MAKE PREPARATIONS TO GUARD PURITY OF BALLOT

Chicago, Apr. 9—(AP)—With the nation's eyes and widespread preparations made to preserve the purity of the ballot, Chicago tonight was poised for one of the most momentous primary elections in its tempestuous political history.

The Junkers monoplane Bremen was receiving a last overhauling in preparation for a trans-Atlantic hop when this picture was taken at the Baldonne Airport, Dublin. Loaded with 2500 litres of fuel, its nose pointed toward America, the ship and its German and Irish flyers need only favorable weather for the actual start.

Open Arguments Today

Counsel for both the defense and the prosecution announced themselves well satisfied with the make-up of the jury and as Sinclair left the courtroom with Mrs. Sinclair, he reiterated that he was confident of acquittal.

The opening arguments of the prosecution and defense will be made tomorrow.

The jury, which will select its foreman, is composed of: Harry E. Brooks, 57, steamfitter; William H. Wrenn, 25, grocer; Leon D. Vanderloo, 24, manager repair department Vanderloo Real Estate company; Nevin Ladd, 32, manager of a chain grocery store; Fred R. Kocher, 28, grocer; Howard A. Bradley, 22, automobile salesman; William F. Throop, 47, merchant; Edward J. Lynch, 39, clerk; Benjamin F. Anderson, 58, manager of transfer company; L. Clark Brown, 27, investment broker; Roy R. Shockey, 26, clerk Capitol Traction company; Kenneth Carter, 28, agent for a railroad.

Sinclair will face the jury alone this time as his case was severed from that of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, because of Fall's illness. The charges against Fall were untabulated indefinitely as he was unable to come to Washington, but the oil man counts on introducing in his defense a lone deposition Fall made at El Paso recently.

Government Charges Bribery

Fall has said that the $233,000 in Liberty bonds which the government charges he accepted as a bribe from Sinclair after granting the latter the lease for the naval oil reserve were really in payment for one-third interest in his New Mexico ranch.

Fall's son-in-law, Malon T. Everhart, testifying before the senate oil committee, told that story of the passing of the bonds from Sinclair to Fall but that when he was called to Washington the deal had been completed. He received the bonds from the oil man, delivered them to Fall and later took them to a bank in Pueblo, Colo., where debts of the ranch company were paid off.

The government, however, contends that Sinclair paid Fall the bonds in return for the lease of the valuable naval reserve and will seek to show this through the testimony of Everhart.

WORLD COURT IS ATTACKED

Senator Borah Says Foreign Powers Will Not Grant Concessions

Washington, Apr. 9.—(P)—Echoes of the senate's fight over American entry into the world court were stirred today by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, the placable foe of the tribunal, who voiced his opinion that it was "altogether improbable" that foreign powers would agree on reservations attached to this country's proposed membership.

The chairman of the foreign relations committee was discussing the resolution with Senator Gillett, Republican, Mass., now before the committee, proposing that President Coolidge reopen negotiations with world powers who have objected to the reservations under which this country would join the court. His attack was listened to with hardly a word of protest from senators who at the last session voted for the court entry.

Senator Borah declared there was only to move possible in the deadlock, and that action on either seemed "altogether improbable." The president, he said, is without power to act, even at the suggestion of the senate. He declares the only possible avenue of progress lay in reconsideration by the objecting nations to their positions, and he didn't think that either likely.

Door Open For Negotiations

Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democrat on the foreign relations committee, and who led the successful fight for senate ratification of the world court protocol, confirmed the declaration of the Idaho senator that the senate would not recede from its position.

However, the Virginian did think the 28 world powers who had objected particularly to Article 5 of the Reservations—for bidding the court to give advisory opinions without the consent of all countries involved—had left the door open to further negotiations and he complained that Mr. Coolidge had not taken advantage of such opportunity.

While Senator Swanson could see no harm in senate approval of a resolution suggesting to the president that he seek further word from the world powers on their opposition to America's reservations, Senator Borah insisted such a move was "idle" that the only action possible to be taken would be reconsideration by the senate of its position. He offered to ask the senate to reconsider Article 5 and freely predicted overwhelming defeat of such a move.

The Debate Broke Over Protests by Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, and Shipstead, Farmer-Labor of Minnesota, Against Propaganda of the Gillett Resolution

They said, from the American Foundation, Inc., maintaining the American peace award. Senator Shipstead resented activities of those who would capitalize ideas for peace to "carry on a swindle."

Senator Borah related to the senate that only five nations had accepted America's reservations to its proposed entry into the world court while 23 had objected, mostly to Article 5.

Hearing of Woman, Accused of Murder, to Be Held Today

Benton Harbor, Mich., Apr. 9.—(P)—Preliminary examination of Miss Marguerite Baumbaugh, of Warsaw, Ind., slayer of Walter H. Cook, president of the Ultra-Nu Basket company of Niles, and her two brothers, Girard and George Baumbaugh, also held in connection with the case, will be held tomorrow morning before Justice Harley Langston, of Niles. The three jointly face a murder charge.

Expect Democrats of Utah to Support Governor Al Smith

Salt Lake City, Utah, April 9.—(P)—The Utah state Democratic convention completed its work today without formally expressing a choice for the party's presidential nomination, but supporters of Governor Smith of New York claimed that the 15 delegates chosen to represent the state at Houston were virtually solid for the New York governor.

KIDNAPING AND RIOTS OCCURED

ON AS VOTERS GO TO POLLS

Van A. Barrickman, chief counsel and one of the five "banished" members, said a cross was fired on a hillside preceding the parade. He told of other riots at McKees Rocks, Pa., in September, 1923; Scottsdale, Pa., in September, 1923; and Lilly, Pa., April 4, 1924.

Attended to Lynch Negroes.

On each excursion, the "wrecking crew," as Barclay termed it, went "armed with guns, blackjacks and other weapons."

Barclay testified "seven or nine" klansmen attempted to lynch a negro at Beaver, Pa., about July 6, 1923, after the negro had been questioned about his relations with a white girl.

"We took this negro out to an oak tree in the woods and strung him up by the neck, after which some of the klansmen flogged and kicked him," Barclay said.

He said Rich also issued orders for the attempted lynching of another negro at Oakdale, Pa., August, 1923. On another occasion, he said, the klansmen beat a negro at a park dance.

Barclay, who still was on the stand when court adjourned until tomorrow, related the kidnaping of a four-year-old girl in Pittsburgh. He was asked by Barrickman whether the girl ever was located, and he replied, "I don't think so."

He testified David C. Stephenson, former leader of the Indiana Klan and now serving a life term for murder, had charge of the Pennsylvania resim in 1922 and that he came in contact with Stephenson once a week in person and every day through correspondence.

Japanese Kill 40 Chinese When Their Boat Is Wrecked

Foochow, Fukien Province, China, Apr. 9.—(P)—Strong feeling against Japan and the Japanese residents in this province has been aroused among the Chinese of the area, growing out of an incident in which 30 to 40 Chinese were slain by Japanese shell fire.

A Japanese steamer, proceeding during a heavy fog, was wrecked on the rocky shores of Hailing Island, a part of Fukien province. Approximately 1,000 Chinese residents of the island swarmed aboard the distressed steamer and attempted to carry off the coal with which it was loaded.

Italian Crisis Is Settled, Says Socialist Paper

London, April 9.—(P)—An "Italian Frontier" dispatch to the Socialist Herald says that the crisis which that same source reported on March 29 as pointing to a possible abdication by King Victor Emmanuel, has been settled.

The king, according to that dispatch, agreed with Giovanni Giolitti, former premier, that the new Fascist electoral law was unconstitutional. The law, as passed by the chamber of deputies, provided that only one ticket for deputy places should be placed before the electors and then only after it had been approved by the Fascist general council.

French Aviators Complete Hop to French Indo China

Paris, Apr. 9.—(P)—Paris heaved a sigh of relief tonight when news was received of the safe arrival of the French aviation heroes, Dieudonne Costes and Lieut. Joseph Lebrun, at Hanoi, Indo-China, on their flight from Tokyo. They were many hours late, and the people of France were worried.

The daring aviators, who so recently made a remarkable tour of South America, covering many thousands of miles, look off on their 2500-mile journey to Hanoi at 7:25 Sunday morning. They were eager to make a non-stop flight, but Costes feared they would run short of gasoline and made a landing at Port Bayard, a French outpost near the frontier of Tongking, and refilled their tanks.

Seaplane, Forced Down at Sea; Is Washed on Shore

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 9.—(P)—After being forced down six miles offshore in a rough sea, a privately owned seaplane, carrying George Aldridge as a passenger and John H. Demott, local pilot, was swept in by the tide, and beached without injury to the ship or its occupants.

The freighter Aurora reported the forced landing by wireless and coast guard cutters were sent to the rescue and in addition private vessels put out to search for the plane.

Bodies of Two Men Found in Fish Nets

Toledo, Ohio, April 9.—(P)—The bodies of two men were reported here this afternoon to have been found in fish nets in Lake Erie near the mouth of Crane creek at Reno Beach, 20 miles east of here. It is thought the bodies may be those of Herman Bush, 30, and his brother-in-law, Winnie Brown, 28, who set out from Toledo in a power boat Saturday.

Persons on the Maumee bay shore using field glasses yesterday said they saw a boat apparently anchored five miles off shore. The offshore wind yesterday lowered the water in the bay so power boats could not get in or out.

Merger of Copper Companies Is Made

NATION LOOKS ON AS VOTERS GO TO POLLS

ON AS VOTERS GO TO POLLS

Judge John A. Swanson. The third outstanding contest is between Col. Frank L. Smith, twice refused his seat by the U. S. senate after appointment and election, and Otis F. Glenn, a Chicago lawyer and former state senator.

