

DEFENSE OPENS CASE IN TRIAL

Seek to Prove Insanity in Hickman's Family

Hall of Justice, Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30—(AP)—An attempt to show alleged traces of insanity among the ancestors of William E. Hickman, was made by his attorneys today as a part of their legal fight to prove the 19-year-old youth was insane when he kidnapped and killed Marius Parker, Los Angeles school girl.

Taking of testimony in the trial got under way today before the completed jury of four women and eight men after Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco had denied a motion by the defense for dismissal of the indictment against Hickman almost as promptly as it was offered.

Half of those on the jury are gray-haired and all the others are middle-aged. The first more from the state after the court called for the opening of the trial was to test its case, thus indicating the prosecution which the indictment read, would center its fight in cross-examination and rebuttal.

Mother Attempted Suicide.

Pictures of a grandfather subject to fits, a grandmother of frail physique and bedridden during her closing years, were painted before the jury in the depositions of relatives and acquaintances of the Hickman family.

The mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman, was disclosed as a neurotic type, attempting suicide by poison when the father of her five children, Thomas Hickman, bestowed his attentions on other women.

She was described by relatives as "not acting like the rest of us," of being sullen and dependent for days at a time and as necessarily insane when she took poison.

The first of two scores depositions taken by Atty. Jerome Walsh of the defense in the mid-west quoted Benjamin H. Bailey of Hartford, Ark., birthplace of Hickman as saying the defendant's grandfather, Otto Buck was subject to fits and that he believed Buck was insane.

Grandmother Was Insane.

Thomas Lewis, also of Hartford, was quoted, as declaring his wife was the daughter of Buck and a sister of Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William. He also believed the "old man was insane," but the deposition revealed that Deputy Dist. Atty. James Costello, who accompanied Walsh on his hunt for evidence, had brought admissions from Lewis that he had never seen Buck in a fit nor had he talked much with him.

Lewis deposed that he believed that Becky Buck, wife of Otto Buck, was insane; that she was under hallucinations of "every one being against her," and that she displayed an insane fear of something unknown, by always taking "her five children with her everywhere."

Other depositions read were those of Irvin Harris of Hartford, Ark.; Dr. W. J. Hunt of Poteau, Okla., who treated the defendant's mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman, and Dr. William Grisby of Hartford, Ark.

ONLY TREASURY TO LIMIT NAVY

Cal Says Ships Will Be Built As Fast As Possible

Washington, Jan. 30—(AP)—Discussing for the first time the administration's warship construction program, President Coolidge declared tonight that it was his intention to build the ships as fast as the condition of the treasury would warrant.

In an address at the semi-annual business meeting of the government in which he stressed economy and asserted that it would be better to have no tax reduction than too much, the president's inference replied to congressional critics of the administration's naval plans on the ground that they do not specify a date for beginning or completing construction of 71 new ships.

Pointing out that no authorization has been made for navy building since the program of 1916, Mr. Coolidge said: "The recommendation now before the congress to replace obsolete naval vessels and moderately increase our naval strength, contemplates an orderly construction procedure; nothing more. It contemplates that the construction program would be carried out as conditions dictate and treasury balances warrant.

No Competitive Building.

"It considers our own requirements alone and carries no thought of the entry into competitive construction with any other nation. The plan I have endorsed does not contemplate any limitation as to the beginning or the completion of this tentative program. But it does contemplate the building of ships as fast as possible."

Based on present construction costs, it has been estimated that the navy program which Secretary Wilbur has laid before congress would cost about $740,000,000.

The address of the president, delivered at Continental Memorial hall, was heard by high government officials and employees and through a radio hook-up by the nation. There was scattering applause as he pointed the way for further reductions in expenditures, and when he declared that the cutting down of the national debt in reality was tax reduction.

COOLIDGE MAY VETO SENATE SHIP MEASURE

are trying to prevent the government from getting out of the shipping business entirely.

Can Override Veto.

If, therefore, the president appoints to the Shipping Board individuals committed to the execution of a particular policy the group in the senate which favors keeping the government in the shipping business for certain purposes feel that the only way to block action is to require that a sale can not be approved unless all the members of the board agree it is inconformity with the purposes of the law and that adequate service is assured on the line in question.

Mr. Coolidge has made a special point of indicating disfavor with the so-called unanimous consent provision so that it would not be surprising to find him vetoing the bill on that account. In that case it is not certain that there are enough votes to override a veto though the Democrats probably will vote solidly with the insurgent Republican group in the senate while the amendment would have less chance of getting a majority, let alone a two-thirds vote in the house. Some compromising probably will have to be done if a new shipping law is to be adopted.

The house flood control committee has now got far enough in its hearings on the administration plan for the Mississippi for glimpses of its probable action to be obtained. They are not favorable to the administration scheme, particularly as to the proposal that the river states share in the cost of the work. Predictions today were that this would be rejected by the committee in favor of government liability for the job. That has been the main point hammered at in the several weeks of committee hearings.

Modern Solomon Ready to Retire

London (AP)—The Solomon of Woolwich is about to retire.

J. H. Morley, probation officer of Woolwich, who persuaded 235 married couples who had applied for divorce to continue to live together happily, is going to give up trying to smooth out other people's troubles.

Morley, who was born in Lincoln Barracks, and was a sergeant-major before he became probation officer, does not believe the newly-weds of today are as happy as the newly-weds of the last generation.

"The girl," he said, "does not know enough about cooking, and the young man thinks too much about dancing and his clubs. The modern girl is a splendid type, but I think in time she will devote a little less time to dancing and sport and go into really serious training for a career as wife and mother. Happiness lies that way."

Mr. Morley does not believe in either prison or reformatories for young boy offenders. He believes they should be sent away to a different town if their home influence is bad, and boarded out under the eye of a probation officer.

UNION REJECTS MEXICAN PLAN

Proposal to Rotate Chairmanship Opposed by Pan-Americans

Havana, Jan. 30—(AP)—The committee on Pan-American Union affairs of the Pan-American conference today decidedly rejected the Mexican amendments which sought to give to each American republic in turn the chairmanship of the governing board and the director-generalship. The committee considered that it had gone far enough in "demonstrating" the Pan-American union by agreeing last week to special representation in this body by all the contracting governments.

While this committee thus virtually was preserving in the fact that the present organization of the Pan-American union, the committee on communications took a first step toward including Canada in the Pan-American deliberations by approving a suggestion that on account of America's northern neighbor, the proposed inter-American commercial aviation treaty be open to adherence to all countries.

Landis Is Witness in Trial of Bass

Chicago, Jan. 30—(AP)—Testimony by K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner and former federal judge, and an effort to show that enroute up from the ranks, Capt. J. Leland Bass, U. S. A., was a deserter, evinced the officer's courtmartial for alleged prohibition violation today.

He pointed out that if Canada were not allowed to subscribe to the treaty, then she would be required to conclude 21 bi-lateral treaties with the individual republics.

