REPARATIONS EXPLAINED BY MR. LAWRENCE

CORRESPONDENT OUTLINES PLAN

(The biggest economic question before the world is the fixing of a definite sum for German reparations and today's dispatch by David Lawrence tells an inside story of the conversations going on in Berlin, Paris, London and Washington with reference to the possibility of a huge international loan to fund allied war debts and German reparations. This is the first of a series of two dispatches on this subject.)

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
(Copyright 1928, by the Escanaba Press)
The United States government is an interested but not primarily an active participant in the movement which has for its object the fixing of a definite sum for German reparations and the flotation to the investors of the world of a loan which would enable the allies to pay each other and the United States on a cash basis. This fact does not in any way diminish the hope of the American government that some time in the next few months, a formula may be developed which without committing the United States in any way either to the collection of reparations or the acceptance of a revised debt program, will nevertheless lift from European peoples the indefiniteness which surrounds the whole question of allied debts and German reparations.

Parker-Gilbert Activities.
To understand the present situation, it is necessary to go back to the memorandum issued in December by S. Parker Gilbert, agent-general of reparations, who pointed out that the sooner allied control was removed from German finances, the better for Germany and the world and he indicated the importance of fixing the German reparations once and for all so that the German people would have the incentive to cut down their indebtedness. Shortly after this statement was made, Mr. Gilbert visited the United States and talked at length with Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon and with prominent officials of the banking world. Then he went to France and talked with Premier Poincaré who admittedly holds the key to the situation.

No definite step is expected until after the French elections in May but meanwhile opinion is beginning to crystallize on a program. The subject is not a new one and is not by any means a partisan matter on this side of the Atlantic. For instance, the whole subject was reviewed at length in a memorandum presented by Bernard M. Baruch to officials of the American government. Mr. Baruch, as chairman of the War Industries Board and later head of the section of the American Peace Mission which helped to frame the economic clauses of the

Plane Runs Wild After Pilot is Accidentally Killed; 3 Dead

BELIEVE FEW WERE DROWNED

One to Three Persons Listed As Missing From Ferryboat

San Francisco, Feb. 18—(AP)—One to three persons were definitely listed missing today as a three-cornered investigation got under way into "nose dive" taken by the ferry boat Peralta while crossing San Francisco Bay last night.

While approximately thirty persons were swept overboard when the vessel struck its bow into the green waters of the bay, police announced that their check-up showed only three definitely unaccounted for this afternoon. Investigators of the Key Route System, owners of the ferry, declared only one person known to have been a passenger was missing.

Earlier in the day the list of missing had stood at eight. Unofficial lists gathered through police and other sources agreed in names of three persons missing. They were: J. W. Collins, of Oakland, an employe of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. Hugh Findlay, Berkeley, assistant editor of a trade magazine. Mrs. Evelyn Kraft, 38, a negro woman living in Oakland. Federal, state and local inquiries were instituted.

Panic Hinders Rescue Work

The captain testified that he ordered engines cut to "half speed" when he observed the "curl" and a moment later sounded a "stop" bell. "As the Peralta appeared to dip, I ordered back full speed," said Capt. Melsome. "While still at that speed the boat struck forward as the vessel passed Goat Island on the way from San Francisco to the pier at Oakland."

INTERVENTION IS OBSTACLE BEFORE MEET

NEW DIFFICULTY ARISES AS ONE IS SETTLED

Havana, Feb. 18—(AP)—The Pan-American congress laid low one spectre which had been threatening its peaceful conclusion, only to have another, which had been quiescent, suddenly show its head in plenary session. Non-intervention in American states was the issue which came to life after having lain dormant in committee. Earlier the Pan-American union convention which had provoked contention resulting in the resignation of Dr. Pueyrredon of Argentina, had been removed.

ARGENTINA TO SIGN CONVENTION

He said that while it was impossible to reach an agreement in sub-committee or committee, it appeared to him that there existed an early unanimous opinion supporting the thesis of absolute non-intervention. President Bustamante of the congress, asked Dr. Guerrero to draw up a formal resolution embodying this idea.

ASK COOLIDGE TO PUSH QUIZ

Seek to Clear Up Scandal Connected With Bond Transactions

AS BASE FALSEHOOD

The publication broadcast throughout the country this week, "he said, "unsupported by a scintilla of fact, intimating that a portion of the Sinclair Continental Trading company oil bonds was received in 1922 or thereabouts and applied on the deficit of the democratic national committee, constitutes as false and foul a libel as was ever perpetrated."

TEMPLARS WILL CHARTER SHIP

Steamer Carolina to Take Members to Detroit Conclave

The steamer Carolina of the Goodrich Line has been chartered to take upper peninsula Knights Templar to the national convolve of the order in Detroit next July. It was announced yesterday by C. R. Henderson and August Bloomstrom, members of the local committee in charge of local arrangements.

The steamer will leave this harbor, carrying members and representatives of the Houghton, Marquette, Menominee, Ironwood, Crystal Falls, Calumet and other points in the upper peninsula.

According to plans formulated, the fare will be about $11 per day per capita, including berth and meals aboard the boat. As hotel rooms will be at a premium in Detroit and parking space will be unavailable, those who had contemplated making the trip by automobile would probably have to park their cars many miles from the downtown district, thus having no access to their cars. The convolve will bring 250,000 visitors to Detroit.

All commanders in the upper peninsula have been informed of the plans and it is expected that all will respond in the very near future, giving a list of persons who will attend and making their reservations at an early date.

August Bloomstrom and C. R. Henderson are in charge of traffic arrangements with the convolve and all interested are urged to report to the officials of their commandry as soon as possible.

Womanless Wedding Rehearsals Begin Here Monday Night

Rehearsals of "A Womanless Wedding," to be given under auspices of the ladies of the First Presbyterian church, on February 23, will begin in the church social rooms Monday night. It is expected that the 75 men who will take part will be on hand at that time to meet their director and begin work for the production. The cast will be composed entirely of men. The play has been given successfully in scores of cities and because of the novelty of men taking women's parts, and the other clever ideas employed, the ladies believe it will be an outstanding success in Escanaba.