The personality of Governor Small, who as governor was tried and acquitted of diverting the interest on state funds while he was treasurer of the commonwealth, and who later lost a civil court decision and repaid the state—approximately $600,000, and the action of Colonel Smith in resigning after his second senate rejection and again seeking a mandate from the people were regarded as political developments extraordinary.

Then, to lift the primary further from the commonplace, a Deneen stalwart, "Diamond Joe" Esposito, was shot to death and the homes of Deneen and Swanson were bombed and brought a veritable tornado of accusations and recriminations.

For the presidential preference, only the name of Col. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war time governor, appears on the ballot. It is permissible for other names to be written in, however, and the Thompson forces have declared in favor of a "draft Coolidge" program.

Democratic leaders have urged that the name of Gov. A. E. Smith of New York be written in to the exclusion of all others.

Lovers Sentenced to Hang for Death of Woman's Husband

New Orleans, La., April 9.—(P)—Mrs. Ada Bonner Lehoucq and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher must die on the gallows for slaying James J. Lehoucq, the woman's husband, the state supreme court ruled today in denying them a new trial.

If further legal steps fail to save them, Mrs. Lehoucq will be the first woman in Louisiana to be executed. The date will be set by Governor Simpson.

The woman and the physician, along with James Beadle, trapper, were accused of luring Lehoucq out on Lake Palourde, near Morgan City, and murdering him. Beadle was found guilty but the jury recommended mercy. He is now serving a life term in prison.

Floods Cause Much Damage in Vermont

Newport, Vt., April 9.—(P)—Flood conditions of last November were recalled here today on the Clyde, Barton and Black rivers, although rapidly falling temperatures in the last 24 hours seemed to be relieving the situation somewhat tonight.

River waters are within 18 inches of the flood stage reached last fall. Lake Memphermagog is still ice locked, with flood waters running over the frozen surface. Dynamite was used to clear ice jams in the Barton river which caused much damage to railroad bridges in Coventry, five miles from here.

ing conditions over the Atlantic ocean.

One of the greatest dangers in the whole fight will be the hazardous task of getting the Bremen off the ground. Fully loaded, the plane will weigh five tons. Half of this weight, however, is fuel and the further the machine goes, the less dead weight burden it will have to carry.

Today, an expert from the Junkers factory in Germany arrived here at Captain Koehl's request to study the four runways available at this field. He is also to advise whether the Bremen's unique undercarriage should be used.

Irish airmen, for all their native venturosomeness, were surprised when they learned that his undercarriage, consisting of two wheels like motor bicycle wheels, never has been tested with the Bremen fully loaded.

On the trip from Berlin to Dublin, the plane carried only a third of its full cargo of fuel.

The undercarriage is fixed under the tail of the machine. The Junkers expert has been asked to calculate the stresses and strains to which the entire plane will be subjected at the time of the start.

The Badonnal runway provides a 2,000-yard stretch for the get-away. Captain Koehl wants a speed of 80 miles an hour before he attempts to get the "wheels off the ground. He said today, however, that 600 yards should provide sufficient run to make the hop possible.

Eight Members of Chicago Kidnaping Gang Are Indicted

Chicago, Apr. 9.—(P)—Eight alleged members of the kidnaping ring which held Thomas Gaylor, wealthy automobile dealer and hotel owner a week and negotiated for his release for $100,000 ransom, were indicted today. If found guilty, their maximum punishment could be electrocution.

Six of the reputed kidnapers in custody were arraigned and pleaded not guilty. They are: Frank Caron, James O'Brien, William ("Big Bill") Lewis, Harry Burton, Otto Schoen and Herman Harms.

All but Burton were remanded to jail as the offense upon which they are held is not bailable. Burton was taken to detective headquarters for further investigation.

Harold Conliffe, sought as the brains of the kidnaping ring, remanded at large, as did George Maher. Both were indicted.

An automobile said by the police to have been abandoned by Conliffe was seized on a street in a northside suburb today.

The kidnaping gang is said by the police to have operated in Detroit, New York and elsewhere.

Flint Mayor Seeks Ban On Wayne Co. Delegation to Meet

Flint, Mich., April 9.—(P)—Mayor William M. McKeegan tonight declared he would sponsor a ban against the Wayne county delegation to the state republican convention on the ground that it was "handpicked," Mayor McKeegan, who said he proposed to place the matter before the Genesee county convention here tomorrow added: "Counties like Genesee, where the caucuses were held in accord with political regularity, should unite to ban such a farcical delegation as Wayne county will send at the direction of John Haggerty and Milton Carmichael. Such political maneuvers are a menace to the Republican party and should have no part in the selection of America's chief executive."

"I will ask the Genesee county delegates to take the initiative in getting other delegates from the state to bar the Wayne delegation."

Encounter Storms

Milwaukee, Apr. 9.—(P)—Weathering a severe storm that stood them on their beam ends at times and swept 23 automobiles overboard, two steamers reached here last night from Detroit, opening navigation from the lower lakes.

A 60-mile gale lashed the steamers Sultana and Progress of the Nicholson Universal Steamship company, after they left ice fields at White Shoals and headed for the Wisconsin shore with 300 automobiles on board.

Capt. William MacDougal of the Sultana said that one by one the automobiles slid from the steel deck of the Sultana as the wind lashed high waves over the steamer. The Progress lost none of its cargo.

The steamers were undamaged despite the rough weather.

Detroit Man Gets Prison Sentence

Conrad admitted he was drunk at the time the girl disappeared through the window and did not see her fall.

ROTARY HEARS PHONE HISTORY

Transmission Superintendent Gives Interesting Address

The extent of the development attained by the Bell Telephone company's system in the United States and foreign countries, was eloquently illustrated in a statement made before the Escanaba Rotary club yesterday by H. P. Westervelt, transmission superintendent for the Michigan State Telephone company, when he asserted that a total of 127 years would be consumed in talking three minutes to each of the twenty-two million stations connected with the Bell system in the United States and other nations. In the United States alone, Mr. Westervelt stated, the Bell system has a total of eighteen million stations and the perfection attained by the telephone company in long distance calls is reflected in the fact that during the past year the average elapsed time, from the instant of making a long distance call and the establishment of contact with the point wanted, was two and a half minutes. It is hoped, said Mr. Westervelt, this year to reduce this interval to one and a half minutes.

Maps Show Development

The speaker outlined the history of the telephone and through the aid of maps showed to members of the Rotary club the rapid development of cable and open wire lines throughout the United States, in all of which work great development is underway for the coming year, to the end that the long distance telephone may be made more practical and as nearly instantaneous as possible in its service. Mr. Westervelt explained in detail the method used for carrying telephone conversations across the Atlantic to Europe by radio and asserted that this development was but in its infancy. Referring to the upper peninsula territory, Mr. Westervelt said that in addition to the present lines, direct wires are to be provided this season from both Escanaba and Marquette to Chicago.

Groesbeck New President

Mr. Westervelt's address was highly informative and most interesting. Before the regular meeting of the club yesterday, the newly elected board of directors met and elected officers for the coming year as follows: A. H. Groesbeck, president; H. J. Robertson, vice president; C. R. Henderson, secretary; Leslie French, treasurer, and Harold Lindsay, sergeant-at-arms.

James Tolan Hurt in Fall on Street

James C. Tolan, 403 Ludington street, suffered a fracture of the right shoulder blade when he fell on a slippery pavement while crossing Ludington street near his home about 6:30 o'clock Saturday night. Mr. Tolan was taken to St. Francis hospital, where it was reported yesterday he was improving nicely. Friday night's sleet storm had caused the formation of an icy coating on the sidewalks and streets, which caused many pedestrians to lose their balance. The difficulty in walking was considerably increased by a 40-mile gale, which raged all Saturday afternoon and night. Mr. Tolan fell on the street car track, and was unable to regain his feet. His moans attracted passers-by, who carried him to his home and from there he was taken to the hospital. A young girl was thrown against

Michigan Women Have Candidate for Club Office

The special train that carries Michigan women to the San Antonio biennial will ring with the gay tunes of the "Edith Alvord Juniors," who for weeks have been singing together under the skilled direction of Marion Randall, of the music department of Highland Park high school.

Mrs. W. A. Alvord, Michigan's candidate for the office of recording secretary in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is the only candidate with an all-junior committee. As advisor to the Highland Park juniors she has won the love and respect of the juniors and they were among the first to plan for the biennial.

Mrs. Alvord has the endorsement of her state and city federations as well as of her individual clubs. Her progress in club life has been steady. She served as president of Detroit New Century, president of the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs, vice president and president of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs, chairman of the division of Americanization and chairman of the department of American citizenship for the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Soon after accepting the last ors at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The hostesses will be Mrs. Ellen Johnson and Mrs. H. A. Johnson. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

appointment, Mrs. Alvord was asked to become executive secretary of the International Institute of Detroit. She was wise enough to realize that the institute was the best sore of laboratory for citizenship training. In the growth of dynamic Detroit from a quiet American city to the wizard city of today the population has become a very mixed one. Over 67 per cent of the population of Detroit is foreign born or the children of foreign born. Therefore, in helping to solve the problems of the unadjusted portion of this 67 per cent Mrs. Alvord has obtained a broad knowledge of present-day citizenship problems. Michigan is sending a larger delegation to the 1928 biennial than ever before.

ing a war, there can not be the least doubt.

Americans generally will agree with the call to duty, issued by Edward E. Spofford, national commander of the American Legion, urging the nation to keep faith with the young men who, when war was declared eleven years ago, faltered not in sacrifice and suffering to do their full duty.

Says Mr. Spofford: "We now have another duty, just as urgent and too long delayed, to perform. We must keep faith with those young men who carried the heaviest burdens and died that we might enjoy the blessings of this country in peace. We can keep that faith by helping safeguard the future with a permanent insurance against war. We can help make it impossible for some people to shout for war, then, refusing to go, throw their efforts into business and make huge profits.