The action of the Pan-American union committee was preceded by a vivacious debate in which the opposing viewpoints were supported chiefly by Charles Evans Hughes of the United States and Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentina, and Rafael Urbina, Mexico. Judge Urbina maintained alone, in a striking speech, the Mexican proposals, which finally were defeated, that both the chairmanship of the governing board and the director-generalship of the union should be rotated annually in alphabetical order, allowing each country to occupy these posts in turn.

Havana, Jan. 30—(AP)—Questions affecting problems of immigration, patents and copyrights and an American chamber of commerce formed the burden of discussion at today's session of the Pan-American conference committee on economic problems.

The committee approved a resolution to refer the subject of forming a Pan-American chamber of commerce to the Pan-American commercial congress at its next session.

A lengthy report on the entire subject of migration of peoples and the resulting international complications was presented by the Cuban delegate, Hernandez Cartaya. Action was deferred until the thesis has been studied by committee members.

After tracing the history of movements aimed at the establishment of uniform and effective protection for trademarks, Felipe Espl. Argentina, intimated doubt as to the wisdom of continuing or amplifying the functions of the Pan-American office of trademark registry, asserting that industrial protection is of international significance and all manufacturing nations of the world must be considered in any scheme for uniformity. He believes the Bern office of registry performs a function more useful than an agency limited to the countries of America. The majority of American states are producers of materials and have comparatively insignificant standing among the industrial nations of the world, he asserted.

IN NEW YORK

New York. — At a national poultry show in Madison Square Garden recently, it developed that the two oldest hens on exhibition had been raised, in spite of city ordinances, atop a Lexington avenue skyscraper apartment.

There, in the most unapostolic of locations, they had spent some 14 years of life. They knew as little of barn-yards as the average dweller in Manhattan. But the city life had "got them," as it gets so many. They had never laid an egg.

Manhattan is filled with little tales like this of folk who make wistful efforts to bring feeble fragments of rural life into their intensely urban residence. About a year ago I went to call upon a friend and discovered that he had built a little coop in one corner of his apartment and there had set a rabbit up in housekeeping out in the Bronx where, now and then one comes upon a small vacant lot, people have been known to see goats tethered to a stake.

Many New Yorkers make Sunday pilgrimages to the rough, unspoiled hills of Spuyten Duyvil, lured by the legend that cows actually graze upon the hilltop. Central Park zoo is the only other place one may look upon barnyard animals and these are carefully penned and are proudly displayed under a sign that includes the word "farm." Here, for the first time in New York, New York youngsters look upon cows, pigs and such other animals that are commonplace to the suburban youngsters.

On the other hand, the Manhattan child will inform you, the country youngster has to come to New York to see a real skyscraper belt.

Speaking of beasts and birds, pigeons seem dearly to love the tall buildings of the city. They are the most constant of city dwellers and seem undisturbed by the uncertainties of existence in a city where their nests may be torn down at a moment's notice.

A few months ago an old synagogue was torn down on Fifth avenue and the pigeons lost their home in a grand old minaret. Their sudden descent upon the Public Library constituted nothing short of a traffic problem. One

According to police, $200 of the loot taken from the bank was found in the possession of Edith Davis, 21, who told officers she is Davis' common law wife. She said she had been working in a store here for the last seven years and denied any knowledge of Davis' activities. She is being held as a witness.

The men admitted to police that they held up two restaurants and a grocery store here on December 22, obtaining approximately $300 in the three robberies. On January 15, they said, they held up the Murray Hall hotel, escaping with $50.

TO ENLARGE FAIR STAND

Original Plans Changed; New Structure to Seat 4200

Plans to increase the seating capacity of the new grandstand to be built at the grounds of the U. P. State Fair here were announced by George E. Harvey, secretary-manager, yesterday. The original plans called for the construction of a structure to seat 2650 persons, but now the buildings and grounds committee has decided to arrange seating accommodations for at least 4200, in addition to the old grandstand which seats 800.

While attending the meeting of the State Association of Fair Secretaries at Detroit last week, Mr. Harvey and A. A. Lundgaard of Cornell, chairman of the board of managers, discussed the matter of building a grandstand with other fair officials and the consensus was that the upper peninsula fair would require a larger grandstand than originally planned.

Derrick Hubert, Menominee architect, is now drafting plans for the new building and it is expected that the building committee will call for bids within a month. The committee will meet soon to review the building plans.

The old grandstand will be moved from its location on the southeast side of the race track to the northwest side, near where the new structure will be built. With these two stands, the aggregate seating accommodations will be about 5000.

Mr. Harvey and Mr. Hubert spent the week-end on a tour of inspection of various fairgrounds grandstands throughout Wisconsin, and obtained many valuable ideas as to how other fair associations have handled this problem.

The management of automobile parking space also came in for some attention, and some of the systems used at Wisconsin fairs, no doubt, will be put into practice here.

Following the serving of an excellent luncheon, members of the club, indulged in a spirited and informal discussion of many civic problems including development of a winter sports program for Escanaba, continuation of beach improvement work on the south shore, stopping the practice of dumping waste from the city water filtration plant into the bay in the vicinity of the municipal bathing beach and methods for eliminating the unpleasant taste from the city's winter water supply.

Each subject evoked spirited discussion and made the meeting one of the most enjoyable held in recent weeks.

ROBBING WILLIAM J. BURNS
William J. Burns, head of the detective agency that bears his name, complains in Washington that someone rifled his rooms the other night and took a certain document bearing on the famous contempt case which now has Burns in court.

For all we know Burns' complaint may be true. Possibly his rooms were invaded. But it is terribly, terribly hard for us to work up much indignation over it. Do you remember a few years ago, when Mr. Burns was head of the Department of Justice, and certain senators were assailing Harry Daugherty, Burns' superior? If you do, you may recall that Department of Justice agents at that time invaded the rooms of some of these senators, searched their desks and broke open locked drawers. It seems just to presume that Burns knew what was going on.

"IDOL WORSHIP."
An article in the current magazine of Wall Street remarks that "idol worship" is a highly important factor in stock market dealings.

By this it means that there is a whole host of investors and speculators in Wall Street which follows implicitly the moves of certain "big names." If William C. Durant, for instance, is reported buying stock in a certain corporation, the "idol worshippers" rush to do likewise—with the result that the price goes sailing.

To some extent this is based on sound reasoning. If a successful financier like Durant thinks enough of a stock to invest in it, it ought to be good enough for other people to invest in, too. But the magazine writer points out one defect in the practice.

When one of the "big names" sells his holdings, the fact usually is not advertised. Thus, the writer says, "The idol worshippers follow the sanctified footsteps into the stock market but not out of it." The net result is apt to be that the unthinking investor loses his shirt.

The old rule still holds good; don't buy stocks unless you know exactly what you are doing.

