

Party Leaders Turn Eyes On Western States

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Friends of the leading candidates for president are turning their eyes towards the northwest since the war of doubtful element in all political speculation. Out in North and South Dakota especially both the Republican and Democrats see interesting political signs on the horizon. Although the state legislature has pushed up the South Dakota state convention—or "propositional meeting" as it is called there—from December to March 6, that state still is the first in the country to make a concrete move in the 1928 political campaign. North Dakota follows on March 20 with a primary election. The interests of Republicans centered about the strength Frank O. Lowden will develop in the northwestern farm states and the question whether he will get by there without a contest with other Senator Norris of Nebraska or any other Republican candidate. Secretary Hoover does not intend to enter the campaign in South Dakota, nor do the friends of Vice President Dawes expect to fight Lowden. Willis of Ohio and Curtis of Kansas have declared no plan thus far to contest against Norbeck's man. Some of the supporters of Senator Norris, however, are urging him strongly to go into the state.

Man Commits Suicide; Jumped From Monument

Baltimore.—(AP)—With one cent left in his pocket after paying the 15c admission fee to the Washington monument in Mount Vernon place here, an unidentified man plunged 180 feet from its top to death on the snow-covered pavement. Only the initials "J. E. K." on a silver belt buckle gave police a lead in seeking his identity. The man climbed the monument yesterday, asked its height and returned in the stormy weather today according to the watchman.

Salesman's Biscuits Best at Texas Fair

Dallas, Tex.—A traveling salesman is the champion biscuit baker of Texas. W. P. Sullivan of Dallas won the title and a blue ribbon at the Texas state fair, defeating 76 women. "While traveling in my business," he explains, "I often have the misfortune to eat poor biscuits in restaurants. So when I go home for the week-end I cook biscuits, and get the satisfaction of knowing that the chefs at restaurants should do better."

QUALIFIES

CORINNE CONDON
American girl swimmers who cleaned up at the Antwerp and Paris Olympic games were as much distinguished by their good looks as for their ability to speed through the water. Among the candidates for the 1928 team who should qualify in both respects is Corinne Condon, 17-year-old Omaha girl. She holds four national records, eight middle-western records, and is a sister of Helen Condon, who was a member of the 1924 team.

FAVORITE SON BLOC TO HOLD SMITH'S FATE

The formation of a bloc that would keep Governor Smith from getting the nomination may work in the other direction, namely if the favorite son managers become convinced that a one-third veto is inevitable they will stick to their favorite sons, hoping that the disintegration of Smith votes—probably the largest single block of votes that will be gathered—may inure to the benefit of their respective favorite sons.
Comromises Mapped Out.
The favorite sons will cling to the hope of a deadlock as long as they can. They foreaw a deadlock in 1924 and some of them are talking again now about a possible deadlock. Some of the favorite son delegations, of course, will be friendly to Governor Smith and might even switch some of their votes early in the balloting as a means of assisting the New York governor in developing maximum strength but they would expect votes in return if a favorite son should begin to be considered as a compromise.

LINDY HELD IN HIGHEST ESTEEM

A feather work pearl and gold locket, a souvenir particularly characteristic of the country. A marble tablet has been cemented for all time into the building of the government military school to tell future generations that Lindbergh stepped there.
The flying colonel, who finds no novelty in the bracing high altitude of Bogota, was up late last night acknowledging plaudits of crowds which remained in front of the American legation until midnight as hands played continuously. The flier was called repeatedly to the balcony to acknowledge, with the "Lindbergh smile" very much in evidence, the prolonged cheers of the Colombians.
Calls on President.
Samuel H. Piles, American minister to Colombia, addressed the populace, thanking the people for the warmth of the welcome for Lindbergh. He later spoke in similar vein to President Mendez at a reception in honor of Co. Lindbergh.
Lindbergh today called on the president and went from the presidential palace to pay his respects also to the foreign minister and minister of war.
His engagement book in Bogota was formally closed tonight with a banquet.
The colonel will be up early in the morning to set out for Venezuela.

500 Singers Will Observe Birthday of Franz Schubert

Vienna, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Five hundred of Austria's best singers carrying flaming torches will march through darkened, tortuous streets of sleeting Vienna in the wee small hours of Tuesday. They will inaugurate the celebration of the 131st anniversary of the birth and the 100th anniversary of the death of Franz Schubert, whom many account the greatest classical song writer of all ages.
The singers, proceeding to the composer's old home in Walnut street, will, in recently subdued voices, serenade the departed spirit of the king in song by chanting the moving strains of "The night" which virtually was Schubert's farewell lyric.
Around the immortal music master's former home which now is a museum, will be grouped Vienna's music world and several thousand university students dressed in the quaint costumes of Schubert's day.
As a tribute to his memory Schubert's famous "Serenade" will be played on a thousand instruments.
After a life of poverty and struggle, Schubert bade farewell to the world when only 31 years of age, leaving behind 60 huge volumes of music and over 600 songs.

Accomplish Little in Committees of House and Senate

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Congressional committees whittled a little at the legislative bill today but without any definite sign of how the knot is to be removed in time to let senators and representatives enjoy to the full political delights of the national convocations this summer.
Both houses were out of action until Monday, so partisan orators had a chance to rest up. There are signs, however, that there will be ample opportunity next week for free-for-all discussion of almost any subject any senator or representative cares to bring up. There will be nothing else much to do, as both houses are ahead of their committees in dealing with appropriation bills.
At that, the money spending program isn't going ahead—very fast as yet. The bulk of the regular supply measures are still in committee. And not until they are out of the way will the real storm break over tax reduction, naval expansion, flood control, equality dam and a dozen other equally controversial subjects involving heavy governmental cash outlay.
So far only two of the regular supply bills, the first deficiency and the state, justice, commerce and labor department measures have passed both houses.
The average ostrich egg weighs 2.4 of a pound.

Control of River Floods Greater Task Than Canal

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The control of the Mississippi floods is a greater engineering problem than was the building of the Panama canal in the opinion of John F. Stevens, former president of the American Society of Civil Engineers and chief engineer in the canal's construction.
Testifying today before the house flood control committee, Stevens urged that the problem be given more careful study and that the leading engineers of the country be called upon to give their advice before a definite solution is mapped out.
Major General Edgar Jadwin, chief of the army engineers, whose flood plan was recommended to congress by President Coolidge, was a witness before the committee for most of the day. He reviewed the engineering features of his project.
Because the committee desires to devote a longer time to the examination of the general, Chairman Reed reversed his decision to end hearings today and announced they will be continued next week.

Reconstruct Scene of Murder in Court

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A scene in a spooky basement with the steel spade glistening in the light of an old kerosene lamp as it clipped a grave from hard clay and made tell-tale marks on the shoe that guided it, was reconstructed by the prosecution today in its fight to prove Harry Hill shot and killed his mother and buried her body in the cellar of her home at Streator.
The spade, minus a piece of metal which ordinarily would have protected the foot of a digger, was discovered by Sheriff Floyd Clark. A pair of women's shoes, toes scratched and smeared with clay, were identified by the sheriff as those he saw a deputy pull from a cupboard the night the body of Mrs. Eliza Hill was discovered. Standing beside the woman's shoes, the sheriff testified, were those of a man, clay-coated and dented on the instep of the soles.
The state contends the marks were made on Harry's shoes by the unguarded spade blade and that before burying his mother's body he removed her shoes, later placing them with his in the cupboard.
A Streator clothier and neighbor of the Hills, Sidney Iskowitz, was unable to identify a blue suit of clothes taken from the Hill home as one sold Harry. He said, however, it was similar to one he sold him.

JANET GAYNOR CHARLES FARRELL
The Romance of a little Paris street waif and her lover who leaped from the depths of degradation to the 7th Heaven of Happiness.
Read What Mae Tinee says:
"7TH HEAVEN" is a charming thing and clings closely to the play of the same name from which it was adapted. An unusual production, full of a number of things, with an appeal for both high and low brows. Its text is Courage—the ladder that can lead from the sewer to the stars. It has "a quaint and heady bouquet, sparkles with thought and whimsy, and its direction and acting are potent." Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor make a fascinating team and David Butler is also there with honors.
The film holds your interest unwaveringly from start to finish—and the climax is a crashing one.
I sure do want you to see "7th Heaven."

Thanks

Bogota, Colombia, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Cross of Boyaca, with which Colombia today honored Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, is the first of its kind ever bestowed on an American citizen and is one of the only ten ever awarded at all. It was awarded by President Mendez, and the flier, perfectly posed, thanked him in a very brief speech—although not so brief as one he is said to have made immediately after landing here yesterday.
When Lindy stepped from the "Spirit of St. Louis," he was greeted with a kiss on the cheek by Senorita Olga Nozueza de Villa, pretty queen of the student body delegated for this duty. Those nearby said Lindy's brief response was "Thanks."

Will Give Decision on Muscle Shoals During Next Week

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A decision next week on Muscle Shoals legislation was ordered today by Chairman McNary of the Senate agricultural committee in closing hearings on the bill of Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, proposing a lease of the property to the American Cyanamid company.
Senator Norris, Republican, put forward again today his resolution calling for government operation of the plant after denouncing the Willis measure as a "power" bill rather than one in the interests of fertilizer manufacture, as contended by Chester Gray, in behalf of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

DIRIGIBLE LANDS ON SHIP'S DECK

The practice approach consumed only about an hour, in spite of the fact that this was the first attempt of a large rigid airship to land on the deck of a ship and although hasty arrangements and only crude equipment were available on this initial attempt.
"This operation is believed to have proved the feasibility of landing an airship on the deck of a large ship."

Thirty Nations in Davis Cup Contest

Paris, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The record-breaking list of entries for the 1928 Davis cup tennis competition was increased to 30 nations today by the receipt of two additional challenges, one from Canada in the American zone and the other from Sweden in the European zone.
The number of challenging countries now in the field for the famous trophy to be defended this year by France for the first time, is five more than in any previous year of competition since the Davis cup first was contested for in 1900 by England and the United States alone.
Last year there were 25 challengers including 21 in the European and four in the American zone. This year the totals are 24 and 6.
Of the 1927 European group, France is automatically out of the preliminaries while Rumania and India have not yet challenged. These losses have been more than offset, however, by the entries of Australia, Argentina, Chile, the Philippines, Norway and Finland.

