

STATE WITNESS IN TRIAL GONE

Investigation Into 1925 N. Y. Census Opens Today

Albany, N. Y., Apr. 4.—(AP)—On the eve of a grand jury investigation into the conduct of the 1925 state census by Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, former secretary of state, it became known tonight that Miss Elizabeth F. Egan, of Syracuse, who was to have been one of the most important state witnesses at the opening session tomorrow, had disappeared from her home. She could not be located by subpoena servers of the attorney general's prosecuting staff.

Miss Egan, who was closely associated on the Onondaga county Republican committee with Mrs. Knapp, its vice-chairman, was wanted to testify before the grand jury as to what she knew of certain automobile trips alleged to have been taken by Mrs. Knapp during the taking of the census. Miss Egan did not appear at the previous investigation into the Knapp case by a special commissioner appointed by Governor Smith and was considered a prosecuting officer as an important "surprise" witness to be heard by the grand jury.

Woman Will Not Appear

Miss Egan was to have been questioned in particular regarding an automobile trip in a state car between Utica and Syracuse in October, 1925, which involved an accident in which both Mrs. Knapp and Miss Egan were slightly injured. According to testimony brought out at the hearings late last year, Mrs. Knapp engaged as her lawyer in the case Truman H. Preston, of Syracuse, and later paid him out of census funds by entering him on the payroll as a key punch operator at $125 a month.

The indictment of New York State's first elected woman official will be sought on at least one of four counts. Mrs. Knapp herself will not appear before the grand jury, which was empaneled in connection with an extraordinary term of supreme court convened by the governor, unless she requests permission to do so. If she does, every opportunity will be given her to present her side of the case, although as in previous inquiries, she will not be allowed the advice of counsel. Her testimony, however, will not be made public, it was pointed out tonight, so that she will have no advantage not previously accorded.

Recommend Several Charges

So far as persons connected with the case are aware, she is at the home of relatives in eastern Massachusetts, to which she went immediately after the report of the first investigation.

Mrs. Knapp resigned her post as dean of the college of home economics at Syracuse university shortly after that report was turned over to the governor.

In the report the commissioner, Randall J. Leboeuf, recommended that Mrs. Knapp be prosecuted on charges of grand larceny, forgery, false audit and certification of census payrolls, and removal and destruction of census records. He also recommended the bringing of criminal charges against three other persons, including three state employees, but in turning the report over to District Attorney Charles J. Herrick of Albany county for prosecution, Governor Smith suggested that only Mrs. Knapp's case be considered.

Boy, Missing for 3 Weeks, Object of Police Search

Los Angeles, April 4.—(AP)—Missing for more than three weeks since he was kidnapped from his home, Walter Collins, 10-year-old boy, was the object of a widespread search today by police who are in doubt as to the youth's fate.

With no clue to the abductors, investigators were inclined to believe the stealing of the boy was an act of revenge. This theory was based on rather vague clues gleaned from a personal letter written to the boy's mother by her husband, Walter J. S. Collins, a convict in Folsom prison.

Police are attempting to locate an automobile in which a filling station employe reported he saw the body of a boy last Sunday night. The employe, Richard Strothers, said the car passed by with the body wrapped in newspapers, with the exception of the head. He partly identified the victim as the Collins boy from a photograph.

Neighbors told officers a swarthy complexioned man and woman made inquiries for the boy a few days before he disappeared. Mrs. Christine Collins, the mother, said she had not received any letters demanding ransom.

Marines Rout Band of Rebels in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Just before dawn today a group of about 40 rebels were surprised and driven out of the town of Trinidad by a small patrol of marines under Lieut. Benjamin W. Atkinson of South Carolina. The marines fired many shots at the fleeing rebels, but because of the darkness it was impossible to determine whether the Sandinistas suffered any casualties. No marines were hurt.

In the last five days, marine patrols have found and engaged the rebels on five separate occasions. Nine of the enemy have been killed and an undetermined number wounded in these skirmishes.

Bankers in Touch.

The banking world in general has been looking forward to some such adjustment on the theory that once Germany's obligations are fixed, she will be gradually reducing them by a sinking fund each year and her people will definitely know the extent of their liability. S. Parker Gilbert, agent-general of reparations, in his last annual report favored a removal of restrictions on Germany and a definite fixing of her obligations so as to furnish an incentive for the future.

Unquestionably the Baruch plan has the approval of Germany because it would remove uncertainty from the horizon. Under the plan as outlined by Mr. Baruch, the total issue of twelve billion would not be sold at one time but when and as the world market could absorb the securities. It is assumed that the first issue might be for four billions of dollars and the balance would be held in escrow and sold later when conditions permitted.

Undoubtedly if the first issue were oversubscribed and the public became accustomed to the investment, the later issues might be sold at a lower rate of interest.

"I think the speech of Premier Poincare," said Mr. Baruch when asked to comment on it here today, "shows that he as an intelligent financier has a grasp of the practical possibilities of converting what is now considered a frozen asset into a liquid one. Doubtless he would apply the same financial foresight in using this in settling on a cash basis either the French debt to the United States or the inter-allied debt or for the purpose of stabilization."

Inasmuch as France would get 52 per cent of any capital sum fixed as the amount of Germany's reparations she would receive approximately two billion dollars out of the first issue of the four billion. Such a large sum would be available as a cash payment on the French debt to the United States. Congress of course would have to decide how much of a discount to give the French if they paid the debt in cash, the idea being that a reduction in taxes and interest charges would be possible in the United States if the public debt were materially reduced by payments from the allies.

Tanks of German Plane Are Filled

Dublin, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The gas tanks in the wings of the German plane Bremen were filled today and the aircraft was pronounced ready to fly at a few hours' notice.

Authorities at Baldonnel Air-drome said, however, that they do not expect the start for the attempted east-to-west flight to New York will come tomorrow. The field is still soft from yesterday's rains.

With the wing tanks, regular receptacles and all emergency tanks filled, the Bremen carries 2,500 pounds of motor fuel, consisting of benzol primed with ether. That amount is thought to be sufficient to keep the Bremen in the air more than 40 hours and give her a flying radius of about 4,500 miles. The distance from Dublin to New York is about 3,500 miles.

Man, Missing for 16 Years, Returns

Tifton, Ga., April 4.—(AP)—Samuel M. Clyatt, former mayor of Tifton, missing for 16 years, has returned home after his family had given him up for dead.

Clyatt, who disappeared on October 25, 1911, while inspecting his naval stores properties near Valdosta, Ga., came home last night from Florida but he declined to talk about where he had been since leaving.

At first believed to have been a victim of foul play, Clyatt later was reported to have been seen in several towns, but no verification of the reports came to his family. They searched for his body several months following discovery of some of his clothing near a horse and buggy in which he had been riding. Attempts to collect $25,000 in life insurance failed when the insurance company became suspicious and employed detectives to investigate the case.

Clyatt is sixty. He was welcomed here by his aged wife and only son, James J. Clyatt. It was learned that he had communicated with them recently from Florida where he evidently had lived for some time past.

Arctic Aviators Still Await Good Weather Conditions

Seward, Alaska, April 4.—(AP)—Capt. George H. Wilkins remained at his operating base, at Point Barrow today awaiting favorable weather conditions for his projected 2100-mile exploration flight over the Arctic "blind spot" to reach his goal at Spitzbergen, on the "other side" of the globe.

Capt. Wilkins' plans were not definite but if the hop is taken tomorrow, he and Carl Ben Eielson, his southerly aviator, will take off at 6 o'clock in the morning. This was the substance of a radio message from the explorer picked up by the Seward station.