"There is no better way of keeping faith than by enacting the universal draft law. It should be one at the present session of congress. The law will insure equal service for all; profits for none, without expense to maintain and will do more toward making other nations avoid confronting us with the necessity of going into war than anything else that can be devised.

"It is the personal duty of every citizen now to become familiar with the universal draft, the Capper-Johnson bill, H. R. 8313 and S. 1289. It is the duty of every citizen to understand how the universal draft will protect our children of tomorrow against slackers and profiteers if war comes, and, most important, will prevent war by seeing that there is no one in this country who can profit while other fight for them.

"Do you know the history of how the lack of this legislation cost our country countless lives and treasures in all of our wars of the past? Do you know that twenty thousand men millionaires were created in the last war while the young men of our country were serving for $1.10 a day? Will you not make it a personal duty to become familiar with the great achievement for permanent peace that this universal draft legislation will make possible? Ask a Legion post about it. And if you believe in doing everything possible to bring about peace for all time, will you not lend your force in support of it—for your sake, for the sake of your children and for those who have died for us?"

April is the calendar's most audacious trifier. She skips along the highways scattering saccharine smiles, flirting with all who glance in her direction, and "dating up" everyone who accords her a word of welcome. Her smiles are a delusion, her flirtations are a snare. He who takes her for a joy-ride in the country walks home. The brazen little hussy knows that, before the party gets well under way, her real affinity, Old Man Winter, will blow in and create a scene. The man who trusts April would buy gold bricks or Mexican diamond mine stocks, or correspondence courses in scenario writing.

Most of us never have really learned that April is really an insolent, double-crossing little gold-digger, full of lying promises and undelivered thrills. We go on, year after year, welcoming her, praising her and preparing to grow a crop of tulips and green onions in her honor—and she disappoints us!

Spring, in this latitude, exists principally between the covers of the poetry books. We trudge along through the slush and icewater which saturates the tail-end of winter. The sun climbs higher in the sky. The ice goes out of the bay. The ore boat's mellifluous whistle is heard in the harbor.

Then, almost overnight, the trees don their summer raiment, the flowers bloom, the golf-bug swarms about the pastures, the baseball blossoms on the vacant lot, the swimming suit crawls out of its bed of moth balls, and the roads fill up with tourists.

And summer is here before we have time to realize that winter is gone. April, for all of her fame as a harbinger and herald, is something to be endured, not enjoyed. The best thing about her is that her annual visits are limited to thirty days.

LET US KEEP FAITH. The bill providing for the conscription of capital, industry and labor, as well as men, in time of war, has been pigeonholed by the military affairs committee of the house of representatives. Strenuous efforts are being made to get it out, so that a vote may be recorded on it. That the measure would be the most effective step ever taken by any nation to make governments and individuals think clearly and proceed cautiously before declaring war.

Also consider the life that the Spring poem is leading these days.—Saginaw News.

This is egg season. Dice the whites of hard-boiled eggs in hot cream sauce, cover squares of toast with the mixture and top with the yolks put through a strainer.

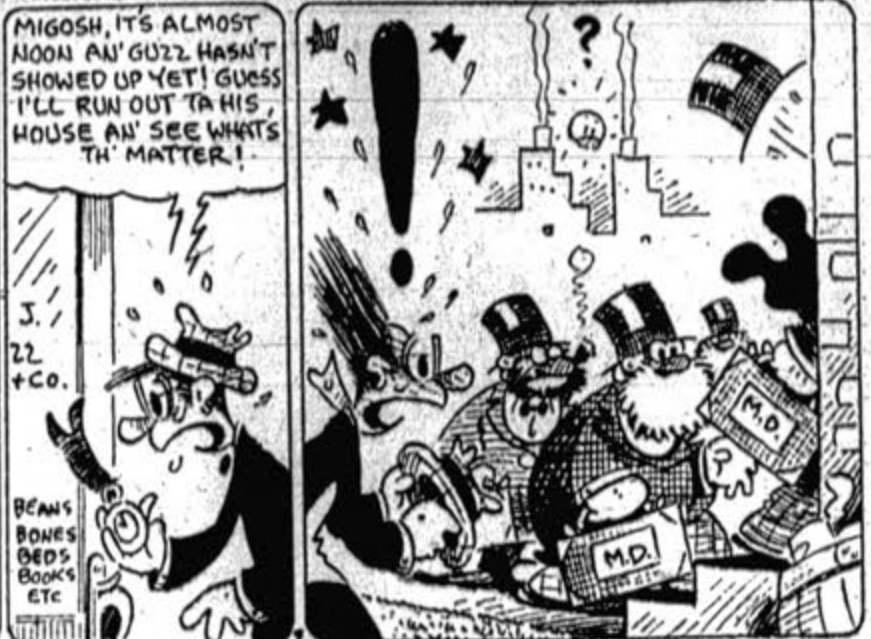

W. B. Carpenter will umpire for the 18th successive season in the International League this year.

And yet not altogether, or so it seems to me. I often wonder whether these days will ever be as pleasant to remember as days of long ago. When homeward in December we jingled through the snow. Or when we heard the robin repeat his merry tune. And drove our good old Dobbin the rosy roads of June. Old Dobbin's days are ended, yet never quite depart. For there is something splendid still singing in the heart.

The moon is bright above us, the stream below is fair. And still the same girls love us, and still the same boys care. We're driving home from dances, or listening to the birds. And saying things with glances we couldn't say with words. And then there comes a marriage, a house among the hills. And then a double carriage, with Dobbin in the thills. For memory's a rover, roams back to Dobbin's day. A day that's never over, whatever men may say.

GIRL ALONE

CHAPTER XX

As Sally ran across lots to the side-tracked carnival train, she buried her precious new memory of David under layers of anxiety and questions. It would still be there when her questions had been answered by Mrs. Bybee, to comfort her if the showman's wife had been unsuccessful, to add to her joy if some trace of her mother had been found.

"Maybe—maybe I'll have a mother and a sweetheart, too," she marveled, as she climbed, breathless, into the coach which had been pointed out to her as the showman's private car.

It was not really a private car, for Bybee and his wife occupied only one of the drawing rooms of the ancient Pullman car, long since retired from the official service of that company. The berths were occupied on long jumps by a number of stars of the carnival and by some of the most affluent of the concessionaires and barkers, a few of the latter being part owners of such attractions as the "girlie show" and the "diving beauties." When the carnival showed in a town for more than a day, however, the performers usually preferred to sleep in tents, rather than in the stuffy, hot berths.

Since the carnival was in full swing at that hour of the day, Sally found the sleeping car deserted except for Mrs. Bybee, who called to her from the open door of drawing room A.

The carnival owner's wife was seated at a card table, which was covered with stacks of coins and bills of all denominations. Her lean fingers pushed the stacks about, counted them, jotted the totals on a sheet of lined paper.

"I'm treasurer and paymaster for the outfit," she told Sally, satisfaction glinting in her keen gray eyes. "Me and Bill, and she lifted a big, blue-barreled revolver from the faded green plush of the seat and twirled it unconcernedly on her thumb.

"Is business good?" Sally asked politely, as she edged fearfully into the small room.

"Might be worse," Mrs. Bybee conceded grudgingly. "Sit down, child, I'm not going to shoot you. Well, I went calling this morning," she added briskly, as she began to rake the stacks of coins into a large canvas bag.

"Oh!" Sally moaned, covering her hot face with her little brown-painted hands. "Then Gramma Bangs thinks I'm a bad girl—oh! Did you tell her I'm not?"

The Piffle Hook

A NEWSPAPER'S MAIL—like the world and a scottlaw's cellar—is full of a number of things. Nothing more startling, however, has ever been husked from an innocent looking envelope than the story which reached our desk this morning, singing the praises of a new brand of CANNED WELSH RAREBIT!

Just why anyone should want to eat Welsh rarebit is completely beyond our comprehension. And why anyone should want to buy canned rarebit is even more puzzling. The charm of rarebit—if you are willing to admit that it has charm—is not in the eating but in the making. It is a chafing dish concoction entirely, and the chafing dish bears the same relation to the culinary arts that the tack-hammer bears to the manufacture of locomotives. Scorched varnish, blistered fingers and profanity (expressed or implied) are a part of the process. The fact that the completed rarebit is unfit for human consumption enters not at all into the matter. It is eaten because, after so much grief, and sorrow, and suffering has been expended in its manufacture, it really seems a shame to do anything else with it. Canned rarebit! My gosh! Somebody will be telling us next, that they're canning dandelion greens!

And it's a long way back to the days when the school girl who had the biggest and starchiest hair-ribbon was the envy of all the other girls in the room.

THE GIRL who swam the Straits of Gibraltar would make a splendid wife for the winner of Mr. Pyle's bunion derby.

Mr. James Joseph Tunney has soundly trounced Mr. William Harrison Dempsey twice which, in the logic of the land of the festive cauliflower, proves that Mr. Dempsey is a far better fighter than Mr. Tunney.

Shovelin' the sidewalk, With a cheerful grin; Put away the shovel, An' it snows agin.

"So many people want watermelons plugged and then reject 'em," says Mints in the Soonooz, "that the growers are planning a new variety to be equipped with zippers." Maybe the zipper idea could be employed, with profit, to the woman whose year isn't complete unless she has had a surgical operation.

ANYWAY, April snowstorms assist in postponing the crowning hour of those who mistake toadstools for mushrooms, rock the canoe to hear the girls scream, and try to heat the passenger train to the crossing. —H. K. R.

So it looks like you'd better make up your mind to being an orphan.

"But, oh, Mrs. Bybee!" Sally cried piteously, her eyes wide blue pools of misery and shame. "My real mother must have been—bad, or she wouldn't have been ashamed of having me! Oh, I wish I hadn't found out! And she laid her head down on her arms on the card table and burst into tears.

