

SET TO MAKE RECORD

Machine Goes 13 Miles Per Hour in Trial Test

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Captain Malcolm Campbell, English automobile racing driver, having tested his Blue Bird special at an unofficially estimated speed of 193.0249 miles an hour, today was prepared for the first attempt to set a new world's record here tomorrow.

His mount, propelled by a secret motor of the British air ministry used by Great Britain in winning the last Schneider cup race was declared to have behaved beautifully.

His official trial tomorrow, he indicated, would depend on the weather and condition of the beach. No time for the test was announced.

The beach was greatly improved over its condition of yesterday when the rain-beaten ocean speedway caused him to strike a rut and lightly damage the machine.

During the trial today, the Blue Bird apparently skimmed over the sands under perfect control. Once, near the end of the course, the machine ran just inside the edge of the water, but its pilot quickly straightened his course and continued down the beach. It required four and a half miles for Captain Campbell to bring his machine to a halt after he attained his maximum speed.

Stutz Wins Stock Event. Meanwhile, Frank Lockhart, American driver, who also is out to beat Major H. O. D. Seagrave's record mark, failed to finish work on his Stutz Blackhawk in time for a test today, but will probably make a trial run tomorrow.

Sam Caruso, veteran driver, brought the triple machine of J. White, Philadelphia manufacturer, out for trial during the day and reached an unofficial speed of 135 miles an hour.

F. E. Speicher of Chicago won the most important stock car race on today's program of the twenty-fifth annual speed classic here, driving his Stutz Blackhawk special over a 20-mile circular beach course at an average of 72.75 miles an hour.

Rutherford of New York was second in a Stutz with an average speed of 72.59 miles an hour.

Congress Is Too Liberal—Coolidge

Washington, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Congress, in the opinion of President Coolidge has been too liberal with appropriations and the prospect of tax reduction has correspondingly been endangered.

As the president sees it, congress already has added six to eight million dollars to the army appropriation bill over and above what he thought was necessary and has doubled the appropriation in the shipping board. In addition the $65,000,000 which the house added to the tax reduction bill above what Mr. Coolidge thought ought to be the tax cut, all of which, in his opinion, has made tax reduction that much further remote.

Grand Rapids Fighter Wins

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 17.—(AP)—Len Darcy of Grand Rapids, formerly of Detroit, defeated Emmett Curcio, Fremont light heavyweight, by a knockout in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout tonight.

Sam Caruso and Johnny Cobb of Grand Rapids, lightweights, fought eight vicious rounds in the semifinals, Caruso winning by a shade. Jimmy Nuss, formerly of Newberry and now of Jackson, who fought Harry Greb for the middleweight championship at Marquette two years ago, was knocked out in 18 seconds by Billy Sherman of Grand Rapids. He was unconscious for ten minutes.

MUST HEAT YANKEES Even with Tris Speaker added to the outfield of the Philadelphia Athletics, there isn't chance that the A's will cause Miller Huggins to commit suicide before the 1928 race is completed.

It isn't against the rules to say anything as early as February, but even before the training season starts it looks as if the New York Yankees will repeat in 1928 and that they will give the National League's entry in the fall classic one of those well known bitter struggles.

It also becomes a matter of wonder who will beat those Yankees out in 1929.

Colonel Jake Ruppert, Miller Huggins, Ed Barrow, Frank Roth, Charley McManus and those officials who do not play ball with the Yankees would consider such a manifestation of faith in their class and their ability to last as an omen of ill will, but where is the team in the American League developing to come along and get them?

It has been printed that the Babe again is not taking care of himself, and that he has had only one session in the gymnasium this winter. That single workout is said to have been for the benefit of the reporters.

Billy Evans, who has known the Babe ever since the saw him broke into baseball, saw him at the annual dinner of the Baseball Writers' Association in New York recently, and he is talking about his trip to the big town had this to say about Ruth:

"I never saw the Babe looking better in his life. He was fat, but did you ever see him when he wasn't carrying weight? And, by the way, Buster Gehrig is no child!"

Will Speaker Help When the Athletics failed last year in that Connie Mack said was an ambition to win another pennant before he retired, it was thought that he might turn to youth for help this season.

He failed last year with old age and felled so terribly he could not have been mistaken that young legs were needed in the outfield.

But when he told Zach Wheat goodby and invited Ty Cobb to look for more pay elsewhere, who should he pick on but—Tris Speaker!

American League players will tell you that Speaker and Al Simmons, a great ball player, will get along like strange bulldogs and if Speaker speaks out of turn to Kid Gleason there may be a bit of ball swinging not aimed at the ball.

Speaker's addition, unless Mack wants to send him to some other club—and it can't be a major league club because they all waived him rather than pay $7500 for his services—will not be a great one for the A's.

They talk about Speaker's drawing power in Philadelphia, but it can't be worth so very much. The A's will get all their customers will pay without the added attraction of Speaker, as it is a great baseball town.

WAS DEMPSEY GREAT?

You probably have heard it said at least a dozen times since Jack Dempsey fell a victim to eye trouble and announced that he would have to retire from the ring, temporarily at least, that he never was a great fighter.

