MODERNISM IN POLITICS DISPLAYED

METHOD OF SELECTING CONVENTION CITY CHANGED

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1927, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Dec. 9.—The republican national committee meeting just ended was an excellent example of modernism in politics.

Yet that little incident illustrates the change. For in the old days, one knew a long time in advance whom the leaders favored as a candidate.

The selection of Kansas City, Mo., as the convention city was a combination of various influences. First of all there was a little objection to the idea of San Francisco on the ground that this was Hoover territory.

Butler vs. Insurgents. Altogether it became an issue between Chairman Butler—representing the "administration view"—so to speak—and the insurgents in the ranks.

Any Kansas City is considered neutral ground though it may be slightly to the advantage of Senator Curtis of Kansas by the time the convention is held. Indeed, there is a good deal more serious talk about the Kansas senator than there has been since he threw his hat into the ring.

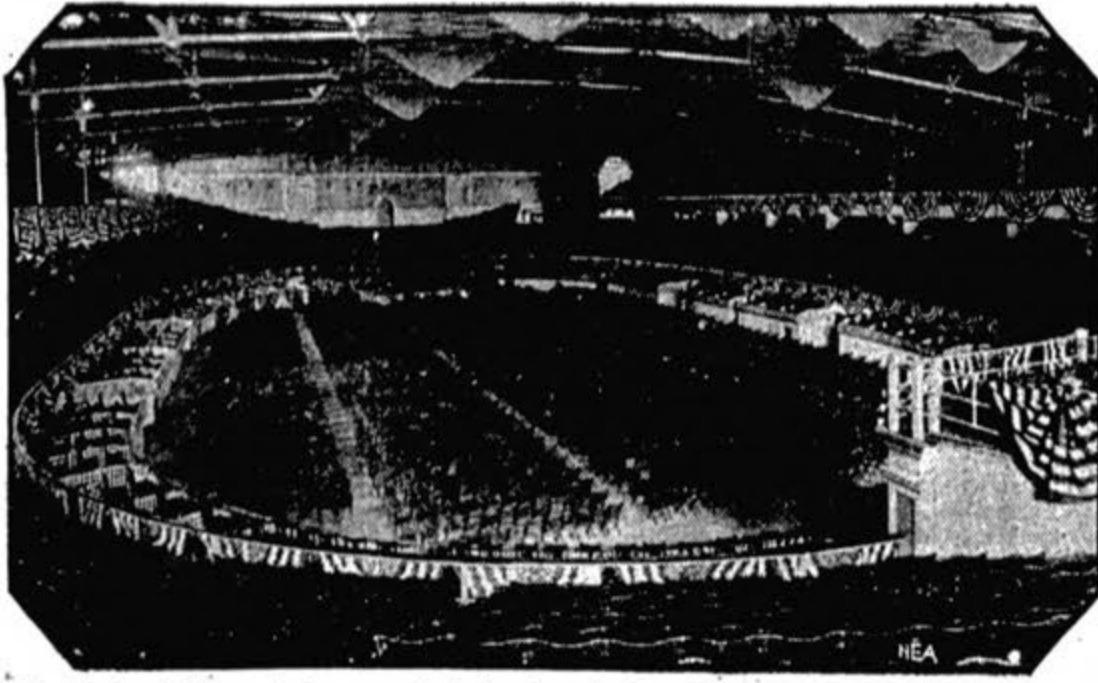

Heart of Farm Belt. The selection of Kansas City had in it too the thought that the republican party was coming out to the heart of the farm belt.

For the moment most of the members of the national committee feel President Coolidge has taken himself out of the race but that public sentiment may bring him back into it.

Little Chance for Recovery of Runner. Decatur, Ill., Dec. 9.—(P)—Lorin Murchison, famous sprinter, who has been in a local hospital in an unconscious condition for two days is suffering from spinal meningitis, attending physicians said today, and there is little chance for his recovery.

GIRL BANDIT ON TRIAL IN TEXAS

Former College Student Charged With Bank Robbery

La Grange, Tex., Dec. 9.—(P)—Rebecca Bradley Rogers, former student at the University of Texas, was pictured before a jury today in the role of a bank robber, holding two men at bay with a pistol while she picked up $1,000 in currency and backed away to make a getaway in an automobile.

Charged with holding up the Farmers' National bank of Buda and facing a possible penalty of death for the deed under Texas law, the 22-year-old girl seemed entirely unaffected while F. A. Jameson, cashier of the bank, related the story of the robbery in district court.

Describing Mrs. Rogers as a slip of a girl holding up two rather brawny men, defense attorneys provoked a gale of laughter in the crowded courtroom when they asked the witness if he was afraid of her.

Civil Governor of Philippines Needed, Says Cal

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—A man with a civil type of mind rather than a military type would be better fitted to fill the post of governor general of the Philippines, in the opinion of President Coolidge, but this, he believes, does not eliminate a number of army and navy officers who might be considered for the vacancy caused by Leonard Wood's death.

Mr. Coolidge feels, it was said today at the White House, that there are many men in civil life with a distinctly military type of mind, whereas there are only a number of army and navy officers who have not a military viewpoint.

It was said the president had not made up his mind on a successor to General Wood and that he is looking among the large list of candidates for the right man.

UPPER LAKES—Moderate to fresh shifting winds; partly cloudy to cloudy Saturday; scattered snow flurries.

HOUSE PASSES MEASURE AFTER DEBATE

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—After a short but heated verbal battle the house went on record today in favor of increasing the firing range of the big turret guns on American battleships provided it is permissible under terms of the Washington arms limitation treaty. The vote was 215 to 75.

Under an amendment to the $198,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill, the president, either personally or through the secretary of state, would be called upon to determine whether the elevation would be in keeping with the provisions of the pact.

Before final action on the bill, the house also participated in a round of discussion on the recent charges of Rear Admiral Magruder against what he described as waste and inefficiency in administration of naval affairs.

Committee Gets Resolution

Representative McClintock of Iowa, a Democrat on the naval committee, presented from the floor a resolution proposing creation of a special committee to investigate Magruder's case. He said Magruder had charged that one out of every three dollars spent by the navy was wasted and that if this statement were true, the navy had squandered about $100,000,000 annually.

LOWER LAKES—Winds fresh south to southwest; fair Saturday except for some cloudiness.

UPPER MICHIGAN—Partly cloudy to cloudy Saturday; local snow flurries; Sunday unsettled, snow, no decided change in temperature.

OPEN TRIAL OF WOMAN MONDAY

Charge Young Wife Killed Husband; Then Attended Bridge Party

Painesville, O., Dec. 9.—(P)—Defense and prosecution had squared away tonight for the battle Monday when pretty Velma West will be given a hearing for the first degree murder of her husband, Ted Ward West, killed in their little home at Perry near here Tuesday night.

Richard Bostwick, youthful county prosecutor, who has been retained as Mrs. West's counsel, refused to divulge what his defense will be, but intimated it would be based either on self-defense or temporary insanity. Seth Paulin, Lake county prosecutor, declared the prosecution will endeavor to show that Mrs. West without justification, killed her husband when in a fit of anger he refused to accompany her to Cleveland to attend a bridge party.

Mrs. West, who beat her husband to death with a hammer during a quarrel, sat in her cell today, reading and smoking cigarettes.

As she left the jail this morning to go to the office of Sheriff Edward Rasmussen to have her fingerprints taken, she appeared to have regained the self-composure which marked her demeanor following the killing.

After killing her husband, Mrs. West took her blood-stained clothing to the basement of her home, burned it, according to her signed confession, dressed in her best clothes and drove her motor car to Cleveland. There she entertained her friends with music and songs.

EXPECT GOP TO RULE IN SENATE

Five Western Independents to Support Old Party in Organization

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Continuation of Republican control of the senate was assured today with an announcement by the five western independents that they would assist the old guard in organizing that body.

Their declaration was made after Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican leader had assured them that a majority of the Republican senate conference "took the position that there should be no unnecessary delay in securing a vote" on the three measures which the independents had proposed.

These are a farm relief bill along the lines of the McNary-Haugen measure; a bill to curb the issuance of labor injunctions by the federal courts, and a resolution proposing in inquiry into the administration policy in Latin America.

YOUNG JUROR SAYS HE WAS 'APPROACHED'

KIDWELL AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT OF OIL TRIAL

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Edward J. Kidwell, Jr., juror in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial who has bobbed in and out of the limelight in the case which was declared a mistrial, popped through the curtain of secrecy again today and gave to District Attorney Gordon a statement that he had been "approached" by persons Gordon refused to name.

Kidwell, timid and apparently frightened at the unusual publicity surrounding him, was charged in affidavits filed prior to the mistrial with talking freely about the oil case and with having said he expected an automobile "as long as this block," when the trial was over.

Gordon characterized his statement as highly important and refused to divulge what the juror had told. Assistant District Attorney Nell Burkinshaw said that intimations made earlier in the day that offers of a bribe might have reached the juror through some persons, were not born out by Kidwell's statement. It had been ascertained, however, that Kidwell had described how he was shadowed and approached by persons, he did not know at the time.

Guarded Closely. The district attorney's office was emphatic in saying that while Kidwell had not said he was directly offered money, his statement would have an important bearing on the contempt case and that the former juror, who for two weeks, was urging that he be made a party to the criminal contempt proceedings, now would become one of the government's important witnesses.

Kidwell, who was guarded closely while at the district attorney's office, was taken to lunch by one of the assistants and when he departed was cautioned by Gordon not to say a word to anyone of what was contained in his statement.

Daughter of Steel Worker Emerges As Prima Donna

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(P)—An obscure little daughter of the steel mills achieved her ambition tonight and before a strange audience of opera lovers she emerged as a new prima donna.

The girl was Kathryn Witwer, daughter of a former worker of the blast furnaces at Gary and Pueblo who made her debut as the piteous Mircela in Carmen, with Mary Garden in the title role.

In the audience which cheered and applauded Kathryn, in her tremendous success was an unusual assortment of happy people, steel workers, church-goers, relatives and friends, whose only purpose was to see what they knew would develop, an unusually successful debut.

And even those in the "Diamond Horseshoe" vied with those steel men in the balcony in their acclaim of the new star.

Another large group had come from the First Church of Christ, Scientist, to see their soloist in her operatic bow.

Yet the happiest of all, if it were possible to be happier than Kathryn, were her modest parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Witwer, who had come from Cumberland, Md., for the great occasion.

1 Dead in Gang War at Detroit

Detroit, Dec. 9.—(P)—A feud between rivaling bootlegging gangs was responsible for the death Thursday night of John Wegryznek, 20-year-old carpenter, police said today after investigating the shooting which took place in a house in the downtown district.

Witnesses told police three of six men entered the house and after questioning several men in the place as to whether liquor was kept there, began a search declaring they were federal prohibition officers. Wegryznek entered the room and when he refused to raise his hands at a command, was struck in the face by one of the men with a revolver, which exploded. The bullet entered the youth's throat.

Lieut. Fred Frahm of the police homicide squad said he believed the shooting was accidental, and "that the men were looking for another man in a bootlegging feud."

House to End Debate on Tax Measure Today

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Opening its legislative throttle, the house took up the $233,245,000 tax reduction bill today, discussed it for lightly more than two hours and adjourned with leaders in agreement to close general debate tomorrow night.

This would clear the way for consideration of the measure the first of next week under procedure permitting the offering of amendments from the floor.

Chairman Green of the ways and means committee which whipped the bill into shape before congress convened opened debate on it today explaining that every effort had been made toward simplifying the administration of the revenue law.

Representative Garner of Texas, senior Democrat on the committee, predicted the senators would oppose the cut from its present figure to about $500,000,000.

