JACKSON DAY DINNER WAS REAL SUCCESS

SHOWS COUNTRY DEMOCRATS HAVE DETERMINATION

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press) Washington, Jan. 14.—The Jackson Day dinner of the Democratic party was a success in more ways than mere harmony. That alone was an achievement but the main purpose of the affair was to show the country that the democrats had lots of fight and determination.

It showed also that they had a peculiar confidence of victory this year which is comparable to the buoyancy they showed in January, 1912, when Woodrow Wilson made his famous speech on a similar occasion.

All the skeptics who thought the dinner would end in a row saw how masterfully the chiefs-tains avoided controversy. They did it by patting all the leaders on the back and showering praise on the outstanding democrats in congress. Governor Smith wasn't there but his spirit hovered over the gathering as a mystic thing that might lead the party.

Corridor conversation showed pronounced antipathies and sympathies. The pro-Smith people insisted that the New York governor was a man of destiny and would bring the democratic party back to power. The anti-Smith democrats, reluctantly inclined to concede the possibility of Mr. Smith's nomination, said frankly they thought he might be nominated more easily than elected.

The big thing which the Smith contingent faces is the passive attitude of their opponents. Hope of victory depends on a united front in the campaign and the anti-Smith men show no signs of getting into the fray if Al Smith is nominated. The outward harmony of the dinner didn't submerge the severe conflict going on inside the party.

But the purpose of the banquet was to instill enthusiasm and fight. And it did. For candidates were in a sense submerged. For Al Smith's sake, possibly his managers acted wisely in persuading him to stay away. His friends are far more active than he could be at such a gathering. The Smith letter was received with profound interest, especially the defiant attitude of the New York governor in insisting on meeting the prohibition issue and his argument that the party had better be unequivocal on the subject and avoid trying "to carry water on both shoulders."

The selection of Houston, Texas, as the convention city was the biggest surprise of all. It had been thought that the democratic party would always go to a doubtful state as a matter of strategy. But the evident desire to please the south struck the committeemen as not a bad idea. Especially did it win the favor of the Smith men, who felt that all talk

Here are three important figures at the Jackson Day dinner in Washington, where the Democratic party sounded a harmony plea for the coming campaign. John W. Davis, the 1924 Democratic candidate, is at the left; in the center is Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, and the other man is Will Rogers, who gave the hosts of Democracy a great deal of good advice.

POLICE HUNTING KILLER OF GIRL

"White Diamond" Was Slain to Prevent Her From "Squealing"

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Police today continued to search the underworld for the slayers of Betty Chambers, victim two days ago of a "rape murder," in her luxuriously furnished apartment in a fashionable North Side hotel. The police had revised their original estimate of the crime and termed it the slaying of one who had threatened to "squeal" and reveal secrets of gangland.

They called the young woman the "White Diamond" and said she was the leader of a band of diamond thieves who had stolen millions of dollars worth of gems. A few months ago the "White Diamond" participated in the theft of $25,000 worth of diamonds from a Cleveland, Ohio, jewelry store, the police said, and it was only a month ago that she came to Chicago to extend her activities. Gave "Husband" a Ring. Seeking known former companions of Betty Chambers, the police raided the hotel apartment of Marlon Kirk and her husband, Joseph. They learned the Kirks had departed hastily the day the Chambers woman was slain, but did find a picture of Betty and an expensive fur coat she had worn.

A week ago the "White Diamond" known as McDonald, gave her "husband" a diamond ring and then quarreled with him after she accused him of giving it to another woman. As a climax she fired three shots at him and later found him on the street and again fired at him.

"OYSTER WAR" STARTS AGAIN

National Guard Called to Quell Outbreak in Virginia

Richmond, Va., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The rumbling of transport trucks will be heard in Virginia tomorrow as two companies of the national guard leave Richmond for Gloucester county, scene of hostilities in the old Dominion's "oyster war" in Mobjack Bay just north of the mouth of the York river. St. Gloucester, the two companies will be joined by another from Norfolk that will embark at 10 a. m., tomorrow on the steamer Schoodic.

In addition to ordering out the three companies, with a strength of approximately 160 men, Governor Byrd late today telegraphed to Sheriff T. E. Hall of Gloucester county, to appoint deputies to assist the troops in preserving peace and order. No trouble has been experienced in the area since Wednesday night, when the state patrol boat "Katie" was fired on in seven volleys and driven from Mobjack bay by men who later, with approximately 15 boats, dredged oysters from leased grounds. Dredging at night is an offense itself even on public reefs.

Major W. W. Poindexter, machine gun officer, of the 183rd Infantry, was detailed to command the troops in the Gloucester sector by Brig. Gen. W. W. Sale, who issued orders for field equipment and supplies for an indefinite stay.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS

LEJEUNE, LELAND ARRIVE WITH 600 TROOPS

(BULLETIN) Managua, Nic., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Forty rebels were killed today by a marine corps airplane squadron that attacked El Chipot, stronghold of Gen. Augustino Sandino, the squadron's commander, Major "Rusty" Howell, reported on returning tonight.

(BULLETIN) Managua, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Marine headquarters was informed tonight that American warships bearing Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, Brig. Gen. Logan Feland and about 600 marine corps reinforcements were entering the port of Corinto. They had not been expected until Monday.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 14.—(AP)—With the arrival at Corinto next week of several United States ships carrying 600 marines, airplanes, munitions and other supplies and the arrival of Maj. Gen. A. Lejeune and Brig. Gen. Logan Feland, definite plans are likely to be put into effect immediately for the campaign against the former liberal General Sadiño who has been active in the region of Neuva Segovia.

For the moment the rebels are in concealment. Col. Mason Gullick, commanding the marines, believes that they are hiding in the dense forest awaiting the passing of the marine and national guard patrols. Marine airplanes which returned from Neuva Segovia last evening reported that no rebel activities have been noted in the last day or two.

Four or five planes fly to Ocotol and Quillali every morning. They are under instructions to bomb any suspected hiding places where rebels might be located. On several occasions groups of rebels have been bombed and then the machine guns are brought into play by the airplane men.

The new electoral law giving Brig. Gen. Frank McCoy, dictator of the coming elections has been adopted by the senate, but is meeting with opposition in the chamber of deputies. Some of the deputies assert that the electoral law is unconstitutional.

PLANE ARRIVES.

Managua, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Major Louis Bourne U. M. C. who hopped off from Miami, Fla., at 5:51 a. m., eastern standard time for a non-stop flight to Managua, arrived here at 5:33 p. m., central standard time. With Major Bourne, whose home is in Asheville, N. C., were Lieut. J. F. Plachta of Pittsburgh and Master Sergeant B. F. Belcher of Elberton, Ga.

Only a small crowd had gathered at the marine air field when their giant Fokker landed, for they thought the plane would stop over night at Tela, Honduras. The plane made a beautiful landing, the crowd remarking that the pilot had done as well as Lindbergh did when he arrived.

Took 18 Hours. The newcomers were warmly greeted by Major Ross E. Rowell, who was covered with grime and dust since he had just arrived by air from El Chipotés where he has commanded a squadron of planes in an attack on the rebel general Augustino Sadiño. Bourne and his companions spent 13 hours in the air. Bourne said his party encountered all sorts of weather, head winds, and off the coast of Honduras, rain.

FIRST PRO BALL PLAYER IS DEAD

Alfred J. Reach Was First to Receive Salary for Playing Baseball

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Alfred J. Reach, pioneer professional baseball player and millionaire sporting goods manufacturer, who was the Babe Ruth of his day as a batsman, died in Atlantic City today. He was 87 years old. "Al" Reach was the first man in Philadelphia to play baseball for money. He was offered $25 a week as "expenses" back in 1865 when he was asked to join the famous old Athletics. In those days baseball was played by amateurs and the offering of what amounted to a salary to Reach "to play baseball" was not looked upon with favor.

Reach played second base and was noted for his hard hitting. He played with the Athletics from 1865 to 1887, meeting the best teams in the country, including the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston team. He saved his money and in subsequent years started the sporting goods manufacturing concern which bears his name. His partner in the business was Benjamin F. Shibe, who died exactly six years ago to the day, at the age of 84. Both men prospered from the start and became millionaires.

Was Second Baseman. Reach was one of the founders of the Philadelphia National league club in the late seventies and Shibe became the chief financial supporter and president of the Philadelphia American league club when the present Athletics became established here in 1901.

Reach continued as second baseman of the Athletics when the first league, the National Association, was organized in 1871, and he helped win the first pennant for the Athletics. Reach still was a second baseman for the Athletics when the "association" was replaced by the present National league in 1876. He was a left-handed batsman and a good fielder.

He leaves a widow, who is 83; one son and three daughters.

One and Quarter Million Attend Automobile Shows

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A million and a quarter persons attended this week's national automobile show and the separate Ford industrial exhibit, ending tonight.

New cars worth at least $2,000,000 were ordered. More than $850,000 was spent for newspaper and magazine advertising. These estimates were made by various officials of the Associated Press. A million persons were clocked at the gates of Madison Square Garden where the Ford company exhibited its products without charge. An average of more than 35,000 persons daily attended the national show at the Grand Central Palace, where there was an admission fee. Official estimates of the sales will not be obtainable for some time but it was said that two million dollars was a conservative guess.

Advertising authorities said the week's advertising in nine New York newspapers and four trade papers would alone approach $800,000. No estimates were obtainable for other advertising mediums.

COOLIDGE TO SEEK SPIRIT OF GOOD WILL

PRESIDENT'S PARTY ON WAY TO HAVANA MEET

(BULLETIN) Key West, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP)—President Coolidge's special train arrived in Key West tonight 20 minutes ahead of schedule, having made up thirty minutes after leaving Miami ten minutes late. The president was asleep. He retired soon after 9 o'clock and a company of marines was placed on guard.

Tomorrow the president will board the Texas, or if the weather is rough the cruiser Memphis, for the crossing to Havana.

President Coolidge's Special Train Enroute to Havana, Key West, Fla., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The American delegation to Havana will seek firmly to establish there a spirit of goodwill in which to solve common problems of the new world, free from all suspicion of aggressiveness and dictation. It was made clear tonight on the special train carrying President Coolidge to the Pan-American congress that the American delegation will stand squarely on the policy which the Washington government has professed for many years, claiming no special privileges and undesirable of imposing any selfish aims.

In addition it was stated authoritatively that the delegation, headed by Charles Evans Hughes, is prepared to face any reproach from the recent American policy in Nicaragua, which involved the sending of marines to that nation. The viewpoint of the Washington government, it was made known, will be presented upon the double consideration that the trouble in the Central American republic denotes no quarrel with the Nicaraguan government and upon the United States policy of encouraging stable and constitutional regimes in the Caribbean sea.

