

PRESIDENT OF IRELAND HERE

William T. Cosgrove of Irish Free State on Way to Iowa

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—President William T. Cosgrove of the Irish Free State whirled through New York so fast today on his first visit to Iowa that he was gone almost before it was realized he was here.

Landing at the Battery just before noon, he was on his way to Chicago well before 3 o'clock. His brief stay consisted of not much more than a ride up Broadway and a handful of official speeches.

Three thousand police were called out to preserve order, but they had almost nothing to do beyond watching the parade and listening to the band.

A few very minor disorders were quickly quieted but they did not escape the quick eye of the little blood Irishman. Asked as he was leaving if he had noticed the weak attempts at unfriendly demonstrations, he chuckled and replied "Oh, yes, indeed."

The liner Homeric, on which President Cosgrove came to America, reached quarantine late last night but the passengers remained aboard. This morning to the city tug Marcom, and brought to the Battery by the mayor's welcoming committee, each silk-hatted member wearing a large gold badge on which the visitor's name was spelled "Cosgrove," instead of "Cosgrove," by what Grover Whalen, the mayor's welcome-in-chief called a "stupid error."

Murder of Woman Remains Mystery

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 20.—(AP)—With Dr. Harold Guilfoyle charged with the murder of Mrs. Maximin J. Gaudet of New Haven, who died in a hospital here today and the veterinarian's wife held as a material witness, the double shooting in the hallway of the doctor's apartment Wednesday night, remained a mystery tonight.

Dr. Guilfoyle and his wife continued silent as to details of the shooting and both denied having fired any of the four shots. Mrs. Gaudet was unable to throw any light on the mystery before she died.

Police are placing emphasis on the testimony of Mrs. Algernon S. Way, of this city, who with her husband, was a guest at the Guilfoyle apartment on the evening of the shooting. Mrs. Way has said Mrs. Guilfoyle was not constantly in her (Mrs. Way's) vision just prior to and after the shooting. After Mrs. Gaudet descended the stairway leading to the front door, accompanied by Dr. Guilfoyle, the veterinarian's wife and Mrs. Way remained upstairs to put out the lights. Mrs. Way walked toward the bedroom and as she pressed the button she heard the shots.

When she returned to the head of the stairway Mrs. Guilfoyle was standing between her husband and Mrs. Gaudet, according to Mrs. Way's story. She could not ascertain who held the revolver, which was later found in the doctor's pocket.

THREE SETS OF TWINS IN ONE FAMILY

The stork has been more than generous to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dwyer of New Orleans. For here you see the Dwyer children, three sets of twins. On either side of the big arm chair are the oldest of the twins, John and Eva, ten years old. Seated and holding the tiniest of the three sets of twins are the second set, Bernadette and Blanche, 7 years old. The babies are Jerry and Marian.

Police Say Letter Is Work of Crank; Push Hunt for Girl

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A letter which stated that Miss Frances St. John Smith, missing Smith college freshman, was being held in New York for ransom by kidnapers was termed "the work of a crank" today by State Detective Joseph V. Daley, who has been directing the search for the girl.

He said that the girl's father, St. John Smith, a New York broker, to whom the letter was addressed, had received similar messages almost daily since the girl disappeared. While Daley admitted there was a slight possibility of kidnaping, he said that nothing had occurred to make him discard his original theory that the missing student drowned herself in the Connecticut river.

That stream was again the center of the search today. Large parties patrolled its banks in Holyoke, seven miles south of this city, searching for the body. At the same time, others carried the search to Mt. Tom and the surrounding hills.

Nothing that even resembled a clue, was found, Daley said.

CORN BORER IN 13 STATES

Revision of Quarantine Regulations Is Planned.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine has announced a revision of the European corn borer quarantine which makes extensive additions to the areas regulated, on account of this pest. The newly quarantined territory, which infestations were discovered during the Summer and Fall of this year, consists of 781 townships in Vermont, western Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan.

The corn borer is now known to exist in 13 states, namely, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan.

The borer has moved south in Ohio until more than half of the state is infested. The front line of advance now describes a semi-circle through the state from Mercer County on the west to Belmont County on the east, going as far south as Pickaway County, Indiana Suffers.

In Indiana the infested area has practically trebled in the last year but is still confined to the northeastern corner of the state, the line extending diagonally to take in parts of St. Joseph, Marshall, Wabash, and Jay Counties.

The quarantined area in Michigan includes parts of St. Joseph, Midland and Kalamazoo Counties, all of Barry, Eaton, Clinton and Saginaw Counties, and all the territory east of these counties, as well as parts of all other counties bordering on Lake Huron.

In Pennsylvania the regulated area includes the entire northwestern part of the state as set off by a diagonal line extending roughly from the southwest corner to the northwest corner. The newly quarantined area consists of parts of Greene, Somerset, Bedford, Huntingdon, Montour, Northumberland, Fayette, Columbia, and all of Union, Lackawanna, Luzern, and Wyoming Counties.

Counties Added.

In New York, the County of Suffolk, and parts of Delaware, and Ulster Counties were added, making practically the entire state under regulation. Additional townships in Bennington County, Vermont, are now brought under quarantine and part of Berkshire County in western Massachusetts has been added. One township in Middlesex County, New Jersey, is now included in the regulated area.

HEFLIN TIRADE OPENS BITTER PARTY BATTLE

of silence no longer. He accused Mr. Hefflin of being unchivalrous in dragging the name of a woman into the debate. He said he was "sick and tired" of hearing anti-Catholic speeches by Mr. Hefflin, that he, Mr. Robinson, was a Methodist, that he was not a supporter of Al Smith but he believed matters had come to a serious stage when a man would be excluded from the nomination of a major party because of his religion or his nomination forced because of it.

Mr. Hefflin insisted that Mr. Robinson would not dare make such a speech in Arkansas and predicted his defeat for having made the speech he had just concluded. Senator Robinson declared that when war came nobody drew a distinction between Catholics or Protestants when men were dying for their country and that in no war had such a classification been made. On the contrary, he pointed to the heroic figure of Cardinal Mercier, applauded by the whole allied world for his courage, whereupon Senator Hefflin declared he wasn't talking about Catholicism during the war but what they now were doing to influence the American government.

Decided at Caucus.

Mr. Robinson asked unanimous consent once to get an immediate vote as to whether he should or should not be retained on the senate committee investigating the Hearst documents inasmuch as Mr. Hefflin said he would ask for Mr. Robinson's removal.

But Mr. Hefflin objected to a vote saying he wanted to be heard on the subject. This led to the calling of a caucus of democrats where the matter could be threshed out.

The broadest significance of the incident is that the democrats are being compelled much earlier than the democratic convention or the campaign to deal with the subject of anti-Catholic feeling.

There is no evidence that the debate was premeditated though charges to this effect are being made. Anyway the opponents of Senator Hefflin are saying that irrespective of the action of the democratic caucus, Mr. Hefflin is likely to head an independent democratic ticket for the presidency on an anti-Catholic platform with the object of cutting down Governor Smith's electoral vote if he should be the regular party nominee.

TRIALS FIRST AVERT WRECKS

Marriages Should be Planned Carefully, Sociologist Declares.

Washington.—Let's have trial engagements instead of trial marriages—for it's the months immediately preceding the trip to the altar, rather than the months just after, that are the most important in the making of a new home.

So said Dr. Benjamin R. Andrews of Columbia University before the annual meeting of the American Sociological Society here. Out of his extensive research into the causes of so much alleged disruption of the American home, Dr. Andrews drew some very definite conclusions.

It is during this engagement period that the young couple should thresh out the financial scheme of the embryonic household. It is on the shoals of money that most homes are wrecked, and this matter should by all means be settled before the "I do's" are said, Dr. Andrews believes.

"In the crucial time before marriage, the couple should look carefully into the cost of living and their assured incomes," he declared. "And a financial program should be laid out then."

"If the man and woman discover they can come to a perfect agreement on this point, there is added hope for the success of their marriage. But they might as well look out for storms ahead if their budget is agreed upon only with the half-hearted consent of one party or both."

Every prospective bride, in fact, would do well to test her husband-to-be during the engagement period by announcing tersely and decidedly, "I'm going to keep my job," according to Dr. Andrews.

A Prize Husband.

"If he answers, 'fine,' she has a prize," he explained. "But if he says, 'Woman's place is in the home,' or 'what will people say?' there is weakness in his character."

This discovery should come before marriage and not after.

Sufficient income is absolutely necessary for a new home, or any kind of home, Dr. Andrews said statistics showed. If the father cannot bring in enough to run the institution, then the mother or an older child must increase the income in some way.

"Over-spending or under-spending are frequent causes of domestic trouble," he said. "Spending should be a community affair in the family. And as the children grow up, they should be consulted on family expenditures, having a voice in the deliberations."

Wives Are Working.

Wives in practically one-fifth of the families of large cities are wage earners, Dr. Andrews found.

"But they are working outside the home and keeping the home, too," he said. "And it takes five hours a day for a woman properly to care for one child. The mother is coming to be considered a manufacturer of human values, carrying on her shoulders a large part of the responsibility of the success of the home."

"The American city home is passing through a crucial period of readjustment and the remarkable fact is not that there is so much divorce, but that the home survives at all."

WOMAN INJURED IN ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE POLICE DETECTIVES

Detroit, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Suddick, 29, suffered serious injuries today when she lost her hold on an improvised bed sheet rope and fell from the third floor of her apartment to the ground. She was attempting to escape detectives who were investigating reports that the apartment contained stolen goods.

The detectives entered the apartment and demanded that Mrs. Suddick dress and accompany them to the central station for questioning. She retired to a bedroom. A few minutes later the officers heard a scream and entering the room found a window opened and bed sheets tied to the bed. Mrs. Suddick was lying on the ground.

After Mrs. Suddick had been taken to a hospital the husband, William Suddick, entered the apartment and was arrested. Dresses, silks and two radio sets were found, all stolen recently.

Two Slightly Hurt When Train Derails

Battle Creek, Jan. 20.—(AP)—One passenger and a Pullman porter were slightly injured early today when the Atlantic flyer east-bound Grand Trunk passenger train from Chicago to Port Huron was derailed two miles from the Battle Creek depot. Forty-one passengers escaped injury.

The injured were Rev. Thomas R. Carey, Lapeer, Mich., who suffered an injury to his arm when a suit case fell out of a berth, and Emmett J. Henry, Chicago, Pullman porter, who received a leg injury. The derailment was caused by a broken rail, company officials said.

Seven coaches, all but the locomotive, left the tracks, and three Pullman cars leaped against an embankment which kept them from overturning. A relief train was made up here and went to the scene of the wreck, took the passengers aboard and continued on the trip to Port Huron.

Senate Passes First Appropriation Bill

Washington, Jan. 20.—(AP)—After twelve minutes of consideration the senate passed its first regular appropriation bill of the session today, that providing $90,000,000 for the expenses of the department of state, justice, commerce and labor, the next year.

Controversial matters in the bill had been worked out by the committee and with only a few members on the floor late in the day, the measure was rushed through almost without dissent.

The senate added almost $1,000,000 to the bill as it was passed by the house. The largest addition was an item for $475,000 for the development of aviation in the department of commerce which was asked recently by President Coolidge.

Another increase of $75,000 was authorized to be immediately available for the international joint commission of Great Britain and the United States in connection with waterways treaties.

All provisions of the house bill were accepted.

Two Men Found Not Guilty of Charge

Detroit, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Two men were found not guilty of illegally transporting liquor by a jury in Judge Edward J. Moines' court today upon the federal court's direction that the prosecution has not proved that the men knew the nature of the goods they were transporting. The decision was considered a precedent in prohibition law violation cases.

Silas G. Gauthier, who claims to be a survivor of the famous Princess Pat's regiment, and Arthur Morgan, were arrested last November near Clinton, Mich., by deputy sheriffs from Adrian and a state policeman for failure to display three green lights on their truck. The men showed a bill of lading which listed 25 cases of ammonia. The men refused to allow the officers to search the truck without a warrant. A warrant was obtained at Adrian, and the subsequent search disclosed 25 drums of whisky. The truck was owned by a corporation licensed to operate as a common carrier.

Judge Moines directed the jury to find the men not guilty inasmuch as the prosecution had not proved they had knowledge of what they were transporting.

"Harmless Drug" Proves to Be Poison; 8 Ill

Toledo, O., Jan. 20.—(AP)—A Wauke high school instructor and seven students were recovering from serious illnesses tonight while Prin. James A. Pollock and two detectives continued to investigate the substitution of a deadly poison for a harmless ingredient in the initiation rites of a school society yesterday.

Clarence C. Coontz, science teacher, who was most seriously ill, was reported by hospital authorities to be improving. Two of the students were recovering in a nearby hospital and the other five in their homes.

Pollock today questioned more than 40 students who attended the initiation party of the Alchemists' club. An examination of the chemical laboratory disclosed the substitution of the poison for a harmless, but ill-tasting chemical.

Miss Lulu Howard, chemistry instructor, who prepared the chemicals, said the poison was not on the table shortly before the initiation. She said it probably was placed there after her attention was attracted elsewhere.

The investigation tonight had failed to disclose who placed the poison on the table. It will be continued tomorrow.

Pollock characterized the incident as "regrettable." He thought the poison was substituted by some person who did not know its properties.

NO OBJECTIONS TO DISCUSSIONS

American Delegation Is Willing to Speak on Nicaraguan Question

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The United States' delegation to the Pan-American congress will interpose no difficulties to an open and frank discussion of American policies in the Caribbean and in Latin America generally.

It was said authoritatively today that should other participating countries urge such a review the United States' mission is quite ready to say to the assembled representatives of the twenty Latin American republics that Washington feels there is nothing to hide, nothing to regret in this government's stand in that connection.

In the absence of requests for such a debate, however—and so far no actual indication exists that any delegation will bring the matter up—American representatives will maintain their present policy of going to the limit in accommodating proposals and wishes emanating from other missions while avoiding any appearance of desiring to exert preponderant influence in conferences and deliberations.

It was pointed out, however, by the same authority that despite America's intention to leave nothing undone to facilitate good understanding and agreements at this conference, the Washington government has not changed its position on many points of national policy, regarding which its delegation here will doubtless at the proper time be adamant.

Elect Committee Head.

Specific points whereon the United States will prove intransigent were not designated but it was generally assumed that these include the proposal for the establishment of unconditional compulsory arbitration by the much-discussed Pan-American court, total prohibition under all conditions of international intervention and allied questions which it is expected will be thrashed out fully in committee here.

This morning in the last committee organization, Ambassador Judah nominated Eduardo Alfonso de Santo Domingo for the chairmanship of the committee on resolutions, with subsequent election.

Alfonso's nomination and election was practically the only important bit of business transacted in today's session of the conference, the congress adjourning shortly after noon to resume its sessions Monday.

STORM SWEEPS OVER MICHIGAN

impassable and schools at Aloha and Enos declared holidays.

Heavy snows that hampered traffic were reported in Charlevoix. The electric lighting system at Charlevoix and Bellaire were temporarily put out of commission when their joint power plant failed.

Officials of the Pere Marquette railroad and the Interstate Bus carriers reported transportation seriously disrupted.

Highways in the vicinity of Traverse City were blocked and telephone and telegraph service was paralyzed.