There are reasons to believe, however, that Dempsey will fight again, although his present intentions are not such and one can't help but believe that Mrs. Dempsey has much to say about it.

And there also is a rumor current that if he does return to the ring his comeback will be against a set-up.

It's a pretty safe bet, however, that if Jack does enter the ring again, he will go up against the best man who will meet him. And if he never again wins the gloves, you may be practically certain that his physical condition has kept him from it.

Dempsey's critics say that he didn't live in an age of great fighters, and for that reason gained victories mostly over set-ups.

Look at His Record These critics point out that Willard was just a great big man, trained badly and handled badly, when he fought Dempsey. But they fail to remember that Dempsey won—and how!

They also point to Tunney's record in comparison to Dempsey's, and that seems something which any rational person should be able to look over and conclude that the old man mauler really was a great fighter.

Tunney's record will show that he was in a fight with Bartley Madden that caused some comment, and also that he was thrown out of a ring in Philadelphia once.

Of course, Gene's has twice beaten Jack, but whether he could have done so a few years ago, granting that he then had been at his best also, is something very few critics can believe.

Jack Dempsey was a stinger. He could and did end most of his fights quickly, and no matter how you regard him, you can only reach one conclusion and that is that he was a great fighter.

Time Will Tell Gene Tunney not only thinks, but says that Dempsey as a drawing card was vastly overrated. He also has a hunch in his retiring ways that the Dempsey he fought twice and beat is the same old man-killer of old.

Tunney is said to think that Rickard and his 600 millionaires are a real damper when they figure it is Dempsey that is draw-

Unhappy Organ Grinder Ends His Own Life

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Pennie showered down from the windows of the east side when Rubino Putaturo played his organ in the narrow streets, but it was something more elusive than money for which Rubino played.

For when police broke into his room in Mulberry street today they found that his bank book showed a balance of $4,489.68—the piled up pennies of three years and five and yet Rubino had been so dissatisfied with life that he had left it voluntarily.

The police opened the windows to clear the place of the gas on which Rubino had drifted away from the world of hand organs and clinking pennies and children dancing on the sidewalks and they could find no clue to indicate why Rubino had chosen death.

In one corner of the room there leaned the battered organ which through the years Rubino had played,—played seemingly not for money, but for pay in some coin not current in Mulberry street. The coin of kindness, perhaps,—or love,—but whatever coin it was Rubino had not found it, and falling this, had thought life was not worth living.

Leviathan Grounded But Is Not Damaged

Southampton, Eng., Feb. 17.—(AP)—The U. S. liner Leviathan entering Southampton waters on her first trip under her new commander, Harold A. Cunningham, grounded on Brambles bank today, but after two hours was refloated and proceeded to Southampton.

With the assistance of two tugs and the rising tide, the Leviathan pushed off the bank and resumed her journey towards her dock about 6:30 p. m. The weather and sea were calm.

Aboard the Leviathan at the time were Eamon de Valera, the Irish Republican leader; Ogen Hammond U. S. ambassador to Spain, and his family, and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Ryan, who are on a honeymoon trip.

The mishap took place when the giant liner after passing through the Cowes roads and rounding the buoy, was entering Southampton waters.

NAVY HAS BEST GAME

The Army plays Nebraska, the Navy meets Princeton—that's the latest and probably the final bit of news for the next few months on the Army-Navy squabble.

The Navy certainly did not look for an easy opponent to take the place left vacant through its inability to agree with the Army. It is an assured fact that they would not have hooked up with Princeton if they had had such a thought.

Neither did the Army seek an easy game or Nebraska would not have been scheduled. Princeton boasted one of the truly outstanding teams in the east last season, losing only one game and that to the powerful Yale team. A salient feature of its team was the number of sophomores who were labeled as stars in their first year of college football, and those stars will be back next fall, bigger and better than ever.

Nebraska has had one of the outstanding teams of the middle west for several years, and is certain to be a tough team to beat when it plays the Army.

At this time, it looks like the Army might take the Cornhuskers next fall, but one can't say the same for the Middies. They more than likely will lose to the Princeton eleven.

One can't help but regret that the two government schools were unable to get together and iron out their troubles. But both assumed positions which could not be deviated from without suffering the loss of prestige.

There are some who think the attempts of Washington politicians to patch up the trouble, the efforts to force the government officials, even President Coolidge, in taking a hand in the matter, did not aid any in settling the dispute.

That, one is inclined to believe, might have made both military and naval authorities a bit more stubborn in their stands and given each group a fuller determination not to back down an inch from their first announced stand.

But it is the fans who have regarded the Army-Navy games as one of the greatest of each year who suffer in their not meeting this year and who will suffer if they never meet again.

The Princeton-Navy contract is understood to be for three years. Nebraska has only a one-year agreement with the Army. That may indicate something, but just what no one has said.