American obligations under the 1923 five-power treaty, it was stated, precluded interferences on the part of the United States to events in Nicaragua. It will be Mr. Hughes' attitude, that this treaty which binds the signatory governments not to recognize any administration which came into power by a coup d'etat unless acted upon positively by the Washington government, otherwise would be virtually without weight.

Acting on the belief that the attitude of the American delegation should be neither one of aloofness nor one of aggressiveness, Mr. Hughes and his associates are prepared to fall in willingly with any program that Cuba may have arranged for the congress.

Havana, Jan. 14.—(AP)—General Gerardo Machado, president of the Cuban republic, declared today that it was not within the province of the Pan-American conference to assume the role of a tribunal to judge the Nicaraguan problem or the general policy of the United States with respect to intervention in small states, as the congress has no such rights. It would be dangerous, he said, to establish such a precedent. "Resolutions of an international congress are without efficacy," he continued, "if they lack the support of all members. These are my opinions and they are based on the instructions the Cuban delegation has received."

"I desire to regard the Monroe Doctrine as representing the noble action of a president of the United States who prevented the re-conquest of America at the time of the holy alliance. The Monroe Doctrine was, and ought to remain, the common defensive policy for the territorial integrity of America. The Monroe Doctrine is not only compatible with the sovereignty of America below the Rio Grande, but is a document giving the greatest force to that right." Cuba's membership in the League of Nations, said the president, does not influence Cuba's adherence to Pan-American union. He believed the conference would be able to accomplish a better understanding of the countries of America in the way of reciprocal treaties and moral benefit for true Pan-Americanism.

BROADCAST SPEECHES.

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—A list of the stations in the National Broadcasting company's red and blue networks, which will broadcast the addresses of President Coolidge and President Machado of Cuba, the sixth Pan-American congress in Havana, Monday, was announced today. Broadcasting will begin at 10:30 a. m., eastern standard time. The stations include WCAE and KDKA, Pittsburgh; WRC, Washington; WBAL, Baltimore; WJR

Smith's Suggestion for Early Draft of Party's Platform is Considered

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The suggestion of Governor Smith of New York for an early draft of a tentative Democratic platform will be considered by the committee on arrangements for the June convention at its next meeting, to be held in Houston in April.

In revealing this plan today, Chairman Jesse E. Jones also announced that a temporary convention hall seating 25,000, will be erected in Houston at an approximate cost of $100,000. The present auditorium there seats only 6,500. Governor Smith, in his letter read at the Jackson day dinner, said he believed the Democrats had "erred in the past by waiting for the national convention to undertake the entire task of preparing a platform" and advocated a tentative declaration of party principles "at the earliest possible moment."

Opinions for and against the idea have been expressed by members of the national committee here for a quadrennial meeting, and now the suggestion has been definitely tabled by the arrangements committee until April when it will be taken up, Chairman Jones said, with many other proposals.

WILBUR'S PLAN IS OVERRULED

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur's recommendation that no definite date be set for completion of the administration's $740,000,000 new warship construction program was rejected today by an overwhelming vote by the house naval committee.

Thumbs likewise were turned down by the committee on another proposal by the naval secretary that the president be empowered to suspend the proposed construction either in part or in whole at any time he might deem it advisable.

Fifteen members voted against the secretary on the first proposal with one, McClintic, Democrat, Oklahoma, recording himself as present. The secretary's second report was rejected, 15 to 1. McClintic voting to support the navy department head.

Immediately after the meeting, four Republican members, Chairman Butler, Britten of Illinois, Darrow of Pennsylvania and Andrew of Massachusetts, interpreted the committee's action as a positive expression in favor of actual iron and steel ships instead of a possible "paper fleet."

Butler explained that a majority of the committee felt that in a warship construction bill it might report to the house specific time for should be provided. Otherwise, he said, there would be no assurance the country that all or any of the vessels would ever be launched.

"If we had only a straight authorization for the vessels, they might never be constructed," the committee chairman continued. "What the committee decided to do today was to provide that this fleet shall be built by mechanical, and not by paper makers."

The chairman recalled that last season the budget bureau failed to recommend funds to start construction on the last three of the eight cruisers authorized in 1924 and that funds for these ships were provided by congress over the budget's recommendations.

"We want to prevent a repetition of that occurrence," he declared. McClintic said after the meeting that Secretary Wilbur, in presenting the program, had declared it would be in harmony with President Coolidge's fiscal plans and that he did not believe the secretary would have requested omission of a completion date if the president had not so desired.

DETAILS OF INQUIRY ARE KEPT SECRET

PUSH HUNT FOR SLAYER OF MT. MORRIS GIRL

Flint, Mich., Jan. 14.—(AP)—"Positive information as to the identity of the fiend expected within 24 hours," Sheriff Frank A. Green said tonight. This is the first definite prediction to be made by Sheriff Green since the beginning of the nation-wide search for the Mt. Morris girl's abductor, and is based on a new lead developed today. Details of the investigation conducted secretly by Sheriff Green were carefully guarded tonight.

"We think it is the best clue so far," the sheriff said, "but we are going to make absolutely sure before anything is made public. No innocent person must suffer through suspicion in this terrible crime."

Fear of mob violence, ever in the background since the finding of the little girl's mutilated body in Benson creek Thursday night, was seen as the reason for suppression of information regarding possible suspects. Today as the second day following the slaying passed and Dorothy's slayer was still at large, feeling grew among the factory workers among whom the little victim's father works, in Mt. Morris a man whose name could not be learned, was severely beaten when he remarked in a village store that the slayer "may have had a reason for committing the crime."

Dozens of "hot tips" several of which resulted in the arrest of suspects, were disproved during the day. Undaunted, sheriff's officers and police, spurred on by a rising public demand for the slayer's capture, began their third sleepless night with a new batch of information from all sources.

Suspect Had Similar Car. A man arrested this morning was released shortly after noon when Archie Bacon, Mt. Morris township farmer who missed an opportunity to capture the slayer when the latter's car became mired near the Bacon farm, stated positively he was not the man.

The suspect, who drove a dilapidated Dodge sedan and wore an overcoat, such as the one described by Bacon, as having been worn by the slayer, also answered in many other respects the former's description of the maniac. Bacon, however, was positive in his assertion this suspect was not the man he helped out of the mud on a deserted road in the woods where the terrible deed was accomplished Thursday afternoon.

"There is something about his face that I can't describe," Bacon said at the sheriff's office this afternoon. "I will know him the instant I see him, and there will be no mistake."

A Lapeer man placed under police surveillance Friday night by police on information of Detroit police that he had been arrested there five times, twice for statutory offenses, was cleared of suspicion yesterday, according to Chief of Police Caesar J. Scavarda.

Police late today questioned a Flint man whose ownership of a car answering the description of the slayer's car led to his arrest. He was later released.

Two Houses Robbed. A detail of state police, assisted by local officers who searched a patch of woods north of the Carpenter road, a mile west of the Dixie highway, today found a handkerchief which they said bore the initials "L. D." or "L. S." and which may be similar to one found by sheriff's officers near the scene of the slaying.

Search of the woods was undertaken on information given authorities by a man who asked him the route to Flint. The informer said the man showed a gun and acted suspiciously.

Two houses were broken into Friday night and food stolen, state police said tonight. No trace of the man believed to be hiding in the woods was found.

The handkerchief picked up by State Trooper Wagner will be compared with the one picked up by sheriff's officers.

Smuggled to the back door of the Genese county jail under a heavy guard of state police, a suspect arrested late today on the Dixie highway between Saginaw and Bay City in an old Dodge sedan resembling that used by the kidnaper and slayer of Dorothy Schneider, was taken back to Saginaw without being brought into the jail where a score of deputies and a dozen newspaper men awaited a glimpse of what had been whispered about to be the most likely suspect yet picked up.

The man was cleared of suspicion when Archie Bacon, Mt. Morris township farmer, failed to identify him.

DOCTOR HELD. Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Although Dr. Clinton C. Furness

Waverly, N. Y., still was at detective headquarters here tonight, the police said they were very convinced that he does not answer the description of a suspect wanted in connection with the murder of Dorothy Schneider of Flint, Mich. Police expected to release him within a few hours.

Dr. Furniss was taken to police headquarters by a member of the detective force who thought he resembled the suspect. The physician said he had been in several towns and cities in the vicinity of Detroit, looking for a place to establish practice and recently had returned to Buffalo by way of Toledo.

The details of his movements during the last few weeks, as given by the physician, were confirmed by police investigation. A fraternal order of which the physician is a member, furnished additional facts to establish his reputable standing.

NEED HOSPITALS.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 14.—(P)—Michigan must make up its mind to face more outrages such as the killing of Dorothy Schneider unless adequate provision is made for feeble-minded and insane, said R. G. Ferguson, chairman of the state hospital commission today.

"Something must be done and at once, to relieve the situation that is so alarming."

Mr. Ferguson puts responsibility squarely up to the legislature, which had failed to vote funds, although the seriousness of the situation has been presented at the last three sessions.

An absolute emergency exists in the district known as southeastern Michigan, with conditions getting worse each year," he declared.

"There are probably close to 1,000 insane persons in the district served by the Pontiac state hospital and Wayne county hospital at Elioise, who are at large or in jails, or in poor houses, with no chance of hospitalization. Many of these have been committed and are on a waiting list for reception. Many transfers have been made from Pontiac to other state institutions until all are crowded to a point from 25 to 35 per cent beyond capacity.

240 Insane in 100,000.
"In 13 counties served by Pontiac and Elioise there is an estimated population of 2,507,778 and there has been annual increase since 1920 of 128,000. If this keeps up until 1931, the population will be 3,137,778. We should now have facilities for more than 6,000 patients in the district whereas actually we take care of 3,349. Wayne county recently spent a million and a half dollars to enlarge and improve Elioise. The state has spent only $10,317 for additional beds at Pontiac in the past six years. It is a shameful record.

"The commission estimates $41 insane per 100,000 population. This is conservative. New York estimates 300 insane per 100,000 and recently bonded $75,000,000."

GREEN IN FLINT.
Flint, Jan. 14.—(P)—Governor Fred W. Green arrived here tonight and after viewing the efforts of the Chief of Police S. C. Scavarda, of Flint and Sheriff Frank Green of Genesee county, to find the slayer of 5 year old Dorothy Schneider, kidnapped and slain Thursday, ordered Oscar Olander, state commissioner of public safety, to assume direction of the man hunt.

Olander, it was said, will arrive here tomorrow morning.