It was felt, Chairman Green said, that the corporation tax which has not been reduced since the war, should receive first consideration and for this reason the rate on corporation incomes should be cut from 13 1/2 to 11 1/2 per cent. He added that the federal income tax and the present rates on income within the intermediate brackets had not been touched as the committee believed they were equitable and should remain as they are.

Mr. Green also touched briefly upon the committee's recommendation to reduce from 30 to 3 1/2 per cent the tax on automobile sales.

VARE REFUSED SENATE OATH

Follows Path of Frank L. Smith; Vote 56 to 30 Against Him

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, trod the pathway today upon which the senate started Frank L. Smith of Illinois.

Vare, Republican, was, in effect, stopped at the senate's door. The oath was denied him until the special campaign funds committee further investigate and report upon the charges of fraud in both his primary and general elections.

Like the senator-elect from Illinois he will have an opportunity to present his case in person and by counsel before the committee.

Hopes of the friends of Vare that his case would prove stronger than that of Smith were shattered for the senate vote to deny him the oath of office was 56 to 30, while that in Smith's case was 53 to 28.

Railroads Continue Fight to Cut Rates

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—Railroads serving southern coal territory resumed today their defense of the proposal that coal rates to ports on the Great Lakes be reduced by 20 cents a ton.

Several witnesses were called before the interstate commerce commission to fill in gaps in the evidence left open at previous hearings in Washington and Minneapolis. George D. Brooke, general manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad undertook an additional demonstration of the reasonableness of the reductions.

A recheck of data previously offered, Mr. Brooke asserted, led Chesapeake and Ohio railroad officials to conclude that the cost of hauling coal from a representative point on its line to lake ports was 73 cents per ton. In view of this cost, he argued, that his road could well afford to make a rate of $1.71 for the service instead of the present rate of $1.91.

Mr. Brooke contended that the Chesapeake and Ohio by specializing in the coal traffic, had been able to reduce charges and would continue to do so in the future.

Bandits Loot Town in Mexico; 1 Man Dead; Several Hurt

Mexico City, Dec. 9.—(P)—One merchant was killed and a number of townspeople were wounded when 200 armed Agrarians on Huichapan in the state of Hidalgo, say special dispatches to Excelsior. The merchant was killed while standing at the door of his store which was looted.

The raiders looted business houses and residences. They fled after the inhabitants had armed themselves and were resting the marauders to the best of their ability.

Federal troops from nearby garrisons took up pursuit of the attackers.

Press dispatches from Guadalajara say that Jose Arch, a wealthy Mexican ranchman, was kidnapped from his ranch near Ciudad and was taken to the hills by bandits who are holding him for $10,000 ransom.

Worker Drowned at Lake Linden

Lake Linden, Mich., Dec. 9.—(P)—Engaged in dumping a carload of slag from the Calumet and Hecla smelter here into Torch lake today, John Downey, 55, slipped and plunged into the icy waters of the lake. His body was recovered 40 feet from the shore and an hour and a half after the accident.

TWENTY BOATS ARE REPORTED IN DISTRESS

LOSSES WILL RUN INTO THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

(BULLETIN) Providence Bay, Manlinthin Islands, Ont., Dec. 9.—(P)—Scant hope was held out tonight for the rescue of the 21 members of the crew of the steamer Agawa fast on Advance reef since Wednesday.

Wreckage has been coming ashore and the portion of the ship remaining above the lake is cased in ice. The entire stern of the boat apparently has been battered off and the opinion was expressed by watchers on shore that the members of the crew either already have perished from exposure or have been trapped in the forward part of the boat by the sheet of ice.

This casing of ice is rapidly thickening for the temperature still is much below zero.

Men on the shore nearest to the vessel were keeping fires ablaze, ready when the storm abates sufficiently to cross the two-mile stretch of water in a tug.

(BULLETIN) Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 9.—(P)—Coast guardsmen here tonight said they had heard nothing of the reported rescue of the crew of the steamer Altadoc on the rocks somewhere off Keweenaw Point. They were at a loss to account for the reports of the rescue as sent out from the Canadian Sault and said to have emanated from here.

(By The Associated Press.) The wake of the blizzard which swept with sub-zero weather across the country found more than 20 storm-ridden vessels on the Great Lakes in distress, wrecked or lapping toward port yesterday.

Although no deaths were reported, thousands of dollars of damage was done to shipping, the gale leaving a trail of smashed shore property, wharves and ships.

Wreckage, believed to be from the steamer Agawa, was washed ashore at Providence Bay, Manlinthin Island, although the crew was reported safe. The Canadian steamer Maritan was also reported in trouble near Port Arthur.

Three freighters whose whereabouts was unknown were located as the winds abated and the temperatures rose. The steamer Hamonic wireless she was in the shelter of Michipicoten Island and the steamers Midland Prince and Dayton tied up safely at Sault Ste. Marie.

The Oglebay, upbound from Sault Ste. Marie and the F. B. Squire, out of Port Colborne, Ont., were yet to be heard from, while at least seven downbound vessels were overdue at Detroit. No word had been received as night fell from the grain-laden Altadoc, reported going to pieces on a shoal off Keweenaw Point.

Warmer Weather Predicted. Fast in 12 inches of ice in Mud Lake at Sault Ste. Marie, the steamer Thomas Britt awaited the outcome of attempts to reach her by ice crushers.

An 84-mile-an-hour gale snapped four vessels and a passenger steamer from their moorings at Buffalo, two of the ships being badly battered. Two package freighters headed up the lakes and two rum runners, said to have left Port Colborne, Ont., Canada, were unreported.

No vessels were in trouble in the south end of Lake Michigan around Chicago, where the mercury hovered around 20 degrees below zero.

WILL ASK FOR ANOTHER TRIAL

Lilliendahl-Beach Counsel Has Confessions of Two Negroes

Mays Landing, N. J., Dec. 9.—(P)—The shadow of negro killers was cast again today over the murder of Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, for whose death his widow and Willis Beach were convicted of voluntary manslaughter.

Edison Hedges, counsel for Beach, said he would move for a new trial on the strength of confessions from two negroes whose whereabouts he would not reveal.

Mrs. Lilliendahl has insisted since her husband's death last September 15 that he was slain and robbed by negroes in a wooded lane near Hammoncton.

Hedges declined to reveal the nature of the confession, he said he had obtained. The negroes "might be in Brooklyn," he told associates.

Robert S. McCarter, Mrs. Lilliendahl's attorney, said he would move for a new trial tomorrow morning because he had obtained new information after the case was given to the jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Lilliendahl and Beach are to be sentenced tomorrow by Justice Luther Campbell. The verdict returned by a jury of five women and seven men after 23 hours' deliberation, carries with it a maximum prison sentence of 10 years, with the added possibility of a $1,000 fine.

Hedges said the verdict would permit the defendants to apply for release on bail pending a new trial.

The prisoners spent a restless day in their cells and refused to see visitors. Sheriff Semino brought the word from Beach to reporters: "Tell them I won't see a single one of them."

WIDOWER WILL PLEAD INSANITY

Killed Bride Who Feared Motherhood; Jury Gets Case

Eureka, Kan., Dec. 9.—(P)—Defense of "communicative insanity" was introduced Friday in the retrial of Ivan H. Hart, Eureka banker on trial for killing his bride of three weeks, Mabel Marmot Hart, by cutting her throat with a knife.

Hart testified Thursday that his bride pleaded with him to kill her because of her fear of motherhood, and that he was unable to refuse her request. That Hart was temporarily insane at the time, and that he derived his insanity with close association with his wife, was the testimony of defense witnesses who said Mrs. Hart was abnormal.

Dr. Karl Menninger, of Topeka, Kan., specialist in nervous and mental diseases, testified that communicative insanity is a killing and that, in his opinion, the killing of Mrs. Hart was a result of it. Its occurrence is "very infrequent," he said, "but there are records of numerous such cases."

To become afflicted with communicative insanity, he said, the relationship between two persons must be very intimate, so much so that one means more to the other than anybody else in the world. They adopt the same likes and dislikes, he added, and occasionally, when one becomes abnormal, the other's mind is affected in a similar manner.

The case was given to the jury tonight. In the instructions to the jury, the court declared there could be no conviction if it believed a pact existed or if Hart was insane. Suicidal assist, the court said, called for first degree manslaughter. Verdicts of murder, manslaughter or acquittal were left for the jury to deliberate.

cross above zero as the peak of the cold wave moved eastward. Warmer weather throughout the middle west and south was in prospect for the week-end with the milder winds only a few hours behind for the Atlantic seaboard.

Report Several Deaths. Snow-choked roads of Wisconsin, upper Michigan, Minnesota and the Dakotas took the attention of the occupants of those states as they attempted to restore rail communication and travel. The weather to the north was still sub-zero, Hibbing, Minn., reporting 34 degrees below and snow was predicted. Several additional deaths attributed to the cold were reported, sending the total for the storm well above the 30-mark.

MAY ABANDON SHIPS. Marquette, Mich., Dec. 9.—(P)—The lake steamer which went aground on Shot Point, ten miles from here, at 5:30 Thursday morning in the severe storm which swept Lake Superior, is the E. W. Oglebay, owned by the General Transit company of Cleveland, O. When the Marquette coast guards returned from the ship Friday night Capt. T. E. Degan, commanding the crew, said he believed the Oglebay would be abandoned for the winter. The vessel is hard aground on the rocky point. There is a large hole in her bottom and her hold is flooded. There is no danger of her breaking up, however, and her crew of 25 men will be taken off Saturday morning by the coast guards and brought to Marquette by the fish tug Columbine. Oglebay, captained by J. G. Hagan, ran into the storm which blew on Lake Superior Wednesday and Thursday. She went through the Soo locks Wednesday morning at 9:30 and was up-bound for Fort William, Ont., to take her cargo of grain.

GO TO WRECK. Marquette, Mich., Dec. 10 (Saturday).—(P)—Advised of reports from the Michigan Sault that the crew of the steamer Altadoc had been rescued by coast guards, Captain Glaza in charge of the Eagle Harbor coast guard crew, stated this morning that he had heard nothing of the rescue and was preparing to embark with several of his men for the scene of the wreck at 3 a. m.

After transporting a surf boat overland one mile from the Eagle Harbor coast guard station to the village of Eagle Harbor, the guardsmen were preparing at an early hour to leave in search of the Altadoc, somewhere on Keweenaw Point. There is a possibility that the Crawford that sailed from Two Harbors, Minn., yesterday may have arrived and removed the wreck. She had not been heard from since sailing Friday.

HARBOR MAY CLEAR. Calumet, Mich., Dec. 9.—(P)—A shift in the wind from northwest to southwest late tonight promised to clear Eagle Harbor of ice and enabled coast guard lifeboats, penned in the harbor all day, to leave early Saturday morning to render aid to the Canadian ore carrier Altadoc, hard aground somewhere on the Keweenaw peninsula. Coast guard cutter Crawford, summoned from Two Harbors, Minn., when it became apparent yesterday that it would be impossible to launch the lifeboats through the heavy ice which had drifted into the harbor was reported enroute to Keweenaw Point to help the rescue work. It was said to be hugging the north shore awaiting a favorable opportunity to cut across the lake.

There was little fear for the safety of the Altadoc tonight. The wind, while aiding the coast guards, also was favorable to the carrier which is believed to be aground between Keweenaw Point and Eagle Harbor, likely about 20 miles from the harbor. The wind, besides shifting, was steadily lessening in velocity and tonight was blowing at about 30 miles an hour. The mercury, however, was dropping in proportion with the wind and had sunk below the zero mark at a late hour Friday. To add to the hardship faced by the coast guards in their long run to the side of the distressed Altadoc was a continued fall of dense clouds of snow, making visibility extremely difficult. A heavy sea also was running.

No radio communications had been received from the Altadoc since Thursday night at 6 o'clock and it is presumed the ship's steam had failed, thus halting the dynamo and rendering the radio set useless.