Weather Affects Market Conditions

New York, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: "The general trade and industrial situation is more spotted. For this past and present weather conditions come in for considerable blame but the usual winter pressure of idle labor seems accentuated into what is said in some areas to be the highest percentage of unemployment in any year since the war. Mild weather has brought the frost out of the ground in many parts of the country, and poor roads are a subject of comment as affecting buying of winter goods; the purchase and mining of coal; the movement of crops, particularly corn, to market, and movements of salesmen on the road. On the other hand, the reduction in the corn movement has caused a sharp upward trend in prices, with dollar corn listed at farm centers for the first time since early December, while the continued mildness of the weather enables more to be done in building and leads to predictions of spring coming a month earlier than usual, with all that this implies as to an early opening of spring activities and trade buying."

As for weeks past the iron and steel and kindred trades show most activity. Weekly bank clearings $9,548,325,000, an increase of 3-10 of 1 per cent over last year.

Survivors of Oil Tanker Blast In Serious Condition

Tokyo, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Most of the survivors of the British oil tanker Chuku, which exploded and sank while enroute from San Pedro, California, to Yokohama, are in a serious condition, say reports from Miskiki, where a Japanese fishing trawler landed 21 members of the crew today.

According to the bare reports of the accident obtainable now, the tanker exploded and sank Wednesday morning approximately a hundred miles southeast of Cape Noshima. Capt. C. Hermes and 15 of the crew were killed outright in the explosion, it was said, remaining members of the crew saving themselves by clinging to driftwood until picked up by the trawler Thursday morning.

The crew was composed of American, British and Chinese sailors. Both the British and American consuls have started investigations of the blast, and the Yokosuka naval station has sent boats to seek any of the bodies which may have remained afloat.

The territory included by Wisconsin was first seen by a white man in 1634. He was Jean Nicolet, the French explorer.

IZZY SCHWARTZ DEFEATS SHAW

Flyweight Champ Scores Victory in One Sided Tangle

Detroit, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Corp. Izzy Schwartz, acclaimed by the New York boxing commission as flyweight champion, made a chopping block of Billy Shaw, Detroit bantamweight, in a one-sided eight-round bout here tonight. Schwartz kept his heavier opponent's head bobbing about like a punching bag with hard right and left hand jolts throughout. The tough local lad managed to stay the limit, but was a badly beaten fighter at the final bell.

Joey Ross, New York flyweight, punched out an eight-round decision over Frenchy Belanger of Toronto, former holder of the National Boxing association's title for the division.

Clarence Rosen and Pete Firpo, bantamweight, fought ten vicious rounds to a draw in a grudge bout that was given the headline position on the program, due to local interest. The verdict created an uproar among the fans, who apparently thought Firpo had won.

The boys, casting science to the winds, stood toe-and-toe and slugged throughout the contest. Matters were about even until the seventh round, in the opinion of newspapermen, when Rosen tired and Firpo took the lead.

Billy Peterson, Detroit midweight, outslugged Jimmy Darragh of Akron, to receive the referee's decision in a six round bout.

Patsy Ruffalo of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was awarded the decision over Jackie Johnston of Toronto, in a close six-rounder. The decision was cheered by the spectators, who favored Johnston over the eastern scrapper.

be furnished, Judge Soper undertook to show the committee that this evidence was not based upon fact.

The crux of the case was that Myers had contended he had informed Judge Soper when presenting the consent decree that the complaint against the Continental Baking company before the federal trade commission was to be dismissed upon the entry of the decree, that having been a part of the agreement between the government and the baking interests.

Did Not Inform Court The consent decree itself said that in view of the complaint before the trade commission against the Continental, the petition under the Clayton Act filed in the district court at Baltimore was dismissed, making no mention of the contemplated action by the commission.

Judge Soper told the committee that Myers had not told him of the proposal to dismiss the action before the trade commission and he presented sworn statements from three members of counsel for the baking interests that Myers had not so informed the court. Then he presented the original of the letter Myers wrote him on December 16, 1926, a purported copy of which the commissioner furnished to the committee as evidence to substantiate his statement that he had told the judge of the contemplated action by the trade commission.

This sentence, appearing in the text of the copy as printed in the record of the committee hearings, was not in the original: "I distinctly recall that when you reached Section 13 of the decree, I mentioned the commissions under which that section was included, and that I was advised that it was the purpose of the federal trade commission to dismiss the proceedings effective upon the entrance of the decree."

Heard Roosevelt Libel Suit. The latest honor to be accorded Justice Flannigan came last week when it was announced that he had been awarded the Cross of St. Gregory of the Roman Catholic church, by order of Pope Pius. The award, the highest honor that can be given to a layman, was bestowed at the investigation of Bishop Gallagher of the Detroit diocese and Bishop Pinton of Grand Rapids. It was for special services given while Justice Flannigan was a resident of the Marquette diocese.

Among the noted cases over which Justice Flannigan presided was the Roosevelt libel suit at Marquette in 1913. President Roosevelt had sued George Newitt, editor of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, for alleged defamatory articles published in the Ishpeming newspaper during the presidential campaign of 1912. A decision of six cents damages in favor of "Teddy" was awarded.

Justice Flannigan also took an active part in the civic affairs of Norway, his service for his community starting from the time he served as mayor of Norway in 1901. He was also a member of the Michigan Constitutional convention in 1905 and 1909 when the constitution of this state was revised.