MAY GIVE FUND TO COAL MINERS

Suggest Borah Turn Sinclair Collection Over to Charity

Washington, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The fund being raised by Senator Borah of Idaho, to purge the Republican party of the $160,000 contribution of Continental Trading company Liberty bonds made to it by Harry F. Sinclair, may be turned over to the destitute Pennsylvania coal miners.

Responding to a suggestion of Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, president of the Chicago Woman's City club, the Idaho senator said he had communicated with a number of the contributors to the fund and that they were agreeable. He will try to reach all of the contributors.

Senator Borah said today that the fund now had mounted to something more than $7,000. He will continue to receive money from members of the Republican party and then probably will consult with Republican leaders at the Kansas City convention as to raising the remainder.

"While deeply appreciate your splendid effort to pay off a debt of dishonor which stains the garment though not the heart of the Republican party," Mrs. Langworth telegraphed to the senator, "many of us believe the money contributed should not be returned to Sinclair because the bonds he contributed did not belong to him and because he is not entitled to any restoration whatever."

"We therefore respectfully suggest that with the consent of the subscribers you turn over the fund to a worthy cause, as for example, to relieve the poverty stricken families of the Pennsylvania coal miners or to some other destitute group of the unemployed."

"We sincerely believe that the use of the contributed money for such a humanitarian purpose would be the greatest possible atonement for the wrong perpetrated in his name."

In his reply, Senator Borah said: "I shall be glad to consult parties interested in the light of your suggestion. The situation in the coal mines is almost indescribable and if any such use is to be made of the money, it is to be made of the money. I know of no better place to send it."

200 American Films to Be Purchased by Theatres in France

Paris, Apr. 4.—(AP)—The French film control committee has decided to adhere to the principle that only four foreign pictures shall be approved for each French film sold abroad. At its meeting today, however, it adopted an additional provision to accept 200 pictures from outside during the year beginning January 1, irrespective of this quota.

This action is regarded in American moving picture circles here as preparation for negotiations between the committee and Will Hays, head of the Motion Picture Producers' association, United States, and as giving a breathing spell for American pictures until an understanding is reached.

It is thought that under this arrangement there will be virtually no restrictions on American films for a few months.

Wife of Governor Donahay Injured in Auto Accident

Columbus, O., Apr. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. A. V. Donahay, wife of the Ohio governor, escaped a serious injury today when the automobile in which she was returning from the summer home of the Donahays at Indian Lake, collided with another car near East Liberty.

In the machine with her were her daughters, Marian Donahay, 11, and Mrs. James W. Huffman, and the latter's 15-month-old daughter, Peggy. Mrs. Donahay suffered cuts on the face and body bruises, and Mrs. Huffman sustained a fractured arm. The children were uninjured.

The collision occurred when an automobile, which the Donahay machine was following, came to a sudden stop. The governor's chauffeur was driving.

together with his friends in and outside of congress, to join with them to do what I can to further these efforts."

Since his retirement from congress a few years ago, Mr. Good has been practicing law in Chicago.

Ohio members of congress and others who attended the funeral of Senator Willis returned to Washington today with a variety of impressions as to the effect of his death on the Ohio political situation. Some thought that it would tend to increase the number of Ohio delegates pledged to Hoover, who will be elected in the April 24 primary; others predicted a substantial bloc of Willis delegates would be sent to the Kansas City convention. On one point there was general agreement—it will take a week or more to size-up public reaction and determine what is apt to happen in Ohio.

The name of Senator Fess of Ohio, who was selected yesterday to be keynote at Kansas City, was drawn into the presidential picture during the day by Representative Thompson, Republican, Ohio, who declared before leaving for a vacation in Florida, that the senator would make an ideal candidate, more nearly of the Coolidge type than any to be found in Republican ranks.

Fess declined to comment on this suggestion.

Sheriff Charged With Killing Man

Madill, Okla., Apr. 4.—(AP)—A charge of murder was filed today against Sheriff Ed Long for the killing of County Atty. Frank Kim, whose steel breast-plate failed to protect him when revolvers were drawn in an argument between the two officials here last Monday.

The charge was filed by Acting County Atty. R. C. Rowland, successor of Kim. Prosecution of the case will be conducted by the state attorney general's office. A preliminary hearing will be given Long Thursday.

Kim was shot at a meeting of the county commissioners in the courthouse. A bill for $62 presented by the sheriff for returning a prisoner to the county caused the argument between the two men. The county attorney left abruptly and reappeared wearing steel plates on his chest and back and armed with a revolver. The sheriff fired three shots, one glancing from the edge of the armor and wounding him in the abdomen. After Kim's death at a hospital today, Sheriff Long appeared at the county jail and instructed the jailer to lock him up.

Mrs. Wilson Seeks Reduction in Bail

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Counsel for Mrs. Esther E. Wilson, big game hunter now in jail charged with shooting her husband, announced tonight that he would go to Washington in an effort to get sufficient collateral to effect her release on bond. She failed today to obtain a reduction of the $25,500 bail in which she is held.

It was intimated the lawyer would open a safe deposit vault the woman holds in Washington, where she lived after separating from her lawyer husband, Dallett H. Wilson. She was said to have placed valuable jewelry in the vault. A writ of habeas corpus by which Mrs. Wilson had hoped to obtain a reduction of bail was dismissed after a physician attending her husband said he was not "reasonably certain" the patient would recover.

Wilson was shot last Thursday while in his office where his wife had visited him in an effort to effect a reconciliation.

73 Reds Executed in Chinese City

Canton, China, April 4.—(AP)—Continuing their efforts to thwart any attempt at an uprising, the Canton authorities today executed 73 more Reds.

This brought the total executed in the recently revealed communist plot to 303. The atmosphere is tense since the Reds have boasted that their deaths would only make the communist movement stronger.

GOP LINES UP WITH MELLON

Republican Majority in Finance Committee Fight Tax Cut

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—The Republican majority of the senate finance committee lined up solidly behind Secretary Mellon's $200,000,000 tax reduction program in the first skirmish on the revenue bill today but the Democrats of the committee in a meeting later, decided to fight for a $300,000,000 slash as a minimum.

After voting unanimously to report a tax reduction bill of some nature, the committee agreed to the proposal of Secretary Mellon to cut the 13 1/2 per cent corporation tax only to 12 per cent rather than 11 1/2 per cent as voted by the house.

Democrats opposed this and then an 11 1/2 per cent rate and then proposals were rejected on strict party divisions, 11 to 9, with Republicans voting solidly against both.

Under the $200,000,000 program, agreed to by the minority conference late today, the Democrats would endorse the 11 per cent corporation tax; repeal the three per cent automobile levy; revise the rates on intermediate surtaxes, and increase the exemptions on the admissions tax.

The administration strongly opposes repeal of the automobile tax which was voted by the house, Secretary Mellon insisting this is demanded largely by the manufacturers. The Democrats also decided to ask for brief hearings by the committee in order to permit the automobile manufacturers to present their case and to give the Chamber of the United States an opportunity to answer Mr. Mellon.

Police to Return Wife of Banker; Elopel 7 Years Ago

Detroit, Apr. 4.—(AP)—Police today prepared for the return here from San Diego, Cal., of Frank Ozich and Mrs. Zorka Santa, wife of John G. Santa, Detroit banker, who eloped seven years ago and for whom a search extended over the United States and in Canada and Europe had been conducted.

Police were advised that the elopers, each about 40, have been arrested in San Diego.

According to Santa, his wife wrecked his private banking business when she eloped by taking almost all of the bank funds, amounting to about $30,000. Since then, police said, Santa has worked and repaid every dollar to the depositors.