FARM AND INDUSTRY.
A new solution for the lack of prosperity in small agricultural communities is proposed by T. R. Preston, president of the American Bankers' Association.

He suggests that industries locate in the smaller cities of farm regions. This, he says, would increase local markets for farm produce, increase public revenues and reduce taxes.

This dovetails somewhat with Henry Ford's idea—that industry and agriculture ought to interlock, so that farm hands could spend the off months working in factories.

It sounds reasonable enough. All that remains now is for some Industrialist—and why not our friend, Mr. Ford, for instance?—to give it a trial.

SAIQA FOR THE HURT.
A Nevada woman recently sued another woman for alienation of her husband's affections. She demanded $50,000 damages.

Thousands of such suits have been filed in this country, and many a woman has collected handsome damages thereby. But this suit had a different ending.

Judge George A. Bartlett of Reno dismissed it, ruling that human affection is not property and cannot be treated as such. One can give or withhold one's love as one's heart dictates, he said, and no court should be called on to intervene.

His decision seems to us a bit refreshing. The loss of a dear one's love is a heart-breaking affliction, but it isn't the sort of hurt that calls for money as salve.

A TRAGIC FIGURE.
In all the unpleasant turmoil surrounding the murder trial of young William Edward Hickman at Los Angeles, one figure stands out as truly pitiful and deserving of sympathy—that boy's mother.

That is not to say that her plight should make his punishment less severe. It should not. The fact that she is an innocent sufferer should not be offered in extenuation of the dreadful thing he did.

But she merits our pity, nevertheless. The greatest sorrow that can come to a mother is hers; and while we can demand strict punishment for her son, we can at the same time give her our deepest sympathy.

Rulers, Converted, Quit African War

Kampala, Uganda.—The "bad boys" of British East Africa, four kings and a president, have decided to quit fighting and be friends.

For years the modern president of Busoga, who affects European clothes and wears a monocle, and the kings of Uganda, Ankole, Bunyoro and Toro, have carried on guerrilla warfare between themselves.

But missionaries, their work constantly interrupted by private wars of the belligerent monarchs, finally have converted all five of them, and now the African rulers have become as staunch friends as they formerly were enemies. They even posed together amiably at a jubilee celebration attended by some 3,000 of their followers to celebrate the attainment of amity.

Attempt to Enforce Age Old Sentence

Paris (AP)—Thirty-two years after an altercation with a policeman, Bernard Vogel is being pursued by the French authorities to execute a sentence imposed by German courts in Lorraine when the Kaiser ruled there.

As it was shown that Vogel got a heavy sentence because he was sympathetic to the French in a German territory, the League for the Rights of Man has appealed to Premier Poincare to calm the conscientiousness of the French officials who are trying to complete whatever their German predecessors left undone.

Vogel was condemned to twenty-one months in jail but fled to France. Now that he is French again he faces prison because he was arrogant to the Germans.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE CHAPTER XIII

An ugly light came into Heath's eyes. "We've got ways," he said through his teeth, "of getting damn interesting conversation outa people who haven't no great reputation for repartee."

Vance sighed. "How the Four Hundred needs you, my Sergeant!" Markham looked at his watch. "I've got pressing work at the office," he said, "and all this talk isn't getting us anywhere."

He put his hand on Heath's shoulder. "I leave you to go ahead. This afternoon I'll have these people brought down to my office for another questioning—maybe I can jog their memories a bit. . . You've got some line of investigation planned?"

"The usual routine," replied Heath dreadingly. "I'll go through Odell's papers, and I'll have three or four of my men check up on her."

"You'd better get after the Yellow Taxicab company right away," Markham suggested. "Find out, if you can, who the man was who left here at half past eleven last night, and where he went."

"Do you imagine for one moment," asked Vance, "that if this man knew anything about the murder, he would have stopped in the hall and asked the operator to call a taxi for him?"

"Oh, I don't look for much in that direction," Markham's tone was almost listless. "But the girl may have said something to him that'll give us a lead."

Vance shook his head facetiously. "O welcome pure-eyed Faith, white-handed Hope, then hovering angel, girl with golden wings!" Markham was in no mood for chaffing. He turned to Heath and spoke with forced cheeriness.

"Call me up later this afternoon. I may get some new evidence out of the outfit we've just interviewed. . . And," he added, "be sure to put a man on guard here. I want this apartment kept just as it is until we see a little more light."

"I'll attend to that," Heath assured him. Markham and Vance and I went out and entered the car. A few minutes later we were winding rapidly across town through Central Park.

"Recall our recent conversation about footprints in the snow?" asked Vance, as we emerged into Fifth Avenue and headed south. Markham nodded abstractedly.

"As I remember," mused Vance, "in the hypothetical case you presented there were not only footprints but a dozen or more witnesses—including a youthful prodigy—who saw a figure of some kind cross the hibernal landscape. . . Here you are in a most beastly pother because of the disheartenin' fact that there are neither footprints in the snow nor witnesses who saw a fleeing figure. In short, you are bereft of both direct and circumstantial evidence. . . Sad, sad."

"I was wagged his head dolefully. "You know," Markham, it appears to me that the testimony in this case constitutes conclusive legal proof that no one could have been with the deceased at the hour of her passing, and that, ergo, she is presumably alive. The strangled body of the lady is, I take it, simply an irrelevant circumstance from the standpoint of legal procedure. I know that you learned lawyers won't admit a murder without a body; but how, in sweet Heaven's name, do you get around a corpus delicti without a murder?"

"You're talking nonsense," Markham rebuked him, with a show of anger. "Oh, quite," agreed Vance. "And yet, it's a distressin' thing for a lawyer not to have footprints of some kind, so up it, old dear! It leaves one, so up in the air."

Suddenly Markham swung round. "You, of course, don't need footprints, or any other kind of material clues," he flung at Vance tauntingly. "You have power of divination such as are denied ordinary mortals. If I remembered correctly, you informed me, knowing the nature and conditions of a crime, you could lead me infallibly to the culprit, whether he left footprints or not. You recall that boast? . . . Well, here's a crime, and the perpetrator left no footprints coming or going. Be so good as to end my suspense by confiding in me who killed the Odell girl."

Vance's serenity was not ruffled by Markham's ill-humored challenge. He sat smoking lazily for several minutes; then he leaned over and flicked his cigaret ash out of the window.

"Don my word, Markham," he joined evenly, "I'm half inclined to look into this silly murder. I think I'll wait, though, and see whom the nonplussed Heath turns up with his inquiries."

"Your generosity wrings me," he said. "A few minutes later we entered the almost empty grill of the Stuyvesant Club, and took a table near one of the windows looking southward over the treetops of Madison Square."

Shortly after we had given our order a uniformed attendant entered, and, bowing deferentially at the district attorney's elbow, held out an unaddressed communication sealed in one of the club's envelopes. Markham read it with an expression of growing curiosity, and as he studied the signature a look of mild surprise came into his eyes. At length he looked up and nodded to the waiting attendant. Then, excusing himself, he left us abruptly. It was fully twenty minutes before he returned.