Formerly a member of the Democratic party, Justice Flannigan left the party, disagreeing with it on its stand on free silver.

HARTWIG NAMED "U" DEBATER

First Freshman to Make Squad at Ann Arbor

The following letter to the Press from Bob Gessner, an Escanaban, who is on the staff of the Michigan Daily, University of Michigan campus newspaper. It concerns Lawrence Hartwig, another Escanaban who formerly was a member of the Daily Press editorial staff. Hartwig, by the way, is the way, is the Press' correspondent at the state university, but his modesty caused him to be "scooped" on one of the best "Escanaba stories" of the year at Ann Arbor.

Ann Arbor, Feb. 15.—(To the Editor)—The modesty of a colleague commands me to subdue my usual laziness. I am writing this letter for the purpose of informing you of some delicious news which your correspondent here is too bashful to submit. It is this:

Lawrence Hartwig, '31, has the distinct honor of being the first freshman in the history of the university to be selected to represent Michigan in an intercollegiate debate. Heretofore, if a sophomore made the debating squad he was considered more than exceptional. But a freshman! The varsity tryouts were held last week and the entire varsity squad of the first semester, with one exception, was retained for this semester. And Hartwig was that exception!

The definite teams have not been chosen, but as he is acknowledged to be better than the two alternates of last semester who are still on the squad. The question for discussion this semester, and which was used in the tryouts, is: "Resolved, That we should condemn the policy exercised by the United States in Nicaragua, Panama and Salvador."

Hartwig is a member of the Adelphi House of Representatives and at his meeting, held last night, he was appointed chairman of the Bills committee, a responsible office in the organization. But greater than this, Lawrence received all "A" grades in his courses, a most remarkable achievement for a mere "Fresh." He was one of 31 students in the entire university who accomplished such a notable distinction. This automatically elects him to Phi Eta Sigma, national honorary society for freshmen.

So all in all, we Escanabans have a right to walk about without hats. Had any other member of the Escanaba delegation here distinguished himself in this manner, I know Hartwig would have promptly put the story on the wire to you. He is too modest and too bashful to write to you about himself, however, and so I'm making certain that his friends at home find out all about him.

I suggest that when you send him his next check, you pay him special rates for the story you make from the information contained in this letter.

Sincerely,
BOB GESSNER.

Markovich Case Is Dismissed; Search Warrant Faulty

The case of Steve Markovich of North Escanaba, charged with violating the prohibition law, was dismissed by Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette, when it was shown that the search warrant used in the raid on the Markovich home was faulty, having given an erroneous address. When the evidence seized in the raid was suppressed, Markovich's attorney moved for dismissal of the case and the motion was granted.

In the case of Frank Kabosich, where 290 gallons of alleged wine was found, was taken under advisement by Justice Ranguette. It was contended that samples of the wine found in the basement were not taken and that the small bottle on the table, also seized by the officers, contained only about one per cent of alcohol.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

CHANGES IN TEMPERATURE BRING BODILY REACTIONS

In 1919 several American students of infectious diseases stressed the importance of chilling in catching a common cold. When the mucous membranes become chilled they lose blood supply and thereby resistance. Breathing the air in a room which has been overheated causes congestion and hyperactivity of the mucous membranes, with fatigue of their cells. All sorts of germs have been found associated with common colds and modern investigators are inclined to put more and more importance on physical factors in relationship to infection.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

"Thunder," who through one picture achieved an enviable place for himself in the canine screen world, sets another record in "Wolf Fangs," the Fox Films production which will be shown at the Delft again today.

Thunder through his almost humanly intelligent reactions helped materially to place "Wings of the Storm," his first starring picture at the top of the list of pictures selected by the American Federation of Women's Clubs last year. According to advance reports, "Wolf Fangs" will add another success to his credit.

Law Seller directed the production, the exteriors of which were filmed in the almost unbelievable beauties of Mt. Baker National Park in Oregon. Charles Morton, James Gordon, Caryl Lincoln, and Frank Rice enacted the human story which parallels the dog story in the picture.

AT THE STRAND.

Monty Banks, comedy star whose latest Pathe feature, "Horse Shoes," is now at the Strand, could undoubtedly earn a living as an interpreter or as a teacher of languages if he should ever decide to abandon his career as a motion picture comedian.

Monty's linguistic talents were a decided asset during the filming of "Horse Shoes," for Agostino Borgato, Italian stage and screen actor who has a role in the picture, cannot speak English as well as he hopes to when he has been in America a few months longer. Clyde Bruckman, the director, doesn't speak Italian, so all orders were relayed through Monty to Borgato. The famous baseball combination, "Tinker to Evers to Chance," had its counterpart, "Bruckman to Banks to Borgato," during the shooting of "Horse Shoes," which is said to be one of Monty's best comedies.

That the comedy star could rate as an interpreter in almost any assemblage is evidenced by the fact that he speaks Italian, French, Spanish, German and Arabic, in addition to English.

high ideals? We have not. We are still looking for leaders. We have had a dearth of them of late. But we are ready for them.
Let a Man arise again—a man of genuine greatness, with a call to real service on his lips—and there will be a response to shake the world. America is waiting, now as always. Let every politician remember it.