Presbyterians Hold Annual Dinner; New Trustees Elected

Officers and departmental heads of the First Presbyterian church gave their annual reports at the annual congregational dinner, held in the Bible school auditorium Tuesday night. All of the reports showed the church and all of its activities to be in a flourishing condition.

Waldo Roberts was re-elected a trustee for three years. Arthur Aronson and William Lieder were elected to trusteeships and it was decided not to name a successor to O. C. Curtis, a trustee who recently left the city.

Following the rotation plan, James Davidson, who has been assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, was elected superintendent.

The pastor's report showed that 80 new members were added to the church last year, making a total of 239 additions during the present pastorate. The church now has about 550 members. The pastor was given an increase in salary.

The dinner was prepared by the Ladies' Aid society of the church and public school teachers served as waitresses.

SMITH FORCES HOLD MEETING

Political Background of Governor's Campaign Takes Shape

Albany, N. Y., Apr. 4.—(AP)—The political background of Gov. Alfred E. Smith's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination began to assume definite form at a pre-vacation conference here today among the governor, George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, and Lieut. Gov. Edwin Corning, who is also chairman of the Democratic state committee.

Officially and for publication, Olvany journeyed the 150 miles from New York City to discuss the personnel of New York state's delegation-at-large to the national convention, but the length of the conference and the secrecy maintained left little doubt in the minds of those who talked with the leaders afterward, that matters of greater political moment were talked over.

The conference furnished the last opportunity for the three leaders to get together before the Democratic senate committee meeting in New York City on April 17, at which the delegates and alternates-at-large formally will be selected. Governor Smith leaves next Monday or Tuesday for a two weeks' vacation in North Carolina. It was announced tonight that Olvany would leave on Friday of this week for a ten day rest in Florida.

The meeting of the state committee has generally been hailed as the stepping stone from which the candidacy of the New York state executive formally will be launched into the national political arena, and it was on the advisability of this move that the conference today was believed to have been based. The governor so far has maintained a strict silence on the subject of his candidacy, although he tacitly has indicated his entry into the list of candidates by approving the use of his name in the preferential presidential primaries of several states.

FOREST WEEK IS APPROVED

State Conservation Chief Tells of Great Possibilities

Lansing, April 4.—The emphasis that the Michigan-American Forest Week committee is placing upon Michigan's own special forest situation, forest needs, and forest opportunities in mapping out plans for the state's observance of Forest Week, April 22 to 29, meets the hearty approval of Acting Director George R. Hogarth of the department of conservation.

"The matter of utilization of our abandoned cut-over lands is of the highest importance to the people of Michigan," declares Mr. Hogarth. "These lands, which are coming into the hands of the state at the rate of hundreds of thousands of acres a year through the operation of the tax delinquency law, have in the past been looked upon as public liabilities. They have not, in their present condition, borne their share of the state's taxes, nor are they contributing to the economical development and well-being of the commonwealth.

Potential Assets.

"But in the light of recent research and in view of changes that have come to the state, we may look upon these lands as potential assets that some day promise to be of great value to the people of Michigan. By turning them into forests and game refuges, and, in some cases, into state parks, we can build up and preserve Michigan's wilds as breeding places for wild life, as hunting grounds, as outlying places, as recreational attractions, as almost immediate supply places for certain forest products, and as timber reservoirs for the future.

"In the state are estimated to be 12,000,000 acres that seem suitable only for the growing of crops of trees. The sooner we begin growing these trees in organized forests, whether in state forests, in the Michigan National forest, or in county forests, the sooner Michigan as a whole will begin to reap the rewards. That is why American Forest Week is of such direct concern to our state.

Asks Co-operation.

"I am particularly in favor of the Michigan committee's suggestion to clubs, school children, and the people at large that they take action for the formation and planting of forests on waste lands in their own neighborhoods—community forests and county forests. There isn't a county of Michigan that hasn't many acres of land now ugly, use less eyesores, and outlying places if set apart to be planted by the children and their enthusiastic elders. County and local forests will help make the people of Michigan, and particularly the children of Michigan, forest-minded. Seeing trees grow, that one has planted himself, is a spur to constructive enthusiasm. And we need constructive enthusiasm in solving the problem and realizing the opportunities of our 12,000,000 acres of unorganized, neglected cut-overs."

Home for Orphan Boy Being Sought

An orphan youth, 13 years old, who has been supporting his 13-year-old brother, has appealed to Carl E. Anderson, city poor commissioner, for assistance.

The parents of the two boys died a few years ago and since their death the older brother has been assuming the role of the parent for the younger boy, who attends school here. The burden has proved to be too great for the older brother, who makes only small wages.

If there is some family which is willing to take the 13-year-old boy into their home and provide some means whereby he can earn his board and room it is desired that they communicate with Mr. Anderson.

'HUNGER STRIKE' AT COUNTY JAIL

Frank Lamb Has Not Taken Bite of Food Since Monday

Emulating the famous Terrence McSwiney, Frank Lamb of St. Ignace, who was arrested recently charged with complicity in the robbery of the Ensign store and post-office, has declared a "hunger strike."

Each day he is presented with three square meals in his cell at the county jail, but he refused to take a bite or will take a sip of tea, coffee, milk or water. The last time Lamb partook of any food was Monday morning when he was in the custody of State Trooper Keune, who brought him to Escanaba from St. Ignace. Sheriff Elmer Swanson called a doctor Tuesday night, but the physician found that Lamb was in fit condition, except for being slightly weak from hunger.

The St. Ignace man insists that he was not connected with the Ensign robbery, although he admits he has traveled around with David McLeod of Garden, who is also charged with the crime.

GAS AND OIL LANDS ACTIVE

State Geologist Gives Some Timely Suggestions to Investors

It is estimated that upwards of 200 lease buyers are in Michigan gobbling up land under which they have reason to believe lies natural gas and oil. R. A. Smith, state geologist, reports that this great activity has been spurred into a record breaking race since the proving of the Saginaw and Muskegon districts.

After reviewing some of the leases that property owners have signed, Mr. Smith has taken occasion to give some advice. It is a new game that needs explaining. Appreciating this fact, the Department of Geology, a division of the Conservation Department, has compiled a list of suggestions that Mr. Smith believes every prospective lessee should know. Some land owners are being offered leases that, if signed, will cause them disappointment and financial loss. In many instances the Michigan law covering leases is not known and mistakes are made.

Unprincipled buyers of leases have been attracted in some instances. Lease "scalpers," individuals that go about buying up leases indiscriminately and then later try to dispose of them in quantity to oil companies, have been active. Mr. Smith has taken occasion to warn all parties concerned that they are taking serious risks in signing away their rights until they are familiar with the state law and general conditions. The service is designed purely to protect the property owner. The list of suggestions, about a score in number, is available to all interested parties that may write to the department requesting that the list be mailed.

One for Five Acres.
One oil well for every five acres is something like the ideal ratio in the future development of Michigan's oil fields. R. A. Smith, state geologist, points out that the nature of the Michigan fields work against the crowding of wells. The most economical method of bringing the "black gold" and natural gas to the surface is to keep the holes well scattered. Experience in the Saginaw district has proven that the ideal ratio is something like 1 to 7 1/2, that is, one well to every seven and one-half acres. If the wells are close together, the flow of the oil is divided, thus materially increasing the cost of production.

WHEN LATHROP STODDARD'S book, "The Revolt Against Civilization," first fell into our hands we were not profoundly impressed with the idea that the complexities of modern life might someday chase us back into barbarity. THE GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XVI
When Sally had carefully deposited the dignified little midget, "Pitty Sing," in the infant-sized high-chair drawn up to a corner table in the dining car, she hurried to the box of a kitchen which took up the other end of the car, the newspaper trembling in her hand. She found David alone in the kitchen, slicing onions into a great pan of frying Swiss steak. Onion-induced tears streamed down his cheeks, but he turned to her with a smile.