Wants to Fly Despite Mishaps

Berlin (AP)—Count Georg von Solms-Laubach, financial backer of the ill-fated "Germania" airplane expedition to America, has lost none of the enthusiasm for trans-ocean flying, even though he almost sacrificed his life and though his pilot, Lieut. Otto Koenig, is still ungrounded in India. "Just as soon as I can afford it, I'd like to make another attempt to fly to America," Solms said on his return from Karachi. "My first experience has shown me principally what not to do the next time."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

"I think, too, that all the German expeditions of last summer were prepared too hastily, in a mad desire to get across first. Next time I shall go at the project differently."

"It was a mistake, for instance, for us to take little cans of gasoline instead of large tanks. These cans nearly cost me my life, for they came tumbling down upon me as we were crossing the desert and not only made gashes on my head, shoulders and chest, but broke several of my ribs."

Paris (AP)—It takes a second or third look to differentiate between sleekly combed black hair and the tight fitting black felt hat which are the furore of the moment. The hats are cut to follow the line of the coiffure and usually hide the hair completely. Felt ringlets are even cut, sometimes, to lie flat against the cheek where real curls used to be. Oftener the felt hats are cut in a point over the forehead. Another new idea is a jeweled pin placed where the hair-part would come if the hat were the coiffure it pretends to be.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By Douglas Malloch
Copyright 1927 by Douglas Malloch
NOW AND HERE.
Since earth is all I have to travel,
Today is all I can control,
Why should I hurry to unravel
Tomorrow's scroll?
I'll make the most of rosiest beauties,
I'll find whatever joy I can,
And, when the day brings heavier duties,
Still play the man.
Since only love can give me pleasure,
And love is all the heart can hold,
Why should I hunt for worldly treasure,
For too much gold?
I'll look for treasure in men's laughter,
In women's smiles, in children's glee,
Love here and now, not there and after
In days to be.
Since other years may bring me sorrow,
A larger load, a harder way,
Why let the shadows of tomorrow
Obscure today?
I shall not wait for phantom riches,
Nor phantom troubles greatly fear,
But find the roses in the ditches,
And now, and here.

BIRD MOVIES COMPLETED

State Department of Conservation Finishes Films

Lansing, Jan. 30—Public interest in Michigan's wild life is indicated by the demand for the motion pictures of birds and animals prepared by the department of conservation for free service to schools, clubs, and civic organizations of the state.

"Wild Wings," "Michi, the Beaver," "The American Eagle" and "The Wonder Isle" are four of the most popular films in the library of more than 20,000 feet of movies.

The films, with an attendant lecturer, James McGillivray or Walter Hastings, may be secured without cost by any civic club, school or sportsmen's organization, or other group through direct application to the secretary, conservation department at Lansing.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT "7th Heaven" which local picture lovers have been acclaiming as one of the finest screen dramas of years, is nearing the end of its run at the Playhouse, where it will be shown again today.

This is the picture with which Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, the two leads, created a sensation in both Los Angeles and New York where critics hailed it as the greatest picture shown there this season.

AT THE STRAND Adapters of Warner Baxter will have another chance to see their favorite in "The Coward," the Strand's feature picture.

"The Coward" deals with the drama of conflicting emotions in the highest social class. It is the tale of a wealthy young man, who, through his love of play, becomes involved in a scandal which loses for him the girl he loves.

Sportsmen Suggest Stream Openings for Trout Fishing

Escanaba sportsmen, discussing the state conservation commission's plans for opening trout streams, appear to agree that at least two streams should be removed from the closed list this year.

New York—George F. Babbitt, arch type of the good, solid citizen created by Sinclair Lewis and already seen in print and the movies, at last has come to the stage.

But this is George with a difference. In Eugene O'Neill's new play, "Marco Millions," produced by the Theater Guild, we have a 13th century Babbitt, in the person of Marco Polo, the great trader and explorer who left his native Venice in early youth and nipped up in China as advisor to the Great Khan.

Polo has come down in history as a great liar, a great business man, and a go-getter of the highest class.

The sardonic O'Neill makes a great satirical figure of this bustling business man. He bursts like a hurricane into the sedate, dreamy court of the Khan.

At last, he is fired from the mayor's job of one of the big cities for oversteering the townsmen, and returns to Venice to live out his life-telling grand lies about his adventures to the home-bodies.

O'Neill makes Polo's relations with women very comical. When Marco packed his suitcase and left for the east he raised his right hand and swore undying devotion to one Donata, his kid sweetheart, and like a regular good citizen, he kept his word for 20 adventurous years.

The very romantic daughter of the Khan, a beautiful and desirable princess indeed, went doting with love for him, but Marco was actually so dumb that he never tumbled to the fact until the last possible moment, and even then he was full of bombastic speeches about his debt to the little woman waiting back home in good old Venice.

So the poor little princess went off to Egypt on one of these fixed marriages, and died there for love of the bland and breezy George F. Polo, while that worthy gentleman went back to his home town in Italy and found the girl friend, grown a bit plumper but thoroughly playful. The play ends on a howling burlesque note, with Marco hurling a big party to announce his approaching marriage, and going into a long harangue on the subject of the present condition of the silk industry.

The Guild has given this O'Neill of satire and poetry an exquisite production.

Alfred Lunt, a fixture with the Guild, does the best job of his life as the Marco, and Margalo Gillmore is very sweet as the princess he stands up. All in all, it is a grand show.

Incidentally, it is interesting to note that in spite of this O'Neill satire, opinion on the Mr. Babbitt's of our land rapidly is changing.

After the Sinclair Lewis book appeared every smart-aleck in the land took flendish delight in making sport of the Babbitts—their homes, their automobiles, their families and their civic spirit. Now, however, the country is realizing that these Chamber of Commerce members, Rotarians and lunchers at the athletic clubs of the nation are the real backbone of the republic. While the so-called "intellectuals" sit about and give off hot air, the Babbitts step out and get things done. Kid-ling them is now as out of date as the gag about Pat and Mike. Even O'Neill took his Babbitt back 700 years and put him in purple tights.

Birthdays Party. Harvey Rasmussen was host to a group of friends at his home Saturday evening when twenty-five guests were entertained on the occasion of his birthday anniversary. Five hundred was played with honors going to Mrs. John Blahnik, Mrs. Russell Blomstrom and P. J. Dubard. Refreshments were served.

Let Us All Study Closely the History Of Our Town

What do you see as you walk down the streets of this town? Buildings of brick and stone? Automobiles and hurrying people? Or are you one of the fortunate few blessed with what old Machiavelli, the Italian philosopher, called the "gift of penetration."

If you are you will see the background of human history around which this town was built. You will see the faces and forms of hardy pioneers whose lives of toil and privation made possible these comfortable streets and homes.