AN AGE OF HOPE.
Clarence Darrow, who laid aside his rose-colored glasses long ago, thinks we are in serious danger of losing our freedom.
"The yearning and desire for freedom come from the poor," he says. "The rich have it anyway and don't care about it. Freedom and liberty produce wealth, and wealth destroys liberty."
"Liberty can't live long in a rich country."
There is no denying that we are a rich country. Are we, as Darrow says, getting to the point where we don't care what happens to our liberties so long as we continue to make money? A great many students of the times share Darrow's fears.
It isn't surprising that they do. For the new is always strange and a bit terrifying. And we in the United States have embarked on a new kind of life. We are building up a culture that is not like any culture that ever appeared before. It is founded on a new basis; the removal from the path of every man of every material discomfort that science or machinery can conquer.
Of course, we haven't perfected it yet. There are still slums in our big cities; there are still the soft coal fields, for instance, where thousands of men and women are fighting dire want. But we have gone far. The average laboring man in America has more luxuries than the rich man had a generation ago.
We don't often comprehend what a revolution this has involved. Did you ever realize that until very recently it was taken for granted by everyone, that the great bulk of the population of even the most prosperous country always would be very poor? Did you ever realize that everyone no long ago assumed that it was impossible to form a society in which the huge majority of inhabitants would not be forever submerged in poverty?
We have gotten away from that. Without exactly meaning to, we have set up our society on a new basis. We have decided that prosperity can extend to all. We take it for granted that carpenters and masons who are building a house shall drive to work in their own automobiles—automobiles that are often more expensive than the car of the man whose house they are building. We take it for granted that a factory hand may buy a radio, deck his wife in stylish clothes and send his boy to college if he sees fit.
And all of this means that we are erecting an entirely new civilization. We have completely reversed some of the most fundamental tenets of all other cultures. No wonder that some men, like Mr. Darrow, get pessimistic! Our new edifice cannot be measured by the old yardsticks.
But there is more reason for hope than for discouragement. We are making for ourselves a new freedom—freedom from material cares, from privation, from heart-breaking worry, from the chains of want. We are broadening our horizons; why should we think that the vision of spiritual freedom need be lost?
This is not an age for pessimists. It is an age of hope. We are on the threshold of a new day. The gleaming skyscrapers of our great cities are symbolic—symbolic of the shining white cities of brotherhood for which we are even now laying the foundations.
HEALTHY FERNS.
Never keep ferns in glazed earthenware. They should be raised from the bottom of their pots by putting pebbles or broken crockery under the dirt. Give them a shower bath once a week. Never let them stand in a dish of water.

THE CANARY MURDER CASE

CHAPTER XXIX
"What about the summons for speeding?" Markham asked.
"That's for you to explain," said Vance. "But if you'll take my advice you'll send for this Boonton catchpole, and let him have a look at Pop. If he says Cleaver is the man he ticketed, I'll humbly do away with myself."
"Well! That makes it worth trying. I'll have the officer at the Stuyvesant Club this afternoon, and I'll point out Cleaver to you."
"What other staggering revelations have you in store?"
"Mannix will bear looking into."
Markham put down his knife and fork and leaned back.
"I'm overcome! Such Himalayan sagacity! With that evidence against him, he should be arrested at once. . . . Vance, my dear old friend, are you feeling quite normal? No dizzy spells lately? No shooting pains in the head? Knee-jerks all right?"
"Furthermore, Doctor Lindquist was wildly infatuated with the Canary, and insanely jealous. Recently threatened to take a picture of him, and hold a little pogrom of his own."
"That's better," Markham sat up. "Where did you get this information?"
"Ah! That's my secret." Markham was annoyed.
"Why so mysterious?"
"Needs must, old chap. Gave my word, and all that sort of thing. And I'm a bit quixotic, don't y' know—too much Cervantes in my youth." He spoke lightly, but Markham knew him only too well to push the question.
In less than five minutes after we had returned to the district attorney's office Heath came in. "I got something else on Mannix, sir; thought you might want to add it to the report I turned in yesterday. Burke secured a picture of him, and showed it to the phone operators at Odell's house. Both of 'em recognized it. He's been there several times, but it wasn't the Canary he called on. It was the woman in Apartment 2. She's named Frisbee, and used to be one of Mannix's fur models. He's been to see her several times during the past six months, and has taken her out once or twice; but he hasn't called on her for a month or more. . . . Any good?"
"Can't tell," Markham shot Vance an inquisitive look. "But thanks for the information, Sergeant."
"By the bye," said Vance dutifully, when Heath had left us, "I'm feeling top-hole. No pains in the head; no dizzy spells. Knee-jerks perfect."
"Delighted. Still, I can't charge a man with murder because he calls on his fur model."
"You're so hasty! Why should you charge him with murder?" Vance rose and yawned. "Come, Van. I'd rather like to gaze on perneb's tomb at the Metropolitan this afternoon. Could you bear it?" At the door he paused. "I say, what about the Boonton balliff?"
Markham rang for Swacker. "I'll see to it at once. Drop in at the club around five, if you feel like it. I'll have the officer there then, as Cleaver is sure to come in before dinner, and I returned to the club late that afternoon. Markham was stationed in the lounge-room facing the main door of the rotunda; and beside him sat a tall, heavy-set, bronzed man of about forty, alert but ill at ease.
"Traffic Officer Phipps arrived from Boonton a little while ago," said Markham, by way of introduction. "Cleaver is expected at any moment now. He has an appointment here at half past five."
Vance drew up a chair. "I do hope he's a punctual beggar."
"So do I," returned Markham viciously.
Less than ten minutes later Cleaver entered the rotunda from the street, paused at the desk, and sauntered into the lounge-room. There was no escaping the observation-point—Markham had chosen; and as he walked by he paused and exchanged greetings. Markham detained him a moment with a few casual questions; and Cleaver passed on.
"That the man you ticketed, officer?" asked Markham, turning to Phipps.
Phipps was scowling perplexedly.
"It looks something like him, sir; there's a kind of resemblance. But it ain't him. He shook his head. "No, sir, it ain't him. The fellow I hung a summons on was stouter than this gent, and wasn't as tall."
"You're positive?"
"Yes, sir—no mistake. The guy I tagged tried to argue with me,