"Don't be a little fool!" Mrs. Bybee admonished her severely. "Reckon it ain't up to you, Sally Ford, to set yourself up in judgment on your mother, whoever she may have been.

"But she sent me away," Sally sobbed brokenly. "She was ashamed of me, and then forgot all about me. Oh, I wish I'd never been born!"

"I reckon every kid's said that a hundred times before she's old enough to have good sense," Mrs. Bybee scoffed. "Now, dry up and scoot to the dress tent to put some more make-up on your face. The show goes on. And take it from me, child, you're better off than a lot of girls that join up with the carnival. You're young and pretty and you've got a boy friend that'd commit murder for you and pret' near did it, and you've got a job that gives you a bed and cakes, and enough loose change to buy yourself some glad rags by the time we hit the Big Town."

"The Big Town!" Sally said miserably, interest dawning unwillingly in her grieving blue eyes. "You mean New York?"

DOBBIN'S DAY.

(Suggested by J. R. Exeter, Ill.) Old Dobbin's day is over, old Dobbin's day is through; Another Summer's clover, another year or two. And Doggin's eyes will futter, and Dobbin's legs be still, And only cars will splutter the highway up the hill. The buggy's paint is fading, out there behind the barn, No more it comes a-trading its butter for its yarn; For now we travel faster than Dobbin's legs could run, Machinery is master, and Dobbin's day is done.

And yet not altogether, or so it seems to me. I often wonder whether these days will ever be as pleasant to remember as days of long ago. When homeward in December we jingled through the snow. Or when we heard the robin repeat his merry tune. And drove our good old Dobbin the rosy roads of June. Old Dobbin's days are ended, yet never quite depart. ### BODY OF ARMY CHAPLIN HERE

Funeral Services for Lieut. Savageau to Be on Friday

Funeral services for Lieut. Edmund E. N. Savageau, 37, U. S. army chaplain, whose body arrived from Manila, Philippine Islands, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, will be held at St. Anne's Catholic church at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Detailed plans for the funeral will be announced later.

An American Legion squad escorted the body from the C. & N. W. station to the Aho Funeral Home. At 4 o'clock this afternoon the remains of the well-known chaplain who died February 12, while in the service in the Philippines, will be taken to the home of a sister, Mrs. John Jacobs, 708 South Sixteenth street. The body will remain at the Jacobs home until 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon when it will be taken to St. Anne's church, where it will remain until the funeral hour.

Born in Depere.
Born in Depere, Wis., on December 21, 1890, Chaplain Savageau attended the parochial schools there and later studied for the priesthood at St. Norbert's college and a seminary at Milwaukee. He was ordained at Superior, Wis., April 12, 1914, and was assigned as assistant pastor at Rhinelander, Wis. Later he held pastorates at Lake N. Aramoon and Amery, Wis., and when the United States entered the World war in 1917 he enlisted in the U. S. army and was attached to the U. S. S. Vermont.

Honorably discharged from the navy in 1919, he took charge of the church at Stamford, Wis., where he was instrumental in the building of a convent and effecting many improvements to the church. Leaving Stamford in 1925, he enlisted in the U. S. army, taking his training at Fort Leavenworth and later being transferred to Fort Sheridan. Slightly more than a year ago, he was assigned to Camp Stotsenburg in the Philippines.

Ruptured Bladder Caused Death.
His death was caused from a ruptured bladder, after which peritonitis set in, according to advices received from Manila. Chaplain Savageau had gone on a two-week expedition with a force of soldiers. It was a strenuous trip through jungle and swamp lands, and after he returned to Camp Stotsenburg he was taken ill on January 31. He stayed at the camp two days under treatment of the army physician and then was rushed by aeroplane to Manila, 60 miles away. He was in no condition to undergo an operation, and died four hours later.

BODY ARRIVES

Lieut. Edmund E. N. Savageau, who died while in U. S. army chaplain service in the Philippines on February 2, will be laid to rest in St. Anne's cemetery in Escanaba. The body arrived from Manila, P. I., yesterday.

geau, three brothers and three sisters survive. They are: David C. of Escanaba, Severe, Jr., of Depere, Rev. V. C. Savageau of Garden, Mrs. J. C. Finnegan and Mrs. John Jacobs, Escanaba, and Mrs. Chris Toonen of Green Bay.

Was Well Known Here.
Chaplain Savageau was well known in Escanaba and vicinity, having visited relatives here on many occasions. His untimely death was a distinct shock to his many friends.

The March number of the Bulletin of the Chaplain's Aid association, New York City, carried the following account of his death:

"We deeply regret and sorrowfully announce the death of Chaplain Edmund E. N. Savageau, U. S. A., which occurred in Eernberg General hospital, Manila, P. I., on February 2. Chaplain Savageau entered the service on November 9, 1925. While this service in the army covered an all too brief period of time, it was replete with priestly zeal, labor and accomplishment. He was blessed with a winning personality, deeply religious, self-sacrificing and devoted to the spiritual and temporal welfare of those whom it was his privilege to serve. He was uniformly appreciated and commended for his spiritual ministry and labor both during his World war service in the navy and his later service with the army."

THEO. FARRELL DIES IN WEST

Veteran Locomotive Engineer Had Lived Here Since 1870

Theodore Farrell, 86, a resident of Escanaba since 1870, died in Los Angeles, Cal., early Sunday. It was learned in telegrams reaching here yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell went to the coast about a month ago to spend a portion of the winter. No details of Mr. Farrell's last illness were contained in the messages. The body is expected to arrive in this city Thursday. No arrangements for the funeral had been completed yesterday.

Mr. Farrell was born in 1842. Most of his early life was spent in Southern Wisconsin. His railroad experience was begun as a fireman between Chicago and Janesville, on what was known as the "Galena Division." He was promoted to engineer in 1869, and the following year he came to Escanaba. The North-Western line between Escanaba and Green Bay had not been completed at that time and Mr. Farrell, with his locomotive, No. 145, the "Maquoketa," were loaded aboard a boat at Green Bay and brought by water to this city. The locomotive was reassembled and Mr. Farrell operated the Maquoketa on the Peninsula division for several years in freight service.

He was advanced to the passenger service in 1874 and from that date, until he was placed on the road's honorary retirement roll in September, 1912, he was in a serious accident nor was he ever laid off or suspended for any cause.

He was one of the organizers of the local lodge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and remained its secretary until the time of his death. He organized the Marquette division of the brotherhood and it was named "Farrell" Division in his honor, being so designated today.

Prominent Mason.

In Masonic circles Mr. Farrell was also very active. He was made a Mason in Janesville, November 16, 1869, a record which made him one of the oldest members of the order in the state. He was a charter member of Delta Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and of Escanaba Commandery. He also belonged to the Marquette Shrine and Consistory. He served as Master of the local "Blue" lodge in 1892-93, was a Past High Priest of the Chapter, and first Commander of the Knight Templar commandery here. He had been Worthy Patron of the local Eastern Star Chapter for nearly 30 years.

In spite of his advanced years, Mr. Farrell had been very active. He often said that "keeping busy" was the best formula for longevity, and he proved the truth of this belief in his own career. He retained an unusually keen memory, and was intensely interested in all of the activities in every circle in which he moved. Few men in Escanaba had so wide an acquaintance, and so many close personal friends.

One Son Survives.

Mr. Farrell's only brother died in the west five or six years ago. He is survived by his wife and one son, Bert Farrell, who lives in New York City, where he is a successful artist and journalist. One step-daughter, Mrs. Leo Corning, of Chicago, will arrive in Escanaba today.

Among the local institutions with which he was identified was the Lakeside Cemetery association, of which Mr. Farrell was president for twenty years. Members of the family, in messages received here yesterday, requested that friends of Mr. Farrell send no flowers.

Booster Club Will Hold Meet Tonight

The Chicago and Northwestern Booster Club will hold its regular meeting at the city hall tonight. An entertainment program has been arranged and a lunch will be served after the business session. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

A new angle has been placed on flaming youth.

When the two words "flaming" and "youth" are placed side by side the impression usually gained by the motion picture fan is of rolled-stockinged flappers and balloon-trousered youths with wine-kissed lips, dancing until morning.

But the "flame" has now jumped from the big city and the college campus to a one-horse town in the middle-west.

And the age has been extended from the "teens" to the "late forties."

Paramount does the trick in its latest picture "Two Flaming Youths" which will be shown at the Delft again today.

The two "youths" are those two moustached comedians, W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin, who have at last been brought together after numerous individual screen and stage hits to work as a team at laugh-production.

It is a sort of second childhood flaming youth exhibition in which Fields as a veteran showman and owner of a struggling side show and Conklin as a grizzled county sheriff vie with each other for the affections of another "flaming youth"—the town widow, Cissy Fitz-Gerald! And how these two do flame! Conklin does his with a musical saw and Fields with an array of juggling tricks.

AT THE STRAND.

"So This Is Love," the Columbia production now being shown at the Delft Theatre, unfolds a story of a romance born in the artist's section of lower New York, where a frail youth finds an ideal for his fashion creations in a mere slip of a girl living across the way.

His interest ripens into a love which she reciprocates, after she has been the sweetheart of a bullying, brow-beating prize-fighter.

The climax comes in a stirring bout between the fighter and the dressmaker, who enters the ring as an eleventh hour substitute.

Shirley Mason and William Collier, Jr., have the featured roles in the production, while Johnnie Walker is cast as the fistie champion.

The production is clean comedy, which will be enjoyed by the whole family. Through the skillful direction of Frank Capra, a number of appealing situations have been introduced for color.

The exceptionally capable cast includes William H. Strauss, Carl Gerard and Jean Laverty.