Trees were blown down and fences levelled over the entire district and farm outbuildings damaged.

Officials of the U. S. weather bureau at Detroit tonight estimated that the crest of the storm passed over the state during the afternoon and headed eastward over the North Atlantic states last night.

SEE RELIEF.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A winter's spasm of wind and cold afflicting the middle-west last night and today was less severe tonight with complete relief in sight tomorrow. At its height the wind attained a velocity of 65 miles an hour, doing small damage at scattered places in the Great Lakes states and tossing Lake Michigan about so turbulently that virtually all shipping remained in harbor. Two deaths, one at St. Paul and another at Milwaukee, were attributed to the storm.

Zero weather was recorded in the upper tier of lakes states, while in Illinois and Indiana, the thermometer dropped to ten degrees above.

Snow may follow moderation tomorrow.

A peculiar accident delayed many commuters today. The wind carried away a heavy switch control box and stalled ten Illinois Central suburban trains until the switch could be repaired.

STREET WORK COST $32,900

Kessler Makes Report of Repairs and Construction in 1927

Construction and repairs of Escanaba streets during 1927 cost a total of $32,900, according to a report given out by City Manager T. F. Kessler. The total length of streets on which work was done was 9,384 feet, which is about the distance of 31 city blocks.

The cost of retread jobs on four streets amounted to $3,800.73, the total line being 2,320 feet, while 5,480 feet of surface tread work on four streets cost $1,972.27.

The expenditure for the laying of new concrete on three streets in the city amounted to $27,127.80, the largest amount being $15,039.80 spent for about four blocks on Fifth avenue south.

The following statistics are contained in the report:
Retread—Fifth street, 320 feet, $197.39; Eighth street, 320 feet, $736.23; Fourth street, 320 feet, $296.65; Second Avenue North, 14th street east, 1,360 feet, $1,930.46.

Surface Tread—Tenth avenue south, 920 feet, $135.33; Sixteenth street south, 2160 feet, $576.84; Second avenue north, 14th street west, 1,120 feet, $374.38; North Sixteenth street, 1,230 feet, $562.82.

Concrete—Twelfth street south, 640 feet, $8,380.25; Fifth avenue south, 1,276 feet, $15,039.80; Eleventh street south, 320 feet, $3,707.75.

Advance Sale for Piano Recital Is Very Gratifying

The advance sale of tickets for the song and piano recital which will be given at St. Joseph's Auditorium Monday evening, January 23rd at eight o'clock under the auspices of Trinity Circle, Daughters of Isabella, is very gratifying to the committee in charge.

The two artists who appear in this city at this time in a well balanced program of vocal and instrumental music rank among the best talent ever brought to this city and the Daughters of Isabella are to be congratulated on securing such a fine program to present to local audiences.

It is expected that many music lovers from Gladstone and surrounding places will come to this city for the occasion.

The patronage of the public is solicited. The large number of new opera seats at St. Joseph's auditorium will accommodate a large audience and it is expected that the place will be filled to capacity for this performance which will start at eight o'clock sharp.

FLAPPER AGE PAYS HEAVY TOLLS FOR FADS

Chicago—Flappers are paying a heavy toll for the fads which call for slender forms and late hours; causing the eating of too little nourishing food and over-fatigue; and resulting in tuberculosis and allied diseases.

This according to Director Rawlings of the Illinois department of health who says that tuberculosis is 42 per cent greater among girls and young women, 10 to 35 years of age than among men of the same age. Mortality, he says, has declined sharply in all groups, except the "flapper age," and is attributable to the prevalent craze for gayety and good looks.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an established crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Escanaba Telephone Users Can Talk to Belgium, Now

Escanabans who desire to hold telephone conversations with relatives, friends or business associates in Belgium, may now do so at a rate of $81 for the first three minutes and $27 for each additional minute. It was announced here yesterday.

Belgium is the fifth foreign nation to be brought within speaking distance of the average American home. Connections will be made by way of London, using the transatlantic radio-telephone link which has been in service during the last year. Extensions to other European cities are contemplated in the near future.

Transatlantic telephone service to Belgian points will be in operation from 7:30 p. m. to 5 p. m. Eastern standard time, the same period as now in use for London. The rate for Belgian calls will be $3 higher for three minutes and $1 higher for each succeeding minute than the present rate to London. The plan of placing a call is the same as for any other long-distance point.

Used by Wolverines.
Since the opening of transatlantic telephone service, last January, from this country to Great Britain, there has been considerable use of the service by individuals and firms in Michigan cities. One Saginaw firm, in fact, utilized the transatlantic service to hold a board of directors meeting, with one member in London answering the roll call by telephone. There also have been such instances as the sale of an automobile by a Saginaw salesman over the telephone to a prospect in London, and of automobile horns by a Jackson, Michigan, company to a London firm, a demonstration of the article being given by telephone.

The transatlantic radiotelephone service, which is now being linked with the submarine telephone cable under the English Channel to Belgium, was opened for commercial service on January 7 of last year between New York and its suburban area and London and its suburban area. It was extended to Michigan February 12 and was gradually extended further on both sides of the Atlantic until, on March 25, it comprised five American zones which included all of the forty-eight states and Havana, Cuba.

ish Post Office, near St. Paul's Cathedral, the voice currents continue their journey 71 miles through Canterbury to Margate. There they enter a submarine telephone cable just north of the Strait of Dover and after 60 miles of under-water travel they emerge again near Ostend, Belgium. From there they continue 70 miles through Ghent to Brussels, and thence 29 miles to Antwerp.

Under the English Channel. The telephone circuit utilized at the European end of the transatlantic circuit is in telephone cable, either on land or under water. Repeaters to amplify the voice currents are located at Canterbury in England and at Ostend and Ghent in Belgium. The submarine cable consists of a number of pairs of wires, each of which is wrapped with very fine iron wire to improve its voice carrying properties.

On the return journey the voice of the Belgian speaker follows the same course backward as far as London. There, however, it branches and goes 85 miles to Rugby where the radio transmitting station for the westward transmission is located. The powerful radio waves sent out from that station travel 2900 miles until they are received upon a special antenna at Houlton, Maine. The radio waves carrying the voice are there converted into electric voice currents which flow over a 600 mile telephone circuit through the New England States to the New York long distance telephone office, and continue westward to the local office and finally to the telephone receiver of the Michigan subscriber.

Second Hand Store Man Admits Buying Stolen Property

Pleading guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods, Martin Schraeder, proprietor of the Schraeder Second Hand Store, Ludington avenue, paid fine and costs amounting to $18 in Justice of the Peace Ranguette's court yesterday.

Schraeder was arrested by police on a warrant, charging that he purchased a hail track mirror stolen from the Coleman See home about two weeks ago. Lawrence Guville, 18, confessed to committing the theft and disposing of the article to the second hand store.

corruption" in the Republican primary which nominated him for the office, made him personally ineligible for the position. Immediately it became known that Smith was returning to Illinois to seek vindication at the hands of the people.

The people of Illinois knew all about the sources of Smith's primary campaign fund and the manner in which it was expended, when they elected Smith to the senate. The Reed investigating committee had made a thorough job of uncovering the facts. This, however, did not prevent them from choosing Smith by a decisive majority over his Democratic opponent. One of the most powerful political combinations in any state—Len Small, William Hale Thompson and Charles S. Deneen—threw the whole weight of their influence and machinery back of Smith at that time.

There appears to be no good reason, now, why this same Small-Thompson-Deneen machine would not again support Smith if he is a candidate for reelection. These men have contended, all along, that the senate had no constitutional right to bar Smith; that primaries are state, not federal matters, and that what transpired in a primary was none of the senate's official business.

So, it will occasion no surprise if Smith is returned to the senate next autumn. Stranger things have happened in the State of Illinois.

And it remains to be seen whether the "personal" ineligibility mentioned in the senate resolution, will be kept alive if Smith returns with new credentials.

FOR MORE AND BETTER BATTLES.

The warden of the Ohio penitentiary has been having an argument with the head of the state's clemency board. What the argument was about we don't recall; but we believe you'll be interested in reading the comment that was made on it by Governor Donahy.

The controversy makes an ideal situation, says Donahy. "I think it's a good thing that public officials quarrel occasionally, for then they'll be watching each other. And when that happens the public's interests are most likely to be safeguarded, as one official will act as a check on the other. Let them fight."

That's a new way of looking at it, and we believe the governor is right. Here's for more and better fights among our public officials, from top to bottom!

BIGNESS, THAT'S US.

Bigness is the watchword in this country, and there doesn't seem to be any getting around it. Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, and a close student of American economic conditions, reveals that in 1925, the last year for which complete figures are available, 52 per cent of the total profits earned by U. S. business were made by one-fifth of one per cent of the number of corporations.

In addition, only one-fiftieth of one per cent of the corporations in America made 45 per cent of all the profits in their particular branches of industry.

The moral? Here's what Mr. Filene remarks: "The lion's share of the profits is going to the large, scientifically organized businesses."

Bigness—that's America, all over.

A PARTICULAR WISH.

Some dream of a heaven of gold, some dream of a heaven of song. But I have a dream of a heaven of mine, a dream I have dreamed all along. It isn't to carry a harp, it isn't to dance in a street, in fact I am hoping to get me a chance to rest both my hands and my feet. For this would be heaven for me, yes, this would be something sublime— To not have to be some particular place at any particular time. I rise a particular hour, to catch a particular car. To be at a certain particular desk, for people particular are, I have a particular job, to do a particular way. And always it seems it's especially hard that certain particular day. Oh, here's what makes labor a task, and here's what makes living a crime: Because you must be some particular place some certain particular time. Some wish for a plenty of coin, some long for a plenty of fame, I'm ready to say no particular wealth is my particular aim. No, all that I ask is enough to tell all the world to go hang. And not have to spend some particular day with any particular gang. When Gabriel blows his horn, I doubt if to heaven I'll climb. I don't want to be some particular place at any particular time.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE CHAPTER V

"I guess that's all, doc," Heath decided. "I'll get the body to the mortuary right away. Let's have the post-mortem as soon as you can." "You'll get a report in the morning," And despite his apparent eagerness to be off, Doctor Dorebus stepped into the bedroom and shook hands with Heath and Markham and Inspector Moran before he hurried out.

Heath followed him to the door, and I heard him direct the officer outside to telephone the department of public welfare to send an ambulance at once for the girl's body.

"Such detachment!" Vance said to Markham. "Here are you stewing most distressingly over the passing of one damsel fair and frail, and that little medicus is worrying only over a sluggish liver brought on by early rising."

"What has he upset over?" complained Markham. "The newspapers are not riding him with spurs. . . . And by the way, what was the point of your questions about the torn dress?"

Vance lazily inspected the tip of his cigarette. "Consider," he said. "The lady was evidently taken by surprise; for, had there been a struggle beforehand, she would not have been strangled from behind while sitting down. Therefore, her gown and corsage were undoubtedly intact at the time she was seized. But—despite the conclusion of your dashing Paracelus—the damage to her toilet was not of a nature that could have been self-inflicted in a brief struggle for air. If she had felt the constriction of the gown across her breast, she would have snatched the bodice itself by putting her fingers inside the band. But, if you noticed, her bodice was intact; the only thing that had been torn was the delicate flounce on the outside; and it had been torn, or rather ripped, by a strong lateral pull; whereas, in the circumstances, any wrench on her part would have been downward or outward."

Inspector Moran was listening intently, but Heath seemed restless and impatient; apparently he regarded the torn gown as irrelevant to the simple main issue.

"Moreover," Vance went on, "there is the corsage. If she herself had torn it off while being strangled, it would doubtless have fallen to the floor; for, remember, she offered considerable resistance. Her body was twisted sidewise; her knee was drawn up, on one slipper had been kicked off."

"Now, no bunch of silken poses is going to remain in a lady's lap during such a commotion. Even when ladies sit still, their gloves and hand-bags and handkerchiefs and programs and serviettes are forever sliding off their laps on to the floor, don't you know?"

"But if your argument's correct," protested Markham, "then the tearing off of the corsage could have been done only after she was dead. And I can't see any object in such senseless vandalism."

"Neither can I," sighed Vance. "It's all devilish queer." Heath looked at him sharply. "That's the second time you've said that. But there's nothing what you'd call queer about this mess. It is a straight-away case. He spoke with an overtone of insistence, like a man arguing against his own insecurity of opinion. "The dress might've been torn almost any time," he went on stubbornly. "And the flower might've got caught in the lace of her skirt so it couldn't roll off."

"And how would you explain the jewel-case, Sergeant?" asked Vance. "Well, the fellow might've tried the poker, and then, finding it wouldn't work, used his jimmy." "If he had the efficient jimmy," countered Vance, "why did he go to the trouble of bringing that we really need it.—Jackson Citizen Patriot.

Suggest Novel Way to Raise Submarine

Berlin (AP)—Interest in the raising of the sunken American submarine S-4 has spread even to Germany, and the Marcks brothers, Berlin inventors, have called attention to a device of their own whereby the craft might be floated. They propose the use of cloth bags, inside of which is a chemical preparation. "It seems," remarked one of the brothers, "that on account of the heavy seas it was impossible to use the pontoons after getting the chains under the hull. "Had the divers been equipped with these bags they could have taken them to the bottom of the ocean tightly rolled up. There they could have attached them to the chains at stated intervals and finally unrolled the bags. Chemical action would set in immediately, and the bags, becoming inflated, would force the submarine to the surface slowly, but certainly. The bags remain inflated for five or six hours. Large hydro-airplanes of two European factories and a number of Junkers land planes are equipped with the devices, and the crews of the Europa and the Bremen wore Marcks vests when they set out to fly to the United States. SNOW DRIFTS HALT TRAFFIC

Roads in Delta County Blocked Temporarily Yesterday

Although only three inches of snow fell during the storm which ended yesterday morning, roads in Delta county were blocked for several hours yesterday because of drifting, but the main trunk lines were open for traffic this morning. The high wind, which prevailed Thursday night and early Friday morning, banked up the snow several feet deep in the rural sections. Work of plowing the less traveled roads in the county was being done last night after completion of the snow removal on the state maintained highways.

Some of the northern counties fared more badly than Delta, according to reports received here. A severe blizzard raged in Alger county, cutting off Munising as far as automobile traffic was concerned all day Friday. It was expected that Alger county would be cleaned up sometime today, however.

Houghton, Baraga, Keweenaw, Marquette, Ontonagon, Gogebic and Chippewa counties were reported yesterday to be in the grip of a severe snowstorm. According to reports coming in at the office of H. L. Davies, division highway engineer, the various county crews were combating the drifts full force and were hopeful of having all the principal traffic lanes open by late today.

Roads in Iron, Dickinson, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Mackinac, Luce and Delta were designated as open, but that it was heavy going for motor vehicle travel.

The temperature tumbled down yesterday morning to two degrees below zero, and indications were that zero weather would prevail today.

Edward K. Ryan Is Name Chairman of "Prom" Committee

By C. C. SCHILLING
Washington, D. C., Jan. 20. (Special)—Edward K. Ryan of Escanaba, private secretary to Congressman Frank P. Bohn of the eleventh Michigan district, was appointed general chairman in charge of the All-Law school prom which will be held at the fashionable Carlton hotel on the evening of February 17th.