Translator of Ford's Book Did Receive Letter

(By Jewish Telegraphic Agency), Leipzig, Germany, Dec. 9.—Theodore Fritsch, translator into German of Henry Ford's book, "The International Jew," and distributor of the book, acknowledged today the receipt of Mr. Ford's letter ordering him to stop the distribution of the book. In a letter addressed to Henry Ford, Fritsch expressed his readiness to comply with the automobile manufacturer's demand to discontinue the distribution of the book, but he declared he would do so on "certain conditions." What the conditions are, is not specified in the letter. There are 5,400 copies of the German and Spanish editions of "The International Jew." "These are now worthless since your translation," Fritsch wrote in his letter to Ford, adding his regret that he had withdrawn what was "your greatest achievement in your life."

SENATE ASKS FOR INQUIRY

Will Make Investigation Into Charges Made by Hearst Papers

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—An inquiry into charges published in all Hearst newspapers that President Calles of Mexico had ordered more than $1,500,000 paid out of the Mexican government treasury for United States senators, was begun today by a special senate committee a few hours after it had been ordered unanimously by the senate. The co-operation of the state department in the investigation was asked by Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, who offered the resolution of inquiry and was later named chairman of the investigating committee.

Moving with dispatch the committee advised Secretary Kellogg of the senate's action and within an hour William R. Castle, assistant secretary of state, appeared before the committee at its first session held behind closed doors. When Hearst newspapers recently began the publication of what was declared to be facsimiles of official Mexican documents relating chiefly to international questions, the state department just it known that it had no knowledge of such documents and Mr. Castle declined to amplify this after his meeting today with the committee. He declined to disclose what he had said to the committee.

Senators' Names Deleted. Open hearings will be begun next Thursday by the committee whose membership includes Senators Jones, Washington, and Johnson, California, Republicans, and Robinson, Arkansas, and Bruce, Maryland, Democrats. Meanwhile, Chairman Reed has authority to issue subpoenas for witnesses and for papers and documents. He did not reveal who would be called.

Senator Reed said he was unaware of the identity of the four senators mentioned in the newspaper story which appeared today in the Washington Herald. The names were deleted in the facsimile which show that money had been ordered paid by the Mexican government in the interest of propaganda.

While several senators have been named in the whisperings about the capitol, some of those who were supposed to have been named in the alleged documents, laughed at the charges.

In demanding an investigation, Senator Reed declared the honesty of the senate had been placed under a cloud by the allegations. Immediate inquiry was ordered. Several days ago Representative Black, Democrat, New York, offered a resolution to have the house foreign affairs committee conduct an inquiry to determine the authenticity of the documents.

CONTINUE ARTICLES.

New York, Dec. 9.—(P)—Continuing copyrighted publication of purported official Mexican documents, the Hearst newspapers tomorrow will say that President Calles ordered $100,000 paid to one of three U. S. senators proposed as beneficiaries of previous orders for payments of $1,200,000 for pro-Mexican propaganda. "Publication of allegations that orders for the payment of $1,200,000 to unnamed senators had been issued by the Mexican government resulted today in the opening of an investigation by a special senate committee with a representative of the state department called as the first witness.

Payment of the $100,000 was ordered, the article will say, after Calles wrote to Arturo M. Elias, Mexican financial agent in New York, last January, asking him to investigate reports that "in Washington they are preparing a rupture of relations with my government." Elias replied, the article will say, that the Mexican executive's fears of a rupture were "well founded" and that there was talk even of "armed intervention, which undoubtedly would carry us into war."

Facsimiles With Article. The correspondence, the article will say, included a letter and a telegram from the president to Elias, explaining that Mexican finances would permit only the payment of $100,000 to the senator, instead of $250,000 as recommended by Elias. The previous orders, the article will say, provided for the payment of $500,000 to one U. S. senator and $350,000 to each of two other senators. The senator who was ordered given the largest sum last year, the article will say, was the one named by President Calles in his letter proposing the payment of $100,000 this year.

Facsimiles with the name of the senator deleted will accompany the article. Although she is too young to know much about life in the south outside of the twentieth century, Mrs. Balch says that modern youth is creating a new "Virginia tradition," but that the older generation refuses to acknowledge the change. Eighty per cent of the deaths from heart disease occur among persons more than 40 years of age.

Tobacco Experiments By German Experts

Berlin (P)—Efforts are being made to bring Germany's tobacco production up to pre-war level, and thus save some of the 150,000,000 marks which the country is spending annually on imported tobacco. The movement is under the guidance of the newly formed German Tobacco Research Institute with headquarters at Forchheim near Karlsruhe, the Baden capital. Baden grows 50% of the German tobacco production but in the Rhine province and the Bavarian Palatinate there are also isolated localities where it is cultivated. The total home crop is estimated at about 13,000 tons for the year. Before the war it was about double that figure. In the botanical gardens attached to the Forchheim Institute are cultivated all varieties of the weed, and it is the purpose of the experts of the Institute to improve the home growths by a careful breeding out process so that they may ultimately rival the foreign product.

Many Women Are Self-Supporting

Berlin (P)—Baroness Katharina von Kardoff surprised an audience of women here with the assertion that 60 per cent of all women in Germany were not only earning their living but in many instances were the sole supporters of entire families. Old traditions, said Frau Kitty, political and social leader and former member of the Reichstag, were so deeply rooted in the German women "that the long and arduous road from their old serving status to freedom is not likely to be covered by the present generation."

REMUS DEFENSE RESTS ITS CASE

Prosecution Resumes Efforts to Send Man to Chair

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 9.—(P)—The last word in direct support of George Remus' plea that he suffered from transitory maniacal insanity when he shot and killed his estranged wife, Imogene, here last October 6, was said today. The prosecution immediately renewed its efforts to prove him a deliberate murderer and send him to the electric chair.

The final efforts of the defense brought on a desultory session of court with two character witnesses testifying for Remus and two depositions read to the jury. When the defense rested it had required twelve days. Of the dozens of depositions taken throughout the country, only skinned parts of the two were read, and even then the severely reduced portions got before the jury only after long arguments which slowed the trial to a snail's pace. The first rebuttal witness was R. E. Simmons, previously an attorney for Remus' whisky corporation. He appeared several days ago as an advance witness testifying that outbursts he observed in the defendant caused him to regard Remus as insane. His examination today was devoted largely to his legal efforts in behalf of the Ohio and Kentucky Distiller corporation of which he said Remus owned 55 per cent and Imogene Remus 22.67 per cent, and the disposal of liquidating dividends and physical assets of the organization.

May Call Dodge. Prosecutor Charles P. Taft II said the rebuttal probably would require five days although one less might suffice. On the other hand, it might require seven or eight days.

Ruth Remus, daughter of the slain woman, will be recalled and Harry Brown, brother of Mrs. Remus, would testify, Taft said.

"I think so," said Mr. Taft when asked if he would call Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., of Lansing, Mich., the former federal department of justice agent to whom Remus attributes the cause for all his tribulations.

Much of Remus' defense was devoted to showing that the defendant cracked mentally when upon his release from the Atlanta federal penitentiary in September, 1922, he heard repeated tales of an association between Mrs. Remus and Dodge.

Remus Aided Campaign. Michael Igoe, South Park commissioner, and Joseph LaBuy, former municipal judge, both of Chicago, today testified that while Remus practiced law in that city before he began bootlegging he enjoyed a good reputation as a citizen and attorney.

Igoe formerly represented Remus legally and admitted that when he ran for state's attorney of Cook county (Chicago) Remus sent him a check for $250 for his campaign fund.

Former Judge LaBuy, lawyer for 25 years and friend of Remus throughout that period, asserted in addition to his character recommendation of Remus that the defendant had displayed an emotional outburst upon a visit to Chicago which made him think Remus had lost his mind.

GREAT RECORD

LOREN BROWN

Loren Brown, Michigan State college cross-country star, has proven that brawn and height have little to do with the proficiency of a carrier. Weighing but 110 pounds and standing only a few inches over five feet Brown has been a consistent winner this fall, leading his team to victory over Marquette, Notre Dame and University of Michigan state. On the University of Michigan course Brown broke the western conference record that was made by Phelps of Iowa in 1924. Brown's time was 25 minutes 31 seconds for the five-mile run, exactly 30 seconds better than Phelps' mark.

Predicts Reed Will Be Considered As Candidate in 1928

Washington, Dec. 9.—(P)—A positive prediction that the name of Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, will be presented to the next Democratic national convention for the presidential nomination, was made today by his colleague, Senator Hawes, Democrat, Missouri. "He is, without having made the announcement, as much of a candidate as any man mentioned in either the Republican or Democratic parties," said Mr. Hawes in a statement. "There is no foundation for the report of his withdrawal. He will not be permitted to withdraw."

FIGHT AS HOME BURNS. Berlin.—When fire broke out in several farm buildings near Illkoben recently, alarms were sent into two nearby towns. Fire brigades from both places responded and met each other at the blaze. An argument ensued; both companies claimed the exclusive rights to quench the fire. Soon the Illkoben and Regensburger men were battling each other with their hoses. Meanwhile the farm building burned to the ground.

MANISTIQUE WINS DEBATE

Schoolcraft City's Negative Team Defeats Gladstone

Manistique, Dec. 9.—(Special)—The Manistique high school negative debating team defeated the Gladstone affirmative team here this afternoon. Professor Wiggins of the Northern State Teachers college, acting as judge, returned a 108 to 107 count in favor of the negative trio.

Manistique was represented by Helen Husband, Inez Tassheim and Jeanette Sigler. The Gladstone team was made up of Josephine Magoon, Mary Glenn Jackson and Reno Payne. Coach C. C. Wilkes and Patricia Peterson, alternate, accompanied the Gladstone team to this city.

The subject debated was, "Resolved, that the direct primary system for nominating candidates for public office be abolished."

American Killed in Chinese City

Shanghai, Dec. 10 (Saturday).—(P)—Frederick R. Stuart, American who has lived in the Far East for 25 years was found shot to death today. Stuart's body was found in the Chinese territory adjacent to the international settlement. Two bullets were in his abdomen. Stuart formerly served in the U. S. consular and postal service in China. He also served in the postal service in the Philippines. He is believed to be a native of Idaho.

Less Than 10,000 Deer Killed This Year in Michigan

Lansing, Dec. 9.—(P)—Ten thousand or less deer were killed in Michigan this year, according to estimates today by the state conservation department. This figure is based on reports from all but one of the posts set up by state police and the department to check the number of deer and violations. The total number of bucks shipped across the straits was 4,185, the report shows. Lower figures were returned by the several southern peninsula posts. In addition to the deer actually reported, many killed by natives were not checked. It is believed more than 50,000 hunters were in the woods.

Berlin Judge Bars Cosmetics in Court

Berlin (P)—Lip-sticks, powder puffs and combs do not conform with the dignity of a court room, was the noteworthy decision reached by the Berlin district judge, Dr. Wessenberg. During a trial the judge noticed that one of the spectators, after having taken off her hat, started to powder her face and use her lip-stick with avidity, finishing up by combing out her bob. Shaking with wrath, the judge interrupted the proceedings and peremptorily ordered the lady to leave the room "for such unbecoming behaviour in the dignified precincts of the court."

PYTHIANS PLAN HONOR BANQUET

Past Chancellors Dinner to Be Held Wednesday Night

Walter Greis of Ishpeming has been selected by the Escanaba Knights of Pythias lodge as the principal speaker at the annual Past Chancellors' banquet to be given in the Pythian Castle Hall Wednesday evening, December 14.

An exceptionally interesting program is being prepared for the occasion, and it is expected that a large crowd will attend. An effort is being made by the committee to have as many of the surviving past chancellor commanders present as possible.