Governor Green, it was also announced, posted $1,000 additional as a reward for apprehension of the slayer.

The sheriff and police and chief were commended by the executive for their efforts thus far in the investigation and at the same time they were told the crime must not be numbered among those unsolved in Michigan.

"This crime is so atrocious, so terrible, that for its perpetrator to remain at large would not only be a stain on the name of law enforcement and decency in the state but it would represent a menace to every father, mother or child."

Carried Pistol; Dies in Battle With Policemen
Chicago, Jan. 14.—(P)—A workman paid with his life the penalty for carrying a pistol; two policemen who sought to arrest him, were shot and another worker dangerously wounded in a shooting here at the Pullman Car company's plant here today.

Fifteen hundred plant employees were prevented from attacking the officers, in plain clothes, whom they thought robbers, by the intervention of a clerk.

Herman Hilliger, 39, collapsed with fatal wounds as he ran for shelter after opening fire on Patrick Devine, an officer. The wounds of Devine and Michael Shannon, his companion, were slight.

Tony Kaiwala, 46, a cabinet worker, passing through the car shop yards, received a bullet in the head.

When the policemen emerged from the shops after Hilliger dropped, an angry mob of workmen confronted them. The men, many of them shouting "lynch them!" advanced on the officers. Alex Dziak, a clerk, dashed among them, calling that the men were officers. The feeling subsided.

Man Killed When Hit by Automobile
Albion, Mich., Jan. 14.—(P)—Henry Young, 83, father of Arthur Young, former mayor of Albion, died tonight of injuries suffered when struck by an automobile.

Ice Boat Races This Afternoon
Local sport fans have a treat in store for them this afternoon when the "South Shore Ice Boat Club" will hold a series of races. With the ice the best it has been this season and indications of good prevailing winds, it is believed that new records will be established.

A dark horse, the "Spejacks" with Ralph Christensen at the helm is a late entry and without doubt will be a strong contender. The events will start about 2:15 o'clock on the shore a short distance off Tenth Street South.

According to word late last night there will be twelve contenders for the trophy.

Following are the entries: Sweopstakes, piloted by Crane; Challenger, piloted by Arntzen; Jack Frost, piloted by Pryal; Flying Cloud, piloted by Kristiansen; Buster, piloted by Herbert; Crackerjack, piloted by Karas; Mother Nature, piloted by Dahm; Spejacks, piloted by R. Christensen; Lightning, piloted by Kintsiger; Midget, piloted by Smith; Standard, piloted by Buckbee; Carry-it, piloted by Johnson.

The Spejacks and Jack Frost are entries of the Sandy Point Yacht Club.

A. W. Thompson will be the official starter and referee.

Chamberlin and Williams Fail to Set New Record
Mitchel Field, N. Y., Jan. 14.—(P)—Undaunted by failure today to establish a new record for duration flying after a gruelling struggle of 51 hours, 52 minutes and 24 seconds, Clarence D. Chamberlin and Roger G. Williams tonight were planning to start their third joint attempt at dawn Monday.

The flyers came down out of the skies at 2:04 p. m. today, having taken off at 10:12 a. m. Thursday, in an effort to break the present world record of 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds, held by Germany.

They were hollow-eyed from fatigue and disappointment over their second defeat this week; but their fighting spirits, put to the test after long hours of sickness, cold and hunger, remained unshaken. Barely two hours after they were forced to land for lack of fuel, they were making plans for their third duration flight attempt by getting the sleep they had been looking forward to.

The flyers reached their decision in their rooms at a hotel in Garden City, where they had gone to get food and rest. Having made up their minds, they immediately donned their oil-smeared flying clothes again, motored to Mitchel field and prepared to fly their monoplane to Curtis field, nearby, to have it reconditioned.

Seek Postoffice Clerk; Charge He Killed Officer
Battle Creek, Jan. 14.—(P)—James Moorehouse, 22, a clerk in the Battle Creek postoffice, was being sought tonight by police as the alleged slayer of Calo V. Platt, Eaton county deputy sheriff, who was shot and killed at Charlotte, December 17, when he attempted to arrest two men as robbery suspects.

Moorehouse was named as Platt's slayer in a confession today by Hawthorne Sutton, 21, a cook at a lunch stand here, who admitted he was implicated in the killing, according to police.

In a signed confession, Sutton said he was driving the car which stopped at a curb in Charlotte where Platt jumped onto the running board. Sutton said Moorehouse was with him and that the mail clerk shot the officer twice when he failed in an attempt to knock him off the running board.

Former Policeman Confesses to Crime
Detroit, Jan. 14.—(P)—A confession that he participated in the holdup of an auto party here last July has been made to police by Noah Barr, a former patrolman, police announced today. Barr admitted he drove the bandit car, but said that two other men, now being sought, committed the actual hold-up in which Roy Smith, a clerk, was wounded.

The toy industry of the United States shows an increase of more than 1300 per cent in the last twenty years.

Auto Runs 59 Miles on Gallon of Gas
Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-2554 E. JACKSON DAY DINNER WAS REAL SUCCESS of a bolting south would be erased if the New York governor were nominated in a convention held in a far southern state. The drys like it, because Texas is dry territory and the Smith followers wanted it for the possible effect on the northern democrat—anyway they are confident that the New York governor's chances will be improved in a southern convention.

So with all sides more or less inclined to take Houston for reasons of their own, the fact that the Texas city was able to offer enough money to wipe out the democratic deficit made the choice natural. San Francisco was the only other serious contender and it is not unlikely that many people will go to Houston and then on to the coast for pleasure trips, so the Californians are not as downcast as they might otherwise be.

National Significance.
Entirely apart from the question of democratic politics, the selection of Houston has a national significance. It means that the south is coming back to its own in politics and that the selection of a southerner for vice-president is not an impossibility. Senator George of Georgia, as well as Governor Moody of Texas are being prominently mentioned, though here again the strategy argument comes into play. With a precedent established for a southern convention, the democrats have honored the south in a year in which the attitude of the south will play a much more controlling part, not only in the nomination but in the shaping of the party platform.

Undersea Workers Succeed in Opening Door of S-4 Battery Room
Provincetown, Mass., Jan. 14.—(P)—Deep sea divers, working under almost perfect weather conditions made rapid progress today in their work of preparing the sunken submarine S-4 for unwatering operations. The battery compartment was opened by divers for the first time. The men did not succeed in entering the room and none of the eight bodies still in the hull was found. Diver Thomas Eadie, who reached the battery room after going through the engine and control compartments, succeeded in half closing a flapper valve in the ventilating tube between the engine and battery rooms and later another diver made it fast. It was necessary to close the valve before the unwatering work can be done.

Eadie was unable to see anything in the battery room. About 10 feet forward of the door is the largest hole torn in the submarine by the Paulding when it struck the undersea boat. Altogether six divers went down to the submarine during the afternoon.

A flat calm prevailed today and except for the lower temperature of the sea the day might have been in midsummer. With a continuation of favorable weather divers believe they can complete preparations for unwatering in five days.

In Houquette there is a tavern of sorts operated by an old-time canal digger known as Joe Wright, who grows fruit, houses his infrequent guests and plans to harness a stream rushing down nearby to operate an electric plant for his "hotel."

There are big coffee plantations in the region, and in the bush, tapirs and mountain lions and deer provide excellent hunting.

There are also Central American tigers, ducks and wild turkeys. The temperature is always cool. The men who accompanied the American flyer frequently hunt in the region, and Colonel Lindbergh will spend his time hunting and fishing.

Decorate Statue.
While Colonel Lindbergh was on his vacation, Panama City turned his attention to entertaining the famous French flyers, Dioudenne Costes and Joseph LeBrix, who arrived here yesterday from Guayaquil, Ecuador.

During the morning, they decorated the statues of Bolivar and the memorials in honor of the Frenchmen who died in the Panama canal and of the Americans who died in the work.

Today they were guests of Col. Harry Burgess, acting governor of the canal zone. The cordial reception given them here pleased them exceedingly. M. Lanslais, the French minister being especially overjoyed.

CHOCOLATE STAINS.
Stains from chocolate or cocoa are composed of fat, resinous coloring matter, fibrous material, starch, sugar, and sometimes milk solids. None of these stains are set by hot water, so if the material is washable, soap and hot water compose the only treatment necessary. Wood alcohol made alkaline with ammonia also is effective. If the fabric is not washable, grease solvents such as good carbon tetrachloride, benzene, and others, will dissolve the fatty part of the stain, and the remainder can be removed by hydrogen peroxide.

Police Break Up Demonstration in New York City
New York, Jan. 14.—(P)—Police broke up a demonstration outside the gates of the Brooklyn navy yard today when 400 men and women paraded in protest against American intervention in Nicaragua.

The marchers described themselves with placards and leaflets as members of the Young Workers' League and the Workers' (Communist) party.

S. William Garrison, whom police described as leader in the demonstration, was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct and attempting to incite a riot.

The paraders were dispersed by mounted police three times before the demonstration ended. In their final effort, police used their clubs on two who refused to move on.

Now Ready - a New ESSEX SUPER SIX

New Bodies-Larger and Roomier - New Appearance from Radiator to Tail Light - Finer Fittings-Four Wheel Brakes - High Compression-Long Life Motor & An Amazing Price

THE SEDAN, 4-Doors, in two shades of blue, with cream striping, is larger and roomier, with form fitting seats, wider doors, rich upholstery and appointments. $795

THE COUPE has wide seat, ample luggage space in the rear deck, and a comfortable leather rumble seat which is removable. $775

THE COACH is longer, wider, roomier—a full size five-passenger Super-Six, as distinctive in appearance as it is practical. $735

One look at the new Essex Super-Six will convince you that it will excel in popularity the Essex which has just completed the most successful year ever achieved by a six-cylinder car. From radiator to tail light it is a smarter, more beautiful car than even the Essex which preceded it. And in performance it surpasses in smoothness, reliability, speed and ease of handling, the standard Essex owners are so proud to acclaim. You get an impression of completeness and fine quality in the design of every detail. From the new pattern Colonial lights—the higher, narrower radiator with vertical shutters—the heavy sweeping fenders—the rubber-covered running boards—the new improved steering mechanism and the steering wheel similar in design and construction to that now used on the very latest and very highest priced cars—there is outstanding reason for pride. With all these advantages, there is also an amazing price reduction. The Sedan at $795 f. o. b. Detroit is $40 below the Sedan price of last year.

A PILOTS' MEMORIAL. Representative Airmen of Nevada has asked Congress to vote a memorial to the 32 aviators who have been killed in the air-mail service since its inception.