Man Charged With Sale of Liquor in Private Home

Walter J. COSGRAVE AT VALLEY FORGE

Secrated this sod and made it holy. The story of their endurance here surpasses anything in the world's history and it never will be forgotten as long as men are free.
As he set out from Philadelphia for Valley Forge, amid the first heavy snow storm of the winter, Mr. Cosgrave looked at the low-hanging clouds and whirling snow and commented on the coincidence.
"What an appropriate day this is," he said, "to visit Valley Forge where Washington and his brave men bore the rigors of a long winter for the cause of freedom."
Mr. Cosgrave and his party were taken in motor cars over the route from this city where the weary colonists had trudged in the months between December, 1777 and June, 1778, when the American army was encamped at Valley Forge. He was greeted by Washington's headquarters by Isaac Pennypacker, brother of the late Governor Pennypacker, and chairman of the Valley Forge commission, and the Rev. Dr. W. Herbert Burk, rector of the Washington Memorial chapel.
The distinguished visitor then was taken to the monuments of "Mad" Anthony Wayne and the Unknown Soldiers who died at Valley Forge and were buried there. He placed wreaths on both monuments.

450 MILES ON A GALLON OF GAS

The president of the General Motors Research Corporation, in a recent article points out that there is enough energy in a gallon of gasoline, if converted 100% in mechanical energy, to run a four cylinder car 450 miles. Much experimenting has been done to convert this latent power into mechanical energy, but at present the annual waste in gasoline is appalling. In an effort to conserve gasoline and to increase motor efficiency, Mr. Oliver, noted automotive engineer has perfected an invention that slashes gas costs to the minimum. He is launching a campaign to equip every car with this wonderful invention, and as he is now appointing agents, is willing to give a sample for trial. For full particulars write Mr. Oliver today in care of The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., 999-3066 E. Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

SPANISH AUTHOR DIES IN FRANCE

Vicente Blasco Ibanez Was in Voluntary Exile; Funeral Tuesday

Menton, France, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Vicente Blasco Ibanez died here today, in voluntary exile and will be buried Tuesday in the town cemetery in accordance with his last wishes.

The famous Spanish novelist, a victim of diabetes and bronchial pneumonia, raised himself in bed to express the wish to his family about him, then rested his head on his wife's shoulder and expired at 2:30.

The tumultuous career of the writer, of which Anatole France said to him, "Your greatest work is the romance of your own life," in recent years made him appreciate peace so much that he was inspired to make his home a refuge for other authors, with telephone lines and other communication to the outside world eliminated as far as possible.

Ibanez' 60 years of strenuous activity were crowded with physical and mental activity. Throughout his dramatic manhood, he fought with both pen and sword. He saw nearly all countries of the world and through his books, lectures and movies he gathered gold from most of them.

His genius as a novelist, as often said to have been equalled by his genius as a business man. He circled the globe twice and at least a core of his works could be termed complete successes, most of the financial return, however, being due to their tremendous popularity in the United States.

Although he is said to have been active in opposition to the Spanish government at the age of 20, some say even mingling in revolutionary circles, he was not exiled until after the world war.

His father, editor of the Republican paper, "Pueblo," gave him a good start on his stormy career. The young Ibanez early attracted the attention of Madrid leaders through articles and hot-headed speeches at meetings where the young group gathered a sizeable group of partisans.

The Madrid Journalist, Rodrigo Soriano, became attracted to him in these days and was one of his firmest adherents and closest friends for years, but later they disagreed and twice faced each other on the field of honor. Ibanez also drew the sword against Diego Fernandez Arias, editor of a Madrid newspaper, who challenged the novelist to a duel as an insulter of the Spanish army.

Even in Argentina where the novelist spent considerable time, he could not remain quiet. He had a publishing house there where he printed his own work, but eventually his taste for reform involved him in trouble in connection with the Cuban insurrection and he went to Italy. Later he went to Spain where he was court-martialed and sentenced to four years imprisonment, which served only to give him time to think of new hard things to say about the tyranny of kings and generals.

Was Strictly Modern.

The novelist's most sensational mental explosion when Premier De Rivera took over the reins of government in Spain. His blasts against the dictator often made the French government uncomfortable and when the author finally published a startlingly violent attack upon King Alfonso he was allowed to understand that such attacks were a violation of France's political hospitality.

Two generations older than the modernist school of today, Ibanez nevertheless was regarded as a true modern. He welcomed all progress, particularly in politics. Many of his books deal with old traditions, but he thought much about new problems and his next book was to have been "Youth of the World." He was faithful all his life to Republican principles and attacked the Spanish monarchy although he foresaw that the Spanish government would confiscate his property in Spain.

Survived Many Duels.

His sudden death caused widespread regret in France, which always is flattered by notables of other countries choosing it as a home, and is proud of its reputation as a political asylum.

Ibanez' wife and two sons, Alfredo and Mario, were present at his death bed, with three physicians, his secretary and friend, Fernando Lorica and his manager, Promedeo.

After surviving unharmed duels and the dangers of political opposition in Latin countries, Ibanez succumbed to a cold which he caught while digging in the garden of his estate Fontana Rosa a few days ago.

The estate, which he is leaving to the writers of the world, has gardens designed by specialists brought from all over France for the purpose. The walls of his house were adorned with at least 1,000 books.

DRIED GLUE.

If your glue dries up, add hot vinegar, drop by drop, until it becomes liquid again. The vinegar should be at boiling point.

To provide the table of a transatlantic steamship with its luxuries one trip will often call for a supply of 150 turkeys, 500 ducks, 500 pigeons, 200 pheasants, 1000 quail and five 100-pound turtles.

The use of mistletoe at Christmas is traced to the Druids, who used it as a symbol of welcome for their gods.

The boiling of water removes very few of its chemical impurities, but it does kill the germs.

Firestone

LEADERSHIP

Saves Millions for Motorists

In twenty-eight years of specialization in tire manufacture, Firestone has built up the world's greatest exclusive tire organization—with direct control of raw material supplies, eliminating middlemen's profits—and with the world's largest and best equipped tire fabric mills and mammoth tire and tube plants equipped throughout with special Firestone-designed, cost-saving machines.

Firestone pioneered the Balloon Tire and made it practical by Gum-Dipping. Firestone engineered, designed and developed the new Balloon Tire for the new Ford car, as well as the tires that are standard on so many of America's leading automobiles.

Firestone has saved millions for motorists by waging a single-handed fight against the British Rubber Restriction Act—a law devised to increase crude rubber costs abnormally—with resulting high tire prices. To insure America's independence against this unreasonable foreign monopoly, Firestone is rapidly developing a million-acre rubber plantation in Liberia.

Firestone has also taken the lead in developing dependable secondary lines—Oldfield, Courier, and Airway—giving these tires advantages in design, construction and quality which can be found nowhere else at such extremely low prices.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT.
The appearance of Jean Gross' marionettes in Escanaba on February 10 is an event which should be generally regarded as important, not merely because the attraction in itself is one of high merit, but because the success of this venture can lead to others of outstanding worth.

PRISON BARS FIRMT.
Governor Fred W. Green's insistence, in recent addresses, that criminals be firmly landed behind prison bars before the insanity issue is opened, is a policy dictated by common sense.

spite of himself, do good service for himself and his times.
So perhaps it will be just as well if this big rocket proves a dud. If it should be perfected the earth would suffer too great an exodus. Not one of us but would, at some time or other, try his luck on another planet in preference to this one. But, lacking rockets, we stay here and do the best we can—and, unconsciously, make this earth a better place to live.

EATING 80 PANCAKES.
A young man in a middle western city the other day entered on a griddle cake eating contest with a friend. The two sat at a lunch counter and began an endurance eating contest. The winner eventually stowed away some 80 buckwheat cakes.

THE MIDDLE OF THE ROAD.
The middle of the road man is seldom popular. There is something in human nature which makes us dislike the person who refuses to take definite sides on any disputed question but insists that the proper course is about halfway between the two extremes.

The Piffle Hook

THE SENSITIVE SOUL of old Boston was ruffled the other day when the chimes of a Park street church began to peal out the plaintive notes of "How Dry Am I." It later was explained that an electrician, repairing the chimes, teased them with the only ditty he knew how to play. Rude, indeed, is our awakening!

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

CHAPTER XII
Heath sought consolation in a new line of thought.
"Anyway," he submitted, "we know that the fancy fellow with the patent-leather pumps who called here last night at half past nine was probably Odell's lover, and was grafting on her."

COMMUNICATIONS

ESCANABA, Jan. 28.—(To the Editor)—Will a compulsory Sunday law for the district of Columbia as is now proposed by the reformers make the people at the capital of our nation better and thus assist in halting the "crime waves" and other lawless outbreaks that are so common? The Sunday law reformers have presented and introduced into congress the Lankford Sunday Bill (H. R. No. 78) and are making a nation-wide campaign for its adoption.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
FISH IS DIGESTIBLE ACCORDING TO FISH.
The meat of fish is essentially the same as that of other species. It yields more gelatin than other meats and has less extractives and less of the red coloring matter of the blood.

Ticket Committees of 'Lyceum' Meet Monday

Committees in charge of the sale of tickets for Jene Gros' Marionettes, which will visit the high school auditorium February 10 under auspices of the Escanaba Lyceum Bureau, will meet in the Carnegie Library Monday night.
It is not often that an attraction of this kind can be obtained. Escanaba is one of four cities north of Chicago to play the attraction this year. Two of the others are Green Bay and the Northern Teachers College at Marquette. The local Lyceum Bureau has expressed its elation at having secured the Marionettes, even though the cost will be about $600, but it is believed that the people here would rather see one nationally known "show" than two of average merit.
One of the startling features of the Jean Gros' Marionettes is the illusion that is caused by the figures, with regard to their size. After an audience has watched the marionettes for ten minutes, all sense of proportion is lost by the audience, and the marionettes appear almost life-sized. Hence when the performance is completed, and an actor steps out among the figures he seems to be about thirty feet tall. The audience simply gasps with astonishment.
Strangely enough no glasses are used to create this illusion, the eye is simply deceived by the fact that all the scenery and small properties such as chairs, tables, stools, etc., are made in proportion to the figure, and thus the human eye having nothing to compare the Marionettes with all sense of size is lost.
Two Programs.