The J. C. Penney Company believes firmly in the future of this town. That is why we chose to live here. Our personal success is bound up with the success of the community. Our home, our interests, our aspirations lie among you.

But we also wish to stop for a moment to recall its glorious past. This will be a more interesting and beautiful land for all of us when an historical background lends color to everyday scenes. Our children will then inherit, not alone a prosperous country, but one with a past and a personality.

USE OF WASTE SAVES FORESTS

Efficiency Engineer Talks on New Industrial Trend

Only thirty per cent of a tree now is usable in the lumber industry, and upon the finding of a use for the bark, sawdust and edgings which constitute the remaining seventy per cent, hinges the real problem of forest conservation. C. Backman, of Dayton, Ohio, told the Kiwanis club yesterday. Mr. Backman, an efficiency engineer of wide experience, has been doing special experimental and research work in the Delta Chemical Plant and the Escanaba Paper Company Plant here.

He expressed the belief that the present waste in lumber mills eventually will be converted into by-products which will prove as valuable to that industry as the by-products of the live stock business have been to the meat packers.

"Never in all of the world's industrial history have such pains been taken to utilize wastes," Mr. Backman said, "and convert them into profits. This tendency will increase. Personally, I believe, emphatically in reforestation. We must have forests. But under present industrial conditions, seven-tenths of every tree we grow in this country is wasted. Only three-tenths is utilized. Full utilization of present wastes will prolong the lives of our present forests, and greatly facilitate the raising of forests to replace them."

Mr. Backman pointed to recent discoveries and developments in the artificial silk industry to illustrate his contention. "Corn stalks once were regarded as waste," he said. "Chemists have just learned that a remarkably fine silk, much superior to the rayon made from southern pine, can be manufactured from corn stalks, and at least one large factory in the corn belt is ready to start putting it on the market," he said.

Rapid Strides Being Made

Mr. Backman predicted that within a generation, radio waves will be utilized to transmit power from huge plants at the mouth of the coal mines; that heating plants, utilizing this power, will be in general use; that automobiles and airplanes will take their power from the air; and that planes, operated by this current under remote control, will be in general use on air mail routes.

Mr. Backman told the Kiwanians something of the new process for converting the slag at the Delta Chemical Plant into a variety of "glass wool," the most perfect insulating material known and predicted that other important announcements along this line soon would be made. Thousands of tons of this slag, long regarded as waste, are produced at the chemical plant annually. The new process will make it an important by-product.

Mr. Backman's address was heard with a great deal of interest by the members of the club.

EARLY DINING COMING BACK

Later dinners among fashionable people of London are passing. The nine and 10 o'clock meals that have been hooked up with cocktail parties are being replaced by comparatively demure repasts at 7 and 8. One reason for the change is that women are learning that the cocktail hour, followed by a very late dinner, with more to eat or drink in the early morning, is causing them to put on weight.

ADRIFT 56 HOURS ON ICE IN LAKE

When rescue of "Lady," a white collie dog adrift on a cake of ice in Lake St. Clair, near Detroit, seemed impossible because of a blizzard sweeping the lake, police shot at her in the effort to end the dog's suffering. But at the first shot, "Lady" scuttled behind a ridge in the ice floe. Shot after shot was sent toward the marooned dog, and it was finally believed she had been killed. After the weather had cleared a boat was taken out to the ice and "Lady" was found frozen tight in a crevice where she had hidden at the first shot. The dog was chopped from the ice, and rescuers found she had suffered only a mild frost-bite in the pads of her hind feet. Upon being freed, "Lady" shook hands with her rescuers.

$500 BLAZE AT P. OLSON STORE

Pressing Iron Ignites Paper; Smoke Damages Stock

A hot pressing iron ignited a pile of tailor's pattern papers in the rear of the Peter Olson clothing store, 1109 Ludington street, about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, causing a smoke and fire damage to stock and fixtures estimated at $500.

One of the employees had started to press a suit of clothes, but while waiting for the iron to become heated sufficiently, he stepped to the front part of the store. The paper patterns on the pressing bench were ignited, the flames spreading to another pile of patterns underneath. A "heaver-board" partition, separating the tailor shop from the main part of the store, also caught fire.

Mr. Olson and others attempted to extinguish the blaze with chemicals, but becoming alarmed as the fire increased in intensity, they summoned the fire department.

Upon the firemen's arrival, the blaze was put out quickly. Considerable smoke was created, causing damage to several rolls of woolen goods in the tailor shop and to the stock in general. Mr. Olson fixed his loss at about $500.

There were no new developments in the investigation to determine the origin of the fire that did much damage to the L. A. Erickson clothing store Friday night.

Other Fires Probed.

That a fire had been in progress for some time before the large alcohol drum exploded at the West End Cycle Works Friday evening, was the opinion of those who investigated the affair. The alcohol container was on a low bench at least fifteen feet away from the stove in the shop, occupying the same location it had for several weeks. Its presence close to the stove after the fire was explained by one of the firemen, who yesterday said that while he was engaged in fighting the fire he had shoved the barrel off the bench. Apparently, the interior of the shop had been pretty well ablaze before the alcohol barrel exploded, since the container was located at a safe distance from the stove.

DUBLIN HAS DISTRESS.

To relieve the distress caused by the great number of unemployed in the city, Dublin, Ireland, has voted $50,000. A road extension scheme has given work to 325, but neither money nor employment is available to absorb all unemployment. Those with dependents are being given first consideration.

EXPENSIVE STEAK

San Rafael, Cal. (AP)—It cost the city of San Rafael $50 to find out that John Carcano fried a steak too long. Twenty-five volunteer bucketeers, who got $2 an hour for protecting the city from fire, responded to the call which Carcano put in after he had forgotten the steak.

On the jump in all weathers

3/4 of the Highway Police questioned said, "Saves us sore muscles"

THE MEN whose job it is to keep the highways safe are famous for their courage, their daring, their defiance of hardship, strains, danger.

In every state they represent the pick of its hardest specimens. Their bodies must be strong, quick, supple to respond to the sudden emergencies they are constantly called upon to face. And yet they have to do their work under conditions that would lay most men up with colds, rheumatism, stiff, strained muscles.

And this from a brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern who was suffering agony from a sprain and a wrenched ligament

"I fell off the top of a box car on my left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose. I suffered considerable pain for about forty-eight hours. I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It relieved the pain right away. It is now fifty-three hours since I was hurt. I have no pain at all to speak of. The swelling has nearly all gone down. I think it is the best liniment I have ever used. I suggest that anybody having a sprain get a bottle and apply it according to directions." Harry M. Hall, Belle Plaine, Iowa.

How do they keep themselves free of these ailments?

We put this up to the men themselves. Three-quarters of the number questioned said, "We use Sloan's."

Everywhere—the chief reliance of hard workers

And, everywhere you get the same answer from people whose work keeps them out in bad weather or brings a heavy strain on their muscles. They swear by Sloan's Liniment.