The All-Law school prom is without doubt the biggest mid-winter social function sponsored by Georgetown university and the chairmanship of it is a signal honor, bestowed only on those who have become prominently identified with class affairs during their four years at school. The position always goes to a senior and when President Charles Quirk was scouting around for a major domo he struck upon Ryan as the man for the job. His appointment is a popular one among the embryo lawyers. Close to five hundred couples will attend the prom which is the principal social affair at Georgetown since the holidays and the last one before Lent.

Ed Ryan came to Georgetown in 1924 after having taken his pre-legal work at Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind. He is a graduate of Escanaba high school. During his first three years at Georgetown he was employed in the office of the Allen Property custodian and when Dr. Bohn was elected to Congress he selected Ryan as his secretary.

St. Francis Hospital

Four girls were born yesterday at St. Francis hospital. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Harrington of Hermansville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitlock of Bark River, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Way and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Worch.

Joseph McGillis who submitted to a serious operation is resting easily but will not be allowed visitors for several days.

Raymond McCarney of Gladstone was admitted as a surgical patient. Earl Weissert, Lake Shore drive, underwent an operation for appendicitis and is as well as can be expected.

Mrs. Mary Neff of Gladstone was admitted yesterday and will submit to an operation today.

Joseph Hambois who was admitted suffering with frozen feet is resting easily.

Figures Show Work of Trappers in Peninsula

Caught Total of 1,355 Predatory Animals in 1927

State trappers in the upper peninsula, working under the direction of Jack Andrews, of Iron Mountain, in charge of predatory animal control in Michigan, caught a total of 1,355 animals during the year of January 1, 1927, to December 31, 1927, according to figures just given out.

The report is of interest at this time in view of the recent decision of the conservator on department to eliminate the position held by Mr. Andrews and place the trappers in charge of district game wardens. Mr. Andrews had an average of 26 men working under him. Some of them, however, were not employed the entire year, while from November 5 to December 5 all were engaged in game law work during the hunting season.

In addition, the trappers caught alive 50 beavers, which were sent to various parts of the state, and also trapped 319 weasels not included in the report.

The number of animals trapped represented a big increase over the total in 1926. Figures are not available for a comparison earlier than that date.

Engadine Man Is Killed in Florida

Engadine, Mich., Jan. 20.—Archie Welch, former resident of Engadine, lost his life with six other men at Panama City, Florida, Thursday while working on the construction of a bridge, according to word received here. The crew of steel workers were putting down a steel shell for pouring cement piers when the section tilted and turned upside down, holding the men on the inside as it sank to the bottom of the bay. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Three men recently held up the cashier of the Berlin zoo, and escaped with $5,500 found in the till.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Mrs. Wilkinson Injured—Mrs. Thomas J. Wilkinson, South Thirtieth street returned Saturday from a visit at Winnipeg, Can., where she spent Christmas with her son James, who is a student at Success College. Mrs. Wilkinson also visited two sisters and a brother and had a very fine trip but met with an accident as she returned to her home in this city. Mrs. Wilkinson arrived on an early train Saturday morning and took a street car to her home.

When she reached the corner near her home she slipped on the icy walk and fractured her right arm near the wrist.

She was taken to a physician who set the fracture and Mrs. Wilkinson is recuperating at her home.

Her many friends are hoping for a speedy recovery and welcome her home after an absence of several weeks.

Taken to Duluth—Frank LaValley, arrested here when he attempted to issue a fraudulent check at the Fair store, was taken to Duluth, Minn., last night by Patrolman John Olson to answer charges there. It is alleged LaValley cashed worthless checks amounting to about $200 in Duluth. His case was not pressed here. He waived extradition.

Marriage License—John Hughes and Miss Elsie Haets of Wells have applied at the county clerk's office for a marriage license.

Terrace Gardens—Cavi's Elks of Iron Mountain will play for the dancing party at Terrace Gardens tonight.

Bake Sale—The Barr school P. T. A. will hold a bake sale at Peterson's Flower shop this morning, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. Baked goods of every description will be on sale. Telephone orders will be given special attention.

Pythian Smoke—Plans are being made for a Knights of Pythias smoker on Wednesday, February 1. There will be an interesting program, some social features and a lunch. The annual roll call of the lodge, which will celebrate the fifty-fourth anniversary of Pythianism, probably will be held on February 22, it was said yesterday.

Chicago Pastor to Speak—Rev. Magnus A. Hydehn of Chicago will preach at the Sunday morning and evening services of the Swedish Methodist church. Rev. Hydehn is known as a forceful speaker, and as he has been here before it is expected that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of again hearing him.

Synopsis and second installment of RICHTHOFEN

The Red Knight of Germany

Richthofen, the Kaiser's Deadliest Ace, Brought to Death, After 80 Victories, by the Canadian Boy, Roy Brown

Written by the Celebrated War Correspondent

FLOYD GIBBONS

VON RICHTHOFEN

SHORTLY before 1900 two baby boys were born on opposite sides of the world, one near Ottawa, Ontario; the other in East Prussia. Who living at that time could have believed that the Canadian baby would kill the German baby in a battle in the air above a farm in France, occupied by Australian soldiers, who wore steel helmets? Airplanes had not been invented when these babies were born, and steel helmets had been long abandoned.

One of these boys was Baron Manfred von Richthofen, of a long line of Prussian nobles. His forefathers had worn the uniform of their king since the days of armor and chargers. They had nearly all been in the cavalry, because that was the aristocratic and dashing branch of the military service.

Young Richthofen went to the military schools and learned that peculiar arrogance which belonged to the lieutenant in the days before the Great War. He was a lieutenant at twenty-one, and his soul went up every night in prayer for war.

The other boy was named Roy Brown. He was born in Carleton Place, Ontario, a peaceful little town of 4,000 persons. His father was a business man. Roy played pool and baseball and went to high school. Saturday afternoon he spent tinkering with his flivver, and Saturday night, he took his girl out for a ride. When a Serbian killed the Austrian Archduke in Serajevo, it didn't mean much to Roy Brown. Serbia was vague in his mind, and Serajevo, he had never heard of.

It was different with Lieutenant von Richthofen. He knew enough about Eastern history to have the hope that the assassination would be the spark which would light the world in flame. His soul was bathed in effable joy. At last, war! A few weeks later he was riding his Uhlan against Cossacks.

But science had passed up the horse. The cavalry couldn't stand engagements with modern weapons. A few months later he was at a school of aviation, and a few months later he was an ace, and a few months later he was the most celebrated of all the Kaiser's aces—the champion of the air, the Red Knight of Germany. He had shot down eighty planes, and been twice decorated by the German Kaiser in person.

Meanwhile, changes had also come over Roy Brown. He learned where Serbia was, where Serajevo was, and where Belgium was. He forgot the Toronto baseball team, took a private course in flying and enlisted in the Royal Naval Flying Corps, where he became Flight Sub-Lieutenant Roy Brown. While he was no Richthofen, he was an ace. He had shot down twelve German planes, had been decorated by the King of England, and had been promoted to Captain.

Fate was bringing these boys from opposite sides of the world nearer together.

It was the twenty-first of April, 1918. Richthofen was with his fighting squadron in the sky. He was on the tail of a young man named May, who had spent his ammunition. His bullets were cutting between the wings of young May's plane, who was in his first air fight, when Roy Brown dove upon the unseeing Richthofen from behind. It was a long shot and had to be a quick one or May was gone. One bullet reached the flying Uhlan, piercing his heart. He never knew what hit him.

This was the last bullet which Brown ever shot at an enemy. He came to the ground, learned the identity of his quarry, and collapsed from over-strain. While the British soldiers gave Richthofen a beautiful and chivalric funeral, Brown lay unconscious in a hospital, suffering from an attack of hysteria which left him never the same man again.

HIGHWAY COM'N BUYS BUILDING

Part of Tannery Will Be Used as General Warehouse

Purchase of a section of the tannery building, near Wells and eight and a half acres of land adjoining the property by the Delta county road commission from Charles F. Glavin was announced by R. P. Mason, county highway engineer, yesterday. The consideration was $6500. It was said.

The county road commission will use the place as a general warehouse to take the place of the present building on North Eighteenth street, which is too small to accommodate all the road machinery owned by the county. Alterations to the new building will be made and it is expected that it will be put into use early next summer. No plans have been made yet for the disposition of the present warehouse after it is vacated.

The tract of land, which was bought, is located between the tannery building and the highway. It will be used as a storage yard for some of the equipment.

Mr. Glavin acquired the large building from the Michigan Tanning & Extract company at a public auction held last fall on a bid of $13,000. The part acquired by the county is on the south end and comprises more than one-third of the huge brick and steel structure.

Old U. S. Liquor Ban Unearthed by W. C. T. U.

Evanston, Ill. (AP)—The city of Washington had federal prohibition in 1832—for a 90-day period. A proclamation found among historic documents at Rest Cottage, Evanston, headquarters of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, bars the sale of liquor in the national capital for that length of time. It is believed to have been the first federal gesture toward prohibition.

Andrew Jackson was president then, and the proclamation emanated from the board of health after Attorney General Wirt had given legal advice.

The document said: "The vending of ardent spirits, in whatever quantity, is considered a nuisance and as such is hereby directed to be discontinued for the space of 90 days from date."

The proclamation tells of "a gross shop to envy twelve families in the towns of Alexandria and Georgetown," and complains that the widespread sale of spirits in groceries, taverns and tipping houses had led to "continued growth of the budget for paupers and outdoor poor."

Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star Spangled Banner" and attorney for the District of Columbia during the Jackson administration, was one of the prohibition leaders of the time.

"The $21,000 spent annually by the United States in prosecuting crime at the national capital could be cut in two if the rum shops were discontinued," he wrote.

Mississippi Overflow Higher Than 1927 Easily Possible

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—The possibility of Mississippi floods even greater than the one which swept down the river this year was explained at a joint meeting of the American Meteorological society, the American Association of Geographers and the American Association for the Advancement of Science section on geology and geography.

Dr. Harry C. Frankfort, senior meteorologist of the United States weather bureau at Washington, asserted, however, that "the probability of extremely remote and the possibility hardly less so."

"Yet," he added, "granted a little more favorable association and synchronization of the necessary causative factors, one can conceive of a future flood from Cairo to the Passes with crests from two to four feet higher than those attained in 1927."

Although the 1927 flood was the greatest in history, its crest was reduced by levee crevasses to an extent ranging from less than a foot at Paducah, Ky., to eight or more feet at Natchez, Miss.

Combination of Factors. Dr. Frankfort said, "a study of the precipitation data for the floods of 1852, 1903, 1912, 1913, 1922 and 1927 appears to indicate that a water cover of about ten inches in three or four months from January to April will probably result in a great flood from Cairo southward."

Other elements, however, enter into determination of the magnitude of the floods in the lower Mississippi, he explained.

"Comparison of the precipitation data as a whole does not disclose any particular reason why the flood of 1927 should have so far exceeded that of 1922," he declared. "The total water cover (in the Mississippi basin) in 1927 from January to April, inclusive, was 10.79 inches, whereas in 1922 it was 10.58, or only .21 inch less than in 1927."

"The behavior in both years was much the same. Both January and February were deficient and differed but little. March was in excess (of normal) in both 1922 and 1927, but more so in 1922, and the maximum flood occurred during that month. April was in excess in both 1922 and 1927, not so much so in 1922 as in March, while in 1927 the April excess was much greater, and the maximum flood occurred during that month."

"All of which appears to make it obvious that the distribution of precipitation as to time, intensity and locality is almost as important as the amount thereof."

Ohio System Important. The Missouri river above the mouth of the Platte and the Mississippi above the mouth of the Wisconsin, he said, do not contribute materially to the lower Mississippi floods. They are caused, he asserted, by heavy rains properly distributed over the great central basins of eastern Kansas, eastern Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, the Ohio valley, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Louisiana. The Ohio river and its large southern tributaries are usually the dominating factors, although this year the Arkansas-White system was of equal importance.

Dr. Isaac Monroe Cline, senior meteorologist and forecaster in charge of the New Orleans center of the western bureau, recalled that floods in the Mississippi river have been of great concern to inhabitants of the lower Mississippi valley since the settlement of New Orleans in 1718. He attributed the recent increase in flood stages to improvement in strength and height of levees and outlined the complex considerations involved in making forecasts of flood stages in the main channel, since 1903, have been issued from three to four weeks in advance of the crest.

"Increase in the strength and height of levees has decreased the frequency of crevasses," he warned, "but has increased the danger of disastrous overland floods from such breaks as occur because of the increased head of water within the levees."

Pepin Not Guilty, Verdict of Jury

A jury in Justice of the Peace Ranguet's court yesterday afternoon rendered a verdict of not guilty in the case of George Pepin, charged with keeping a disorderly place in violation of a city ordinance.

Pepin was arrested by police on Christmas eve. According to testimony by members of the force, they found three young girls and their three boy companions in a rear room, where an empty bottle, which smelled of moonshine liquor, was lying on the floor.

Defense witnesses, which included the three young girls, testified that they entered the Pepin tire shop, 523 Ludington, to enjoy the warmth of the stove. They explained their presence in the rear room by saying that they were frightened when they saw the police approach and went into hiding. They denied that they had taken any liquor while in Pepin's shop.

City Atty. T. J. Riley prosecuted the case, while Atty. H. J. Rushon represented the defendant. The jurors were A. J. Young, Harry Tilbert, John Bartella and Walter Wickert.

Pepin is still under parole in connection with a conviction of a prohibition law violation about two and a half years ago. Conviction of the charge of keeping a disorderly place would have meant his serving a year in Jackson state prison, according to the terms of his parole given by Judge R. C. Flannigan.

STARTS LONG ROW

New York—After fourteen years at sea and sixteen years spent along the beach, Charles Sellito, 47, is going on a vacation. He is rowing a 12-foot skiff from New York to Miami, Fla., hugging the shore line all the way. Once there, he will row back again, planning to return before the bathing season starts, for he is a bathroom keeper.

Man Jews Have Homes in Capital

Berlin (AP). That almost one-third of the Jews in Germany live in the capital, Berlin, is one of the interesting facts revealed in the statistical year book for 1927, recently published. It appears that the total number of Jews in Germany is 554,000. Of these, 172,000 are citizens of Berlin.

Another interesting figure contained in the annual is that of the number of avowed believers in the Greek-orthodox faith in Germany. There are 19,000 of them.

STUNT FLYING IS DENOUNCED

Taking Absurd Chances Said to be Harmful to Aviation.

New York.—Air tragedies will become less frequent when government supervision of flights is made more stringent, in the opinion of Floyd Bennett, the noted pilot who flew over the North Pole.

"There is too much haphazard flying," declared Bennett. "Stunt flights by inexperienced aviators are bad for aviation."

Bennett deplored the disaster that apparently has befallen the ill-fated amphibian plane "The Dawn," bearing Mrs. Frances W. Grayson and a crew of three men on the first leg of what was to have been a transatlantic hop to Copenhagen.

He praised the courage of Mrs. Grayson, but added:

"She was not a flyer. She had no business directing such a flight. The most she should ever have done was to engage competent flyers and tell them that when they were ready she would go along as a passenger."