LEON TROTZKY

LEON TROTZKY has been assassinated again. Like some other staple commodities, assassinations of Trotsky grow better with age. This time he was shot in the back by an Armenian in a remote section of Turkestan. He has never been killed more colorfully nor under more unique circumstances. If the originality of plot and action continues to flourish and bloom in the minds of the journalistic Trotsky-killers of Europe, may Leon live to provide material for many happy returns of the occasion.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—For many a year "the Village" has wondered what became of "Tiny Tim." He was a character of characters in the days when Greenwich Village was bizarre, naughty, smacked of the French Latin Quarter; when Floyd Dell and Edna St. Vincent Millay were putting it on the map; when Guido Bruno's garret was a gathering place for the cognoscenti; days of Hippolyte Havel and the brigandish-looking Marchand of Romany Maries; of Harry Kemp, the vagabond poet, and Polly Holiday, who ran the most famous cafeteria Manhattan will ever see; of Bobbie Edwile and his inevitable cigar-box kuleles; of Alfred Kreyenbork, poet and essayist, and all the old-time who's who.

In those days, then, Tiny Tim began to appear at certain cafes that were starting to cater to sight-seeing bus trade. He would walk in with a shoulder tray slung over his arm and a great number of little packages of candy. This candy was little more than the usual variation on jelly beans, but Tiny Tim called them "soul candy." This was a day, you will recall, when the Village went in for that sort of things, "soul mates," "soul candy" and all that. Tiny Tim would give a great line of mystical chatter with his jelly beans. And so he waxed prosperous and, when times changed in the Village, he dropped out of sight. A year or so ago someone reported seeing him riding the highways of Los Angeles in a high-priced car.

The other day, sitting in one of the more ancient coffee houses, someone told of hearing of Tiny Tim from the various gossipy sleuths who wander the earth. Tim, I was told, is now out in San Diego. For a time he had sold his "soul candy" in Hollywood, putting his fabulous chatter over on the arty newcomers to screenland. Then he began to study up on the metaphysical, Los Angeles and its environs are noted for their fads in cults, and things esoteric and transcendental.

Anyway Tiny Tim applied himself and, so the story goes, appeared in good time in San Diego at the head of a healing cult. His name had suddenly been changed from Tim to the more resonant Times—thus, as I recall it, his real name had been Tim Felter, or something like that. And, for something like a season, he has been initiating a large and growing following into mysteries of the occult and the mystic. No longer does he sell candies to which some voodoo charm is attached. He has the dignity and standing of a mystical leader and boasts of a fine villa, wherein, they say, gather overflow crowds. Meanwhile there have been no substitutes for Tiny Tim in the Village in many a year. It seems to me that a young man, with the proper line of chatter and some "soul candy," could do very well just now.

Believe it or not—but just a few feet from where the middle-aged and highly respectable-looking woman sells Birth Control papers on Broadway, a middle-aged man has taken up his stand. He sells "The Matrimonial News."

Recently some of the imaginative young men of the "main stem" concocted a tale of romance between them which, had it been true, would have tied anything O. Henry invented.

The newest thing on Broadway is a feminine "sandwich man." She is the first to carry a sign in this belt day upon day.

TRAIN CHANGES ARE PROPOSED

North-Western and Soo Line Will Alter Service to Escanaba

Changes in train schedules and train service of considerable importance and interest to Escanaba and vicinity, are proposed by the North-Western and Soo Line, in time cards which they have planned, tentatively, to make effective April 29.

The new cards affect, mainly, the connections between the two railroads in Escanaba and Gladstone, and the schedules of trains between Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie, and Escanaba and Chicago.

It is proposed to discontinue the Escanaba-Sault Ste. Marie train which leaves this city at 7 a. m., and returns to Escanaba at 7 p. m. The North-Western will install a train leaving Escanaba at 5 a. m., to connect with the Twin City train on the Soo Line which leaves Gladstone at 6:50 a. m. This North-Western train will take the Soo Line sleeper from Train No. 101 to Gladstone three times a week and possibly six times a week. The new arrangements, railroad men pointed out, will enable passengers from Chicago to the Soo to reach the latter city at 10:30 a. m. instead of 1:10 p. m.

The North-Western also proposes to start a train from Escanaba to Gladstone at 8:30 p. m., returning to Escanaba at 9:55 p. m., and proceeding on at 10:05 p. m., to Chicago by way of Manitowoc and Sheboygan, arriving in Chicago at 8:15 a. m. This train will carry the Sault-to-Chicago sleepers. Train No. 102 leaving Escanaba at 8:25 p. m., will go by way of Fond du Lac, arriving in Chicago at 7:10 a. m.

Train No. 221, arriving in Escanaba at 8:35 a. m., will carry all modern equipment, according to the plan. Train No. 216, which now leaves for Chicago at 10:35 a. m., will be speeded up to reach Chicago at 9:20 p. m., instead of 10:05, enabling passengers to make eastern connections which are not now possible.

Train No. 214 leaving for Menominee at 6:45 a. m. would be eliminated.

A Soo Line train would leave the Soo at 9:45 a. m. for Gladstone, arriving in Gladstone at 2:45 p. m., and leave Gladstone on the return trip to the Soo at 3 p. m.

AT THE STRAND.

Tarzan, the wonder horse, of Ken Maynard's and showing in that star's latest western "The Wagon Show" which is now playing at the Strand theatre has proved himself to be strictly modern. During the making of the picture, played various versions of jazz music and Tarzan showed his preference for it over the older waltzes by prancing and doing the cake walk which Ken has taught him.

"The Wagon Show," deals with a small one-ring circus in the early days west.

AT THE DELFT.

Irresistible screen fare is to be found at the Delft theatre, where the Universal-Jewel farce comedy "The Irresistible Lover" is being shown to capacity crowds. SPRING

GRANDMOTHER was a wonderful housekeeper in her day and generation. Every spring, up came the carpets; down came the pictures and heavy lambrequins; out went the furniture, and in came soap and water and scrubbing-brush. Soon the floors and workwork gleamed like new; the carpets were replaced after a beating that sent every particle of dirt swirling away in a cloud of dust; the furniture was cleaned and returned to its accustomed place. Everyone was miserable including grandmother---but it simply had to be done.

Women are better housekeepers than grandmother ever was or ever could be, for they have the modern conveniences to make them so. They have learned, through advertising, of the many utensils that make housework lighter and do it better. They have learned, through advertising, of better foods and how to prepare and serve them more attractively. They have bought, because of advertising, the many time and labor saving devices that we have come to regard as every-day necessities.

Because of advertising, women have more time for relaxation and the social amenities. They look younger. They are younger--by years--than grandmother at the same age. Advertising has made that possible.

"AIRWAYS" BUYS FIVE BIPLANES

First Ship Will Arrive in City Saturday; Work Progresses

Five biplanes of the "Swallow" type have been ordered by Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc. It was announced yesterday by C. Starold Westcott and S. J. Murphy, Jr., "propellers" of the Escanaba Airport. The first of these machines will be delivered Saturday, April 7, they announced, and the others will follow a little later. In view of the heavy demand for aircraft of all kinds, the local men believe they are particularly fortunate in being able to get prompt delivery on their order. The Swallow plane is made by the Swallow Aircraft Corporation of Wichita, Kan. Westcott and Murphy have taken the upper peninsula agency for the plane.