Abner Bangs Learns Bridge; Tells How He Always Wins

Misery Bay, Feb. 19. (To the Editor)—For years I have existed in the fearful terror of the game of Bridge. I thought it would be impossible for me—in despite of my unboundless capacity for grasping things—to ever learn to be the master of the mazeous intricacies of that pastime. But I have had a glad and joyful waking up. I am now a bridge player of par excellence with few peers and no equals.

It all came about with so much quick suddenness that I can hardly comprehend it. Nate Hepson and his wife came over the other night to our place and announced that it was their intention to play Bridge. You do not like to be rude to guests so I did not throw them out. Nate also being considered by me as a big trump, I told you, in a previous epistle before that I thought hockey was a rough game. It is. But I doubtfully question whether a hockey player would ever be able to take even as much as one-half (1/2) the punishment that a bridge player has got to take learning it. It is a potent commentary upon my broad and absorptive mentality that within an hour I not only was master of the rudiments of the game but was in a position to offer advice on some of the finer points.

The trouble with Bridge players, as a rule, they do not like to indulge in too much strategy, being fearful lest they make the game complicatedly complex. That is a mistake. For the benefit of those people who are still uninitiated to its ghostly mysteries, I will put down a few pointed rules I have devised by myself which will help them become familiarized with it.

Please preserve these rules to be printed in my new book to be called "Auction Bridge in One Setting."

BANGS' BRIDGE RULES.
1—Your hand contains three undivisible honors in hearts along with the right bower and the left pedro. Your partner bids an initial speculation of one no-trump. That is your cue to bid two or three spades if you can meld a pair of openers or better, because it will make South think you are weak in diamonds.

2—When you have got A-K-Q-J-10-7-6-3 of diamonds, it is a pretty good scheme to open it with one club. This will mislead your opponents into thinking you are strong in spades and so they will retreat to hearts, giving your partner an inkling that you do not want it no-trump.

3—If you have got a simpleton nine of diamonds and your partner bids two no-trump, take him out with a bid of four diamonds to let him know that you can not support him in that suit. Then, besides, if diamonds are trumps maybe you could cut with your nine spot and take a trick with it, whereas if something else was trumps the diamond would not even take a trick.

4—Do not be fearful of misleading your partner. Remember that there is only one (1) of him, but you have got two (2) opponents. If you can fool them, also, you have still got a big advantage because there are twice as many opponents fooled as there are partner.

5—When the bidding has been round and round several times and one of the foemen tells you "Double five spades," do not be unduly alarmed with fright. Always figure that your opponents could not of made their bid either and you are only trying to be congenial by taking a bad contract off their hands.

6—It is bad policy to always lead the suit that your partner has invited. Remember that it is just what your opponents will be expecting you to do. Cross them up once in awhile by opening the suit which they bid in. They will be greatly perplexed at that kind of strategy and you can take advantage of their addled bewilderment.

It is not my desirous purpose to give your readers too much Bridge at one time. It might be confusing to them. So I will lay aside my pen, and promise more along this line at some later date in the future.

Sincerely & Truly,
ABNER BANGS, esq.

At the Coliseum—There will be no dances at the Coliseum until after the Lenten season, but regular skating parties will be held. Richard C. Flannigan was one of the outstanding figures in Michigan. "I think it's easily understandable, don't you know," remarked Vance, with a sympathy I had rarely seen him manifest. "Your attitude needs no apology. History and fable are filled with the same situation, and the protagonists have always exhibited sentiments similar to yours. Your most famous prototype, of course, was Odysseus on the citron-scented isle of Ogygia with the fascinating Calypso. The soft arms of sirens have gone snaking round men's necks ever since the red-haired Lillith worked her devastating wiles on the impressionable Adam. We're all sons of that racy old boy."

Energy Used In Seeing
A person's body produces a certain amount of energy which is necessary to perform the daily duties. Some of this is used in seeing. If the eyes are abnormal too much energy is required for seeing, and less is furnished other parts of the body. This results in headaches and other troubles. You ought to have us determine the condition of your eyes.

A BEAUTIFUL ROAD.
The Federation of Women's clubs of Arkansas is asking motorists to scatter the seeds of annual flowers along the highway as spring comes on. It is a delightful idea and may have far-reaching results. Imagine a day when the tourist, who stops along the way for lunch leaves not tin cans and fruit skins and waste paper, but flower seeds which may one day add to the beauty and charm of the lurching place.

A NEW FABRIC for sport wear is said to be woven from the fronds of ostrich plumes. The price, it is hinted, will cause shoppers to wonder whether the fronds of humming bird feathers would not have been less expensive.

MEETING THE NEW DAY.
Every fourth year, the month of February gives us a whole extra day. This is the lucky month. Before March we shall have had an entire 24 hours dropped in our laps, free. The year has expanded and is making us a present. What are we going to do with it?

THE GREAT BIG MAN.
We talk about the great big things:
The great big pile of gold.
The great big men, financial kings.
The great big jobs they hold.
Well, son, I've seen some great big men.
But, when I came to call,
The big men weren't talking then
The great big things at all.

Two Boston Boys Are Real 'Comers'

You can lay some dough on the line that Boston, while it may not have a champion very soon, practically is certain of seeing one of its boys in a title bout soon.

The Hub fans have had some great fighters among their local boys in the past, including John L. Sullivan, once world's heavyweight champion; Johnny Wilson, former middleweight champion; and Sam Langford, one of the best heavies the game has ever known, and some good ones call Boston home now.

Honey-boy Finnegan and Jack Sharkey are two Bostonese in line for championship fights.

Finnegan is angling for a crack at Sammy Mandell. If he gets it—well, he may beat Mandell.