Careful Preparation. No transatlantic flight should be attempted without the most careful preparation, in Bennett's opinion. He said he believed that eventually the department of commerce will thoroughly investigate the qualifications of all pilots and navigators who essay a hazardous air voyage.

"I believe one of three things happened to the Dawn," said Bennett. "Either the ship experienced motor trouble, ran into a dense fog that made navigation impossible or ice formed on the wings of the plane, forcing it down."

"It is one thing to fly a plane and another to be able to fly in the clouds at night. If you go into a cloud the horizon is blotted out and you have to depend upon your instruments entirely. If you cannot fly by instrument, it is impossible to keep the plane on an even keel under such circumstances. This fact merely accentuates the need of careful advance examination of pilots."

Professor Praises Cruising College; Says Plan Works

Nashville, Tenn.—The college cruise for a full college year is feasible and of high educational value, Dr. Douglas C. Ridgely told the National Council of Geography Teachers tonight. Dr. Ridgely is professor of geography in education at Clarke university, Worcester, Mass.

Dr. Ridgely described to his fellow teachers his experience as professor of geography on the first college cruise attempted, which was made aboard the steamship Ryndam from September 18, 1926, to May 2, 1927.

"College credits can be earned and evaluated on a college cruise as definitely and as satisfactorily as in a land college," he said.

"Some college subjects are better adapted than others for systematic instruction on a college cruise. The educational director of a college cruise may develop a rich and varied curriculum made up of those subjects in which there is a close correlation between class room instruction on ship and shore experience of land journeys."

"The order and method of presentation of systematic courses on a college cruise should be modified in order to capitalize the experiences of the cruise. The course may thus cover all the essentials and be strengthened by first-hand observations."

Says Man Needs Knowledge Without Harming Religion

Nashville, Tenn.—Man today faces the need of displacing old concepts with scientific knowledge of himself and the world—without impairing anything essential to the emotional side of his religion, Dr. William E. Ritter told the American Association for the Advancement of Science, recently. Dr. Ritter is organizer, and for many years was director of the Scripps Institution of Oceanographic Research at La Jolla, Cal.

Speaking at a symposium on "Science for the People," Dr. Ritter declared that research workers and news reporters have a common meeting ground in truth. The evolution theory, now passing into a new phase called "Emergent Evolution," he asserted, was an inviting common ground for journalism and science.

He assailed as "monstrous" the theory that mind and body "are so utterly different that they cannot have any casual relation with each other," and continued:

"We shall presently see more clearly than ever before that the greatest significance of the phenomena of the origin and development of living beings is that they complete the circle of evidence which justifies the conclusion that the order of nature is a truly universal order...."

"What we are here saying in a positive terminology may perhaps be more obvious if said in a negative terminology. The greatest significance of the origin and development of living beings is in their completing the evidence that the natural order is such that there is neither place nor need anywhere for such a conception as that of a supernatural."

The most vital spot in this situation, he asserted, was the perception that religion, based on one of the most powerful and universal of all human emotions, was natural in the same sense that all other emotions were.

"Almost certainly, man's belief in the supernatural has resulted from his efforts toward a rational explanation of the peculiar form of his emotion here involved...."

Boys Conference Will Be Limited to 500 Delegates

Plans are rapidly being completed for the 1928 sessions of the Older Boys' Conference which will be held February 17 to 19 at Sault Ste. Marie. One of the main speakers will be Dr. J. M. Artman of Chicago, National Secretary of the Religious Education Association. Dr. Artman was for eight years head of the religious education department at the University of Chicago. Because of his knowledge, he is much sought after for such gatherings.

Boys from all over the Peninsula are expected to attend the three day sessions. Delegates will come representing high schools, boys' clubs, churches and Sunday Schools. Any boy, fifteen to twenty years of age, who has shown possibilities of leadership is eligible to register.

In order to limit this year's conference to 500 delegates, quotas have been assigned all towns in the peninsula. Registration cards and descriptive folders are being distributed to men serving as town chairmen. Special rates of fare and one-half will prevail on all railroads.

LIVER RISING IN POPULARITY

Milwaukee May Find It In Drug Stores Next.

Milwaukee—Milwaukee is caught in a strong bull market on liver.

There was a time when the butcher graciously gave it away. But alas to the lover of liver and onions, the corner butcher, no matter if you have paid your bills promptly, no longer complies to the request for a "bit of cat meat" by adding a generous slice of liver. Liver has taken its place alongside of the tenderloin and T-bones, the chops and cutlets. Liver is 60 cents a pound and scarce. Nor does it have to be pate de foies gras to command this price, according to Milwaukee butchers.

The reason is that liver, the plebian meat, has been elevated into therapeutical favor along with spinach, cod liver oil and carrots.

Price Has Jumped

In searching around for an arresting factor in pernicious anemia, physicians stumbled on to the fact that no diet was as effective as raw liver. Thereupon there came a craze for liver and sweetbreads, ground fine and eaten raw in liquid foods. Liver jumped from 20 cents a pound to 40 cents and now calves' liver has taken a bound to 60 cents a pound.

Milwaukee packers report an abnormal demand for liver. Even the common best variety retails at around 40 cents a pound with sweetbreads, also used in the new raw meat diet, costing from 60 to 90 cents a pound. Before the packers and butchers threw them away.

If Janesville, Wis., one must lie forth early and often look long in a search for liver. Janesville, astounded by a remarkable recovery of one of her prominent citizens, has gone on a raw liver diet. The infirm are marveling at the results.

Andrew J. Gibbons, Janesville furniture manufacturer, was a victim of pernicious anemia in Mercy hospital. Friends were doubtful of his recovery. Physicians of the Dr. W. A. Munn clinic were called in and offered the simple remedy of raw liver. Three weeks later the patient walked out of the hospital.

News Spread Fast

Word of the miracle properties of just plain liver spread fast with the resultant boom. It is a lucky housewife that can find calves' liver in Janesville now.

Milwaukee physicians explain the effectiveness of the strange diet to the fact that raw liver has a high caloric count and that recent research experiments tend to indicate pernicious anemia is caused by a deficiency in food. Before blood transfusions were used extensively to halt the affliction.

Butchers here declare that if the demand keeps up liver may go as high as $1 a pound and they will not be surprised to see drug stores handling it under a Latin medical name.

Slam now has 1,548 miles of state railroads.

Strange Animals Sought in Wilds

New Orleans, La. (AP)—The golden furred monkey, the giant panther, the blue tiger, the giant seal, the bantang and other animals the names of which would fit into Marco Polo's diary are prizes sought in Asiatic jungles by four Americans, headed by Capt. Harold A. White of the Field Museum of Chicago.

With Capt. White are Morris and Sidney Legendre of New Orleans, graduates of Tulane and Princeton and recent Oxford students, and Ben Finney, of Richmond, Va., all athletics with a liking for science. It was Morris who in 1920 threw the second longest successful forward pass in football history, 65 yards, in the Detroit-Tulane game.

Of the rare animals sought, the golden furred monkey and the giant panther are the most desired. The former is a monkey covered with long, golden hair, beautiful in appearance and so rare that even ancient Chinese manuscripts number it among gifts worthy of presentation to emperors.

The sealion is one of the largest animals in the world and Capt. White already has one to his credit. It weighed 3,000 pounds and its great head is now in the New Zoological Gardens.

After six months in the jungles the hunting party, which sailed from San Francisco January 6, will return with its collection for the Field Museum.

THIS FELLOW MAKES JULES VERNE A PIKER

Miami, Fla. — Jules Verne's flight of imagination in a trip to the moon is completely eclipsed by an Ohio chemist and engineer who is planning a trip to Venus.

Robert Condit, who hails from the town of the same name in the Buckeye state, is rather secretive about his plans. He has, however, announced that the trip would necessitate a maximum speed of 3,400 miles a minute and that a most powerful explosive would be used to drive his craft through the 30 or 40 miles of atmosphere surrounding the earth.

Condit is apparently well supplied with funds. He has built a sort of hangar here, at the surf's edge, for his headquarters. This is surrounded by a six-foot board fence to preclude all chance observations.

For the first time known, a shark and a white sturgeon were caught recently at Nova Zembla, the Arctic island in the Kara Sea, and observers there say that this indicates that a warm ocean current has shifted so that it now skirts the shores of the island.

Menus for a Family

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Baked apples, cereal, cream, sausage, cakes, bread crumbs, pancakes, syrup, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Cream of spinach soup with spinach balls, button radishes and new onions, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, date pudding, grape juice.

Dinner—Pork chops baked with apples, baked sweet potatoes, onions baked in the husks, cabbage and orange salad, crackers and cheese, milk, coffee.

Pork Chops Baked With Apples. Choose rib chops and remove bones. Allow one or two chops for each person to be served. Put one tablespoon minced onion into a small dish with vinegar to cover. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and let stand half an hour. Drain off vinegar when ready to use. Sprinkle chops with salt and pepper.

Pare and core apples and cut in half-inch slices across the fruit. Put a layer of apples into a slightly buttered casserole, sprinkle with brown sugar and a dash of cinnamon. Add a sprinkling of onion and cover with chops. Continue layer for layer of apples and chops until the sufficient number of chops is used. Make the last layer of apples. Add two or three tablespoons of water to prevent burning before the juice is drawn from the apples. Cover casserole and bake in a moderate oven for one hour. Remove cover to brown the top before serving.

Washington Cream Pie. One cup grated coconut, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, 1-2 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 3 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Cream butter and sugar. Beat yolk of egg, until thick, with half the milk. Add to first mixture and beat well with egg beater. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and add alternately with remaining milk to first mixture. Add vanilla and beat until perfectly smooth. Pour into an oiled and floured shallow cake pan and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. Add one tablespoon very cold water to white of egg and beat until stiff and dry. Gradually add powdered sugar, beating well. When cake is cool, split and spread

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal cooked with dates, cream, French toast, syrup, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Creamed salmon on toast, head lettuce, canned peaches, marguerites, milk, tea.
Dinner—Hungarian goulash, baked squash, prune and cottage cheese salad, Washington cream pie, milk, coffee.

Healthy Bodies Breed Wholesome Minds—Eat Lots of—

BIG BOY

"THE WONDER LOAF"

Simple foods such as bread, butter and milk represents the most healthy diet you can get.

Bread contains in an ideal form the vitamins necessary to the health and growth of the body.

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA CO. JUST AROUND THE CORNER FROM EVERYBODY

lower half with the frosting.

Breakfast—Bananas, cereal, cream, baked hash, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Liver and rice loaf, endive, orange bread, milk.

Dinner—Boiled fresh codfish, egg sauce, steamed white potatoes, sprouts, pepper and cabbage salad, lemon meringue pie, coffee.

Liver and Rice Loaf. Three-fourths pound calf's liver, 2 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon minced sweet pepper, 3-4 teaspoon celery salt, 1 cup hot water, 1-2 cups hot rice, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, coarse bread crumbs.

Four boiling water over liver and let stand ten minutes. Drain and chop in a chopping bowl. Melt bacon fat in hot frying pan and cook chopped liver in it until brown. Add onion, salt, pepper, celery salt and hot water. Stir until thoroughly mixed, cover and bring to the boiling point. Let cook five minutes and drain off the fat.

Combine the liver with rice and add the stock thickened with flour rubbed to a smooth paste in a little cold water. Mix thoroughly and season with Worcestershire sauce. Shape in a loaf and bake in a deep pan lined with oiled paper. Sprinkle with coarse bread crumbs after placing the pan. When the crumbs are brown the loaf is done.

Breakfast—Calif. grapes, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs on milk toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Tomato bouillon, molded rice and nut salad, brown bread sandwiches, spice cake, cocoa.

Dinner—Braised veal cutlets, Irish potatoes in parsley butter, creamed cauliflower, spice cake, cocoa.

The luncheon salad is quite novel and decidedly hearty.

Molded Rice and Nut Salad. One-third cup brown rice, 1/2 cup boiling water, 1/2 cup chopped roasted peanuts, 1/4 cup diced celery, lettuce ribbons, boiled salad dress, lettuce.

Cook rice in boiling salted water for ten minutes. Add juice of oranges and 1 teaspoon grated rind and cook over hot water until tender. Remove from heat and add nuts. Work until thoroughly blended using a fork rather than spoon for stirring.

Breakfast—Orange fruit sections, cereal, cream, soft cooked eggs, cranical waffles, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Bean soufflé, brown bread and butter sandwiches, apple and celery salad, grape tapioca, milk, tea.

Dinner—Hamburg roast, potatoes baked with cheese, stewed tomatoes, orange puff pudding, milk, coffee.

Grape Tapioca. One and one-half cups, grape juice, 1 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup sugar, 1/2 cup minute tapioca, 3 tablespoons lemon juice. Combine grape juice, water and sugar. Put over the fire and bring to the boiling point. When boiling, stir in tapioca. Add salt and cook, stirring to prevent sticking, until transparent. Remove from fire. Stir in lemon juice and turn into a mold. Chill and serve with or without whipped cream.

This is an excellent dessert for small children as well as adults.

Breakfast—Apple sauce, cereal, cream, country sausage, potatoes hashed in milk, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Fish timbales, canned string beans, carrot sticks, popcorn, fruit sauce, milk, tea.

Dinner—Boiled mutton, mashed turnips and potatoes, grape fruit salad, queen pudding, milk, coffee.

Queen Pudding. One egg, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1-2 cup molasses, 1 teaspoon soda, 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, few grains nut.

Beat egg until light. Beat in sugar, melted butter and molasses.

ELEPHANT IS GAINING FAVOR

Large and Tiny Pachyderms Adorn May Accessories at Present.

By Julia Blanshard. New York—America seems threatened with an elephant epidemic! Everywhere one looks the elephant motif shuffles into view.

Elephants, as a matter of fact, are on the high road to becoming the favorite American animal—for decorative purposes. They seem utterly democratic in the way they lend themselves to a wide variety of uses.

In the windows of an exclusive Fifth Ave. jewelry shop, tiny twin elephants of delicately hand-carved white jade establish pachyderms as modish for Milady's earrings.

In less exclusive quarters, tiny elephants of gold, silver or enamel dangle from novelty bracelets, neck chains and even anklets. A sports suit takes an embroidered elephant on its shoulder instead of a flower.

Various accessories for women bear elephants. A gorgeous bag of old Chinese brocade in rich blues and yellows, takes four metal elephants marching across its fastening for novelty. Another has an elephant's head for the snap that closes its fastening. Scarfs, handkerchiefs, ties and hats use them.

Elephants are printed in various sizes, colors and groupings in handblocked linens for nursery curtains and bed-spreads. And a charming new bridge set has a dawn pink elephant plunked in its black center and four little pink rhina elephants to weigh down its corners.

Porcelain elephants are almost as old a vogue in America as the carved ivory ornaments. But what modernists have done to the porcelain, glass and pottery elephants in the name of progress and to what uses they have pressed this willing beast of burden is surprising.

In Pastel Shades. He appears in pastel shades and humorous interpretations for candlesticks, banks, candy dishes, paper weights, flower vases, gold fish bowls, cactus pots, ink wells and so on. A squat pair in pinkish and bluish tones have exaggerated ears that wait patiently for cigarette ashes to be knocked into them. Others hold their trunks up expectantly for the same good useful purpose.