Mr. Gros is presenting "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" from the book by Mark Twain, a complete play for adults, and over one hundred and fifty Marionettes. The matinee performance for the children after school will be Uncle Wiggily at the circus a play by Howard R. Garis. The company is the largest marionette company that has ever toured the United States and is so full of originality that comparisons are impossible. The Pittsburgh Sun said "It differs from all other Marionette shows as dawn from night."

Chautard, Marie Mosquin and Brandon Hurst.
Frank Borzage directed the production.

AT THE STRAND.
Bringing with it the scent of the northern pine forests, "The Coward," starring Warner Baxter, will open at the Strand Monday.
Adapted for the screen from a story that ran in Hearst's International Magazine, "The Coward" deals with the adventures of a young society man, Clinton Philbrook, who goes into the north woods of Canada to reclaim his lost honor.
In love with an exquisite girl, Philbrook unfortunately draws her name into a brawl in which he is defeated by his rival. In the attempt to build himself up to the point where he can whip his enemy, he makes a heartbreaking hike through the wilderness with a picturesque French-Canadian trapper, and emerges a man.
On the completion of his trip Philbrook saves the life of his rival that he may avenge himself later. The manner in which he wins the girl and redeems his honor forms the dramatic climax.
Baxter plays the part of Philbrook; Freeman Wood, the heavy; Sharon Lynn, the girl; Raoul Paoli, the guide; and Alfred Raaboch directed.

Besides the two principals the cast includes Ben Bard, David Butler, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, George Stone, Emile

AMUSEMENTS

TODAY'S PROGRAMS.
At the Delft: "Slit Legs," a comedy drama with James Hall and Midge Bellamy in the leading roles.
At the Strand: "The Great Mill Robbery," a melodrama of the mill trains and the Marines.
"7th Heaven," at last has been brought to the screen and will be shown for the first time in Escanaba at the Delft Theatre Monday. The picture is based on the famous play by Austin Strong. The cast is headed by Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell.
"7th Heaven" is the story of two of the lowest types of Parisians, a worker in the sewers of Paris and a walf of the Paris streets. But because of the glorious doctrine of courage which it preaches and the marvelous things it does to both of their characters it has been called one of the greatest love stories ever written. The play created a sensation when produced for a record run on Broadway, and the picture is surpassing the reputation established by the play.
Besides the two principals the cast includes Ben Bard, David Butler, Albert Gran, Gladys Brockwell, George Stone, Emile

Gambling Hall Becomes Mission
Three Sands, Okla.—The hall which was a gambling dive when Three Sands was a "tough town" of the oil boom six years ago now is used for church services.
The "plate is passed" for the Sunday morning offering where gunmen rattled dice in cups for large stakes, and hymns reverberate against the walls within which gaudy painted women clicked glasses of strong liquor.
All this change has taken place because Three Sands ceased to be a "boom town."
The gamblers and the painted women left when excitement over the discovery of oil ended. Later, the petroleum industry established itself on a stable basis, and oil companies built homes for their employes at Three Sands.
The town has grown steadily, until the M. E. Mission now hopes to call 500 persons to worship every Sunday in the building which once was a gambling house.
An estimated acreage of 104,500 was sown to fodder corn in western Canada in 1927.
There are more telephones in Nebraska than in all of Great Britain.

Chautard, Marie Mosquin and Brandon Hurst.

So ORIGINAL AND DIFFERENT that Comparisons are Impossible
Six powerful cylinders are six powerful reasons for this. A seventh vital reason is the basic Victory idea!
For the first time in motor car history, chassis and body are a unit. Floor and seats are built in the chassis. The wide Victory chassis frame replaces the customary body sill—and eliminates the customary body overhang. The body itself has only 8 major parts!
The result is 175 less pounds, 330 less parts; standard road and head clearance, yet a car that is extremely low, steady and safe—with a power plant stripped for instant and brilliant action!
And the smartest car at the price ever created!

FIRM FOUNDED ON GRATITUDE

Partnership of Britton and Morgan Lasted Twenty Years

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Sports Writer

One of the best known and certainly the oldest and most durable of the firms operating on the cauliflower market is that of Britton & Morgan.

There have been more broadly advertised firms like Kearns and Deming and some that antedated the million-dollar days of the business, but they all split up while the former welterweight champion of the world and "Dumb Dan" have been going for twenty years and are still going.

The story of how they became partners may be interesting as it produces some evidence that there still may be such a thing as gratitude in the racket.

Twenty years ago Britton was fighting around Philadelphia and he was a pal of an older and at that time more successful fighter who called himself Young Kid Broad.

Broad got an offer of $20 to fight in New York and he took Britton along with him. The Kid was treated roughly in his bout, but he was satisfied with the twenty bucks and they decided to remain in New York and see the town as neither had been there before.

They got a room on Second avenue near 14th street, paid three days in advance and started out to see the sights. Fourteenth street was then the bright-light district and they were walking along the street taking in all the sights.

Two young huskies were walking toward them and when they met one of them hit Broad across the cheek with a rolled newspaper and said: "Hello, there, kid!" Broad thought he had been recognized on account of the black eye, the cut mouth and the scratched face and was flattered. He said hello right back and stopped.

One of the friendly strangers asked: "You looking for a fight?" and the Kid, thinking he was a promoter, said he was and the stranger knocked him flat with a jack. Britton started toward the other stranger, but before he could wink a punch he was dropped from behind. The jack had worked twice.

When they came to they were dragged on a surface car and the strangers showed their badges. They were Ed Reardon, from the district attorney's office, and another detective from a squad assigned to mop up gangsters who had been bothering the neighborhood.

Britton and Broad had little hope of getting identifications, but they were encouraged on the car when a man spoke to Broad. The detectives asked him if he knew the prisoner and when he admitted it he was spotted and taken along.

Britton and Broad were tossed in the Toms charged with vagrancy, disorderly conduct, felonious assault and resisting an officer, a combination which would have assured them of a trip up the river for about three years.

One of the keepers in the Toms heard their story and went to Dan Morgan, who was then a district Tammany man, but had not been associated with the fighting racket. Morgan had the charges reduced to disorderly conduct and they were fined $10 each. Broad had enough to pay himself out, but he didn't have any left for Britton.

Broad tried for two days to dig up the money while Britton cooled in the Toms and when he failed he went back to Morgan. Morgan gave him a fine calling, but went down and bought Britton out.

Morgan then told them to get back to Philadelphia as quick as they could and stay there forever, and they went back.

Some time later Britton got back in New York and needing a manager he persuaded Morgan to give up politics and take him.

They have been together ever since. Britton saved his money and could have retired years ago but hard times fell on Morgan and it is a known fact to intimates that Britton kept on fighting principally to get a cut for the man who had befriended him when he didn't have a friend.

Britton is still fighting—the wonder of the ring—and while it is said that he lost all his money in Florida his friends doubt it and believe he is still working for the firm.

"Photog" Thought Tom Carney Was Japanese Official

T. A. Carney, Chicago and Northwestern railway passenger agent who formerly lived in Escanaba, had the odd experience of being mistaken for a Japanese railroad official while attending a meeting of the Milwaukee Traffic Club in Milwaukee. For the benefit of his friends here who probably cannot understand why a photographer would make such a grievous error, the following story which appeared in a recent issue of the Green Bay, Wis., Press-Gazette is reprinted in way of explanation:

"Green Bay traffic men in Milwaukee Thursday for the annual meeting of the Milwaukee Traffic Club were amazed to pick up a Milwaukee newspaper and find a picture of their old friend, T. A. Carney, division agent and passenger agent for the Northwestern road, registering at the new Hotel Schroeder as a member of a large delegation representing Japanese railroads.

"However, the picture was not so difficult to explain, and the Green Bay delegates soon worked out an answer, which, if not accurate was entirely satisfactory to them. Mr. Carney is a 'hale fellow well met' and an imposing figure in any delegation. When he sauntered up to the clerk's desk in the new hotel, he was immediately spotted by the newspaper photographer as a man of importance. It seems that the photographer was waiting for some representatives of the Japanese roads to arrive. The Japanese group was to be a very important commission representing the government and the railroads.

"The photographer accosted Mr. Carney, who thought it was some fellow traffic man putting up a joke, and in that spirit he 'kidded him along.' The photographer snapped the picture and departed. A few minutes later a reporter from the paper repeated the questions, and Mr. Carney thinking the joke was becoming quite general continued his half playful answers.

"The next issue of the paper carried an excellent likeness of Mr. Carney, well known Green Bay traffic man and told the world of the important post he held in Japanese railroad circles."

Proposed Party is Taken as Warning

Berlin—A movement to form a women's political party for the country's total 35 electoral districts with Frau Dr. Marie Lueders, the present Democratic deputy, as the Reichstag, as the party's candidate for the next Reichstag elections, is reported by the provincial papers.

Commenting on this news, the "Demokratischer Zeitungsdienst" writes: "While it is not at all surprising that women seek to gain the political recognition to which by reason of their numbers and social significance they are entitled, their leaders are sufficiently clever to realize that the formation of a distinct women's party would hardly be the means of ensuring the imposing feminine that is desired.

"We are therefore inclined to interpret the rumor of the projected political women's party rather in the light of a warning to the other political parties in future not to side-track women when choosing their parliamentary candidates."

THE TINYMITES

The Tinkles shook the old man's hand. The dog then bowed to beat the hand. Said Scouty, "Say, what ails him? Is he scared of us, or what? I'll pat him. Then he will not fuss, and maybe he will play with us. What is his name?" The old man promptly answered, "It is Spot!"