Sharkey has a tougher road ahead of him. He fights Johnny Risko on March 12, and if he wins he then must fight the winner of the Delaney-Heeneey fight of March 1 before he can get Champion Tunney before him. But he is confident—and he may get there if he is lucky.

SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA A TOWER OF STRENGTH 1927 $ Insurance in Force (net) 1,487,990,000 An Increase of $231,500,000 New Insurance Paid For 328,408,000 An Increase of $62,518,000 Total Income 102,774,000 An Increase of $23,801,000 Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries 42,224,000 Total Payments Since Organization 300,040,000 Assets at December 31, 1927 401,305,000 An Increase of $56,054,000 Total Liabilities 343,525,000 (including Paid-up Capital) Surplus and Contingency Funds 57,780,000 An Increase of $12,769,000 Rate of Interest Earned on mean invested assets (net) 6.47% To secure the absolute protection of its policyholders in the United States the company actually maintains on deposit with United States Trustees approved securities in excess of its net liability to American policyholders. Policies written and payable in United States currency. Dividends to Policyholders increased for eighth successive year. TOTAL INVESTMENTS IN UNITED STATES SECURITIES EXCEED $168,000,000 EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT Substantial advances have been made in all departments during the year. The total net income for the year exceeded one hundred million dollars. The strength and resources of the Company have been further enhanced. The high earning power of the Company's investments has been again demonstrated. The net rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets, after fully providing for investment expenses, was 6.47 per cent. This gratifying result has been made possible by dividend increases, bonuses and stock privileges accruing on many of the Company's holdings. The wisdom of the investment policy which has been consistently followed in past years, in favouring long term bonds and the stocks of outstanding and very carefully selected corporations, has been once more emphasized. The appraisal of our securities shows that the excess of market values over cost increased during the year by $19,235,889.99. In addition, a net profit of $5,028,033.20 accrued from the redemption or sale of securities which had risen to high premiums. The quality of the investments listed in the assets is testified by the fact that on both bonds and preferred stocks not one dollar, due either as interest or dividend, is in arrear for even one day, while the dividends accruing to common stocks are greatly in excess of the dividends payable on the same stocks at the time of purchase. The surplus earned during the year amounted to $38,511,029.67, from which the following appropriations have been made: $5,000,000 has been deducted from the market value of our securities as a further provision against possible future fluctuations, increasing the amount so set aside to $10,000,000. $1,500,000 has been added to the account to provide for unforeseen contingencies, which now stands at $12,500,000. $1,000,000 has been written off the Company's Head Office building and other properties. $500,000 has been set aside to provide for the greater longevity of annuitants, bringing the total provision under this heading to $2,000,000. $50,000 has been set aside to provide for claims in respect of total disability as yet unreported. $11,090,056.61 has been paid or allotted as profits to policyholders during the year. In addition, $6,205,573.00 has been contingently allotted to deferred dividend policies issued prior to 1911, and to five year distribution policies, to provide for profits accrued but not yet payable. After making these deductions and allocations, $11,269,330.89 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over all liabilities, contingency account and capital stock to $45,280,896.14. Your Directors are gratified to announce, for the eighth successive year, a substantial increase in the scale of profits to be distributed to participating policyholders during the ensuing year.

THE TINYMITES

Story by Hal Cochran—Pictures by Knick

When Clowny stopped his bouncing trick, he said, "That almost made me sick. "Twas lots of fun, but now I am as dizzy as can be." He quickly sat down on the ground, which seemed to jump and move around. There was a haze and funniness to all at that he could see. "So, down the streets of Rubber Land paraded quite a happy band. All of a sudden, someone wobbled, too, and they had had enough. "I guess we'd better rest a while," said Scouty, with a sickly smile. "I'm all tired out from having fun. It's made me pant and puff." He put his head in Clowny's lap and when they took quite a nap. When they woke up the dizziness was gone, and they could stand. Said Copy, "Well, I'm full of cheer. And now, where shall we go from here?" "Why, no place," answered Carpy. "Let's stay here in Rubber Land.""

ST. JOSEPH'S RECEIVES CUP

Trophy Won by Year Book on Display Here

The Arts-Craft guild of Chicago has forwarded to St. Joseph's high school, the loving cup which the local school's annual publication, "The Purple and Gold," for 1927, won in competition with some of the leading preparatory schools of the country. The cup is a beauty. It will be on display for a time in the show windows of the Office Service company, in whose shop the prize-winning volume was printed.

The rating of the book placed special stress on the mechanical work, the choice of paper, selection of type, engraving, quality and arrangement of material and other features.

St. Joseph's must win the trophy two out of three years in order to retain it permanently. The local school has placed first, second or third in competition the last three years.

The cup was won in 1924 by the "Caryatid" of Cary, Ohio, high school; in 1925 by the "Al-presco" of the Allentown, Pa., preparatory school; in 1926 by the "Red and Black" of Carnegie, Okla., high school; and in 1927 by "Purple and Gold" of St. Joseph's.

HE MAY BE GREATER THAN "LINDY"

Antarctic Explorer Tells Why Byrd's Proposed Flight Across South Pole Would Be Most Daring of All Aviation Feats

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

London.—If Commander Richard E. Byrd of the United States navy succeeds in flying over the south pole, he will be acclaimed as the greatest aviator-explorer in history.

Yes, he will be greater than America's Lindbergh. The man who made that statement is one of the few living explorers who fully realize the perils of the south polar regions. He is Herbert G. Ponting, a member of Captain Robert Scott's British expedition when it reached the "bottom of the world" in 1912. His book, "The Great White South," is one of the classics on the subject. His film record of the expedition has been shown all over Europe and soon will be brought to America.

Most Difficult of All Feats.
"The difficulties encountered in a hop across the south pole would, by comparison, make every other flying achievement seem simple," Ponting said.

"Commander Byrd already has two wonderful accomplishments to his credit.