Used after exposure to wet or cold, it prevents chilling, colds, stiffening of the muscles. And it brings the quickest, surest relief for every kind of muscular pain, rheumatism, sprains and bruises.

Read this statement from a policeman who has served on the Philadelphia police force for twenty-seven years: "As I have used a considerable quantity of Sloan's Liniment in the last few months and received almost instant relief, I think it my duty for the sake of humanity to recommend it to others. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Sloan's for all pains in the back and legs, as I do a lot of walking and am exposed to all kinds of weather." William R. Christy, Sr., 1933 Master Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Here's what the company doctor of one of the big railroads says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

One of the Highway Police who said, "We swear by Sloan's to ward off the results of exposure and strain." It's the best ever to knock colds, prevent rheumatism, limber up lame muscles, and relieve the pain of sprains and bruises.

SLOAN'S Endorsed universally by those who do the world's hard work!

MOUNTAIN FIVE AT MANISTIQUE ON WEDNESDAY

The first of a series of three big games booked by the Manistique American Legion basketball team will be run off at the Manistique gym Wednesday night when the locals mix with the Mountaineers.

The mountaineers are taking their second swing through this section. Their previous contest with the Manistique vets was a victory for the invaders, but since that time the Manistique machine has been acquiring momentum, and should be able to hold back the attack tomorrow night. Their last contest with Escanaba won over the rank and file of the fans, and there are indications of a big attendance for this week's attraction.

The game tomorrow evening will start at 8:30 p. m., following a preliminary between the Manistique Freshmen and Cooks. Bill Cook will referee the main event.

Other prime tilts on the Legion for this month include a match with the Escanaba Independents on February 5, and one with the Neenah-Menasha (Wis.) Yellowjackets on February 17. The latter team is probably the classiest pro outfit to play here this season, claiming 41 victories out of the first 57 games of their schedule.

Baraga High Next on Local Schedule

Resuming their schedule after a one-week lay-off for examination week, the Manistique high school basketball team will clash with Baraga high of Marquette on the home floor Friday night.

This will be the last appearance of the Cooks of the team, their season closing with three outside games. On February 10 they will be at the Soo, on the 17th at Gladstone, and on the 24th will invade Marquette for a return match with the Baraga crew.

High school rooters are calling for 100 per cent attendance to give the green-and-white a loyal send-off Friday evening.

Start Elimination Series in Debates

Meeting at Manistique in the first round of the elimination series, debaters of Manistique and Newberry high school will match arguments at the local auditorium Friday afternoon.

The Manistique speakers, who have been defeated but once this season, will take the affirmative side of the question on this occasion.

Caught Cold at Noon; Sang that Night!

Trust a professional singer to know what to do for a cold! Give him five hours, and he can knock out a cold that would have prevented his singing one note. The secret of going a whole season without a serious cold is something everybody ought to know. A simple compound does it, and it is obtainable in tablets. Just one will stop a cold with the first sniffle; several will break up a cold that's even reached the stage of snuffles! Pape's Cold Compound costs but 35c at any drugstore.

MOTHER!

Look at Child's Tongue if Sick, Cross, Feyerish

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a tea spoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without gripping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless, "fruity laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

REHEARSALS FOR PLAY ARE PROGRESSING

Cast of Home Talent Announced By Director

Rehearsals for "Beads on a String," the home talent play which will be presented February 20 at the Rialto theater for the benefit of All Saints' Catholic church are being held regularly under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Sturgeon.

The play is a comedy in three acts dealing with the adventures of the Davis family when its members attempt to have a son pose as a daughter in order to gain an inheritance.

The cast of characters is: Leonie Davis and Zezalee Davis, same character—Cleve Kroul
 J. H. Davis, Esq., rich uncle—George Beach
 Harold Beem, Bennie's friend—Vern Coutant
 Ab Dinkler, would-be detective—Lawrence Van Horn
 Mrs. Davis, Bennie's mother—Alice Fox
 Molly Mallerton, his sweetheart—Rose Stock
 Jeanette Blue, Uncle Ben's niece—Dora Racine
 Cleopatra Olemargarine Johnson, maid—Malvina Minne.

THEATRES

"THE POOR NUT."
 Jack Mulhall comes to the Rialto theater today in an entirely new characterization.

Jack has been the smiling Irish lad and the tough "egg" in so many pictures that his fans will hardly recognize him when they see him in "The Poor Nut," his latest First National picture.

In this story of college life, Jack plays the part of a student who suffers from an "inferiority complex" that gives him the influence of a beautiful girl and the ability to run on the slender staff. Jack gains his proper equilibrium and becomes the idol of the college.

The play of the same title, from which this picture was adapted, ran in New York for a full year to packed houses, and the picture is said to surpass the play in interest. Charlie Murray in the role of an Irish athletic trainer helps Jack along in splendid shape with the comedy, as do Jane Winton and Jean Arthur, the two principal feminine players of the cast.

JACK DEMPSEY HAS SORE EYE

Ex-Champ Says He Will Not Fight Gene Until September

Los Angeles, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Handicapped with an injury to his left eye, Jack Dempsey, erstwhile champion of pugilism, let it be known today that he probably will not be ready until September to take another shot at Gene Tunney's heavyweight crown.

The Manassas matter incidentally took occasion to deny reports that the ailment was serious enough to force his retirement from the ring. It was bad enough, he said, however, to suspend his training activities.

Dempsey revealed that the muscle of the eye had been hurt in one of his recent bouts. He does not regard it as serious.

"The injury," he said, "is of such unimportant nature that I did not mention it when I wired Tex Rickard in Miami that I would not be in condition to accept a bout in June."

He has been working out nearly every day and physically I feel in good shape, but not quite good enough to take on a match as early as June."

There has been no definite arrangements between Dempsey and Rickard concerning another championship match, said the ex-champion, but he injected a pair of optimistic "ifs" into his conversation about the possibility of meeting Tunney again.

"If I decide to accept another bout, this injury to my eye muscle will not interfere with my plans."

"If I believe I can get back in shape for another shot at the title, Rickard and I will get together without much trouble."

Joe Chaney Beats Frankie Schaeffer

Chicago, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Joe Chaney of Baltimore won a referee's decision in ten-rounds of slow boxing over Frankie Schaeffer of Chicago tonight. The men fought at 140 pounds.

In the semi-windup, Earl Maestro, Chicago, defeated Jimmy Sayers of Lafayette, Ind., in six rounds. Danny Delmont, Chicago, won in six rounds from Dutch Lelzer, Elkhardt, Ind.

Bearded Fighter Wins Second Bout

Detroit, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Wallace Gamber, Detroit light heavyweight, who sports a Van dyke beard and wears boxing trunks with Jack Dempsey's name engraved on them, won his second professional boxing contest here tonight, a two-round knockout over Whitley Smith of Toledo, O.