"Here, Spot!" cried Clowny. "Come on, hound. Be friendly! Chase me all around. I'll take you to a nearby stream where you can get a drink." And, as he ran, the dog ran, too. It seemed exactly like he knew what Clowny said. They reached the little streamlet in a wink.

"I'll show you how to drink with ease," said Clowny, on his hands and knees. He leaned far forward, then dipped down until he had his fill. The big dog took his turn and then they went back to the bunch again. "What can we do now?" Carpy asked.

"We've heaps of time to kill!" "Twas then the kindly woodsman spied their cracker box. He loudly cried, "I'll tell you, what. Let's make some wheels. I'll saw them from a tree. It won't take long, and when they're done, I'll show you how to have some fun. If all you lads are seeking sport, just leave the plans to me."

"If someone wants to help, just lend a hand, and grab the other end." Wee Scouty did, and loudly cried, "Just leave the help to me." They sawed and sawed for quite a while, and then the bunch began to smile. Four wheels were cut right off the trunk, as neat as they could be.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Junior high school held the usual exams last week. The hot lunches are proving beneficial this winter as most of the pupils are from the country, and walk from one and one half to nearly three miles each morning. Mr. Cantin has kindly managed the work in connection with the lunches and also assisted in furnishing the eats.

We are pleased to announce that the Russel school has been awarded a First Aid cabinet by the Michigan Tuberculosis association for the assistance the pupils gave in selling stamps in the 1927 tuberculosis campaign. This speaks well for the interest the children showed in selling the stamps and also the assistance the teacher, Mrs. Bernice Oglesby gave.

The Third and Fourth grades in town have begun the study of birds in language. One day a week will be devoted to this work and the pupils make booklets as they study. Land snakes usually have acute hearing, but many water snakes cannot hear at all.

Opera Recruits Come from Homes of Working Folk

Paris—Singing at one's work appears to be the best preparation for opera. From the stockyards district of Paris, says Jean Lecoq, writer on musical topics, come most of the singers. Their voices develop, he says, in a natural way, un hindered by any singing teacher's pet ideas.

It is the custom in the district for men and women to work at home or in small groups making toys, novelties and other small articles. Singing and conversation are the chief amusements. Those who have good voices soon win local note, and eventually some music patron gives the encouragement that starts a new career.

The tenor Seller was discovered by Edmond About, the novelist, who heard the boy singing at his work in the kitchen of a little restaurant. Two years later he was the leading tenor at the Opera.

New Kinds of Grain Must Be Developed

Berlin—To make Germany agriculturally self-supporting, the creation of new kinds of grain and other plants was advocated by Prof. E. Baur at the general meeting of the German League for Technics and Science. Professor Baur considered the creation of such plants very possible through systematic crossings between the existing indigenous products, an increase of which to the extent of only 15 per cent, he believed, would suffice to change Germany from a grain importing to a grain exporting country. Such new grain species, he said, would allow of more profuse watering by means of artificial rain with the prospect of thereby extracting a much greater amount of nutritive values from the soil.

NIGHT MAIL FLYERS SKIM 5000-MILE PATHWAY MADE SAFE BY BEACONS

By NEA Service.
Chicago—Under the sun by day and with a blaze of artificial light more than 5000 miles long by night, the airmail goes through.

Twenty airmail transports, traveling paths that criss-cross the nation, cover more than 16,000 miles. More than 6,000,000,000 candlepower lights the night pilots on their way across the dark skies.

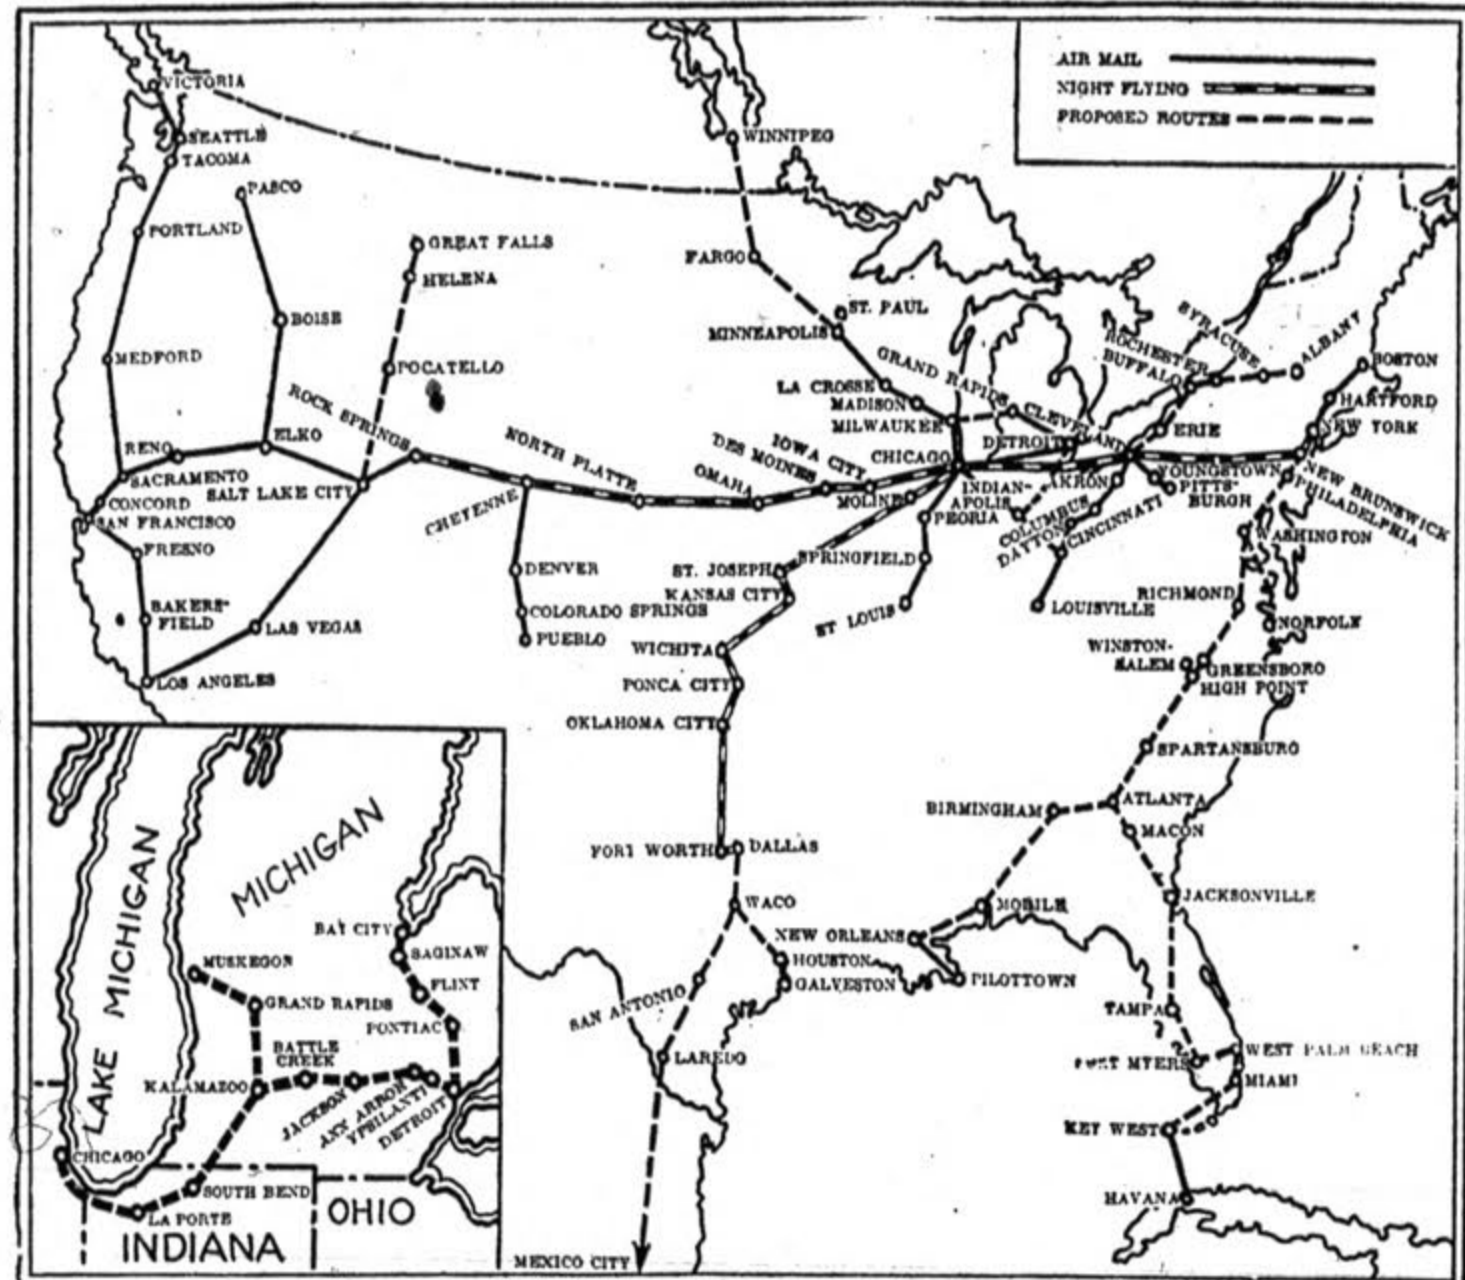

Field flood-lights on the transcontinental route between New York and Salt Lake City supply the greatest brilliance. On this route are 12 such floodlights, each of an estimated 5,000,000 candlepower. The other great lights are the revolving beacons of the 24-inch electric type, of which there are 191 on the routes now lighted, including the new Chicago-Dallas line.

Another lighted route.
The lighted mileage will be increased greatly by spring when the New York-Atlanta route, 763 miles long, is to start. Lines from Dallas to Galveston and to Laredo, which are to go into operation earlier, will be lighted, as well as the Salt Lake City-Great Falls, Buffalo-Albany and New Orleans-Atlanta routes.