Yet stone by stone men laid the stone,
In no one moment laid them all.
Each stone, each day, had equal grace,

But his today is always his.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Schram of Gladstone, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The bride was attired in a dress of tan silk crepe with hat of corresponding color and carried a bouquet of sweetpeas, roses and baby breath.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents where fifty relatives and friends were entertained throughout the day. The couple left for Chicago, Gary and Hammond, Ind., where they will spend ten days, after which they will make their home in Milwaukee where Mr. Pilot is employed at the Peters Cleaning plant.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. Schram, Mr. and Mrs. Boyle of Gladstone, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Theoret, Mr. and Mrs. Mose Theoret and Mrs. Napoleon Beauchamp of Flat Rock.

University Is Given Lamp Made in 1843

New Haven, Conn.—A student lamp made in 1843 by William Jones Weeks as an experiment to replace unsatisfactory table illumination while students were "burning the midnight oil" has been given to Yale university by the maker's son, Reginald C. Weeks, of New York.

The lamp was made by placing two peg-top lamps on a cross-piece attached to a carved wooden upright. Holes in the upright permitted raising or lowering the crossbar with its lamps. Iron bronze pins being used in the holes.

Use Dog Team to Attend School

St. Paul (P)—Eleven children, one of them a Canadian, attend what is called the most northern public school in the United States. Miss Stella Trane, the teacher, reported to the Minnesota state department of education.

The school, located in the northwest angle country of Minnesota, is in a region accessible only by launch or canoe in the summer and by snow shoes, skis, or dog team in the winter.

The Canadian pupil is a young Indian boy, who makes the long trip daily from his home across the line with only his dog for a companion. All of the children live on homesteads.

FINALLY BEATEN

American tennis stars for years resisted all foreign efforts to wrest the Davis cup championship from these shores only to lose to the French players last year and now the British have annexed another championship that has been America's since 1915.

Fashion House to Have Berlin Branch

Berlin—How far Franco-German reconciliation has advanced since the war may be judged by the fact that the large fashion house, "Galeries Lafayette" of Paris, is about to establish a branch in Berlin.

A Franco-German consortium has been formed, which has purchased the Bellevue Hotel on one of the busiest squares of the metropolis, viz., the Potsdamer Platz. The hotel is familiar to Americans as the headquarters of the International Military Mission which came to Berlin after the signing of the Treaty of Versailles and remained until the Dawes Plan was put into effect in 1924.

The highest chimney in Great Britain is to be demolished.

It is to be demolished. It is "Townsend Stalk" in Glasgow, containing 1,300,000 bricks and standing 488 feet high.

MRS. WILFRED PERRON.

Mrs. Wilfred Perron, aged 26, widow of the late Wilfred Perron, passed away at an early hour Friday morning at the Powers sanatorium where she had been confined for the past year.

Five years ago, Mrs. Perron, who was formerly Miss Edna Picher of Nadeau, lost her husband and infant son at the same time, when a double funeral was held. After their deaths she went to Chicago where she was employed, and one year ago was admitted at the sanatorium in a critical condition.

Besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Picher of Nadeau, she is survived by several brothers and sisters; also her father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Perron, 223 Sixth avenue south, who were at the bedside when the end came.

The body was prepared for burial at the Allo Funeral Home and will be taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Perron this morning where it will remain until Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock, when funeral services will be held at St. Anne's church. Burial will be in St. Anne's cemetery where her husband and child are buried.

TASTE ERADICATOR.

If you hold hot water in your mouth and gargle with it before taking castor oil or other unpleasant medicine, the taste will not be so bad.

BY THE NEA BOOK SURVEY

At the risk of being upbraided for discourtesy we call the attention of Charles Merz to a chapter he might have added to his book of American follies, "The Great American Band Wagon" (John Day).