In metal, the ubiquitous elephant fashions book ends, bases for lamps and even andirons. A unique hand-carved wooden end table for davenport use has a lovely carved elephant for its base, with a wide, solid table top resting on his back.

Altogether the stolid pachyderm is enjoying popularity such as might easily turn the head of a flightier favorite.

German Busses Carry Mail and Passengers

Berlin—Motor busses are being used here to carry both passengers and mail on routes not served directly by the railroads.

Reports of the German post office department, which controls the service, indicate that the 2,714 busses operated over 18,000 miles of routes carried 16,500,000 passengers in the first six months of this year. The fare is the same as on the railroads, slightly less than four cents a mile.

The service has grown from 428 busses operating over 3,600 miles of routes in 1920 and still is increasing. The reports estimate the total distance covered last year as in excess of 23,000,000.

CASABA MELON. A delicacy for starting a meal is casaba melon, cut in tiny balls with a French vegetable cutter, and served icy, with powdered sugar and ginger.

Statistics show that United States weather forecasts are correct nine times out of ten.

CITY HAS A HEART.

Cleveland—Joe Hansen's dog was caught by the dog catcher. Joe's friends told him about it. But Joe had only $5 and the dog catcher wanted $5.75 to release the dog. He told his story to Safety Director Barry, explaining how he had saved his pennies so he could buy a gift for his mother. The director told Joe to buy the present and ordered the dog released and the expense charged to the "city with a heart."

IT TAKES 1,000,000 STEERS TO PUT A MODERN DIRIGIBLE IN THE AIR

BY ALLENE SUMNER
NEA Service Writer

Akron.—The King of the elves, in the old fairy tales, sent his pixies and gnomes and dwarfs out into the wide world to seek enough nightingales' tongues or bluebirds' breasts to be woven into a magic carpet for the King's daughter, the lovely princess. This modern workaday world seems awfully far from the time of fairies, but in this city, perhaps the busiest industrial town in the country, a modern fairy tale is being lived which even the buzz and drone of modern machinery cannot drown.

Hundred of girls work in the Goodyear Rubber Company here doing nothing but inspecting hundreds of thousands of cattle tissues in order that the dirigibles, those fantastic birds of the air, may ride safely from ocean to ocean. Can't substitute for Nature. Nearly a hundred girls are now employed searching out perfect cattle inner tissues for new gas cells for the navy dirigible Los Angeles. It takes tissues from 1,000,000 steers to make cells and envelope for the Los Angeles.

Science has spent hundreds and thousands of dollars, says J. R. Keller, foreman of the skin room of the big plant, in a vain attempt to find a synthetic "something just as good" for the famous "goldbeater cloth," which is nothing but the casing of the lower intestine of cattle.

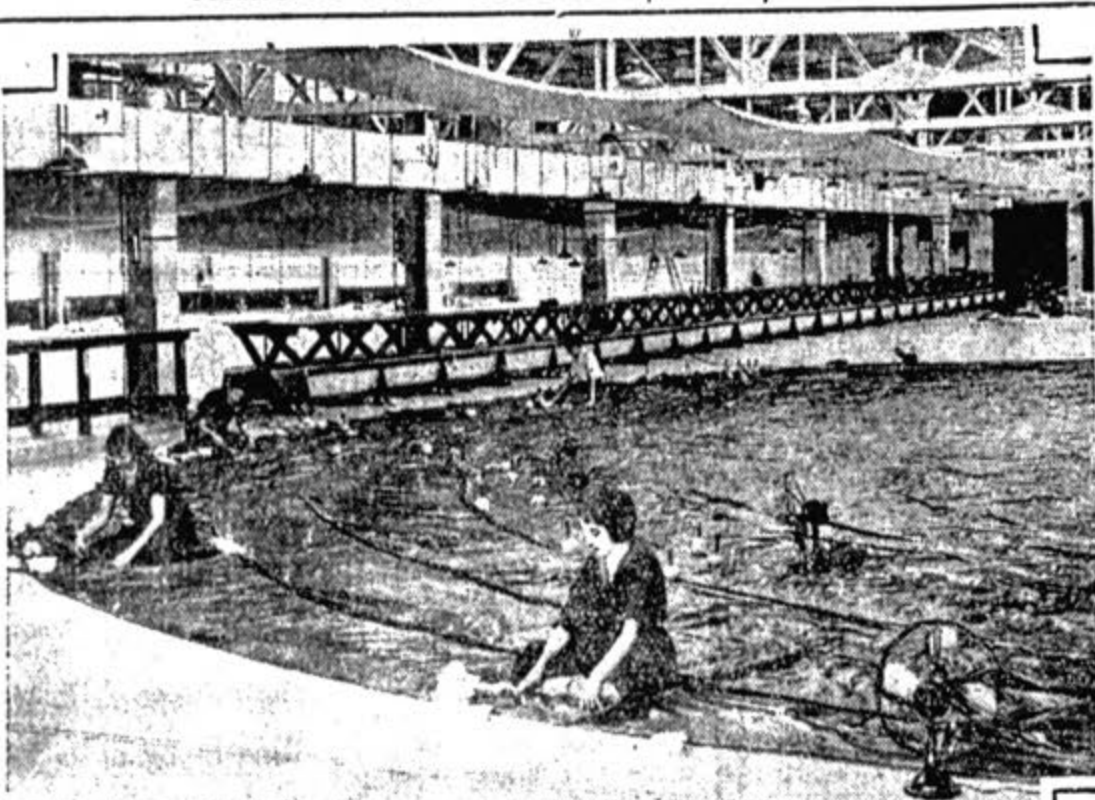

But the old-fashioned bossy cow has won out over grave men in their laboratories. No good substitute has yet been found. And the great ships of the air fly because thousands and millions of cattle have died, giving their vital tissues to these inanimate "birds" of wood and steel and aluminum and silk.

"Goldbeater cloth" was known to the alchemists of old. Medieval goldsmith knew its worth. Cellulose himself hammered out his famous sheets of gold, thin as silk, from which he fashioned the most beautiful objects of gold the world has ever seen. By placing the precious metal between what the ancients called "steer stomachs," medical science not yet having decided where the stomach actually began and finished.

The old prospectors of '49 knew the worth of "steer stomach," too. Story has it that occasionally as much knifing and hawking went on over the dead body of an old cow or steer as over a gold claim itself. The prospectors wanted to get their case knives into the body, rip out the precious tissue, and have "goldbeater cloth," the best substance known to encase the ore and dust while it was pounded to yield up the precious gold. Every particle clinging to the "steer stomach" and no amount of pounding made it give way.

One of Chicago's greatest packing houses send direct to the Goodyear skin room this intestinal tissue from every beef butchered in its yards. The skins are sent in bunches of a hundred packed in huge tuns filled with salt, several hundred bunches to a barrel. From 20,000 to 100,000 skins are received each week.

MAKING LOS ANGELES' ENVELOPE

Use a Million Skins. About 100 girls have been working on the new lining for the Los Angeles for the past seven months. A total of 15,000 yards of fabric must be lined with the cattle intestinal casings before the job is done. About one million skins will be used, meaning that one million dead steers are represented in the big blimp. The cost of the skins alone will be about $85,000.

The process of transforming plain cattle tissues into dirigible gas cells is simpler than it is speedy.

The great kegs of salted tis-ues roll in from the packing house daily. They are washed, sorted, inspected, washed again, inspected again and are then sent to the scraping tables, where dozens of girls do nothing all day but scrape away fatty deposit from the silk-like tissue. A speedy worker can scrape 400 a day.

After more washing and more inspection under powerful lights the skins are taken to a big room where they are applied to a rubberized fabric, wetted down at an exact angle to permit proper shrinking when dried.

One girl can lay about 250 skins a day. There are 14 cells in Los Angeles, and about 12 sections to each cell. Since deterioration without the gas inflation starts almost at once, each cell is sent to the hangar as soon as finished and is installed at once, so that most dirigibles are in a constant state of repair, with at least one new cell constantly going in as another is taken out.

The rooms where the skins are applied to the fabric is hermetically sealed. The only ventilation comes through a special pipe which with air which has been put through a vacuum. One speck of soot in the cells could be fatal. No one is allowed in the rooms without special shoes kept in an ante chamber and inspected carefully. An exact temperature and humidity must be maintained the year around. There is not a window in the room and doors are carefully guarded and protected.

All because of "bossy cow's" important contributions to the very modern business of air transportation!

PAROLES NOT ALWAYS JUST

But Rising Tide of Crime Packs Michigan's Prisons.

Lansing.—Despite a rising crime tide which has engulfed Michigan penal institutions with the greatest jam of inmates in the state's history, it would be a grave error to relieve the situation by a liberal parole policy. Arthur D. Wood, parole commissioner, declared in his annual report to Governor Green recently.

"It has been argued that paroling is necessary to hold the prison population within bounds. In return it may be said the state might better build more prisons. It has been proven a liberal parole policy, in order to thin the prison population, is unsound; that such a policy positively increases rather than decreases the prison turnover and is a contributing factor toward increase in crime," Wood asserted.

He advocated pressing road camp barracks at Cambridge and quarters at the Onondaga brick plant into service to absorb 400 of the overflow and if necessary the building road camp—to lessen the congestion in Ionia and Marquette. With two cell blocks of the new Jackson prison finished and a third ready for occupancy within 30 days, conditions there are not so aggravated. The prison population now is 6,663 as compared with 5,462 a year ago.

Disclaiming ability to pass upon the causes of the noticeable increase in crime, Commissioner Wood mentioned the war, newspapers which overplay crime and make heroes of criminals, lurid motion pictures, prohibition and moonshine as possible contributing factors.

The new criminal code, which makes it mandatory upon judges to sentence fourth felons for life, was commended.

The report declared there is a close relation between crime and divorce. Nations showing the fewest number of divorces have a correspondingly small total of homicides, the report explained.

Contrary to general belief that crime and youth go hand in hand, 30 was the average age of the 3,504 prisoners committed in 1927. Wood said.

The commissioner disapproved leniency toward automobilists who kill.

The report shows that despite the climbing prison population there were fewer paroles in 1927 than in 1926. In 1926, with a population of 5,462, there were 2,156 paroles, or 39.5 per cent, as compared with 1,849 paroles from a population of 6,663, or 27.7 per cent in 1927.

There are 2,465 prisoners on parole, approximately one-third of whom are in Detroit.

During 1927 no life prisoner was pardoned nor was a life sentence commuted.

There are now 411 inmates of state prisons serving life sentences, of whom 401 are men, and during 1927, 35 were sentenced to life.

Of the 3,504 commitments last year, liquor law violators headed the lists with 551, a gain of 264.

The commissioner set forth the following recommendations for dealing with crime:

MOROCCO'S KID SULTAN

They Knew It When He Donned His Dad's Fez—France Is Watchful

Young Moulai Mohammed . . . rid himself of 300 wives.

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Correspondent
London.—Oof!—and the chamberlain of the palace was kicked out!

Blang!—and doors closed on the Sultan's 300 wives thrown out on the sidewalk.

Boom, blam!—and the sound of Moorish drums and cymbals sounded in the noisy streets of Fez.

By these obstreperous tokens the war-like Morocco came to know that Moulai Mohammed had succeeded with a crash to the Sultanate of Morocco—that an 18-year-old lad had donned the sovereign's fez of his deceased father, Moulai Youssef.

It is to the reigning seat of a nominal shereefian empire, but actually a French protectorate that this lad has ascended. And so all France is anxiously studying his personality and characteristics.

The old ruler was consistently a friend of France. He knew on which side his bread was buttered. And Moulai Mohammed has been given not only good French education, but is intimately grounded in Islamic letters. The chamberlain whom he fired from the palace was tyrannical and anti-French, which the new chamberlain is not.

Must Be Good. Moulai knows that as long as he is a good boy and plays the French game, he has a job and revenues and palaces and the famous Black Guard. If he ever misbehaves, another Sultan is apt to take his place. He can gather all that from recent royal history.

The late Moulai Youssef seemed a thousand miles away from the throne. His hard-fisted old father Moulai el Hassan, had many sons, unlike Christian monarchs, the Moorish throne does not necessarily fall to the eldest son. The father designates his choice. Moulai el Hassan nominated a younger son, Moulai el Aziz, as his successor.

Now the elder brother, Moulai el Aziz, has been deposed. He is allied to el Aziz's side. When the other brothers revolted, he stuck to el Aziz through thick and thin until their brother, Moulai Hafid, then upon el Aziz's advice, Youssef went over to Hafid. And so commencing did he conduct himself in battle that when the French troops besieged Fez, and Hafid abdicated, Hafid recommended Youssef to succeed him.

First to Last. Thus the younger brother, who at birth seemed a thousand miles from the throne of his father, came into power. Youssef was pro-French at the outset; pro-French when the Kaiser made ingratiating gestures toward Morocco during the war; pro-French when Abd el Krim fought France and Spain two years ago; and was pro-French when he died.

And as a reward for his steadfast faithfulness, France has seen to it that this third, and favorite son, Mohammed, has become Sultan.

Uneasy Lies the Head. Mohammed's is a difficult new role. He is a ruler who rules, not a ruler who is ruled. Neither is his native army the real power. He will have palaces for playgrounds, royal parades and salutes to tickle his vanity and large revenue to spend.

If he likes, he can have four wives, like his father, and hundreds of concubines. And when he goes to France on a visit, his will be a royal progress with special trains, French regiments drawn up smartly at salute and cabinet ministers ready with deferential bows.

HE STAYS IN JAIL TWO YEARS RATHER THAN PAY ALIMONY

Vows He'll Never Give His Former Wife "One Red Cent"

Willows, Calif.—Samuel W. Reid, is a mild-appearing young man, but he is very stubborn. Which is why he has been in jail here ever since July 27, 1925.

In addition, Reid probably will continue to stay in jail for some time to come. Yet he could, at any time, get out very easily. If he would agree to pay alimony to his wife who divorced him more than two years ago he would be given his freedom at once.

Vows He Won't Pay. He won't. He vows he will stay in jail for the rest of his life rather than pay his wife one cent.

The other side shows no signs of weakening. Consequently, it begins to look as if Reid's stubbornness will get a very long endurance test.

Reid is an intelligent-appearing, quiet young ex-soldier, who served under fire with the 91st division in France and who is not at all the kind of man you expect to find in a jail.

His troubles began when Mrs. Reid sued for, and won, a divorce. The court awarded her custody of their child, a girl, gave her $20 a month alimony and directed Reid to pay an additional $20 a month for the support of the child.

Reid refused pointblank, to pay one red cent. He declared that while he was willing and anxious to pay for the support of his daughter, his ex-wife was not a fit person to take care of her. So long as Mrs. Reid kept the girl, he said, he would pay nothing; but if Mrs. Reid would give the girl up he would pay alimony.

THE MAN WHO WON'T PAY

husband the man to whom she had been married, before she married Reid. This increased Reid's determination not to pay; also it caused him to appeal to Governor C. C. Young for a pardon. Governor Young refused to review his case, however, holding that it was a matter strictly between Reid and the Glenn county superior court.

Then Reid asked the court to review the alimony order. The court held, however, that this could not be done until Reid had first purged himself of contempt; and the only way he could do that was by paying up. So the status quo remained undisturbed.