His idea is worthy. We rather hope it passes. But we trust we aren't harming its chances by suggesting that they already have a very fine memorial—the memorial that we believe, they themselves would like best.

That memorial is the airmail service itself. Day after day, night after night, in good weather and bad, in winter and summer, the planes of the airmail wing their lonely way from coast to coast.

Regular and efficient, they have made the airmail a permanent, valuable institution. Brave, skillful pilots have made this possible. The airmail is built on the be-goggled young men who fly the planes.

Thirty-two of them, since the service was founded, have lost their lives. By their service and sacrifice they have helped make the airmail better. They have paid the price that the grim lords of the air demanded when men decided to take wings.

That the airmail exists today is a testimonial to the courage and ability and devotion of its pilots. We hope Congress votes the memorial. But to us, personally, the airmail itself will always be the most fitting memorial possible.

Twenty-seven years FOR $2.50. Two New York boys held up a pedestrian one night and robbed him of $2.50. The other day they were sentenced to 27 years in prison for the crime.

At first glance this sentence seems all out of proportion. But when you consider it closely we believe you'll agree there was justice in it.

The boys, to begin with, carried weapons. Suppose the man had resisted; it is logical to assume that they would have used them. It was the operation of chance, not their own wills, that kept them from being murderers.

In the second place, suppose their victim had had $10,000 in his pocket instead of $2.50. If you read that two men had been given 27 years in prison for robbing a man of $10,000 you wouldn't have thought the sentence particularly excessive. Yet their crime, even though it actually involved only $2.50, was just as great.

We are going into this case at this length because it is typical of many cases which are seized on by sentimentalists. People who feel that we abuse our criminals are fond of comparing the dollars and cents involved in such cases with the sentences imposed. These people need to realize that it isn't the amount of money taken that makes a robbery serious; it is the act of highway robbery itself.

THE MELODRAMA IN CHICAGO. Dispatches from Chicago say that a certain melodrama, which aroused much interest in New York through its portrayal of underworld life, will not be presented in Chicago.

This play, it seems, has certain situations that might, just conceivably, strike pretty close home in Chicago. Some of its characters, it is said, are pretty closely modeled after some of Chicago's leading lights. The play's action includes an account of an alliance between crime and politics, with gangsters enjoying the protection of police and district attorney.

Thus, the dispatches say, when a Chicago theater prepared to present the play, an attaché of the Chicago state's attorney's office quietly let the theater owner know that it would be more politic for him to reconsider. He did.

This isn't important to anyone, of course, except perhaps to people living in Chicago. Yet it doesn't seem to us that Chicago's state's attorney has covered himself with any appreciable amount of glory in this affair.

Somehow, the average observer won't be able to help feeling that some official or other in Chicago was afraid to have the people see the show.

MARINES AND MULES. The list of citations made by the marine corps for gallantry in action in the recent fight with Sandino's men confirms our suspicion that the leathernecks more than lived up to the traditions of their service on that occasion.

But, of all the citations, there is one that, to us, stands out in a class by itself. Here it is: "John A. Harris, private first-class. Harris rendered himself conspicuous by exposing himself to heavy enemy fire in order to obtain ammunition from the back of a terrorized mule."

That sentence, however, gives a perfect picture of the fight. One sees the thicket-dotted scene of action. Khaki-clad marines sprawl on the ground, grimly peering along their rifle sights and firing intermittently. The air is full of an unholy noise, and bullets are spat-spitting off rocks and whipping through the bushes. Occasionally a man contracts with a grimace, rolls over and relaxes his grip on his gun.

Into this scene comes a mule laden with ammunition. Sweating men, cowering behind rocks and logs, look up and cry, "For God's sake, let's have some of them cartridges!" Private Harris, the mule's escort, prepares to unstrap the bandoleers from the mule's back.

But it takes more than a few bullets to knock the cussedness out of a mule—especially a marine corps mule. The mule moves with a contrariness born of his father, Satan. Buckles and fastenings jerk irritatingly out of Private Harris' reach. To stand erect unfastening them is highly dangerous, as Private Harris is well aware.

The scene that follows is plainly visible to anyone who has had experience either with marines or mules. We are not acquainted with Private Harris—we rather wish we were—and we do not know whether he is given to profanity. But our mind's eye can picture him, wrangling with a recalcitrant, triply-cussed mule in the midst of flying bullets—muttering untold threats, pleadings, cursing, calling on all the marine corps' gods, outlining the exact details of the mule's unspeakable ancestry, consigning mules, Nicaraguans and jungles to the deepest pit—and at last getting the fastenings loose and handing out to his comrades the sorely-needed ammunition.

Yes, we repeat; that one sentence in Private Harris' citation describes the battle better than many reams of copy ever could. And we'd like to endorse the citation, if we could; to add our own cheer to the plaudits for the lantern-jawed marine who wrangled a peeved Missouri mule while Nicaraguan riflemen took potshots at him.

Carols were first sung in the thirteenth century.

A NEW INVENTION, 'tis said, will enable radio fans to see as well as hear the artists who are broadcasting. The inventors think the device will be an advantage, but we doubt it. Much of the charm of radio is the exercise it gives the imagination. When the fan discovered that the Discard Duo at WZZK looks like a pair of pensioned pearl-divers from a waffle palace, and that Pansy Pautania, the blues monger who specializes in ditties about her "sweet daddy" has five chins and weighs upwards of a quarter-ton, they'll turn the television dials in search of something restful to the eyes as well as stimulating to the ears. The eyes can always be rested by closing the lids and letting the imagination wander. The ears need help.

The maelstrom will take on a soda fountain range of flavors. All of which has nothing to do with the fact that the Lansing man, arrested for counterfeiting postage stamps, should remember that unless one is able to do a small thing well, one has little chance of coping successfully with the bigger things.

The Blazing Horizon

The Indian territory was cool after heavy rains and the afternoon sun fell pleasantly on the horse and rider that forded the Salt Fork of the Arkansas and turned their faces west. The man wore the regalia of the cowboy—tall hat, chaps, spurred boots and checkered shirt—and as he rode at an easy canter beneath the shade of the cottonwoods along the river's edge he spoke now and then in a confidential tone to his mount. "About fifteen miles to go, Cherokee. We'll be there before sundown without half trying."

As he rode along he thought of many things; the landscape had taken on a familiar aspect and here and there were stretches that were recognizable as scenes of earlier wanderings. "It begins to look like home, Cherokee. Is that what you're trying to tell me?" His gaze took in the vista of green and rolling land and suddenly he was swept by a wistful regret that he would not behold that land many more times in its present virgin state. Two years, or three, or four, and a mighty avalanche of humanity would sweep across the Cherokee Strip just as he had seen it sweep across Oklahoma in the fierce rush of men for homes that were free.

"It had to come, Cherokee horse; it had to come. It's no use trying to stand up against the tide of civilization. . . I wonder what Joe Craig will say when I roll up to the Bar K. Of course, I oughtn't to expect him to fall on my neck with joy after the way I treated him, but he ought to be right glad to know that Benton won't bother anybody any more. Am I right, Cherokee?" The stallion flung up his head and lengthened his strides. "Impatient, now that we're almost there, aren't you?" said Tony Harrison. "Me, now, I feel just the opposite. The closer I come the more nervous I get. I'd sure be upset if Joe Craig decided he was through with me."

The sun slowly swung down toward the point where earth and sky were joined. From a glaring yellow sphere it had turned into a ball of orange and Tony Harrison faced it as he rode. Presently he cut away from the Salt Fork and swung north up a gentle rise. The horse went up with never a slackening of his pace, but once at the top Tony checked him and faced him around.

"I want to take a good look from here, partner. There won't be many more, I expect." He sighed. "Doggone it, I'm going to kick myself yet for coming back—it's doing things to me, Cherokee, should've stayed in Guthrie."

He swept his hat from his head and let it dangle carelessly from his hand, after which he sat for several minutes in silent contemplation of the sunset. "Isn't that pretty, old timer?" he said presently. "I've seen the sunset many a time from this little hill—many a time. Quiet, Cherokee!" for the horse had lifted his head suddenly and snorted. "Quiet, I say! Now what the devil—"

There crept over him then the realization that he and Cherokee were not alone. Someone was near. Instinctively he felt who it was, and yet somehow he dared not turn around for fear that he should be wrong. And then someone spoke. "Did you come all the way out here to see the sunset, Tony?" Rita's voice! Rita! He felt a queer, throbbing sensation in his chest and slowly swung around in the saddle, his face as white as the blaze on Cherokee's forehead.

He saw her then, standing beside her horse, the bridle reins dangling in her hand. And he could not speak but sat there and stared at her, the picture of stupefaction. "I was behind those trees there when I saw you come riding up," she said awkwardly and inclined her head in the direction from which she had come. "So I just stayed where I was. Did I surprise you?" Her voice then was light, casual; but the paleness of her cheeks gave the lie to her carefree manner and apparently she could not control the nervous trembling of the hand that held the bridle reins.

Tony Harrison found words at last but his emotions had slipped beyond lingual reach. "Why—why, Rita," he stammered, "I never thought—"

"To find me here," she finished for him. "And that's why you came. Of course, I know that." She swung her eyes away from him toward the vanishing sun. He trembled. Was he mistaken or had there been bitterness in her voice? He strove for expression, floundered, gave up helplessly. "Hadden't we better move on?" she asked coolly, after a long pause. "I guess so. Your father there?" "Yes." "Craig?"

THE END. Evanston, Ill.—Enforcement of the prohibition law made strides in 1927. Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, asserted today in a statement reviewing prohibition for the year. She listed passage of the reorganization bill as one of the high spots of prohibition advancement, declaring it materially strengthened law enforcement machinery. "National constitutional prohibition is only eight years old," she said. "A boy of eight could not be expected to reach man's estate. The important thing is that he grows each year, physically, mentally and morally. Prohibition has gained friends during the year, as shown by the large number of new members enrolled in the W. C. T. U. and by the increased demand for dry planks in party platforms. "With the exception of Governor Smith no wet candidate is spoken of seriously for president. The emphasis on education for prohibition enforcement is increasing. People always are willing to support such a campaign."

ONE LITTLE FACE.

One little light at the window. One little face at the door. And men may come home to a glittering dome. But never to anything more. One little hour in the evening. An hour for a romp and a play— Oh, that is the thing, what the money we bring. That pays us for all of the day. One little face that is smiling. One little heart that is true. And summers may go, or the Winters may blow. But what do you care if they do? One little heart will be happy. And one little face you can see. And one world is bright that you come to tonight. Whatever the other may be. One little face I remember; And, Fate, if you handle me ill, It's easy to choose what to keep, what to lose— So take all my gold, if you will. But leave me the light in the window. And leave me the face at the door; For men may come home to a glittering dome, But never to anything more.