Ironically enough, it concerns the book itself and its method of ultimate distribution. Since a portion of the Merz volume is devoted to the standardizations and ballyhooings of this great nation, with satiric and humorous commentaries on the side, it seems no more than right that the picture should be completed. Very well then—Merz's contribution to literature is, we note, sent forth to its subscribers by the Literary Guild of America, one of the several organizations which each month standardizes the reading tastes of thousands of people.

Thus the bitter lives to feel himself bit. Even as he sets forth to show us what slaves we are to carbon copies, the very volume that makes the revelations becomes victim of the way of the land. Which seems to us some sort of a final irony!

All of which is no reflection on the book. Its theme is pretty much what the title indicates. When the "band wagon" comes along, we all jump aboard. We are sheep following a great and mighty bell-wether. The lanes of our land are strewn with hot-dogs, lemons and what-not. Our heroes, from Lindbergh down, all are properly appreciated and idolized but we insist that they "conform." That is to say, when all the shouting is over, we stress the fact that "they are regular fellows." In other words they have to conform to a pattern of a human being as conceived by the mob.

The book isn't all about such matters. It has a chapter on our murder trials which is most amusing. Dealing with the Hall-Mills case in particular, it shows how the modern court machinery works to create a Roman holiday. It shows how a big modern-day trial is turned into a veritable circus, with all the nation absorbing each halting word of it, with giant switchboards rigged and telegraph offices operating in the side rooms. Merz satirically suggests that the state make a little money on these affairs by staging them in stadiums and selling ringside seats, with various concessions on the sides.

He gets a bit rough with the

boys who don't trick regallas for lodge festivities. He kids the radios, the speakies and the plus fours; he refers to college degrees as "roll-your-own diplomas" and reveals the weaknesses of the universities; he is amused by bathing beauty contests, Americans abroad, and the provincial attitude toward New York. He makes a pretty thorough journalistic job of our follies and may have some influence in making us see ourselves as at least one other sees us.

But, somehow, he forgot to mention those organizations that tell us what to read, pick our books out for us, put them in the malls, and deliver them at our doors.

With no intent to rub it in, the selection of the Merz book for this purpose strikes us as a singularly amusing circumstance.

Prof. Chase Salmon Osborn has a book that brings us definitely down to earth. It's called "The Earth Upsets" (Waverly Press) and it's likely to leave one quite disturbed as he shows the earth to be. Prof. Osborn gives you an excellent start upon a Jules Verne adventure that you can start from your own fireside.

It seems there are scores of things going on in the universe that have not been accounted for. Osborn undertakes a little pioneering in this direction. He begins by showing us that many great scientists have seen this world as a staggering drunkard who falls into a gutter, picks himself up, topples over again—and then he goes into earth-quakees, showing their effect on history, peoples, climates, health and civilization.

We read of glaciers, lunar significance, lost continents and rising worlds—all very stimulating to the imagination.

Cut liver in inch cubes. Cook bacon in a hot frying pan until crisp. Sauté liver in hot bacon fat until brown on all sides. Keep bacon hot while preparing sauce. Peel and mince onions. Remove seeds from pepper and mince flesh. Add onions and pepper to tomatoes. Mix and sift flour, salt, paprika, mustard and cloves. Work into butter, making a smooth paste. Stir into tomato mixture, stirring over the fire until thick. Add cubes of liver and simmer over a low fire for ten minutes. Serve on a hot platter garnished with strips of bacon.

Shirred Eggs. Four eggs, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 tablespoon butter, salt and pepper.
Butter four muffin rings and put on a well buttered pie pan or baking sheet. Melt the butter and divide among the rings. Break an egg into each ring, taking care not to break the yolk. Pour over cream, dust with salt and pepper and bake in a moderate oven for ten minutes or until the white is set. Remove from muffin rings and serve on a hot platter.
Of course the eggs can be baked in a shallow baking dish without muffin rings but the rings keep the eggs in neat shapes for serving.

3-4 cup rice, 2 cups cold water, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 onion, 1 cup canned tomato rubbed through a sieve, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 1/2 cups stock or water, 1-3 cup grated cheese, 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper.

Wash rice well and put into a large sauce with cold water. Cover and bring to the boiling point. Boil five minutes. Drain and rinse by pouring several quarts of boiling water through rice. Melt butter in a deep frying pan, add onion, finely minced, and prepared rice. Stir with a fork and cook until the butter is absorbed. Add tomato puree, salt, paprika and water or stock. Cook until rice is tender and liquid absorbed. Stir in cheese, stirring with a fork. When thoroughly blended, turn onto a hot platter, piling the mixture high at the sides to hold the scrambled eggs.

Beat eggs well with milk, salt and pepper. Turn into a hot frying pan well buttered and cook over a low fire, stirring and lifting constantly until creamy. Cover rice with eggs and serve at once.

Breakfast—Orange juice, cereal cooked with raisins, cream, ham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Parsnip chowder, toasted crackers, open salmon

Your CHILD-and the CHURCH

What would be the surroundings of your growing children without the influence of the Church?