"Like Lindbergh and Chamberlain, he has flown the Atlantic ocean in one hop. Unlike anyone else, he has flown an airplane over the north pole.

"In crossing the Atlantic, one takes off under known weather conditions and encounters only reasonably high temperatures. If forced down, there is a chance of being picked up by a steamship, as was Miss Ruth Elder.

"Even in a flight across the north pole, danger is lessened by the presence of animal life that will provide both food and fuel in case of accident. The country is comparatively flat, and temperatures are higher than in the antarctic regions.

Mountains in South.
"While the north polar region is mainly open sea frozen into an icy waste, the antarctic is a vast continent whose average height is the greatest on earth. There are mountains towering 15,000 feet into the sky. Mount Erebus, 13,350 feet high, is an active volcano. Ross Island, from which Scott and Amundsen made their successful dashes to the pole, is 1,500 miles from the nearest land—New Zealand. And Ross Island is 900 miles from the pole."

Here the actual flight will start. Luck, flying skill and the elements permitting, it will end at a base at Weddell Sea, on the other side of the pole. Graham Land and Weddell Sea, from which unsuccessful attempts at the south pole have been made, is only 700 miles from the tip of South America, but it is 1750 miles from the pole.

"Every condition in the antarctic is most forbidding," continued Ponting. "At the approach to Ross Island is a great ice barrier which averages 70 feet in height and extends for more than 400 miles. Beyond that, to the Beardmore Glacier, is 400 miles of ice-covered plateau which ascends to 900 feet above sea level. This vast plateau alone is as large as all of France.

"From the glacier to the pole

Courtesy of H. G. Ponting.

Here are five members of the Scott expedition when they reached the south pole January 18, 1912, only to make the heart-breaking discovery that the Norwegian party under Captain Roald Amundsen had beaten them by 34 days. They found his tent and a Norwegian flag. Left to right, standing, are Petty Officer Evans, Captain R. F. Scott, Captain Oates; sitting, Lieutenant Powers and Dr. Wilson. The film from which this picture was made was not found until 1914. Evans, Oates and Scott perished on the 900-mile trek back to their base. A relief party found their bodies, and the film.

is another 500 miles. It is a land where human beings never have lived. And once the open sea is left behind, there is not a vestige of any sort of animal life.

"Probably it is the windiest place on earth. I have been in blizzards there when the wind raged at 70 miles an hour, with the mercury 30 degrees below zero. During Mawson's explorations, his instruments registered 150 miles an hour during one blizzard—and then themselves were blown away.

"There is ancient ice on the continent varying from 100 to 1000 feet in thickness. The glaciers that reach the sea produce icebergs big enough to bear New York City on their backs. I have seen bergs 23 miles long.

"Instruments show that the mean temperature of the antarctic is 11 degrees colder than the north pole regions, and 24 degrees colder in winter."

So that is what Commander Byrd will face when he makes the attempt late in 1928. To clear the mountains he will have to fly at an altitude of more than 16,000 feet. He may run into gales in which no man nor flying machine could possibly live. If he is forced to land, it probably will be on jagged ice that will wreck his plane. Even if he made a safe landing, he would be in a vast waste with very limited supplies on his own machine and with no possibility of killing anything for food or fuel.

Byrd will be first. "If Byrd succeeds," said Pont-ing, "he not only will have been the first to fly across that barren continent, but the first to cross it in any way. It would be a flight of vast scientific importance. He can chart his route and note the comparative heights of land. He may discover mountain ranges higher than any of those we already know."

"It is the hardest goal an aviator ever set for himself. If Byrd accomplished the seemingly impossible feat, he will be a hero of heroes.

"Yes, even a greater hero than your Colonel Lindbergh."

Countess Sees Famous Ghosts

London (AP)—The Countess of Tankerville is authority for this ghost story. She told it at a dinner at the Lyceum Club.

Her family seat, Chillingham Castle, Belford, Northumberland, is credited with having a ghost. Lady Tankerville had never seen the ghost, although skeletons had been found under her bedroom, until one day shortly after the war. She was looking out of her window and suddenly through the foliage saw a castle and parapet, apparently just as solid as the room in which she was sitting. A lady clad as a Dominican abbess walked on the parapet, followed by a richly-clad handsome man who had his hand on his sword hilt. He in turn was followed by two men in the costumes of the period of Henry the Eighth. These two men seemed to be talking in a treacherous manner about the other man. The lady knelt, and Lady Tankerville, thinking she was about to see a tragedy, called out, "May I help you my friends?"

There was no reply, but when the man with his hand on the hilt of his sword turned, Lady Tankerville saw he had the face of her husband, but wore the clothing of 400 years ago. Then the whole scene faded. Upon examination old books in the library of the castle, Lady Tankerville found material which assured her that what she had seen bore direct relation to events which had happened at the castle centuries before.

What's One Foot More or Less?

Ellery Walter

New York.—One good foot has carried Ellery Walter farther than most 22-year-olds get on two. Ellery has just limped 40,000 miles 'round the world in New York. His companions are indomitable courage and a pair of crutches.

In 1924 he was a freshman at the University of Washington, president of his class, star pupil and member of the Varsity crew—by day. At night he served as hotel clerk, stoked furnaces, and did other janitor work to pay his way.

Then a blister on the heel cost him a foot. But he came out of the hospital with his buoyant courage intact.

With his two new crutches he started on a world tour. He wrote newspaper articles, tutored children, and did other odd jobs to get money.

In Italy, Mussolini gave him an interview. He met David Lloyd George and other celebrities in England.

"You really don't need a two feet," said Walter. "What you really need in life is a desire to do something or other, and belief in yourself."

Berlin.—A prize of $5,000 for the best contrivance for neutralizing the pernicious effects of dust in mines has been offered by the Prussian Ministry of Commerce and Trade. The prize will be donated either in full or split up into parts in the event of several acceptable devices being submitted.