Walter Arntzen, well-known local pilot, has joined forces with "Airways." It was announced yesterday. Mr. Arntzen will serve as instructor at the field, and will be associated in other activities of the business.

The foundation for the new building at the port has been laid and rapid progress is being made by the contractors. It is expected that the building will be completed by April 15. Work of removing trees and leveling off knolls on the field also is progressing rapidly. The field is always open for public inspection and Westcott and Murphy are pleased with the interest shown in the project. Several hundred people visited the field Sunday during the visit of the Milwaukee flyers.

Two contests for school children have been arranged. One will be for essays on the future of air transportation to be written by high school pupils. Essays will not exceed 1500 words, and prizes of $10 and $5 for first and second, respectively, and airplane rides will be given, and the eight pupils whose essays are given third to tenth ranking, inclusive, also will be given free rides.

Grade school children will work out posters and slogans suitable for the use of Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc. Prizes for this contest will be: First, $5 and an airplane ride, second $3 and an airplane ride, third $2

Candy Bars Shipped by Trainloads Over Northwestern Ry.

An unprecedented volume of candy is now being moved out of Chicago, according to freight traffic officials of the Chicago and Northwestern railway. Five solid trainloads, in addition to a large number of carloads, have been shipped by one of the leading candy bar manufacturers of Chicago during the last thirty days, all loaded in the concern's own refrigerator cars.

The fifth special trainload deluxe, consisting of approximately 1,800,000 candy bars, left Chicago today for Western and Pacific coast points, via the Northwestern.

There are a sufficient number of bars in this one shipment to supply every man, woman and child in the cities of Salt Lake, Billings, Great Falls and Helena, Montana, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles with one bar each. If the sweets in the five trainloads shipments were laid end to end, they would make a solid candy bar more than 500 miles long.

WOMAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN INDIAN RIVER

With the finding Tuesday night of the body of Mrs. E. N. Johnson, the waters of the Indian river supplied the last chapter of the tragedy which took the life of the well known Manistique woman missing since Sunday night.

Plying the river with a truck headed by a rowboat, Street Commissioner James Carney and his search party of three located the body about 9 p. m. Tuesday. The woman was found in the center of the stream about six rods below the intake dam, lying at the bottom of the river in about six feet of water.

Suicide Indicated.

The beams from the headlight, powered by an automobile battery, proved a valuable aid in scanning the river bed, and the rays revealed the body when the searchers were still some distance away. Piercing to the bottom of the water the light caught a gleam of white clothing, and recovery of the body was effected at once. The party included Mr. Carney, John Carney, Louis Hansen and Chief John A. Peterson.

The remains were taken to the S. Johnson rooms to be prepared for burial, which will take place Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Johnson was the owner of the Johnson greenhouses in this city, and had been in charge of the property since the death of her husband about three years ago. Recently she was known to have worried over the conduct of business affairs, although they were reported to be progressing favorably, and it is believed that despondency prompted her to take her own life by slipping from the intake dam into the river.

Daughter Survives.

A note, left behind for Mr. and Mrs. James Christensen, was the only clue in the case. This letter thanked the Christensens for their kindness of the past, and asked them to look after certain business matters. The search was centered in the vicinity of the intake when it was learned that Mrs. Johnson had gone only to this city park on previous occasions.

She was fully clothed when found, wearing a heavy coat. At the Christensen home, where Mrs. Johnson had been staying, she was not missed until she failed to come down from her room Monday morning. It was believed that she left the house early in the morning, one neighbor reporting that she heard a door close about 3 a. m.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by one daughter, Florence (Mrs. Coxwell), of St. Paul, Minn., who is expected to arrive in Manistique this morning.

When the General Federation of Women's Clubs meet in annual convention at San Antonio, Texas, from May 28 to June 7, Michigan will have a candidate for the office of recording secretary. Mrs. William A. Alvord of Detroit has been unanimously endorsed by the Michigan Federation for this position. She is well known in the state, being editor of the Detroit Club Woman, a member of the Highland Park board of education for 10 years and was instrumental in the organization of the International Institute in Detroit.

AGENCY OWNS MYSTERY CAR

Iron Mountain Dealer Takes Possession; Warrant Issued for Driver

A warrant for the arrest of a J. A. Nelson, formerly employed by the Johnson Studebaker agency at Iron Mountain, followed the solving of the mystery of the owner of a new car which was left over a week ago at the Brown garage here.

Nelson, whose whereabouts at the present time is unknown, will be charged with stealing the car.

Dealer Located.

The car was left at the Brown garage over a week ago, its driver stating that he wished to store it over night and would return for it in the morning. After several days had passed, and he failed to appear, the matter was reported to Chief of Police Erick Lindahl.

Chief Lindahl communicated directly with the state department, tracing the license plate, and then communicated with the dealer, who, with a deputy sheriff of Iron Mountain, arrived and took possession of the car.

Nelson, he said, had been employed for two weeks before he and the car disappeared.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

THEATRES

AT THE RIALTO.

"The most versatile actress on the screen!"

That is the tribute Director Sam Wood pays Marion Davies, star of "The Fair Co-ed," now playing at the Rialto theater.

"I have watched Miss Davies' career from the time she entered pictures," says the director, "and I have never seen her fail to convincingly put over the character she portrayed—and the list of characters she has enacted has been more varied than attempted by any other young star of the screen."

A canvass of Marion's career shows that she has interpreted nearly every kind of role that could reasonably be assigned a girl.

In age her characters have varied from 12 years to almost 40. In "Zander, the Great," she played the role of a 12-year-old orphan, and in "Quality Street," the celebrated Sir James Barrie play, she portrayed the role of a girl of 20 in the early part of the production, and in the latter half went into spinsterhood that convincingly looked nearly 40.

In nationality her roles have, in turn, been American, French, English, Irish, American colonial.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men like Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 50c and $1.00.—Adv.

Style Pageant Presented for A Packed House

Probably no fashion show ever staged at Manistique attracted as much favorable comment as the event presented Tuesday night at the Gero theater.

In addition to the showing of spring fashions from the stock of the J. C. Penney company, Neville & Raredon, The Ruby Nicholson shop and People's store, a capacity crowd was treated to a review of styles gone by, as displayed by members of the Manistique Women's club.

Shown as a prologue to the pageant of modern modes, the gowns and costumes of former days supplied some amusing contrasts, and each offering was ably modeled. The periods covered were from the Puritan days down to 1915.

Mrs. D. W. Roos, who with Mrs. Paul Gero portrayed a mother and daughter of the Revolutionary period, wore a dress more than 150 years old. Other costumes of later periods were equally rare, and the effect of the whole was very pleasing.

Mrs. Florence Coxwell is expected today from St. Paul to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. E. N. Johnson.

LAST PASSION WEEK SERVICE HELD TONIGHT

The last Passion Week service preceding the three-hour devotional service on Good Friday will be held at the Presbyterian church tonight. Rev. C. Mullenberg will preach the sermon. Rev. J. Gross and Mrs. Gross will sing a duet.

All those who have attended the services thus far has been good. It is hoped that those who have not yet attended will do so tonight.

Sixteen Receive Baptismal Rites

Preparations are under way for a musical service at the First Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The message of Easter, that of hope and triumph, will be declared in song. A variety of selections will be rendered by a chorus choir. Other musical features will include numbers by a male quartet, a mixed quartet, a solo, a duet and congregational singing. The complete program will be announced later.