Next the county grand jury decided to look into Reid's charge that his ex-wife should not have custody of the child. It investigated her and her home and reported that she was an eminently satisfactory person to take care of a little girl. Reid remained unconvinced charging that the foreman of the grand jury was a close friend of the former Mrs. Reid.

Refused to Shave. During the first few months of his imprisonment Reid refused to shave or have his hair cut, and for a time he presented a strange and shaggy appearance. He soon tired of that, however, and now keeps as neatly groomed, as though he were a rising young bond salesman.

His quarters are not regulation jail quarters. He had a room on the second floor somewhat away from the regular cell block. He has a comfortable bed, a bureau, a number of pictures on the walls and a set of his own books. He eats his meals with the rest of the prisoners, mingling with them occasionally in the "bull pen" and, on the whole, seems not to mind greatly being a prisoner.

Meanwhile, the former Mrs. Reid must be mentally un-sound. They had alienists examine him. The alienists reported that Reid, though very stubborn, was perfectly sane.

Monkey shines, Not Monkey Glands Keep Youthfulness, Says Vienna Doctor

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Correspondent.
Paris.—Monkey antics, rather than monkey glands, make up the latest recipe for fostering youth and virility in women.

This is the remedy recommended by Dr. Paul Koch, famous specialist of Vienna, which is being taken up here. He recommends that women who would retain their beauty should walk around their homes on all fours every morning and evening.

He advises them that by getting down on their hands and feet, or hands and knees, they will limber up their stomach muscles and revitalize their organs as no gland remedies will do.

Singer Tries It. The foremost disciple here of the Koch theory is Miss Mary McCormic, the youthful Texas singer who has made a tremendous success here in her role of Juliette at the Opera. She recently returned from Vienna, where she learned of the Koch treatment and adopted it.

"I am willing to try anything once," she explained in her very American manner, "and I think this is doing me good. When I was in Vienna I heard the singers there praising Dr. Koch's treatment because they had discovered that no matter how tired they were after a concert they could refresh themselves with this curious exercise. Also they said they didn't have to coddle themselves any more, but could live like regular folks.

Monkeying Around. "I decided to investigate the miracle—for it is a miracle to make the average singer forget that she is an artist and has not to be catered to and pampered."

Miss Mary McCormic, young Texas singer in Paris, shows one of her monkeyshines.

"I was tremendously amused at first when the doctor showed me how refreshing this exercise is, but now I am a convert. They were clad in pajamas and strutting on all-fours around the huge salon he had arranged for his treatments. They looked like a lot of crazy monkeys, and the comical part of it was heightened by their seriousness.

"But they told me they had been greatly benefited, so I fell for it. Now I am ready to testify that a woman who takes a tour of her home on all-fours every morning and before retiring at night will soon realize how refreshing this exercise is. Changing Wear and Tear. "Dr. Koch explains that originally we were never meant to walk upright. The position in our present state causes a heavy strain on the abdominal organs, especially those of women. It is essential for women to rest their organs and exercise them. The position of all-fours does the trick.

"It throws the delicate machinery into another position and the change acts as a tonic to the whole system. The exercise is particularly recommended to singers and lecturers as the diaphragm and breathing apparatus get a new lease of life by doing the quadruped walk."

Miss McCormic has an apartment with a long corridor and every morning and evening she trots up and down this for ten or fifteen minutes on her hands and feet, while clad in silk pajamas and slippers.

START SECOND DAIRY SERIES 2 P. M. MONDAY

A second series of dairy meetings, with Russell E. Horwood of Michigan State college as the principal speaker, has been arranged in Schoolcraft county by Lee Stewart, county farm agent. The gatherings will start Monday afternoon, weather permitting, and will be on the following schedule: Monday afternoon, Jan. 23—Buell Grange hall. Monday evening, Jan. 23—Whitdale school. Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 24—Maple Grove Town hall. Tuesday evening, Jan. 24—Cooks Consolidated school. Afternoon meetings will begin at 2 o'clock and all evening meetings at 8 o'clock. Mr. Horwood, who is a dairy specialist with the extension department of the state college, will deliver talks on the following topics: "Feed and Care of the Young Stock," "Growing the Young Stock," and "Care and Feeding of the Sire." The object of the meetings, according to County Agent Stewart, is to bring to local dairymen some of the methods and fine points of the game developed and followed by men who have made it a success. The progress made by local cattlemen in the past year or two gives promise of a bright future for dairying in this section if proper methods are followed, farm experts believe.

ARBORETUM IN CAPITAL ASKED

Money Provided for Plot on Outskirts of Washington.

BY FRANK I. WELLER (Associated Press Farm Editor) Washington (P)—In passing the $200,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill, congress has opened the way definitely for establishment of a national arboretum on the outskirts of Washington, for 30 years the ambition of scientists and patrons of plant and tree life. Four hundred acres of the proposed site already is owned by the government, and with the aid of $300,000 made available by the bill, an additional and contiguous 400 acres is expected to be added. The 800-acre tract, which it is hoped may be increased to more than 2,000 acres in time, would constitute an outdoor laboratory for public education in botanical science, horticulture, agriculture and landscape gardening. Dr. Frederick V. Coville, senior biologist in the federal bureau of plant industry, characterizes the arboretum as "a living library of the most important trees and plants of the world." "Economically," he explains, "the arboretum would develop fast-growing timber trees, improved fruits and disease-resistant plants, and would increase profoundly the agricultural wealth and welfare of the United States. Such an authentically named collection of living plants would be the basis for the correct identification of existing varieties and for the registration of new ones. It would constitute for the nurserymen and for the public a bureau of standards for horticulture." The most important thing about the arboretum, Dr. Coville says, is the fact that experiments and discoveries will be made by thousands, the value of which will reach to every household in America. "Improvement of forest trees for the production of lumber is a new field of experiment," he points out. "There is every reason to believe that scientific men working at the arboretum will be able to modify the wild species of trees in such a manner that we can improve our crops of lumber just as we have learned to improve our crops of wheat over those produced by the wild plant. "The maintenance of shade in our cities during the heat of summer is important in keeping up human comfort and efficiency. Under modern conditions of concrete pavements, impervious to air as well as to water, our street trees are dying. We ought to find out exactly what the roots of street trees require in the way of air, water and food, and then know how to supply them." Of primary importance is the provision that the arboretum shall serve as an introduction garden for plants of foreign countries and as an invaluable source of material for breeding more valuable varieties from the wild relatives of cultivated plants in this country. Congress directs the secretary of agriculture to establish and maintain the arboretum for purposes of research and education, separate from the agriculture, horticulture, and forestry stations, but still so correlated that facilities may be effectively utilized. The secretary is expected to name a director for the arboretum.

IN NEW YORK

New York—See-sawing up and down Manhattan Isle, I found myself in the lower Bowery, buying cough-drops. . . And such is the unexpected romance of New York that the store turned out to be the most venerable of this great city. . . And, again, such is the manner in which the unexpected manifests itself, that this oasis for a sore throat I had can ually dropped into, also turned out to be the place where Joseph Schenck, the moving picture magnate, got his start as a drug clerk. . . Just around the corner in a "honky-tonk" called Nigger Mike's, a young fellow by the name of Irving Berlin was getting his start as a singing waiter, while another struggling young man named Sam Harris, now a famous stage producer, had rooms in the neighborhood. . . The three would meet over the drug store counter, some 20 years ago, or so, and talk things over. . . And, last but not least, in a jar on the counter were enough leeches to keep grandpa out of blood pressure for many a day. Dropped in at the Feist emporium to pass the time of day with Walter Donaldson, whose "Blue Heaven" is the greatest song hit of many a season. . . And I learned that Donaldson once was a bond salesman in the Wall Street belt. . . That he came from Brooklyn and, after his sales efforts had ended for the day, he would go home and improvise tunes on his piano. . . In six years he has written something like 120 songs, a score of which have been phenomenally successful. . . That means about three songs a month. . . His "Yes, Sir, She's My Baby," "Carolina in the Morning," "At Sundown," "Mammy," and heaven knows how many others, have run him into a $150,000 a year man. . . Almost every afternoon you'll find him at a piano in the rear of the shop, figuring out new tunes. . . They tell me he is one of the most absent-minded men in New York. . . Just because he generally has a tune in process of generation and forgets everything else. . . Saw Adelade Hall, the understudy of the late Florence Mills, who has suddenly been catapulted into Broadway to take the place of the "little blackberry" who could sing blues like no one else in the world. . . But you'll see Miss Hall's name plastered in lights yet, even though she has to go to Paris to be recognized. . . Saw William Friedlander, the Broadway producer, who hit this town in his late teens, without a job but with a grand notion that he could crash the theatrical gates. . . Happening to read one of the weekly theatrical newspapers he learned of a festival in Texas that wanted a New Yorker to pep it up. When he got there he found the Chamber of Commerce of the town had no idea what it wanted to put on, so he had to sit down and manufacture plays by the yard. When he came back to Manhattan, after about three months, his pockets were well lined with spending money. Since then he has done rather well with such successes as "Little Jessie James" and "Mercenary Mary."

Manistique Club Member Attends Detroit Meeting

Among those who will attend the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs meetings next week will be Mrs. J. J. Herbert of Manistique. State chairman, state officers and forum board will be guests of the Detroit federation at the gathering, which extends from January 22 to 26. COOKS HILL IS STORM CENTER; PLOWS PATROL

Getting an early start Friday morning, city snowplows were able to keep abreast of the storm which enveloped Manistique yesterday, and as a result sidewalk and street traffic suffered no handicap here. County highways were reported to be drifting badly in places, necessitating a constant patrol of truck plows. One of the latter was stalled for a time at the Cooks hill, where snow was piled two and three feet deep. Relief was supplied through the arrival of another truck, and the spot was kept open to through traffic. Bus lines were not running yesterday.

Contest Is Over; Another Pending

The losing side—the "Reds"—in the contest just closed in the Methodist Sunday school, banqueting the winners—the "Blues"—last Friday night. The contest doubled some of the classes in memberships and collections were very good. It was estimated that about 175 were present to enjoy the evening in a social way and also the good things to eat. Plans are contemplated for another contest to begin some time in February and run until Easter Sunday, also the annual winter picnic will likely be sometime next month. It is hoped that the interest created by the contest will continue and that the school will continue to grow in interest and numbers.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

SCIENCE HELPS US HALT INFECTIOUS DISEASES. Modern medicine has developed various procedures for helping persons to resist infectious diseases. Unfortunately, it is not possible to vaccinate people against every disease or to inject serums that invariably will be potent. Briefly summarized by Hygeia, the health magazine, the following are the conditions in which active immunity can be produced: In smallpox, vaccination provides immunity, enduring in some persons for life and in others for variable periods. Against diphtheria, immunity is secured by the inoculation of toxin-antitoxin. The degree to which immunity has been secured can be readily tested by the Schick test. How long the immunity lasts it is not possible to say, though undoubtedly in most cases six or more years. Against typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, inoculation has abundantly proved its worth. It saved many thousands of lives during the World War.

OFFERS WATCH AS SECURITY FOR $20 FINE

Pending payment of a $20 fine for drunkenness, John Karneskey, 55, of Escanaba, yesterday started a 20-day sentence at the county jail in Manistique. Karneskey, a woodsman, was arrested Thursday by Officer John Stephens. Arraigned before Justice W. A. McKinney, he pleaded guilty, and was fined $20 and costs or the alternative jail term under City Ordinance 15. The Escanaba man offered to leave a gold watch as security if released long enough to earn money to pay the fine.

CIRCUIT COURT TO HEAR CASE OF R. MORRISON

Robert Morrison, 47, was bound over to circuit court yesterday by Justice W. A. McKinney on a charge of larceny. Morrison was charged with entering a cottage at Indian Lake and carrying away an outdoor motor and a gas light, later selling the motor for $10. He was unable to furnish the required recognizance for his release, and is still at the county jail.

BABY BURNED; DIES FRIDAY AT MANISTIQUE

Death yesterday again added to the toll taken by the fire which Monday destroyed the home and all personal possessions of the Maurice Bennett family at Fayette. The victim was Baby Maurice Bennett, age one year, who was badly burned in the blaze which claimed the life of his four-year-old brother, John. Hopes were entertained for the recovery of the younger baby, and he was brought to a Manistique hospital by neighbors. The injuries proved too severe for the tiny child, however, and death came during the night. The body will be taken to Fayette for burial beside the other child, for whom funeral services were held Tuesday.