The vast net work of airmail lines today reaches a territory in which there live 70,000,000 people. The National Air Transport planes, which carry airmail and express over the 1726-mile Dallas-Chicago-New York airways, comprising two routes, eastern and southwestern, in the quarter year ending November 30, 1927, had flown 435,343 miles.

Prior to Sept. 1, these planes had covered a total mileage of more than 1,000,000 since the company began operations on the southwestern route on May 13, 1926. Private air transport operations by this company on the Chicago-New York division began on Sept. 1, 1927.

In the quarter year since the inauguration of air express, which also began on Sept. 1, 1927, N. A. T. planes carried 158,249 pounds of airmail and 12,664 pounds of express. The air express is so new that its volume has shown no appreciable increase while the airmail with a background of operations of several years, is steadily on the increase.

The airmail, postal information discloses, showed the greatest increase in Christmas mail volume of any branch of the post-office service. The westbound transcontinental plane out of Chicago on December 23, 1927, carried 2210 pounds of mail compared with 940 pounds on the same day in 1926. The east-bound plane out of Salt Lake City the same day carried 2663 pounds against 1563 pounds of mail on December 22, 1926, an increase of 70 per cent.

Returning to the lighting system, which was inaugurated under the direction of Col. Paul Henderson, then assistant postmaster general and now general manager of the National Air Transport, there were at the close of 1927, 5150 miles of lighted airways in operation. The 24-inch revolving electric beacons are placed approximately 1 to each 25 miles on the transcontinental route and every ten miles apart on the other airways. The fields, besides flood-lights, carry boundary lights of incandescent bulbs, with hazards like trees, poles and buildings, marked with red obstruction lights. The lighting on the southwestern route has been done under the supervision of L. D. Seymour, chief engineer of National Air Transport.

In addition to the beacons, numbering 75, and 22 lighted intermediate fields, there are on the southwestern route, about 40 acetylene flashing beacons or blinkers, placed at points where unusually bad weather conditions are encountered, such as on the Red river, near the Texas-Oklahoma border.

At each beacon on this southwestern route, there is a number in six-foot figures, so placed that from Dallas northward, the addition of a cipher to the number will give the approximate mileage from Dallas. The beacons are mounted on 53-foot standard airway towers.

Special Racers to Try for New Speed Records at Daytona Beach

On the broad, smooth sand of Ormond Daytona Beach, Fla., new speed records will be sought in special racing cars by these three men. Left to right they are J. M. White, Frank Lockhart and Capt. Malcolm Campbell.

By NEA Service.
Daytona, Fla.—Speed again will have its inning when three powerful automobiles will race down the famous Ormond-Daytona beach on the east coast of Florida, in an attempt to break the record established last year by Major H. O. D. Segrave of England. This event is scheduled for a week following February 15.

Capt. Malcolm Campbell, British racer, is coming to America with a car that will be propelled by the specially built 450-horsepower Napier engine that won the last Schneider cup race at the Lido in Italy. He wants to defend the land speed record of 203.8 miles an hour made by Major Segrave.

In America, Frank Lockhart, who has won many a racing event, will be on hand with a special car that is being built in the Stutz factory at Indianapolis and is being backed by 30 wealthy men. It is said to be a veritable bullet, small, light, built for minimum wind resistance and with a high speed engine.

J. M. White of Philadelphia has been building his own racer for this event, a three-motored, 35-cylinder affair which is designed to develop 1500 horsepower. Another entrant in this unique event may be M. Dependin of France, who recently won the grand prix in Spain. He will bring his own car over. This race may determine whether the highest speed ever reached on land can be attained by a huge car with enormous reserve of power to overcome wind resistance by sheer force, or by the smaller car whose design is based on a study of aero dynamics, with a minimum wind resistance and a high engine speed.

Major Segrave's "Mystery S," and White's triple engined car, weighing four tons, represent the first type. The other is represented by Frank Lockhart's new car, Capt. Campbell's "Bluebird" and M. Dependin's racer.

Besides the speed events over a stretch of only 11 miles, there will be stock car trials, in which many of the existing models now appearing on the streets will participate. The new Model A Ford has already been entered, and its closest competitors are expected to accept its challenge.

The events of the week, it is emphasized, will not consist of races, but of speed trials in which each entrant will attempt to do its best.

SIDEGLITS OF THE STAGE AND SCREEN

Hollywood, Cal.—Angry heroine, boiling over with temperance and fond of brandishing whips, threaten to become fashionable on the screen this year. Jacqueline Logan's latest release shows her as a leopard tamer, a lass of flashing eyes, high collar and cracking whip. Even more emphasis is laid on the whip in Estelle Taylor's latest, and now comes Dolores Del Rio with plans for a fiery tamer starring her as a tamer of bears, a Caucasian gypsy girl whose swirling whip puts fear into men and beasts alike and whose name itself—Ghita—suggests the snap and bite of the lash.

EXPLANATION
Those who have been wondering for years what messenger boys do with their spare time while delivering rush telegrams will be interested to hear that George Bancroft was a messenger boy before he ever thought of starring in the movies, and that what he liked about the job was the chance it gave him to learn trick bicycle riding. There were so many messages to deliver that before he quit the job he knew how to change from street clothes to bathing suit without dismounting from the wheel.

OPPORTUNITY
In spite of the vast throng of applicants for picture work, the Central Casting bureau maintained by the studios here still is "stumped" now and then by some request for an unusual type. The latest was a rush call for "a cross-eyed boy of high school age who can act." Mervyn LeRoy, directing a screen version of "Harold Teen," wanted him for an important part in the picture, but no such youngster was to be found among the 15,000 registered extras. So a special search had to be made for the type.

MONKEY BUSINESS
The men one sees hurrying from studio to studio carrying mysteriously black or brown leather bags are not bootleggers, as some visitors here seem to think. They are the monkey magnates of Hollywood, and the bags are portable cages in which trained monkeys can be carried easily and comfortably to and from their work in front of the cameras. When screen work is scarce the bags are put away and the monkey travel atop grind organs.

HOLLYWOOD, CAL.—One hears so much about the foreign invasion of Hollywood that the foreign exodus gets small attention. But the number of foreign players and directors who have quit Hollywood and gone home during the last year is just as impressive as the list of new importations.

CAMERA BLOSSOMS
Not all foreigners leave Hollywood disillusioned, however. There is Joe Evergreen, for instance.

Yoshitaka Hirai, worked here 14 years as a motion picture gardener, growing palms and vines and other green things for the dressing of garden sets. In other words he saw the movies grow up in Hollywood, and learned all about pictures while dressing gardens for the camera. Now he is producing films in Japan and his brother Jimmie is taking care of the flourishing artificial garden business here. "Seven, eight years more and I go back, too," says Jimmie.

FOOD FOR FILMS
Visitors on motion picture sets naturally smile when they hear someone complain because the property man "can't cook very well." But cooking is in fact one of his important duties. In the old days artificial food, made of wood or plaster, was used in eating scenes; but the demand for realism gradually forced property men to abandon their plaster-of-paris ham and eggs or steaks

GUESS HIS BUSINESS
New York.—Police here believe that Joseph Williams, former Connecticut hotel man, had serious intentions of quitting that business for something more exciting. Detectives who followed him to his home found 2000 keys, two guns, 100 bullets, a black-jack, brass knuckles, motor number dies, 25 dresses and six cameras.

widely heralded continental star, was particularly brief. She departed early in the year without having appeared in a single American picture. Mona Martensen, the Scandinavian importation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, also left before the company could find any actual screen use for her. Ariette Marchal appeared in several pictures and then chose to go back to Paris. Maurice Stiller, the Swedish director who introduced Greta Garbo to this country, has gone home too. Vlaschler Tourjansky, who for a while handled the megaphone on John Barrymore's current picture, has said goodbye to Hollywood taking with him his wife, Natalie Kovanko. And from another lot have departed Ivan Moskine, the Russian actor, and E. A. Dupon, director of the famous German success, "Variety."

his first team by laying out a football field, cutting down an apple orchard and building bleachers. High school teams in the early days humbled the Sooners fairly often.

The university's enrollment grew, however. Athletics developed, and in 1920 Oklahoma was admitted to the Missouri Valley conference. Owen's Sooners celebrated the event the first year by taking the football championship.

From then on athletics were assured at the university. A new stadium was planned and a field house started. Last year the athletic plant had grown to such size that Owen found he no longer could coach and direct athletics with justice to both jobs.

So the dean of Missouri Valley coaches became director of athletics and Adrian Lindsey, former U. of Kansas star, was chosen football coach, the second the university has had.

Owen took up his new duties in September, but still is seen on the football field almost nightly.

"I can hardly stay away from that field," he confided. "I worked with those boys so many years that I seem lost without them. Now that we have a stadium that will seat 20,000, a new athletic plant, sectional games and modern conveniences, I believe it's all true."

Kiss-Proof Lip Sticks Sell Like Hot Cakes

London—Lip sticks with colorings which are guaranteed to stick went like hot cakes at an exhibition of members' work of the Soroptomist club, in South Kensington.

"Kiss proof," it is called. The claim is made for the new sticks that neither hot tea, coffee nor anything of the kind affects the coloring. Once the "kiss proof" coloring has been daubed onto the lips for which it was conceived, the only way it may be removed is by a special application of liquid which goes with each stick.

Now It's the Prune's Time to Laugh

By NEA Service.
Newport News, Va.—The lovely prune, famed chiefly as the favorite raw material of boarding house jokesmiths, at last has won a real distinction.

It contributes the dominant color note for the interior decorations of the new liner California, largest American-built passenger ship, now being completed here.

A New York firm which had charge of decorating the California made a special study, on the Pacific coast, of the plums from which prunes are made. The richest prune shade was sought. Orchards were visited and color charts prepared. A typical tone designated as "California prune" was established.

This color will appear in a magnificent Saxony carpet woven for the ship's lounge—the design also embodying another classic California product, gold.