Members of Escanaba lodge have been urged to make their reservations promptly on the return cards mailed out yesterday. Pythians in this community who belong to lodges other than the one here also are invited to attend.

The committee said yesterday that they hope to make the event one of the best in local Pythian history.

Duchess Has Purse She Cannot Lose

London (AP)—The reasons for the unbounded popularity of the Duke of York and his little family may be many, but certainly one of these is their human qualities.

The duke and duchess were doing some early Christmas shopping at the exhibition of work by disabled war veterans at the Imperial Institute. They bought a number of articles for their royal baby, Princess Elizabeth. A little wicker stool caught the duchess' quick eye and she turned to her husband to say:

"That's just the thing for the nursery—for Elizabeth to sit on if she won't learn her ABC's."

The duke approved this choice and the disabled man in attendance remarked, "A kind of stool of repentance!"

The duchess exclaimed over a little leather bag which she said was like one a friend had given her before their visit to Australia. The ducal husband seemed to remember that bag, too.

"Yes," he said with a sly smile, "that bag was one of the few things you never lost, and the one thing you never dropped anything out of. We'll have that bag."

When his royal highness, to make sure that Santa Claus should not neglect him, bought himself a suitcase.

Stock Dividend Tax Sometimes Takes All

Paris (AP)—France has the world's record in taxing stock dividends. Premier Poincare, as minister of finance, takes every red cent of the dividends on two stocks and more than half the dividends on a great many others.

Taxes on unregistered stocks are so heavy and they vary so much that the chamber's budget report calls for help for security owners.

The two stocks whose owners have all their dividends taken by the state are the light and power company at Nantes and a Moroccan development firm. Part of this taxation can be avoided by investors who register their securities but they then subject themselves to other assessments.

Of the 245 stocks and bonds listed in the budget report four others have 90 per cent or more of the dividends taken by the government. The lowest share the state gets on any of the bonds is 27.4 per cent. The average is a little more than a third.

Besides these assessments, the government also collects income tax from security owners and a tax from the corporation that often exceeds the amount of the dividend.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

IN NEW YORK

New York—Youth supplies the perpetual fuel with which Manhattan keeps alive its many fires. Oldsters, grown a bit weary, cynical and skeptical, sit back and manage or direct the blazing young talents that sweep in from every which way. Each train plants at Pennsylvania or Grand Central station a new supply of kindling for the sacrificial altar. Some are embers and ashes within a few weeks; a few supply a light that, for a brief time is seen about the world.

Whether it be Broadway or the Bronx, the Battery or the Bowery, Wall street or West street, East side or West side, the young idea prevails, though generally under the guidance of an older hand which shapes the final pattern.

Youth it is that throws itself into the movements that bring revolution to stage, art or literary world. Youth builds the little theaters and gives roofs to the Eugene O'Neills and the John Dos Passoses. Youth lives in a garret and eats at lunch counters to bring out those oft-times half-mad little publications which one day grow into a literary movement.

Youth walks the streets without a bed to provide the galleries of the sidewalks with ideas that shock and revolt the conventional. Youth does not care.

Only in New York will you find this, for only New York offers the size and space and kinship of strange young ideas.

They are not always strange. Frequently youth, burning with endless energy, directs its talents toward successful goals and finds itself reaping rich rewards within a short time.

Young men, just touching their thirties, buy seats on the Wall Street Exchange. Or they bang the pianos of Tin Pan Alley with new tunes; they rattle off the rhymes that make the popular songs; they write the plays and the books and the magazines; they crash the business world and they bring innovations into the world of money.

BOOTLEG IN GOLD CAMPS OF CANADA

Toronto.—Bootlegging gold is the newest form of outlawry to be practiced in the mining camps of northern Ontario. Gold is bought from dishonest employees at the mines and then carried to other localities.

Recently the arrests of two smugglers led to the uncovering of a thriving ring that has disposed of more than $150,000 worth of gold in the last five months. Many other cases are awaiting trial.

In many of the rich mines, gold often is blasted out in flakes an inch or more in diameter, worth $40 or $50. Because of the general high character of their employees, the companies have not yet instituted the custom of searching the men, so the few dishonest workers are enabled to steal the precious metal at an amazing rate. Then they depend upon gold bootleggers to get the loot to market.

Second Crowd Sees and Likes Faculty Play Last Night

"A Lucky Break," the three-act comedy selected by members of the faculty of Escanaba high school for their annual play, last night proved capital entertainment for a second good-sized crowd. The audience liked it, and liked the exceptional clever manner in which it was presented by the faculty folk, just as Thursday night's crowd had pronounced it an unusually good show.

Proceeds from the affair will be used to complete payment for the cyclorama purchased for the auditorium stage by the faculty last year, and to buy new lighting effects.

PHONE OPERATOR BLIND 35 YEARS

Melrose, O.—When Mrs. Clara Raney, telephone operator at Melrose, was 28 years old, she found herself becoming blind. Doctors were unable to aid her, but she determined that she would not give up her position.

So she trained her hands and ears to take the place of her eyes, and now, at 63, she still is holding the job and hasn't had a vacation in 30 years. Bells have been substituted for the lights on the ordinary switchboard and she never makes a mistake in plugging the connection. She is on duty from 5 in the morning to 12 at night.

"I haven't any idea when I'll quit," Mrs. Raney says. "I ought to be good for several years yet."

NOT A SOFT JOB.

Clearing snow, which has been stacked high by a fifty-mile wind during a 24-hour blizzard is not, by any means, a soft job. It requires equipment, man-power and plenty of determination.

Automobiles in those days, for the most part, were not regarded as winter vehicles. They were placed in storage while their owners depended on horses and leg-power for transportation.

Transportation companies have always had to fight snow. They know how to go about it. Trains and interurban cars must move.

It is easy to become impatient, to criticize and to sizzle at delays. The fact remains that it is much easier for a bystander to find fault than it is to jam a snow plow through miles of stubborn drifts.

Increased efficiency of snow-clearing equipment, and the benefits of experience gleaned in battles like that waged against the storm this week, will help to conquer future storms more quickly.

The time has not yet arrived when streets and highways can be cleared within an hour or two, or kept clear during a storm as severe as that of Wednesday.

No remarkable memory is required, however, to review the progress made in the last three or four years, and to appreciate the fact that this progress is likely to continue.

A COLORADO SOLOMON.

Out in Pueblo, Colorado, recently a number of small boys were arrested for petty crimes. On the day of the trial the courtroom was filled with parents there to ask clemency in case the judge found the lads guilty.

For years his daughter, Josephine, recently united by companionate marriage to a Kansas University student, had been understood to be the adopted daughter of E. Haldean-Julius.

A Philadelphia book collector used the Trans-Atlantic telephone to bid in a copy of the first Aldine "Hypernotomachia," sold at a London auction, for $15,000.

LYRICS OF LIFE

Poet, what tools to make a verse? Singer, what bricks to build a ballad? Philosopher, the rule rehearse...

I know no other rule than this, Whether our task be toil or singing, Life's opportunity we miss...

parents appeared to take little interest in the children. After the testimony was completed the judge, turning to the jury of parents, said: "The burden rests with you. You carry the razz, jazz and carnival life of modern times into your homes, your churches and wherever you go."

The parent jury found all the lads guilty of the offenses charged. The jury placed them on probation for an indefinite period. Practical application of old-fashioned, common sense justice isn't entirely missing from American courts, after all.

THEY'RE AT IT AGAIN.

The high-boot boys in Europe are again about the business of clanking the scabbard. Hogs for punishment. Lithuania raises her voice. It seems Poland has been eager for her marbles.

Poland hears about the mobilization and there is more twirling of whiskers and heavy looks. Pilsudski sits up all night trying to dope it out, wondering whether or not he ought to call out his gang and see what's what.

Now there will be great twirling of whiskers at Geneva, where Russia shocked the socks off the assembled graybeards by the radical suggestion that weapons are to fight with, so why not scrap them?

However, while the league is going into this Russian matter, along comes the Polish-Lithuanian tiff and the assembly over there now sounds like a national convention of Chinese laundrymen routed by fire.

The Poles and Lithuanians, despite the recent war to end wars, are calling one another names and all that sort of thing. It seems that Valdemaras, the Lithuanian patriot, is a Russian or a German, while Pilsudski, the famous Polish general, is a Lithuanian.

We only hope they get this thing straightened out by Christmas. And wish that these generals, marshals and dictators wouldn't move around so much.

It's all quaint and very interesting. If they really have a war, though, they ought to call it a war to end wars to end war.

Words are sometimes daggers that humans use to slay with. E. Haldean-Julius, Girard, Kas., publisher, has spoken a few to the press in the last few days.

For years his daughter, Josephine, recently united by companionate marriage to a Kansas University student, had been understood to be the adopted daughter of E. Haldean-Julius.

Later on, he said, people began prying, so he announced that Josephine was not his own daughter after all, but the daughter of a coal miner.

If we were Josephine, we would hope with all our heart that his last statement was the truth.

SNOW--A-WATHA.

On the shores of Baye de Noquette. In the town of Escanaba, Totted a fat man with a shovel. On the sidewalk with a shovel. Shoveling the shifting snowdrifts that piled up where he had shoveled.

White before him rose the snow-banks; Whiter still they rose behind him; Lofter they rose beside him; Taller grew they all around him; And the faster that he shoveled, Faster also grew the snowdrifts. Grew the piles he had to shovel. He was making gains inversely. He was making headway backwards.

Till at last his wife, discouraged, Called a snow plow and a wrecker. From the drifts to dig her husband. But alas! Too late she called them. And they never, never found him!

When the gentle breath of spring-time Came at last to Escanaba, Blowing warm upon the snow banks Changing them to gurgling water, Warriors found a battered shovel. Found it split and worn and splintered. And they knew that Snow-a-Watha. Like the snow he had been shoveling. Also had dissolved and melted. And gone gurgling in the sewer.

Bride Receives Blotters As Gifts

London—Miss Alleen Guinness received enough blotters as wedding presents to equip half a dozen hotel writing rooms. There were old Italian leather blotters, blotters with silver corners and silver covers, blotters with old prints for their backs, and all sorts of modern blotters. Glass, furniture, blotters and jewelry, in the order named, were the most numerous among the gifts to this heiress to the Guinness Stout millions who married Brinsley Plunket, the brother of Lord Plunket.

The Blazing Horizon

CHAPTER XV.

Instinctively Craig's hand reached for his gun. It came forth in that quick, flawless movement he had mastered and, scarcely taking time to aim, he fired. The rattlesnake, rearing angrily in Sergeant's path, thrashed its broken body along the flat, sunny rock, and Craig, walking over to it, the while he talked comfortably to the frightened horse, calmly put another bullet through the deadly reptile's head.

"I didn't have time to get him the first shot, Sergeant. Thought at first he was after me." He stroked the horse's muzzle as he talked. "There's one thing you can say for a rattlesnake; he sort of puts you on your guard when he means business. That's the only difference, as I see it, between a rattlesnake and Shafer. Come on, we're going back to Caldwell. That snake's given me an idea."

An hour later he was sitting in John Blake's grimy little office. He had ridden directly to Tony Harrison's cabin, tethered his horse there and then made his way as unobtrusively as possible to the Tribune, satisfied that he had been unobserved.

Tersely he told of what he had seen in Shafer's saloon, of the man's loud-voiced pronouncements that he intended nothing in the way of retaliation. "He's trying to make people believe that he's benefitting by the editorial and that as long as business is good he'd be a fool to go out of his way to get even. But men are coming right in the Oasis and laughing at Shafer, and Shafer knows it. That's why I say he's got something up his sleeve and he's going to turn it loose pretty quick."

Blake calmly filled his battered pipe and stuck it between his teeth. "Let him," he said calmly, and laughed. "Shafer's not the only one who's getting increased business. I've been selling quite a few papers. Every man, woman and child in Caldwell seems to want a Tribune."