Steve Rocco, Toronto, "heavyweight," won from Alex Stage of Des Moines in a ten-round semi-windup.

Joie Kaufman Wins Decision

New York, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Joie Kaufman, New York lightweight, won a judge's decision from Luis Vicentini of Chile in a feature ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas arena tonight. Kaufman took the verdict by a shade. In a tilt Kaufman was victor over the Chilean on a close verdict. Each boxer weighed 135 pounds.

In a ten round semi-final, Sammy Vogel, 141½, defeated Eddie Wilkins, 137, Matty Mario, 139, won from Luis Honora, 135, of South Africa, in a six rounder.

Duluth in First Place in League

Minneapolis, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Duluth again gained undisputed possession of first place in the American Hockey association by defeating Minneapolis 3 to 0 here tonight. The two teams had been tied for the lead. The visitors scored once in the second period and twice in the final.

No Opponents for Him

But just think what a terrible gleam of enlightenment must be breaking into Jess Willard's life when he reads about these battles.

But then Jess lost that fight in three ways before a round was over. And Mr. Dempsey packed a whole novel into one chapter.

Tunney and Dempsey should be good friends, knocking together so much in their work as they are.

DON'T BLAME NEW YORK

C. C. Pyle and Tim Mara claim they have succeeded in putting professional football across in New York.

No figures were quoted for the public board of directors, but there is no reason to suspect the gentlemen of whistling out of a tough spot because at this time last year Mara was frank enough to admit that his toy, the New York Giants, caused him to go on the nose for $60,000 and Pyle and his boy, Red Grange, confessed that they had been disappointed when they counted up the cash.

What of it? It might be asked. What if professional football does go over in New York?

New York, while we never were a member of the chamber of commerce, is not a sucker town as legends would have you believe. That six-day bike race laugh that is thrown at New York is like the Ford funnies, the mother-in-law quips and prohibition jokes which have been barred from the big time variety circuits.

It is not an indication of a morose town. It is the registration of real enthusiasm on a large part of a population that is genuinely interested in the cycling game.

Cause of Popularity

It was interesting and significant also to read recently in the public print of a voting contest conducted by a Paris periodical to determine the most popular athlete in France. The winner was Lucien Richard, the professional bike riding champion.

Rene Lacoste, the world's international tennis champion, was the closest to him but more than a thousand votes in the year.

Bike riding hold the same popularity in Belgium, in Italy, in Holland and in other foreign countries and when you stop to calculate the number of New York residents of Latin and foreign extraction you may realize why the silly six-day bike races pay.

New York won't fall for everything. Thumbs have been turned down so much on wrestling that Mons. Jacques Curley, the great piano-mover magnate in the world, had to give it up and turn to boxing. Wrestling, too, had principally foreign patronage but the foreigners soured on the sport and quit going.

Professional tennis was good enough for only one shot and numerous trick stunts failed to get a rise out of the public.

SAULT IS NEXT ON CAGE LIST

The Escanaba Highlanders' basketball squad will play at home this Friday with the strong Soo five furnishing the opposition.

The Roellers have no alibi to offer because of the defeat at Marquette last week but are pointed to come back at the expense of the Cranemen here this Friday.

To date, the Escanaba lads have won four and lost three cage games. Realizing that the Soo must be defeated if their victory string is to be larger than their defeat list, the Roellers started the week's practice last night with grim determination.

Last year the Escanaba five was handed a defeat at the Soo which is another reason why the locals are pointed for the Lock City quintet.

The officials for the contest and the preliminary game will be announced in a later issue of the Press.

Hold Little Hope for Recovery of Baseball Player

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Physicians tonight held out little hope for the recovery of Hughie Jennings, noted baseball star, who was stricken with an attack of meningitis last Friday. Although Mr. Jennings was conscious at intervals this afternoon, a bulletin issued today said his condition is unchanged.

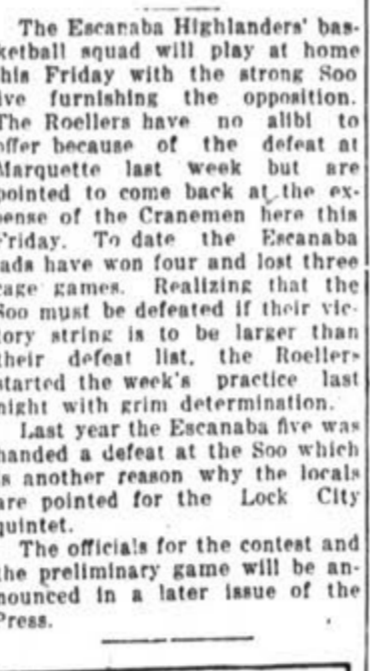

In 1927, Mr. Jennings, who was then assistant manager of the New York Giants, suffered a nervous breakdown. He was apparently well on the road to recovery when he was stricken with the latest attack.

1 Minute Interviews

B. B. JOHNSON SAYS:
There is no reason why baseball should not continue to progress and annually afford good, clean amusement to millions of enthusiasts all over the country. It was my great pleasure to spend most of my life in trying to further the interests of the great national game. When I launched the American League as a competitor to the National, the organization drew but ridicule in most quarters.

I thought there was room for two big leagues, that a keen rivalry would result and tend to increase interest and swell gate receipts.

Back in 1900 a park that would seat 10,000 was regarded as a mammoth stadium. I made the prediction that inside of 25 years crowds of more than 50,000 would be attending ball games. This also drew a smirk from certain quarters.

I feel proud that my prophesy has been more than fulfilled. Close to 70,000 people on many occasions during the past five years have packed the Yankee stadium in New York to see not only world series games, but regular contests as well.

Baseball at present is well situated. Some of the unpleasant features of recent years have been forgotten. The drastic punishment meted out should serve as a lesson for years. Yet, baseball should never for a moment grow careless as to its supervision.

Into every business there creeps undesirable persons and happenings that must be weeded out as they arise. This can only be done by the strictest sort of supervision and careful investigation. Baseball is the greatest of sports and should forever remain so if properly handled.

High School Boy May Have Set New Mark for Ski Jump

Ironwood, Mich., Jan. 30.—(AP)—hat local ski officials believe is a world record for boy ski riding was set Sunday by Waldred Rhenlund, 17 year old high school senior, with a standing jump of 160 feet.

Benny Friedman, former Michigan All-American, impressed critics on the Pacific coast very forcibly by his work in pro games against Red Grange and George Wilson.

Manistique First, Then World Meet for Elk Bowlers

Manistique, Mich., Jan. 30.—(AP)—Elk bowlers will meet here tonight for the first time in the history of the game. The contest will be the first of a series of matches to be held in Manistique during the winter months.

The balance of the bowlers, card players and just ordinary fans will leave the Elks club at about 3:45 sharp, in an especially chartered bus, which will come here from Iron River about 3 in the afternoon. The Escanaba members who will make this trip must be sure to be there at 3:30 as we must get to Manistique at 6 sharp for the whitefish supper which is going to be served.