The same combination will feature draperies, tapestries and throughout the vessel.

FROM FILLING STATION TO CITY HALL, OR -- HOW TO RUN A TOWN, As Told BY 'BOSSY' GILLIS

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer.

Newburyport, Mass.—Here's how to run a town, if you happen to want to know. The whole code is boiled down to a few simple rules by Andrew "Bossy" Gillis, the new red-headed mayor of this conservative New England town:

"To the winners goes the gravy. Give the guys that voted for you a chance to skim the cream. You owe 'em breaks. Make room for them.

"Don't waste your time trying to make friends out of the guys that are out for your scalp. Give 'em the axe instead. Make new friends you can trust.

"Be the boss. Let the world know it. Tell everybody who's who and what's what. Hit straight from the shoulder. But no high-hat stuff. Let everyone in on the works. Can the bird who goes about blabbing about the mayor or his family. Advise your town. Put it on the map. Don't start nothing you can't finish. Go through or go under.

"Put the cops in their places. When a guy is speeding, he should be reasoned with, not fugged. Go after the booze that sell bum booze. This prohibition stuff is the bunk. Anyone can buy hooch who has the jack. Any good knows that. Don't arrest crap games. If the fat feet on the police force do what they are hired to do, they won't have time to pick on an innocent pastime like indoor golf.

"Get eight hours of work out of every bird on the pay roll. When the fellow is too drunk to come to work, let him find himself another job. Everybody working would avoid the ladies during working hours.

"While you are in office, put on a good show."

"Bossy" has been practicing just what he preaches since he became mayor. As a result, he suddenly has become one of New England's most prominent citizens. And his success is self-made.

"Bossy" was no Horatio Alger hero in his youth. He was no teacher's pet. All that kept him in grammar school was the truant officer and a love of football. Later he joined the navy, to see the world—

"But that's boloney," said he. "The way to see the world is to be a hobo and beat the blind baggage. I've been across the country several times and never paid a bit. I beat my way from Boston to San Francisco once in eight days—almost as fast as you could make it on a good train."

There was real pride in "Bossy's" voice as he related this achievement.

He never has owned a dinner suit. He was unable off-hand to remember any book he had read through. But he reads the daily papers.

"Women? Sure. I like 'em. But I'm too smart to marry," the mayor averred.

Bossy is well fixed financially. His mother, who owned and ma-

Owen Finds Coaching Habit Hard to Break

Norman, Okla.—The Missouri Valley's newest athletic director, who also is the dean of conference football coaches, is finding it difficult to break away from the habit of coaching athletes.

Twenty years ago, Ben C. Owen was made athletic coach at the U. of Oklahoma, which then was little larger than an average size high school. Like higher education, a coach was nearly an unknown quantity in 1907 among home-seekers in Oklahoma. Their time was taken up with cattle, Indians and sod busting.

For a considerable number of those 20 years, Bennie Owen was the only coach the university boasted. He rushed from the football season into the basketball season and then doubled up coaching track and baseball. Between times and at night Owen sandwiched in his executive duties.

The veteran coach, who lost his right arm many years ago in a hunting accident, conditioned

BRANCH RICKEY IN MANISTIQUE MONDAY NIGHT

Branch Rickey, vice president of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball team, has been secured to speak here Monday evening under the auspices of the Manistique Women's club. "Twenty Million Men's Worshippers" will be his subject. This is one of the regular numbers of the local lyceum course, and is regarded as a feature attraction.

Branch Rickey is not only one of the big men in the management of the Cardinals, but he is one of the big men in organized baseball today. As vice president and business manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, he saw his team in 1926 win the world's championship pennant. Mr. Rickey graduated in 1904 from Ohio Wesleyan University, where he was a baseball and football star. He wore the uniforms of Cincinnati, St. Louis and New York American League teams, as catcher. He became athletic coach at his alma mater, but later transferred to the University of Michigan in order to study law. It was while reading Blackstone and developing a winning diamond aggregation at Michigan that Rickey discovered and signed George Slaughter for the St. Louis Browns. Mr. Rickey in his lectures here will draw an analogy between the national pastime and the great game of life, at the same time painting a thrilling picture of America's future in the world of sport.

COUNTY GETS TWO WARDENS; P. KNUTH BACK

Re-instatement of Paul Knuth of Manistique as a game warden is expected to take place during the week as a result of new assignments to be made by the conservation department. Under present plans, which were learned last week following a visit to this city of J. A. Vitzena of Munising, chief of the Upper Peninsula conservation forces, it is indicated that Schoolcraft county will have two wardens, one for the east half and the other for the west half. Mr. Knuth, who was advised of the arrangements, will take over one half of the territory and V. P. Deemer, recently appointed by the commission, will patrol the other half. Mr. Knuth has been instructed to take over his duties February 1, and official confirmation of his appointment from Lansing is expected to be forthcoming by that time.

FRED MERWIN FUNERAL WILL BE ON MONDAY

The funeral of Fred Merwin, whose sudden death occurred here Friday, will be held at the home on Cherry street Monday at 2 p. m. The Rev. M. Mullenberg of the Presbyterian church will officiate at the last rites, and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. A son, Lewis J. Merwin, arrived Friday night from Negaunee, and other members of the family were expected yesterday.

CITY BRIEFS

A daughter was born Friday night to Mr. and Mrs. Jay Krumholz of Manistique. Miss Marguerite Ostlund left Manistique Tuesday night for Escanaba, where she will attend the Cloverland Commercial College. Miss Dorothy Norton entertained at a luncheon party Friday afternoon. A delicious lunch was served at 4:30, with covers laid for eight. Alphonse Varschur, Hiawatha township farmer, will leave this week to attend the Farmers' Week Banquet, held at East Lansing in connection with the Michigan Week program of the Michigan Agricultural College.

Extensive Changes Made in Local Cafe

Some notable alterations and improvements are in progress at the Liberty Cafe in Manistique. Thirteen booths and tables of the latest type have been installed, and other interior renovations are to be made within the coming week. With side booths and center tables, the cafe will have a seating capacity of close to 80 people when completed. A special opening is planned for that time. Installation of the new equipment is in the hands of the Oshkosh, Wis. concern.

Discuss Current Topics in Church

At the Methodist Church Sunday evening Rev. C. S. Risley will discuss a few of the current topics that are receiving notice in our daily press and magazines. This is a very fine way to follow the trend of various opinions of leading minds of the religious life of the American people. The discussion is the result of our observation and reading of the many articles published that should be of vital interest to all. Among the topics discussed will be "Thieves in the American Home," "Is the home falling?", "The Restless Clergy", etc. The old saying is "that where there is a little smoke there must be a little fire", we are not saying that it is all smoke and no fire, but we are saying that there must be some occasion for all this discussion or there would be less of it. So to invite you—if nowhere else—to come out and think with us along the lines of current topics.

MEETS AT 2:30. The Ladies' Aid Society of Zion Lutheran church will meet Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Emil Nelson, Oak street.

MUSIC MASTER IS HONORED

Monument to Campanini Reared Above Grave In Italy.

Chicago—Music ruled Cleofonte Campanini in life, and it stretches brooding symbolic arms over him in death in the sun-flecked cemetery of Parma, Italy, his native city. Campanini was director general of the Chicago Civic Opera company, considered among the most singular musical geniuses of his generation, and there are many of grand opera's most successful stars today who say they owe most of their career to him. He died eight years ago. Since then, his widow, Mme. Eva Tetrarzyni Campanini, sister of the coloratura soprano, Luisa Tetrarzyni, has labored to erect a monument over his grave that would symbolize his passion for music. It is completed now and Mme. Campanini has sent to her Chicago friends the first photographs of it. She refused to accept contributions towards the cost of the work, although many singers who felt they owed much to Campanini asked to be permitted to contribute. The monument crypt is surmounted by a symbolic figure, surrounded by bronze organ pipes, lifting face and hands towards the Italian heavens, in an attitude of prayer and inspiration. Music, represented by a flight of doves, descends into the sky. On either side of the base of the monument, which in turn rests upon the crypt of Verona marble, is a group in full relief. Depicted is dawn, or birth, and sunset, or death. Campanini's tomb itself is flanked by stylized organ pipes and there is an Egyptian touch throughout. Prof. G. G. Mancini, who designed the monument, also created the settings for Montezzi's "The Love of the Three Kings," which bear in their Byzantine note a strong resemblance to the tomb.

Yanks Have Lead of 5 Games; Vick Stages Come-back

The Yanks in the Elks Bowling League took a firmer grip of first place by taking three straight from the Bear Cats. Stan Crowe and associates were in rare form and had no difficulty in downing Perry's crew. The Tigers moved up a notch by winning two out of three from Hall's Pirates. E. N. Orr doing stellar work for the winners. The Paper Makers got mixed up into another thriller with the Cubs, taking the second by 17, and dropping the third by 13 pins. The Lions continued their winning streak by coping the entire series from Ludlow's Giants. Mead's aggregation hit the maples with a vengeance, and victory was not to be denied. The Yanks are now leading the league by a margin of five games. The next six teams are having a great session fighting for second place, there being only two games difference between any of the six teams, and only one game between five of them. Remell by his good bowling during the week regained leadership in the individual standing. Several changes will take place in the schedule for the coming week. Monday night's contest will be postponed on account of the Lyceum number featuring Branch Rickey. Tuesday night the Papermakers and Giants will meet, and Wednesday night the Cubs and Lions. Friday night's contest will also be postponed on account of the Escanaba party. How do they do it?

VAUDEVILLE AT GERO.