This musical service will be preceded by a baptismal service at which time the ordinance of baptism will be administered to 16 candidates.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

BOUCHER STARS IN HOCKEY PLAY

New York Player to Lead His Team Against Maroons Tonight

New York, April 4.—(P)—Out of the writer or preliminary rounds in the National Hockey League battle for the historic Stanley Cup, the world series of the ice world, Frank Boucher, diminutive center ice star of the New York Rangers, has come to stamp himself as one of the greatest players in the game.

Boucher will lead the Rangers on the ice of the Montreal Maroons in the Canadian metropolis tomorrow night for the first of the final five-game series for the professional hockey title. The Boston Bruins, five goals to two, in the two-game American division final, while the Maroons took the measure of the Montreal Canadiens, 3 to 2, in a similar joust for Canadian division honors.

The brilliance of Boucher stands out above all others in a composite score of the preliminary efforts of the two teams fighting tomorrow night for the championship. Boucher tallied three goals, assisted in the scoring of three others, and spent no time in the penalty box. The Rangers scored 11 goals and seven assists in the first elimination series with Pittsburgh and the division final against the Bruins.

Boucher, recipient of the Lady Byng trophy for combining effectiveness with sportsmanship, played through the four games without once incurring the displeasure of the referees. In addition to leading all scorers, Boucher was a tower of strength on the defense, his sweeping poke-check smashed dozens of attacks of Pittsburgh and Boston forwards.

BEFORE THE WAR

Judge: Do not deny it any more, three people have testified that they saw you steal.

READY TO START

CONNIE MACK.

Anxious to be in prime condition for the coming training season so that he can get the Athletics in shape to win the pennant he has been seeking for years, Connie Mack hurried down to Florida early this spring and got in two weeks of golf at Ft. Plymouth. Connie expects his boys to beat the Yankees out this season. He is shown here on the links.

Hooks and Slides

When Earl Sande was set down last fall for rough riding in the Pimlico Futurity it was intimated by his friends that he was ready to abandon the American track and ride in Europe where the weight restrictions on jockeys are not so severe.

It was known that he had received several offers from English and French turfmen that would have been considered a gift of the fates by another jockey and it was understood that Sande felt badly over what he thought was shabby treatment by the Pimlico stewards.

When he went to England at the close of the season it was thought that the American tracks had seen the last of him in silks, but he came back home, resumed training and was restored to the eligible list by the Maryland officials.

He said a few days ago that he figured on having at least two more good seasons on the American track before increasing weight will force him to retire and when that time comes he is going to move over to the European tracks.

Widener Backs Sande
 There never were any serious doubts that Sande would be restored to good standing by the Maryland officials. He not only had his great reputation for honest and efficient riding with him, but he had behind him the influence of Joseph E. Widener, the big power of New York racing.

Widener made a gesture of protest when Sande was set down, but he did not go far in complaining against the loss of the star rider of his stable. He knew that Sande's offense was rather flagrant and that to preserve discipline among the other jockeys the Maryland officials had to show them that Sande couldn't be forgiven always just because he was Sande and a Widener rider.

Numerous complaints had been made during the metropolitan racing season about Sande's tactics, but the boys who charged him with rough riding had to admit the conviction that his motive was the result of nothing but a desperate desire to win.

It always has been understood that Sande was always out to win, and because of the general knowledge that his mounts would be driven to their last ounce, of possibility he had the largest following of any jockey on the American tracks.

Resorted to Tricks
 His employers never have denied the generally believed story that Sande never was given instructions; that is, that he never was told that it would be all right if he didn't win and when he appeared in the parade on a good mount it was taken as gospel that his mount was going to try to win.

Sande got the winning habit when he was making his greatest reputation with the horses in the Racine Stable. He always had a fine mount and he didn't have to resort to any tricks to win, but when he had the saddle later on horses that were not quite so fleet he began to remember the tricks of the old half-mile circuits where he learned the game.

He considered it his duty to win and as other boys didn't hesitate to resort to tricks he started doing the same thing, but he was so honest and so open that he was caught and had to be punished.

There is no doubt that his return to the track will be welcomed because in his game it is refreshing to see a boy inspired by such a serious desire to win.

NO RIVAL FOR GENE

There may be some stray or far-fetched reason for Gene Tunney to have his doubts about a flistic duel with Johnny Risko. The heavyweight champion, rated on the figures in the dope book, ought to be a cinch against Risko, but the Cleveland blimp has no respect for the figures in the dope book and has no awe of reputations.

Tunney always will have something on the Risko, however. And that something will be the culture of which the champion is so proud. In an eating contest with strict rules about the proper handling of the stabber and the cutter, Tunney would win before it started. And in a speaking contest, Tunney would get the decision 1000 good words to nothing.

Risko will get along financially and socially, however, even if he can't aspire to the intellectual heights that have been attained by the fascinating playmate of the idle rich. Risko already is rich and he has become somewhat of a civic and social personage in his home town.

He was a guest of honor a few days ago at a luncheon given by the Town and Country Club of Cleveland and he gave a superb speech which brought down the house.

"I can't talk but I'll rattle or fight anybody in the house," he said and sat down.

It was this same humble expression made by Jack Dempsey about five years ago that caused about twenty dukes, lords and counts to fall out of their chairs in mirth at a dinner given to Dempsey in London by the late Lord Northcliffe.

As Risko sees Gene Risko apparently is becoming replied.

 Evidences of glaring disloyalty have cropped up among the football players at Washington and Jefferson. Three regulars have proved themselves bright and will complete the four-year college course in three years, getting their diplomas this year.

ambitious to do all of Tunney's stuff and no doubt he is reading up on "Good Wise Cracks for After-Dinner Talks."

Risko has a varied vocabulary. He always says "Fah" or "Naw." And occasionally he will shoot in a fast—"what the hell!"

Sometimes he ventures forth into a real long sentence. When he was asked recently what kind of a fighter Tunney is, he answered: "He was purty good when I fought him but he's only fought twice since then."

He didn't consider it important enough to amplify his judgment of the champion with an explanation that in those two fights since he had fought him, Tunney had beaten Jack Dempsey twice.

Risko and Jack Sharkey. In their generous way of admitting the class of their rivals, have something in common. They have a pet way of describing their competitors that puts a lot in a few words—"Him? Hell—he's a bum."

A Couple of Hams
 After his name had been announced by the New York Boxing Commission with Sharkey and Tom Heeney as an acceptable opponent for Tunney, some suggestions were made that Risko ought to fight Dempsey. Risko said he would fight anyone but added—"I thought I'd fought out of that guy's class."

Risko has, along with his other talents, a gift for quick stinging repartee.

It was observed that during the Risko-Sharkey fight there was considerable conversation between the two participants, and some of his friends were curious to know what it was about.

"Every time I hit him in the belly he said—'Keep 'em up, you ham.'" Risko said.

"Well, what did you say to him?" Risko was asked.

"I stopped him every time he said it. I just said—'You're a ham yourself.'" Risko

That he is reaching top form was proven when he did 300 yards in 31 seconds in an attempt against the record of 30 2-5 seconds.

 Give greatest distance a baseball has ever been batted.

Nabors, with the Athletics, lost 19 games straight in 1916. Sheehan, with the same club the same year, lost 16 in a row.

Ed Walsh, famous pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, on Sept. 30, 1911, using a fungo bat made of light wood, batted a ball 419 feet 1/2 inch.

Has any feat like Gabby Street's of catching a baseball dropped off the Washington monument been recorded with a football?
 What is the fastest time the bases in baseball have been circled?

Brick Muller, former California football star, caught a football dropped 415 feet off of a San Francisco building in 1926.

Maurice Archdeacon, with Rochester, went around the bases in 13-2-5 seconds in 1921.