Craig smiled, but was instantly serious. "You sleep right here, don't you, Blake?" The other indicated a battered sofa against the wall. "That's my bunk," he said carelessly. "Why?" "I'll be staying with you tonight. So will Bill Lillie."

Blake looked his surprise. "You're welcome, of course; both of you. But I don't see—" "No, you wouldn't. Shafer's not the kind of a man who'd ask you to fight it out in the middle of town. He'd rather find you asleep."

"Let him come. I'm not afraid of him." "I know you're not, you fire-eater. But I'm going to be here just the same." He set his jaw with an expression of finality. "You know," he said cryptically, "a rattlesnake gave me a real idea this afternoon. He gave my horse a scare and I shot him. It would injure me a powerful lot if somebody deprived me of my horse."

He said no more but walked from the office of the Tribune and made for the cabin: it was nearing sundown. He found Pawnee Bill waiting for him and told him of the night's program. The other nodded his assent and proceeded with the preparation of the evening meal.

"Your two friends," he said presently to Craig, "didn't follow you very far this afternoon. I sort of sneaked around a bit to keep them under observation, but they seemed to be satisfied, but you were leaving Caldwell behind."

"All of which proves," remarked Craig, "that you were looking out for me to see that they didn't intend to use me as a target in case the notion struck them." He stared at the other accusingly. "Well," Pawnee Bill admitted, "your back's pretty broad. I'd be careful how I exposed it."

"They lingered over their meal until well after dark, then made their way on foot toward John Blake's little shop. A south wind fanned their cheeks as they walked along and Craig paused to survey the overcast sky. "It'll be raining in less than an hour," he pronounced. "That won't disappoint Shafer a bit if he's planning anything."

Blake greeted them good-naturedly at the door. "Saw you coming from my window. Come on in."

He led the way into the little office. A lamp burned on the table in the center of the room and Craig satiated himself that the shades had been drawn before he would enter. "I'm not hankering to let anyone know you've got company," he said to Blake. He produced a pack of cards. "I'm willing to be

MERCURY HITS TWENTY BELOW

Expect Peninsula Blockade Will End This Afternoon

The mercury tumbled down to 20 degrees below zero between 7 and 8 o'clock yesterday morning, establishing an early December low temperature record for all time since the U. S. weather bureau of office was opened here in 1871. Since observations were started here, this mark was bettered only once during December, but this was later in the month. In 1880, the thermometer recorded a temperature of 23 degrees below on December 31, and on December 28, 1924, the mercury fell to 19 below.

Cold weather prevailed through yesterday, and the forecast was that the mercury would hover around 10 degrees below early this morning. Yesterday noon, the mercury failed to rise beyond the zero mark, stopping at five degrees below.

More snow was predicted for today to add to the difficulties of the city and county snow removal crews which have been working incessantly since the start of the storm in an effort to clear the streets and highways for vehicular traffic. Members of snow removal crews have been working night and day despite the bitter cold, snatching only from two to four hours rest during each 24-hour period. Many of the men did not have time to go to their homes, getting their few hours of sleep in garages where the equipment has been kept.

US-2 East Open.
Contrary to expectations, the main highways through the peninsula were not entirely opened yesterday, but according to reports received at the office of H. I. Davies, district highway engineer, the blockade should be broken by this afternoon.

Highway US-2 from Escanaba to St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie was cleared yesterday morning, but westward on US-2 and US-41 the county crew was stopped yesterday afternoon at Ford River Switch when the gasoline line on the rotary plow froze up. It was reported that the highway had been opened from Menominee to Bark River, and there automobile traffic between Escanaba and Menominee will be resumed this morning as the Ford River-Bark River stretch will have been opened during the night.

Although US-2 will be opened from Escanaba to Powers this morning, there is some doubt that automobiles will be able to go to Iron Mountain. Huge drifts on the Dickinson county highways were causing the snow crews considerable trouble yesterday afternoon, and it is not likely they will be able to break through until late today.

Highway M-35 was reported as blocked at the north hill near Gladstone, although some automobiles reported traveling as far as Brampton. Reports from Marquette county indicated that M-35 had been opened as far as Little Lake. R. P. Mason, county highway engineer, last night expected that M-35 would be opened to the county line this morning.

Garden Isolated.
Mr. Mason last night reported US-41 opened as far as the county line north of Rapid River, but that Alger county was plugged up. There was no indication what time today the Alger county snow removal crews would be able to pierce the blockade.

The Gross road was opened beyond the Escanaba Paper company's plant Thursday to Durand's corners. The road from Durand's corners to Holy Family church was also opened to permit a funeral yesterday morning. Cornell and the Watson neighborhood was isolated as far as automobile traffic was concerned yesterday, and it is doubtful that the entire road will be opened today. The Escanaba and Lake Superior railroad has been maintaining its service in this territory despite the heavy snowfall in that region. The village of Garden has been isolated from the rest of the world during the storm, and it appeared unlikely last night that the county snow crews would be able to reach Garden today.

In order that a funeral may be held in Stonington today, the peninsula road to that community will be plowed this morning, according to plans announced last night.

Trains Still Late.
Highway M-91 is open to South Ford River. Motorists were able to push through to Newberry yesterday by taking a road from Garden on US-2.

Trains were still running behind schedule yesterday. Train No. 221 due here at 8:35 a. m., arrived at 12:25 p. m. No. 216 was 40 minutes behind schedule, and train No. 217, due here at 2:10 p. m., was about two hours late. Train No. 101 arrived on time yesterday morning, however.

Milk producers were unable to use their motor trucks to transport their milk cans the last three days, and were shipping by railroad.

St. Francis Hospital

New patients admitted are Steve Koser and John Guse. Mrs. Martin-Engelson is reported as improving favorably. Mrs. William Rowley who submitted to an operation is doing nicely. Miss Marion Grey is reported as convalescing favorably. Arthur Erickson who is a surgical patient is resting easily.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

HERE ARE MORE RECIPES FOR PREPARING LIVER. EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two articles by Dr. Fishbein on preparation of liver as a treatment for anemia.

Yesterday several recipes for cooking liver as a treatment for pernicious anemia were printed. Here are some more:

Larded Liver
This recipe is taken from a Scottish cook-book:

Take a lamb's liver and lard it in rather close rows, covering the whole upper surface. Place it in a deep casserole with chopped onions, carrots, slices of fat bacon, salt, pepper and sweet herbs (sage, etc.). Cover with water or a good soup stock. Cook in a moderate oven for 40 or 50 minutes. Turn out on a hot dish. Thicken the liquor slightly with flour and butter, adding a small amount of lemon juice and paprika.

Mincéd Liver
This, also, is a British recipe.

Boil two pounds of liver till it is firm enough to chop easily; then mince it rather finely with a little bacon. Chop a Spanish onion and fry slowly in butter or lard till soft; then add the liver season very slightly with salt and pepper and cook slowly, stirring continually for 10 or 12 minutes. Then add a cup of soup stock and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a very little Yorkshire relish (this last item may be omitted). Cover closely and let simmer gently for about an hour. Serve on toast.

Calf's Liver With Herbs

1 calf's liver
1 bunch of savory herbs, including parsley
2 chopped shallots (onions may be used instead, but they should be parboiled before chopping)
1 tablespoonful of flour
1 tablespoonful of vinegar

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

When an ex-captain of Marines came limping into the editorial offices of the New York World and asked for any sort of a job he could get, no one suspected that before another year had rolled 'round this same veteran would have become famous as Laurence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory," once a Broadway sensation, and now triumphing in film form at the Delft Theatre.

Present, however, there was a play, and Arthur Hopkins bought it. Up in Connecticut, the drama, then known only as "Glory," had its opening and caused little excitement. Then, with the title changed to "What Price Glory," because some musical show boasted the shorter name, the Marines came charging onto Broadway. The show was a big success on the stage and is now having similar success on the screen.

AT THE STRAND

One of filmdom's famous dog stars, "Dynamite," is the star in "Wolf's Trail," now at the Strand. The dog plays an important part in a thrilling actionful drama of the west, dealing with the extermination of a band of desperadoes engaged in smuggling contraband across the border. The canine cinema star is assisted by Edmund Cobb, who has the leading featured role in this picture, scenarized from Basil Dickey's story, and directed by Francis Ford with a splendid cast including Dixie Lamont, Edwin Terry, Joe Bennett and others.

C. A. Lund of this city officiating. Burial will be in Lakewood cemetery.

LOUIS GIRARD
The body of Louis Girard of Menominee formerly of this city arrived in the city Friday afternoon via C. & N. W. Ry. and was taken to St. Anne's cemetery where burial took place in the family lot where his wife was buried six months ago.

Snake Earrings Now Affected in Mayfair

London (AP)—Snake earrings are the vogue. There is more dangle about them than ever, and some reach almost to the shoulder. A popular pattern is that of two snake loops interlocked, with brilliant for eyes and jeweled fangs. Snakiness is so much the rage that even handbags have frames of snake designs, the head forming the clasp.

 Choose large sweet onions for the dinner salad. Peel and slice thin. Cover with boiling water. Let stand sixty seconds, drain and drop into very cold water. Let stand fifteen minutes and pat each slice dry between paper towels.
 Marinate for one hour in lemon juice and oil. The apples are cut in half-inch slices after paring and the cores removed, making rings. Large seedless oranges are used, cut in quarter-inch slices after peeling. The orange slice is placed on a bed of lettuce, then the onion and then the apple. French dressing is poured over the whole and the cavity of the apple is filled with a bit of stiff mayonnaise or a little mound of freshly grated carrot.

Black Bean Soup.
 One and one-half cups dried black beans, 6 cups water, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 hard cooked eggs.

Wash beans and let stand overnight in cold water to more than cover. In the morning, drain and throw away the water. Cook in 6 cups of water until very soft, about three hours. Add tomatoes and cook twenty minutes. Rub all through a colander, rejecting skins. Return to kettle in which they were cooked with salt, pepper, butter and kitchen bouquet. Bring to the boiling point and garnish with the yolks of eggs cut in quarters. The whites can be put through a ricer and stirred into the hot soup while reheating.

Breakfast—Stewed figs, cereal, cream, tomato toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—English monkey, pickled beets, date and nut bread, baked pears, milk, tea.

Dinner—Roast spare-ribs, potatoes baked with meat, sauerkraut, banana and nut salad, raisin pie, milk, coffee.

Date and Nut Bread
 One egg, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons molasses, 2 cups crabapp bread flour, 1 cup white flour, 1 1/2 cups sour milk, 1 1/2 teaspoons soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup stoned and chopped dates, 1/2 cup seeded and chopper raisins, 1/2 cup chopped English walnuts.

Beat egg until light. Beat in sugar, molasses and salt. Add grain flour and white flour but do not stir into mixture. Add fruit and nuts, dropping them into the flour. Mix thoroughly. Add sour milk and mix until smooth. Dissolve soda in 4 tablespoons hot water and add at once to mixture. Beat hard for two minutes. Drop from spoon into an oiled and floured deep bread pan or two-pound coffee cans and bake one hour in a moderately hot oven.

Breakfast—Apple sauce, cereal, cream, sausage cakes, raised buckwheat pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked macaroni and cheese, stewed tomatoes, Boston brown bread, date pie, milk, tea.

Dinner—Baked and stuffed haddock, egg sauce, buttered green beans, grape fruit salad, suet pudding with lemon sauce, milk, coffee.

Date Pie.
 One cup stoned and chopped dates, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Pour boiling water over 1 package dates. Drain, dip in cold water and remove stones. Chop fine. Mix and sift flour, sugar and salt. Beat egg until light, beat in dry ingredients and then beat in milk. Add dates and vanilla and turn into a deep pie dish lined with plain unbaked pastry. Bake about thirty minutes in a slow oven. When the custard is firm to the touch the pie is done. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Big National Sport Lacking in France

Paris (AP)—France is a country with no national sport.