Something unusual in the line of vaudeville attractions has been announced by the Gero theater management for presentation Monday evening in addition to the regular screen feature. The act is a dancing musical offering, with performers ranging in ages from 4 to 14 years, and is known as "The Sunshine Kids." The following comment on the juvenile act is taken from the News, of the Soc. where the company was booked last week: "Generous applause and praise are being given daily to the troupe of juvenile actors, Sunshine Kids, now appearing and scoring a hit at the Strand theater." "The youngsters, as versatile as many older veterans of the booking office, sing, dance, play musical instruments and in general make themselves likable. The troupe played at the Strand theater two years ago. "Snooks and Dolly, aged 4 and 12, respectively, are two of the cleverest dancers ever seen on the Strand theater stage, their work being marked by grace and ease and their burlesque of dances is exceedingly funny. "Betty and Junior, aged 4 and 7, respectively, make a hit in their impersonations. "Changes of costume suit each act. The troupe employs a dressmaker to keep up with the changes in the act as the juveniles go from city to city." The screen offering for Monday night will be Colleen Moore in "Naughty, But Nice." For tonight it is "Breakfast at Sunrise," a Constance Talmadge comedy. An excellent cast supports Miss Talmadge in the picture. In addition to Alvarado, the film has such noted players as Bryant Washburn, Marie Dressler, Alice White, Burr McIntosh, Nolle Rly Baker, Paulette Goddard, Albert Gran and David Mir. "Changes of costume suit each act. The troupe employs a dressmaker to keep up with the changes in the act as the juveniles go from city to city."

Fix Date of Fierce Inter-city Pin War; Banquet at Six p. m.

Friday, February 3rd has definitely been decided as the date on which the Escanaba Elks will take their annual pinning at the hands of the Manistique brothers. The local Elks expect somewhat stiffer opposition than last year, as the neighboring boys have been taking instructions from that bowling ace Jimmy Smith, but reports received would indicate that the disciples of Jimmy have shown very little improvement. The Escanaba aggregation are making arrangements to make the trip in a bus. It is a known fact that this idea originated with the Elkettes to insure the safe and early return of their mates, and the locals concur with them that the idea is a good one. Final plans are in the making and will be announced at a later date. One thing has been definitely decided that dinner will be served at six o'clock sharp, and that only three teams will compete instead of four as originally planned.

THERE'LL BE LESS LOSS of life in submarine accidents like the S-4's if the device here pictured in tests off the Charlestown, Mass., bridge is adopted generally by under-water craft. As part of a submersible's hull, it would form a separate compartment through which food, water and air could be passed to the crew in case of disaster.

IN NEW YORK

New York—in a Bowery barber shop there is a testimonial from none other than James J. Jeffries, conceding that as a fighter of black eyes one Louis Alterli has few, if any, equals.

Today Louis asks you to read it and weep. For, though you comb the lower Bowery and wander through the Brooklyn water front, you will no longer find those grand old specialists in black eyes.

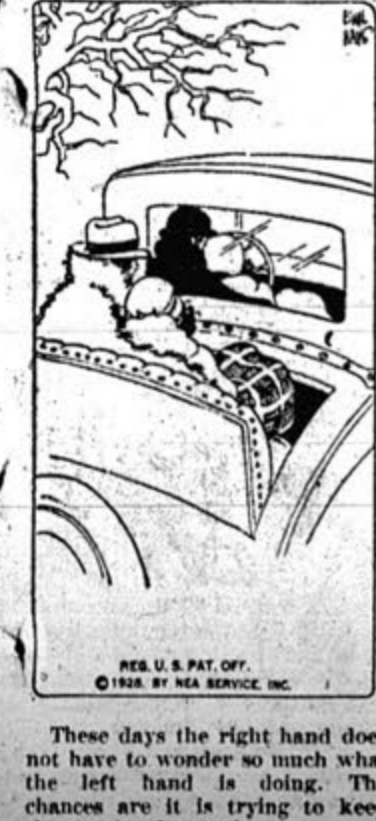

A never-ending source of wonder in Manhattan is "where do people get the money?"

Recently, I made a tour of expensive cafes and near-expensive cafes in the Times Square belt.

This season, they tell me, New York is a bigger winter resort than ever. The word has gone forth that Manhattan is enjoying a mild winter and folk are flocking in from every part of the world looking upon their visit here—ironically enough—as a vacation.

While, along 28th street, where the fur trade has its heart, there are long faces at the window. For nobody seems to be buying. I heard of an exclusive belt where Did you ever stop to consider how good buttermilk is? A healthful, refreshing, satisfying as well as a good food.

FOUR TILTS ON INDEES' CARD

Local Cagers to Play Iron Mountain, Niagara, Menominee and 'Stique

Within the next days the Escanaba Independents will meet four of the strongest basketball squads in the country, arrangements having been made for games with Niagara, Iron Mountain, Manistique and Menominee teams.

The Escanaba quintet will journey to Niagara, Wis., Monday night to do battle with the Paper Mill town aggregation. Down in Niagara, basketball is a real popular sport—just like football is to Notre Dame. The Badgers have a powerful organization composed of former college and high school cager stars, and they have been coming out on top in most of their encounters this season.

The speedy Iron Mountain quintet, which boasts of such stars as Lajeunesse and Eckholm, will come to Escanaba on next Thursday for a second game, seeking revenge for the drubbing handed them by the Independents several weeks ago. The Ford City boys are playing at Manistique and Nahma earlier in the week as a part of their tour of the upper peninsula. The Iron Mountain boys expected to win in the last game, and were pretty much surprised when they finished on the short end of the score. Indications are that they want to make up for this on Thursday night.

The Lloyd Loomers and the Indies will furnish a Sunday afternoon attraction for basketball fans at Menominee on February 5. The Lloyd team has been seeking a game with the Escanaba boys for several weeks, but owing to the conflict in dates and difficulty in obtaining courts in Menominee the Sunday date was the best that could be arranged. The game will start at 3 p. m.

On Wednesday, February 8, the Independents will go to Manistique to meet the Legion team there. The schoolcrafters have enjoyed a successful season thus far, and are anxious for a chance to test their mettle against the Escanaba basketballers.

Bobby Jones on Golf Committee

New York, Jan. 28—(AP)—Bobby Jones has been given a place on three of the most important subcommittees of the U. S. Golf Ass'n. Announcement today of the 1928 committee makes reveals that Jones who was elected to the executive committee at the Association's annual meeting early this month, will serve on the groups handling the selection of courses, memberships reinstatement and improvements and the ball.

Numerous changes are made in the chairmanships of other committees, Herbert H. Ramsay, newly elected vice president, relinquishes the chairmanship of both the membership and amateur status committees. In the first he is scheduled by Prescott S. Bush of New York and in the second by Rodman E. Grisoom, also of New York. Mr. Ramsay, however, retains his post at the head of the championship committee.

F. H. Wheeler of New York becomes the new head of the rules committee, succeeding the late Howard F. Whitney.

Pair Set New Hurdle Records

Mechanics Hall, Boston, Jan. 28—(AP)—Monty Wells, Dartmouth track captain, and Johnny Collier of Brown both provided a world record figure in the opening event of the Knights of Columbus William C. Prout memorial games here tonight by riding the 45 yards high hurdles in 5 4/5 seconds to win their respective heats.

The old record of 6 seconds was established here by J. W. Mayhew in 1905. Wells was clocked in 5 4/5 seconds several times last winter but tonight's performance marked Colliers first record breaking performance over the freak high hurdle route.

War Eagle Sets New Track Mark

New Orleans, Jan. 28—(AP)—War Eagle, one of E. M. McLean's candidates for the $50,000 New Orleans handicap to be run Feb. 3, clipped three-fifths of a second from the fair and a furlong today by winning the Momush handicap for 3 1/2 years and up in 1:51 1/4. The old record was established in 1903 by Meelick.

War Eagle with Jock Nick Huff won by a half length from Boon Companion. Bob Rogers was third. The event was for $2,500 added and was worth approximately $1,800 to the winner.

FAILURE FOR SHARKEY

Numerous reasons and some excuses have been given for the form flop that Jack Sharkey took in his recent fight with Tom Heeny. It was the second chance that Sharkey had been given to fight his way into championship money and he failed twice.

He was stopped last year by Jack Dempsey in the final number of Tex Rickard's elimination tournament and after a rest of six months his progress was stopped again when he could do no better than get a draw with Heeny.

The fact that he was out of the ring for six months and had grown rusty was the principal excuse offered for his poor showing. The body beating that he took from Dempsey and a feeling of caution for a weak left hand were given as other reasons.

It is true that a fighter can't remain idle for six months without suffering a lapse of form. It is true that a body beating from a Dempsey will not improve a fighter and it is true also that a fighter involuntarily favors a hand that has been broken.

It may be that Sharkey got all the bad fighting out of him in that Heeny bout and that he will come back and redeem himself enough to get into one of the two contests that Gene Tunney wants this summer.

But we doubt that Sharkey ever will get to the place that he looked destined for before he met Jack Dempsey.

In the first place Sharkey is not a smart fighter and he is too arrogant to be taught even if he were young enough to be taught. He has glaring faults like a habit of leading with his right hand and a vain tendency to wander and allow his mind to wander other places when he is fighting. He showed himself the greatest of rookie fighters when he turned his head toward the referee to utter a squawk and exposed his chin to Dempsey.

That one act of leading with his chin convinced any number of smart boxing men that he never would do against a smart fighter, and skilled critics found other minor traits of a non-thinking mechanic in his work.

Secondly, and more important far as his future is concerned, Sharkey obviously has become satisfied. He hasn't the spark of ambition without which no fighter can succeed to the championship.

Has Plenty of Courage
He has plenty of money, enough to buy all of Lithuania, as Dan Morgan says, and it is apparent that he has lost his interest in the business. He also has a surly disposition and is inclined to pout.

He feels that he has not been given a square deal by the sport writers and that Tex Rickard gave him the works last year when he shoved Dempsey in ahead of him after he had fought himself into a position of what he considered to be the undisputed challenger.

The sport writers have been very fair to him. Nothing more than what he said and did was printed about him and in fact most of his comments about Dempsey and Tunney were censored. His complaint against Rickard also is groundless because Rickard would not have forced him to take the Dempsey fight if he had refused.

Friday, Jan. 17, was unlucky for Harry Hooper. On that day he was fired as manager of the San Francisco ball club.

Dempsey fight; during the fight or after the fight and it is not likely that he will change now.

But with all his faults, do not let anyone tell you that Jack Sharkey hasn't a heart or lacks courage.