GROS PUPPETS WORLD'S BEST

Community Lyceum Bureau Will Present Them Feb. 10.

Two performances will be given in the high school auditorium on February 10 by Jean Gros' French Marionettes, under auspices of the Community Lyceum Bureau.

As a matinee the Marionettes will be seen in Uncle Wiggly at the circus, a play by Howard R. Garis. At night the attraction will be Mark Twain's famous "Huckleberry Finn."

Mr. Gros has the most elaborate Marionette theatre in the world. A complete miniature theatre is carried, including the proscenium curtain, bridges and platforms where the actors work, scenery, stage lighting equipment, all manner of properties and thus are totally independent of any auditorium in the country. When the curtain of the Marionette theatre is drawn for the first time, the audience is amazed at the completeness of all details, and when the Marionettes begin to act making correct gestures expressing pathos, the great joy, doing tricks that no human actor could ever do, the enthusiasm reaches the boiling point.

Freshness and Charm.
In this day of the so-called "jazz age" it is refreshing to be able to know that there are still a number of attractions that retain freshness and charm, and no one ever tires of the Marionettes and once he has seen them he becomes an assured puppet fan.

The special matinee that is to be played for the children contains all the charm of Mr. Garis' books. All the characters of the animal kingdom are to be present, including of course the celebrated Uncle Wiggly and his hollow stump bungalow orchestra which has been engaged by the circus management for this season. These rabbits have never failed to bring shouts of joy to the youngsters and they open the performance with a vim that makes everyone glad that they came to see the marvelous French Marionettes.

Huck Finn at Night.
Mr. Gros has spared no detail in getting his production together, and he and Uncle Wiggly have planned carefully all the surprises to please all the children.

Parents will be urged to see the production "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" from the classic by Mark Twain that is given at the evening performance with singers and instrumentalists.

Sound Teeth Aid to Health School Records Demonstrate

That sound, well-kept teeth have a very pronounced effect on the health of school children, is forcefully demonstrated in figures compiled by Miss Agnes O'Connor, school nurse, from records kept in the Open Air room in the Washington school annex. These figures, made public yesterday, show that the gains in weight in September to December 1926, before the children's teeth were given attention, averaged two pounds per pupil, while the same nine children, during a similar period, after their teeth were repaired, gained an average of 4 1/2 pounds each. One child who lost one pound in weight in the September-December four-month period of 1926, gained six pounds between September and December this year. Another who gained two pounds last year, gained 8 1/2 pounds in a similar period this year. The total gain of the nine children in four months last year was 18 pounds; the total gain in the same months this year was 40 1/2 pounds.

The open-air room was taken as an example for Miss O'Connor's summary because the health and health-habits of the children in that department are more carefully checked than in other parts of the school system. It has been estimated that teeth of 80 per cent of the children in the Escanaba public schools are in need of the attention of a dentist. Because the condition of the teeth has such an important bearing on the child's general health, the month of January has been designated as a period for some special activity along that line. Parents are being urged to have children's teeth carefully checked over and to see that needed repairs are made.

The bird kept up his rapid race, and down they went at quite a pace. The Tinies didn't realize that they had been so high. They looked below but couldn't see a thing. Then Scouty said, "Ah, me! I'll bet, when we were way up there we almost touched the sky."

With laughter this made Clow-ny screech. Said he, "The sky is real neat. The tree tops scraped out of reach. It's really quite im-possible to touch it. I have tight," yelled Scouty, "cause the heard." Then Copsy said, "That may be true for folks like me and folks like you, but, don't forget, the eagle is a very wondrous bird."

This argument was then cut short when Carpy, quite a friend-ly sort, exclaimed, "Oh, what's the difference? Let's not have a fight up here. As long as we are safe and sound, and sometime reach the level ground, an argu-ment is foolish, 'cause it robs us of our cheer."

And so the bunch kept very still and sailed on through the air until we Scouty shouted, "Look below! I see a lot of trees. I'll bet that's where we're going to land. No snow's in sight. Say this is grand. I'm sure be glad to walk around. I'm achy at the knees."

The eagle then swooped down real neat. The tree tops scraped the Tinies' feet. "Hang on real tight," yelled Scouty, "cause the limbs might make us fall." But then they reached an open space, and Clowny cried, "Ah, here's the place! If we'd swoop down and land right here, it wouldn't hurt at all."

And then the bunch all shout-ed, "Oh!" The eagle let the big box go, and down the box and Tinies went. The bird flew on it's way. To fall like this was quite a scare, but they were not high up in air, an when they finally landed, it was in a stack of hay.

Abner Bangs Advocates Law Abolishing Leap Year

Misery Bay, Jan. 14. (To the Editor)—Quadrantly, every four years, our so-called civilization gives the females of the species the opportunistic chance to take the males by the hand and lead them to the altar of matrimony. The idea, in principle, is quite vibratory, but in actual practice it does not work out. The girls carry on their hunting operations under cover for three years, using set-guns, headlights and other illegal devices in the dead of night, and they become so proficiently skilled in this kind of hunting that they are plumb blinded when they try to stalk their quarry in the dazzling sunlight. The result is that the sum total of their kill in leap year is something less smaller than they get in the three years of a supposedly closed season.

Rabbit Caught in Down-Town Street

Just how and why snowshoe rabbits have the impression that Ludington street is a forest preserve is a question for bed-time story hour artists to decide. The question arises from the capture, after an hour's chase, of a good-sized rabbit, in the $00-block, Ludington street, early Saturday morning by four young men. The men saw the rabbit as they were on the way to their homes. They gave chase which lasted an hour, and finally succeeded in taking the rabbit alive. Then they brought him to the Press office as proof of their accomplishment.

THE ONLY CAR OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD

For numberless puzzled motorists Dodge Brothers new Victory Six will simplify the problem of selection, for nowhere in the world is there a car like it. Greater expenditure will not duplicate it. To possess this car's unique advantages you must possess this car.

A Radical Departure in Body Design

In The Victory, for the first time in history, the body sill is eliminated. Body and chassis are built as a single integral unit.

Thus, the wide, deep chassis frame of The Victory, now flush with the lines of the body, avoids the customary overhang of a wide body upon a narrow frame; and the chassis itself, rather than the body, supports all weight—body, floor, seats and passengers.

Amazing Results

The results of this construction are astonishing.

330 body parts are eliminated.

175 pounds of superfluous weight are cast off.

The all-important CENTER OF GRAVITY is materially lowered.

Without the slightest sacrifice of headroom or road-clearance, the over-all height of the car is also lowered—one of the secrets of The Victory's great beauty.

The amazing resources of the car's brilliant power plant are multiplied still further by perfect distribution and economy of weight.

Power in relation to load is materially increased—pick-up quickened—far greater flexibility achieved.

21 valid miles per gallon at 25 miles per hour is made possible FOR A SIX! Incredible smoothness at high speed is another great gift of this new design!

Elimination of back-wheel "chatter" when the 4-wheel Lockheed-Hydraulic brakes are quickly applied is still another!

And thanks to The Victory's low center of gravity and wide chassis frame, swaying, skidding, tipping—each a factor of weight and its proper and improper placement—are reduced to a new and negligible minimum.

Another New Safety Feature

Yet Dodge Brothers have taken a further revolutionary step to insure the safest motor transportation it is possible to create.

For the first time in automobile history, they have applied the so-called battleship construction to closed car design.

In other words, the body has a double steel shell, locked together, with an space intervening— is actually TWO bodies, one within the other—yet lighter by 175 pounds—and the safest body known.

MALTA FEVER MENACES ENTIRE STATE OF MICHIGAN

Disease Is Contracted Through Consumption of Raw Milk, Says Health Official

PASTEURIZATION EFFECTIVE SAFEGUARD

LANSING, JAN. 7—Discovery of Malta Fever in Michigan and other northern states has awakened public health authorities to renewed efforts to conquer bacilla abortus, a common infection of cattle, according to reports by the State Department of Health and the veterinary department of the Michigan State College today.

The disease, 25 cases of which have been discovered in Michigan since last June, originally was supposed to be tropical. Although seldom fatal, it does not leave the patient for years, if at all. It first appeared in the southern states after the Spanish-American War. Shortly after this appearance there was an epidemic in Texas, supposed to have originated across the Mexican border.

True Malta fever is not transmitted from one person to another, but contracted from contact with infected goats or drinking their milk. The variety of the disease found in Michigan is contracted from contact with cattle or from drinking raw milk.

Like Typhoid

Dr. Paul F. Orr, of the Department of Health, who has studied the Michigan cases, believes the disease may have been prevalent for some time. It would be natural for physicians not expecting to encounter Malta fever in Michigan to diagnose it as typhoid, he says. Practically all of the cases so far discovered originally had been pronounced typhoid.

Dr. Orr and J. F. Huddleson of the veterinary department of M. S. C. calls the variety of Malta fever "undulant fever." Its principal difference from true Malta fever, they say, is that it is contracted from cattle or through milk, whereas the original disease comes from goats.

According to Huddleson, the original disease, as found in goats, has the same effect as that found in cattle and commonly known as contagious abortion. The effect on humans is different from that among animals, and marked by repeated attacks similar to typhoid fever, sometimes lasting for years.

No Known Remedy

One Michigan case now under observation is believed to have originated in 1922. Several have run a year or more. In no case has any victim of the disease been found to have come in previous contact with any other person having it, but in every case it has been possible to trace the bacilla to use of raw milk from infected cows.

Huddleson, who has studied the disease among cattle for 10 years, estimates two-thirds of Michigan's cattle are infected. Dr. Millard Knowlton, commissioner of health of Connecticut, estimates 90 per cent of cows in his state are infected.

The explanation of the small number of cases among human beings is to be found, according to Dr. Orr, in the fact that men and women are susceptible to it only when they are in a weakened condition. He believes, also, that many cases still are being diagnosed as typhoid, or, when they are mild, as influenza.

Pasteurization of milk kills the bacilla and removes all danger of contracting the disease. In wider use of this treatment of milk lies the greatest hope of preventing spread of the disease, he holds.

So far no effective remedy for the disease, either in cattle or humans, has been found. The British government has practically stamped the disease from the Island of Malta, the place where it was first discovered, by discouraging use of goats' milk and by pasteurization.

ARE YOU A PEST? Just Answer These Questions

Maybe You Are and Don't Know It—Here's a List of Questions That'll Help You Find Out

Are you a pest? Are you a public nuisance? You might be one, you know, without realizing it yourself. And if you are one, you ought to know about it.