M. E. Young People Planning a Play

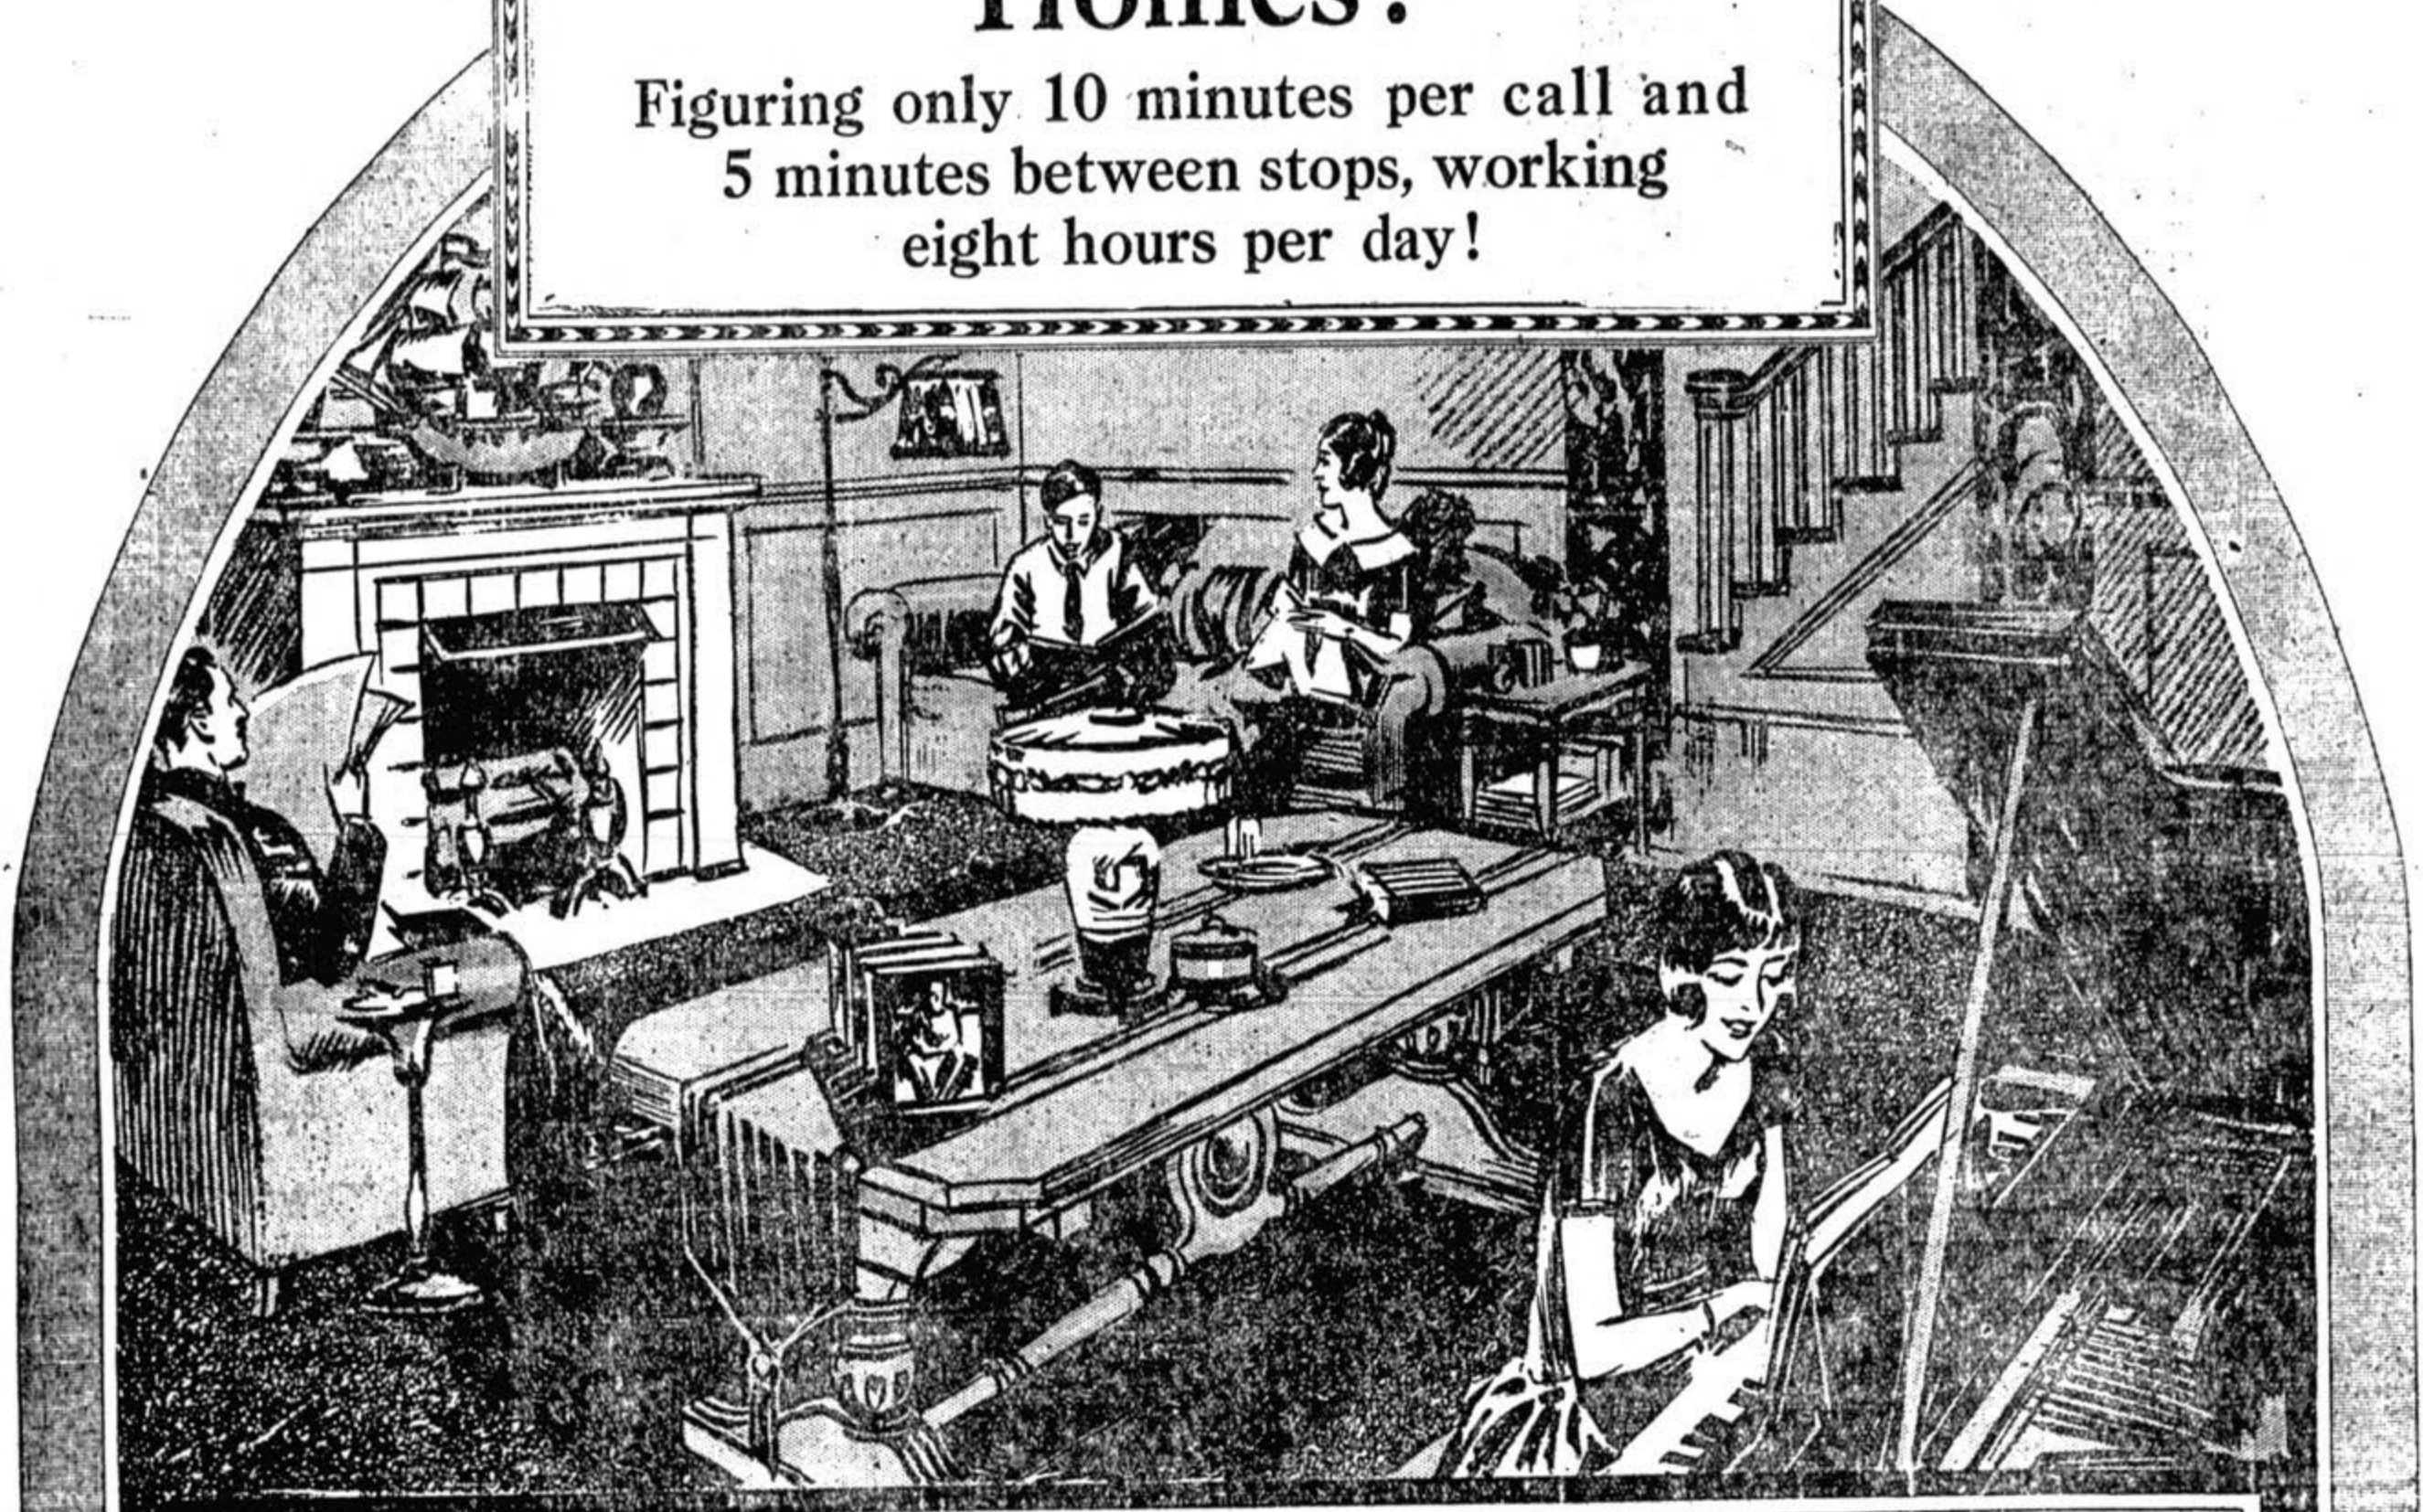

The young people of the Methodist church held their monthly social and business meeting Thursday night, with a good attendance. It was decided to hold a social meeting, in connection with their devotional meeting the first Sunday evening of each month. Also the third Sunday evening of each month they will have charge of the evening church services. A committee was appointed to select a play to be given at some future date. Together with the pastor, they will conduct religious services at the county poorhouse next Sunday afternoon at 4:30.

THE Escanaba Daily Press family is a large one. And it's a family that has money to spend. Its wants are varied and large.

To call on every member of the Daily Press family would be impossible. To call at just the homes and talk to one member of the household would take over 220 days, over seven months! Yet, every day these buyers, this vast army of potential users of your merchandise, are assembled and can be reached through advertising columns of the Escanaba Daily Press.

This medium is the most economical way of reaching the buying power in the Escanaba market. The Daily Press goes into practically every home, reaching them at a time when they have ample time for reading and analyzing.

Increased sales are almost sure to result from Daily Press advertising, provided the business is properly conducted and the medium is correctly used. If you would like further details, a phone call will bring a competent advertising man to discuss the matter with you.

DEATH TAKES
PAUL HAMMOND

Dies at Mayo Hospital, Rochester, Following Operation

Paul B. Hammond, 55, prominent resident of Gladstone and one of the best known of upper peninsula railroad officials, died today morning at 6 o'clock at the Mayo hospital, Rochester, Minn.

Death followed an operation on Tuesday, January 10, for relief from ulcers of the stomach, from which he was believed to be recovering.

Word of Mr. Hammond's relapse and death, received at 8 o'clock Friday morning, spread rapidly, residents throughout the community receiving it in surprise and with profound regret.

Mr. Hammond had gone to Rochester, January 8 for a clinic examination. He was found to be suffering from ulcers and an operation was advised. This was performed January 10, Monday.

He had recovered sufficiently to permit his daughter, Mrs. Lowell Stade who accompanied him to Rochester, to return to her home here.

Word of his death came with startling suddenness, only a short while after a program he had just assured friends of improvement in his condition had been received.

Accompanying her here, the body will leave Rochester, Monday.

Funeral arrangements have been made, but members of the Masonic order will be in charge.

Paul Burton Hammond, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hammond, was born at Dallas, (Clinton county, Mich., on February 4, 1873.

He lived at Fowler, Mich., until he was 18 years old and then came to northern Michigan. He attended the common schools of his home community and received a thorough education partly under his father.

He was employed as chief clerk of the Soo Line in 1903 and three years later was promoted to the post of assistant superintendent. In 1907, he assumed the position of general agent, which office he held to the time of his death, followed.

FUNERAL TODAY

Masonic Lodge Will Hold Services for Pioneer

The Masonic funeral rites will be conducted this afternoon for Nels J. Gormsen, pioneer resident of Gladstone, and well-known contractor, who died suddenly at his home Wednesday afternoon following a heart attack.

The services will be conducted from the home at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. Robert Grant, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church.

Members of Gladstone lodge, No. 396, F. and A. M., will meet at 1:30 o'clock at the lodge rooms to attend the services. Representatives of Delta Chapter, No. 118, R. A. M., of which Mr. Gormsen was also a member, will attend.

Following the services, the body will be taken to Fernwood cemetery where burial will be made.

Relatives from out-of-town who will attend the services are: Carl Gormsen of Aurora, Ill., who arrived Thursday; Mrs. Cecil Gelzer of Port Arthur, Ontario, Canada, a daughter, who arrived Friday; Mrs. William Cochran of Stevensville, Mont., who will arrive today; Will Smith of Pittsburgh, Pa., a nephew, who will also arrive today.

Arrangements for the funeral are in charge of Swenson Brothers.

Three "ghostmen" told Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., chain store grocer king, that he must leave $5500 in old $100 bills under a railroad trestle, threatening him and his family with "the most brutal crime ever committed."

Clever Costumes Worn at Hard Time Gathering.

An enjoyable social time was held by members of the Child's Welfare club Wednesday evening at a hard time party given at the Eagles' hall.

Members of the club appeared in old time costumes which provided a great deal of fun and merriment.

Dancing with a fine program of music played by Juanita Kircher, Anzela Mallongree and Jim Grant members of the Cavalier orchestra, was one of the evening's diversions with both old time and modern numbers.

Refreshments were served in charge of Mrs. A. Woodhall and Mrs. Ole Peterson. Arrangements for the party were in charge of a special committee.

New York, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Stock prices today made further progress along the road to recovery. Trading started off at a slow pace, but gathered momentum as the session progressed. Pools undoubtedly furnished much of the day's activity although active public speculation was apparent in several specialties, and there was a fair investment demand for some of the high-grade rails and industrials.

Credit conditions continued to be the most absorbing topic in speculative circles. Reduction in the call money rate from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent with a plethora of funds available at the lower figure was offset by a slight suffering in the short maturities in the time money market, 60 to 90-day bills being quoted at 4 1/4 to 4 3/8 instead of 4 1/4. Likewise a decrease of $22,000,000 in brokers' loans was counteracted by the further liquidation of government securities by the federal reserve banks.

The weekly mercantile reviews reported further improvement in general business and decreased unemployment. Bank clearings were below those of a week ago, but above those of the corresponding week last year. The "Nickel Plate" railroad, the first to report its December earnings, showed net operating income of $1,219,919 last month as against $758,425 in December 1928. Otherwise, there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement.

U. S. Steel common advanced another point to 14 1/2 in reflection of the recent increase in commodity prices. A brisk demand also developed for some of the independent steels, which have met the steel corporation's increase and are expected to show good first-quarter earnings. Vanadium moved up 5 points and Republic 2 1/4, but the latter lost nearly half of its gain.

Hup Motors in which William C. Durant is reported to have a large interest, was bid up more than 13 points to a new peak at 25 7/8. Mack Trucks, Chrysler, Graham-Paige and Willys-Overland preferred moved up a point or two. General Motors appeared to meet selling resistance, advancing only fractionally to 133 7/8. Foreign exchanges were reactionary. Japanese yen broke 25 points to 46.44 cents, but most of the other losses yielded nominal. Sterling cables yielded slightly to $4.87 3/8, an amount of the continental currencies lost a point or two.

Commodity markets were mixed. Wheat prices advanced about 1 1/2 cents a bushel on buying influenced by threatened damage to crops in the northern winter wheat area as a result of the colder weather. Cotton yielded slightly in reflection of unfavorable trade news from domestic textile centers. Coffee quotations fluctuated within narrow and irregular limits and sugar quotations held fairly steady.