Nahma Wins From Roughhousers

Nahma, Jan. 28—(Special)—The Nahma Legion put a stop to the Roughhousers' winning streak by defeating them in one of the best and cleanest games played on the local floor by a score of 24 to 28. The game was a thriller throughout, see-sawing back and forth until the last minute of play when E. Rangtue sank a field goal. The game was made fast by the capable handling of E. Johnson of Escanaba and Tobin of Nahma.

The Nahma team will play the fast Iron Mountain quintet next Tuesday night, on the local floor. Nahma will start their regular lineup. Iron Mountain is expected to have such stars as Ferrazza, Fox, Eckholm, La Jeunesse, Gall and other well-known cage celebrities of Iron Mountain on their squad. A record crowd is expected.

Scouting Experience Will Aid Barnard in Picking Umpires

Chicago, Jan. 28—(AP)—Twenty-five years of scouting ball players for his Cleveland club has taught E. S. Barnard, now president of the American League, how to select the best possible material on a staff of umpires.

There are few if any ball players from the lowliest bush leagues on up that Barnard is not entirely familiar with.

"I'm going to start getting posted the same way on umpires now," President Barnard said today. "They are all I have left to pick now but before long, I'll know them all. Just now we are so busy getting moved into our new quarters that I have not a chance to start in on anything, but the first of the month will find us getting settled in our new offices and I expect to begin picking our umpires first."

He declined to discuss the staff of 1927 and their prospects, except Tommy "Pop" Connolly, the only arbiter still in the game who has been with the American League since its inception.

"Connolly will be with us again next season," he said. "There is still a lot of good baseball left in him. He will be out there on the base lines as usual. He is so good that he has not had to suspend a player for three years."

Earl Abell, All-American grid star at Colgate in 1916, was recently named head football coach at his alma mater. He formerly coached at Sewanee, V. M. I., Virginia and Mississippi A. and M.

DEAN OF JOCKEYS

Following the retirement of Roxie Romanelli, who had to give up the saddle at 50 years of age, Johnny Callahan succeeded to the position as dean of the American jockeys. Callahan doesn't class exactly with Sande and the Factors, but he still gets plenty of work and good mounts. He is pictured above on Crusader, Man o' War's most noted son.

All Grade Children to Take Part in Carnival

Every youngster attending the parochial and public grade schools of Escanaba will be eligible to compete in the Junior winter sport carnival to be held here on Feb. 18.

This carnival is made possible by the gift of $50 for prizes, given by a prominent Escanaban who is deeply interested in winter sports but who desires that his name be withheld. Other trophies will be added, and a splendid array of events will be staged. Some surprises along this line will be announced in the near future.

One of the day's skating events will be the Daily Press grade school ice derby, over a half-mile course, with a cup to the school which produces the winner, and medals to the individuals who place first, second and third.

A four-man relay event also is being arranged. There will be a girls' event, and some other races and novelties which will appeal to children of all "grade school sizes."

Three young hockey teams are preparing to settle differences of opinion as to their superiority. They will be suitably rewarded for their good work.

There also will be dog races and, in fact, plenty of variety to entertain everyone thoroughly and well.

Swimmer Uses Sea Lion As Training Partner, Pacemaker

Berlin, Jan. 28—(AP)—With a sea lion as training partner and pacemaker, Otto Kemmerich, of Husum, German professional swimming champion, hopes to establish a new world endurance record of 48 hours, about Easter.

Kemmerich, who ranks next to Ernest Vierkoetter in Germany's list of long distance swimmers recently purchased a two-year-old sea lion from a Hamburg circus.

The beast quickly became attached to his new master and learned to accompany him on practice swims. He now acts as a pacemaker, keeping a short distance ahead of his master.

Chicago Man Wins Canadian Title

Montreal, Jan. 28—(AP)—George won the Canadian covered court tennis championships here today for the second year in succession by defeating Frank Shields, New York, in the final, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5.

Jack Wright and E. H. Lefromboise, Montreal, defeated George Lott, Chicago, and Dr. Arthur Ham, Toronto, for the doubles title, 3-6, 7-5, 3-6, 6-1, 6-0.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, Jan. 28—(AP)—With every indication pointing to a complete and final collapse of Army-Navy peace negotiations, definite announcement likely will be forthcoming within a few days of these additions to the football calendar for next November 24:

Army vs Nebraska at the Yankee stadium, New York; Navy vs Princeton at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

In the vernacular of the prize ring, both games are considered "as good as in" with negotiations actually completed and final approval awaiting only a signal from Washington to the two academies, freeing them from any further restraint.

So long as there has been any prospect of a conciliation between West Point and Annapolis, looking to a patching up of their eligibility differences, neither has been able to make any definite move for a sub-game. Since any prospect of healing the breach this year now is so remote as to be virtually indistinguishable it is assumed the academies may go ahead and make their own arrangements.

Nebraska's athletic authorities who have been in the east for some time to press their quest for a game with the army expect to have the Cadets west.

Peltzer Busy on First Day in City

Chicago, Jan. 28—(AP)—The claims of German club leaders and educational groups upon the time of Dr. Otto Peltzer, noted Teuton middle distance runner, left him little time today to prepare for his debut in American athletics when he arrived to complete arrangements for his appearance in the Illinois Athletic Club's annual indoor track meet, Feb. 10. He did get a brief moment to exercise on the I. A. C. track as soon as he came to work off the train stiffness of his journey from California. There was barely time to dress for luncheon and then his program was full.

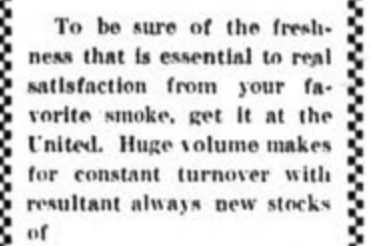

Dr. Peltzer had no comment to make on the ruling of the A. A. U., which sanctioned his participation in three meets next month, two in New York and one in Chicago. His first race will be in the Millrose games at New York, Feb. 2. The A. A. U. sanction also urged Dr. Peltzer to take part in the national championships at New York Feb. 22, although he had not filed his entry. His friends said this would be taken up when he reaches New York next week.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER

[25,000 MILES in less than 23,000 consecutive MINUTES]

-more than mile-a-minute speed for sixteen days and nights

THE Studebaker Commander established 50 world's records for speed and endurance during 1927. Today it holds every official endurance and speed record for fully equipped stock cars regardless of power or price.

Nothing ever went so far so fast as the three Commanders which each traveled 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 consecutive minutes at the Atlantic City Speedway in October. Two roadsters made the run in 22,968 minutes and the sedan in 24,200 minutes. The run was made under the supervision of the American Automobile Association which checked every car and certified to its stock design.

Only a car of the soundest engineering, built of the best steels and alloys by the most expert mechanics, could live to tell this story of achievement. It proves without question that The Commander is able to deliver more brilliant, sustained performance in your own hands—costing you less to own and to operate. Don't let The Commander's low One-Profiteer price ($1495 f. o. b. factory) cause you to underestimate its fine quality nor its brilliant performance. Because it is built complete by Studebaker in Studebaker plants, The Commander gives you every point of beauty, luxury and ability you would rightly expect in a high priced car.

2 STORE FIRES INVESTIGATED

Evidence Strengthens Belief Erickson Fire Was Set

Continued investigation of the two fires, which caused a damage estimated at $15,000 Friday night, strengthened the belief of the fire and police departments that the blaze at the L. A. Erickson store was of incendiary origin, but the cause of the fire at the West End Cycle Works still remained pretty much a mystery.

A check-up among the members of the fire department who were at the Erickson store fire disclosed that none of them had broken open the panel of the rear door prior to Fire Chief Artid Johnson's discovery of the fact. The first chief found that the door had been tampered with when he went to the rear of the building to make an investigation, but at the time he thought that some other firemen had battered down the door.

There was evidence also that the fire had been set in two places on the shelving. It is unlikely that a thief entered the building and carelessly dropped a match in searching about the place for about ten dollars in currency in a cash register which was easily accessible was left untouched.

The damage to stock by fire, smoke and water amounted to several hundred dollars, and much loss was suffered by the scorching of the walls and ceiling of the store. The stock in the Manning & Sullivan store adjoining also received some smoke damage.

A 50-gallon drum of alcohol, which is used as an anti-freezing fluid for automobile radiators, is believed to be responsible for the first loud explosion which was heard shortly before the West End Cycle Works building burst into flames. What caused the alcohol drum to explode has not been determined. A. A. Villemure, proprietor of the shop, said that the alcohol was standing about fifteen feet away from the stove in the rear of the shop when he last saw it, but after the fire the drum, with the top blown off, was found a couple of feet away from the stove. A small fire was in the stove in the rear of the shop when Mr. Villemure locked up the place at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and it is probable sparks from it ignited the place, the heat becoming so intense that it caused the alcohol drum to explode.

The building was owned by D. F. Villemure of Iron Mountain and was partially covered by insurance. The Brysons family, who occupy the upstairs part, lost all their belongings except the clothing they wore. None of their loss is covered by insurance.

C. E. to Present Play This Evening

A three act play will be given in the new auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church tonight at 7:30. The play is entitled, "Two Thousand Miles for a Buck." It is being put on by the Christian Endeavor society. A loose offering will be taken. There are twenty-three members in the cast. It is one of the most impressive plays that the organization has attempted, and is being given as a part of the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the Board of National Missions. Miss Graves Mill will sing several times during the rendition of the play. Between acts

Aid for Family, Victims of Fire, Is Badly Needed

HOUSEHOLD goods of all kinds, furniture, bedding, dishes, clothing and everything else necessary to reestablish a family who lost all of its possessions in the fire which destroyed the West End Cycle Works building, and the contents of both floors, is needed. Philanthropic committee of the Escanaba Woman's club has undertaken the task of collecting the material and supplying the family's need. Anyone who has anything to contribute that this unfortunate family might be able to use is asked to call the chairman of the club's committee, Miss Martha Greene, whose telephone number is 471-W.