Here is a list of 40 questions by which you can test yourself—and your friends.

Go down the list. For every question that you can answer "no," put down a credit of 2½. Put down a zero for every question you have to answer with a "yes."

Thus, if you answer "no" to all of them, your percentage is 100 and you are a swell fellow. If you can answer "no" to 32 of the 40 questions, your credits will total 80. That is the passing mark. If you hit 50 or above you can figure that you aren't bad; but if you fall below, you are pretty close to being a pest.

All right; get your pencil and paper ready? Here are the questions. Go to it.

- 1—Do you read aloud in the movies?
- 2—Do you drive your car in the middle of the street, unheeding the signal of the driver behind you to move over?
- 3—Do you drive madly across the street as the traffic signal is ringing for clearance?
- 4—Do you speed by a stopping street car?
- 5—Do you chew gum aloud?
- 6—Do you spit on the sidewalk?
- 7—Do you walk on the left hand side of the walk?
- 8—Do you fail to hold your hand out to signal drivers behind you when you start to turn or stop?
- 9—Do you break tail lights of other cars bumping them when parking?
- 10—Do you keep time with the orchestra by patting your foot on the floor?
- 11—Do you send your children to your neighborhood to play?
- 12—Do you jostle and push in a crowd?
- 13—Are you always wise cracking?
- 14—Do you block the sidewalk by stopping in the middle to talk to someone?
- 15—Do you suddenly and without warning cut in front of the driver behind you, almost causing a collision?
- 16—Do you smile at or make a remark to every pretty girl that passes unscouted?
- 17—Do you try to run over the farmers' chickens and turkeys that have strayed to the road?
- 18—Do you fall to look up and down the street before crossing?
- 19—Do you drive a car while intoxicated?
- 20—Are you always forgetting to pay back money you borrowed?
- 21—Are you always telling silly jokes?
- 22—Do you brag about yourself to others?
- 23—Do you gossip about other people's affairs?
- 24—Do you unnecessarily blow your car horn loud and long?
- 25—Do you criticize other people's faults and fail to see your own?
- 26—Do you monopolize two

BY THESE TESTS YOU CAN SPOT 'EM

- 27—Are you noisy in a Pullman after every one has retired?
- 28—Do you chat unnecessarily with the ticket agent, keeping people waiting who are in a hurry to catch their trains?
- 29—Do you throw banana or other dangerous fruit peels on the walk?
- 30—Do you leave your picnic refuse scattered about the grounds?
- 31—Do you drive in the car track unheeding the motorman's signal that he wishes to pass?
- 32—Do you see how close you can drive by a pedestrian or another car without hitting them?
- 33—Are you always "crashing" a private dance without an invitation?
- 34—Do you interrupt and make corrections in the story the other fellow is telling?
- 35—Are you always telling someone about your operation?
- 36—Do you go to a friend's, unexpected, for dinner?
- 37—Do you throw chewing gum on the floor in the show?
- 38—Do you swear regardless of who is present?
- 39—Are you always bumming a cigarette or a match?
- 40—Are you always telling of your numerous dates and how well your boy (or girl) friends like you?

Pair Face Trial for Rum Killings

Miami, Fla.—The fatal shooting of three U. S. coast guards and the wounding of a fourth in a battle aboard a government cutter off the Florida coast will bring Horace Alderman and Robert Weech, alleged rum runners, into court here November 14 on charges of murder.

The two defendants are accused of the murder of Robert K. Webster, government secret service operative; Sidney Sanderlin, boatswain, and Victor A. Lamb, motor machinist on coast guard boat No. 249, on which the killings occurred some 30 miles off Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The cutter was taking Webster to Nassau, in the Bahamas, to trace counterfeit money in use in liquor transactions, when its crew sighted a liquor-laden boat and captured it.

Weech and Alderman, who were in the boat, were taken on to the cutter, and officers transferred the cargo while Sanderlin radioed the Fort Lauderdale base to report the episode. Suddenly Alderman, according to coast guardsmen, fired down the hatch and killed Sanderlin. Lamb, rushing to aid him, was mortally wounded in the spine with a second bullet from Alderman's gun.

Alderman lined up the rest of the crew, survivors relate, and directed Weech to move back to the rum boat the confiscated whiskey and to set fire to the cutter. As Weech moved to fulfill the instructions Webster leaped at Alderman, and fell dead with a bullet through his head. J. L. Hollingsworth charged behind Webster and dropped with wounds in the eye, nose and cheek.

But the rest of the crew followed and overpowered Weech and Alderman, taking them and the liquor cache to port.

Hollingsworth recovered and will testify at the trial. Officers say Weech revealed a plan of Alderman to force them to "walk the plank" or to leave them aboard the boat to die when it burned.

Weech blames Alderman for the killings, officials say. Alderman has indicated he may plead insanity.

"I must have been crazy," he is quoted, "to have done all that."

GOOD PROVIDER.

SIDELIGHTS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Hollywood, Cal.—Russian producers not only have caught up with the pace set by Hollywood; they have gone far beyond it in artistic achievement on the screen, believes Tom Terris, who is directing pictures here again after a sojourn abroad.

Terris said he spent two months watching the Russians make pictures "and learned more in that time than in all my previous picture experience." They are leading the Germans in technical aspects of production, he asserted, and have put pictures on a sound artistic basis by maintaining excellent training schools for actors and directors.

Look American
"Even the average extra used in Russian studios is a competent actor," Terris added, "and most of them, whether extras or players of parts, look 'American' on the screen as compared with the players in French and German films, who usually look strange and foreign to an American picture-goer. This will be important if Russian producers ever try to make pictures for the American market."

Real Celebrity
Princes, dukes and distinguished diplomats who have toured the studios here during a sojourn in Southern California will be charged, no doubt, to learn that the first real sensation in months on at least one lot was the arrival of the long-delayed new model of a certain inexpensive light car it is unnecessary to identify.

The car was brought out to the studio as one of those routine publicity stunts to which picture folk have become so accustomed that they pay no attention, usually, to what the publicity department photographer is trying to photograph or which player happens to be posing with the new washing machine, iceless refrigerator, automobile or what-not involved in the "tie-up." But this time it was different. When word got around to stars and directors on the various sets their curiosity was so strong production practically ceased until all had viewed the new vehicle from Detroit. Royalty frequently has visited the same lot without drawing a crowd.

They Walk in Light
It is only on the screen one can see them, these canned memories of the movies called "screen tests." To me unaware of their significance they look like mere odds and ends of celluloid, packed away in tin boxes in a fireproof vault. But let the librarian of the studio's film vaults pull a few of them off their shelves and put them to flickering on a screen in the projection room, and behold! There is that charming, but obviously scared-to-death unknown, named Norma Shearer, all afuster because this test may mean a long-term contract and fame for her in the films. And now walks another unknown across the screen—Joan Crawford, who ought not to look so frightened, for she has danced on the stage; but she does look scared, and also a bit too heavy for the movies.

Family Alibys
There are almost 6,000 of these phantoms in one company's vaults alone, and on other lots one can find in similar collections the scared youth who was Rudolph Valentino on his crucial test day; the girl who was Gloria Swanson of slapstick comedy or the lad who was Rod LaRocque before his big success in "The Ten Commandments." Rarely are these film phantoms brought forth, for producers always prefer to look at up-to-date tests, tests that are reflected of the actual screen personalities of today.

Hundreds of these memories that could move and flicker on the screen are never disturbed. They are the boys and girls whose film tests failed.

NO DANGER.
Wife: There's a burglar trying to get into the flat.
Husband: Where? I'll get up and give him the fight of his life.
Wife: Aren't you afraid?
Hubby: Not a bit. Any burglar who thinks this apartment is big enough to hold all three of us must be a little bit of a fellow.—Answers.

Anne Morgan Tells Her Views On Men and Women As Business Rivals

BY LOUISE GARWOOD.
For NEA Service.

New York—Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, now devoting herself to the organization of the American Woman's Association, preaches a gospel of common sense in regard to woman's new position in the business and professional world.

"God made women women. Why should they try to be anything else?" said Miss Morgan, in an interview, expressing her ideal as a leader of this association. "Now that economic conditions have liberated woman's power, simultaneously with her development of capacity in the arena of life, she will develop as Woman."

Competition, Not Antagonism.
"When men and women meet in the arena there is competition rather than antagonism, though there still exists in man's consciousness the basic fact that he is accustomed to woman's operating in other directions.

"Man always has been accustomed to open competition with man. By the advent of women, the competition simply has been increased and made more complex. That was the inevitable result of woman's suffrage; woman has proved her capacity by what she has accomplished, and must develop it by competition. Woman must be prepared to meet it as man to man, on the basis of the relative values of the two, with no sex-emphasis.

Women as a Whole
"Women as a whole have not learned what men know is vital in business—to be impersonal. When has woman ever known how to be anything but personal? Though she must adjust herself to man's methods to some extent, she must above all use what heaven has given her, her intuition, tact, originality. Her power lies not in sex but the qualities developed in her by sex.

A Ridiculous Idea.
"There is absolutely no purpose in the ridiculous idea of a woman's war for women. There should be rather a joint war for Right, with men and women fighting side by side.

"Woman is an instinctive creature. She is a pioneer—just as our country is a pioneer among nations. In pioneering there always is the danger of breaking too entirely from the past. Also, when pioneering is addressed to purely material things without the spiritual, it develops faults quickly.

"Women for years have neglected to remedy their need of outside contacts to widen their interests and round out their personalities. The American Woman's Association is formed primarily to meet this need. In it, women find the small, personal contact as well as the large contact of the many.

Purpose of the A. W. A.
"Its esprit de corps gives the advantage of meeting on a common ground which opens on a still larger ground. As a group its members can command what they cannot as individuals. Each member enjoys benefits from the organization's influence just as the individual soldier shares in an honor bestowed on his regiment.

This striking photo of Miss Anne Morgan was taken as she gave a radio address on the American Woman's Association, of which she is treasurer. At the right is the association's proposed New York club house.

Evolving leadership, forging ahead, making a channel, that is the purpose of the A. W. A. It is an organization building for the future as well as for today. In its present form it started in 1924, and since then has increased its membership from 400 to 5000. About 187 occupations are represented in it. It is a local, not a national organization, except inasmuch as we expect that important women from all parts of the country will eventually gravitate toward New York and the A. W. A."

"Lindy" a Boon to Paris Poor

Here is a typical "home" of the Paris suburb district to be rehabilitated and named "Cite Lindbergh." The map shows the district's location.

To Reclaim Suburb from Squalor and Name It After King of Skies

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS.
NEA Service Correspondent
Paris—Seven months ago "Lucky" Lindbergh flew to Paris and flew away again, stirring men's hearts and lifting life out of the rut.