What is the greatest number of pitchers ever used in one game by a major league club?
 What is the longest stretch of successive games a major league club has played during which every member of the team made at least one hit per game.

Washington used eight — A. Williams, Bentley, Griffith, Engel, Johnson, Schaefer, Alnsmith and Gedeon—in winning from the Red Sox, with Anderson alone pitching, in October, 1913.

Pittsburgh, in 1922, went five games during which every member of the club made at least one hit per game. In the sixth game every player made a hit except Tierney.

Blindfolded . . . in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Princess Paul Chavchavadze selects OLD GOLD

"I was much intrigued by the invitation to make a blindfold test of your leading brands of American cigarettes, to see how they compared with each other and with those I had smoked abroad. Could one really taste the difference? I wondered.

"But when I was handed these cigarettes, one by one, I realized at once that there was a difference and that the test was conclusive. One cigarette was so much more appealing, so much more delicate in flavor. Oh, and so much smoother!

"When the test was over and I was told that the cigarette of my choice was Old Gold, I understood at once why this cigarette is so popular among my American friends."

Princess Chavchavadze

PRINCESS PAUL CHAVCHAVADZE, Sister of Mrs. Wm. B. Leeds

How Test Was Made

Subject was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette. The Princess was entirely unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After smoking the four cigarettes, the Princess was asked to designate by number her choice. Without hesitation she replied, "No. 3" . . . which was OLD GOLD.

CALDWELL CAN HIT-AND HOW

Joe Wood Reveals Why Yale Athlete Is Sought by Majors

BY BILLY EVANS
Fame is often difficult of explanation. It comes most unexpectedly and often vanishes just as mysteriously.

Take the case of Bruce Caldwell, much talked about Yale star. One year ago Caldwell was little known, just one of the hundreds of athletes trying to win the coveted Yale Y.

Caldwell came to Yale a highly touted scolarship star, but as is often the case, injuries and illness greatly handicapped him and it didn't seem as if he was going to make good on the many lavish press notices that had been handed him.

Last fall, Caldwell, in good health and free from injuries, began to play the game of football of which he was capable. He was the talk of the east. Coach Tad Jones of Yale pronounced him one of the greatest Yale backs of all time.

Then, just before the Princeton and Harvard games, the two big events of the year for Yale, some one who didn't have much to do discovered that Caldwell at Brown as a freshman had played for something like 12 minutes more or less. He was declared ineligible, depriving him of the big thrill of his career, playing against Princeton and Harvard.

Yale, however, was equal to the occasion and won both games despite his absence from the lineup.

Caldwell's football ballyhoo, because of his being declared ineligible, brought out the fact that he also was a baseball star. Immediately, a number of major league clubs started a wild scramble for his services.

Since good ball players are much desired, acting as the agent for Cleveland, I got into the hunt for Caldwell's services and had made arrangements for him to come to Cleveland and talk over the possibility of the Indians signing him for 1928 since he graduates from Yale in June.

Then, just when it looked as if I had the inside track, the athletic authorities at Yale informed Caldwell that he was to discontinue all relations with any major league club until he graduated from Yale or such action might affect his amateur standing and thereby prevent him from playing on the Yale varsity.

The ukase has temporarily ended the activities of the major league clubs in quest of his services.

Joe Wood, now head baseball coach at Yale, former big leaguer as a member of the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians, has this to say about Caldwell:

"Bruce can do the most important thing in baseball and do it well, hit the ball. He is one of the most natural batters I have ever seen. He gets great power in his drive and hits seven out of every ten balls hard. If he makes up his mind to try big league ball, I am certain he will not be lacking at the bat."

"At Yale, Caldwell has played mostly at second base. It is possible he might find some other position more advantageous. He has a rather peculiar throw that keeps him from getting the ball away quickly. That might handicap as a big league second baseman, where fast double plays are so very important. He might go better at first or in the outfield. He is one of those natural ball players who can easily adapt himself to any position."

In the one game I was fortunate enough to see Caldwell play, he did nothing at the bat, but he impressed me as a good hitter even in failure. He is not fast and has a peculiar style of throwing.

It is just possible Caldwell will be one of the highest priced collegians ever to enter the majors, if the present competition for his services continues.

Youth Upsets Dope by Defeating Otto Reiselt, Champion

Chicago, Apr. 4—(P)—A 24-year-old Chicago youth, Earl Lookabaugh, tonight upset all forecasts by defeating the defending champion, Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia, 50 to 41, in the second round of play in the national three-cushion billiard tournament.

The result gave the undisputed lead in the race for the title to John Layton of St. Louis, who has won two games and lost none.

In the match, which went 55 innings, Lookabaugh was never headed. The champion's famous safety shots meant nothing to the youthful Chicagoan, who converted all but one into scores. Lookabaugh's high run was six and Reisel's 4.

As a result of today's games, only two others of 10 contestants remain undefeated. They are Willie Hoppe, New York, and Allen Haj of St. Louis with one victory each.

Al Smith Club Parade Routed in Georgia City

Athens, Ga., Apr. 4—(P)—The Al Smith for president club of the U. of Georgia was routed tonight after parading Athens' streets when several score of students garbed in dormitory sheets descended upon them with a supply of eggs.

The club, formed yesterday, announced a torch-light parade tonight, and with their beacons burning and led by a three-piece band, marched forth.

Practically the entire student body lined the streets and the column of marchers, consisting of 50 or more students, carried on to an improvised platform which Bryan Nixon, president of the club, mounted to speak.

Before the speaker had started, however, several score of sheet wearers broke from the ranks of the 2,000-odd students with a yell and a barrage of eggs, and the adherents of the New York governor fled in disorder.

Late tonight all was quiet on the campus of the university, the sheet wearers, all agreed, were students of the university and not members of the Ku Klux Klan.

FRANKNESS OF ROCKNE

One of the most attractive of the engaging traits of Knute Rockne is his daring frankness. Through the many recent attacks against football the Notre Dame coach maintained that the game was not in need of defense and he has consistently exploded many of the romantic bunk arguments presented for the game.

"The football coach is supposed to teach boys how to play football. Their moral education is for the Sunday schools," he said recently. "When I tell boys they shouldn't smoke I am not trying to improve their morals. I want them to have good wind on the field."

Since several prominent eastern coaches have said that they felt it was a high obligation of their profession to make good citizens and good men out of the football players, Rockne's remarks might be interpreted as a slap at those moralists. But anyone who knows Rockne knows that he was merely stating a private opinion when he said that.

Rockne's teams always have been well behaved on and off the field, and if they weren't given actual lessons in proper moral conduct by their coach they knew without being told what would happen to them if they didn't behave.

"It's fine to listen to sermons about sportsmanship and that victory is of secondary importance, but every football coach knows that he is being retained for the purpose of developing winning teams. There are enough actual rules in the football code to cover the moral angle," Rockne once said.

The emphasis he placed upon the code of morals and sportsmanship was one of the chief arguments made against a coach of a big western conference university this winter.

Some of the old grads, who were emphatic in demanding his resignation, said they visited the locker room between halves of one of the most important games of the season. The team was a touchdown behind and had played such sloppy football in the first half that they expected to hear the coach give the boys a good old-fashioned calling down.

"But what did he do?" they roared. "Why he went to the black board, called the attention of the squad and wrote on it—'Fight! Fight! Fight! BUT BE GENTLEMEN!' And the boys went out and were as gentle as they could be."

Roper Voices Opinion
Bill Roper, the Princeton coach whose team was put on the pan last year by some Harvard boys for the way they played, is like Rockne. He doesn't turn his collar around when he is talking about football. He was game enough to invite a lot of razing recently when he ordered all his football players to report to the boxing coach.