A sporting newspaper recently held an inquiry to determine just what sport came first in the hearts of the French people. The replies were so varied and so many sports were presented for consideration that the paper gave it up and decided that the French, while the most sport-loving people in the world, had no one diversion typically French and attracting all the people as baseball does in America.

Football and bicycle racing seemed to have the greatest number of adherents. Since Lacoste and his musketeers have brought world tennis honors to France tennis has become more and more popular, but still cannot said to be a sport of the people.

Fresh Air Dairy Is Huge Success

Wexcomb, Eng.—A fresh air dairy operated here with success by A. J. Hosler has attracted the attention and praise of leaders in the milk industry.

Hosler's method consists of milking his herds in the open pasture, so that the cows are never within doors and the milking place is always clean. He has 320 milk cows which are cared for in five herds. Each herd, averaging between 60 and 70 cows, is milked and managed by a man and a boy, who use milking machines.

Portable sheds with six stalls each constitute the Hosler milking plant. These sheds are carried from place to place about the pastures where the cows graze. The animal is secured for milking by fastening a chain around the hind quarters.

Milk thus produced in the open is "clean, not cleaned," says Hosler, who points out that frequent moving of the outfits prevents the land from becoming foul. Moreover, the elimination of expensive buildings and an intricate drainage system reduces production costs by a considerable figure.

"If all cows were kept in the open air on dry land and properly fed," the dairyman told a group of farmers, "tuberculosis would be non-existent in five years. My cows, living on the hills, never develop the disease because the system is a sanatorium for them."

 The Wiltshire medical officer, praising the quality of the product of this dairy, said Hosler had produced milk which was 100 per cent pure.

'WILD' CRITICS ARE CONDEMNED

Bureau of Education Says Unrestrained Objections Are Dangerous

Washington—Unrestrained criticism by Americans of their education methods is often misunderstood abroad and may be reflected in unjust injury to the institutions, says the Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior, in its latest number of School Life, its official publication.

The most unfortunate result of criticism intended solely for home consumption is its effect in countries which are accustomed to send their young men to the United States to be educated, the bureau stated. It added that "it is inevitable that if such expressions find lodgment and general acceptance in foreign minds, the standing of American institutions in the eyes of the world will suffer serious injury, and our national prestige will be correspondingly affected. Wholesome Criticism Stimulates. The full text of the article follows:

Wholesome criticism is the best possible method of stimulating improvement. Americans have always been severe in their comments upon features of their own institutions which they have sought to improve.

Some of the most entertaining specimens of refreshing candor in all of educational literature may be found in the early reports of the acting school visitors of New England. One who compares the strictures in those productions with the fulsome praise with which the school officers of some other sections were accustomed to describe their own schools might conclude that the schools criticized were distinctly inferior to the other schools. But that was far from the truth.

Impatience with faults was a habit of mind in one instance just as complacency because of good features was a habit of mind in the other. Strangers can not always know what is under the surface, however, and they are likely to be misled by statements that are intended solely for home consumption.

European Writers React. This fact was strikingly illustrated by the reaction of certain European writers to a severe criticism of American secondary education which was recently published under the auspices of an American foundation.

A correspondent in a widely read English periodical wrote in relation to it:

"Perhaps we have not been quite honest to American educationists. We have flattered them in a thousand books and articles and reports; we have sent observers there in large numbers and have published their impressions; we have quoted their statistics and praised their financial boldness; we have imitated their experiments, but in private we have related stories that illustrated a darker side. Perhaps some of these are malicious inventions, yet the American critic puts the facts of American higher that they might easily be true."

Following sentences state very definitely the belief that the American writer deliberately contrasts American education at its worst with European education at its best; nevertheless the whole tone of the English article indicates that expressions of American dissatisfaction with American education have sunk deep in the minds of the Englishmen. One may easily imagine that the fund of "stories related in private that illustrate a darker side" is measurably increased.

Prestige Suffers Injury. The most unfortunate result of such unrestrained criticism by our own people is its effect in countries which are accustomed to value our methods of education and to send their young men here to be educated.

Deliberately to exaggerate the faults of our own institutions and to idealize institutions elsewhere and to praise them inordinately may stimulate inquiry and may tend to improvements.

But in the meantime it is inevitable that if such expressions find lodgment and general acceptance in foreign minds the standing of American institutions in the eyes of the world will suffer serious injury, and our national prestige will be correspondingly affected.

Prize Hunt Now a Profession

By NEA Service.

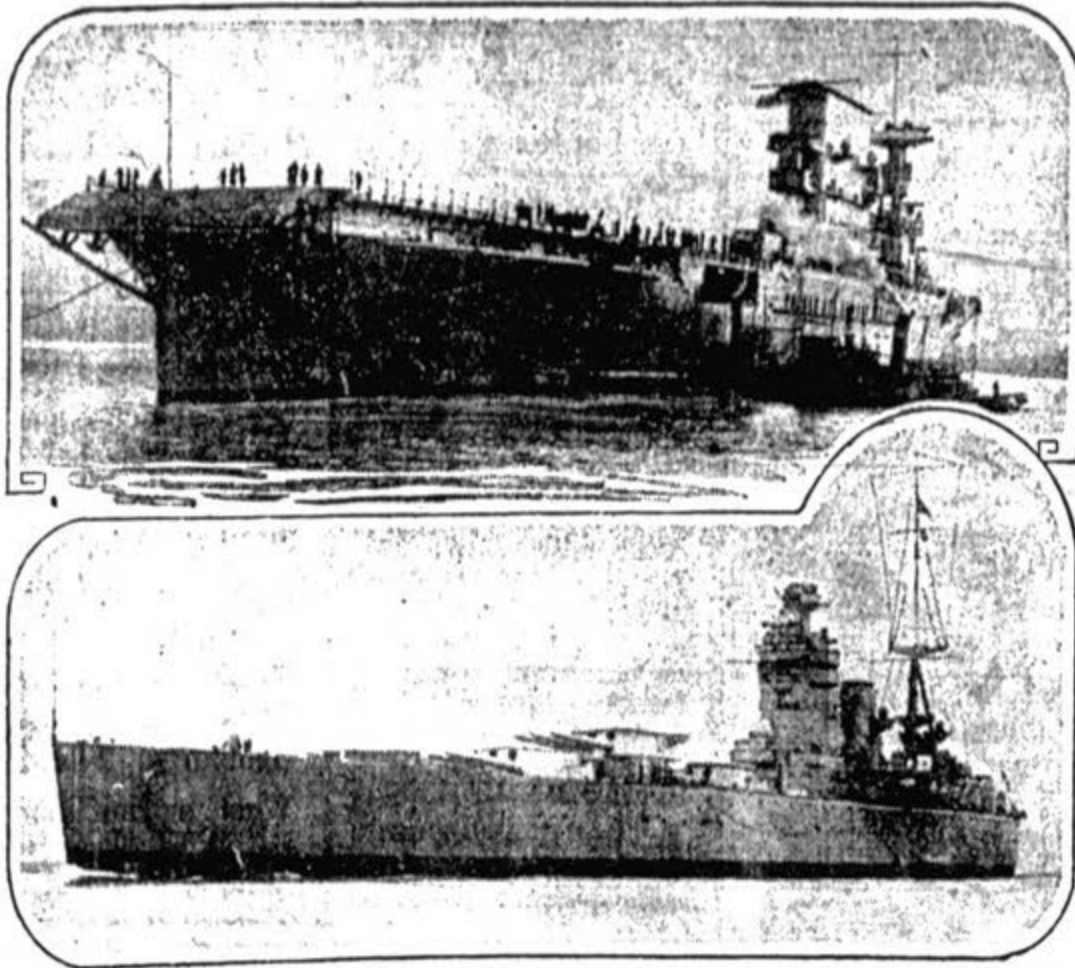

New York—The average citizen who enters a prize "contest" has a chance in a thousand of winning, according to Assist. U. S. Attorney Thomas J. Todarelli, who has made an investigation of what is termed a "puzzlers' trust."

He has disclosed that those who make a business of entering prize contests have a publication, The Prize Marker, which keeps them in touch with every kind of contest, the aggregate awards of which always totalling many thousands of dollars. Through the systems they employ, the professionals are usually able to carry off the awards.

For instance, when large prizes are offered for movie titles or names for new products, printed lists containing five or six thousand names are sold to the professionals for $1. Fifty or a hundred of the most likely answers will be marked on the lists. Todarelli said the professionals usually send in answers under dozens of different names.

LATEST ADDITIONS TO RIVAL FLEETS

Nine years after the close of the "war to end wars" the nations are still arming. The United States and England recently brought out startling new additions to their battle fleets. The vessels are pictured here. At the top is the new U. S. S. Saratoga, airplane carrier, largest ship in the U. S. navy. It is 888 feet long, has a huge landing deck to accommodate many airplanes and most $45,000,000. Below is H. M. S. Rodney, England's newest and most powerful battleship, just completed at a cost of approximately $35,000,000.

a feeling of an hour well spent. The program is the result of much time and study by the pastor. Watch for the full announcement in Sunday morning's Press.

Women's Club Bake Sale—The Child Welfare committee of the Escanaba Woman's club will offer a fine assortment of baked goods for sale today at Peterson's Flower Shoppe.

Club members have promised to contribute a veritable feast of goodies including cakes, cookies, bread, rolls, baked beans, brown bread, Christmas puddings and other seasonable delicacies.

The welfare committee's treasury is practically depleted at the present time, a large expenditure having been necessary when 19 children were cared for at a tonal and adenoid clinic last June.

Cooperating with the school nurse, the Child Welfare committee financed the undertaking as well as assisted with the operations and other necessary work incidental to the clinic.

Even at the greatly reduced price at which the work was done an outlay of considerably over $400 was necessary at that time.

The patronage of the public is solicited at the sale today and club members who have not been asked for contributions may send goods for the sale or contribute cash for this cause. Mrs. F. F. Davis is chairman for this event.

Chicago—For several weeks, a group of Chicago bandits has been robbing their victims not only of their valuables but their trousers. Two detectives chasing a "pants" bandit were themselves caught by a squad of policemen. They reached headquarters at the same time as the trouserless victim of the real holdup men.

Farm Products Rise in Purchasing Power

Washington (AP)—In the general index of purchasing power, farm products again have reached 92, practically the high point of the last seven years. It is evident, authorities say, that production is excellent and that there is no acute shortage of undue surplus in the major farm crops.

"With possible exception of the eastern corn belt," they declare, "the larger agricultural regions now are in the best shape since 1920."

"The cotton belt has a crop worth nearly $200,000,000 more than last year; the eastern flax industry is in excellent condition; the wheat belt, particularly the northern spring wheat territory, is having the best season in six or seven years; the cattle industry of the west is restocking its ranges and is thoroughly optimistic; sheep raisers are enjoying their sixth straight year of prosperity; and the apple districts of the northwest are expected to make more money than they did last season."

PICK MEN WHO COOK

Chicago—It begins to look as though the man who can cook a tasty biscuit or concoct a succulent omelet is the favorite with the girls of today. Of 25 recent brides in Chicago who were questioned as to their ideal mate, 15 of them declared the ability to cook is the first domestic virtue. Several admitted their husbands were better cooks than they were.

Experiments show that it requires about 400 kinds of flowers are used in Europe for perfume making.

Another Alibi For Use of Nicotine

Berlin (AP)—It's not nicotine, but methyl alcohol that causes all the trouble in smoking, according to the researches of Professor Neuberger here.

Experiment revealed that the nicotine content of tobacco varied without relation to the strength of the cigar as sensed by the smoker, and that smoking continued to be harmful in spite of denicotinizing tobacco. Professor Neuberger discovered that the veins of the tobacco leaf contain methyl alcohol which fermentation weakens but does not altogether remove. The decrease is greater in cigars than in cigarettes.