He's "Justa Like MUSSOLINI"

What wouldn't Lindbergh give for such a double as this! You see Savero della Stella, New York barber, in the upper photo, and Benito Mussolini, the boss of Italy, below. Or maybe it's just the other way around.

New York.—Savero della Stella, the Amsterdam Avenue barber, is 44 years of age. So is Benito Mussolini, the premier of Italy.

Sicilia has four children. So has Mussolini.

Savero boasts a powerful physique, and talks with facility. So does Benito.

As for facial resemblance—well, to say that they look like twins puts it but mildly.

Wore Mussolini to call Sicilia back to Italy to double for him in the more boring of his interviews and other engagements, nobody ever would suspect anything so far as appearance went.

"Sure, I am verra proud," said Savero, brandishing his razor for emphasis. "I never find it out till the people I shave all look at me and say 'Huh! Just like Mussolini!' I think they joking, until I get a lotta pictures of him and I look in the mirror. And by golly, I think I look his image!"

"But I no can see the whole side of my face, what you say the profile? So I buy a special collar what he wears, and go to have a nice picture made. I pose like the picture of Mussolini. Look, I show you! You see, I looka more like Mussolini than Mussolini!"

Aged Dancers Find Support in Glasgow

Glasgow, Scotland (AP)—Protests against old men dancing with young women in the public dancing halls has brought out the dancing teachers in favor of men as well as women participating in these social affairs just so long as they are able to get around.

It was contended in the younger circles that the old men—"bald heads" they are called—should confine themselves to bridge and "patience," leaving the fox trots and other quick steps to the girls and boys.

J. R. McEwen, teacher of dancing, has come out strongly in defense of elderly men and women dancing and in this he is backed up not only by the dancing teachers but by the managers of the dance halls.

McEwen contends that many of the elder men and women have grace and agility which few young people can surpass.

"One of my most successful pupils this season is a man 72 years of age who can beat all the young men in the performance of the latest dances," he said, explaining his stand. Fat and stout people, he added, are very light footed and usually exceptionally good dancers.

Human Projectiles Injured in Acts

London (AP)—Two sensational acts—the firing of a person from a great cannon—in rival London circuses have ended in injury to the two human projectiles.

The stunt, which has been widely head-lined in circus publicity, is executed by the discharge of a tremendous cannon as big as a siege gun which roars mightily as the performer is hurled from its mouth and across the arena into a net—a "range" of about 80 feet. The man-bullet at the Olympia circus, after many successful performances, landed in the net with a cry of anguish. A bone in one leg was broken.

A few days later, the girl in a similar act at the Crystal Palace ended her high flight with an awkward landing and strained a leg ligament. Substitutes were placed for both injured performers.

Five Nations to Pour Millions For Great New Ships Into THE "WAR OF THE NORTH ATLANTIC"

By NEA Service

New York.—The "war of the North Atlantic" brews in the passenger-carrying end of the shipping business.

Innumerable millions of dollars promise to be poured into it by five great maritime nations—the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Italy, France—before a decision is reached.

The war is on because of the demand for trans-Atlantic passengers for two things—speed and luxury. Developments in it, present or prospective, include:

BUILDING OF a new American fleet of six liners of a brand new type costing $125,000,000. These ships to be capable of crossing the Atlantic in four days.

HASTENING OF construction of great new ships for British, German and Italian companies.

PREPARATIONS FOR the use of airplanes by many first class liners, as a means of shortening the time that passengers must spend on the water.

A trans-Atlantic passenger traffic that from November, 1926, to November, 1927, amounted to almost a million fares—all classes included—is the prize for which the rival steamship companies are competing. A secondary consideration is the transportation of mail and fast freight.

$175,000,000 Passenger Revenue. Trans-Atlantic travel in the year ending November 1, 1927, totaled $62,353 eastbound and $81,774 westbound passages according to reports to the Atlantic Conference of steamship companies. These figures are for all ships in the North Atlantic service exclusive of those in the Mediterranean, Canadian, Mexican, Cuban and West Indian trade. The fares paid totaled probably $175,000,000.

This volume of travel came near that of 1913; the banner year heretofore. In 1913, fares across the Atlantic were far less than they are now. Then came the World War and the service "crimp" it put in passenger traffic, followed by immigration restrictions.

It is the Transoceanic Corporation, allied with the American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation, that proposes the $125,000,000 American thrust at the big companies of other lands. This corporation is trying to obtain a loan of $90,000,000 from the U. S. government.

If it succeeds, it is announced six liners will be built, fashioned after the new naval airplane carriers Lexington and Saratoga. They would be electrically-driven, with sustained speed of 31 to 34 knots an hour.

Four-day service between the United States and England or France would be possible at this speed. Reception and delivery of passengers by airplane, with the planes landing on the ships' decks, would cut the time of passage to three days.

The Cunard company expects to add to its already imposing fleet a ship both larger and faster than the Majestic and Mauretania. The latter and the American liner Leviathan now are the queens of the North Atlantic, with the Mauretania holding the edge on speed.

Another great new vessel has been reported under construction for the White Star line, also British-owned.

Germany, Italy and France Germany is building the "Bremen" and the "Europa," both of which will rival the best ships now afloat. Italy is said to contemplate liners embodying entirely new principles in steamship construction, and capable of racing across the ocean at 35 to 40 knots per hour.

