 South Sixteenth street, of this city, and was formerly employed as a telegraph operator in Escanaba. He left here several years ago and was connected with the old established telegraph companies in Russia and China on different occasions. He has been with radio since its infancy and has resided in Honolulu since 1914.

The new station has attracted a great deal of attention among radio enthusiasts. It is located in the salesroom of the Radio Sales company at 1227 South Beretania street, Honolulu, and broadcasts on a wave length of 227.1 meters, with a power unit of 250 watts. By February 15, the station will be operated on 1,000 watts. Mr. Burke was born and reared in this city and attended the local schools and will be remembered by many of his schoolmates and older residents.