WATER SUPPLY FORUM TOPIC

Artesian Wells Will Be Discussed Thursday Night

"An Artesian Well Water Supply for Escanaba—Is It Practical and Economical?" will be the topic to be discussed at a Chamber of Commerce Forum meeting in the Delta hotel Thursday night by F. M. Gray, Jr., of Milwaukee.

The firm with which Mr. Gray is associated drilled the artesian well which is now in use on the Chicago & North-Western railway yards here, and Mr. Gray, himself, has had extensive experience in solving water supply problems.

In the belief of many who have studied Escanaba's water problem, artesian water offers a practical solution and what Mr. Gray will have to say should be of considerable interest.

Among the Lake Michigan cities which depend upon wells rather than the lake for their water supplies are Cheboygan, Grand Haven, Holland, Manistee and Petoskey, in Michigan, and Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Manitowish, Neenah and Superior in Wisconsin.

Mr. Gray is expected to point out many advantages and disadvantages of both plans and discuss the topic in its application to local conditions.

Escanabans Attend Air Mail Meeting

E. J. French, chairman of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce airport committee, and S. J. Murphy, Jr., of Upper Peninsula Airways, Inc., went to Milwaukee yesterday to attend a conference of representatives of cities of Wisconsin with government postal department officials.

Two airmail lines northward through the state of Wisconsin are under consideration by the government, it is understood. Weather conditions caused the men to change their plans and make the trip by rail rather than by airplane.

WAISTLINES.

New silk smocks in fancy little prints have wide belts to fasten tightly around the natural waistline, giving quite different silhouettes.

If a bullet from a modern high power rifle did not lose its speed, it could travel around the world in a little over 15 hours; while the impulse from radio-sending station would cover the same distance in less than one-seventh of a second.

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia" Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the sourly waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

Thirty-Four Years of Quality Tire Success

Thirty-Four Years of Leadership

The "Mo'orette," one of the first Pierce-Arrow cars built in 1900. Originally equipped with Diamond Tires which are still on the car and still in condition for further service.

The history and growth of the Diamond Rubber Company, dating back to its incorporation in the year 1894, parallels the history and growth of the tire industry itself. The tire industry really began with the advent of the pneumatic bicycle tire in 1888. Various types were developed as the popularity of the bicycle attained its height, among them the Palmer Cord Tire for bicycles.

For some time after the advent of the pneumatic tire for bicycles, the solid tire was regarded as the standard in every way. The pneumatic tire was thought to be a novelty—a fad, whose susceptibility to puncture necessarily precluded the possibility of its becoming a really serious factor. Many different types of solid tires were, therefore, designed, in which internal and external wires were used to keep the tires on the wheels.

It was during this period that the Diamond Rubber Company was organized, and began to go after the tire business with great energy and initiative and advanced steadily on this side of the Atlantic in the development of fabric tires for automobiles. To the Diamond Rubber Company belongs the honor of designing the first really effective non-skid tread, originally known as the "Squeezer" Tread. Diamond success in the manufacture of quality tires from the very first is shown by the "Motorette," one of the first Pierce-Arrow cars built in 1900. This Pierce-Arrow was equipped with Diamond Tires which are still on the car and still in condition for further use.

Diamond was the first rubber manufacturer to make practical use of the high pressure, open steam method of curing rubber goods, which adds greatly to their toughness and life.

This company was also the first to discover and use commercially the organic accelerators, the use of which in rubber compounds shortens the time required for curing tires, thus reducing their cost, and at the same time increasing their wearing quality. It is estimated that these accelerators, now universally adopted by the rubber industry, save the tire using public millions of dollars each year.

MARKET NEWS

SELLING CHECKS PRICE ADVANCE

Table with columns: Date, Industrials, Railroads. Rows: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday.

New York, Apr. 9.—(AP)—Heavy realizing, probably induced by the calling of $35,000,000 in bank loans and stiffening call money rates, checked a brisk advance in prices in today's stock market, but not until after more than a week of high levels for the year, or longer.

The advance in stock prices took place in the face of a large quota of ordinarily unfavorable news, chief of which was the increase of more than $150,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans reported after the close of the market last Thursday.

Speculative interest in today's market was divided between the eastern railroad shares and the coppers, several of which scored impressive gains. Public utility, motor, oil, merchandising, food and chemical groups also presented several points of strength.

Anacoda Copper, which moved up more than 6 points to a 72 7/8, the highest price since 1919, was one of the day's outstanding features. Wall Street heard reports that a powerful pool had been organized in that issue by the Cutten, Durant and Fisher interests.

Call money renewed at 4 1/4 per cent and then advanced to 5 1/4. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet because of the widespread observance of the Easter Monday holiday in European capitals. Sterling cables ruled firm around $4.88 1/4 and other European rates showed little change.

Traffic Congestion and Highway Building-Babson

Babson Park, Mass., April 6.—In his weekly interview today, Mr. Babson discusses the tremendously important problem of traffic congestion. He points out some of the results that may be expected such as, separate highways for express and local traffic, over-head street crossings, double deck streets, etc.

Traffic Congestion Most Vital Problem

"Every city in the United States is rapidly approaching a period of drastic changes in some of its street and transportation systems. At first the growing traffic merely filled up the streets as they were originally planned, or as they could be easily widened. Now, however, the limit of existing facilities has been reached. There are some 23,000,000 automobiles on the roads. 1927 registrations showed a gain of 6%. Production of motor cars this year will be very heavy. Hence the traffic growth of the future will require far more radical provisions in the way of road facilities than have yet been made. We shall see separate highways for express and local traffic, over-head street crossings, and more double deck streets. The tremendous success of the Wacker Drive in Chicago shows the possibilities of over-head street crossings.

"Those who own city real estate and stores will at once recognize how these changes will be of vital importance. Certainly in choosing store locations, buying city property, or making long leases, one must take into consideration traffic conditions as they will be in the future, more than as they are at present. I believe the double deck street will become more common, and that many of the other relief measures that are now being worked out by the city planning boards will be tried. My advice to those interested in city real estate, either as an investor or as a property owner, is to keep in touch with the planning board of your city and to give very close study to all measures that are likely to be adopted. Owners of theatres and motion picture houses may find it necessary to change the time of their evening performances to avoid closing at the same hour as other theatres nearby. In fact, one of the largest moving picture houses in an Eastern city has changed its time of performance to avoid this traffic congestion, and a large insurance office in New York has rearranged its opening and closing time with the same thought in mind. Certain stores and other business houses in the big cities might gain by similar changes in their hours.

Big Highway Construction Program This Year

"Traffic congestion is not confined to the cities alone. Anyone who has tried to take a pleasure drive any Sunday afternoon recently will testify to this. Unless we build more roads quickly the automobile business, as well as the oil and gasoline business, will feel the effects. A car without a dentured fender will soon be a curiosity. Moreover, this congestion is costing the business people of our cities millions of dollars annually in wasted time. For example, in Chicago, the congestion on narrow highways merely entering the city is estimated to cost motorists around $3,000,000 a year. Also Professor Miller McClintock, traffic expert, estimates that traffic delay is costing Boston motorists annually $24,000,000. It is impossible to estimate the cost of traffic congestion to stores in crowded cities, but it undoubtedly runs up into millions of dollars. Under pressure of these conditions 1928 is sure to be a big road building year. Reports which I am receiving from all over the country indicate plans for new roads and highways. The Iowa Legislature has just authorized a $100,000,000 road bond issue. New York State has a huge highway construction program under way. So-called Federal Aid highways, where the Federal government pays part and the state pays part, are being constructed on a large scale. States showing Federal highway plans involving expenditures of $10,000,000 or more are Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Iowa, Nebraska and Ohio. Furthermore, super-highways are planned linking the Atlantic and Pacific and an international highway from Canada through Central and South America is being seriously considered.

Real Estate and Highway Cut-Offs

"I have spoken of the effects of traffic congestion and its effect on real estate in the cities. There are also opportunities in the Great Relief Map of the United States which, before the end of the year, attain 100 per cent will be given special honor roll mention in the Daily Press.

Miss Hansen's room at the Barr school is the highest in the city for March with a mark of 56 per cent. Miss Lucia's room at the Jefferson is second with 54 per cent, while third place was earned by Miss Johnson's room at the Jefferson with 44 per cent. Six of the rooms at the Jefferson school reported 80 per cent or more for the month.

IN NEW YORK

New York.—The rich little playboys of Broadway do not change much from generation to generation. The same train of scandals and gossip that attached to their counterparts in grandpa's day clings to the wayward millionaire's sons of today. Now and then one marries a chorine or a model. Or what is even worse, he doesn't. And then there's the breach of promise suit with all the love letters and lurid details for the tabloids. He leaves his money, his jewels and his reputation scattered in this resort and that. Generally he's a terribly young person. He's been kicked out of college for some prank and he's always on the verge of being ousted from home. He dresses well and spends more than freely, and isn't such a bad sort of heart. He flatters himself on being a gay dog, when more than likely he's being both stupid and a sap.

He's badly spoiled, both by life and by circumstances. His values are upside-down, largely because he hasn't learned to think—or can't. He's generally either very sorry for himself or extremely proud of what he considers his wild ways. He boasts of his devilities and the trouble he's been in as some other men's achievements. He becomes pretty when he's been drinking too much—which is most of the time. He's heard of the rich young gay dogs of another era and sees himself as just such a spectacular figure. He's determined to sow wild oats, come what may. Oftimes he leaps the Broadway fences and goes careening over Europe, his exploits being recorded back home from time to time.

In short—it's the same old picture of the same old person. Each generation has had him to deal with and all Broadway generally has been his highway.

Walter Sullivan, who spends his nights in the "white light" resorts for a theatrical publication, tells me he came upon one of this brotherhood of wealthy playboys the other morning. The rich kid, not realizing that he was talking to a reporter, told his real name. And it is a name to be conjured with.