The boxing coach at Princeton is Monte Munn, former All-America tackle, a Nebraska legislator and a heavyweight fighter of note. He came to Princeton from West Point, where he had been teaching the cadet football players the many art of fist swinging. It was reported that his position was abolished at the military academy when the annual football game with the Navy was called off.

Talk of Big Dough

The trade mark of the astute Jack Kearns has not been erased from the heavyweight boxing racket. After he had lost a decision to George Godfrey in Los Angeles recently, Paulino, the Basque wood chopper, announced that Gaston Bastanchury, a millionaire citrus man and a fellow countryman, would give Jack Dempsey $800,000 to fight him.

Kearns used up every kind of a millionaire but a big citrus man when he was handling Dempsey's

STOCK PRICES CLIMB HIGHER

"Bad News" Fails to Check Advance of Many Issues

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Speculative Wall Street, during the lighting of "bad news" today, continued to bid up stock prices, and raised more than a score of issues into new high ground. A temporary reaction soon after the opening reflected the unexpectedly large increase of $317,000,000 in stock exchange member loans, but after the early selling orders had been cleared away, the "bulls" took complete charge.

The day's trade developments, ordinarily unfavorable enough to remove the props from most of the stock list, were ignored. A perpendicular break of five cents a pound in the rubber market following the removal of restrictions on British exports, an increase in the crude oil production, a further slump in railway freight loadings, and the calling of $20,000,000 in loans proved of little hindrance to the forward march of prices.

The action of the market following the enormous increase in stock exchange member loans caused many veteran brokers and traders to shake their heads and marvel. Others took an optimistic view, citing predictions of W. C. Durant and others around New York that the loan figures would amount to $5,000,000,000 before the "bull" market was over. These prophesies seemed fantastic at the time they were uttered, but reckoning from the March 30 total, loans now have only about $340,000,000 to go to reach the top.

Reports that eastern railway executives had agreed on the trunk line merger program found further reflection in rising prices for stocks of railroads in that district. Pittsburgh & West Virginia, one of the key roads, had an extreme rise of $15 a share to $150. Wabash and Nickel Plate reached new tops, but subsequently relinquished most of their gains.

Wright Aeronautical again performed sensationally, opening with a loss of $5 at $127, and closing unchanged at $132 after having sold at $141 and $142 in two distinct rallies.

Among the new highs were such diversified stocks as Johns-Manville, Ludlum Steel, Coca-Cola, R. H. Macy and Interborough Rapid Transit. Contrasted with these were losses of $2 to $6 in American Smelting, Commercial Solvents, West Point International Harvester, DuPont Union and several others. Trading, which exceeded the 2,000,000-share mark for the eighteenth consecutive full day's session was unusually broad. Individual stocks traded in, reaching a new high record of 752, four more than the previous high established on February 17.

Talks on Health

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

SEASON OF SPORTS ON TRACK AND FIELD BRINGS WARNING—WATCH THE HEART!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The season of track athletics, arousing considerable medical discussion as to its benefits and dangers, is near. This is the first of a series of two articles by Dr. Fishbein discussing fitness. Tomorrow: The Medical Care of the Track Athlete.

At this season the track athlete begins to give up his indoor running and moves outdoors. There he includes sprints, middle distances and long distances, broad jumping and high jumping, hurdle racing, weight throwing and pole vaulting. With typical German thoroughness, a volume has been compiled by Prof. Hermann Altrock in which the technique of each of these forms of athletics is thoroughly considered.

Associated with each athletic consideration is a medical discussion concerning the physical and physiological sides as well as the dangers to health. Of course, the organ which bears most of the strain of this form of athletics is the heart. The medical examiner, therefore, tests the size of the heart, the pulse rate, as well as the blood pressure, in order to find out how much the heart can stand in the way of track athletics. The next matter of importance is the respiration of breathing

State Conducting Survey of Water Power Locations

How many horsepower do the rivers of Michigan conceal within their watery depths? No one knows now but the State is going to find out. At some future date, figures will be available that show quite definitely just how much latent power exists in the streams of the Wolverine state and where it can best be harnessed. The economic land survey division of the conservation department is pursuing this information systematically and slowly but surely overhauling it.

Every summer season sees an expert from this department exploring streams, determined to press their secrets from them. He patrols the rivers from mouth to source, learns its present, and nearly as possible, its future. At the present time the department points out that the Rifle River is hiding power that could be put to use. Only one power unit exists there now while there is plenty of room for more.

As the surveys grow, data will be available in the department of files that may be used by individuals or corporations seeking power. In the end the total potential horsepower may be compiled.

rate. Any disturbance of the lungs, such as bronchitis, tuberculosis, or asthma, may be taken as a contraindication to overindulgence in running or track athletics. These things tend to put still further strain upon weakened lung tissues.

Body Types
The special type of body for a sprinter should be one of average height, rather thin, long muscles, with average leg length. The temperament of a sprinter should be optimistic and he should be easily aroused.

The Germans believe that every good sprint runner will have what they call "start fever." In other words, he must be worked up so as to be quickly responsive. The phlegmatic type must limit himself to distance running. The sprinter must be able to make a quick start.

It makes little difference to the distance runner if he requires forty yards to get started. Distance runners are heavier in build and much stronger and are not likely to be agitated on the day of the race.

Heart and Muscles
Long distance runners are usually light and small in build. The heart of the runner must be large and well developed, the body muscles soft. They must have a temperament able to calculate pace and time and tactics. The sprint runner follows a definite line in which there is no interference.

The long distance runner has to change his position in relation to the other runners, and frequently must study their response and temperament.

RUBBER EXPORT SCHEME LIFTED

Old Stevenson Restriction Plan Comes to End Nov. 1, 1928

London, April 4.—(AP)—The Stevenson rubber restriction scheme under which the proportion of rubber permitted to be exported from British Malaya and Ceylon at a minimum rate of duty varied with the price of crude rubber, will come to an end on November 1, 1928.

Making an eagerly awaited speech in the house of commons today, Premier Baldwin announced that all restrictions on the export of rubber would be removed on that date. Meanwhile the existing restriction scheme will be continued unaltered.

The premier's announcement fell like a bombshell on the rubber exchange in Mincing Lane which experienced the most excited afternoon in many years. Hundreds of dealers assembled in Mincing Lane to await the announcement which would enable them to decide their future policy regarding sales and purchases.

Virtually no business was transacted earlier in the day but as soon as the tape ticked off the premier's statement there was a sudden outburst of activity. A majority of members had felt and hoped that if restrictions were taken off, it would be by gradual stages.

Soon after the premier had finished his announcement, Commander Kenworthy, Laborite, gave notice that he intended to raise the matter in the house of commons tomorrow.

Prices fell sharply on the heels of the government's announcement but closed steady after only fair business. Prices fell as low as 10 pence and finally closed at 10 1/2 pence, representing a loss of almost three pence. Rubber shares also fell heavily in sympathy, several leading issues losing as much as from three to six pence a share.

After coaching at Montana State for seven years, Ott Romney recently resigned to assume charge of athletics at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

City Administration Issues Proclamation Yesterday

Suspension of business between the hours of noon and 3 p. m. on Good Friday, so far as business men may find such observance possible, was suggested in a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor George G. Genesee. The proclamation was prepared at the order of the city council, and urges all citizens to join in the religious observance of the day.

It follows: "Unanimously in accord with the desire of the churches of Escanaba that all business houses and offices shall refrain from business, wherever possible, from noon until 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon, the mayor and the city council request that the citizens will cooperate with the religious organizations of our city, thus recognizing the great fact which the church, on Good Friday, commemorates."