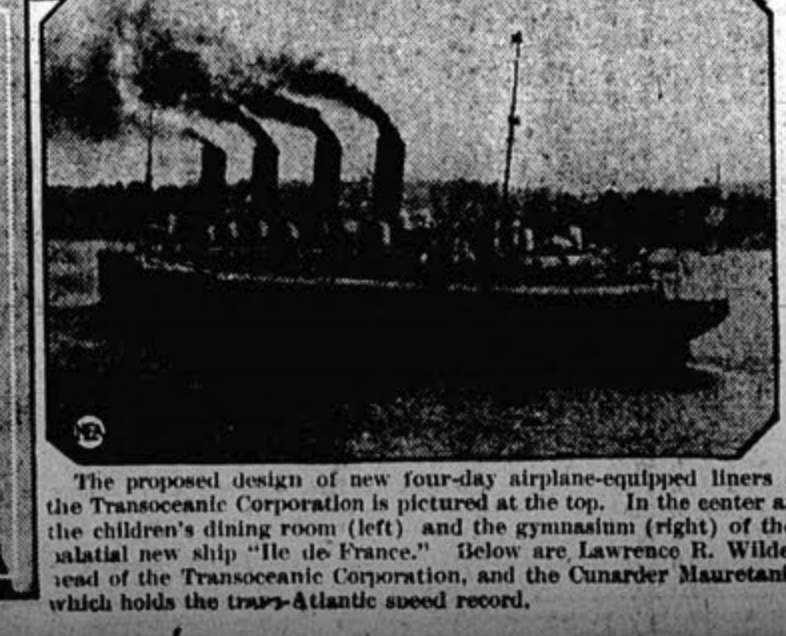

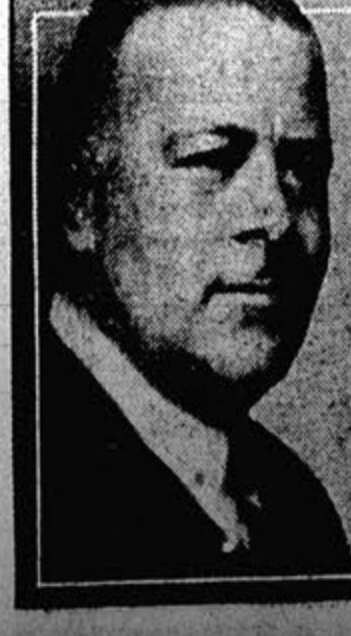

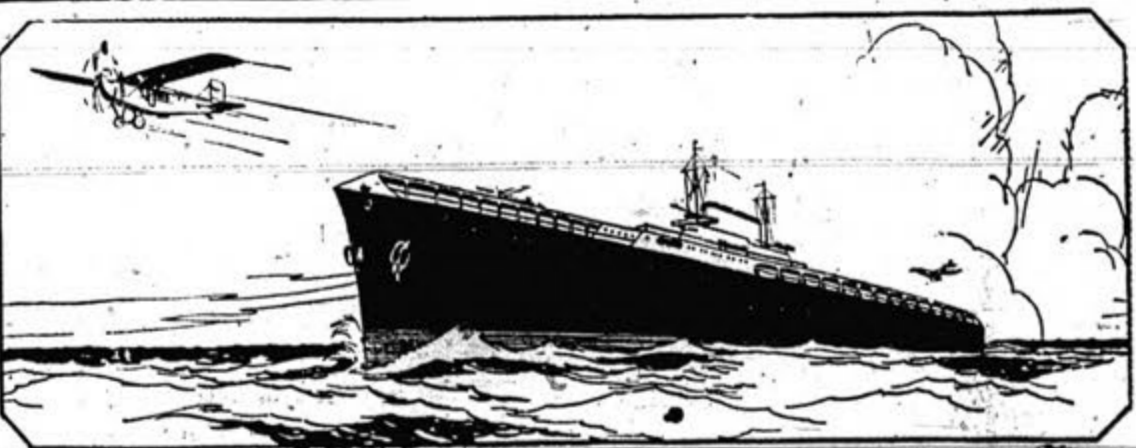

France at present is resting on the prestige of the new flagship "Ile de France," of the French line. The "Ile de France," of 43,500 gross tonnage, made its first voyage last summer. It is the most luxurious liner ever built. But how long it will retain this distinction remains to be seen. That the limit has been reached is doubtful.

"When other nations build better and faster ships we will still have time to go them one better," said A. P. de Malglaive, the resident director of the French line in New York. "At present we are ahead of our competitors."

Baths for each stateroom, special restaurants and dining rooms, palatial lounges and smoking rooms, ballrooms and libraries, gymnasiums, hospital wards, swimming pools, chapels for religious services, period furniture, space for uncrated automobiles—these are but a few of the items which the new mode in steamship luxury demands.

Where $100 used to buy satisfactory first class accommodations on trans-Atlantic ships, the minimum now is about $200, with the maximum around $2500 and the average probably $450. Clarence Chamberlain demonstrated last year the feasibility of airplane arrivals and departures from the deck of the Leviathan. This new wrinkle in speed probably will feature many big passenger ships within the next few years.

WHERE IS SUPREMACY TO LIE?

Quest Vain for Chat with Kaiser

Berlin (AP)—After having tried on his relentless editorial warfare against William II for many years, the late Maximilian Harden towards the end of the world war thought the time had come for a heart to heart talk with the Kaiser with the object of finding a way to avoid the ultimate disaster to the German fatherland.

On October 16, 1918, Harden telegraphed the Kaiser at the latter's headquarters: "My conscience urges me to request an interview at the earliest possible moment. As every hour now is fateful, I neither fear a refusal nor the imputation of being considered presumptuous and shall hold to account that official who suppresses this request."

Harden received the curt official reply that though the Kaiser had taken cognizance of his dispatch, his majesty was not in a position to grant the desired interview, but that the chief of the imperial cabinet had been instructed to receive any information Herr Harden might have to convey for transmission to his majesty.

As a "palaver" with the chief of cabinet, did not in the least conform with Harden's intentions, the projected trip of the severest political critic of the Kaiser's reign to the imperial headquarters did not come off.

New Comedy, "Gertie," Will Open Winner Delft Visit

TODAY'S PROGRAMS. At the Delft: The Frank Winninger Comedy Company in matinee and night performances of a new comedy, "Gertie."

At the Strand: Ranger, the movie police dog, in a new thriller, "The Swift Shadow."