The youth, who admitted having been toper for a week or more, thanks to a quarrel with some chorine-sweetie, said that upon the previous morning he had been ejected "out of without notice." He was engaged in celebrating this event, but had a secret penny that he could square things upon the morrow.

And there's the son of one of the richest business men in America, who left his trail along the "whiteway" for a few months, only to disappear in the direction of Europe, where news sleuths are watching his every move. He's certain to walk into some sort of trouble or scandal before long. I am told.

Broadway, of course, thrives on gossip about these rich kiddings, mouthing each new morsel and wondering what will be the next chapter—even as the Main Street neighbors pass their gossip tid-bits about.

Walter Winchell tells me that the latest slang expression is to refer to a good girl as a "pre-war girl."

Police and Judge Differ or Morals

Rome (AP)—Francesco Pierono was haled into court for displaying La Vie Parisienne and other ultra modern foreign publications on his news kiosk in the heart of the city's tourist center. Officers who made the arrest judged the publications on their illustrations and charged Pierono with violating Article 112 of the public security law, which penalizes the sale of printed matter offensive to good taste and public morals. After Prosecutor Fornari had read translations of the French texts of the publications he pronounced them harmless. The judge dismissed the case and there was much comment in the court room by lawyers who expressed the opinion that visitors who see the frescoes at Pompeii and through the beach at T. J. Aldo are not likely to be offended by the scant attire of women shown in French illustrated papers.

Expect Real Battle for National League Pennant

MAJOR SEASON OPENS TODAY

Seven Teams Expected to Have Voice in Honors

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

The New York Yankees are the odds-on favorite in the American League race that has an advance and solitary showing today in the nation's capital, but it is a great season for long shots in the National League derby.

Seven of the eight clubs in the older circuit will have at least a voice in the debate even if all are not actually able to carry the argument into the final stages of the campaign. Only the Phillies the dismissed from calculations that promise the biggest and most exciting National League scramble in years.

The National's policy seems to be for more and louder pennant arguments in contrast to the Yankee notion of making it a private fight. There were four outstanding pennant contenders in the National League race last year and a fifth club, Cincinnati, having a lot to say about the order of finish.

In such a free-for-all as the one that gets under way tomorrow, it is only natural to find in blossom, if not full bloom, hopes and aspirations that have not been so conspicuous through the last few years. The Chicago Cubs, for instance, haven't won a pennant since 1918. They threatened last year, but didn't have enough experience to stand the gaff. Right now, Joe McCarthy's ambitious young men were perhaps the best long shot of the National League campaign.

Kiki Cuyler Aiding Cubs.

Only five out of 52 experts have picked the Cubs to win, but if the Bruins continue to hit the pace they have displayed so far in spring training, a lot of the boys will make a belated rush to get on the Chicago bandwagon. Those who picked the Cubs will be heard from later if they win.

This is McCarthy's third year in charge of the Cub outfit. It has been on the upgrade ever since he took hold and may break through to the top this year on the impetus it seems to have gained from the addition of Kiki Cuyler's speed and punch.

The Cubs are not the only worry in sight for the twin-favorites of the race, the Pirates and Cardinals. These two are generally picked to be the main contenders. They were only a game and a half apart at the close of last season and they may be just as close again, but in addition to watching each other they will need to keep an eye on the Giants, Braves, Robins and Reds.

It was the headache they acquired trying to win the pennant-deciding game from Cincinnati last season that affected the Pirates in the world's series. The Bucs were exhausted from the strain of battling a club which was only fifth in the final standing, but which was playing as good ball as any outfit in the league at the close. These Reds are starting the race with the same outfit that was so troublesome late last season, plus the benefit of having their Cuban star, Adolfo Luque, in the best shape of his career.

The guiding hand of Rogers Hornsby is already apparent in the progress of the Boston Braves. Rogers has displayed a genius for leadership. He brought the Cardinals up in the first division after a hard fight in 1926, and had a big part in the great drive of the Giants last season. He has different material to work with this season, but his dynamic pressure on the field will make the Braves a tough team to beat.

Brooklyn Strong This Year.

Meanwhile, the Giants, under the indomitable guidance of McGraw, seem to have overcome much of the handicap of Hornsby's sudden departure. If Cohen can plug the second base gap, the club will be a contender.

Brooklyn, with as great a pitching staff as any club in either league and new strength elsewhere, may be an important factor in the race. The Robins have a habit of making themselves conspicuous every four years and this is the year they are due.

But like most of the other clubs, even among the favorites, Brooklyn has some weak spots. The Cubs have infeld uncertainties and the Pirates a pitching worry or two. The Cardinals could use another outfield star. There are question marks at second base and in the box for the Giants.

Hooks and Slides

Tex Rickard's threat to send Gene Tunney and Tom Heene to London for their heavyweight title fight is a queer angle to a very queer heavyweight situation.

It was a threat or a dodge, as the boys in the racket call it, but they can't figure the angle for a threat. The New York boxing commission already is committed to approval of Heene or six others and the New York public always is committed to a sucker role. So why the threat?

Rickard, in a sane moment, and he usually is sane in all his moments, never would think of trying to stage a heavyweight championship in England when he was obligated to the extent of a million dollars. The Bank of England is there, of course, but it is very well guarded.

Eddie Kane and Tom Gibbons know the capacity of the British public and their willingness to spend large dough. Kane and Gibbons put on a benefit in London several years ago against Jack Bloomfield and the poor promoter went into an asylum, mentally gone after the fight.

English Not Educated

According to the current rate of exchange an English pound is about the same, as five bucks in good American but in London a "quid" is much more treasured than a "finit" is around Sucker Row in New York. Anyone who has been in England knows how many native subjects could be counted upon to pay ten pounds to see a colonial fight Tunney.

The regard in which Tunney is held as a fighter is much lower in England than it is in this country, and there are doubts that Tunney can draw here like Rickard wants a champion or less of a stranger in London and the mere London and the mere waving of a New Zealand standard will not open the pocketbook of London for $2,000,000.

The Wembley stadium, where the fight might be held outside London, is twice as big as the Chicago stadium and that means the customers could be seated twice as far away from the ring as they were in Chicago. But those careful British customers won't sit that far back. They haven't been educated into the sucker class yet by the British promoters.

Then there is the subject of taxes. By the time dear Gene took his purse, paid his expenses, whacked up the gross between his Majesty's revenue department and the income tax fellows in Washington he would have very little but the glory left and he might not have much of that.

The British customers have been looking all their lives at fighters of the type of Tunney. Stand up boxers, hit and get away fellows. They want to see a socker and they would have gone to see Dempsey. He might have drawn enough money there to make a championship fight possible.

Would Shift Blame

Tunney no doubt will dispute this statement, but he hasn't been in England since the decline of Carpenter—if he ever has been there—and he doesn't know. He perhaps doesn't know what the London boxing experts who saw him in Chicago think of him. If they went back home and wrote of him as they talked of him in this country, his market value would be only that of a freak.

In the palmy days of the young industry, when Rickard, Kearns, Dempsey & Company had to bluff public officials to get a place for their fights, they always had some other country bidding for the fight. But now the biggest spots in the country send delegations to the Rickard headquarters demanding his big classes.

Perhaps Rickard wants the New York commission to order him to put the show in New York or get out of the state. That would be a good out for him as he needs someone badly to take the blame for that show.

Corporal Izzy Schwartz Beats South American

New York, April 9—(P)—Corporal Izzy Schwartz, recognized in New York as the flyweight champion of the world, hammered Roter Parra, Chilean titleholder, into gory defeat tonight in a 15-round title defense before 4500 fans at St. Nicholas arena. Parra scaled 108 and Schwartz 111, pound over the class limit.

Schwartz slashed and tore at the game little South American with every punch knokn to the game. Though he won every round, made a bloody mark of welts of Parra's features, and had the Chilean wobbly in a half dozen sessions, Schwartz could not floor the challenger.

The local champion, hardly ruffled at any time by Parra's wild swinging, opened a gash over the Chilean's left eye in the second round. From then on the corporal jabbed, hooked and sliced rights and lefts into Parra's features and body until the crowd groaned in sympathy with the challenger.

Parra never stopped trying, however. Schwartz tried valiantly to finish the challenger but his best punches, poured into Parra's head and body like the crossfire of twin machine guns, never had the Chilean more than badly dazed.

Gar Wood Makes Long Air Journey

Miami, Fla., April 9—(P)—Gar Wood, builder and racer of speedboats for many years, but a recruit in the ranks of flyers, today completed a leisurely voyage by seaplane from Farmingdale, N. Y., to Miami.

The flight started Saturday morning. Stops were made enroute at Moorhead City, N. C., Saturday afternoon; at Barbosa Island, near Savannah, Ga., Sunday, and at Titusville, Fla., today for lunch.

Accompanying Wood were George Cobb, pilot, and Miss Dorothy Brink, Wood's niece. Wood piloted the plane part of the way.

One hockey player up in Montreal went through a whole season without injuries. Montreal people are getting up a fund to finance an outing for him. He wants to swim over Niagara Falls a couple of times.

Chicago, April 9—(P)—Willie Hoppe of New York was tumbled from his undisputed leadership in the national three-cushion billiard tournament tonight when he lost to the youthful Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago, 50 to 30, in 53 innings.

Lookabaugh played a spectacular game, leading the veteran Hoppe all the way and converting Hoppe's safety shots into points. His high run was five. Hoppe's was four.

The defeat put John Layton of St. Louis in tie with Hoppe for first place, each having won four and lost one.

George Volght, Washington, D. C., star, who also had a 73 for the first 18 holes to tie with Homans in the early round, faltered today. He was out in 38 and back in 40 for a 78, making his aggregate score 151.