Orange and Black Five Defeats Maroons, 34-20

1ST CONTEST IN ANNUAL SERIES

Locals Have Little Trouble Defeating Menominee Quintet

Escanaba high school emerged victorious over the Maroons of Menominee in the first game of the annual home-home series between the two schools at the local gym last night, by a 34 to 20 score.

Unleashing a scintillating short passing attack centered around Peitin, local floor guard, the Orange and Black squad piled up 18 points in the first half and were never headed. The home team displayed their best form of the season to date, exhibiting a fine brand of team work and working the ball through the Menominee defense for short shots under the basket.

Carrying the attack to the visitors from the outset Eskey high set a dizzy pace throughout the entire game. Menominee threatened late in the third quarter with a belated rally but the handicap was too great to overcome thought the Maroons fought savagely until the final whistle. Payne, midget captain of the visitors' played brilliantly for Menominee, accounting for eight points.

Referee Poor of Iron Mountain handled the officiating in a capable manner. A large crowd witnessed the encounter and was augmented by a large delegation of Menominee fans.

Stegath opened the scoring with a free throw. Payne countered with one from his foul line. Snyder added a point for Escanaba and Jurgens for Menominee. Eckert followed with the first basket of the game. Stegath tied the score at four all. After several missed free throws by both teams, Peitin and Olson scored from the floor, running the score to eight for Escanaba. The quarter ended after Payne had resumed following a Maroon time-out.

Stegath inaugurated play with an elaborate one-handed toss from center. Eckert counted on Stegath's foul. Stegath retaliated with another field basket. Olson followed suit. Janson and Jurgens were replaced by Thompson and Rynish for Menominee in an effort to stop the local offense. Olson scored after perfect team-work on the part of the entire local squad. Score, 16 to 5, Escanaba. Again after some pretty team work, Snyder scored from the floor. Time out, Menominee. Jurgens in for Schmidt. The half ended as Stegath fouled Payne who blew the award. Score at the half, 18-5, Escanaba.

Foul Called On Crowd. After working the ball through the Maroon defense, Stegath netted a field goal from under the basket. He scored his fifth field basket a minute later from a difficult angle. After a Maroon time out Stegath celebrated resumption of hostilities with another basket. Score, 24-5, Escanaba.

Payne fouled Jurgens who missed the award. Referee Poor fouled the crowd for undue enthusiasm. Payne again missed the attempt. Gustafson counted on Jurgens' foul and the rebound followed with a field basket from the center of the floor. Olson scored on a free throw. Payne, Snyder Maroon forward, elevated the crowd with two field goals from past the center of the floor in rapid order. Time out, Escanaba. Snyder scored from center and followed with a free throw on Jurgens' fourth foul. Coach Roots sent in Lambert, Jensen, Brettenbach and Lough with but a few minutes of play remaining. After a few desultory long shots the game ended with the score 34-20.

WHY THEY CURTAILED SPORTS

The chief reason given by Syracuse athletic authorities for the recent abolishment of several minor sports was that they wished to establish a more elaborate system of intramural sports.

'STIQUE BEATS CELERY CITY

Manistique, Jan. 20 (Special)—Manistique high school case team chalked up its first victory of the season, when they took Newberry into camp by the close score of 22 to 20. The locals nearly lost the game on fouls, Newberry netting six.

Manistique held the visitors to one free throw in the first period, while Risley, Reed and Bergman each netted a field goal for the locals. Foster made Newberry's lone point. The score at the quarter was 6 to 1.

During the second period Newberry netted 12 points while Manistique had to be satisfied with six, the half ending 13 to 12, with Newberry holding a one-point lead. The third period ended 20 to 19 in favor of Manistique.

During the fourth period, Ahlam, of Newberry, made the lone marker for his team, tying the score at 20-all. During the closing minutes of the game, Risley netted the field goal that sealed the Manistique victory.

Golfing Stars Line Up for Tournament

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 20 (AP)—More stars of the golfing firmament arrived today from their winter haunts on the west coast to tee off tomorrow in the second annual $3200 El Paso open over the tricky course of the El Paso Country club.

The barnstorming group of linksmen, most of whom will trek to San Antonio for the Texas open on February 3, showed the usual brand of good golf in the practice rounds today, but had no success in attempts to better the record-breaking 66 hung up yesterday by MacDonald Smith, Great Neck, L. I., professional. Smith's brilliant performance was seven strokes under par.

WEATHER BIG SPORT FACTOR

Some Pitchers Unbeatable With All Conditions Favorable

BY BILLY EVANS

Does that nag-like a muddy track? That expression is often heard just before a running race, when a heavy rain storm coming out of a clear sky has rendered a fast track very slow.

Does the rain affect his control? One hears that remark time and again during the summer, when a light rain often sets in late in the game, but in the opinion of the umpire play is still possible. That wind plays havoc with tee shots is common talk in golf circles prior to a big match, when the experts realize they must tee off against a heavy wind that often has a disastrous effect on the style of play of many of the stars.

Weather conditions often play a prominent part in the results of many of our leading sports events. No system that figures to pick the winners can take into consideration the possible effect of the weather on the various contenders. No great many horses simply cannot do their best on a slow track, while others revel in the heavy going. Rain and wind conditions often play havoc with the control of a big league pitcher. A majority of golfers prefer to have the wind at their backs rather than blowing directly into their faces.

In the days when a great many major league pitchers featured the spitball, no wise manager ever started such a pitcher in a game with a slight rain falling, while others often refused to call on a spitball pitcher if rain even threatened.

It is obvious that a pitcher who depended on the moistening of a slight spot on the ball to produce a deceptive break, would be seriously handicapped in trying to pitch a ball soggy with rain. It is a known fact, that 99 out of every 100 spitball pitchers have been ineffective in rain. Since there are only a few moist ball pitchers still in the majors, managers are no longer worrying much on that angle of strategy.

However, there are still many star pitchers in the majors who work their best under favorable conditions. That is true of most twirlers who boast a good change of pace, a very necessary asset to modern hurlers.

In this respect, I have in mind two mighty clever American League stars, Ted Lyons and Ed Rommel. Lyons, one of the smartest pitchers I have ever worked behind, can make the ball perform almost as he wishes. He has two distinct styles of curve ball pitching, a change of pace that offers much mystery and a good fast ball, when he wants to make use of it. Yet, pitchers like Lyons and Rommel suffer considerably from air resistance. In other words, pitching directly into a stiff wind takes something off their ball. Very often with the wind at their back the ball dips all the more crazily.

I don't believe I ever saw a pitcher more handicapped by adverse weather conditions than Ed Rommel. His best fooler is a knuckle ball, or perhaps he is more correct, a finger ball. I have often seen Rommel's trick delivery break so sharply that his catcher wouldn't even get the ball into his glove. He would stop it with some part of his body, bounce it off his chest protector.

Let Rommel pitch a game, with the wind at his back and he is practically unbeatable, but if the wind is blowing directly at him, the air resistance removes much of the wave and dip from his ball and he is not nearly so effective. Ground and weather conditions play as important a part in golf as in baseball. A crack golfer who hits a long ball, but is inclined to be erratic, is always handicapped by narrow fairways.

HUDKINS BEATS LEW TENDLER

Nebraska Wildcat Puts Philadelphian Down for Count of Nine

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, won a mauling 10-round bout from Lew Tendler, Philadelphia southpaw veteran, in the main go tonight at Madison Square Garden boxing show. Tendler lasted only eight in the seventh. Hudkins scaled 149 3-4 pounds; Tendler 151.

Slightly more than 11,000 fans saw the Pennsylvania veteran, who fought ten years ago as a lightweight, and twice met Benny Leonard in sensational title encounters, attempt to stop the young and rugged Hudkins with left hand smashes to the head and body. Tendler was pudgy and slow at the weight and the blonde westerner appeared content to maul without, serious intent in the final rounds.

The battle was a constant series of close-range exchanges with both men playing to the body. Tendler weakened badly after holding the Ace even in the early rounds. A solid left and right hook to the body floored the veteran in the seventh.

From that point on, Tendler barely evaded a knockout by clinging tight to Hudkins when, ever possible. Occasionally Lew dug the once mighty left into the Nebraskan's body and slowed him temporarily.

By his victory, Hudkins earned a return match with Sammy Baker, the soldier batter, who scored a technical knockout over him last summer. The winner of the Hudkins-Baker go probably will be matched with Joe Dundee, champion of the welterweights, in a title tussle here.

PRELIMINARIES.

In the first preliminary to the feature game, the Gladstone Senior girls defeated the Junior girls by the score of 6 to 4.

In the second preliminary, the Buckeyes had little trouble trimming the I. Stephenson team of Wells to the tune of 22 to 12. Kircher handled the whistle.

Barr Wins City Championship

The Barr school basketball team clinched the city championship of the grade schools by defeating the Webster five, 12 to 10, at the Webster gym yesterday afternoon. The Barr quintet has won four victories in four starts.

UPBAYS DEFEAT NORWAY, 20-12

Keilmen Have Easy Time Defeating Miner Aggregation.

Gladstone, Jan. 20 (Special)—The Gladstone high school five defeated the Norway basketball team, 20 to 12, here this evening. The strong Miner aggregation were bewildered by the Upbays' attack, and were unable to find themselves during the contest.

Moore, Gladstone forward, opened the scoring, when he made good on Ruwlich's foul. Then followed a series of clever passes, and the half ended with Norway held to no field goals and only two free throws. A delayed rally in the second half raised the score, but the Gladstone lead was too great to be overcome.

Basketball fans were given a real treat when Rouman netted two baskets in rapid succession as a result of long passes from Kircher which left Rouman unguarded and with easy access to the hoop. The play was cleverly executed and brought tumultuous applause from the spectators.

Lafalve, Norway's star in last year's district tournament, failed to do outstanding work, due to the close guarding by the Gladstone defense men. He was held to one field basket.

The Gladstone lineup remained the same throughout the entire game, no substitutions being made. The summary: NORWAY (12) Pos. A. Anderson RF E. Anderson (2) LF Ruwlich (1) C Massa (2) RG Ropole (5) LF Lafalve (2) RG Larson C Lindberg C O'Donnell RG

Two Forfeits in City Cage League

Two forfeits were recorded in the standing of the City Amateur basketball league last night when the Invincibles failed to appear for their game with the Ramblers at the Webster gym, and the Wolverines announced that they had forfeited a game to the Palmsingers. The Wolverine-Palmsinger battle was scheduled at the Webster gym Tuesday night.

ROCK DEFEATS GARDEN, 44-13

Rock, Jan. 20 (Special)—The Rock high school five had little trouble defeating the Garden high school team to the tune of 44 to 13 here tonight. In spite of the one-sided score, the Garden aggregation kept up the fight until the last whistle. They were hampered by lack of substitutes and by playing on a strange floor. Hennessey was the star of the visiting team, while L. Larson carried off high honors for scoring, with seven field goals to his credit.

PRELIMINARY.
In a preliminary to the feature contest, the high school girls' team defeated the Reserves, 7 to 6. Trombley starred for the Reserves and Nygaard for the varsity.

Detroit, Jan. 20 (AP)—Joe Ingals, local bantamweight boxer, outpointed Carolo Mazzolo, also of Detroit, in a 10-round contest here tonight. Mazzolo carried the fight to his opponent but cleaner punning and cleverer boxing of Ingals offset the aggressiveness of the little Italian.

Bobby Young, Pittsburgh featherweight, won the decision over Chuck Curtis in an eight-round semi-final.

Johnny Duffy outpointed Mickey Maher in a six-round contest, and Curley Darmon won the decision over Al Coall in six rounds.

ACCORDING TO RICKARD.
Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, if they ever fight again, will not be able to draw more than a gate of $1,500,000, Tex Rickard believes.

TEX RICKARD AT FLORIDA RESORT

Promoter to Arrange Next Bout for Gene and Enjoy Vacation

Miami, Beach, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—Mixing business with pleasure, Tex Rickard, New York fight promoter, came to town today to decide with Gene Tunney on an appointment, date and terms for his next heavyweight championship while at the same time taking a month's vacation with his wife and child.

Registering temporarily at the same hotel at which the champion is living, Rickard set out immediately on a house hunting tour without seeing Tunney.

With the comment, "there's no particular hurry in the matter," the promoter said he would confer with Tunney "in a few days" with a view of fixing definitely his next ring antagonist and the date for the bout before leaving here. He declined to reveal his plans, but it was considered probable that this tentative selection recently of Jack Dempsey as the logical man for the next match with Tunney and next June or July as the date would form the basis of the opening negotiations.

Tunney publicly expressed pleasure at the prospect when Rickard's announcement was made, but it was emphasized that the selection was not final and the matter of terms still must be agreed upon before any signing on the dotted line takes place.

Delaney Scores Technical K. O. Over Belgian
Boston, Jan. 20 (AP)—Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., scored a technical knockout over Jack Humbeck, Belgian heavyweight champion, here tonight, when the referee stopped the bout in the sixth round to spare the Belgian further punishment. Humbeck's left eye was closed and with the right fast closing.

Delaney's weight was 178 pounds as against Humbeck's 193. In the fifth round Humbeck began to feel the full weight of Delaney's attack. In this round, Delaney closed Humbeck's left eye with a series of stinging left jabs and knocked him down with a right smash to the jaw for a count of eight.

German Runner May Engage in 3 Races

New York, Jan. 20 (AP)—The prospects that Dr. Otto Peltzer, famous German runner, would be permitted to engage in three races in the United States this winter and possibly meet the American ace, Lloyd Hahn, appeared remote tonight after two of the six members of the foreign relations committee of the Amateur Athletic Union put themselves on record as opposed to sanctioning any appearance by the Teuton star.

Although German authorities had withdrawn their previous objections to Peltzer's engaging in competition here, it appeared likely the A. A. U. would take the position that the Olympic year was not the proper time to stimulate special activity by visiting athletes. Furthermore, it is the desire of authorities to avoid the possibility, especially this year, of any repetition of unpleasant experiences accompanying the appearance of such stars as Charley Hoff and Paavo Nurmi in recent seasons.

Saints-Newberry Contest Cancelled

The scheduled game between St. Joseph high school and the Newberry quintet for tonight has been cancelled.

The next game of the Parochial basketballers will be next Friday night when they meet the Baraga cagers at Marquette.

Freddy Lindstrom, star third-sacker with the New York Giants, was one who openly admitted he is glad that Rogers Hornsby was traded to the Boston Braves.

Pipe Smokers:

This gets mighty close to pipe-smoke perfection!

THAT'S no mere claim! Granger is made of the finest tobacco there is for pipe-smoking—good old Kentucky Burley.

There's something about tobacco grown in the Blue Grass country—you can't match it anywhere else. A full, rich flavor; a mild mellowness that you don't find in other tobacco.

And great Gideon! How that flavor does float out from a long, cool pipeful of Granger Rough Cut!

Barograph Used by Lindy Is Returned

Washington, Jan. 20.—(P)—The barograph used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in his flight to Paris has been received here by officials of the National Aeronautic association who sealed the instrument at the start of the flight.

The Aero club of France, which broke the seals when Colonel Lindbergh landed had persistently but courteously requested permission to retain it for its historical value. Failing in this, the club entrusted it to the American state department for delivery to the association, club officials stating they preferred not to "risk the mails."

Carl Schory, secretary of the association, said the instrument would probably be presented to the Smithsonian institution.