Frank Winninger, favorite comedian of Escanaba stock fans, will settle down at the Delft theatre today for an eight-day stay. His opening offering will be a brand new comedy, "Gertie," which will be presented at matinee and night performances today. The piece is particularly adapted to display Mr. Winninger's droll type of fun, and to give other members of his company an opportunity to strut their talents, also.

Other plays to be presented by the company during the engagement will include: Loose Ankles, Potash and Perlmutter, The New Stenographer, High Stakes, The Home Towners, A Dutch Blockhead and other late royalty releases.

Associated with Mr. Winninger this season are his brother

Adolph who also is well known here, Verona Sampson, Jessilyn Delzell, Frederick Rudin, Frank Williams, Lizzie Forrester, Tom Sargent, Vivian Laine, Paul Cantrel and Mae Parks.

Special vaudeville, between the acts will, as usual with the Winninger attractions, be a special feature.

Sale of seats which opened yesterday indicated that Frank will be greeted here by the large crowds which usually visit the Delft when he is holding forth.

AT THE STRAND.

"Fashion Madness," the Columbia Pictures production which will be shown at the Strand Monday and Tuesday has Claire Windsor in the stellar role, supported by Reed Howe, Laika Winter, Donald McNamee and William E. Tooker. The locale is the luxurious mansion of a spoiled child of wealth, a private yacht and the Canadian North woods. There are several thrilling sequences, chief of which is a spectacular fall over a precipice with a sheer drop of 1500 feet. This is cleverly handled by Miss Winter. The production was made under the direction of Louis J. Gasnier from a story by Victoria Moore. "Fashion Madness" is sure to appeal to all who enjoy a drama of intense emotion and soul-stirring action. It can be recommended as giving real entertainment value.

French Statistics Poverty Stricken

Paris (AP)—France is discontinuing the compilation of many industrial statistics because it costs too much.

There is such a shortage of men and money that even the 1921 census has not been completed, say those pleading for more funds.

There are two adding machines in the office, it is said, and one of them, of the vintage of 1900, has laid down and died. Parliament appropriated $10,000 for new equipment but that is regarded as little better than nothing for the twenty-four old-fashioned statistical machines all need to be replaced.

Aside from these difficulties the statisticians complain that businessmen won't give them information fearing the government will use it to run up their income tax. And as indicating the department's reputation for poverty it is asserted that examinations for new clerks, ordered held in 1924, were postponed twice because there were no candidates and that in three years only one man appeared and he resigned shortly afterwards.

Shell Fish Trap Rats of Donegal

Donegal, Ireland—If the Piped Piper of Hamelin could only come to Donegal! He'd make a good war correspondent in the battle raging here between the limpets and the rats.

Thus far the limpets have had by far the better of it, thousands of rats having fallen in the unequal struggle, to the great joy of all Donegalites.

A limpet, for the benefit of those who have not taken a degree in zoology, is a small edible shell-fish which sticks close to a rock.

The armies of rats which infest the islands on the northwest coast off Donegal have been adventuring to the waterside in quest of food.

When the tide recedes, the rats insert their noses between the partly raised shell of the limpet hoping to make a meal off the edible fish. But the limpet is a wise bird—or fish. Exceedingly sensitive to the slightest touch, he—she or it—instantly closes on its prey with a vicelike grip.

The rat is held tight. He stays put until the relentless encroachment of rising waters claims him.

British consumption of tea has risen in the last twelve years by 94,000,000 pounds a year. In the same period the consumption of tobacco has risen from 98,000,000 to 134,000,000 pounds.

Now read the Classified page.

Established 1901. 708-707 Lud. St.

Gladstone Branch, 806 Delta Avenue, Phone 141.

HENRY FAIRFIELD OSBORN, president of the American Museum of Natural History of New York, has been chosen president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, convening at Nashville.

A ROMANCE that began when a young soldier, stricken by gas on a French battlefield, was soothed by an army nurse, resulted in a marriage the other day in Indianapolis. Clifton J. Knoble, interior decorator of Cincinnati, was the soldier, and the Countess Helen de Bournat, first cousin to the king of Spain, was the nurse. Here they are.

MRS. WALLACE FORD of Chicago believes that the flappers of 2000 A. D. will stroll about like this. Well, it will take almost that long for them to grow so much hair. The gown is a tooth paste tube design.

TEACHING UNDERCLASS CO-EDS how to mind their P's and Q's is the task of Mary Curry, chairman of the decorum committee of the Women's Student Government Association at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. A model meal will be served on the stage before a meeting of the association to show the co-eds the proper way of using such things as knives, forks, napkins and the like.

ON THE TESTIMONY OF THE Rev. Thomas F. Pardue, Mrs. Alma P. Gatlin of Reidsville, N. C., has been indicted for the murder of her father, Smith Petty, in December, 1926. The minister says she confessed the murder to him. She will go to trial this month and says she wants no compromise verdict, but liberty or death.

A FAIR FOIL artist is Ruth Sutherland, of Philadelphia, captain of the Drexel Institute's co-ed fencing team in her home town. Here she is just after practice.

PROMOTION to major general accompanied the appointment of Colonel George S. Gibbs as chief signal officer of the army. Here he is at his desk.

ADD HANDSOME young Frederick Lathrop Ames (above), scion of an aristocratic Boston household, to the victims of Cupid's unfailing aim. Shortly after his arrival in Nogales, Ariz., on an airplane trip 'round the country, it was announced that he will marry pretty Miss Maurice Metzger, entertainer at a Nogales, Mex., club, who is photoed in her racing car.

HONESTLY the new wooden kimonos are too dear for words, or something like that. Here's one, anyway, worn by Miss Doris Mosher of Los Angeles. It is tapa cloth, which is made by soaking the bark of trees in water, then laying it on a rock and beating it with stones until it becomes a fiber. The product is Hawaiian.