Three players came in with 149's for third place. They were: John Dawson, Chicago, with 80-69-149; George L. Dunlap, Jr., young Princeton student, 77-72-149; Robert L. Wintringer, Steubenville, Ohio, 76-73-148.

DETROIT WILL MAKE TROUBLE

"If Yankees Slump, Watch Detroit," Is Tiger Cry

BY WERNER LAUFER.
San Antonio, Texas.—The pennant buzz is buzzing in the camp of the Detroit Tigers down San Antonio way.

Of course, pennant bees that buzz in the training camps are not always taken seriously by the other clubs in the league. Nevertheless, Manager George Moriarty and his entire camp have dreams of being in the heavy end of the money next world series time.

There is one condition to this fanciful hope. The New York Yankees must succumb to the law of averages that says one team cannot gobble all of the glory every year. Once every so often even the mightiest of champions must take it on the chin.

A little let-up in the Yankees' pitching or a slump in the batting of Messrs. Ruth and Gehrig would just about turn the trick for the Bengals, figures the Tiger board of strategy.

Twenty per cent improvement in all-around effectiveness is looked for in 1928 by the Tiger bosses. Discounting another string of ill luck as suffered last year, the team should be in the running from the very start.

Harry Rice and Elam Van Gilder, obtained in trade with the Browns for Blue and Manush, constitute the main part of the improvement. "Throwing weakness in the outfield was our biggest handicap last summer," says Head Coach Albert "Lefty" Leliefeld, "and with Rice in center field the boys won't be taking that extra base on every hit. Think what this will mean to our pitchers!"

"A weak throwing outfield can make the best pitching staff look bad," rants the congenial Lefty. "If your gardeners can't keep a runner from taking that extra base, what chance has the pitcher to be helped by the double play that often results when a runner is kept off first base?"

"And another thing. When we hit that losing slump last season, 18 out of 22 games were dropped after the seventh inning. That's where Elam Van Gilder, the relief pitcher, comes in."

So there you have the basis on which the pennant bee is buzzing. Other things that helped put the team in its present optimistic mood are the great improvement shown by many of the youngsters coming back to the majors after a year or two in the minors and the general fine physical condition of the team.

The pitchers have had plenty of work to get them in shape and Moriarty is counting on these fellows to get the team away to a good start. Whitehill, Stoner, Carroll, Gibson and Holoway again should be first stringers, with Haskell Billings, who ascended the fans with his great work late last season after coming direct from Brown University, figuring to be one of the best young pitchers in the league.

Early Logging Day Tales THE DESPERATE KENTUCKS

(From Green Bay Press-Gazette).

That the early logging camps harbored many a desperate criminal cannot be gainsaid. When the cities were combed too finely for them the trail became too warm, and they frequently sought to lose their identities amongst the motley array of uncouth woodsmen at some camp far up in the big north woods.

Even today some of our northern counties hold many a desperate Kentuck who found his native state no longer congenial. And, invariably, the maledemeanor which brought upon him a self-imposed exile was of a serious nature, more often a murder than anything else. Many were traced, some forced to flee a second time, and a few captured who were taken back to pay the extreme penalty for their crime.

It was no easy matter to run down a man of their kind. Once in a logging camp their outward appearance underwent a rapid change. From perhaps a sleek, soft-handed, thoroughly sophisticated man, there would emerge a coarse, red-faced bewhiskered individual of an entirely different type. If they were drinkers they frequently betrayed themselves, but the abstainers, if blessed with a close mouth, were by no means easily caught.

A man, by nature, criminally disposed, is usually incurable. A distorted antipathy for law and order, whether induced by environment or just the natural sequence of a perverted brain, grows upon the victim until society becomes to him an enemy—a thing which should be crushed. When he reaches that stage he is incurable and the result is obvious. He becomes an outcast and, himself is crushed instead of his fancied persecutors.

Produced Many Feuds.
The mountainous regions of Kentucky have produced many enemies to society. This is chiefly due to ignorance. The so-called "Hill-Billies," whose isolated habitations have denied them the better things of life, have fostered an animosity toward all not of their ilk, until the stranger entering their domains becomes at once an object of suspicion, and he is kept under surveillance so long as he remains.

Nor can nature so warped be expected to make for harmony even in their own ranks. Internal disorders are constantly brewing. The Hatfield-McCoy feud of years ago carried on until all of the principals had died with their boots on. And, to this day, there is much bad blood between many of their descendants.

Long before the advent of the present generation the "Hill-Billies" made moonshine whiskey. It was the principal occupation of those dwellers of the mountainous districts. Their land was well-nigh unutilized, and yet they lived there as their fathers had lived, with no visible means of support.

Few Brought to Justice.
Murders were committed and little effort made to bring them to justice. While Chick Galloway should be just the man for relief work at the short, second and even first base if need be.

Fothergill, Rice and Hellmann will cavort in the wider expanses, with Red Wingo in reserve. Fothergill for once is down to a normal playing weight and figures to have a good year. There is no peace for athletes who are overweight when Moriarty and Leliefeld are on the job.

Detroit will probably carry four catchers—Woodall, Hargrave, Shea and Phillips. "Pinkle" Hargrave, brother of "Bubbles" of the Reds, will do a lot of pinch-hitting this summer. The stocky little receiver knows how to pick out a good one and smack it from either side of the plate, and has been doing it frequently this spring.

been made in an hour. However, under the conditions that existed, the going was difficult and when, finally, they found it necessary to abandon the car, they were yet two miles from the camp with daylight about ready to break. No time was lost. Hurrying along the old tote road they at last reached the clearing which surrounded the camp buildings. Here they paused for a moment to formulate their plans of procedure. Then the wardens separated and went ahead so as to be in a position to watch the buildings from opposite sides of the road, while the sheriff and his deputy went in for the culprits.

Jammed Shell Prevents Murder.
As the warden from Eagle River reached his position two men suddenly emerged from the chock house and broke into a run, one crossing the road into the woods, and the other, who carried a rifle, heading toward the landing. At once, the officer took up the chase. Other members of the party told us how the Kentuck, when he found himself hard pressed, dropped to one knee, leveled the 30 U. S. rifle at a few feet away, and pulled the trigger. The Kentucks are expert shots. They seldom miss their target but, in this instance, fate intervened. No explosion followed and it developed that, in his excitement, he had improperly worked the lever of the rifle and two shells jammed in the mechanism. The officer closed in, knocked him flat and slipped the bracelets on his wrists. The other Kentuck escaped.

And now comes the peculiar part of the tale. The writer, being in Eagle River a year later, had driven with the same officer from there to Phelps on some state matters. Upon our return during the evening, shortly after we had passed through Conover, we came up to a car standing at one side of the road. Getting out to learn what the Lunge Saves Life.

He approached the shack on the bank of the river in which the Kentucks, three in number, were living. They were not in, but he finally saw them out on the ice. Escousing himself in the brush he awaited their return. It was not long before they came. One carried a bag, which undoubtedly was half-full of trout. These, later on, would be taken to some nearby town and sold for a good price. This had no doubt been a lucrative business for these marauders throughout the winter months for, at that season, the fish seek the upper waters of the stream where they gather in great schools in the spring holes to spawn. A stick of dynamite dropped among them and exploded would often result in the death of hundreds of them at a single discharge.

The three Kentucks entered the shack and then the warden emerged from the brush and started for the door. Before he reached it, however, one of them came out with a carbine in his hands. Before he could use it Mac lunged at him and grabbed the rifle by the barrel. In the struggle which followed the warden slipped and fell to his knees. At that point another Kentuck came out of the shack and aimed a vicious blow at the officer from behind, with a double-bitted axe.

His intentions were good and, had the sharp edge connected with the warden's head, he would have been killed instantly. However, by sheer chance, the axe-blade glanced. The blow was a hard one and, while it did not crush the warden's skull it knocked him to the ground. As he fell he drew his Luger and, being an expert shot, undoubtedly would have killed one or more of his assailants had his brain not been reeling from the blow he had received. As it was the bullet from his pistol tore the front teeth out of the Kentuck who had hit him with the axe. Then the warden lapsed into unconsciousness.

Kentucks Vanish.
Had the crime for which he sought them been greater they undoubtedly would have finished him then and there but, when he awoke an hour later, they had gone with all evidence of their violation.

The warden, assisted by the sheriff and others, sought the violators assiduously for over a year but not a single clew did they uncover. Apparently the miscreants had left the country. The following winter, however, along toward spring word came by chance to the warden that the three Kentucks were working in a logging camp away up northeast of Eagle river near the Michigan line.

Immediately preparations were begun for their apprehension. The warden at Eagle river, who gave us the facts, received a telephone message from Antigo to be ready to join the party of other officers upon their arrival. They reached Eagle River about midnight. The officer there had been asked to join them because he knew the country and could pilot them to the logging camp where the Kentucks were alleged to be working.

Had the roads been in good condition the drive by auto to the logging camp could have

BAYNE GIVEN SECOND TRIAL

Success of Sally League Rookies Leads to New Chance

BY BILLY EVANS.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians is hopeful that a precedent established in 1927 will continue to hold good for 1928.

Baseball managers are just as superstitious as ball players. As a matter of fact, most pilots became inoculated with the germ of superstition in their days as ball players.

The superstition of Peckinpaugh deals with the South Atlantic League and the acquisition of Southpaw Bill Bayne by the Cleveland Indians. It also dates back to Pitcher Willey Moore of the Yankees and Outfielder Lloyd Waner of the Pirates, the former in particular.

It seems that in 1926 a pitcher by the name of Willey Moore won 30 games and lost only four in the South Atlantic. Not one of the scores of scouts who saw him in action believed he had a chance to make the major grade. All turned in a negative report.

New York, however, purchased Willey Moore because Business Manager Ed Barrow of the Yankees was convinced that any pitcher who could win 30 games in an old league, while only losing four, must have something.