Today, inspiration from the name Lindbergh is giving impetus to a movement to provide a cleaner and better life for thousands of the poor of Paris. It is proposed to convert squalid, unsanitary habitations just outside the limits of Paris, between the Porte de Versailles and the Porte de Orleans, into a miniature garden city. When the work is completed, the district will be called the Cite Lindbergh.

How It Started.
When Paris still was circled by fortifications there was a military zone outside the walls which could neither be bought nor built upon. It was kept clear for military reasons. As the fortifications lost their importance, the poorer and more wretched of the population crept into the zone gradually and put up little shanties. The habitations grew in number and became a very serious problem.

The zone now covers vast stretches of miserable hovels set up on bare ground. Without water or sanitation services, the wretched population exists there in privation and subject to disease.

Many American residents of Paris have become interested in the district through the humanitarian work of the French organization Oeuvre de la Zone. During the war the American Red Cross erected a large wooden structure near the Porte de Versailles.

Search by Hygienist for Nutritive Values

Berlin—The respective nutritive values of ryebread, Graham bread, whitebread, rolls and other sundry bread stuffs Prof. Ernst Friedberger, the noted hygienist, sought to determine by experimenting for five months on animals at the Institute for Hygiene and Immunity Research in Dahlem near Berlin. Without definitely solving this all-important question, the hygienist came to the conclusion that food subjected to a long cooking process did not increase the bodily weight of an animal or person nearly as much as slightly cooked or raw food.

Professor Friedberger claims to have established the fact that ryebread is the best weight producer, the next being mixed rye and wheat bread, followed by Graham and the other dietetic breads, while whitebread and rolls produce little or no increase of weight.

Animals fed on the crust of whitebread lost weight markedly. Toast also not only failed to produce the slightest weight increase, but animals fed exclusively on this diet rapidly declined and died. From these results Professor Friedberger concludes that whitebread is assimilated better and quicker than any other variety of bread though he admits that it has by no means been scientifically proved that the assimilability of a food is to be accepted as a criterion for its nutritive value.

On the night of May 21, almost at the moment when Lindbergh was landing at Le Bourget Field, a fire broke out in the zone, destroying many huts and causing two deaths. The Oeuvre de la Zone started a campaign to relieve the squalid conditions. It determined to remove the evil atmosphere of the zone, to erect small but sanitary houses, and to give the people water and light and a chance to reconstruct their lives.

An association headed by city officials has been formed to promote this work. The state has agreed to provide 85 per cent of the funds required to purchase the ground and build the houses.

Further to wipe out the bad reputation the zone has had, the association resolved to christen it with a name that commands respect. So it is to be known as the Cite Lindbergh.

Aviator and Chemist Take First Place in Science Record of 1927

Mississippi Flood Brings Engineers Big Problem of '28

BY ISRAEL KLEIN.

Science Editor, NEA Service.

Two great series of events will remain indelibly stamped in the scientific history of 1927.

One covers the remarkable progress in aviation. The other concerns the almost unprecedented outbreak of floods, earthquakes and tornadoes that brought unusual losses in life and property.

The Mississippi flood lasted more than two months, covered 18,000 square miles, put 250,000 out of their homes and caused damage valued at $250,000,000. The New England flood early in November killed almost 150 persons and caused more millions of damage.

Many Severe Tornadoes.
Tornadoes of severe intensity tore over the middle west, along the Atlantic and gulf coasts and hit Germany and Japan. Earthquakes caused losses of thousands of lives in China, Japan and Palestine, besides destroying valuable property and obliterating many towns.

Science's explanation of these disasters lies in the unusual activity of sunspots in 1927, the peak year in an 11-year sunspot cycle. These great whirlpools of magnetic storms seem to have aggravated the troublesome conditions we experienced.

To ally further disaster of this type, especially along the Mississippi, government and other scientists are studying ways of reforestation, of building higher and stronger levees and of putting up great dams and reservoirs along the tributaries.

Items On the Record of Science

Here are some of the outstanding items on the scientific record of 1927:

- Civilian aviators in America flew more than 12,000,000 miles.
- Naval survey mapped whole territory of Alaska in 15 days.
- Medical scientists discover malaria will cure parais.
- Radio developed transatlantic telephony, beam transmission, television and other new steps.
- Many exploration trips made to all parts of the globe by American scientists.

Opposed to this havoc is the series of flights across the Atlantic and Pacific, beginning with the non-stop flight of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and ending in the attempt of Mrs. Grayson. Many lives were lost in futile attempts, among them three women, but the contribution to aviation's progress was tremendous. The air-cooled whirlwind motor proved its value, while the activity in aviation started the ball rolling toward long distance transportation.

In the first half year of 1927 more than 12,000,000 miles were covered in civil flying in this country. Airplane passenger, mail and express routes sprang up rapidly.

Explorers Busy.
Just as adventuresome were the numerous exploring expeditions during the year. Nearly every part of the globe was covered by scientists, digging up fossil remains of prehistoric races, remapping parts of the world and laying foundations for better weather reporting.

have great significance in Einstein's calculations.

Echoes of the 1926 evolution controversy continued into 1927, when legislatures of Arkansas, New Hampshire and other states tried unsuccessfully to exclude teaching of evolution in the public schools.

Chemistry and medicine went almost hand in hand toward greater discoveries. More synthetic methods have been introduced into industry, thanks to chemical research, making it possible to manufacture rubber, leather, perfumes, flavoring, even petroleum from coal.

Cure for Parais.
In medicine, one of the greatest advancements has been the infection of persons subject to hitherto incurable general parais with malaria germs in order to check the worse disease. After infection, the malaria would be cured by a new drug called "plasmochin," a quinine preparation more effective than the old quinine prescription.

Radio also contributed great progressive steps—in transatlantic telephony, in radio television, in beam transmission, in the transmission of weather maps to ships at sea, in the increase of power for broadcasting to 100 kilowatts, in the use of giant water-cooled 100-kilowatt radio tubes, in the construction of receivers operated entirely by house current, in the invention of a better type four-element type and in many similar achievements that make radio reception favorable today.

One of the greatest achievements in this field was that of the U. S. Naval Alaskan survey, which mapped the whole territory of Alaska in 15 days, thanks to the aviator's help. Such a job would have taken more than 15 years by the old methods.

Radio's use in connection with the George Palmer Putnam Expedition in the arctic disclosed the fact that Baffin Land had been previously charted 5000 square miles too large.

In Greenland, today, a lone scientist is collecting data about the North Pole of the Winds, where great storms congregate and start furiously for the European coast to wreak havoc to shipping.

Test Einstein Theory.
At the same time great discoveries were being made in the other sciences. Dr. Dayton C. Miller and Prof. A. A. Michelson are even now renewing experiments on the question of ether drift and the other on the velocity of light, results of either of which

GIVES ADDRESS AT ROAD SHOW IN CLEVELAND

County Highway Engineer J. E. McCarthy and three members of the Schoolcraft county highway commission returned Friday from the annual convention and road show of the American Road Builders' association, held at Cleveland, O. The local delegation included W. L. Orr, W. H. McMullin and F. N. Cookson. Engineer McCarthy, who was scheduled for an address at the meeting, delivered a paper on road construction that won much enthusiastic comment from members of the local party as well as other delegates. There were 27,000 present at the convention, representing all portions of the United States and several foreign countries, and the exchange of ideas on highway problems proved of benefit to all concerned. In addition, delegates had the opportunity to inspect a machinery exhibit valued at several million dollars.

The county commission members made the trip by motor as far as St. Ignace, returning by the same route Friday noon. City Manager Wesley Orr was also in attendance at the convention, motoring by way of Detroit.

OBITUARY

SHIFTS NOTED IN STANDINGS OF ELK CREWS

Quite a number of changes in team standing took place in the Elks Bowling League after the results of last week's contests were computed. The Paper Makers moved into second place by being fortunate in taking three games from Art Hall's Pirates. This series proved to be the closest and hardest battle this season, the Paper Makers winning the first set by one pin, the second by a margin of four, and copping the third in the last two frames by 29. The Cubs won two out of three from the Tigers Tuesday night, despite the stellar bowling of Dr. Southard, who countered with an average of 207, getting scores of 215, 209 and 193. Ludlow's Giants handed the same dose to the leading Yanks on Wednesday night. The Lions stepped on the Bear Cats to the tune of three games, and were aided by Stan Crowe and Dr. Mead, whose bowling featured the evening.

Remell chalked up high score for the week with 221 and averaged 184.

For the coming week, the schedule is as follows: Monday evening the Pirates and Cubs, Tuesday, the Paper Makers and Southard's Tigers; Wednesday, Stan Crowe's Yanks and the Lions, and Friday, the Giants will take on Perry's Bear Cats.

The team and individual standings will be published in a later issue.

AID WEDNESDAY.

A meeting of the Catholic Aid society has been announced for Wednesday afternoon in the St. Francis school basement. Mrs. Musgrove and Mrs. Frank Senft will be the hostesses.

ATTEND AUTO SHOW.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlstrom left Manistique yesterday enroute to Detroit, Alrian, and points in Indiana and Illinois. They will conclude their trip in Chicago, remaining there until after the automobile show.

COOGAN HERE MONDAY.

An extra matinee showing of "The Bugle Call" in which Jackie Coogan is starred, will be given at the Gero theater Monday at 4 p. m.

Jackie's new picture shows him in a role new to most of his followers, as he plays a "near-grown-up" part, enacting a bugle boy in a cavalry post along the historical Bozeman Trail in the days of the Indian fighting. Jackie in the story is the son of Herbert Rawlinson, captain of the post, and his bugle route an Indian horde in the strange tale, based on actual history.

Claire Windsor plays the heroine, and a notable cast surrounds the child star, with Edward Sedgwick, director of "Tin Hats" and other successes, as the director. The opening of the play is built right out of the pages of history, with Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, then president, going over the plans for the Bozeman Train, the pathway to the West, with his staff officers.

Banking Connections

As Standards of Judgment

It is a noteworthy fact that the standing of an individual or a business house is often judged on the basis of its banking connection. Unconsciously, perhaps, men feel that the laws of "association of kind" apply in banking as truly as they do in other phases of human relationship.

Many factors make a connection with The Manistique Bank a worth while asset—

- (1) large resources, (2) wide connections,
- (3) broad scope of service, (4) able counsel,
- (5) willingness to be helpful.

MORTALITY LOW AT MANISTIQUE RECORDS SHOW

Although births and deaths recorded at Manistique for December, 1927, were equal, the vital statistics for the past year show an unusually low mortality figure for this city, with births talling more than double the number of deaths. There were 150 births on record for 1927, and 69 deaths.