THEY'RE MIGHTY proud of these two daughters, are the emperor and empress of Japan, though they hoped one would be a boy. At the top is Princess Sachiko Hisa-no-miyo, aged four months; below, Princess Shigeo Tero-no-miya, aged three years—their latest pictures.

BUDDY, 12-month-old boy from an orphanage at Little Rock, Ark., is having the time of his life entertaining the co-eds at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. Buddy has come to the university to help make the courses in child-rearing practical, and he has many "practice mothers" who see to his feeding, sleeping and baths.

THE WEDDING PLANS of E. W. Marland, millionaire oil man of Ponca City, Okla., and his adopted daughter, Lydie Roberts Marland, have been upset by her illness. Here are they and the home of Lydie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Roberts, at Flourtown, Pa. It is in a Flourtown church that the deferred ceremony is to be performed.

JUDGE BEN LINDSEY, of Denver (left) and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise were in agreeable disagreement when they met at New York before their debate on companionate marriage. Rabbi Wise was to attack that new sociological doctrine and the judge was to defend it.

DOUGLAS S. CATCHIM, private, U. S. M. C., formerly with the Burns International Detective Agency, was one of the witnesses before the grand jury investigating alleged tampering with the Fall-Sinclair trial jury at Washington. He was photoed thus as he left the grand jury room.

AN ELBOW ON the table would bring disaster to this little party in the Huntington pool at Pasadena, Calif., but most of these people are society folk from the east and it is said they don't put their elbows on the table. In the center above is Stanton P. Welsh, Canandaigua, N. Y. Reading around the table to his right are Mrs. Welsh; Miss Irene Victor, Chicago; Miss Dorothy Workman, Long Island; Stephen Wheeler Royce, Pasadena; Miss Virginia Benton, London, England; Misses Elizabeth and Eleanor Rathbone, Greenwich, Conn.

THIS PICTURE SHOWS what happens when the air road gets a little too bumpy for your sky bugles. The plane, piloted by Clarence Chamberlin, shown to the right with the helmet, crashed at the take-off at Richmond, Va., the other day. Roger Williams, co-pilot, is crouched under the wing inspecting wreckage.

EVELYN DE LA TOUR'S skilled feet have carried her from a five-year-dancing triumph in Paris back to New York and now toward the altar. Shortly after the opening of the new Broadway revue in which she is starring she announced her engagement to Granville English, composer of the show's music.

MARKET NEWS
STOCK PRICES GO DOWNWARD

STOCK SALES AVERAGES. Date Industrials Railroads Saturday - 179.11 138.38 Friday - 180.08 138.78

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A new record for Saturday trading was established in the declining movement of prices in today's stock market.

There was nothing in the day's news to influence the selling movement which was generally accepted as a further correction of the top heavy speculative position in recent months.

As in the sharp break of yesterday, selling pressure was directed chiefly against poor specialties. Offerings of bear traders were swelled by the liquidation of impaired marginal accounts and the profit-taking of investors who had built up large paper profits.

The weekly clearing house statement showed a deficit in reserve for the third consecutive week, but it was considerably smaller than the preceding two amounting to only $5,534,696 as against $18,100,510 a week ago.

Problems of Youth to Be Theme of Annual Convention

Boston (AP)—Educators concerned with the intellectual guidance of America's adolescent youth will be attracted to this city, long associated with the nation's culture, from February 25 to March 1.

The "man behind the scenes" at the conventions, which attract nearly 10,000 outstanding educators, is Dr. Sherwood D. Shankland, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the department.

Other leaders in educational and public life who will appear on the Boston program are Alvan T. Fuller, governor of Massachusetts, who will discuss the relation between high school education and business success; A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard university; James Rowland Angell, president of Yale; W. H. P. Faunce, president of Brown university, and A. E. Winslow, editor of the Journal of Education and commonly known among educators as "the dean of American education."

Books of France
Slander Her Women

Paris (AP)—France, it is admitted regretfully, is reaping the whirlwind her novelists have sowed with their immoralities.

In South Swaziland the mother nurses her baby from 18 to 24 months, and begins to feed it sour meal-meal porridge from as early an age as two or three weeks.

On the other hand the African children have a great deal of sunshine which aids the formation of vitamins in their bodies. They wear little clothing and the skin is constantly exposed freely to the sun's rays.

Dr. Till noted that in every case where a child had no decaying teeth, it was also free from signs of infected tonsils, adenoids or rickets. Neither was there any record that it had ever suffered rheumatic symptoms.

French papers report, all but hold up the French woman, recently, as the model for her sex. This pleasure Clement Vaute, a well-known writer, and others, but it calls from them confessions that French books, dramas, and magazines, dealing almost invariably with the picture of the women of France which justifies critics in thinking of them too lightly.

Domestic fires are responsible for 80 per cent of London's conflagrations.

PLAN PRIVATE ART MUSEUM

Chicagoan Has Art Treasures and Relics Worth Millions

Chicago (AP)—Five million dollars' worth of art treasures and medieval relics crowd the rooms of an old red brick home in one of Chicago's best residential sections.

The walls are hung thickly with painted masterpieces; shields of knights gleam from other vantage points, and everywhere stand stiffly the metal habiliments men wore when they fared to battle in the middle ages.

The collection is owned by George F. Harding, jr., treasurer of Cook county, and it represents the efforts of himself and his late father before him.

Harding has willed the collection, whose value has been set by expert appraisers, to the Chicago Art Institute, providing the institution, at his death, accepts it in its entirety.

Science and art are said to be flourishing in Russia. There are now 30 institutes of industry, chemistry and technology in Russia, all supported by the Soviet government.

THE WISDOM OF THE AGES

Happiness is neither an incident nor an accident. Happiness is a deliberate choice.

Mankind has always sought for happiness and found it in following two well defined rules,

1st. The thrift that brings a competence. 2nd. The things that make for character.

There is happiness in following these rules.

They may not keep things from going wrong, but they will always make things come out right.