Escanaba members are pleased to note that Old Man Vic has recovered from his gland operation, and that his extreme age is not the affliction that it has been for some weeks past.

Our scouts also report that some of the averages, now being made on the Manistique Elks alleys are due to having two sets of pin marks, one set close together for the locals, and one set far apart for the visitors. We cannot verify this report. They also tell us that the light-weight members at Manistique, Messrs. Tatum and Crow, are limbering up each day by heaving two bowls down the alley at one time. We can't verify this report either. Various reports are being around also that odds are being given that Manistique won't win a game. We think such odds are just a little too strong.

Yours very truly,
C. W. HANSLEY, E. R.

Canzoneri and Indian Fight 10 Round Draw

Philadelphia, Jan. 30.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, New York featherweight, and Pete Nebo, seminole Indian boxer of Key West, tonight a ten round draw here today. Judges of the bout drew here today the referee called it a draw. Canzoneri weighed 126 pounds and Nebo 127.

Benny Schwartz, 117, Baltimore, won the judge's decision over Pinky May, 117, of Savannah in ten rounds.

The decision caused an uproar and Frank Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Boxing association, assumed the judges and sent two others to the ringside. Sport writers present gave May most of the rounds.

"FIREBUG" SETS ANOTHER FIRE

Bed in Home of Mrs. Christina Hewlett Is Ignited

Escanaba's mysterious "firebug" who has been blamed for several fires surrounded by suspicious circumstances within the past month, continued in his search for a thrill last evening by setting fire to a bed in the home of Mrs. Christina Hewlett, 209 North Ninth street.

No one has been in the house for a month as Mrs. Hewlett left the city shortly before Christmas to visit with her daughters in Chicago. Two boys, who were passing by, noticed smoke issuing from the house and notified Claude Raymond, a neighbor, who called the fire department. No much damage was done, only the mattress, quilts and wooden bed being burned and the walls of the room charred.

Fire Chief Arvid Johnson stated last night that the circumstances surrounding this blaze established without a doubt that a pyromaniac is operating in the city. The "firebug" gained entrance into the house by breaking the lower pane of the window leading into the pantry room. There was evidence also that he had entered the basement of the house through an outside door in an effort to find a suitable place for the setting of a fire.

Investigation Continues.

Police last night questioned several persons in the neighborhood in an effort to learn if any suspicious persons had been prowling about the Hewlett home before and during the fire. The "firebug" is considered extremely dangerous for he has the particular bad habit of setting the fires in and near the business district and at a time when the fire fighting force is reduced. Most of the fires have occurred near the meal hours, when some of the firemen are temporarily off duty.

The moron's activities were first noted when an attempt was made to start a blaze in the office of James R. Andrews, 701 Ludington street. A bundle of burning papers had been thrown through a transom into one of the office rooms, but luckily the fire was discovered by Dr. G. R. Treiber, who was passing by on the way to his office in the same building.

Several nights later, the fire department was called out three times within an hour to put out three small blazes, all of which appeared to be of incendiary origin. A basket of wooden chips had been thrown upon a coal pile in the basement of the James Elias confectionery store and ignited; a bundle of chips was found ablaze in a shed in the rear of the Maytag store; and some foreign rubbish had been set afire in a private garage a few blocks away.

About the same time, the L. A. Erickson store was the scene of a fire, which it was believed then was caused by an overheated pipe near the floor timbers. Last Friday night, another blaze visited the Erickson establishment, causing several thousand dollars damage to the stock and fixtures. The store's rear door had been broken open, and from all indications, a fire set on the top of the high shelves which were filled with goods.

The frequentness of the attempts made by the "firebug" has almost led authorities to feel that the fire at the West End Cycle Works on Friday night, the same night as that of the Erickson store fire, is a part of his work. There were some mysterious angles to this fire, and it will be recalled that several weeks ago authorities received a report that someone had attempted to set a fire to the Villemure building. The report was investigated

Paper Company Enters National Safety Contest

The Escanaba Paper Company's plant at Groos has been entered in the national safety contest which is conducted each year; this contest runs for a period of six months, commencing with January 1 and all the progressive paper mills in the United States and Canada participate in it.

Keen interests has been aroused in the contest and the safety committees are receiving good cooperation. In announcing participating in the national safety contest, the management has posted notices in various parts of the mill.

The paper industry as a whole has made great progress in reducing the number of accidents, and the national contest, which now is established as an annual event, has stimulated still greater interest in safety work.

Radio Fans Begin Disturbance Hunt

The source of the disturbance which has made radio reception virtually impossible in this locality for several days, will be sought by several interested persons here today. It became known last night, falling to locate the cause of the noise, the federal radio commission will be asked for assistance. It was added, "The noise, it is thought, is a 'power disturbance' and extends for several miles around Escanaba."

CRAB'S EMOTIONS SHOWN

That crabs have some emotions and not others was demonstrated by scientists in London recently. It was shown that a crab fettered by one claw and left with food just out of reach will starve to death, but the placing of a polyp, the crab's deadly enemy, near it, will cause the prisoner to become convulsed with fear. The shock causes the tied claw to come off so that the crustacean can scuttle away to safety.

CITY TOBOGGAN SLIDE IS READY

Municipal Skating Rinks Are Being Well Patronized

The toboggan slide, which is located at the foot of Ludington street near the bay shore, will be available for use tonight, it was announced by City Manager T. F. Kessler yesterday. "Con" Gallagher will be in charge as heretofore.

City employees yesterday were engaged in installing lighting facilities and "icing" the slide. Unfavorable weather conditions prevented the use of this part of the winter sport facilities offered here, and also until recently there appeared to be no demand for this type of sport.

The weather was ideal for skating on Sunday, and hundreds of skaters and spectators visited the municipal ice rink on South Fifteenth street, both afternoon and evening. The other three rinks of the city at Rosa park, St. Stephens and St. Patrick's churches are in fine shape, and are attracting large crowds of skaters.

Mrs. Caisse Joins Husband in Long Snow Shoe Hike

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caisse, proprietors of the Uno Resort in the northern part of Delta county, are planning to make a trip to Uno this week to direct the task of cutting next summer's ice supply. The journey will involve 30 miles of snow shoeing, the resort being 15 miles from a passable road.

"We expect to take our time, and we regard the hike as an enjoyable bit of outdoor recreation, rather than a hardship," Mr. Caisse declared yesterday. Ice cutting at the resort will require about ten days. The resort is being looked after by a caretaker, who will need additional help during the ice harvest.

64 "BABY HOLDUPS."

That he had committed 64 thefts from children in four weeks, was the confession made by a 14-year-old boy in Glasgow, Scotland, recently. He is said to have waited at store doors and when children came out with purchases he held them up and told them that the wrong change had been given them and that he had been sent to get the change back that the error might be righted. He then disappeared and used part of the money to gamble with adults.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