Burning does not destroy the methyl alcohol. Freed from the lighted cigarette, it unites with the smoke and, inhaled, mixes with the saliva instead of being again exhaled with the smoke. Whether it is possible to remove the methyl alcohol from tobacco entirely is as yet undetermined.

THEATRES

"ROUGH HOUSE ROSIE" Clara Bow's new Paramount starring medium, which comes to the Lyric today and Sunday, finds this cyclonic little actress the laughable, lovable belle of Tenth Avenue, living by her wits, loyal to her friends, irresponsible and seemingly irresponsible—until called to prove her qualities.

The Nunnally Johnson story was placed in Frank Strayer's directorial hands. Strayer, brought to Paramount from the independent, who became an expert film cutter and finally a director, winning a reputation in that field as a fast worker, fine story teller and master of technical detail.

Dr. HILL, one of Hollywood's prettiest girls, is seen as Clara's best friend. Miss Hill last appeared in Wallace Beery's "Casey at the Bat." Others in the strong supporting cast include Douglas Gilmore, Henry Kolker and John Miljan. Gilmore had the romantic lead in Bebe Daniels' "A Kiss in a Taxi."

Battleships foaming into action in the greatest sea battle of history: 2,000,000 soldiers being carried overseas to France and at home a girl dying a thousand living deaths that the Convoys might sail in safety.

Those are the highlights of "Convoy," Robert Keane's great epic of the Navy which comes to the Rialto theater tonight with an all-star cast headed by Dorothy Mackall, Lowell Sherman, Buster Collier, Lawrence Gray and Ian Keith.

The picture was four months in production, cost over $1,000,000 and engaged the efforts of more than 3,000 actors and extras. Actual pictures of the battle of the North Sea, with ships sinking, thousands of guns firing and the sea becoming a literal volcano, taken during the war by British, American and German official photographers, are featured.

The several liberal arts, according to educators in the middle-ages, were classified as grammar, dialectics, music, arithmetic, geometry and astronomy.

NEW YORK STOCKS (Last Sales)

Table of New York Stock prices for various companies including Am. Chem & Dye, Am. Can., Am. Car & Fdy., etc.

New York, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Selling pressure suddenly ceased in today's stock market and a brisk rally took place throughout the list.

General Motors, which has repeatedly resisted assaults to break the price below 125, was again the center of attack.

Heavy accumulation of the airplane shares, based on expectations of a rapid expansion of commercial air routes next year.

In the railroad group, Southern Pacific was bid up 4 points to 126 1/2, the highest price since 1911.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Establishment of another high since 1924 by sterling exchange with cables on London quoted at $4.88 1/2-32.

Commodity markets displayed a firmer undertone.

LUMBER REVIEW

In its weekly review of the lumber market, the American Lumberman, Chicago, says: Developments of the last week in the lumber market are all indicative of greater strength.

The weakness of the softwood market has been caused largely by continued production during the fall, at a time when building demand was seasonably tapering.

Prices of southern hardwoods remain at unsatisfactory levels, and are rather soft. Some producers in that region have curtailed their output.

The November daily ingot rate of 119,299 gross tons is a drop of 6 per cent from the 126,500 tons of October and 15 per cent from the 142,529 tons of last November.

The trade continues to look for another rise this month, fully to establish price quotations.

Whether low-priced tonnage not specified by Dec. 31 is cancelled remains to be seen.

Chicago, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Lightness of offerings in fairly, and fairly active demand resulted in 1-4c advance on 92 score today.

Saint and Sinner

Rhoda, won't you please remind Cherry that we are waiting so level and cold with displeasure at Bob, engrossed in the afternoon paper, flicked a quick, appraising glance at her, which she felt but would not meet.

"Rhoda may not be quite such a treasure as I had hoped," Faith said to Bob, still in that cold, controlled voice that was at such variance with her usual warmth and kindness.

The dinner, prepared hastily by Rhoda after her return from Madame Renaud's, was really so very good that it deserved much better attention than it received from any of the three silent diners.

"Cherry," she cried out, her voice sharp with fear. "You're ill! Why didn't you tell me? Oh, darling!"

London—Garage space will be booked in advance for motorists at the same time they buy their theater seats by the box office of the new Piccadilly theater which is to open next year.

On the first floor there will be a dancing floor for 2,000 persons, and above will be a balcony from which to view the dancers.

The two top floors, served by elevators, will be for automobiles on a contract basis, the cars of patrons of the theater, however, being given the preference in every instance.

Number of Suicides in Germany Grows Berlin (AP)—Germany enviously eyes Greece, the land without suicides. The number of suicides in Germany has increased even compared with the rate during the post-war inflation period, according to the latest statistics.

Mobile, Ala. (AP)—Revenue and earnings of the Gulf, Mobile and Northern Railroad company have steadily increased since its second reorganization, which wiped out almost entirely the funded debt.

The Gulf, Mobile and Northern now operates about 465 miles of track northward to Jackson, Tenn., whereas connection is made with the Illinois Central, Mobile and Ohio and Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis. Freight density has increased 170 per cent in 10 years.

Sweden with 14 suicides to every 100,000 unit has more than double the rate in Norway, where there are but 6.

Moodyville, Kas. (AP)—The history of the Moodyville postoffice begins and ends with the tenure of E. M. Moody as postmaster. After serving in that capacity for 48 years in this Pottawattamie county village, which he founded, Moody has resigned at 88 to conserve his eyesight.

Speedy Baraga Quintet to Play St. Joe Tonight

DELANEY SCORES TECHNICAL K. O. OVER BERLENBACH

HARD BATTLE IS EXPECTED

Second Team Will Play Roushorn's Yanks in Preliminary

The St. Joseph high school quintet will clash with the Baraga Parochial squad of Marquette in its first home game of the season at 8:30 p. m. tonight.

The Escanaba high school gymnasium tonight. A preliminary game between the St. Joseph second team and Jimmie Roushorn's Yanks will be played before the main attraction. The first contest is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock and the Baraga game at 8:30 p. m.

The Marquette cagers are coached by "Bud" Finch, former Escanaba high school athletic star. Finch has a strong team composed of the outstanding stars, who are now seeking their third year of service. The other members of the squad show much promise, and from all indications the visitors are prepared to give the locals a hard battle.

Coach E. M. Hirn has three seasoned veterans in Moreau, Mileski and Kohlman as nucleus about which to build a basketball team, and has been successful in developing a speedy aggregation. Other boys who will see action tonight are Jack Fitzharris, Vandenberg, Rubens, Boyce, Skopp and E. Frasher. Vandenberg and Moreau will start at guard, Fitzharris and Kohlman as forwards and Mileski at center.

W. Roderberg, well-known basketball star, will act as referee of the contest. A large crowd is expected to attend the first high school game to be played on the local floor.

Des Moines Alumni Ask Removal of Iowa Grid Mentor

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 9—(AP)—Removal of Burton W. Ingwerson, head football coach at the State university of Iowa has been asked by the Des Moines Alumni association of the university. The petition was presented by Charles M. Frankfort, head of the local alumni unit. At the same time it was announced that similar proposals will be filed early next week by delegations of alumni from Davenport and Waterloo. Mr. Frankfort declined to discuss the outcome of his conference at Iowa City. Other members of the delegation accompanying him, however, said there was sentiment at the university for continuing Ingwerson in his position at least for another year when he will have completed five years of his contract. It was also said that President Jessup would make no statement on the status of the situation until after all petitions had been presented.

Mice Nuisance of Nurses, Solved

London—Nurses at the Enfield isolation hospital of World's End have been granted permission to wear shorter skirts because of the plague of mice.

The mice for months have centered their attentions on the nurses' quarters, until the dwellers therein were constantly on the verge of restriction. The mice got into the beds of the young women, chased about their bed rooms, got into the bath-rooms, reared families under the floors and made themselves at home generally. The mice simply defied all efforts to exterminate them, and made the professional mice catchers wish they were engaged in another profession.

At a meeting of the hospital board it was suggested that the buildings in which the nurses live should be handed over to the mice, and new accommodations sought for the young ladies. As a last resort, however, the board asked the surveyor to recommend a remedy, and he suggested shorter skirts as a measure for temporary relief.

Country of Wines Has One Dry Spot

Paris—France, the country of wines, has found a dry spot in the government. Neither wines nor liquors may be advertised on the books of stamps sold by the government. It is so far the only official prohibition movement thirsty critics have discovered. Everyone appears to be astonished to learn of this dry tendency which finally has been traced down to a small committee in the postal and telegraph administration which passes on the advertising on the stamp books.

PRAISE FOR PITT TEAM

Had the usual interesting chat with "Pop" Warner, famous coach of Stanford, during his recent visit to the east. The reason for said visit was a desire to scout University of Pittsburgh, the team that is to play Stanford in the annual Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Calif. After looking Pittsburgh over, and "Pop" admits that he saw plenty, since Pitt overwhelmed the strong Penn State team 30-0, he journeyed on to Chicago to take in the Notre Dame-Southern California game. "Pitt has one of the greatest teams I ever saw, and don't forget I have seen a lot of mighty good ones in the last 30 years," said Warner. "In the game I saw, Pitt against Penn State, its play was well high perfect. In Welch I saw a marvelous half-back, perfectly in keeping with the caliber of the team."

Yet I have no doubt but that Pop cherishes the hope that his team at Stanford will be able to defeat Pittsburgh.

Caliber Much the Same

"There is little or no difference between the standard of football as now played in the various sections of the United States," was his reply to my query as to where he believes the best football is played. "Thirty years ago the east held a pronounced edge, then the west cut in strongly, followed by the Pacific Coast, and now we have the south bidding strongly for national honors. "Unquestionably the south has made the most progress during the last ten years, perhaps five would be better. In that time the standard of football in that section has been raised to such an extent that the south no longer needs to offer apologies to any section of the country. "Peruse the score of the inter-sectional games and you will be able to realize how evenly the teams have been matched in the majority of the inter-sectional games, with no sector having any great advantage. "No one man, unless it was Andy Smith, has done more to give the Pacific Coast the prestige it enjoys in the football world than the same "Pop" Warner."

Two Tough Breaks

"No section, and mighty few of the so-called major teams, are outstanding in football as was the case years ago," continued Warner.

"The open game has revolutionized the entire scheme of football and made the element of chance so great that any minor team has a chance to knock off a big eleven, if it is at the peak of its game and catches the opposition a trifle stale.

"While it gives me a headache to recall it, if you look over the record of my team this year you will find that we were unbeaten in the Pacific Coast Conference, supposedly the class of that section, yet lost to St. Mary's and Santa Clara, regarded as the minors in a college football sense. "The south justly points with pride to Georgia's victory over Yale, Notre Dame gets much joy out of its defeat of Southern California, while the east can rejoice in the Army's surprising victory over Notre Dame.

"A survival of the fittest with the situation pretty much 50-50 in all inter-sectional clashes, is the collegiate condition in football at present."

Warner, considered the premier inventor of trick football plays, says he is having great success this year, using some moss-covered plays of 15 years' vintage, labeling them as new and getting away with it.

REFEREE STOPS UNEVEN FIGHT

Former Light Heavyweight Champ Proves Easy Mark

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)

Coliseum, Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)—Jack Delaney, prospective opponent for Gene Tunney, scored a technical knockout over Paul Berlenbach in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight tonight. Berlenbach was knocked down four times, by wicked right smashes to the jaw, was waving on his heels and staggering backward apparently in an easy victim for a finishing punch, when Referee Jimmy Gardner, one-time world's welterweight champion, humanely stepped in and stopped the uneven fight.