The net gain in population was greater last year than the previous year, though births for the previous year also doubled the number of deaths. This steady climb of the birth rate indicates increases in the city's population, estimated at around 6,000.

PLAN FOR SUPPER.

Plans are under way for a supper to be served Saturday, February 11, at the Odd Fellows hall, by the Presbyterian Women's society.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—"Gravy riders" they are called in Manhattan's latest slang.

They are, in all probability, to be found everywhere, but they are particularly prevalent in New York where the social wheel spins constantly and rotates from one place to another with great rapidity.

The "gravy rider" is one who "rides in on the gravy."

Or, to be more explicit, he is a person—generally male—who manages to arrive at a given place just in time to "go along" with the party. He generally picks out two or more individuals who enjoy a degree of popularity and who go about a great deal. And, since these folk are usually starting for some-where-or-other, he manages to get invited along. He seldom, if ever, has to pay more than a taxi-cab bill, and dodges this whenever possible.

Which is to say he "gets in on all the gravy." He is generally companionable, good at bridge and conversation, keeps in touch with the latest books and shows, knows what the magazines are saying and has just about enough pocket money to get about. He soon wears out his welcome, but in a city the size of New York he can transfer his attentions to others he meets casually at teas or cocktail parties or bridge fests. Thus he can keep up a constant "supply of gravy" at practically no cost. He's harmless enough, and completely ineffectual; a type bred by the superficial existence of large fractions of Manhattan's population.

There's another who has made his appearance in these cocktail-shaking days. But he is a far more sinister and vicious figure. They call him the "tea dance duke." He is generally a young man under thirty, with the earmarks of the gigolo. His prey is generally the young married woman, who thinks she has little to do but sit in her apartment and wait for her husband to come after a hard day's work.

From her window she can see the city sweeping by and feels she is being cheated of many of its thrills and pleasures. In the big hotels and cafes, she has little, if any, social background, but is comfortably well fixed financially.

Her residence is likely to be the upper reaches of Manhattan, or the "bourgeois belt," as some of the ritzy folk call the district that lies beyond One Hundredth street. It is not impossible that she has lived a considerable portion of her early life in a fashion far merrier than she enjoys in her married life. So she finds her self going to the "teas" by way of diversion.

And there she meets the "tea dance duke." He frequently has a title, though his name is likely to be Ginsberg and his residence uncertain. But, whether or not he has a title, he dances well and usually has a "little gin on his hip." After a meeting or two he lets it be known that he has many associates interested in the purchase of jewelry and gets the "very best prices."

A young man of 25, now facing trial, landed nine victims with this line within a month. One let him have her grandmother's diamond brooch to sell. Another gave him a diamond studded cigarette case. Another something else. Of course, they never saw him again until they met at the police station. And, since six were young married women who did not want their husbands to know how they spent their afternoons, they had made no complaint. Four victims feared to appear to press charges lest their homes be wrecked.

Yet you'll find a few of them, flitting about each afternoon at the dances. And, somewhere in the office, the good-looking young man waits for his chance to play the role of "tea dance duke" to them.

Rickard Decides on New "Elimination" Tourney

SEEK OPPONENT FOR CHAMPION

Promoter Disappointed at Showing of Sharkey and Heaney

New York, Jan. 14.—(P)—Terribly disappointed at the showing of Tom Heaney and Jack Sharkey in their draw bout at Madison Square Garden, Tex Rickard today decided to stage a final "elimination" tournament among five men, preliminary to two championship matches this year.

Acting immediately on the plan, Rickard signed Sharkey today to meet a suitable opponent on March 12 and engaged Heaney for a bout March 2. He came to terms with Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker, to fight Jack Delaney, retired light heavyweight champion, February 10. The fifth entrant in the tourney is Paulino Uscudun of Spain.

All matches, Tex declared, will be 15-round affairs with the losers definitely eliminated from further consideration as potential title challengers.

From these five battlers, Rickard hopes to draw the first opponent for Tunney with Jack Dempsey standing out as the champion's second challenger. The elimination tournament victor probably will fight Tunney in June. Dempsey's third fight with the big marine is tentatively set for next September at the Yankee stadium. Rickard also is considering a match in London between Heaney and Dempsey next summer.

Draw Decision Good
While no opponents have been picked for Heaney and Sharkey, Rickard plans to bring together Jack Dorval, Canadian heavyweight, and Knute Hansen, the Minnesota Dane, with the winner to act as one "trial horse." Paulino probably will oppose the other.

"After all the trouble I have taken to build Sharkey up, his bout with Heaney last night merely reduced his standing to that of Heaney, Uscudun, Delaney and Risko," said Rickard. "I must do something drastic with them if a title contender is to rise from that bunch. Fifteen round 'do or die' matches are the only solution."

While the promoter thought the draw decision a good one despite the almost unanimous opinion of 17,000 spectators that the New Zealander had won, he had thought that Jack Dempsey could have whipped both Heaney and Sharkey in the same ring as they fought last night.

"A fight like that one proves that Dempsey and Tunney are the two best heavyweights in the land despite Gene's two victories," Tex said. "Furthermore, you can throw out from now on all controversy over Sharkey having been fouled by Dempsey in their fight here last July. Sharkey's showing last night proved how good Dempsey was."

PROMOTER DISAPPOINTED

MICHIGAN BEATS INDIANA, 42-41

Victory First for Wolverines in Big Ten Play

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 14.—(P)—In the wildest basketball game witnessed in the Yost field house, the University of Michigan basketball team, western conference champions last year, tonight defeated the fast Indiana team, 42 to 41. It was Michigan's first victory in Big Ten basketball competition this season. Michigan led at the half, 25 to 19.

At the start of the second half, Indiana, with Beckner and Wells leading the attack, Indiana tied the score, 25-25, within 45 seconds. The score was tied again, 28 to 28, soon after the first Hoosier rally and twice Indiana was in the lead. Gawne, substituting for Rose late in the final period, led a Michigan comeback which put the Wolverines three points in the lead. Mc-

ROELLERS MEET SAINTS TUESDAY

Two Schools Meet to Decide City Championship

The Escanaba high school basketball squad will resume practice tomorrow in preparation for their annual scrap with St. Joseph for the city high school championship. The game will be played at the high school gymnasium Tuesday evening, starting at 8:15 o'clock. The Roellers were defeated at Negaunee last Friday in a hard luck contest but they are determined to avenge their defeat by adding the St. Joseph scalp and also the scalp of the Menominee five to their list of victories. Both teams will be met during the week. The parochial school quintet will play the Roellers on Tuesday evening and the Maroons will come to Escanaba on Friday.

It is expected that an unusually large crowd will see the Escanaba-St. Joseph game Tuesday as both teams have many ardent supporters in the city. St. Joseph defeated Manitowish last Friday and are now in mid-season form. The parochial school has never defeated the Escanaba high school in a cage encounter, although last year they were leading the Roellers for nearly the entire game, only to lose in the closing minutes of play by a single basket.

The fighting spirit showed by the Escanaba cagers at Negaunee last Friday has convinced Coach Roels that his squad this season will be dangerous contenders against all of the teams on the Highlanders' schedule. The Roellers were on the offensive for the entire last

BOHN ASKS AID FOR SOO WIDOW

Government Urged to Pay Mrs. King Sum of $3,000.

BY C. C. SHILLING
Washington, D. C., Jan. 14 (Special)—Two important steps have been taken by Representative Frank P. Bohn of the Eleventh Michigan district, in connection with legislation effecting Sault Ste. Marie when he was assured that the supervising architect would send an inspector there to make a survey with a view to adding another story to the federal building. He also introduced a bill providing for the payment of $3,000 to Mrs. Anna King, widow of Coast-guardman Robert E. King who met death last summer when the coast guard picket boat on which he was in charge of the engine room, sank in lower St. Mary's river.

The picket was returning from DeTour where it had gone under official orders in quest of liquor law violators when it rammed a dead-head and sank. Some question as to how King came to his death was raised at the coroner's inquest when it was discovered there was not water in his lungs when the body was taken from the river. This fact, however, is not apt to enter into the hearing before the committee on claims as Representative Bohn is prepared to go before that body personally and prove that King came to his death in the official discharge of duty. Whether he was drowned or struck when the boat rammed is immaterial for the purpose of obtaining compensation for the widow. He asked for $3,000 specifically so that the bill would not be delayed in committee.

Abnormally Crowded.
In connection with the survey of the federal building at the Sault, Bohn pointed out that the building is crowded normally to say nothing of conditions when federal court is in session. The probability that several government offices at Marquette will be moved to the Sault during the coming year was also set forth. It is expected that the steamboat inspection service and at least a portion of the prohibition unit will be

Wolverine Garage Takes Agency for Willys-Knight Line

As the result of a change in the sales policy of Willys-Knight, Inc., permitting the holding of its agency in cities the size of Escanaba, by automobile sales and service agencies affiliated with other lines, has enabled the Wolverine Motor company to take over the Willys-Knight franchise for the Escanaba territory, according to a statement made yesterday by M. Perron, president of the Wolverine Motor company.

According to Mr. Perron, a shipment of Willys-Knight motor cars is in transit and will be on display at the local garage very shortly. The shipment will include several of the new Whippets, the car on which recent price reductions started the automotive world.

The Wolverine Motor company will continue to sell and service the Studebaker line, Mr. Perron said.

moved there. If the customs appropriation bill passes this session a number of new border patrol officers will be sent to Michigan and undoubtedly headquartered at the Sault where liquor smuggling operations are said to be on the increase due to the proximity to Canada.

Your Baby May Look Strong, Plump, Rosy

yet to assure proper development of his bones and teeth, he must have

BOTTLED SUNSHINE

as babies do not get enough sun-light to assure proper formation of bones and teeth.

Baby specialists, government bureaus, state and city clinics are pointing out one grave danger to babies.

They say that if you want your baby to have a well-proportioned head and chin, a well developed chest, straight legs, sound, even, uncrowded teeth, special protection must be given, otherwise the teeth and bones almost certainly will be soft and porous and improperly formed:

If your baby could get enough direct sunlight the bones and teeth would develop properly. But clouds, fog, smoke and clothing shut off the precious Ultra-Violet rays of the sun.

Authorities insist that the other and only really dependable source of protection is a High Grade Cod Liver Oil—bottled "SUNSHINE"—they call it.

They insist that it be given every baby as a part of the daily diet as it is a food and not a medicine. Your baby's need for cod liver oil should be filled by a product known to be pure and rich in fat-soluble vitamins.