Are you by your presence at the Church - by your interest and work - supporting those influences?

Look back through history. The outstanding men and women of every generation clearly reflect the influences of the Church on their early childhood - their formative period.

We owe it to our children - it is vital to those greatest hopes we have for them - to set the example.

BAKER BEATS HADKINS
Sammy Baker
Fighter Keeps Up Game Battle in Face of Defeat

BY EDWARD J. NEAL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Madison Square Garden, New York, Feb. 17.—(P)—Ace Hudkins, vicious clown from Lincoln, Neb., clawed his way past Sgt. Sammy Baker, army warrior, and to the fore front of Joe Dundee's welter-weight title challengers, in a gory ten-round battle here tonight.

In the melee, third of a spectacular series, was packed all the thrills of the fiercest kind of fighting, and all the drama that can lie in a game battler's refusal "to give up the ghost" even when everyone but him of the 16,000 in the arena knew he was licked.

Baker, courageous as the flying corps he represents, was as badly whipped as a fighter can be in ten rounds and still keep his feet. But in whipping him, Hudkins, too, took as severe a punishment as he ever has been called upon to endure in punching out a victory.

Twice—in the second and sixth rounds—Sammy ran into overhand swings that dropped him into the resin for counts of nine. The first was a right smash to the chin, and Sammy chose to rest for most of the count. The second, a flailing left, dangerously close to the foul line, sunk Baker when the ring was reeling about him and even the lights must have shown red to him through a haze of blood.

Baker Badly Beaten Up.
Despite terrific punishment from unceasing punching, Baker rallied when the cause seemed most hopeless. The drumming right hand that knocked Hudkins out in seven rounds last summer, beat a merciless tattoo on the westerner's head. In at least half of the rounds Baker, staggering about and pawing with his left for opening, whipped over that right to set Hudkins on his heels.

Hudkins' eyes were nearly shut from Sammy's head punishment at the close, but Sammy was a sight to gaze about his mouth, his body also crimson from the punishment. Ringsters gave Hudkins the better of seven rounds.

Hudkins had a slight advantage in the weights, scaling 146 to 144½ for Baker. The attendance was close to capacity—16,876—and the receipts $76,459.

Maxie Rosenbloom of New York outpointed Jack McVey, Negro middleweight from Harlem, in an eight-round semi-final. Maxie was too fast and clever for the hard-biting negro. Rosenbloom weighed 159½, McVey 154.

Andy Divodi, New York welterweight, stopped Buddy McDonald of St. Paul in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round bout. Divodi outclassed the westerner from the opening bell and the bout was halted after one minute and 51 seconds of fighting in the fourth round.

Making his New York debut, Manuel Quintero, of Tampa, Fla., stopped Johnny Kochansky of Bayonne, N. J., after a little more than two minutes of fighting in the fifth round of another eight-round match.

SENATE POWER FIGHT BLASTS WALSH HOPES

dry division on the Democratic side but this factor was only one of a number which brought about the first decisive defeat the "progressives" have suffered in this session of congress. Senator Borah of Idaho said the utility industry should have long ago been investigated. Senator Howell of Nebraska, Republican, denied he was for government-ownership but declared that municipally-owned plants had to be used as a lever to get lower electric light rates. Senator Blaine of Wisconsin wanted to know if Senator Copeland of New York, Democrat, spoke for Al Smith, who has been known to have antagonized the power interests in New York state. Mr. Copeland fought the Walsh resolution.

Violent Struggle.
Altogether, it was one of the most violent struggles on the floor of the senate in recent years and reminded one of the "battle" waged by the railroads before they were finally brought under government regulation. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin on learning the effective way the utility industry had lined up the vote against the Walsh resolution, remarked that the roll call would yield more fatalities than the vote on the Newberry resolution and that opponents of men now in the senate would find plenty of ammunition in the primaries.

To offset this effort to punish those who voted with the industry, a story went the rounds of the capitol that campaign contributions had been promised senators who feared the effects of their voting. One senator who was approached with a suggestion of a contribution was being urged to make the incident public during the debate but he refused to do so, saying it would involve a close personal friend.

Very Little Lobbying.
Talk of a "lobby" was heard all through the debate but no evidence of actual lobbying was offered. The utility industry resorted to the tactics used by the Anti-Saloon League of bringing local pressure in the districts back home.

The whole fight was against what the utility representatives called a "political" investigation. They have declared their willingness to be investigated and they feel that the federal trade commission will give them a fair hearing and will vindicate the industry. Running through the discussion also was a warning that a "political" investigation would unnecessarily depress the value of securities, and many senators who do not want business conditions disturbed this year are known to have felt that the investigation would do harm to innocent companies. Anyway, Senator Heflin of Alabama, who voted to refer to the federal trade commission, predicted that "after the two national conventions have been held," the senate can make its own investigations. But the conservatives have a working majority taken from both sides and the radical-progressives are in the minority. Their capacity for embarrassment to the power industry is considerable, however, and the next chapter in the battle probably will be written when the tax law comes up and an effort is made to restore the system of filing consolidated returns, something the house of representatives took out, and which is said to affect the utilities very vitally.