Berlenbach, who lost the world's light heavyweight championship to Delaney 18 months ago and aspired to regain it, had nothing in particular tonight except a stout heart. It was plain from the start that Berlenbach's only chance of winning was to whip over one of his left hooks.

Delaney, varying accurate right crosses to the jaw, and left hooks to the body, cut his old-time foe down in masterly fashion. He planted rights on Paul's chin in the first two rounds and in the third knocked "Punch" "em Paul" down twice, the second coming as the bell ended the round.

In the fourth and fifth rounds, Delaney apparently was resting and the crowd was becoming weary of the listless battle.

The sixth round saw the passing of Berlenbach, who, always plodding forward gamely, was an absolute mark for Delaney's sharp rights. Berlenbach shook up his foe with a left to the head, one of the best punches he scored during the fight, but in the next second he caught two lightning-like left hooks from Delaney and this was the beginning of the end. Delaney planted a hard right and left to the chin and Berlenbach sank to the floor.

Dazed, and in no condition to continue, Berlenbach arose without taking the benefit of the full count and backed into the ropes, groggy and helpless, but gamely taking all the punches that Delaney threw at him.

Referee Gardner led him to his corner, ending the uneven battle with the crowd shouting its approval.

In the semi-windup, fought after the feature bout, Orl Tilt, Buffalo middleweight, won the verdict over Homer Robertson, a Boston negro, in eight rounds.

Coliseum, Chicago, Dec. 9—(AP)—Jack Delaney, undefeated white world's light heavyweight champion, and Paul Berlenbach, from whom Delaney won the title, renewed their feud in the Coliseum tonight before a crowd that brought all but Christmas cheer to Promoter Jim Mullen.

About 6,000 persons with gate receipts around $40,000 watched the boxers' fourth engagement, in contrast to the $42,000 gate at Ebbets Field, in Brooklyn, 18 months ago for their last match. It was in this contest that Delaney won the light heavyweight title which he has since resigned to war among the heavyweights.

The weights indicated that Delaney had not made much progress in building himself up for heavy weight competition, as he scaled 176 1/4 at 3 p. m. today, with Berlenbach tipping the beam at 174 3/4. Gene McCue of Chicago, and Chester Bush of New Orleans, opened the show with a four-round draw at 160 pounds.

Billy Light, a St. Paul 146-pounder, won the verdict over Billy Showers, also of St. Paul, in six rounds.

Charley Belander, of Winnipeg, Man., a straight punching light heavyweight, knocked out Mike Mandoll, of St. Paul, in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout.

Young Jack Dillon, of Louisville, outslugged Frankie Murphy, of Los Angeles, in six rounds to win the verdict. They weighed 160 pounds.

WHEN TO THROW OR MAKE PLAY PUZZLES GEHRIG

When to make the play at first alone on a ground ball or toss it to the pitcher who is covering, is the hardest play in baseball for a first baseman, thinks Lou Gehrig, star of the Yankees. At least that is the way it strikes him. "When a first baseman handles a ground ball when playing deep, he must make up his mind quickly as to what he intends to do or he will lose the decision," says Gehrig. "With the pitcher racing over to cover, my first thought is to toss the ball. Often, when I do, I could have made the play better alone. "I guess it would have been better in the fourth game of the world series had I done that, rather than toss the ball to Pitcher Moore, who covered. He muffed the ball and gave the Pirates a chance to score the two runs that tied up the game."

Escanaba High School Defeats Manistique in Opening Game, 36-15

Coach Roel's quintet, playing their first game of the season and on a strange floor, defeated the Manistique five, 36 to 15, at the Schoolcraft city last night.

Although having the advantage of one game's experience, the Schoolcrafters failed to hold the strong Hilltop offensive, and lacked the power to sift through the visitors' defense to score until in the second period.

Snyder opened the scoring for Escanaba, making a field goal with the game only a few minutes old. Two more field baskets and one free throw, with Manistique held scoreless, gave a total of 7-0 in favor of the visitors at the end of the first quarter.

Milton's free throw, coming in the early part of the second period, opened the scoring for Manistique. Escanaba continued to pile up markers, while the Schoolcrafters netted two field goals, the score at the half being 16 to 5.

Holding Manistique to three points in the third period, the Hilltops continued to mark up field goals and free throws in rapid succession, the quarter ending, 24 to 8.

Both teams substituted freely as the game progressed, with Manistique unable to stem the attack of the Escanaba forwards. The Schoolcrafters, however, showed more fight in the closing period, making a total of seven points, to raise their game score to 15. The Hilltops scored twelve points, and the score at the end of the game was 36 to 15.

A good-sized crowd attended the game. The lineups and summary: ESCANABA MANISTIQUE Snyder (8) F. Miller (5) Lamber (11) F. Risley Olson (7) C. Bergman (1) Gunderman (2) G. Bond (1) Demars (7) G. Wright (1)

UPBAYS BEAT GWINN, 36-23

Gladstone Opens Season With Victory on Home Floor

Gladstone, Dec. 9—(Special)—Playing their first game of the season, Gladstone defeated Gwinn, 36 to 23, here this evening in a thrilling cage game.

Led by Kircher at forward, the Upbay city aggregation forced the strong Gwinn five at all points of the game, holding the visitors to long shots for their scores. Gwinn played a defensive and waiting game the greater part of the time. Wilson at center and Carlson and St. Andre at forward positions, starred for the visitors.

The speed of the tilt resulted in frequent personal fouls, but no players were ruled out by the officials.

The contest got off to a late start because of the delayed train schedule, bringing the Gwinn team to this city after 10 o'clock.

The following is the lineup and summary: GWINN GLADSTONE Carlson (C) F. Moore St. Andre C. Kircher Wilson C. Liberty Martin G. Ruman Pizalli G. Beach

Substitutions—Gwinn: Kononas and Rutsala. Gladstone: Skellenger, Switzer, White, Fillmore and GeHooghe.

BOYS OF HI-Y HEAR ELLIOTT

Much Interest Displayed in District Conference Here

The importance of developing strong offense as an effective defense against the temptations in life was stressed by A. J. "Dad" Elliott of Chicago in addressing boys attending the district HI-Y conference banquet at the First Baptist church last night.

The financial backwash from the recent World war is having an injurious effect upon the youth of the present generation. "Dad" Elliott said.

"Morality is at a low ebb," he declared, "but you boys must face the situation and snap out of it. Modern youth is not to blame for the present situation, for it has been forced upon them. Parents are partially to blame."

The modern youth's conception of life's purpose is usually the acquisition of material riches, he pointed out. The opportunities that "Red" Grange had to be of service to the youth of today and how he failed because of the aversion of those who took him under their management to capitalize on his athletic prowess was cited by the speaker as an example of misguided talent.

High ideals needed.

Each individual was created for some definite purpose, and it is the duty of each one to live for the purpose for which he was created. "Dad" Elliott told the boys. In this modern age, he said, there is a great need for men of high principles, and without these fine ideals, you will not be able to withstand the great pressure which is brought to bear against him in this life.

The speaker told of several instances where he watched young men enter college, showing great promise because of their inherent abilities, only to fall miserably because they could not stand the "rat."

In the afternoon, Mr. Elliott addressed the student assemblies at the Gladstone and Escanaba high schools, where he was accorded an enthusiastic ovation. In his talk on "Quitters," he explained there are a number of factors which will prevent one being a success, the principal bad traits of character being unclean living, dishonesty and lack of self-control.

Mr. Elliott cited several examples of "yellow streaks" which showed up in his football experience in college, and drew comparisons with examples of quitters in the battle of life.

"The quitter," he defined, "is the man who fails to play the game as he is coached. He is the man who has not the moral courage to keep fighting when the odds are against him."

Discuss HI-Y Activities.

The banquet session was presided by Robert Sandborn, chairman of the local committee in charge of arrangements for the district conference here, which was attended by delegates from Gladstone, Manistique, Stephenson, Menominee and Hermansville. Kenneth Wilson sang a solo, "A Perfect Day," with Francis Baldwin furnishing the accompaniment. Kenneth Wilson and Arol Beck amused the boys also with a clever talking skit, a close imitation of the well-known "Two Black Crows" of phonograph record fame.

Ray Johns of Marquette, HI-Y leader for the upper peninsula, gave a brief talk, telling of the purpose of HI-Y organizations. During the afternoon conferences at the high school, E. A. Byrum of Detroit, boys' work secretary of the state, led in a forum discussion of HI-Y activities and programs. The plans for the Older Boys Conference to be held in Sault Ste. Marie, February 17 to 19, were briefly discussed.

Although inclement weather cut down the attendance at the meetings, the conference here was considered a success because of the live interest shown by those who were fortunate to attend. The work of the district organizations is being well carried out, and much is expected to be accomplished during the coming year.

Deposits Sought To Revive Trade

London—Increased bank deposits would be the best available means for financing a trade revival in England, believes Frederick Hyde, president of the Institute of Bankers and director of Midland Bank, Ltd.

Hyde suggests that bankers should consider the advisability of inducing persons with weekly wages to open bank accounts and thus minimize the use of cash in making payments.

English banks have been slow to welcome small accounts. This perhaps has been due largely to credit having been generally extended by English banks in the way of permission to make overdrafts. Consequently opening an account was in a way regarded as an extension of credit.

Museum Gets Colors of Maximilian Aids

Brussels—The last six survivors of the Belgian Legion, sent to Mexico to help Emperor Maximilian and Empress Charlotte hold at bay the revolutionaries who later captured and shot the unfortunate emperor at Queretaro, performed a touching ceremony recently, when they presented their colors to the Army Museum.

The six surviving veterans were addressed by General Panhuys, who handed decorations to two. The Legionnaires laid down a wreath on the bust of Empress Charlotte and the colors of the Mexican Legion was placed alongside the 57 colors of the disbanded Belgian Regiments.

"UNWRITTEN LAW"

The "unwritten law" will be pleaded in defense of Mrs. Hazel Hull (top) of Los Angeles, who shot and killed Gordon J. Waters, a salesman, because she believed Waters had betrayed her 17-year-old daughter, Marie (below). Mrs. Hull shot Waters as he stood talking with friends on the street. After the shooting it was revealed that Waters was a married man, with a bride of six months.

Twenty Thousand in World's Who's Who

Paris—Of the 1,800,000,000 inhabitants of the earth, 20,000 have a right to be considered members of a world aristocracy of brains and achievement.

This is the opinion of Robert Wilberforce, editor of an international super-who's-who now being compiled with the assistance of the League of Nations Institute of Intellectual Cooperation. He was formerly with the news department of the British foreign office and spent many years in America.

The volume, later to be expanded in size, will contain biographies of the world's leading men and women. In order to get a balanced representation in the various fields of thought and activity, proportions will vary in accordance with the type of activity most developed in each nation. Thus America will furnish a large number of industrialists and bankers, France many artistic and literary figures, India philosophers, England statesmen, etc. The first edition will be ready before the end of 1928.

Glass Prison for Ripe Old Cheese

Paris—A Frenchman takes his cheese seriously, and an apparatus which prevents nice ripe Camembert from running away was the hit of the recent Health and Home Exhibition here.

It consists of a circular glass dish, which, after a slice has been taken from the unctuous, fragrant cheese, is placed on its side in a special support.

The ingenious inventors claim that Camembert thus kept, not only does not run, but ripens evenly on the inside as a result of the position in which it is maintained.

Next to the United States, Spain claims the highest per capita wealth.

Fewer Crippled Hogs Now Reach Market

Chicago—Stockyard supervisors declare that better handling of hogs enroute to market has materially reduced the number of cripples, once a pronounced drag on receipts. One firm buying crippled hogs was able to get but 295 animals this year compared to 423 during a similar period in 1926.

Reduction, they say, is based on increased care taken in shipping hogs at the point of origin. Weak animals are partitioned in one end of the car and every effort made to keep them from being trampled.