Moore, labeled "bloomer" by the scouts, won 18, lost seven games for the Yankees. He was good for about 30 victories for the world champions in the 1927 race.

It is needless to comment on the part that Lloyd Waner played in the success of the Pittsburgh Pirates in winning the pennant. How he stepped in and filled the bill when Manager Bush and his star outfielder, "Kid" Cuyler, disagreed and came to the parting of ways, is a matter of baseball history.

Now for the Cleveland angle and the superstition of Manager Peckinpaugh, as it relates to Pitcher Willey Moore and Outfielder Lloyd Waner.

Last season a pitcher, by name Bill Bayne, stepped into the picture at Greenville, S. C., and filled the shoes of the town idol, Willey Moore.

THE NUT CRACKER

by Joe Williams

O'Gouty was just reading a bit in the paper about hunting for game in Africa with cheetahs. The sage remarked he never knew a real golfer to leave his own sphere that way.

TUNNEY IS TO FIGHT HEENEY IN JULY, AND MR. RISCO IS ON THE SHELF. AT LAST, A BRITISH HEAVYWEIGHT WILL GET TO DO HIS DIVE IN A REAL CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT.

Mr. Tunney, all along, has expressed a preference to fight Mr. Heeneey. Maybe one of the reasons is that when John Risco aims a right at your jaw it's just likely to turn out to be a left to the short-rifs.

It's much better to face an honest, plugging old Sarsfield than a gent like John who is just as apt to strike a person as not.

Heeneey, however, isn't a blue-blooded British heavy-weight, but a New Zealander. Once, according to hoary legend, one of these New Zealanders was known to finish a fight in a vertical position.

BREAKS RECORD

Another promising youngster joined the class of distinguished sprinters aspiring for places on the American Olympic team when Claude Bracey, an 18-year-old youngster, ran 100 yards in 9.5-10 seconds at the Rice relay games.

He had a brisk wind at his back and the record probably will not be allowed. Charley Paddock saw him run and said he would be a wonderful sprinter when he lengthened his stride.

would eventually make the grade. Bayne is a southpaw. He's of average build, about five feet nine inches tall and weighs in the neighborhood of 150 pounds. In his career as an American Leaguer he always showed a most deceptive curve.

Perhaps Bayne at 23, like Moore at 39, after roaming the minors for a number of years, has finally acquired the poise and confidence that he previously lacked as a big leaguer.

At least that is the thought or superstition to which Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of the Cleveland Indians is clinging.

NEEDHAM IS NAMED MAYOR

Anderson, Roberge and Burns Are Elected Supervisors

William H. Needham was elected as Escanaba's mayor at the organizational meeting of the new city council at the city hall last night.

Richard Hoyer, newly elected member of the council, was named mayor pro tem. There were a number of interested citizens in the gallery, who came to witness the proceedings.

One of the surprises which developed at the meeting came in the election of the three supervisors to represent Escanaba on the county board, the balloting resulting in the elimination of two incumbents, L. J. Jacobs and W. C. LaBelle.

The three men named were Edgar Anderson, incumbent, W. J. Roberge and Clyde J. Burns, a member of the old council.

Carl E. Anderson was retained as city clerk and city assessor. Former Mayor George Geniesse opened the meeting with a talk, in which he thanked the members of the council for the co-operation shown him during the period he presided as chairman of the meetings.

In closing, he appointed the Councilman Needham as chairman of the organization session.

The first matter to come up before the new body was the election of the mayor. Councilman Geniesse placed the name of Councilman Needham in nomination, which was followed by a motion by John K. Stack, Jr., newly elected member of the council, to nominate Richard Hoyer. Councilman A. S. Kitchen then announced he was for the election of Councilman Needham, and the council agreed to make the election of Mr. Needham unanimous.

Take Secret Ballots.

Mr. Hoyer was then named mayor pro tem. Informal balloting followed a motion by Councilman Stack to nominate L. J. Jacobs, Edgar Anderson and C. J. Burns for supervisors. The first balloting was done in secret to determine the sentiment of the council.

This was followed by a formal vote by ballot and the results were announced as follows: C. J. Burns, 5; Edgar Anderson, 4; W. J. Roberge, 3; L. J. Jacobs, 2; W. C. LaBelle, 1.

The next meeting of the council will be on Thursday night, April 19.

NOMINATION OF WALSH IS URGED

of New York and Senator Reed of Missouri. McAdoo heads the Walsh slate of delegates. Elliott is one of the California Democrats who are taking a leading part in Walsh's behalf in the primary fight.

Stressing the support he said Mr. Walsh had given Woodrow Wilson, Mr. McAdoo, a son-in-law of the war president, declared that "with almost every conspicuous and important measure of the Wilson administration, Walsh is identified." One measure after another was listed as he recalled how the Montana had worked for enactment of the federal reserve act, the farm loan act, the good roads law, the work risk insurance act and other legislative milestones of the Wilson administration.

McAdoo said it was Walsh "who secured exemption of farm and labor organizations from the unjust provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act," pictured him as a champion of the rights of women, and pointed to his fight to have Louis D. Brandeis confirmed as an associate justice of the supreme court "when President Wilson as proof of his tolerance, named this great Jew for one of the highest positions in the land."

Walsh Exposes Corruption.

The former cabinet officer referred to Senator Walsh as "the implacable foe of corruption in government," through whose efforts, he declared, oil reserves, "worth perhaps a billion dollars," had been restored to the people.

"Who had exposed corruption in public life with unerring skill and undaunted courage?" he continued. "Walsh! Who has made corruption one of the outstanding issues of the forthcoming presidential campaign? Walsh! Who, as no other man, can make the case against corruption with such power and conviction? Walsh! He personifies the issue and will translate it into victory if he is permitted to lead."

"And who better than Walsh knows the problems of the farmers of the West? Through poverty and hardships he came to maturity in the agricultural states of the west. As president, he would bring his great talents to bear upon the problem of farm relief and solve it to the satisfaction of the nation."

In the course of his communication, Mr. McAdoo quoted two letters from Woodrow Wilson to show the high regard of the late president for the Montana senator.

McAdoo said that "we in California know that it was Walsh's management of the western campaign that gave Woodrow Wilson his second term as president," and then quoted a letter from Mr. Wilson to the senator, dated November 16, 1916, thanking him for his aid in the campaign.

The other letter from the war president was written in October 1918 to Governor Stewart of Montana, when Walsh was a candidate for re-election. In it, Wilson praised the senator for the ability he had shown and referred to his "very" consistent and generous support of the administration.

would make the tax apply to all gifts in 1924, was unenforceable. The minority took the view that retroactive taxing laws had previously been sustained, and while agreeing that taxes should not be imposed upon acts not influenced by pending legislation, the three justices insisted that congress could tax the act of those who might have been influenced by prospective legislation to make gifts.

BUSY SESSION IN STOCK MART

Wild Buying Movement Pushes Sales Above Four Million Mark

BY STANLEY W. PRENSOIL Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, Apr. 9.—(P)—Wall Street brokers and speculators, refreshed by the three-day suspension of business on the New York stock exchange, started another wild buying movement today which carried more than three-score issues to record high levels before it was checked by profit-taking. Final quotations disclosed some irregularity, but gains, which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 a share, again predominated. Total sales crossed the 4,000,000 share mark for the sixth time in history and 767 individual issues were traded in, a new high record for all time.

Unfavorable week-end credit and trade developments were again disregarded as powerful pools swung into action and bid up a wide variety of stocks with almost reckless abandon. Calling of about $35,000,000 in bank loans, which sent the rate on day-to-day loans from 5 1/4 to 5 1/2 per cent, halted the rise in many issues, but most of the speculative favorites wound up fairly close to the day's high levels. So great was the volume of orders which poured onto the floor of the exchange that the ticker at one time fell more than half an hour behind the market, causing widespread confusion in brokerage houses which were again thronged with excited customers.

Sensational gains in the bank stocks, most of which are traded "over the counter," was one of the day's most interesting features. Bank of America stock, control of which recently was acquired by the Glanville interests of California, soared $80 a share to a new high record at $1450, as compared with the year's low of $330, and then dipped to $1425. National City Bank, which asked to have its stock stricken from the stock exchange list a few months ago, soared nearly $50 a share to a new high record at $975. Gains of $25 to $100 a share were registered by at least a dozen other New York bank stocks. But the

Worst Famine in History Occurring in China, Report

New York, April 9.—(P)—Roadways of the Shantung province of China are being littered with dead, and the bark of trees is being used for food, the Federal Council of Churches was advised today in latest accounts of what is described as the worst famine the country ever has known.

Rev. W. T. Hobart, a North China missionary, wrote: "They are eating the bark of trees, and children are for sale at less than a dollar a head. One man had to kill two children. He determined to go to Manchuria, but he could not take them, so in desperation, he strangled them and went."

Dr. T. C. Li, a Chinese physician, said: "Even many well-to-do families have been driven from their homes, begging for food on the highway and on toward Manchuria, some selling their dear little ones only for the sake of their own stomachs."

The council has explained the famine, born of a three years' drought and aggravated by civil war, has brought half a million Chinese to the verge of actual starvation, with four million others facing that danger within two months.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer, if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and do so as effective, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.—Adv.

The quaintness and the charm of our Colonial ancestor's basques and full skirts has been revived in these new Martha Washington Dresses we are presenting to you. The basque is developed in several different ways in regard to the cut and the closings. The fessue, berth and double collars along with the plain round, V or square neck afford a variety of neck lines and the skirts are banded in contrasting materials and colors—one style giving the appearance of an apron front. The most outstanding feature of this group is the tiny puffed sleeve that has just been revived in this showing.

Every color and most every material is available—of course they are the gayest and daintiest of prints in the voiles, dimities, organdies and other materials that launder so well and never fading—always keeping that fresh new look.
